Four posters dealing with harm minimisation, safer sex and where to get help
aimed at young people who use drugs, or who are at risk.

The posters show young people acting responsibly towards sex and drug use, even when drug dependency is a fact of life. Photographed in authentic settings, printed in bold colours, they are visually striking. Each poster tackles a single theme. The eye-catching photography is accompanied by a short message, explanatory diagrams and helpline 'phone numbers.

The posters can be used everywhere. They are suitable for youth clubs, nightclubs, pubs, colleges as well as public settings such as bus or train stations or shopping areas. They are especially suitable for social support agencies aimed at young people. These include health and family planning clinics, advice centres, surgeries, probation and social services, drugs agencies, police stations and hospital waiting rooms.

The posters are A2 size (420 x 594mm). Posters can be purchased individually or in sets of four according to your requirements.

To order these posters, please complete the form and send your remittance to the address on the form.
