HIV & AIDS

Medical/Self-Help Booklets

AVERT has an expanding range of both medical and self-help booklets helping people with HIV (and their carers) to take greater control of their lives. Topics covered include medical treatment, diet & nutrition, HIV testing and dementia.

Red Ribbon Items

To help liven up AIDS events, AVERT has developed many red ribbon items ranging from balloons to stickers and posters. Red ribbons themselves and enamel badges are also available to let people show their support for AIDS awareness.

Books, etc...

Active learning packs and books are available, suitable for use by teachers, health professionals and the general public. Many of these resources have been produced as a result of AVERT's HIV and AIDS research projects.

AVERTing AIDS and HIV

Resources

Young People's Booklets

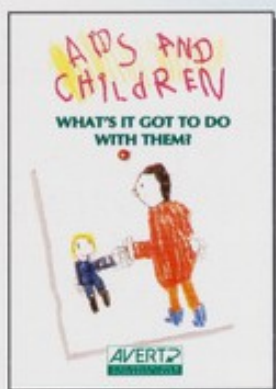

All young people, whoever they are and wherever they live, need to take the threat of HIV seriously. AVERT continues to provide a wide range of booklets to help all young people have a better understanding of HIV and AIDS.

Posters

After extensive research AVERT has also developed a series of young people's posters, suitable for different settings.

Adult/General Booklets

AVERT also publishes many other booklets on subjects relating to HIV and AIDS. Single copies of all our booklets are free of charge and are available on request.

AVERTing AIDS and HIV

Information

For facts and figures on HIV and AIDS, the AVERT

Free Information Service

provides up-to-date answers to over 4,000 enquiries every year.

Backed by a comprehensive library, the Information Service welcomes enquiries from a wide range of people including students doing projects, medical professionals furthering their knowledge and health promotion specialists, as well as individuals.

Information on AIDS, HIV and other related areas is also provided through the Internet on AVERT's

World Wide Web Site

The pages include the latest statistics and a monthly news round-up as well as links to other related sites.
