WHY WILL YE DIE!!

The Calomel, Opium, and Morphine Practice.

Doctor Crockwell's System and Homeopathy.

Zina D. Young's Letter of Acceptance of the Dedication.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH.
Having witnessed Dr. Crockwell's skill with the sick prompted me to give him the knowledge of his valuable medicines to the public, believing him to be a friend and not an enemy. I truly wish you may be benefited by his timely advice.
Remember this motto: "In season of prevention, is better than a pound of cure."
Very Truly Yours,
ZINA D. YOUNG.

20th WARD, SALT LAKE CITY.

Dr. J. D. M. Crockwell,

DEAR SIR:
I have to testify that my wife was sick for two years; one year confined to her bed. During that time she had seven of the best doctors of Salt Lake City attend her; not one did her any good whatever, and I thought she was past cure. At last I was induced to call on you, and I am happy to state that with your treatment, in three months she could walk about the house, and in six months she could walk a mile and is now stronger than she has been for many years.
JNO. DAYNES.

NINTH WARD, SALT LAKE CITY, U. T.

It gives me great pleasure to testify to the great benefit I have received from the use of Dr. J. D. M. Crockwell's medicines. He has been my family physician for two years, and I am highly recommended him as being very skillful physician. His skill will reach all kinds of sickness and disease, especially those of women and children. I know it for myself. The Doctor saved my daughter's life who had been pronounced incurable by a leading physician of Salt Lake City.
Yours Truly,
LATINA PENDLETON.

SALT LAKE CITY, JULY 11, 1876.

Dr. J. D. M. Crockwell,

DEAR SIR:
With the greatest of pleasure I would state to the public at large and the afflicted everywhere, that in the treatment of my eye, and at various other times, when disease and accident befell any of my family and I have called on you for assistance, I have never had cause for fear of the result, as the treatment in every case was most successful and satisfactory.
And I would cordially recommend all who wish to be cured and scientifically treated, to call on you as a physician.
Yours Respectfully,
DANIEL GREENG.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH.

I wish to say in the year 1871 was attacked with a pain in my head and left eye. I consulted a Doctor Wesley of this city. He caused me to make certain applications to my eye that increased the inflammation to such a degree that the ball burst in such a manner as to leave over the right eye as large as a small ball, and from that time until this spring my suffering was, at times, intense. I consulted several physicians without relief and finally I called on Dr. Crockwell. He performed a surgical operation on my eye, removing the sack, closing up the ball, and healing the same to such a degree that I can say the only case I have had for five years has been since the Dr. operated on my eye. As witness my hand this 21st Nov. 1876.
EMMA BULLOCK.

A BOOK FOR HOME.

We have just issued from the Press the last short of a new medical work by Dr. J. D. M. Crockwell, entitled "Mothers and Sisters' Fountain of Knowledge," a glance through the pages of which convinces us it will be a most welcome reader in every family of the Territory.

Besides the valuable information it contains respecting the Eleven Chemical Magnetic system of Medical practice—a gem of priceless value of itself—the doctor addresses himself earnestly and affectionately to the ladies. His well known great experience and long practice in the treatment of female ailments eminently qualify him to impart such information as their delicate organizations require.

The suggestions upon diet for the sick; the plain receipts for treating the care of the infant and the mother; in addition to a voluminous catalogue of remedies for the life in which fresh inlets will undoubtedly supply a want long felt in every home and family, and will be welcomed there as a harbinger of health and peace.

We cordially extend our congratulations to the Doctor upon the appearance of this new star in the galaxy of medicine. It is the first literary work from the realm of therapeutics that has been in the territory of Utah. May its influence and magnitude increase, till, from the great basis of the Rocky Mountains be dispensed the great rays of medical health and life that shall enlighten and glorify the Union.—Salt Lake Times.

MOTHERS' AND SISTERS'

Fountain of Knowledge is the title of a new medical treatise just published by Dr. Crockwell & Son of this city. It contains a great amount of information particularly designed for females, with full directions for the use of 21 tasteless pellets, put up in a neat little case, that every family (especially those residing in the country) may have a drug store in consultation of their own consisting of pills, powders, liniments, lotions, &c.—Grand News, January 18, 1877.

MULTUM IN PARVO.

Dr. Crockwell's medical cabinet and book is a neat, compact affair, and is not burdened with Latin terms. It is written in prose.

The book contains over 1,200 prescriptions for the treatment of all diseases. The Doctor has addressed his work to "Mothers and Sisters" and calls it a "Fountain of Knowledge," which it is in every respect.

The twenty-one remedies contained in the cabinet are prepared from highly concentrated Homeopathic medicines, and are therefore innocuous.—Salt Lake Herald.

SOMETHING NEW.

Dr. J. D. M. Crockwell has lately introduced to the public a remedy, in the shape of a neat little medicine chest, filled with a great variety of homeopathic pellets, powders and ointments, for the treatment of—Jaundice, from a wet eye to Consumption. A full book of directions, dedicated to sister Zina D. Young, (widow of Brigham Young), dated July 21, 1876, the 10th anniversary of Brigham Young and the Pioneer's advent into "this our Mountain Home," accompanies the medicine chest.

The instructions to the chest are to mothers and sisters. The Doctor has secured the copyright of the medical book by record in the Congressional Library, at Washington, and his son, Dr. W. Crockwell, is the agent, who is introducing them. For those believing in Homeopathy, this little apothecary chest will doubtless become a favorite.—Salt Lake Tribune, Jan. 11, 1877.

To Miners and Smelter Men.

There is a subject that interests us more than any other. It is, how to keep clear of being landed or to be cured of that dreadful disease that no man can truly sympathize with until he has been personally afflicted. This was my own case until the 18th inst. While working at Waterman Furnace as tender I became poisoned or loaded and my suffering was beyond description. I had violent vomiting, pain in my bowels with no action, and almost incessant sweating for three days and nights. I applied to Dr. Crockwell and in four hours my pain was stopped and in sixteen hours I was restored to my former health and appetite. The Doctor has far and for sale an infallible preventive, as I and many others can testify.
