Jan. 8, 1912

Dear Sir,

Mrs. Burgoyne is not doing very well. She looks thinner, and she seems, if anything, more deluded. She paid a number of visits to the dentist a little while back, and got her teeth attended to; but she would not leave the plate alone, and one night she succeeded in pulling out a molar tooth herself. This must have caused her a very great deal of pain, and there was a good deal of inflammation of the mouth after it, and even yet it has not altogether subsided. I fear that the money spent on dentistry will be entirely thrown away, and it looks as if she would require an anaesthetic to have the remainder of the teeth in the upper jaw taken out.

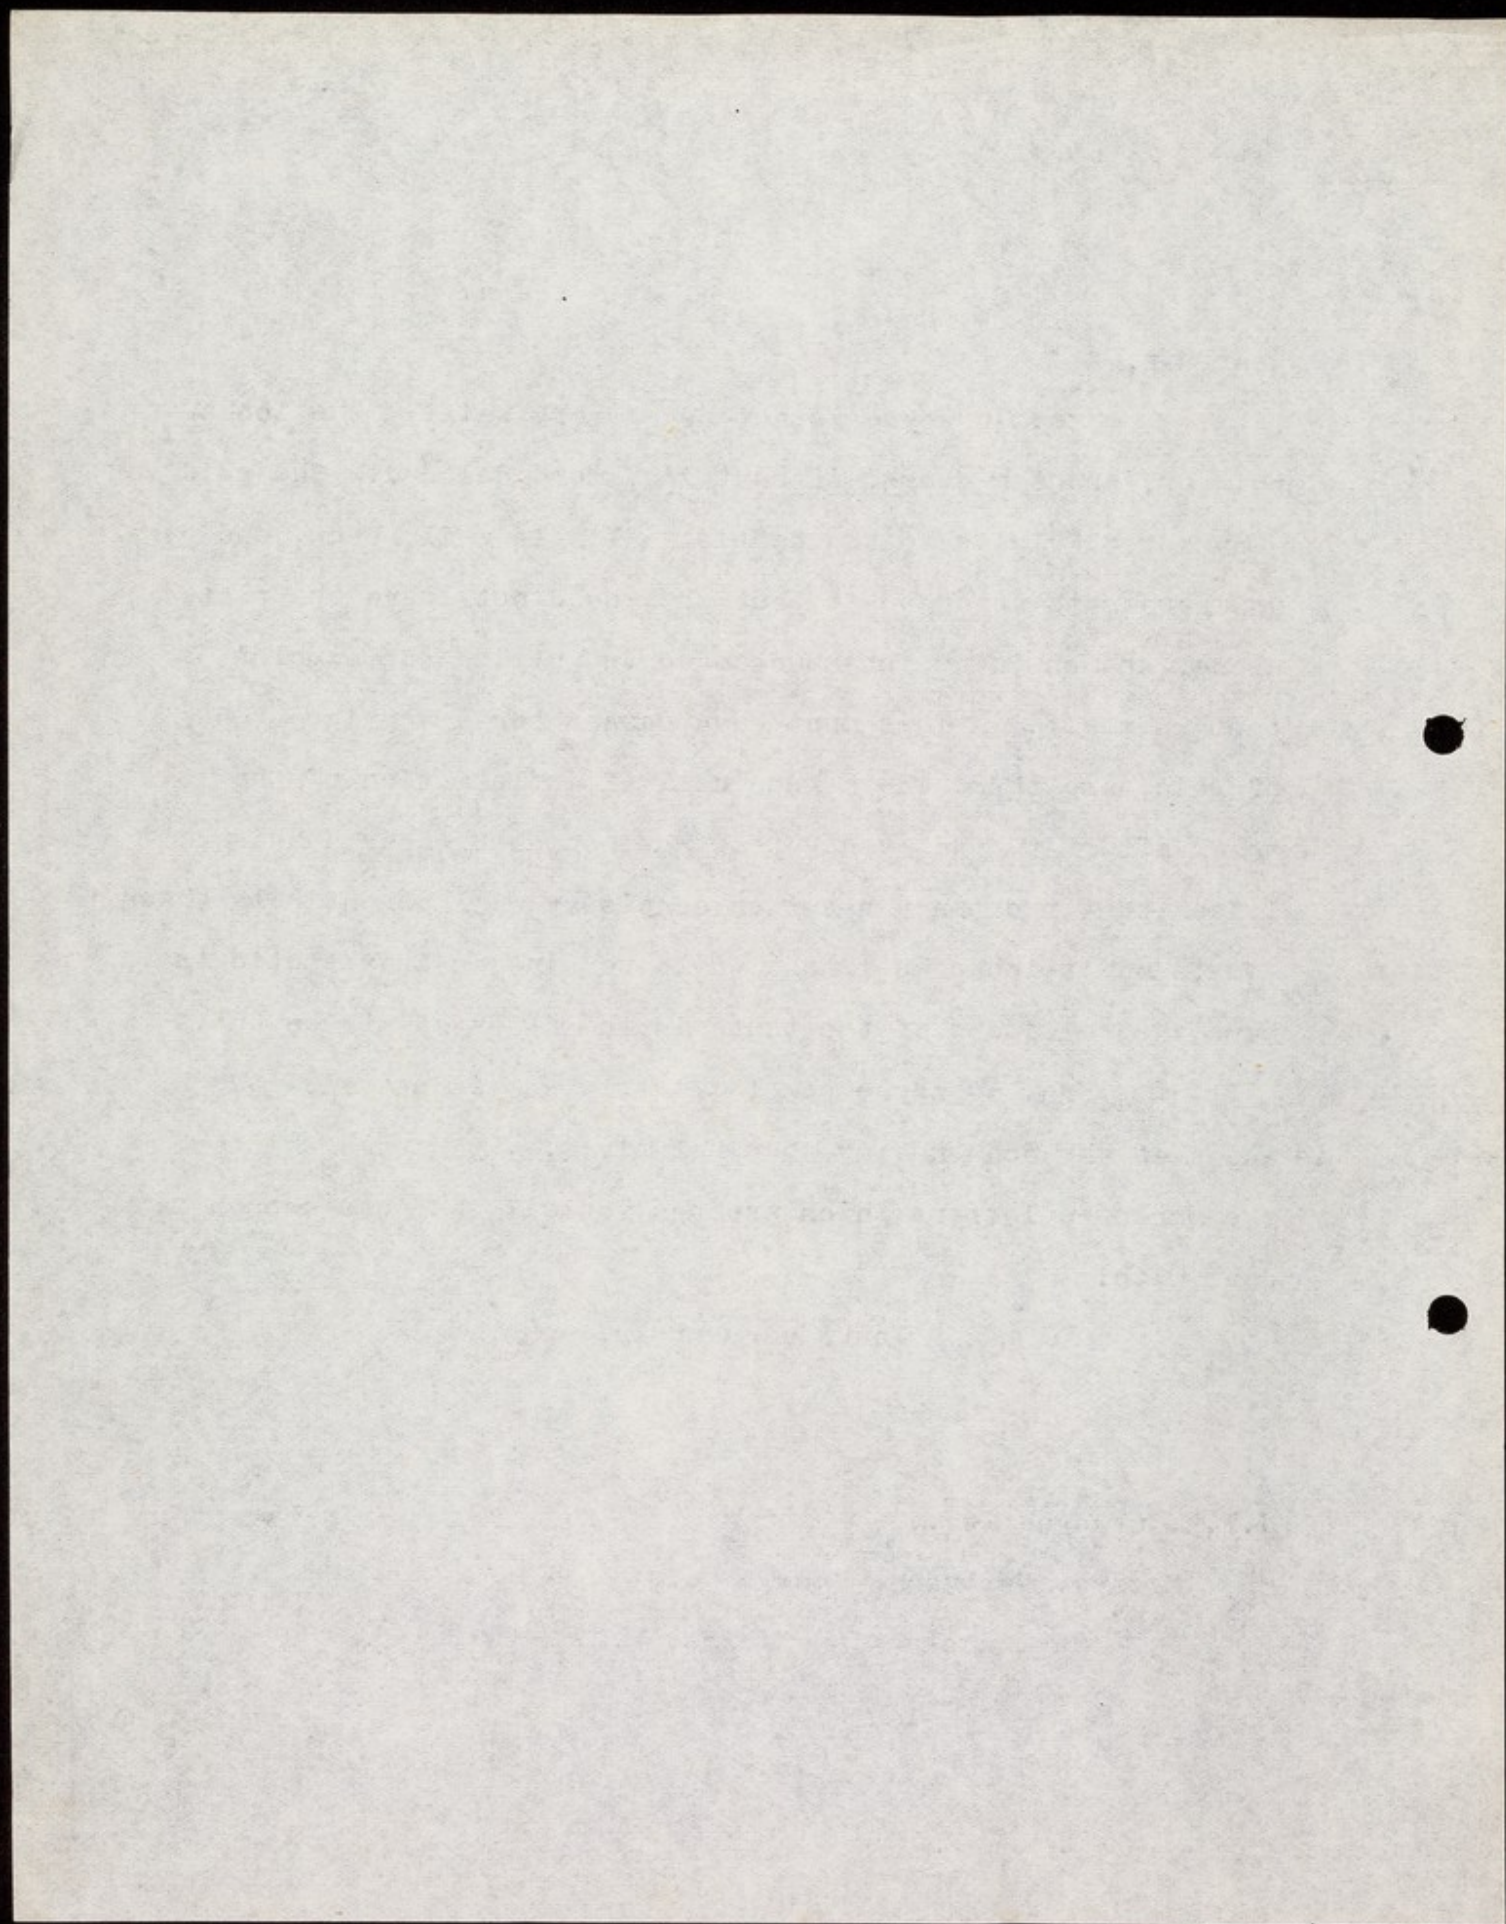

Mrs. Burgoyne complains that she is not visited and that she does not see her relatives. She has written the enclosed letters which perhaps you will be good enough to deal with.

Dear Sirs,

I am much obliged for your letter respecting Mrs. Burgoyne. There will be a meeting of the Retreat Committee in about three weeks, and I will suggest to them that Mrs. Burgoyne shall remain in her present room in the West Villa, the larger room that Mr. Burgoyne saw, for the fee mentioned, 4 guineas a week, instead of 5, the usual fee. I conclude there will be no objection to the higher rate being charged from the beginning of the present quarter. I think the Committee will agree to this arrangement, as it seems a pity to unsettle Mrs. Burgoyne more than is necessary, and she certainly appreciates her present quarters.

I ought at the same time to mention that she has required several visits to the dentist lately, and this will cause some additional expense.

Dear Sir,

Mr Burgoyne has discussed your letter of the 28th inst with us. When he was up there you showed him two rooms, one on the ground floor at five guineas and one on the first floor at four guineas. Our client is of course anxious that his wife should be made as comfortable as possible but the means at his disposal do not permit of his paying five guineas per week, though he would not object to four guineas. This is of course more than was paid at St Andrews. Perhaps you will let us know if the matter can be arranged on these lines.

Dear Sir

I am sorry I cannot report any change in M^{rs} Borgegne's desires appear to be more pronounced just now. I do not say just at first she managed to suppress some of the stronger ideas.

She is now writing to her guardian H. B. H. the Grand Duke - Constantinovich disapprovingly.

At the recent meeting of the Retreat Committee the question of the terms for M^{rs} Borgegne were discussed & I was requested to write to you to explain that the rate proposed by your solicitor does not really provide for room & comforts which M^{rs} Borgegne is able to afford.

We have not yet moved her from the pleasant room in the West Villa that you sent on this account although the fees paid are inadequate. Of course if her means are insufficient to meet the proper charges I must report the fact to the Committee but from what you said I gathered there would not be much difficulty in the payment of expenses.

Dear Sir

Mrs. E. E. Burgoyne

With reference to your letter received this morning we are afraid there has been some misunderstanding as to the amount to be paid —

We have today been in communication with Mr. Burgoyne & he tells us that £3 guas a week is more than can be managed.

He thinks that having regard to the income available it would be the best way to start if possible at £3.3.0 a week & see how things went on & then after a trial if it should appear that some additional amount might be arranged for —

His idea is that it would be better to start like this rather than to subsequently reduce the payment

Can you arrange this? Perhaps you can give us some idea
