INVITATION

The organizing committee takes pleasure in inviting you to participate in the International Conference ASSESSING AIDS PREVENTION, which will be held in Montreux, Switzerland, from October 29 to November 1, 1990.

This conference will bring together researchers and public health practitioners involved in the development, the implementation and especially the assessment of AIDS prevention among different populations and sub-populations throughout the world.

The conference will address issues and methods related to the assessment of prevention campaigns and strategies, and the social impact of different facets of the epidemic. It will consist of invited speakers, workshops and submitted presentations (oral and poster).
