WHITE-TAILED EAGLE

DEQUADIN LOZENGES

Trade Mark

in infections of the mouth and throat

DEQUADIN LOZENGES contain dequalinium chloride BP which:

- kills almost all pathogens of the mouth and throat including Candida albicans and other fungi.
- is retained for prolonged periods on inflamed tissues.
- is not inactivated in the presence of pus or serum.
- is effective against antibiotic resistant bacteria.

Dequadin Lozenges relieve pain by their rapid action but contain no surface-acting anaesthetic to mask symptoms or cause sensitization reactions.

Each Dequadin Lozenge contains 0.25 mg dequalinium chloride BP.

Available in metal tubes of 20 lozenges and strip-packed in cartons of 40. Basic NHS cost of 20 lozenges is 1/8d.

Dequadin is a Trade Mark of
