CHAPTER OF CONTENTS.

A sublime Exordium, containing a great compliment to Mr. PITT—The POET sagely adviseth the MINISTER—observeth to him the effect of Time on the heads of Beaux and Old Maids—The hard fate of poor carrotty-polled PHILLIS—LUBIN's and HODGE's disappointment, by means of this cruel Tax—A great and economical JUDGE's mortification; and exultation of his fur-clad Brother at the tax on hair-powder—A melancholy picture of the HAIR-DRESSERS and BARBERS—The POET's eye (as Shakespear sayeth), "in a fine frenzy rolling," beholdeth the chase of a powdered Poll; the capture; the redemption; and punishment of the INFORMERS in London—also Poll-chases in the country, illustrated by an apt simile—PETER exclaimeth at the MINISTER, and compareth him to a hard-hearted Fellow that lived upon executions—PETER praiseth Mr. PITT's powers of oratory—He attacketh the pride of the MINISTER; wishing him to take a little retrospect of humble days—A Kite and beautiful Bat-comparison—Another charming comparison of the BOY and his TRUNK.—PETER telleth strange and unbelievable things, and giveth two most gracious speeches—PETER praiseth the two speeches, and giveth alarming advice—He exhibiteth a part of his political creed—PETER sheweth his profound knowledge of EMPERORS and KINGS and QUEENS, &c. and maketh shrewd observations thereon; concluding with a compliment to Mr. FOX—PETER prayeth fervently for the Royal Family—The POET suspecteth the effect of the MINISTER's eloquence—PETER prayeth to Mr. PITT—ENGLAND wittily and properly christened an old Cow; also AMERICA—The POET asketh a pertinent question relative to royal exemption from the tax, and administereth laudable counsel—PETER gravely and ingeniously pointeth out a tax on CHRISTIAN SKINS; also some (not all indeed) of the great advantages of human hides in the way of trade—The convertible use of Mr. JUSTICE BULLER's tender hide; of the DUKE of GLOCESTER's; of the DUCHESS of CUMBERLAND's; of LORD BRUDENELL's (the Lord help him!); of the DUKE of RICHMOND's, &c. &c.—The POET asketh where the POWDER-TAX was born, and, like a certain GREAT MAN, answereth the question himself.—The POET telleth the MINISTER a sorrowful tale—A stinking, yet beautiful simile—PETER prophesieth—Serious and good advice to Mr. PITT—Political and deep reflections—PETER seeth a vision full of horror—He affecteth a smile, but it seemeth to be rather the risus sardonius—PETER counselleth (but, he thinketh, in vain) the MINISTER and his COLLEAGUE HARRY DUNDAS to run the gantlet—The Conclusion.

A

PLAINTIVE EPISTLE, &c.

O MIGHTY Master of the ways and means
To slake the golden thirst of Kings and Queens ;
To gorge the cavern of each greedy chest
With all the wonders of the bleeding East ;
To lull with opiate draughts a Kingdom's groans, 5
Patch ragged crowns, and cobble crazy thrones ;
The modest BARD, for five short minutes, bear ;
Nor may the MUSE's wisdom wound thine ear.

B

Sick

Sick of thy taxes, while the wearied Nation
 Drags her last penny forth, and fears starvation ; 10
 Whose voice is loud, and daily waxing louder ;
 Lift to the serious sound, and damn the Powder.
 To thee, responsible for ev'ry blunder,
 Her mildest murmurs should be claps of thunder.

Pleas'd with thy fav'rite folly, mark old TIME, 15
 Wide-grinning at the Beau beyond his prime ;
 And many a Maid, beyond life's blooming day,
 Whose curls his wonted malice turn'd to gray !

Lo, the poor Girl, whom carrot-colour shocks,
 Pines pennylefs, and blushes for her locks ! 20
 Refus'd to fly to POWDER's friendly aid,
 She bids them seek in caps the secret shade ;

No

No ringlets now around her neck to wave,

PHILLIS must hide the redd'ning shame, or shave!

At thee she flings her curses, PITT, and cries— 25

At thee she darts the lightnings of her eyes;

And thinks that LOVE ne'er warm'd Him who could vex,

With wanton strokes of cruelty, the SEX.

On Sundays trim, to give his head an air,

POOR LUBIN shook the dredge-box o'er his hair; 30

HODGE dipp'd his caxon 'mid the sack of flour:

But now they execrate the arm of pow'r;

LUBIN no longer dares the dredge-box shake,

NOR HODGE to dip his caxon in the sack.

Yet see a nobler MOURNER! K-----, lo! 35

The saving JUDGE has felt a stunning blow:

His

His hawk-economy won't thank thee for't,

Which stops his pretty nipperkin of PORT.

Not so JUDGE BLOOD, who glories in deceit ;

His life one murder, and his soul a cheat—

40

He loves a law, and hugs the man who made it,

To hang a culprit, and himself evade it.

See groups of HAIR-DRESSERS all idle stand,

A melancholy, mute, and mournful band ;

And BARBERS eke, who lift the crape-clad Pole,

45

And round and round their eyes of horror roll ;

Desponding, pale, like HOSIER's ghosts so white,

Who told their sorrows 'mid the moony light.

Verse 38. Nipperkin of Port.] Such is the laudable moderation of this second Sir John Cutler, or Mr. Elwes, that he allows himself and Lady at and after dinner no more than this little measure of wine ! A fine example for the sons of dissipation ! It has been supposed that the economical Judge has surpassed the famous miracle of the loaves and fishes, by making one bottle of wine serve for double the number of souls, or rather bodies, that have come with open mouths to Lincoln's-Inn-Fields. I do not think they have gone away so well satisfied.

But see ! each hopeless wight with fury foams ;
 His curling-iron breaks, and snaps his combs ; 50
 Ah ! doom'd to shut their mouths as well as shops ;
 For dead is custom, 'mid the world of CROPS.

In fancy now I mark the frequent race ;
 I see th' INFORMER polls of powder chase !
 On this, on that, a Footman, Maid of mop, 55
 Fierce as the tiger from his ambush, pop ;
 Now in his cruel clutches, sharp and strong,
 To Bow-street drag his powder'd prey along :
 And now I see the MOR, in Mercy's cause,
 Redeem the victim from his savage paws ; 60

Verse 52. World of Crops.] Such is the universal disgust at the Powder-tax, that many thousands of the male sex have already sacrificed their favourite curls, to disappoint the rapacity of a MINISTER.

C

And

And now the tyrant to a horse-pond draw,
To quench the red-hot thunderbolt of law.
Amidst our villages, in Fancy's eye,
I see Informers chase, and culprits fly—
Rude Pikes so hungry, putting to the rout, 65
Voracious darting, a poor host of Trout.

Who would not hide the temple's white and gray?
“ Your money, Sirs—remove the mask, or pay,”
Is now thy language to a groaning nation!
PITT, PITT, thou hast no bowels of compassion. 70
How mean (for money such thy boundless rage)
Thus to expose the cruel pow'r of AGZ!
Much like the Man art thou, and hard as he,
Who let his scaffold out at Tyburn tree;
Where, as the great and pious DOCTOR DODD 75
Gave by a rope his sinful soul to God,

Thus

Thus on his boards aloft, amid the crowd,
 Th' unfeeling wretch of wretches bawl'd aloud,
 (So anxious people's pockets to be picking) 79
 "Up, up—who mounts here?—all alive, and kicking."

I grant thine eloquence's happy flow ;
 But TRUTH should bear it company, I trow—
 HYPOCRISY, the knave, to keep his place,
 Too often borrows VIRTUE's honest face.

I know thy pride vaults high—but what of that? 85
 The tow'ring column often rais'd a rat.
 Though tofs'd aloft by stone-blind FORTUNE's pow'r,
 Awake thy mem'ry to thy humbler hour :
 Though now a KITE—ah ! once a Bat, how small !
 Flick'ring around for flies in yonder Hall ! 90

Verse 90. In yonder Hall.] Westminster-Hall.

But, drunk with honours, “ No,” thou cryest, “ no ;

“ I thank thee, but I cannot look so low.”

Thus a poor Country Boy to India goes ;

A small portmanteau all the wealth he knows ;

Arrives, with awkward legs and arms and mien ; 95

But, ere a twelvemonth pass, how chang'd the scene !

He mounts his elephant, treats, wh---s, gets drunk,

And, ah ! forgets his friend the little Trunk.

Know, man, no more of taxes now we want ;

Lo, generous M-----y prepar'd to grant. 100

Hark to a voice divine !—“ PITT, PITT, hæ, PITT ;

“ No more, no more for taxes whet thy wit ;

“ I'll pay, I'll pay the foldier, and the tar—

“ My millions, PITT, shall pay the glorious war ; 104

“ I'll give sheep, lamb, ram, turkey, duck, boar, fow,

“ Goose, gosling, cock, hen, heifer, bull, calf, cow ;

“ And

“ And, PITT, hæ, hæ? at Smithfield, PITT, I spine—

“ Mine’s the best beef—yes, mine—what, what?—yes, mine :

“ I’ll empty ev’ry guinea-chest, and sack ;

“ Yes, yes, the people ought to have it back : 110

“ My money in the stocks, my wood, my hay ;

“ Yes, yes, I’ll give my all, my all away ;

Verse 111. My wood.] Here I must candidly condemn a part of the People, whose cause, in the affair of Hair-powder, I am so pathetically pleading. “ Such (says the Win for Chronicle) was the unparalleled effrontery of the inhabitants of Brentford, during the late unexampled frost, when they should have thought of nothing but dying, that those very people, not worth a groat, starving, shivering, and in rags, dared to proceed in a body, amidst the dead silence of the night, with their unhallowed feet, into the sacred Gardens of Richmond and Kew ; where they wickedly, inhumanly, and feloniously, cut down and maimed a number of trees, many of which they had the impudence to carry away to their own scrub chimnies, to warm their own vile bones, because, forsooth, certain GREAT PEOPLE happened fortunately to be in possession of enormous quantities of wood, during the great scarcity, and chose not to give it away in idle charity, nor sell it at the then current price, which had every probability of mounting higher : as though they had not an equal right to turn a penny in an honest way, with any coal-shed man in the village of Brentford. But behold how they behaved on this insulting, provoking, stealing, and trying occasion ! So far from advertising handsome rewards for discovering the rogues, and bringing them to justice ; such was their clemency, that they ordered the affair to be hushed up, and buried in perpetual oblivion !!!”

D

“ Yes,

“ Yes, yes, I know, I know the hounds are howling—

“ God, PITT, I don't, I don't much like their growling :

“ Hæ, hæ, growl, growl—what, what? things don't go right ;

“ Why quickly, quickly, PITT, the dogs may bite— 116

“ That would be bad, bad, bad,—a sad mishap—

“ Hæ, PITT—hæ, hæ? I should not like a snap.”

Such are the sounds to stun those ears of thine,

Where truth and speed and oratory shine.

120

And hark, another voice ! and thus it cries :

“ I geef my chewells to de peepel's fighs—

“ All tings from MISTRESS HASTINGS as I gote ;

“ I geef de fine pig di'mond of ARCOTE ;

Verse 124. Di'mond of Arcote.] The famous Diamond, so infamously obtained by Mr. R. ; constituting a curious piece of Asiatic history.

“ Ifs,

- “ Ifs, dat vich RHUMBOLD geef, I geef again, 125
- “ Rader dan fee de peepels suffer pain.
- “ De EMP’ROR presents, Lord ! I vil not tush,
- “ Although de duty cofs fo very mush.
- “ I turn off MISTER WYAT,* dat I fal ;
- “ And geef up FROGMORE—Ifs, I geef up all ; 130
- “ Geef up mine di’mond stomacher indeed ;
- “ All, all, mush rader dan de peepels bleed :
- “ Ifs, ifs, I geef up all, shuft like de K---,
- “ For bankrup nation be quite deflish ting.

Verse 128. Duty cofs fo very mush.] I am really afraid to touch upon this ticklish topic. The late procession of imperial presents from the India-House to was attended by a dirty Custom-house-officer ; but for what reason, the L--- of the T---- can best explain. It has been rumoured, and believed, that a small order from a certain quarter can overpower an Act of Parliament ; which, if true, maketh a second edition of little David knocking down the great Giant of Gath.

* The Architect.

- “ Vat signifie de millions in our purses, 135
- “ If money do profoke de peepels curses?
- “ We won't haf tumult—no fush ting mus spread—
- “ Mine Gote! half loaf be better dan no bread.
- “ Peety to make de Englis peepels groan;
- “ So goote as poote de Prences 'pon de trone; 140
- “ Who foon, mine Gote! may take it in der brain,
- “ Vat dey poote up, dey may pull down again.”

What sounds of wisdom, PITT, to make thee shrink!

Beware!—thou stand'st on DANGER's giddy brink:

Verse 135. Vat signifie de millions.] Notwithstanding her M----'s immense property, in one thing and another, she possesses the most economical circumspection: witness the following pretty tale. A Miss J-n-r, of Gloucestershire, with her mother, viewing the Palace of St. James's, and entering her M----'s dressing-room, where a cushion full of pins lay on her toilette, the young Lady expressed a strong desire for having one of the Q---'s pins to carry into the country, and was reaching out her hand to take one; when the Attendant, struck with a sudden horror, caught her arm, and told her it was impossible to be granted, as her M---- would certainly find it out.—“D'ye think I might change a pin?” sighed the young Lady, with anxiety. “Miss,” replied the Attendant, after some consideration, “it is probable her M---- may not find that out, but I'll run the risk.”

Know, that a single grain, or half grain more, 145

May turn the balance, man, and heave thee o'er :

And shouldst thou tumble down the rock of Fate,

No seas of tears will wail thy shorten'd date.

Go, copy the GOOD PAIR whom all adore,

Who spurn the PROUD, and hug the humble POOR. 150

Though from my soul I hate mad Dissipation,

That beggars and insults a generous Nation ;

Too from my soul the Avarice I hate,

That, thirsty, squeezes like a sponge the State :

Wishing from trees (so keen the gold it grapples) 155

To shake down guineas, just like pears and apples.

Think not I court a TUMULT's lawless hour,

And wish a Mob's wild arm the sword of pow'r :

Verse 150. Who spurn the Proud.] Parcere subjectis et debellare superbos.

E

No!

No! let a TITUS, let an ALFRED rule ;

Who fights not for a King, I deem a fool. 160

Like those were Europe's Monarchs ! in thy ear,

What from a people had such FORMS to fear ?

Safe 'mid the ardour of a realm's embrace !

Kings never fall but by their own disgrace.

I murmur not at Kings, if good for aught ; 165

I only quarrel when they're good for nought.

'Tis whisper'd that I never reverenc'd Thrones :

Granted—I never worship stocks nor stones ;

Nor look I for wise Emp'rors, nor wise Kings—

'Tis EXPECTATION's madness—Quixote things. 170

The man to titles, and to riches born,

Amid the world of science, how forlorn !

To speak, to think, unable, mark his air !

Heav'ns ! what an idiot gape, and idiot stare !

Though

Though lord of millions, gilt with titles o'er— 175

A statue 'midst a library!—no more!

He deems the butterflies of Folly, treasure;

And shuns chaste WISDOM, for the strumpet PLEASURE.

'Tis true, gay PLEASURE courts us to the joy,

While WISDOM to her swains is always coy. 180

The brain must labour, or it proves the sport

Of WISDOM's circle, though it charm a Court.

Seek we corporeal strength? the mine, the plough,

Of strong examples, furnish us enow.

Search we the spot which mental power contains? 185

Go where man gets his living by his brains.

Had CHARLES* first popp'd into the world, I ween,

That world a very diff'rent Charles had seen.

“What had CHARLES been?” is ask'd with wonder—Even

That good, fat, honest, sleepy fellow—Stephen.† 190

* Mr. Fox.

† The late Lord Holland, elder brother of Mr. Fox.

O may of PRINCES a long race succeed !
 Such Doves, such harmless Doves as now we feed ;
 Not Eagles, screaming with insatiate maw,
 Wild in our hearts to plunge the beak and claw !
 And yet too oft, to damn the coward age, 195
 Our Isle has trembled at a TYRANT'S rage.
 Thus 'mid the smiles of NATURE'S fair domain,
 Where blooming HEALTH and PLENTY lead their train ;
 Where, rob'd with verdure, wind the rills along,
 And ev'ry vale refounds with cheerful song ; 200
 See o'er th' Elyfian scene, with lofty head,
 The blood-stain'd gibbet dash the soul with dread !

I own thy eloquence's stream, but know,
 Too oft for England's welfare periods flow :

Verse 202. The blood-stain'd gibbet.] In France, Switzerland, &c. are many of these pretty monuments of Pride.

A truce

A truce to all such metaphoric breath : 205

So soft, they drop into our ears with death.

How like the snows, wide-ermining the air,

So gently sinking, kissing, all so fair ;

Falling on simple sheep, and soon, alas !

O'erwhelming, killing, with the courteous mafs. 210

Mercy to ENGLAND yield, the poor lean Cow !

Thy busy fingers have forc'd milk enow :

Though frequent rushing the lank teats to teaze,

How patiently the beast has borne thy squeeze !

Just shak'd her head, and wincing whisk'd her tail, 215

When oft thou fill'dst a puncheon for a pail :

But now she bushing roars, and makes a pudder,

Afraid thy harden'd hands may steal her udder.

Think on AMERICA, our cow of yore,

Which oft the hand with Job-like patience bore ; 220

F

Who,

Who, pinch'd, and yet denied a lock of hay,
Kick'd the hard MILKMAN off, and march'd away.
In vain he try'd by ev'ry art to catch her ;
To wound, to hamstring, nay, knock down, dispatch her ;
Far off she kept, where LOVE, where FREEDOM rules ;
Mocking the fruitless rage of rogues and fools. 226

Speak, PITT, (for know at times I'm rather dull)
Why from thy tax exempt a royal skull ?
Why free each creeping thing about a Court ?
The grumbling Nation will not thank thee for't. 230
Let HAWKSB'RY frown, and bull-face BRUDENELL roar ;
They well may club, to ease the Nation's score :
Their purse-strings, nay, let all thy colleagues draw,
Disgorging a poor guinea from each maw.

Let

Let QUEENSE'RY nobly pinch his Cyprian finnings, 235

And stately CUMBERLAND her Faro winnings ;

Let MADAM S-----G make up wry faces,

Something should come in troth from sales of places.

Say, what the tax thy brain will next provide ?

Alas ! why not attack the Human Hide ? 240

Lord, Lord ! how much it must the Nation aid !

Folks may be scalp'd with safety—why not flay'd ?

'Tis verily a shame—a crying sin,

The world should bear about a useles skin ;

What's worse, that skins should in the grave be laid, 245

So beautiful an article of trade.

Verse 236. And stately Cumberland.] As one of the great Supporters of Morality, for such every Muse should be, I have several times had it in contemplation to give this Dame a public rap on the knuckles for certain parsimony to some of the poor disbanded and faithful servants of her household, after the death of her simple Duke. The tale however is too full of matter for a solitary Note, and may, some time or other, give importance to an ODE.

Verse 237. Let Madam S-----g.] This great Lady kept one of the first Sale-shops in England.

Think

Think of the spatterdashes, boots and shoes ;

And think thou of the millions people use :

Such, form'd from human hides, would brave the weather,

And save such quantities of foreign leather. 250

Thus would our BRITAIN annual thousands gain,

And rival all the cows and calves of Spain.

Ask'st thou what other use our hides could boast ?

Books may be bound, my Friend—the letter'd host :

Cases of conscience, BULLER's skin should bind ; 255

Good folios upon mercy to mankind :

GLOSTER's, a book on wedlock's sweet tranquillity ;

His Sister CUMBERLAND's, upon humility :

BRUDENELL's, on beauty, witty conversation,

On manners, music, ratiocination : 260

HAWKSB'RY, on fair, disinterested deeds :

Essays on manliness, the skin of LEEDS :

RICHMOND's, on courage; modesty, DUNDAS's ;

State-fycophants, a volume upon ASSES :

The ——'s, on elocution, hay and hogs,

Corn, politics, tithes, civil-list, and logs :

The ——'s, on di'monds, pearls, and custom-dues, 265

Old gowns, old petticoats, old hose, old shoes ;

Good nature, state-extravagancy-logging,

Pins, mantua-makers, milliners, and shopping :

To close th' illustrious list, and founding line,

On delegates, reform, and powder, thine. 270

O say, where first was plann'd thy Powder scheme ?

At Wimbledon arose the golden dream ;

Where thou, and honest RUMBOLD-hunting HARRY,

Project, and re-project, and oft miscarry ?

Two Graziers, cheap'ning hogs to fill your styes ; 275

Two Spiders, weaving lines for simple flies.

Rich spot ! whence Millions take their easy wing,
 To bribe an Emp'ror, and refresh a King ;
 Where, blest, ye bumper it in England's cause,
 Belch OPPOSITION's fall, and hiccup laws ; 280
 With equal spirit, where each work succeeds,
 A BOTTLE now, and now a NATION bleeds.

Ah, PITT ! of late thy counfels draw disgrace :
 The spring-tide of thy fortune ebbs apace.
 When reputation sickens, toil is vain— 285
 No nostrum gives the bloom of health again !
 No more (so grateful to the sense) a rose,
 It drops, a putrid carcase, to the crows.
 I mark the pompous column of thy fame,
 Fast crumbling to the dust from whence it came ; 290

Verse 278. And refresh a King.] His most honourable Majesty, our late good and firm Ally, the King of Prussia, like the Gentlemen of the Bar, requires very often a refresher before his Cannon can plead.

Verse 287. No more (so grateful to the sense) a rose.] To avoid an ambiguity here (for I have been questioned about it), I mean the sweet-smelling rose of the fields, not Mr. George Rose, of the Treasury.

And

And see thy thund'ring day in silence close,
 While WISDOM triumphs o'er the pale repose.
 Too much thou court'st Danger's dizzy height ;
 The treach'rous sands may sink beneath thy feet—
 Thy kite, that reeling, shifting, mounts the storm, 295
 May force heav'n's flash upon thy feeble form !
 Think not I wish with Satire's blade to play,
 And, charm'd with man's disgraces, selfish say,
 " Let folly root in Ministers and Kings—
 " While rank and thick like Aconite it springs, 300
 " Delighted on the precious load I look,
 " And hail a harvest for the MUSE's hook."

Still to be serious, PITT, before we part :

Let MERCY melt the mill-stone of thy heart.

How

Verse 304. Let MERCY melt the mill-stone of thy heart.] I principally allude in this place to the political character of this Statesman, which is rather marked with

How nobler far, for honest fame to toil, 305

And change a Kingdom's curfes for a smile!

Yet, if resolv'd to worry wigs and bair,

And, Herod-like, not little children spare,

Say, (for methinks the land has much to dread)

How long in safety may we wear the head? 310

Enough our necks have bow'd beneath the yoke;

Enough our fides have felt the goad and stroke;

Then cease to make, by further irritation,

Our patience the sole rock of thy salvation.

Of late hath GLORY quarrell'd with thy fame; 315

POOR PUBLIC CREDIT founder'd!—lame, quite lame—

with feverity. As for the domestic, it possesses some traits belonging to the JOLLY GOD. Even Parliament last year saw him enter the walls of St. Stephen, arm in arm with his dear colleague and constant companion Honest HARRY DUNDAS; both fortunately conducted to the Treasury Bench without a fall, by the boozing reeling DEITY, where "Palinurus nodded at the helm."

RAPACITY too oft extends her jaw,
 Fresh whets her fang, and points her iron claw !
 The arm of VENGEANCE drops not lightly down ;
 Not quite a feather on a culprit's crown— 320
 PROFUSION vilely foster'd—HONOUR dead ;
 RESENTMENT's eye looks dangerously red.
 Believe me, PITT, not yet is thine the realm,
 Not thine the ship, because thou hold'st the helm :
 Such is the voice of TRUTH !—perhaps it wounds— 325
 Friend to thyself and ENGLAND, heed the sounds ;
 Sounds to alarm—and let not, though severe,
 The breath of FOLLY brush them from thine ear.
 Vain is rough bluster—vainly dar'st thou say,
 “ Poh ! danger ! I have met its trying day ”— 330
 For, ah ! too often, boastful of his wars,
 Rank COWARDICE assumes the mien of MARS.

Verse 330. Poh ! Danger !] At the Old Bailey lately, in the affair of Mr. HORNE TOOKE, on the subject of Delegation, when Mr. Memory MIDDLETON was beat hollow by the PRIME MINISTER.

Dim though thy beam, the MUSE's eagle eye
 Beholds a tempest in the distant sky ;
 Dull though thy tympanum, her nicer ear 335
 Catches a thunder-growl from yonder sphere ;
 She sees sharp FATE amid the gathering gloom ;
 A cloud of vengeance, black with mortal doom ;
 But dares not name the MELANCHOLY FORM,
 Whom GUILT has mark'd the victim of the storm. 340

Now to be gay again—should FAMINE rise,
 The meagre spectre, on a S——'s eyes,
 And should the groan of BRITAIN's bleeding wound
 Press on the shrinking ear—a killing sound ;
 Be whistles blown, and bells of children rung ; 345
 The fav'rite little farthing rush-light fung ;
 Let dancing-dogs, delighting, form their ball,
 Whips crash, and grinding hurdy-gurdies squall ;

While crown'd with chimney-sweepers on their way,
 In deep-ton'd unifons the asses bray ; 350
 Such as at Frogmore,* form'd to please a PAIR,
 The true SUBLIME of Monarchs, a DUTCH FAIR !
 And as again, on Frogmore's happy Green,
More shows shall gladden our good King and Queen ; †
 Suppose DUNDAS and TMOU (a Princely sport) 355
 Play some farce-character to charm the Court,
 And boldly run the gauntlope through a mob,
 That execrates, that damns the Powder job ;
 Where Barbers, Hair-dressers, Perfumers, throng,
 To hoot and hustle as ye course along ; 360
 Dash with their powder-bags your brains about,
 With many a kick, and scoff, and grunt, and shout ;

* A Villa near Windfor, belonging to the Queen.

† This is absolutely determined on, in the Frogmore Senate.

Each face with tallow and with dripping smear ;
 And with hot pincers tweak each nose and ear !
 Lo! should it miss the royal approbation, 365
 I'll answer for the plaudit of the NATION.

Such is the song—and do not thou, severe,
 With treason, treason, fill a royal ear.
 A gentle joke, at times, on Queens and Kings,
 Are pleasant, taking, nay, instructive things : 370
 Yet some there are, who relish not the sport,
 That flutter in the sunshine of a Court ;
 Who, fearful song might mar their high ambition,
 Loose the gaunt dogs of State, and bawl “ Sedition !”

* The reader will, at the first glance, perceive a resemblance between my ODE, and the celebrated ODE for St. Cecilia's Day by DRYDEN, and know perhaps to which he must yield the preference. In spite of all the praises bestowed on ALEXANDER'S FEAST, I dare pronounce it, a downright drunken Bartholomew-Fair scene; the poetry too, not superior to the subject: whereas the FROGMORE GALA was of the order of sublimity; and as for the merits of my MUSE on the glorious occasion, (though indeed I could say a great deal in her favour) my good old Friend, the P U B L I C , must decide.

Verse 1. 'Twas at the Royal Seat.]

“ 'Twas at the Royal Feast for Persia won.” DRYDEN.

† The Princess Elizabeth.

At length deliver'd was her lovely brain,
And, lo! on FROGMORE's happy happy plain, 5
Wonders on wonders soon were brought to bed.

Sublime the PAIR of England fate
Staring with most enormous state,
The family of ORANGE by their side ;
With all the pretty offspring round, 10
That struck the mob with awe profound ;
Sweet STATE, untainted by one grain of pride !

And bold beside them sat each valiant Peer ;
CARPMEAL, and courtly CHESTERFIELD, were there ; 14

Verse 13. Each valiant Peer.]

“ His valiant Peers were plac'd around.” DRYDEN.

To the ignorant in punctuation, this passage may seem degrading ; as though the POET meant Messieurs CARPMEAL, MACMANUS, TOWNSEND, and JEALOUS, as a part of the Peers ; whereas no such idea was intended. I nevertheless entertain a high respect for those Gentlemen, as very useful members of society ; yet cannot place them so high—it is so astonishing a leap from Bow-street.

MACMANUS, star-clad SAL'SB'RY, TOWNSHEND, JEALOUS,
 The Guards of England's SOVEREIGNS—furious Fellows!
 With combs, puffs, powder-bags, their temples bound;
 In golden letters, GUINEA PIGS, around.

“KINGS love mean company,” quoth EDMUND BURKE—
 Making indeed with royal taste short work: 20

But thus KINGS honour and exalt the Low!
 How like the GOD that gives the golden day;
 Who through a little hole can dart his ray,
 And bid the dungeon with his radiance glow;
 Nay, from its filth too, bid a vapour rise, 25
 And make it a gay cloud amid the skies!

Verse 18. In golden letters, Guinea Pigs, around.]

“Their brows with roses and with myrtles bound.” DRYDEN.

Verse 25. Bid a vapour rise.] Witness Lord H-----Y, Lord A-----D,
 Mr. G. R-SE, Mrs. H-----, &c. whose origins may be traced (as Mr. BURKE emphatically expressed himself on a particular occasion) “to the swinish multitude.”

But

But PITT and GRENVILLE were not there,

To whom a puppet-show is dear—

Too small decorum on a certain debt,

Repell'd the PAIR from royal sport, 30

Whose want of manners put the Court,

Like four small beer, indeed, upon the fret.

No, no—the COUSINS were not ask'd indeed!

Broad hints, though giv'n, by no means could succeed;

Nought could prevail, alas! nor tears, nor sighs! 35

The Zephyr, that scarce moves the lily's head,

As soon might lift OLD OCEAN from his bed,

And dash his wild of waters to the skies.

Verse 29. Too small decorum.] Not a single card of invitation was sent from Windfor or Carleton-House. Violent were the r—l displeasures in the beginning; but the Poet, in the true spirit of Christianity, hopes that he shall not be able to say, like the Liturgy, “As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end.”

Saunt'ring

Saunt'ring Saint James's Park were seen the PAIR,
 While bustling FROGMORE triumph'd in her FAIR. 40

And now to charm our gracious QUEEN and KING,

Ascending on a public stage,

The tuneful wonder of the age,

Hight INCLEDON, began with bows to sing.

Of war he chanted—glorious war ; 45

Of millions, millions, sent afar,

To aid of falling Monarchy the cause ;

When, lo ! the lofty GREAT all smil'd applause.

Now to the happy, simp'ring, courtly crowd,

In melting melody he sung aloud, 50

A list of ev'ry Hanoverian hide ;

K

Skins

Skins of those mighty men, by bullets bor'd,
Worth thirty pounds a-piece to their high LORD,
For whose great glory and defence they dy'd.

Dear is Hanoverian-skinning ! 55

Money well is worth the winning—

Fighting still, and still destroying ;

Hide-money is worth enjoying :

Cutting, killing, drowning, starving ;

Soldiers skins are well worth carving. 60

And now the sweet TIMOTHEUS sang the FAIR,

A la Chinoise, that brought such crowds to stare ;

Verse 55. Dear is Hanoverian-skinning.]

“ War, he sung, is toil and trouble ;

“ Honour but an empty bubble ;

“ Never ending, still beginning,

“ Fighting still, and still destroying :

“ If the world be worth thy winning,

“ Think, O think it worth enjoying.” DRYDEN.

Of

And bear the trumpery of the booths away :

And then to charity he pour'd the strain—

How FOLK a deal by charity may gain, 65

And thus, with int'rest fair, themselves repay !

And then he prais'd the GREAT MAN and his DAME,

From whose deep heads the scheme so cunning came.

And now he chose a plaintive strain—

The EMBASSY across the main, 70

Of poor MACARTNEY, and sad STAUNTON, Knight ;

Forc'd, forc'd to enter, cheek by jowl,

With hogs, dogs, jack-asses, JEHOL—

The sad procession !—a tumultuous fight !

Verse 63. And bear the trumpery of the booths away.] Booths were formed, and filled with the trinkets of the Windsor shops; purchased by somebody or other of the inhabitants of WINDSOR at prime cost, and sold at FROGMORE at about One Thousand Pounds per Cent. Large quantities were retailed on the occasion: for who could withstand the temptation of carrying off a bit of MAJESTY, which would crown the Possessor with eternal glory, and support a charity?

A LORD

A LORD and KNIGHT, disgrac'd, and tir'd, and fretting,
 Amidst the dusty hurlyburly sweating— 76
 Ah Embassy! to which we may compare
 A drove of oxen sent to Smithfield Fair.

The pinions of Importance pluck'd,
Thrice to the earth their heads they duck'd; 80
 And thrice did they with blushes rise,
 With not a friend to close their eyes.

Thus suffer'd BRITISH MAJESTY disgrace,
 So well supported by the B——K Race!

Verse 82. With not a friend to close their eyes.]

“ On the bare earth expos'd he lies,

“ With not a friend to close his eyes.” DRYDEN.

To this degrading ceremony of prostration before his Chinese Majesty, it is said, our Embassy submitted. But how could it be helped? Every thing, to be sure, that could be devised for the honour and glory of Great Britain, was attempted by Ambassador and Co.; but beggars must not be choosers.

At this the Court of FROGMORE figh'd— 85

And now he sang of more and worse disgrace ;

Sang how the EMP'ROUR shew'd an angry face ;

Swearing the bold advent'urers should be ty'd

To a cart's tail,

Should they dare fail

90

To leave the city in two days, poor clan !

When off they mov'd all mournful, beast and man.

At this the Court of FROGMORE dropp'd a tear ;

For pity dwells with Q— and K— and Peer.

“ Yet O think,” the Songster said,

95

“ Of the pretty smuggling trade !

“ COURT and COBBLER this pursues :

L

“ Smuggling

“ Smuggling, juggling,

“ Juggling, smuggling,

“ Never mind the custom-dues.”

100

At this the COURT resum'd the cheerful smile ;

For smuggling cannot courtly folk defile :

Courts may smuggle what they please—

Mob alone, EXCHEQUERS seize.

And now he fung the little Box, and old,

105

That caught the SOVEREIGN'S wild and raptur'd gaze ;

Which,

Verse 103. Courts may smuggle what they please.] LADY H—RN—SSE and her private Card-parties know more of this matter than the POET. The sly nocturnal visits of a certain GREAT LADY'S sedan-chair from the are notorious.

Verse 105. The little Box.] A present, containing a scrap of complimentary rhyme, manufactured by KIEN LONG himself, in answer to the Latin Letter sent by the KING of GREAT BRITAIN (but not of his own composition) to the EMPEROR of CHINA. POOR SIR GEORGE STAUNTON was made overseer of the Latinity; but as the Knight had long forgotten his propria quæ maribus, the literary vigour of a German was employed for the occasion. Learning is a Monarch's sport—

WISDOM never goes to Court,

Now came a groan, that seem'd to say, “ A p-x

N. B. The verses of KIEN LONG to his EROTHER KING are in a course of translation, and will be communicated to the PUBLIC in due time.

Monarchs

Monarchs first of taxes think :

Taxes are a Monarch's treasure : 120

“ Sweet the pleasure,

“ Rich the treasure ;”

Monarchs love a guinea's chink.

And now to AVARICE he tun'd the strain,

That suck'd a Nation like a sponge— 125

And now to DISSIPATION's madding train,

Who in distress a PEOPLE plunge ;

A People that from ruin scarce can 'scape—

And now the wide-mouth'd COURT began to gape.

Gaping is the mouth's disease, 130

When a subject fails to please.

Verse 120. Taxes are a Monarch's treasure.]

“ Bacchus' blessings are a treasure,

“ Drinking is the soldier's pleasure,” &c. DRYDEN.

What a poetical and sublime compliment to the military of that day!

Now

Now to sad FRANCE his plaintive voice he tun'd—

Sunk by the wicked SANS-CULOTTES so low ;

Dealing poor DESPOTISM so dire a blow !

When, mark ! the melting AUDIENCE almost swoon'd ! 135

The SONGSTER now a graver subject chose—

“ Who is to pay Performers that compose

“ This charming Fête of FROGMORE ? ” were the words :

With much surprise,

And rolling eyes,

140

The COURT heard syllables, that stabb'd like swords ;

Now voices came—“ Mine Gote !—enuff, enuff. ”—

“ How ! how ! what, what ? stuff, INCLEDON, stuff, stuff. ”

“ We pay ! no, no ! mine Gote, we haf more wit. ”—

“ Go, go to Parliament—ask PITT, ask PITT. ”

When soon appear'd the emblematic brutes,

With chimney-fweepers on their backs,

That kick'd, and spurr'd, and lash'd their hacks— 150

And well with such tame fools the treatment suits.

Off gallop'd, for royal amusement, the Asses ;

'Mid the haycocks they scamper'd, and knock'd down the

Girls squall'd, the Court laugh'd, and the Jack-asses bray'd

At the fight of the legs by the tumble display'd. 155

Now a COUPLE leap'd down from their state to the PRANCERS,

Shaking all by the hand, who, in compliment clever,
Roar'd aloud, “ Kings and Queens, Fun and Frogmore, for ever !!! ”

Verse 156. Now a Couple leap'd down, &c.]

“ THAIS led the way.” DRYDEN.

Verse 158. Shaking all by the hand.] His M——Y was verily the happiest Gentleman in the world, and (si licet parvis componere magna) was as merry as a Grig, vowing repetitions of the GALA; but by what fatality it has not happened, not even the sagacity of the POET is able to discover.

UNTO THE RIGHT HONOURABLE
THE LORDS OF COUNCIL AND SESSION,

T H E

P E T I T I O N

O F

ALEXANDER MACKENZIE of Ramsay Garden, Edinburgh, Writer, for himself, and as acting for WILLIAM SOMERVILLE, only Son of the deceased William Somerville of Kennox;

HUMBLY SHEWETH,

THAT William Somerville, Esq; of Kennox, who lately resided on the eastern road to Leith, dropped down dead on the streets of Edinburgh on Tuesday the 13th instant, and the petitioner Alexander Mackenzie, as the ordinary agent and man of business of the family, was instantly sent for to seal up the repositories, which he accordingly did between four and five of the afternoon of that day, in presence of Mrs Somerville, the widow, Miss Joanna Somerville, the daughter, Mrs Macdonald, who all resided in the house with the defunct, and also in the presence of the servants of the family, and George Joseph Bell, Esq; Advocate, who accompanied the petitioner.

That the said William Somerville left a widow, Mrs Lillias Porterfield; an only son, William, who is fatuous; the oldest daughter, Elizabeth, married to James Knox, manufacturer in Paisley; a second daughter married to Mr Macallister of Loup; a third daughter married to Mr Morton, manufacturer in Stewarton; and the youngest daughter, Miss Joanna, who resided in family with the defunct himself. Mr Somerville died possessed of a good estate in Ayrshire, and of moveable property and lying money to a considerable amount. The petitioner, Alexander Mackenzie, and his partner, the late Mr William Anderson, writer to the Signet, prepared for him, about four months ago, a deed of entail, and certain other settlements; but whether the same were executed or not, the petitioner does not know. There were, however, former entails and settlements, some of which are upon record; and the petitioner has been informed by Mrs Sommerville, and by the children and friends of the deceased, that he had at different times executed settlements inconsistent with, and altering one another. That there is reason to believe, that the different members of the family are not on good terms with each other; and sundry disputes have arisen as to the precedency at the funeral, and the right of getting possession of the papers; and by these means the funeral has been delayed much longer than it ought to have been.

The petitioner has within these few minutes received a letter from Mr Macallister, who, as has been said, is married to the second daughter, requesting his attendance at the funeral to-morrow at one o'clock. The petitioner, however, has been informed, that others of the relations had arranged matters so, that the burial might proceed at three o'clock. In these circumstances, the petitioner thinks himself called upon to apply to the Court for their interposition; feeling it his duty, as agent for the late Mr Somerville, and acting for and in the confidence of several of the members of the family, and particularly as acting for the heir, who is fatuous, and an idiot, to take care that nothing is done which may prejudice the interest of any of the parties in any shape whatever.

If it had been foreseen that the disputes here alluded to, would have arisen, application might have been made to your Lordships to appoint a tutor ad litem or curator bonis to William Somerville the heir, the fatuous son; but there being no time for that, it is humbly suggested, that your Lordships should appoint the papers and money of the defunct to be lodged either with one of the clerks

clerks of Court, or with the petitioner, as agent for the family, upon his finding security for his intromissions and his faithful administration, and that your Lordships should discharge all other persons from intermeddling in the affairs.

May it therefore please your Lordships, to take the premises into your consideration, and appoint the petition to be served upon Mrs Lillias Porterfield, the widow, Mr Knox, Mr Macallister, Mr Morton, and Miss Joanna Somerville, all of whom are in Edinburgh; and to ordain them to lodge answers thereto within six hours after intimation, or at farthest, to-morrow morning, before ten o'clock; and thereafter, to ordain the papers of the defunct, and the money in his repositories, to be delivered up, either to one of the clerks of Court, or to the petitioner, as agent for the family, upon his finding security for his intromissions and faithful administration.

According to Justice, &c.

R. DUNDAS.
