THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL IMPACT OF AIDS IN EUROPE

This book contains both reviews and original research on a wide range of problems linked to the arrival of AIDS in Europe.

From health care costs to insurance, public attitudes to workplace policies, from Lithuania to Israel, Norway to Greece, the authors show there is hardly an aspect of social or economic policy left untouched by this disease. Essential reading for students and policy makers in all sectors.

National AIDS Trust is a registered charity number 297977.

The NAT Collection has been designed to help us promote support for HIV/AIDS organisations through our work. It includes a range of images especially commissioned from artist Christopher Corr which remind us that HIV and AIDS affects a wide range of people and their friends and families. We want to see that services for people with HIV and AIDS are maintained and developed, we aim to highlight prejudice and discrimination, we encourage high national priority to relevant HIV prevention work especially among young people and gay men, and we share our experiences with other countries. There are many things you can do to help, and if you would like more information about World AIDS Day, which takes place on 1 December each year, please write to us for a newsletter.
