another. Coles.

THE REV. WILLIAM COLE, M.A., J.P., F.S.A.

Born 1714. Died 1782.

A full notice of Cole, by the late Thompson Cooper, is in the Dictionary of National Biography, to which I have nothing to add. It is therefore unnecessary to reprint here the events of his life during his connection with Cambridge; Withersfield, Suffolk; Haddenham, in the Isle of Ely; Hornsey, Middlesex; Bletchley, Buckinghamshire; Waterbeach and Milton, Cambridgeshire; but to refer readers to that work.

THE MANUSCRIPTS.

Cole bequeathed his collections to the British Museum on condition that they should not be opened for twenty years after his death. The volumes are now among the Additional MSS., where they are numbered 5798 to 5887, 5952 to 5962, 5992 to 5994, 6034, 6035, 6037, 6151, 6396 to 6402.

A List of the Contents was made by Sir F. Madden and included in the Index to the Additional MSS. acquired 1783—1835, printed in 1849.

The late George Alfred Matthew, of Cambridge, realizing the importance of this collection to the locality, had a copy made of this List, which, after his death, was presented to the Cambridge University Library by his widow.

The present Index is made from this transcript, and gives a direct reference to the volume and folio in the collection.

The manuscripts have been used and quoted especially by local antiquaries, notably in C. H. Cooper's Annals of Cambridge, C. H. and Thompson Cooper's Athenae Cantabrigienses, by various writers in the Dictionary of National Biography, in J. W. Clark's Liber Memorandum Ecclesiae de Bernwelle, and the Architectural History of the University and the Colleges of Cambridge, in which he enlarged and completed the work of his uncle, the late Professor Robert Willis. He speaks of the manuscripts thus :

“They are an invaluable storehouse of information about the Town, County, University, and Colleges of Cambridge . . . Cole took a lively interest in all that was passing around him, and the documents which he copied are interspersed with notes, comments, and descriptions, not to mention personal scandal, and political invective. He was fond of heraldry and architecture, and lived on terms of intimacy with Sir James Burrough and Mr. James Essex, who . . . were the architects successively employed during the last [18th] century to transform so many buildings from a medieval to a classical style. Cole watched these changes carefully, and he has left numerous detailed descriptions of buildings, drawn up while they were in progress.” (Vol. I. p. xcvi.)

PORTRAITS.

1. Bust, turned and looking to the left, in wig and surplice. Published by W. Richardson, 1805. (Line : $3\frac{3}{4} \times 2\frac{7}{8}$ in.)

No painter or engraver's name is given, but it is dated 1768. The plate is in the Rev. James Granger's Letters, 1805, p. 320 ; and in J. Nichols's Literary Anecdotes, Vol. I., 1812, p. 657.

In Granger's Letters (p. 330) is one to him from Cole, dated Milton, 11th December, 1769 : “I am obliged to be at Cambridge to-day on a particular affair, which, as it falls into your way, I will just mention. Mr. Tyson takes my visage, with a design to make an etching of it. When it is done, you may expect to see me in that form at Shiplake. I am not very willing to go to-day, as once before I had sat to him on this account, and thought it very like : however, other people have said the contrary, and he is desirous to take another.” It seems likely that this engraving was made from Tyson's drawing.

2. Bust, looking to left, in wig and cloak. Published by J. and G. Facius, 1809. Painted by T. Kerrich, engraved by Facius. (Stipple : $9\frac{1}{8} \times 7\frac{1}{4}$ in.)

A copy is in the Department of Prints and Drawings in the British Museum as well as of the first mentioned portrait. The original by Kerrich is in the Print Room of the British Museum.

The plate from which the reduced portrait is given with this Index does not contain the names of either the printer, the engraver, or the publisher; it is a brilliant copy of a state earlier than the one published in 1809.

3. A SMALL WATER-COLOUR SKETCH (circa $3\frac{1}{2} \times 7\frac{1}{2}$ in.), profile, looking to the right, with the inscription:

WM. COLE DE MILTON
IUXTA CANTAB. REGIAM. A. M. VICARIUS
DE BURNHAM IUXTA WINDESONIEM 1775
JOHAN GOOCH ARM. ÆDIS
CHRISTI APUD OXON. FILIUS
DNI THOMAS GOOCH BARONETTI. FECIT 1771

This is in the British Museum.

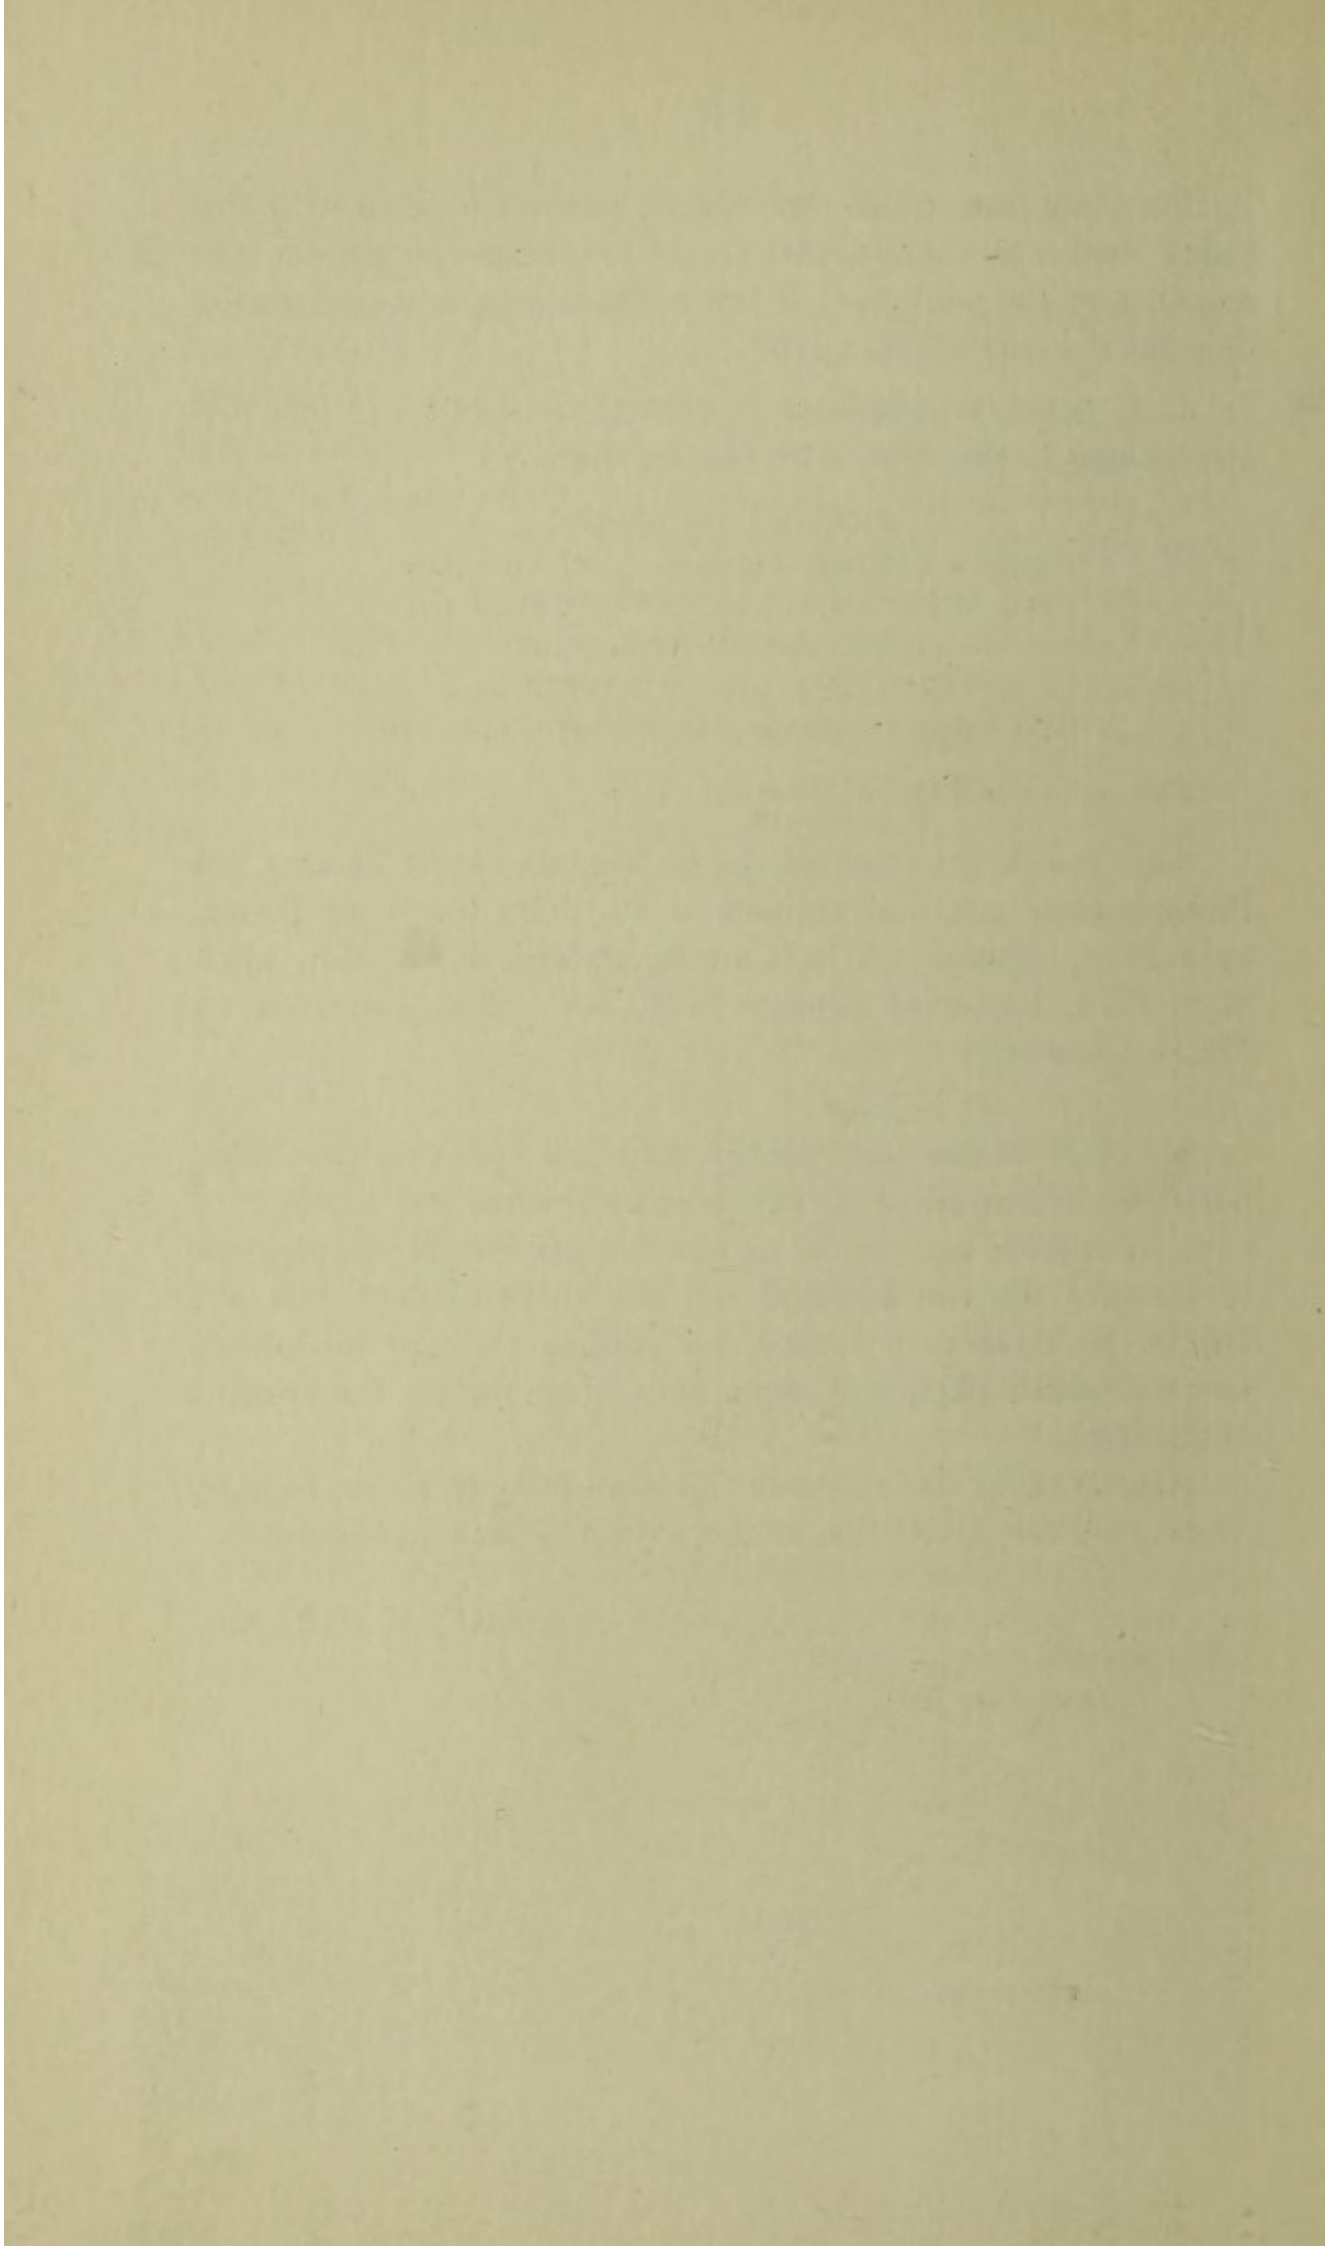

John Gooch, grandson of the Bishop, son of Sir Thomas, the Bishop's elder son, and nephew of Dr. John Gooch of Ditton, born 1752, entered Christ Church, Oxford, 1769, B.A. 1773, M.A. 1776, Rector of Benacre 1776, etc. (Note given me by Mr. G. Chawner.)

Mr. J. E. Foster had already made an Index of the MSS., but I was not aware of its existence until mine was finished. I wish to express my thanks to him for generously allowing me to compare the two Indexes, and also to thank both him and Dr. W. M. Palmer, of Linton, for reading through the proofs, and for valuable help and suggestions given during the printing of the work.

Also I should like to thank the small body of Subscribers by whose help the publication of this work has been accomplished.

GEORGE J. GRAY.
