VOLUNTEERING

health co-ordination centre

The FACTS Centre in North London offers a range of services for all people affected by HIV and AIDS. Besides medical services, non-medical and complementary therapies are available.

Formed in the 1980's, FACTS has been striving to bring together the best care for people living with HIV and AIDS. Opened by HRH The Princess of Wales in 1991, this busy Centre is gradually extending the service it offers to the local community.

A full-time staff is complemented by a team of fully trained volunteers.

Volunteers at FACTS either work generally in the Centre or, more specifically, as volunteer practitioners in various fields.

Centre volunteers help run our busy reception as well as working on special projects which have included Art Exhibitions, Europride events, newsletters and fundraising.

Volunteer practitioners provide a range of complementary therapies and are all fully qualified in their own field. These therapies range from hypnotherapy to Tibetan healing.

FACTS is always looking to broaden its selection of complementary therapies.

What does it take?

All our volunteers are carefully screened and selected and must have a commitment to working in the field.

In addition, our volunteers need to respect our code on confidentiality and be dependable individuals in whom we can place our trust.

What can you expect?

A friendly and relaxed atmosphere.

An ongoing training programme consisting of seminars and workshops.

The help and encouragement of our Voluntary Services Co-ordinator

Real influence in defining your own role as a volunteer.

Support from the FACTS team.
