CHARITY COMMISSION.

In the matter of the Charity called SUTTON'S HOSPITAL IN CHARTERHOUSE, in the County of Middlesex.

THE Board of Charity Commissioners for England and Wales having considered an application in writing made to them under the Corporate Seal of the Governors of the above-mentioned Charity, dated the twenty-second day of April, One thousand eight hundred and seventy-two, and being of opinion that it is desirable that a Scheme should be established for the future regulation of the said Charity, in manner hereinafter mentioned, And upon public notice of the intention of the said Board to make an Order, establishing such a Scheme having been given, by the affixing of the same according to the direction of the said Board, to or near a principal outer door of the Hospital Chapel in Charterhouse, on the thirty-first day of August, One thousand eight hundred and seventy-two, being more than one calendar month previously to the date hereof, and having been

QUALITY COMMISSION

In the matter of the Chicago Public Schools Report on the Commission on the Quality of Education

The Board of Education of the City of Chicago has the honor to acknowledge the receipt of the report of the Commission on the Quality of Education, which was organized by the Board in 1983. The Commission was charged with the task of identifying the major areas of concern in the public schools and recommending effective strategies for their improvement. The Commission's report is a valuable contribution to the ongoing effort to improve the quality of education for all children in Chicago.

also advertised in the Times and Standard newspapers respectively, on the second, ninth, and sixteenth days of September, One thousand eight hundred and seventy two, do hereby order that the Scheme annexed hereto be approved and established as the Scheme for the future regulation and management of the said Charity.

also referred to in the first and second papers respectively, on the second, third, and fourth days of the month. One thousand eight hundred and seventy four, the first year that the annual average was observed and calculated as the basis for the future regular management of the said Charity.

1. THE Charity and its endowments shall be managed and administered by the Incorporated Body of Governors in exercise of their present powers, but subject to and in conformity with the provisions of this Scheme. General Management.

2. The Master of the Hospital shall be appointed and be removable by the Governors as heretofore. Master of the Hospital. He shall be a Clergyman in priest's orders of the Church of England. He shall, subject to the superior authority and control of the Governors, act in the supervision of the Charity and its estates and property, and the Officers and establishment. He shall, for the more effective performance of those duties, visit and make a personal inspection of the estates and property of the Charity at such times as he or the Governors shall think expedient, and once at least in the course of every period of two years. He shall also assist in the performance of Divine Service

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

The University and its endowment shall be governed by the Board of Trustees and shall be administered by the Trustees in accordance with the provisions of this Charter. The Board of Trustees shall have the honor of the University and shall be composed of not more than fifteen members, of whom not more than five shall be laymen and not more than ten shall be professors of the University.

The Board of Trustees shall have the honor of the University and shall be composed of not more than fifteen members, of whom not more than five shall be laymen and not more than ten shall be professors of the University. in the Hospital Chapel by preaching and otherwise.

The Master shall, in consideration of the performance by him of the duties attached to the office, be entitled to receive a clear annual salary of £800, to be paid to him in quarterly instalments out of the income of the Charity. The annual sum of £50 shall also be paid to the present Master, the Reverend George Currey, D.D., during his tenure of office, in addition to the said salary, as a compensation to him for the loss of the privilege of the table in Brook Hall, and the discontinuance of the other allowances heretofore enjoyed by the Master. The said salary shall be in lieu and satisfaction of the stipend and all allowances and advantages whatsoever heretofore received and enjoyed by the Master in right of his office other than the use and occupation of his official residence free of rent, rates, and taxes.

3. There shall be a Registrar and Receiver, who shall be appointed by the Governors, and shall be also removable by them at their discretion. He shall be a person duly qualified to perform the duties of the office of Registrar and Receiver as regulated by this Scheme.

notices of all meetings or assemblies, and shall attend the Governors or any Committees of their body, and enter the minutes of the proceedings at such meetings and assemblies. He shall keep lists or registers of the nominations and admissions to the foundation, and make all necessary inquiries with relation thereto. He shall keep the accounts of the Charity, and prepare and send such statements thereof as the Governors are bound to furnish under the Charitable Trusts Acts or otherwise. He shall accompany the Master of the Hospital in his periodical visitations of the estates and property of the Charity. He shall act as the Steward of the several Manors, and hold the Manorial Courts. He shall prepare the Leases from time to time, and collect and receive the rents, fines, and other profits and income of the Charity. He shall also make, with the assistance of the Assistant-Receiver, all necessary payments and disbursements thereout, and he shall perform all such other duties in respect of the Charity, and the management of its estates and property, as usually devolve upon a Solicitor and Receiver, and as the Governors shall direct. The Governors shall require the Registrar to give adequate security for the due payment of all monies coming to his hands, and for the performance of his other duties before entering on his office. The Governors, with the sanction of the Commissioners, may grant a suitable retiring

The first of these is the fact that the Commission has not yet received any information from the Government regarding the progress of the negotiations. It is therefore difficult to say whether the Commission's efforts have been successful. However, it is clear that the Commission has done a great deal of work in the past few months and has made significant progress in many respects. It is therefore, in the Commission's view, that the negotiations are well advanced and that a settlement is likely to be reached in the near future.

allowance to the Registrar and Receiver in the event of his relinquishing his office from age or disability after a long period of service. The Governors may assign and pay to the Registrar and Receiver out of the annual income of the Charity a yearly salary not exceeding £700, as a remuneration for his services, and they may also pay to Mr. Archibald Keightley, the present Registrar and Receiver, during his tenure of office an additional yearly sum of £50, as a compensation to him for the loss of the privilege of the Brook Hall Table, and the discontinuance of the other suppressed allowances heretofore attached to his office.

5. The Master and the Registrar and Receiver shall have the use and occupation, free of rent, rates, and taxes, of their respective present official residences in Charterhouse, which shall be insured against fire and kept in substantial repair by the Governors out of the general income of the Charity, and they shall respectively reside in the said residences, and shall not be at liberty to let or part with the possession of the same or any portion thereof.

 considerable progress in the last few years, and that the various branches of industry are all flourishing. The paper then goes on to discuss the various branches of industry in detail, and points out the various difficulties which are being met with in each branch.

It shall be the duty of the Assistant-Receiver to examine and check the accounts of the Charity, and to assist the Registrar and Receiver in keeping such accounts and in making the payments and disbursements, and also in the performance of his other duties during his absence or under his direction, and he shall discharge such other duties connected with the business and affairs of the Charity as the Governors shall from time to time reasonably require or direct. The Assistant-Receiver shall be required to give adequate security for the due performance of his duties before entering upon the office.

7. All rents, dividends, and monies becoming payable for the benefit of the Charity shall be paid to the Bankers to be appointed by the Governors for the account of "The Governors of Sutton's Hospital in Charterhouse," and the payments for the purposes of the Charity shall be made by cheques on such bankers, drawn and signed by the Registrar and Receiver, and after the avoidance of office by Mr. Archibald Keightley, the present Registrar and Receiver, countersigned also by the Master, or, in the event of his absence or incapacity to act for the purpose, by the Assistant-Receiver. In case of the absence of the Registrar and Receiver, or of his being incapacitated by illness or otherwise, or of the vacancy of the office, the Governors may give directions for the tempo-

The first step in the process of the business is to establish a clear line of communication and to ensure that the business is run on a sound financial basis. It is essential that the business should be able to pay its debts as they fall due and that it should be able to meet its obligations to its creditors. The business should also be able to provide a service which is of high quality and which is valued by its customers. The business should also be able to attract and retain staff who are motivated and efficient. The business should also be able to adapt to changes in the market and to new opportunities. The business should also be able to manage its risks and to ensure that it is profitable. 8. The Governors shall be at liberty to appoint, Auditor. from time to time, some duly-qualified person as Auditor, by whom the accounts of the Charity shall be periodically examined, and to pay to such Auditor a reasonable salary or remuneration out of the income of the Charity.

9. For the assistance of the Governors and the Surveyors.
Master in the supervision and management of the country estates belonging to the Charity, the Governors may appoint one or more Surveyor or Surveyors of established professional reputation (who shall also be removable by them at their pleasure) at a yearly salary or salaries not exceeding in the whole £400.

It shall be the duty of the Surveyor or Surveyors to advise upon the letting and management of the Charity estates, and, when required, to attend the Master upon his periodical visitations of those estates, and to report to him periodically and upon all necessary occasions for the information of the Governors upon the condition and management of the estates and property, and also upon any improvements or alterations of the Charity estates or property that may appear to be necessary or desirable.

10. The several buildings in Charterhouse retained and occupied for the purposes of the Charity shall be repaired and kept insured against fire by the Governors, and the annual amount to be expended for those purposes shall be placed to a separate account to be entitled "The Hospital Repairs Account," and one-fourth of such annual amount shall be entered and charged in the general accounts as part of the expenses of management, and the remaining three-fourths of the same annual amount shall be charged and debited to the account of "The Hospital Branch" of the Charity hereinafter mentioned.

Apportionment of cost of repairs of Charterhouse buildings.

11. The Governors, with the sanction of the Charity Commissioners, may take all requisite measures for causing the detached and outlying estates belonging to the Charity to be sold, with the intent that the amount to be thereby realized may be invested as part of the principal endowments of the Charity. The Governors may also cause the houses hitherto used for the residence of any officer of the Charity whose appointment may be suppressed under this Scheme to be let for the benefit of the Charity, subject to the rights of the present occupants, and they may also take the requisite measures for letting on building leases a suitable portion of the land belonging to the Charity abutting on Wilderness Row, and not required to be retained and occupied for the purposes of the Hospital.

Sale of outlying estates.

The first of these is the fact that the government has a right to regulate the business of the states in order to protect the public interest. This their own right, but are dependent upon the federal government for their existence. The federal government has the power to regulate the commerce between the states, and this power is not limited by the fact that the states are sovereign in their own right.

Apportionment of Income between the School and Hospital Branches of the Charity.

12. The annual accounts of the Charity shall, as heretofore, be made up and the balance struck on the 24th day of March in each year, and the amount of the clear annual income (as ascertained upon the striking of such balance after the aforesaid several salaries and payments, and all other proper outgoings and expenses attending the management of the Charity estates and property, shall have been fully paid or provided for thereout) shall be divided into two moieties, or equal half parts, which shall be disposed of and applied by the Governors in manner following, viz. :—

One moiety, or equal half part, of such income (to be distinguished as “The School Moiety”) shall be paid over by the Governors unto, or according to the direction of, the New Governing body of Charterhouse School appointed under the provisions of the “Public Schools’ Act, 1868,” with the intent that the same may be applied by such Governing body to the purposes of such School; and the other moiety of such income (to be distinguished as “The Hospital Moiety”) shall be expended and applied by the said Governors for the purposes of “The Hospital Branch” of the Charity, subject to, and in conformity with, the provisions of this Scheme.

The first part of the report is devoted to a general survey of the situation in the country. It is followed by a detailed account of the work done during the year. The report then discusses the various projects and schemes which have been undertaken, and the progress which has been made in their execution. It also mentions the various committees and sub-committees which have been formed, and the work which they have done. The report concludes with a summary of the work done during the year, and a statement of the various projects and schemes which are being undertaken during the next year.

The division of the said income directed by this Clause shall commence with respect to the income for the year beginning on the 24th day of March, 1873.

13. The School-buildings and premises, and the land adjacent thereto, situate at or near Godalming, in the county of Surrey, which have been recently acquired by the Governors for the purposes of the Charterhouse School, shall be held by the Governors and their successors in trust to permit the same premises to be managed and disposed of by the said New Governing body of Charterhouse School for the purposes of the said School.

The Commission and other officers of the Government have been instructed to take the following steps in order to carry out the provisions of the Act and to report to the House of Commons on the progress made in the execution of the same.
 The Commission has the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th inst.
 and in reply to inform you that the same has been forwarded to the proper authorities for their consideration. The Commission has also the honor to inform you that the same has been referred to the Committee of the House of Commons on the subject of the proposed amendments to the Act, and that the Committee have reported to the House of Commons on the 15th inst. that they are of opinion that the proposed amendments are not necessary and should not be adopted. The Commission has the honor to inform you that the same has been forwarded to the proper authorities for their consideration. The Commission has also the honor to inform you that the same has been referred to the Committee of the House of Commons on the subject of the proposed amendments to the Act, and that the Committee have reported to the House of Commons on the 15th inst.

The first thing that I saw when I stepped out of the train was a vast, open landscape. The air was fresh and cool, a stark contrast to the stifling heat of the city. I had heard that the countryside was beautiful, and indeed it was. The rolling hills were covered in lush green grass, and the occasional white picket fence added a touch of rural charm.

As I walked along the dirt road, I noticed a few small wooden houses scattered across the landscape. They were simple in design, with gabled roofs and small porches. The people I saw were friendly and welcoming, their faces lit up with smiles. They seemed to be proud of their land and the life they led there.

The sun was shining brightly, casting long shadows on the ground. The birds were chirping happily in the trees, and the gentle breeze carried the scent of wildflowers. It was a peaceful and idyllic scene, one that I had never experienced before.

I continued to walk, taking in the beauty of the surroundings. The landscape was truly breathtaking, with its rolling hills and vibrant colors. I felt a sense of freedom and joy that I had never felt in the city. It was as if I had discovered a hidden gem, a place where time seemed to stand still.

The day was perfect, and I was grateful for the opportunity to see it all. The beauty of the countryside was truly remarkable, and I knew that I would never forget this experience. It was a moment of pure happiness, a reminder of the beauty that exists in the world.

The first thing that I saw when I stepped out of the train was a vast, open landscape. The air was fresh and cool, a stark contrast to the stifling heat of the city. I had heard that the countryside was beautiful, and indeed it was. The rolling hills were covered in lush green grass, and the occasional white picket fence added a touch of rural charm.

to the office, who shall be required to attend the Poor Brothers in illness and to supply them with all necessary and proper medicines and medical appliances at such yearly salary or salaries as shall be fixed by the Governors from time to time with the sanction of the Commissioners, such salary or salaries to include the cost of all such appliances and medicine.

22. The salaries and stipends of the other Officers, and of the Attendants and Servants included in the Establishment, shall be fixed from time to time by the Governors at such reasonable amounts as they shall consider just and proper; and the duties of the same persons shall also be defined and regulated from time to time by the Governors.

in favour of a candidate otherwise duly qualified, who may have become incapacitated by illness, accident, or infirmity, from exerting himself for his own maintenance. Provided that no person who shall be blind or helpless from infirmity of mind or body shall be eligible for appointment.

No person shall be eligible for appointment as a Poor Brother, or shall be capable of retaining such appointment, who shall be or become possessed of or entitled to the clear yearly income of £60, or property of that annual value.

26. Each Poor Brother shall have the use and Rooms. occupation, rent free, of a room or set of rooms in the Hospital, to be assigned to him by the Master, which shall be kept in repair and painted and papered when necessary at the cost of the Hospital Branch. The Governors may also cause any suitable articles of furniture to be provided at the like cost for the use of the Poor Brothers in their rooms.

27. Each Poor Brother shall have as at present Allowances. an annual pecuniary allowance of £36, and also the daily allowance of bread and butter heretofore supplied to each at the cost of the Charity, unless the Governors shall see fit to commute such allowance for a payment of the annual sum of £6. The Governors shall however be at liberty to increase the amount of the said pecuniary allowance to any sum not exceeding £40 per annum, in case such increase shall in their judgment be proper and desirable, having regard to the amount of the available income of the Charity and the other circumstances. The time and mode of payment of the pecuniary allowances shall be fixed and regulated from time to time by the Governors as they may think expedient, and the Governors or the Master with their authority shall be at liberty to assume the expenditure of any part of the pecuniary allowance of any Poor Brother for his benefit, if they or he shall see special occasion for such interference. The Poor Brothers shall also be supplied with Gowns or Cloaks, and with such a reasonable supply of household linen, fuel, and candles for use in their respective rooms as shall be determined from time to time by the Governors.

28. The Poor Brothers shall in addition to the said allowances be supplied with their daily dinner in the common hall. And the Governors may either cause the provisions for such dinner to be purchased and cooked in the Hospital, or may make arrangements with a contractor for their supply at a fixed cost. The Governors shall however be at liberty to make such reasonable weekly or other allowances as they shall think fit to the Poor Brothers or any of them in lieu of their provisions and Lodgings during a period not exceeding six weeks in each year when the Kitchen Dinners.
