

[Leaflet advertising exhibition of the curious history of Julia Pastrana, "The Baboon Lady" and the live two-in-one, or, double-bodied boy at Dr. Kahn's Museum. The boy is shown in the illustration. Julia Pastrana was also giving 'levees' at the Regent Gallery 3 times a day].

Publication/Creation

[1857?]

Persistent URL

<https://wellcomecollection.org/works/rcbcj7ft>

License and attribution

This work has been identified as being free of known restrictions under copyright law, including all related and neighbouring rights and is being made available under the Creative Commons, Public Domain Mark.

You can copy, modify, distribute and perform the work, even for commercial purposes, without asking permission.

Wellcome Collection
183 Euston Road
London NW1 2BE UK
T +44 (0)20 7611 8722
E library@wellcomecollection.org
<https://wellcomecollection.org>

CURIOUS HISTORY OF THE

Life, Habits, and Adventures of that Strangely-formed Being, and Singular-looking Creature, the

BABOON LADY,
MISS JULIA PASTRANA

Known as the "Nondescript," exhibiting at the Regent Gallery.
Her Remarkable Formation, and Mysterious Parentage, and how she was Discovered in a Cave, suckled by her Indian Mother,
DWELLING ONLY WITH BABOONS, BEARS, AND MONKEYS.

WITH A FULL DESCRIPTION OF THE WONDERFUL
LIVE TWO-IN-ONE, OR,
DOUBLE-BODIED BOY!

At Dr. Kahn's Museum; including the Cause of those Curiosities of Nature.

PRICE ONE PENNY.

BURROWS, Printer, 15, Old Street Road.

CURIOUS HISTORY
OF THE
BABOON LADY.
MISS JULIA PASTRANA.

THERE are two remarkable exhibitions at the present time in London, whose objects are of a conformation so wonderful that they may well startle all who go to see them. As only a small proportion of the vast population of this great metropolis, and the country around have been to view those extraordinary natural curiosities, but who should as early as possible pay them a visit, we, to induce them to do so, will lay before them all the interesting facts concerning their history, habits, and physiological nature that we possess. In due order, therefore, we will first call our reader's attention to the annexed advertisement in the newspapers of the day:—

THE NONDESCRIBT, MISS JULIA PASTRANA.—This young lady, the wonder of the world, supposed by eminent naturalists and Physicians to be a hybrid, wherein the nature of woman predominates over the Ourang-Outangs is very singular; her Nose, Forehead, and entire Face, Shoulders, Arms, &c., are covered with Thick Black Hair. She has no Pupil apparent in the Eye, no Cartilage in the Nose, with double gums in the upper and lower jaw, and only One Row of Front Teeth. The Lower Jaw is much extended, and the angle of the face is very singular. Miss Julia Speaks and Sings in English and Spanish, and dances the Highland Fling, Schottish, &c., &c., and has decidedly the prettiest little Hands, Feet, and Ankles, in London. Levees, from Eleven to One, Three to Five, and Eight to Ten Daily, at the Regent Gallery, 69, Quadrant. Admission, 1s. and 2s., Stalls, 3s. Miss Julia is pleased when the Ladies and Gentlemen ask her Questions, and examine her pretty Whiskers, of which she is very proud.

Being earnest enquirers after truth, ever prone to investigate the phenomena of nature, animal, vegetable, or physical, and consequently among the first to be attracted by such an announcement, we accordingly struck work, threw down o