THE greater number of the Manuscripts described in the following Catalogue relate indirectly to matters concerning the Royal Society, but not so intimately connected with its proceedings as to require a situation in the Archives.

Of this collection, important chiefly to the man of science, but containing also materials interesting to the antiquary, no account has hitherto appeared. In the following few pages will be found a brief, and it is hoped accurate, description of them; but in no cases have complete analyses been given.

October 17th, 1839.

A CATALOGUE
OF THE
MISCELLANEOUS MANUSCRIPTS
IN THE
LIBRARY OF THE ROYAL SOCIETY.

I.

A COMMON-PLACE book of Henry Oldenburgh, the first secretary of the Royal Society, containing drafts of letters, extracts from printed books, and other matters ; but of far too little importance to require a minute description. The titles only of the most valuable articles are therefore given.

Paper, 4°. ff. 207. Written between A.D. 1654 and A.D. 1661.

1. Epistolæ ad Philippum Howard, Edouardum Lorenzum, Robertum Honywood, D. Borellium, R. Boyle, et alios diversos.
2. Letter to T. Hobs on the utility of the sciences, &c. Jun. 6th, 1655. fol. 6, r°.
3. Epistolæ ad Johannem Miltonem. ff. 9, r°, 11, r°, 22, v°, fol. 30, r°. Johannes Milton, poeta illustris. Vid. ejusdem Epistolas Familiares.
4. Of antimony. fol. 75, r°.
5. Of auri-pigmentum and arsenicke. fol. 79, v°.
6. Of poisonous animals. fol. 81, r°.
7. Of vegetable poison. fol. 84, v°.
8. Reflections on the chemical principles of mixed bodies. fol. 97, r°.
9. "Sensa animi mei de Deo," et de aliis theologicis. fol. 111, r°.

II.—IX.

Paper. Eight volumes in 4°.

Remarks on Mount Vesuvius, made by the Padre Antonio Piaggi. A complete and minute diary of the operations of Vesuvius, from the year 1779 to 1794, with numerous sketches of the Volcano.

The original MS. in Italian. Presented by Sir William Hamilton.

X.

Paper, 4^o. ff. 382. xvij. Cent.

1. Le grand œuvre des philosophes. Par Philippe Rouïllach. fol. 1, r^o.

4. Le divin œuvre des philosophes. fol. 218, r^o.
5. "Ultimum patris ad filium testamentum, in quo vera phisica particularia, minime sophistica explicantur, et lapis philosophorum verbis haud ambiguus, sed claris, ac dilucidis traditur, paucis operis clavis reservatis." fol. 238, r^o.
 Incip. Ne mireris, fili mi, istius libelli.
 Desin. Ipsi sit laus in sæcula. Amen.
 "Ex Bibliotheca Francisc. Tholosæ;"—nota marginalis. Cf. Catal. Haenel, p. 480.
6. Opus universale, sive lapis philosophorum universalis. fol. 248, r^o.
 Incip. Fili mi, ante omnia opus est.
 Desin. Cui totus esse debes, ita sit. Amen.
7. "Observations sur l'œuvre universel susdit; qu'on ne m'a jamais voulu permettre d'écrire, comme il estoit dans le livre susdit." fol. 258, r^o.
 The following appears in a marginal note:—"My lord Galway a travaillé fort exactement cette opération, et l'a trouvé fausse; comme aussi j'ay fait depuis. Il est admirable comment les fourbes assurent hardiment les mensonges, et déduisent au long des circonstances particulières; dont pas une est véritable: comme j'ay bien vu en cette recette: laquelle fut avancée pour attrapper 1200*l.* de milord Galway; pour lesquelles, il y eut grande querelle et procès entre luy et Monsieur l'Abbé de Boucaud." There is more relating to this curious tale at the close of the article.
8. L'extrait d'une lettre sur l'opération de frere Phillipon. fol. 266, r^o.
9. Raymundus Lullius de investigatione secreti occulti. fol. 286, r^o.

Jordani Nemorarii arithmetica†.

Incip. Igitur ex quatuor elementis.

Desin. Et hoc est quod ostendimus. Explicit.

Cf. MS. Arundel. Mus. Brit. 200, fol. 12, r^o, a; MS. Pepys, in Coll. Magd. Cantab. 51, 52; MS. More, Bib. Publ. Cantab. 447; MS. Bib. Publ. Brug. 139, (Haenel, 754); Chasles Aperçu Historique, p. 464, 516; Wallis's Algebra, p. 11; MS. Savil. Oxon. 21, fol. 143, r^o.

* The principal repositories for alchemical manuscripts are the Sloane collection in the British Museum, and the Ashmolean Museum at Oxford; yet among the hundreds there brought together, it will be very difficult to discover one at all approaching in interest to the present. The insight it gives us into the history of that science during the last century is most curious and extraordinary.

† It ought to be remarked that this is quite a distinct work from the Jordani Arithmetica published by Faber Stapulensis at the commencement of the sixteenth century. The only other copy known of this work is in the Savilian Library at Oxford, and the distinction between the two was first pointed out by Dr. Wallis in his treatise on Algebra. It is to be hoped that it will ere long be given to the public. The rubric in the Savilian MS. is Algorithmus Jordani tam in integris quam in fractionibus demonstratus.

Euclidis Elementa, ex translatione Athelardi Bathoniensis*.

Desin. ατελος in initio libri decimi-quinti.

Ex dono Petri le Neve, Jun. 12, 1718.

Liber rarissimus.

* On the authenticity of this work, much has been said at p. 57 of the Rara Mathematica. A very beautiful MS. in the library of Trinity College, Oxford, 30, 47, much resembles this in text and calligraphical execution; in its rubric the first book is headed thus,—Artis geometriæ per Adelardum Bathoniensem ex Arabica lingua in Latinum translata liber primus Euclidis incipit. In common with many others, both these MSS. are imperfect, and generally ατελ. We may add an additional evidence that Campanus was not the translator, qui fecit parvum almagestum et commentavit geometriam Euclidis,—MS. Ashm. Oxon. 424. One error we ought to correct; it is generally stated that Athelard went to Arabia, but where is the authority? The mistake arose probably from the preface to his Dialogus de causis rerum, in which he says he travelled (probably to Spain) causâ studii, and was instructed a magistris Arabicis.—MS. Cotton. Galba, E. iv.

XXIX.

Chartaceus, folio. pp. 404. Sec. xvij.

Pappi Alexandrini collectionum mathematicarum libri omnes quæ supersunt. Græce.*

Partly in verse and partly in prose.

5. "A love-letter to the author of the Rehearsall transposed." p. 41 (In verse.)

* It was the late Professor Rigaud who discovered that this was a transcript of the Savilian MS. No. 9, and the most authentic of any yet collated. The Codex Barocianus, however, much resembles this in several particulars. Cf. Verona illustrata del Maffei, iii. 243; Edinburgh Philosophical Journal, vol. vii.; MSS. Gr. Paris, 2368, 2440; MS. Bib. Trin. Cantab. O. 4, 35, in catal. Card. Altempsianæ; MSS. Leyden, Escorial, et Phillipp.

6. Sir Anthony Welden's letter out of Scotland to his lady. p. 55.

This is one of the common political squibs of the time against the native country of King James I.

At p. 67 is inserted a map of a navigable passage from Bristol to London, engraved by Thomas Jenner in 1668, with the arms of the borough. Six leaves of additional matter are inserted at p. 276, and four more at p. 304.

This work is now in the course of publication, under the able editorship of that munificent patron of antiquarian and historical literature, Sir Thomas Phillipps, Bart. F.R.S., of Middle Hill, Worcestershire.

CXXII., CXXIII.

Paper, 4°. 2 vols. xix. Cent.

1. Discussion of the tides for each month at Liverpool Dock, from Jan. 1st, 1774, to Dec. 31st, 1792.

2. Discussion of the tides at Liverpool Dock, for each minute of the moon's horizontal parallax, from the year 1774 to the year 1792 inclusive.
3. The time and height of high water at Liverpool Dock, with the sun's and moon's declinations and the moon's horizontal parallax, corresponding to all the transits of the moon (A.) which occur between 0^h and 1^h for every year, from 1774 to 1792.

These observations of the tides were made at Liverpool by Mr. W. Hutchinson, Dock-Master, and were presented by him to the library of that place.

The calculations contained in these volumes were made by Mr. Jenkin Jones, under Mr. Lubbock's directions, the expense being defrayed out of a grant of money placed at Mr. Lubbock's disposal by the British Association for the Advancement of Science, Feb. 26th, 1837.

CXXIV.—CXXVIII.

Paper, 4^o. 5 vols. xix. Cent.

1. The time and height of high water at the London Docks, the sun's and moon's declinations, and the moon's horizontal parallax corresponding to the apparent solar time of the moon's transit, from Sept. 1st, 1801, to Dec. 31st, 1838, and from Jan. 1st, 1837, to Aug. 31st, 1836. To these are added the sums of the same quantities for the year 1808 to 1826 inclusive.

These computations were made by Mr. E. Russell, under Mr. Lubbock's directions, the expense being defrayed out of a grant of money placed at Mr. Lubbock's disposal by the British Association for the Advancement of Science, March 1837.

2. The time and height of high water at the London Docks, the sun's and moon's declinations corresponding to the apparent solar time of the moon's transit for every minute of her horizontal parallax, from Sept. 1st, 1801, to Dec. 31st, 1807, and from Jan. 1st, 1827, to Aug. 31st, 1836; to which are added the sums of the like quantities from the year 1808 to 1826 inclusive.
3. The time and height of high water at the London Docks, the interval of transits, the sun's and moon's declinations, and the moon's parallax, corresponding to the apparent time of the moon's transit B. for the calendar months of the years 1808 to 1826 inclusive.

Computed by Messrs. Russell and Jones.

4. The time and height of high water at the London Docks, the transit interval, and the sun's and moon's declinations, corresponding to the apparent time of the moon's transit B. for every minute of her horizontal parallax, from the year 1808 to 1826 inclusive.

Computed by the same.

5. The time and height of high water at the London Docks, the moon's parallax, the interval of transits, and the sun's declination, corresponding to the apparent time of the moon's transit B., for every three degrees of her declination, north and south, from the year 1808 to 1826 inclusive.

Computed by the same.

Tractatus de arithmetica.

Incip. Ut ait Salomon, punge oculum.

Desin. Sin autem est, errasti, et reiterandum est opus.

This manuscript contains the curious characters known as the Boetian contractions, and is a most valuable document for the history of arithmetic. Almost every minutia tends to strengthen the view which M. Chasles has taken of the nature of these characters.

Owing to the importance of this manuscript, we have given a complete list of its contents. It will be seen that the treatise commences on the Roman abacal system, and afterwards proceeds to give an explanation of the Eastern Boetian system with altered characters, and with a complete adoption of the advantages of local position.

1. Præfatio. fol. 1, r^o.
2. Historiola arithmeticae. fol. 3, v^o.
3. Divisio numerorum. ib.
4. De impari numero. fol. 4, v^o.
5. Divisio algorismi. fol. 6, v^o.

The divisions are given as follow,—“additio, subtractio, duplicatio, mediatio, multiplicatio, divisio.” We may observe that the third term is much more correct than that generally given in other works, and has evidently been corrupted into duplatio.

6. Divisio partium. fol. 7, r^o.

These are the abacal divisions, and are given as follows,—“digitus, articulus, limes, simplex, compositus.”

7. Qualiter digitus multiplicat digitum. fol. 8, r^o.
8. Qualiter articulus multiplicatur per articulum. fol. 9, r^o.
9. Qualiter digitus multiplicat articulum. fol. 9, v^o.
10. Qualiter compositus per compositum multiplicatur. fol. 10, r^o.
11. Qualiter compositus multiplicat compositum non eundem habens articulum. fol. 10, v^o.
12. Qualiter digitus multiplicat compositum. fol. 11, r^o.
13. Regula ab uno inequalibus. fol. 11, v^o.
14. Regula ab uno inequalibus binario adjecto. fol. 12, r^o.
15. De duplicatione. fol. 12, v^o.
16. De pari adjecto. fol. 13, r^o.
17. De impari adjecto. fol. 13, v^o.
18. De distributo secundum partes duodenarii. fol. 14, v^o.
19. De proposito secundum novenarium dispositum. ib.
20. De significationibus et nominibus figurarum et locorum. fol. 15, r^o.

The following extract is added both on account of its singularity and value, and because it affords a most convincing evidence in favour of the opinion recently expressed by M. Chasles before the French

Institute:—"Prima itaque omnium est igin. 1. id est unitas. Secunda andras. 2. id est binarius. Tercia ormis. 3. id est ternarius. Quarta arbas. 4. id est quaternarius. Quinta quimas. 5. id est quinarius. Sexta caltis. 6. id est senarius. Septima zemis. 7. id est septenarius. Octava celentis. 8. id est octonarius. Nona cemenias. 9. id est novenarius. The interchange of the celentis and cemenias deserves especial notice, as also the orthography of the word zifera instead of sipos. But as this is not the place for any lengthened observations on the many interesting points in this passage, we shall give the contractions as found in this manuscript, merely observing that they can readily be obtained from those in the works of Montucla and Chasles.

XXXIII., XXXIV.

Paper, fol. Two volumes. xvij. Cent.

The first contains :

1. 29 original letters in Latin from Marcellus Malpighius to the Royal Society, Mr. Oldenburgh, Mr. Aston and Mr. Waller, between 1668 and 1693.
2. Malpighii Anatome Plantarum cui subjungitur Appendix iteratas et auctas de Ovo Incubato Observationes continens.—The original MS., and all the drawings: the treatise 'de Ovo' is dated at the end 'Bononiæ, Octob. 1672.'

N.B.—These were published in folio in 1675, by order of the Council of the Royal Society, signed 'Brouncker,' and dated June 24, 1675.

3. The last of the two preceding treatises is followed by the transcript by Mr. Oldenburgh of ten letters containing a correspondence between M. Malpighi and Mr. Oldenburgh, between 1671 and 1674, referring to those treatises.

N.B.—These letters are printed at the end of that Appendix.

The second contains :

1. Marcelli Malpighii Dissertatio Epistolica de Bombyce.—The original MS. and all the drawings.

N.B.—This work was printed in 1669 in 4to, by an order of the Council of the Royal Society, signed 'Brouncker,' and dated Feb. 22, 1669.

2. Dissertatio Epistolica de Formatione Pulli in Ovo; with the date at the end, 'Bononiæ Calendis Februarii 1672.'—The original MS. with all the drawings.

N.B.—This work was printed in 1673 in 4to, by an order of the Council of the Royal Society, signed 'Brouncker,' and dated June 12, 1672.

3. All the original drawings of the figures of the 39 Plates of the second part of Malpighius' 'Anatome Plantarum.'

N.B.—The MS. text of this appears to be lost, for preceding the figures there are inserted three notes on two slips of paper: the first says, "12 guards to be left empty here," which has been done evidently for the insertion of the mislaid treatise; and the second, which seems to have enveloped the drawings, says,—“The original draughts of the 2nd part of Sig. Malpighi's History of Plants;” further, in a different hand, “The original treatise to which these drawings belong is not to be found.—May 18, 1734. T. S.”

4. Marcelli Malpighii Epistola de Structura Glandularum Conglobatarum consimiliumque partium.—The original MS., dated 'Bononiæ, 23 Junii 1688.'

N.B.—This is the first treatise in the 'Opera Posthuma' of Malpighius, which were published in folio in 1697 by an order of the Council of the Royal Society, signed 'Joan. Hoskyns, V.P.R.S.,' and dated July 22, 1696.

XI.

Paper, 12°. xvij. Cent.

A theological common-place book.

CATALOGUE
IN THE POSSESSION OF
THE ROYAL SOCIETY.

P R E F A C E.

THE Letters contained in the following Catalogue embrace a period of between eighty and ninety years. They commence about 1657, and terminate about 1737; and although a few occur of an earlier date, these have no direct connexion with the Royal Society. This correspondence exhibits very prominently the indefatigable exertions made by Mr. Oldenburg before and upon the institution of the Society, and which must have contributed materially to the renown it so speedily acquired. The Letters do not always relate exclusively to the affairs of the Society; for at a time when journals and periodicals were scarcely known, a correspondence with the Royal Society was eagerly sought to record any extraordinary phenomenon or event, and thus, by its publication in the Philosophical Transactions, to make it known to the scientific world. Although some portion of this correspondence is, of course, of a trivial character, any future historian of the Society will nevertheless do well to consult it, as it contains particulars and the substantiation of facts not otherwise attainable.

The most interesting letters contained in this series are probably those which relate to the dispute between Newton and Leibnitz: Oldenburg's contain many circumstances relative to his personal history, especially some of his later letters to the Hon. Robert Boyle. Those of Flamsteed, Wren, Wallis, Slusius, Hevelius and Huygens will have as great an interest for the astronomer, mathematician and natural philosopher, as will those of Lister, Ray, Willughby, Malpighi and Leeuwenhoek, for the naturalist: Beale's are chiefly agricultural; and Justel's, although extensive in number, contain scarcely more than the literary gossip of the day: in all of these, as in others, there are scattered anecdotes relative to the historical events of the time.

The plan adopted in the arrangement is alphabetical for authors, and chronological for their correspondence; it will therefore be found convenient in consulting this Catalogue to refer, in connexion with any series of letters, to the correspondence of the Secretary of the period. Some disappointment must, however, occasionally be expected, as there are frequent gaps in the succession of letters. Although the majority of them are autographs, yet many are merely copies or translations; and it is not possible now to say what may have become of the originals: it is very remarkable that there are scarcely any but copies of those addressed personally to Sir Hans Sloane during his official connexion with the Society, either as Secretary or President, but the originals of which are doubtlessly deposited in the British Museum.

It is much to be regretted that the preservation of this series of documents should have been discontinued, as it would certainly have furnished important materials toward a consecutive and particular history of the Society, which would frequently, as is the case with the biography of great men, derive an additional interest from minute circumstances, which are only trivial when insulated.

The last column in the Catalogue 'Where extant in print,' is purposely left blank; for although in very many cases references could have been inserted, they would have been merely partial, as the portions of the correspondence which have been printed consist chiefly of extracts, a large quantity of which may be found in the early volumes of the Philosophical Transactions, in Collins' Commercium Epistolicum, and in other collections.

To facilitate the references suggested above, the following is a list of the successive Presidents and Secretaries, during the period comprised within the Correspondence, together with their dates of office.
