ITALIAN DRUG POT, XVIIth CENTURY

DQV-K

ITALIAN DRUG POT—XVIIth century

This Italian jar, 4 inches high, was made at Montelupo, a pottery near Florence. It once contained Trocisci di Carabe (lozenges of amber) which were prepared from amber, hartshorn and red coral, together with other ingredients.

Painted from the original in the possession of Dr. A. G. East of Truro, in the Duchy of Cornwall.

The Distillers Company (Biochemicals) Limited provides the physician with drugs of proven, specific value, and undertakes continuous research in order to discover products of even greater efficacy. Just as the ancients believed that the slightest impromptu sign would render potions useless, so today meticulous attention to detail represents the tradition of pharmaceutical elegance.

'DISTAQUAINE' V-K the preferred oral penicillin

Potassium Penicillin V

offers convenience and economy

- greater solubility
- higher therapeutic concentrations
- earlier peak blood levels
- speedy clinical results

'Distaquaine' V-K is an improved form of acid-stable penicillin V free acid. The higher solubility of the potassium salt enables therapeutic levels to be achieved very rapidly, and these levels are comparable to those reached following intramuscular injection of soluble penicillin.

'Distaquaine' V-K (written simply as DQV-K) is available as scored tablets of three strengths, each tablet containing the equivalent of 60 mg., 125 mg. or 250 mg. of penicillin V as potassium salt.

DOSAGE

Adults 125–250 mg. four-hourly, depending upon the severity of the condition.

Children 60–125 mg. four-hourly, depending upon the severity of the condition.
