THE ALL-BRITISH INFLUENZA VACCINE

Influenza immunisation helps everyone

Amongst the "at-risk" patients, bronchitics are especially vulnerable. In the early stages of the disease an exacerbation caused by influenza can be the first step towards a chronic condition.

An immunisation programme can significantly reduce the chance of hospital admissions among older people. It can also alleviate the additional strain that an influenza outbreak can impose upon a practice.

Protecting your bronchitics now with Admune influenza virus vaccine will almost certainly reduce the number of their winter exacerbations.

The Admune formula contains the strains of influenza virus currently recommended by the World Influenza Centre of the World Health Organisation.

Remember, the bronchitic is at risk every winter – not merely during an epidemic

Has your practice arranged an Admune immunisation programme this Autumn? To help you, surgery posters, patients' appointment and record cards (and full product information) are available on request.
