Dear Mr. Fulton,

To be quite frank I feel a little difficulty in replying to your letter. It is not that I do not think your enquiry is perfectly proper, but, as you perhaps know, professional etiquette forbids me to give information respecting patients, especially voluntary boarders, without their knowledge. I think it would be better for you to call to see me some time when you are in Bradford. I expect to be in Leeds tomorrow week, the 16th inst, and should be over in the afternoon at about 3 p.m. If that is likely to be convenient. Of course if your brother's physician were to write to me for information I would give him (in confidence) any information I could. I hope you will not conclude that there is any mystery or any reason for reticence on my part. This is not the case at all. You will I think understand the necessity for a physician to be careful about enquiries. I am sorry to hear Mr. Fulton is not so well.

I remain,

Yours very truly,

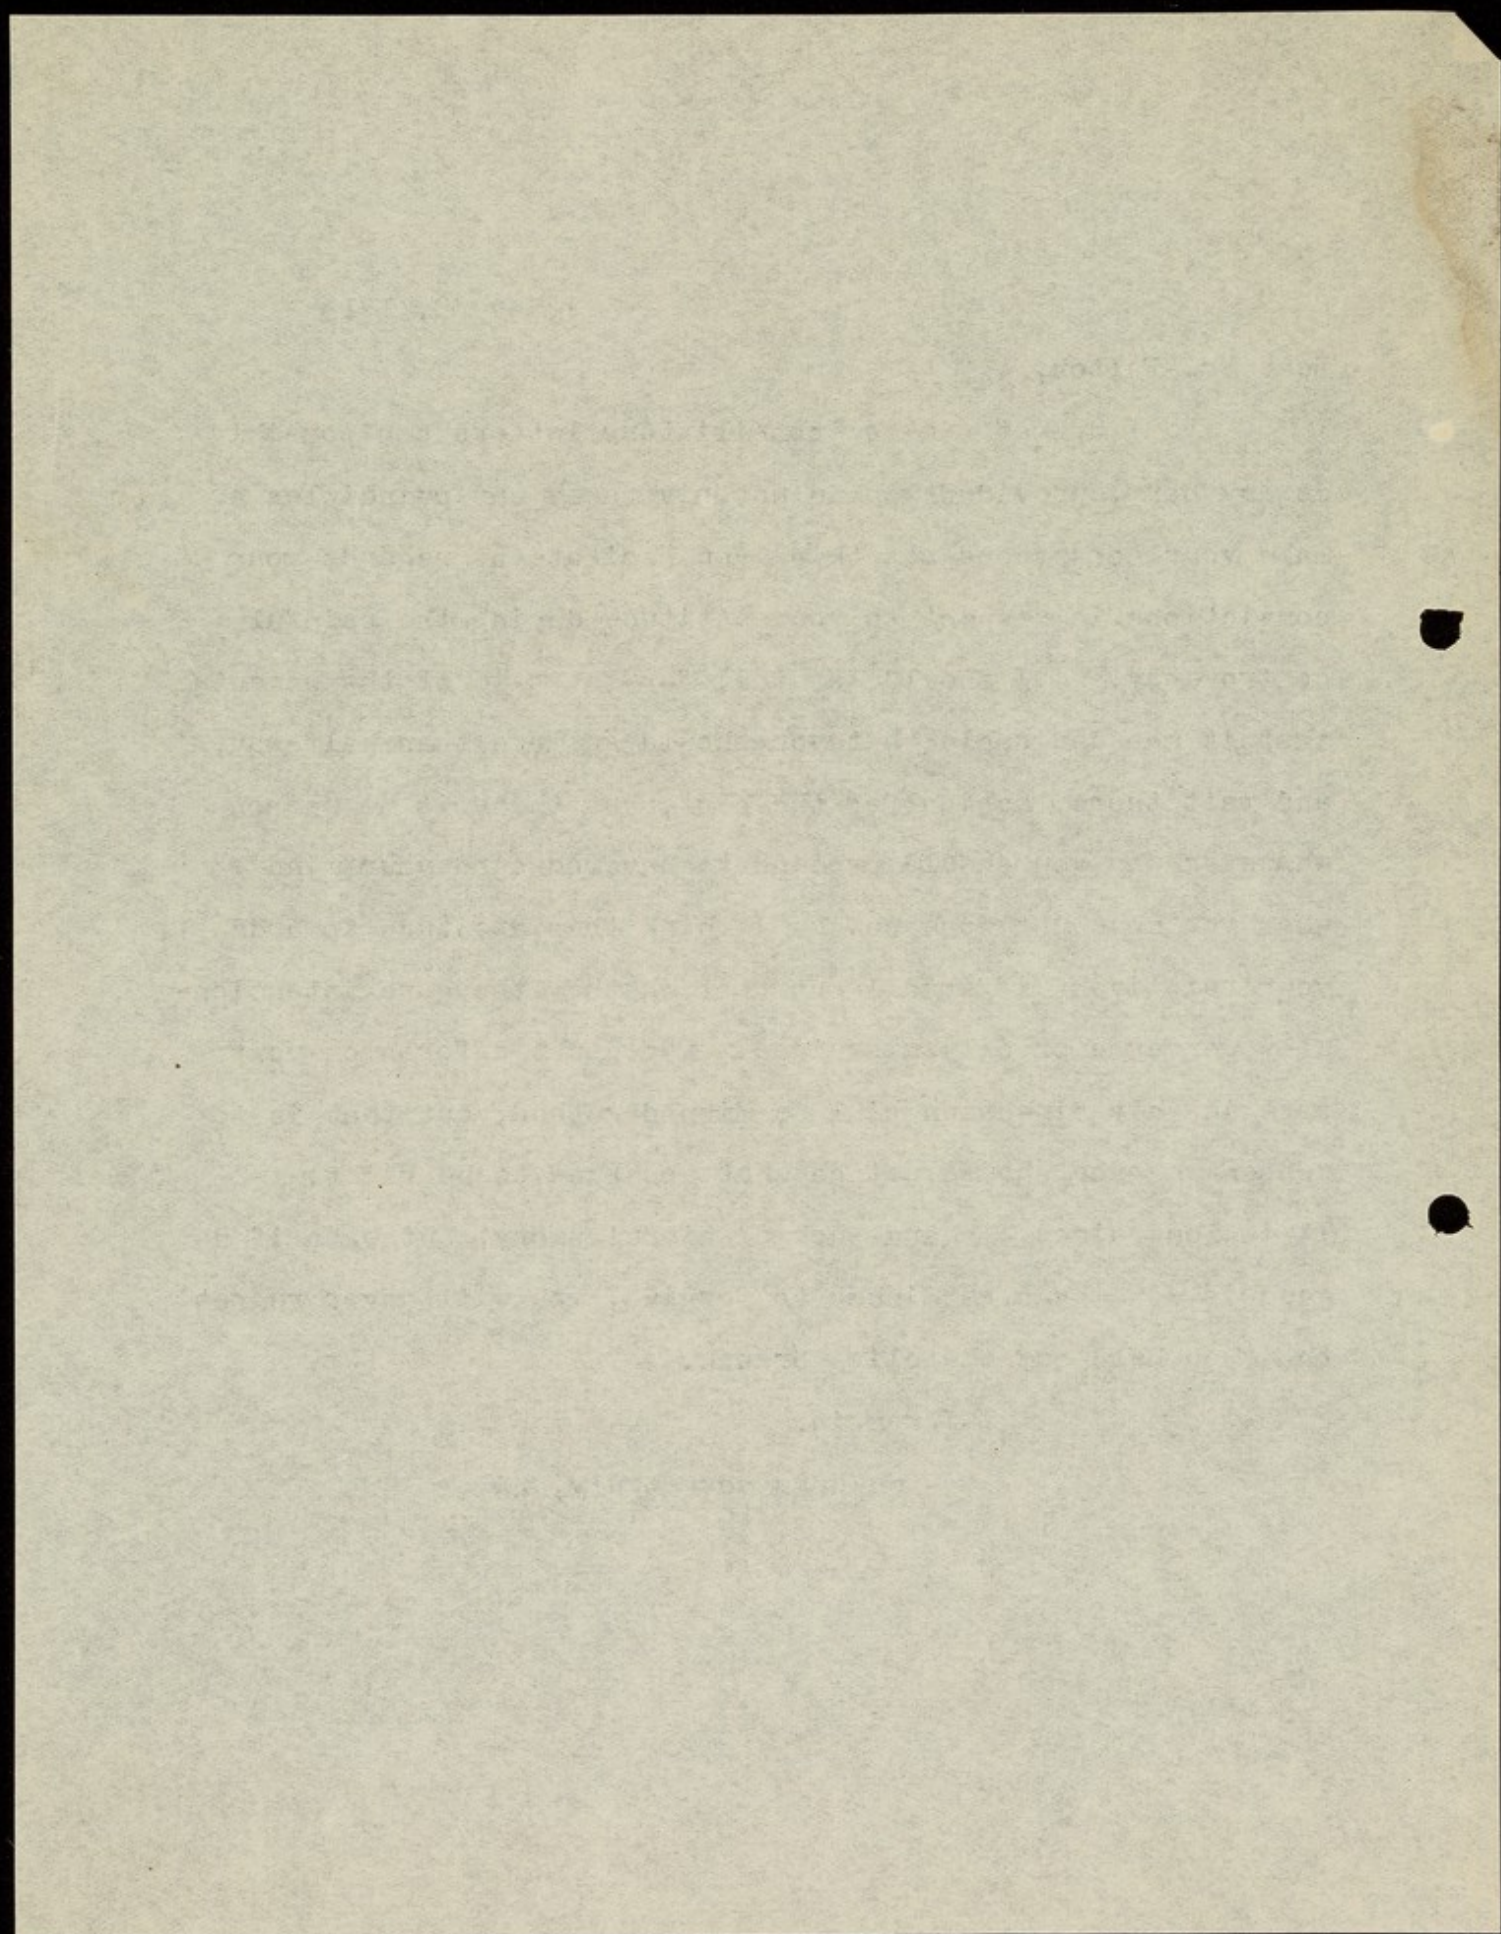

May 30, 1913

Dear Mr. Fulton,

I do not see how conciliatory letters can possibly do any harm, provided you do not give away any principles or make your correspondents think you hesitate as regards your convictions in respect to your attitude during the painful controversy. I should say that for the sake of the parents that it was desirable that you should go more than half way, and wait there, hoping for the best, but there is no reason whatever why you should pretend to have changed your mind when you have not done so. I think this attitude towards your relatives is equally correct whether they are intentionally perverse or only misguided. No doubt efforts on your part in this direction will be misunderstood, but that is no reason why you should not do what you know to be right. It is long since I heard such a painful story, but even if no good is done by a readiness to forgive, you will never regret that you held out the olive branch.

I remain,

Yours very truly,

I wrote my brother as the lines you indicated & enclosed is copy of his reply.

I am thinking of pointing out to him that he doesn't say whether he agrees to my suggestion to avoid ^{acrimony} discussion & let time tell.

It is difficult to know exactly what your ideas would be but I am anxious to give them a trial so send copy & perhaps you will let me know. I confess I have not much hope of doing any good. There are so many of them to contend with & they have no scruples.

Dear Mr. Fulton,

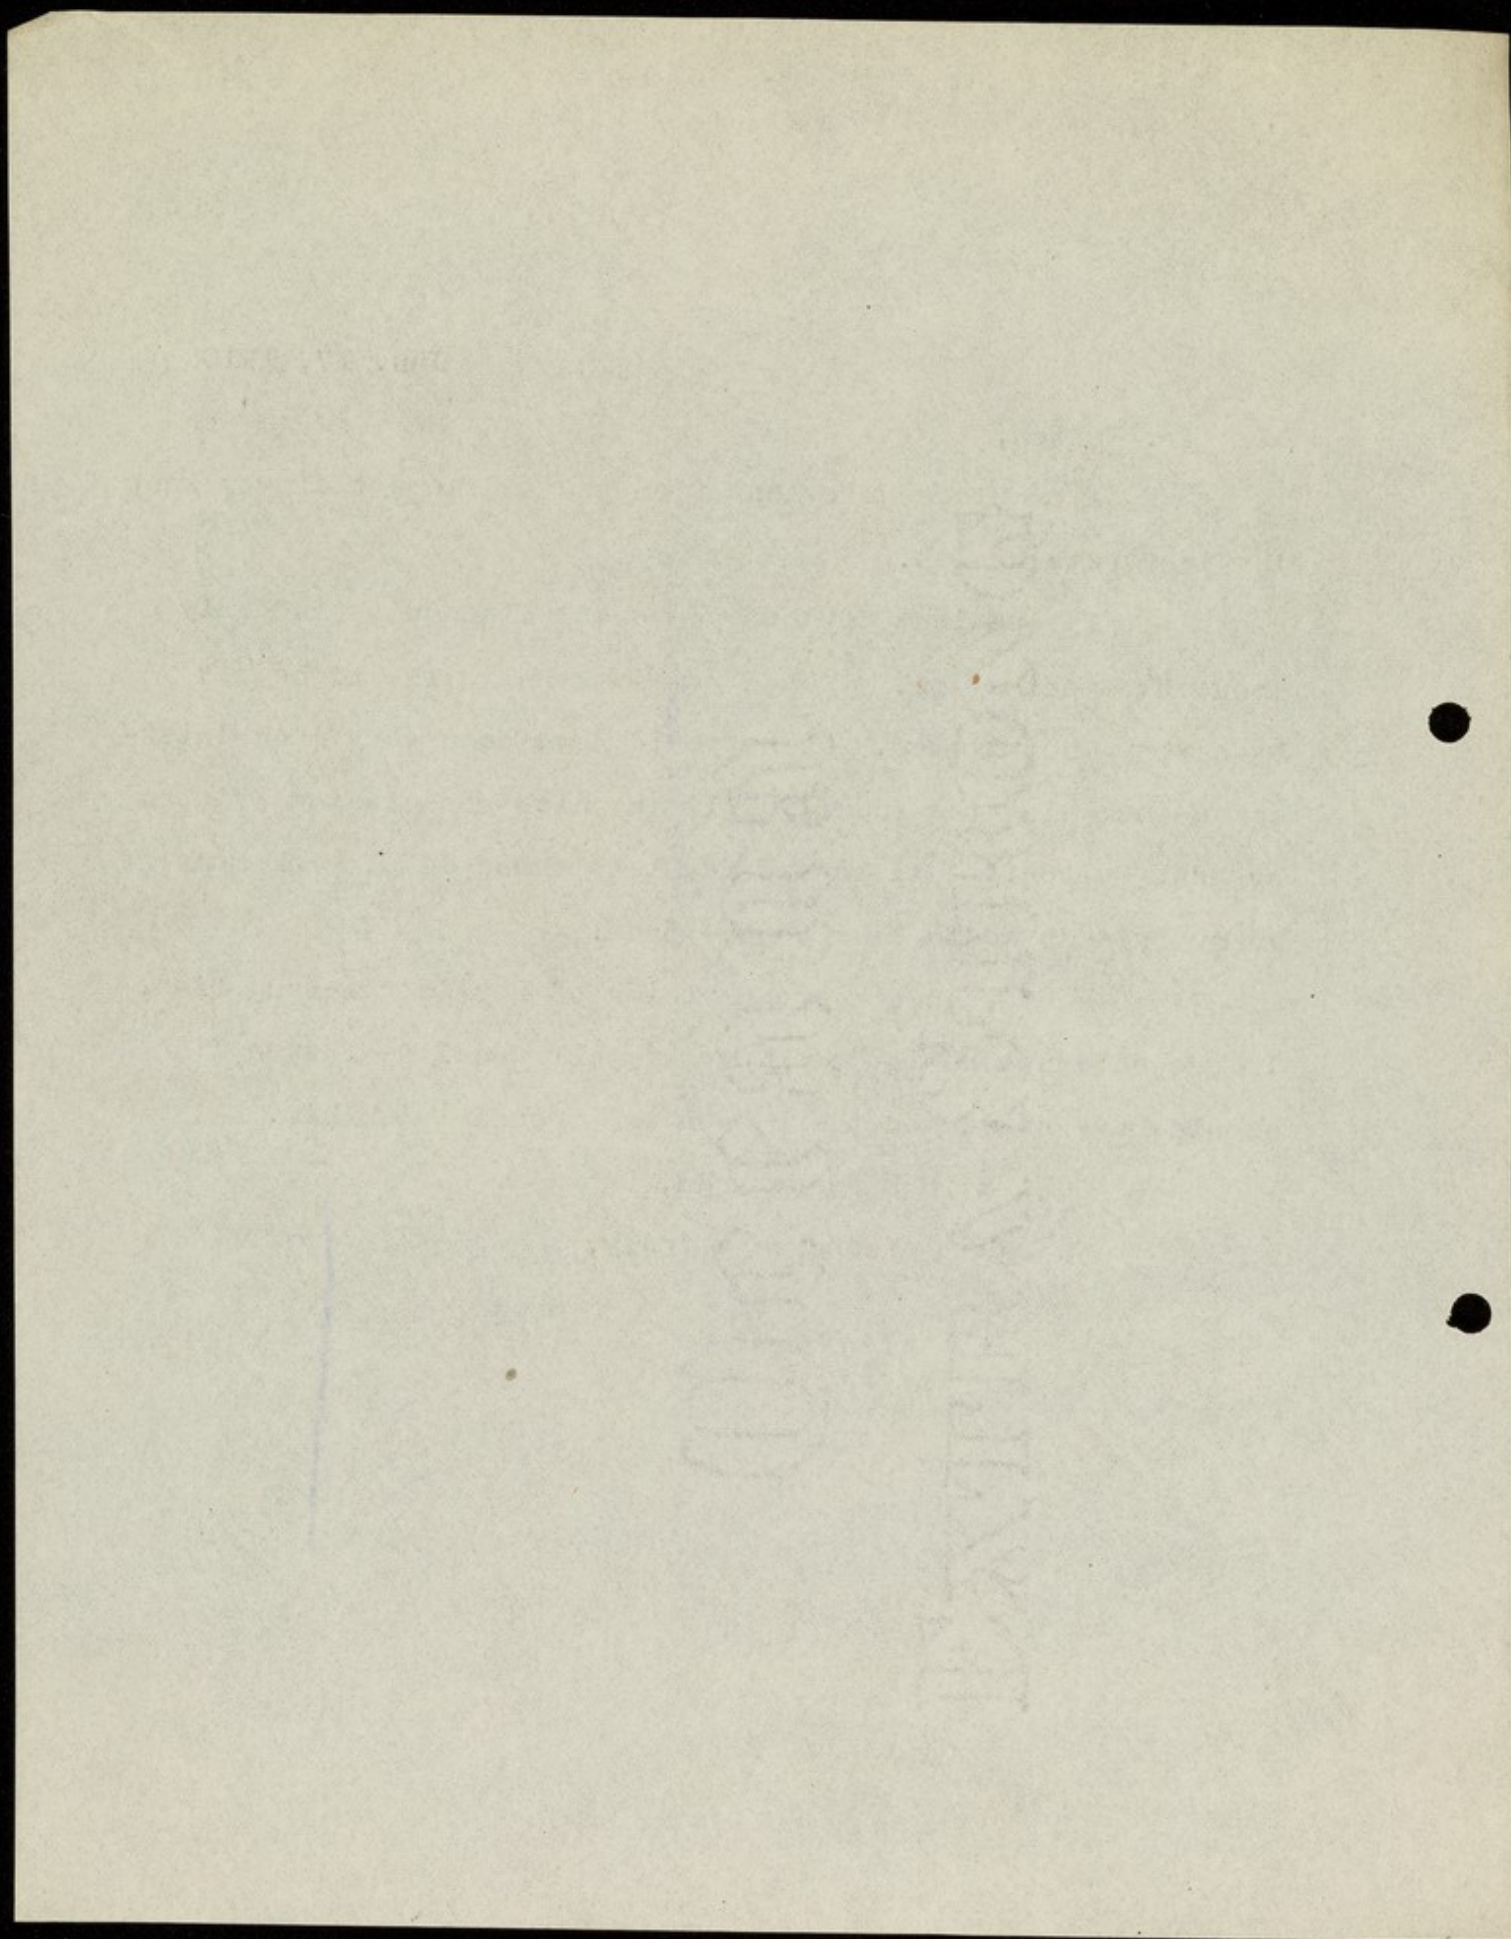

I am pleased to hear from you and hope that you keep in first rate health.

The patient of whom you speak died quite suddenly about two months ago. His name was Balkwill and he has been very much missed. He would have been very much interested in seeing the beautiful lines which you send me written by Mrs. Fulton. I hope I may keep these as I think some of my friends would like to see them.

We have not heard anything of Roy for a long time. I have no doubt he is doing pretty well, as I feel sure I should have heard had there been any trouble with him.

Dear Dr. Pierce,

I have to report to you that Mr. Charles Fulton is going on very well and is now interesting himself very much in his legitimate business, but since he still has some perverted notions about the virtues of "prostitutes" and there is still a risk that the moment he gains his liberty he would again seek the society of the Leeds woman or some similar person, and be victimised, and since some members of the Melville Syndicate are trying to get him to continue the experiments, which means the continuance of the influence of Mr. Melville, which has proved so bad, his brother and I are of opinion that he should remain under certificate a few weeks longer. His general health keeps good and his behaviour is perfectly normal, and I shall inform you of further progress in due course.

Believe me

Yours sincerely

Bernard Hollander.

Dear Dr. Pierce,

I have pleasure in reporting to you that Mr. Charles Fulton is making satisfactory progress towards recovery. He is absolutely docile, does everything as he is told, and the letters he now writes are all sensible ones. The first two days he was in his merry, cheerful mood, but since then he is inclined to be serious and occasionally depressed. He tries to control himself not to speak of occult subjects, but he forgets himself sometimes, and will explain perfectly natural events in a mysterious manner and with a great flow of words. The question is whether he will ever give up these ideas, or whether we shall have to rest satisfied so long as they do not affect his conduct.

I remain

Yours very truly

Bernard Hollander.

Dear D. Pierce

Thanks for your letter received this morning. I am very glad you have now got my brother to agree to leave business alone.

I am forwarding your letters to Messrs Coats, Canish & McShille as desired.

I am telling D. Hollander that you will probably be able to let my brother go, about the middle of next week. Mr. Fulton will be seeing you today, however, & I shall await further word before arranging for any specific date.

I may mention that the presumably since you recent talk with him.

I feel sure he will be much more contented now that you have got his provincial that he will not even attempt to communicate with those people to whom you wrote on

I note that you say he still thinks a lot about those subjects you want him to avoid. It is for that reason, that, as I wrote you, I consider it an advantage that he should be allowed off, "on parole", undischarged

Dear Sir

In answer to your enquiries, I think I had better reply to the various questions separately.
1st I am quite convinced that I am not "being watched," and, as a matter of fact, the telephonic communications you offer of the "penny dreadful" kind of thing, which I assured had been put into my brother's mind by Mr. Melville. I had lost faith in Mr. M. & had it been possible for ^(my brother & me) us, to have quarrelled we should have done so long ago, but our life long relationship has been so ideal until this man came between us, that a quarrel was impossible & we "agreed to differ" on this subject.

As much as I always thought of Charlie, I never quite realized how tremendously fond of the wee Chap ("Wee" is a Scotch word wh: you will possibly understand) I was, until now. Excuse the "effusion", but I want you to know our past (or future) relationship towards one another.

still desires it.

I am more than delighted to hear of Charles's very satisfactory progress.

I don't wish to trouble him with letters as I am sure a rest will be good for him (I recently returned to business myself after more than a year's absence, during which time he had my work to do, in addition to his own) but you might tell him from me that everything truth of these statements great possibilities & that

Dear D Pierce

In view of what you told me regarding my sisters ^{proposed} visit to my brother, it occurs to me that the conversation would be more easily kept in proper channels if my father or mother, ^{or someone else} were to accompany her. Will you

P.S.
I think you may take it from me that he is quite convinced as to the character of the woman Charlesworth; but perhaps only half convinced as Melville, wanted to discuss that subject with me yesterday, & would probably do so with my sister also.

Dear Dr. Pierce

I duly received yr kind letter of March last & much appreciated yr inquiries after my health!

I'm sorry to say that I kept on with the Carbuncle business for a long time - I seemed to get better for a few weeks but the three injections between the shoulders only produced a temporary effect & I had a weakening effect. I am now getting better. The doctors are surprised of an open wound which I look so well to say has caused me much so. The "Gemic" wire suffering in the right is rising again & I ride for several weeks hope will soon be normal. I have had two more recent injections & expect another one in a week's time. I enclose Cheq to cover of due & also my promised contribution towards the extension the letter: while, of course I quite recognize your right to "rets"

 any Com — unrecognition from me, or any one else; still, I think this letter to you, if you simply hand
 it to him to read,
 wd. "go down" &
 wd. reestablish
 our old relationship.
 & this wd. be "wholesome".

my brother, at this stage, if you want me to do anything special, I must I believe rely upon your judgment,
 mine!

Dear D. Pierce

The enclosed, written to you, is really written at my brother Charlie.
 I feel sure it is right & trust that you will see your way to showing him

I have written your Secretary to-day.

I have also to acknowledge receipt of six letters from my brother. Four of these (to my Father, Sister M^r R. Brown & M^r Arch: Denny) I am delivering direct;
the other two (to M^r Arch: Coats & to M^r J. Carrick) I purpose opening, when my Father is present, this evening, before delivering - You will doubtless understand.

Will you excuse
the pencil "scrawl"
as I find the days
very short, just now.

Yours sincerely
John Falton

P.S. The letters to Brown & Shank are delightful reading & I feel sure are just what you will welcome from

(he is my friend too) before forward in,
them.

I would ask you to still be careful as to what letters
my brother is allowed to receive; but I have nothing more to add to what I said on Sunday
viz: that letters from any one, except

Dear Dr. Pierce
Since
writing the enclosed I find that my brother's letters to Mr. Coats and to Mr. Carrick are on the lines I expected.
I want to show them to my friend Mr. R. Brown.

from the four people -
Mr? Coats
Mr? Caniell
Mr? Melvill or Miss Chabsworth

will probably be quite all right &
"wholesome".

Will you please
send me a line,
at your convenience, & tell me that you understand what

I have tried to convey to you, in my various hurried letters.

I leave spare no pains, or expense to make my brother as comfortable as possible.

Yours sincerely
John Fulw.

P.S. You might preserve all my letters to your incase they might be of use later on, to refer to.

him.
