

Dicklicker : sucker for safer sex / GMFA.

Contributors

Gay Men Fighting AIDS (Organization)

Publication/Creation

[1994?]

Persistent URL

<https://wellcomecollection.org/works/shqdybs4>

License and attribution

Conditions of use: it is possible this item is protected by copyright and/or related rights. You are free to use this item in any way that is permitted by the copyright and related rights legislation that applies to your use. For other uses you need to obtain permission from the rights-holder(s).

Wellcome Collection
183 Euston Road
London NW1 2BE UK
T +44 (0)20 7611 8722
E library@wellcomecollection.org
<https://wellcomecollection.org>

76/9
Sucking is safer sex Most of us find sucking cock or being sucked pretty horny. For most of us it's a regular part of sex.

Sucking is safer sex That's why it's a shame that some gay men are worried or confused about how safe it is.

Sucking is safer sex No one's going to tell you that sucking cock or getting your cock sucked is absolutely, completely, 100% safe. That's because there is evidence of a few cases where gay men do seem to have got HIV through sucking.

Sucking is safer sex However long term studies of what thousands of gay men get up to sexually show us that any risk from sucking or being sucked is very low indeed.

Sucking is safer sex We know that HIV can be transmitted in blood or cum and possibly in pre-cum, so it is theoretically possible that it could be passed on if you have cuts or sores in your mouth. So, keep your mouth healthy like the dentist tells you and impolite though it may seem, don't brush or floss right before going down on it. Any sores on your dick should be looked at by your friendly local clap clinic. Taking these simple precautions will help to protect you against other sexually transmitted diseases as well as against HIV.

Get down on it. Be a sucker for safer sex.

If you want to get involved in GMFA or make a donation contact:
Unit 42, 49 Effra Road, LONDON, SW2 1BZ. Tel: 071 738 6872