FUCKING AROUND

Yes, we know not everyone on the heath fucks. Yes, we agree that guys shouldn't be pressurised into fucking. And yes, fucking is an act which some people reserve for relationships only. But lets face it, for some of us, a good porking up the Garry Glitter is central to life and the universe.

Fucking or getting fucked without a condom is the only big risk in gay sex. You can give or get HIV through the opening of your cock as well as the lining of your arse, therefore unprotected fucking is risky to both partners. The best condoms for gay sex are Durex Ultra Strong, Mates Super Strong, or HT Specials. You can get free condoms from Gay Men Fighting Aids on the heath between 11p.m. and 3a.m. at weekends from May to September. However when you go out, don't rely on someone else having some - take your own condoms. It's easy to forget in the heat of the moment; think ahead so you always remember to use them.

Use lots of water based lube such as KY; don't use oily ones that rot the rubber. Check the packaging - lubes may be oil-based even if they wash off your hands quite easily. So remember, Safer sex isn't about reducing your fun, it's getting what you want when you want it and making sure neither of you regret your actions the morning after.
