A Better Beef Juice—and British

'Allenburys' Beef Juice—unlike beef tea and ordinary meat extracts—is prepared in such a way that the valuable food constituents (albumen and vitamins) are preserved, the fresh juice being concentrated in vacuo, and a low temperature being maintained throughout the process of manufacture. The juice, moreover, is obtained from prime, lean, home-killed beef, and the preparation is manufactured by a British firm.

'Allenburys' Beef Juice is of great value in fatigue, debility, digestive disorders, acute fevers, wasting diseases, and anæmia.

In bottles of 1½ oz. at 1/9, and 3 oz. at 3/-
Prices in Great Britain and Northern Ireland
