

How much would you tell on a first date? : no-one tells everything about themselves ... / Terrence Higgins Trust.

Contributors

Terrence Higgins Trust

Publication/Creation

[between 2000 and 2005?]

Persistent URL

<https://wellcomecollection.org/works/mfz559fr>

License and attribution

Conditions of use: it is possible this item is protected by copyright and/or related rights. You are free to use this item in any way that is permitted by the copyright and related rights legislation that applies to your use. For other uses you need to obtain permission from the rights-holder(s).

wellcome collection

Wellcome Collection
183 Euston Road
London NW1 2BE UK
T +44 (0)20 7611 8722
E library@wellcomecollection.org
<https://wellcomecollection.org>

How much would you tell on a first date?

No-one tells everything about themselves, especially to someone they want to have sex with. You choose what to tell, because you can never be sure of the reaction. It isn't always easy to be open about HIV, even after seeing someone for a while. Though it can be a good thing, not everyone tells their HIV status, for all kinds of reasons. Whatever your own views, remember it isn't a duty to tell, it's not a right to be told.

To talk about what this means for you call our Helpline 020 7242 1010 (12 noon-10pm daily), or book an appointment with our Face 2 Face service by calling 020 7816 4566. Website www.tht.org.uk