IN this List of Transactions &c. it has not been thought necessary to give the Editors' names of the various publications except in cases where they are useful in distinguishing between two sets with similar titles. A new Catalogue of the Library is in preparation, and in this full bibliographical details of each set will be given.

In all cases where the date is left blank, thus 1884—, it is to be understood that the set is complete from that date and that it is still in progress.

Periodicals are all arranged under the first word (not an article) of their Titles. Transactions and Proceedings of Societies will be found under the names of the Societies. In all cases where the name of a town is part of the title of a Society or Academy, a cross reference will be found under the name of the town.

JAMES BLAKE BAILEY,

Librarian.

April, 1890.

PRELACE

The first of the two volumes of this work is devoted to a general survey of the history of the human mind, from the earliest times to the present day. It is intended to show the progress of human thought, and the influence of the various sciences and arts upon the human mind. The second volume is devoted to a more detailed examination of the human mind, and the various faculties and powers of which it is composed. It is intended to show the nature and extent of the human mind, and the various faculties and powers of which it is composed.

It is to be observed that the history of the human mind is not a mere record of the various events which have taken place in the history of the human mind, but a study of the human mind itself, and the various faculties and powers of which it is composed.
