AIDS TREATMENT PROJECT

HIV/AIDS TREATMENT INFORMATION LINE

The AIDS Treatment Project (ATP) is a volunteer-based group of people working to give HIV positive people information and understanding about HIV and AIDS. As positive people we often don't understand what's happening in our own bodies. This makes decisions about HIV and AIDS treatments difficult and confusing.

At ATP we believe that every positive person can understand enough about HIV and their own body to make informed choices:

- Whether and when to start treatment
  - What to take
- When to switch or stop

To volunteer call on 0171-793 7444

ATP doesn't endorse any particular treatment or even treatment over no treatment. We work for your ability to make an informed choice

ATP MEMBERS ARE INVOLVED IN SEVERAL PROJECTS TO HELP IMPROVE UNDERSTANDING ABOUT HIV AND AIDS TREATMENTS INCLUDING:

- A treatment information phonenumber
- A fortnightly treatment information fax to doctors
- A series of leaflets and brochures
- Meetings with researchers, doctors and policy makers to improve research and information about HIV and treatments

IN 1997 WE ARE DEVELOPING THE FOLLOWING PROJECTS:

- Support groups for people taking (or thinking about taking) treatment
- Support for "non-treatment" HIV and AIDS organisations in developing treatment information and expertise
- Guidelines for doctors prescribing HIV drugs and guidelines for people taking them

But this is not enough. Many people in the UK don't have access to the best information and best treatments against HIV and AIDS. Only with the help of people like you can we do more.

To volunteer call on 0171-793 7444

You don't need to live in fear of what's happening in your own body

We have learned that by becoming involved we can make a difference in the development of treatments to improve our health and save our lives. You don't have to be a rocket scientist. No matter who you are or what your background or knowledge is, you can help.

Anyone can be a member of ATP, the only requirement is four hours of volunteer work per month. We depend on volunteers both to work on existing projects and to help us develop new and more effective projects and ideas. We welcome all people regardless of HIV status, race, sex, sexual preference, nationality, lifestyle or where you live.

ATP accepts money from pharmaceutical companies.

We believe an industry that makes profits on the drugs that keep many of us alive has a duty to support organisations that help positive people live and thrive with HIV.

We follow these principles:

- ATP accepts only unrestricted money from pharmaceutical companies and other corporate donors
- ATP will not use the logo or endorsement of any pharmaceutical company or corporate donor, nor will ATP endorse or lend its logo to any activity of any pharmaceutical company or corporate donor
- ATP approaches all pharmaceutical companies without fear or favour
  - ATP will always be open and transparent about where it receives money from
