CAT. NO.	DESCRIPTION
1 SWEET-SLEEP SACK	English garden herbs to ease you towards peaceful sleep and pleasant dreams with their gentle fragrance.
2 TUDOR PALACE	Contains the rare blue Mallow flower scented with an unusual rich fragrance which legend tells us was a favourite of Anne Boleyn and widely used by ladies of the Tudor Court.
3 ELIZABETHAN LAVENDER	Traditionally used to freshen linens and garments.
4 BUZZ OFF SACK	Most types of flying bugs and creepie-crawlies, moths and other insects, hate the aroma of these English garden and wild herbs blended together for your protection.
5 JAKES SACK	Throughout the ages there have been many names for that small private room in our houses—loo, water closet, privy, w.c., etc. In Elizabethan days it was generally called The Jakes. We have assembled a mixture of herbs traditionally used to purify and sweeten the air and placed them in this sack.
6 MOTORIST'S SACK	To dispel tobacco and petrol fumes and keep your vehicle fresh. Is helpful to maintain alertness during journey and to ward off car-sickness.
7 ELIZABETHAN POT-POURRI	Mixed to a traditional recipe, to hang in wardrobes, place in drawers or empty into open bowls to scent your rooms.
8 VERBENA SACK	Delightful lemon fragrance to use where you will.
9 LOVING SACK	A special blend of essential oils and herbs, said to induce warmth of spirit and pleasing thoughts. Elizabethans hung these among the folds of their bed-curtains and on the bed-posts.
23 ENGLISH ORCHARD (not illustrated)	Specially blended to recall the fragrance of sun-ripened fruit on an English summer's day.
