Amid scores of loud claims for cough mixtures, NIROLEX expectorant linctus makes the loudest of all

it silences coughs

In the treatment of bronchitis, bronchial asthma and allied conditions, NIROLEX is an invaluable expectorant mixture. NIROLEX relieves bronchitic distress in three ways:

1. Guaiphenesin—one of the most effective expectorant compounds available—increases the flow of fluids through the respiratory tract mucosa, thus reducing the viscosity of tenacious sputum.
2. Ephedrine relaxes bronchial smooth muscle.
3. Mepyramine helps allay inflammation particularly where allergy is a contributory factor.

NIROLEX expectorant linctus eases the bronchitic patient's 'tight chest', enabling him to breathe more freely and clear his lungs of accumulated mucus.

Dosage: Adults—one teaspoonful every four hours if necessary. Children over five years old—half a teaspoonful every four hours if necessary. Each fluid drachm contains 50 mg. of guaiphenesin, 15 mg. of ephedrine sulphate and 10 mg. of mepyramine maleate. Basic N.H.S. Price 4 fl. oz. 1/4½ +P.T. (ex. 40 fl. oz. pack).
