London Lighthouse

A centre for people facing the challenge of AIDS

1996 is our tenth anniversary year and London Lighthouse remains unique in its approach to health care and other support. Our open mornings are for anyone interested in the project in any way. This includes nurses, the media, students, other AIDS organisations, and people affected by HIV/AIDS. They take place each Friday.

Open mornings

We run open mornings every Friday (except during August). These begin at 9.30am and end by 1pm.

TERMINA BOMAN

Open mornings at London Lighthouse. A panel made up of paid staff, volunteers and service users answering questions and responding to points raised by the audience.

The first part of the morning features slides to illustrate:

- the history of the project from its early struggles;
- introduce our 'integrated model' of care; and
- outline the range of services which we offer.

After a break, a panel will answer your questions, and engage in discussion on the wide range of philosophical, practical and political issues raised by visitors. The panel is made up of paid staff, volunteers and people who use Lighthouse's services.

You are very welcome to have lunch in our self-service café afterwards (no refreshments are allowed in the Hall). Crèche facilities are also available.

Open mornings are very popular and tend to be booked well in advance. We therefore encourage you to fill in and return the attached booking form as soon as you can.

• The open morning is an innovative way of sharing information and ideas whilst enabling all those involved to feel touched by the issues. •
Fiona Setch, Training & Development Officer (Nurse Education)

• Sharing my experiences, as a person living with AIDS and as a service user at the Lighthouse, is as nurturing and life supporting for me as I hope it is informative and enlightening for the visitor. •
Paul Theobald
