www.aidsmap.com is a resource for people with HIV, doctors and anyone affected by HIV.

Use this website to:

- Get state of the art information on HIV treatment, updated every week
- Create your own information package about the drugs you are taking
- Create personalised educational material for your patients and clients
- Work out your medication schedule and find out what you can eat, when, with which drugs
- Read cutting edge research and conference news on the day of release
- Link to hundreds of selected AIDS sites

The site is a joint project of NAM (the UK's National AIDS Manual) and the British HIV Association. Entries are reviewed by medical experts. This project was developed with the financial support of BHIVA and the St Stephen's AIDS Trust.

You can access www.aidsmap.com from any computer which has access to the internet. If you are not on the internet yourself, try contacting your local HIV clinic or HIV support services and ask about internet access.
