Dear Miss Dendy,

I am writing to ask whether you could find work for a convalescent patient of mine, who, I think, would be useful to you as a companion and general helper to the children in some of the departments of your Colony.

The lady, Miss von Halle, is a Jewess, aged 34. She is comfortably off, and is really wishful to do something useful. For reasons which I need not mention she cannot very well settle at home in Bradford. She is of a very kind disposition, is very good to our patients here, is a lady of ability and plays the piano well.

I must make it plain that she has had, but not recently, severe attacks of mania, the last being many years ago. Since then she has travelled a good deal, to Hamburg, Vienna, and so forth. She has, however, one serious disability, valvular disease of the heart, which though in no way causing anxiety, prevents her from doing much in the way of exertion.

I am afraid at first sight you will think this rather a hopeless sort of proposal, but what I suggest is something of this kind: that she should board in a family not far away from the Colony. She can afford to pay properly for her maintenance, and arrangements might be made for her to spend, say, three hours a day, or such other time as may be convenient, helping your staff to entertain the family. If this prove a success I think you would find her really helpful, as what she wants as much as anything else is an interest in life.

If you think the matter is worth following up, my lady colleague, Dr. Morah Kemp, would be pleased to go with Miss von Halle to see you, and to see the Colony, in a purely tentative way. I quite realize that much depends upon personal qualities which cannot be described in correspondence. I have not mentioned the matter to the relatives of the patient; but I expect they will fall in with any suggestion I may make.

Yours very truly,

Dear Doctor Pierce

First let me thank you heartily for your kind wishes - & I assure you that I reciprocate them.

Amy is in Nice & has been there some 6 weeks now & is quite happy & writes very enthusiastic letters - she is staying in some boarding house - but near some Cousins of my Mother's.

I think we can safely say discharged as "recovered." & I beg you therefore to do the needful. - you of course are the best judge & I go by you.

Mother is splendid - she was very poorly some 3 months ago - & during Amy's last visit - but she went for 3 weeks to Brighton & is now "better than she's been for years." & has decided to stay so. & not to worry about things - we all say she's taken on a second lease & is in a sort of second youth — ...

Sept. 11, 1912

Dear Miss von Halle,

I am very pleased to hear from you, and especially to hear how happily you are situated and that you are living with people whom you like. I quite expect that "gay Paree" is attractive, and I dare say it is a long way better than the country this cold summer, where apparently it has been dismal almost everywhere.

We had a very successful holiday. At least I and the children did, having some splendid expeditions over the mountains, and quite a reasonable share of fine weather. We were disappointed of climbing the Ortler through a snow storm, but we got up to about 11,500 ft. before we returned. Marjorie has developed a passion for the mountains, and she would have liked to go a number of more difficult climbs, but the weather and also the expense prohibited this. It was good to find on what excellent terms she was with the guides. One of them, after beginning to address her as "Gnadiges Fraulein" subsequently said "Have a drink little girl! Is that right?". He was practising English, having over-heard what I said. I had three pleasant days in Dresden with her, and came back last week.

I am sorry to say my wife and Miss Hamilton both got bad colds, and when we were at Suldan, at 6,000 ft. altitude the temperature did not suit them.

Here we go along much as usual. Dr. Kemp is away on holiday, and so is Miss Mercer.

With kind regards, so happy at York!

I did not tell Mr. Von Hallé this.

Then, she represented Mr. Von Hallé as enjoying life very much at the present time & although she had some malady, she said she did not live like an invalid at all.

It appears Mr. Von Hallé is very ill.

I have written to Miss Von Hallé advising her very strongly & she has replied.

I trust that she will come back to England when she is tired of learning French & as far as I can judge a companion at that stage was very bad for her as it kept up the irritation. Yours very sincerely, E.S. Allen.

Dear Dr. Purcell,

The letter you kindly wrote on July 8th has only reached me on 22nd - through the carelessness of the Pension Service people - so I thank you for it now.

In it you ask me for a statement of accounts, but Miss Von Hallé paid my fare to London from Versailles, & my remaining expenses are 8/9 for two journeys to London.

(I met - Mr. L. Von Halle) & Catharin Von Halle writes letters to me now that sound most-friendly & grateful & one would think that she had been like this throughout.

I most sincerely hope that she will not give any trouble while at Versailles to either you or her family.

One important thing I meant to tell you was, that the only charge she made against her family (except the general one of ignoring her & not-letting her give orders at home, which I can well understand) was, that they had placed her last-February at York when there was no cause for doing so.

She maintained this from the first of my being with her, not supposing that I had heard anything about it and this rankled as a prevarication, although she allowed that she had been however & all is serene once more between us! He likes the people I am with very much also, & is so far quite satisfied, ^{to leave me with them} my room is however somewhat noisy being to the front & many cars pass - but I may get used to this eventually, & however one cannot have every thing one wishes I find - You see there are (about my own age!) girls!!

4 nice jolly girls, with whom I can be with all day - to me it

Dear Dr. Pierce,

Thank you very much for your kind letter - it is such a comfort for me to know I can so rely on your kindness; & I quite feel you do want to help me, if I need you at any time! Lawry came to see me last evening & gave me a very rough time, he has just left for Paris again & home so much likes than being with one companion alone, as she who she may be! I am sure you will agree with me here knowing me as you do! I am already improving in my French, & I already understand better & do enjoy it all so much - it is such a ^{great} language. Wandailler is lovely, & we are not far from the Palace, which is ^{bordering} the gardens here illuminated & they had famous fireworks on Sunday Eve, we all went together to see them - I never saw anything so fine. - Don't it a great pity Thomas is so far from here, but I do hope he talks now in Hawaiian like himself here - she goes there today - still she cannot do it, as ^{she} Hallee is not going with her, only the maid Kate - I do feel Hallee should accompany her anyway - still they all seem about now it w^d be something else.

After all we all have our own lives to live, & you will agree with me I think, when I tell you I am far more comfortable in York or even anywhere in England - (as I know I can get home so easily & must not,) than being here, right away where I know I cannot go home -

Lanery was quite pleased to see how well I look, & am, & so happy & jolly! We laugh a great deal here - the French are light-hearted 780 to think of themselves ^{a-days} only nowⁿ & Lanery says she is very busy with her things for the wedding!!

It is absurd to say ^{France} she worries abt. me - her letters to me are so few & far between & so cool - in fact she never answered my questions! asked her weeks ago from Hankin if she would mind my coming to Paris to stay in a family etc. However I am truly sorry for her, & that she has to worry at all, for I fear if it were not me she was troubled & say, & it is natural for me to be also, except when I am worried & bullied - ^{they} ~~they~~ is hardly what I was at home. Sad enough to relate - This is rather - how - of course please! I am writing this in bed it is a biting I couldn't stand with laundry - really very disappointing. With your kindest regards the enclosed films to Mr. Knapp, he likes the photos so much, I think he may want to have some more copies - I have a sheet one of dear old Father's which I will have printed for you soon - but is it not sad how come out well of you, ~~and the same old photo~~ excuse this untidy letter! I hope you will all enjoy yourselves abroad - I should be glad if you could let me have your

Dear Mr. Preece. 1912 Aug 8th

I left Paris at 9 p.m. on Saturday evening having first gone to Versailles with Miss Von Haller to see her settled.
I might have stayed on longer to see how she liked being there but she did not wish it.
Nevertheless, she thanks that the pension is not noisy & she intends to find before long through Mr. Munson (Mr. Crozier's friend) a quicker home to stay at but she intends to go for culture in French & music to the Opéra d'Antmarches.

^{also} In this she is reasonable.

She seems very eager to improve her French & enjoys the prospect.

She thinks her mother is sure to look her up in a few days.

She proposes to be my friend towards me.

I think that she will get along better without anyone.
She said in a calm moment that she had hoped never again to have a companion for they had always been a red eye to her. I believe it.
All along she so excused the expense & never thought our services worth the cost.
This was a pretty constant irritation for she was ever.

people at Versailles & as They are not her companions nor exactly at her mercy, she may.

I should be pained to think she treated them as she did me.

I wrote a guarded letter at Paris in I believe she would ask me about it. She brought in hers to you & read it & I read her mine. We wrote each & not in five hours would she post it until I insisted.
I had let her know that I had written to you that she said I depressed her & wished me to leave.
Of course, I know she will miss me.
Yours faithfully E. S. Allen.

It is hard definitely known of your approval of arrange-

Mrs Von Hall wished but Miss Von Hall, instead of spending a quiet week after more in Paris.

It seems to me that she has no wish to stay in England way her friends dread.

I would say much more about Mrs Von Kall, only that ~~the~~ ^{Mr} Thoroughly know to travel so uncertain & to feel so out of reach of communication but the comfort - is, she improved.

I am going to Auerbach without you & I want you to go tomorrow back to Erfurt.
I said "Oh no", I shall stay

Many thanks for your letter which I found yesterday at we had gone to search for a Pension recommended by a friend of the Mlle. Epouse Mlle. Von Haller's friends know.

We saw several & their families of daughters (3) will teach French Painting music.

They are quite young & gentle & people of culture & good family

I am going with Miss Von Hall this afternoon & if she feels comfortable settled - as no doubt she will I shall leave Paris in train at 9 p.m. tonight.

These people have not another space but if necessary I could get one near Versailles with some of the good neighbours if ^{they don't} ~~Miss Von H. felt~~.

We saw four families & there seems to be a pleasant circle at Versailles (known to Mrs. Grosvenor) in as liked all four but some had no room & others were going to the sea.

Miss Von Hall has a very strong determination to work & it seems an excellent place for her & the people were so natural & good.

There are then other guests, A grand mother & a father & the three daughters with Miss Von Hall make a party of nine.
Miss Von Hall is full of pleasant anticipation & has been very reasonable about this.
We well weighed & considered everything.

We are in an excellent pension here but the noise of the street is bad so that Miss Von Hall has been very glad to quickly leave Paris.

She has been steadily improving

Dear Dr. Price,

Miss Von Halle's interview is evidently not to return to England & she proposes going on Monday to Auerbach, which is not a long journey & in the Paris direction.
She has seen Dr. Schott today & he gives her permission to leave. Her friend Mr. Gayer has just been in a flying visit - & yesterday Miss Von H. walked up the Johanneuberg with her & she is my cross & unreasonable today & probably feels the reaction.

I think she may have recover. at York.
Her temper somewhat - then the good since she left by tomorrow.

She has today been enquiring in a maid & it is quite possible that she may ask me to go at any time now & I shall like to know by return what I am to do in case this occurs.

I find the warress very much which seems to me to be a distinct mental quality.

Her particular kind of temper is one I know well as the insane temper.

I am sure she was not there at York.

Then the good since she left England is too much for her.

She sometimes refrains but I cannot prevent her from taking far too much.

Within two days she has asked me to go next year to Holm with her & she has days longer with.

About three weeks ago (after I wrote to you) she asked me what notice I would require if she wished me to leave her. I have felt how uncertain she is ever since.

Her brother is at Bradford & has written to her.

Her idea all along has been to reach Versailles by two or three stages & when settled there for me to leave her.

I certainly think my day is over with her! Very suddenly in our epistolary morning she was so thanking me in letter her name the Gypsies all to herself & using endearing language.

We have had no disputes & she does not think I am over her.

One occasion of her temper I thought to be my letting her she owed me money when she asked. I know of no other.

When out of temper she finds objection to any thing one says or does & then complains & rages in a long time about one's silence! she says I more depress her. She says this often.

There is a German girl of 20 who is "Help" to Fräulein Helferich & Miss Von Halle generally thinks meanly of her but today she has taken her in a row on the Late. She certainly Latin, asked if I would go but I declined, as I knew she wished me to.

This girl is I think nice & so grateful to be taken up.
I think all this shows the instability. Latin.
Tonight Min Von Halle says she has arranged to dine with Fr. Ellen up to the Johan-nesberg tomorrow night.

This comes after a long period of not waking me out of her room even in the afternoon when she sleeps.

She has been thoroughly using me up & she has a great idea of getting her value.

Latin, when she is more in a condition to be advised I shall tell her as a friend.
Now this behaviour goes against her good credit & she generally feels I am a friend & takes my advice.
Saturday morning.

Min Von Halle is not much better.

She has had her bath & she says she will not decide to go to Auerbach until the last minute & that she may decide to stay a few of it even - any way for some time yet. You will I am sure be glad to hear that Miss Collins is feeling much better again & consequently we are both much more cheerful. It was indeed most trying for her. Suffering so enjoy his way of speaking - When I said he said this, he looked quite big & I -

Dear Dr. Pierce,

We have just come in the first rain we have had for some days & most welcome - I am sorry you have been having so much in York. It is a pity in this lovely month of June when it should be so

Miss Collins is not well. She suffers with her eyes and also with a hoarse cough - but she says it has been coming on for years. She needs two or three specialists that make it is daily, having heartburn from him. which I hope will do her good, but she is very depressing - the will.

I think you should know this dear Dr. Williams gave her a good deal here.

She rests in about two hours after her bath & again after lunch.

By her family she complains very much but from what I see of her, her behaviour to them I should judge must be of the worst - I remember in 1898, when she had recovered our extreme astonishment at the kind of abuse she gave her mother when she came to York with Mr. Nathan in all kindness I think she will hold on to having a companion - as her mother says.

Dear Dr. Price,

I hope Miss Von Hall has kept you informed of her intentions & that I am not the one to give information.

Her plans seem vague & I am hoping that she will have done with me by the middle of July! that I shall know in good time, because of the case at Hampstead.

Miss Von Hall has had eleven baths. She says they have depressed & tired her.
I think they must have made her cross, but she has begun the 2nd kind which are less trying.

She was much disappointed that her friend Frau Geyer is not here but Herr Geyer is, & they propose her going for an after cure to somewhere in the Harz mts with them.

I expect Mrs. Von Hall would like this arrangement from ^{Frankfurt} ~~that~~ ^{her} ~~her~~ ^{sup.} Mrs. Von Hall also, has an idea of finding some family in France to stay with.

She is asking Dr. Schott to let her leave Hankeim at the end of June. & he says he cannot tell how her head will be by then. When she has complained of her state to him, he has always said that is far from being worse she was better & he says "When you are badly come at once that I may see you then."

I think she can take a good deal of exercise & she walks quickly.

I should say for that she can.

We drove up to the Loham restaurant & walked down one day & yesterday, went by train to Friedberg Saw the Ducal Palace & walked home.

We have tickets for the Band but are not there very much.

Miss von Halls does not fully appreciate - hardly - I think.

I have had no audience

& she does not feel that I am in authority.

It seems to me that if she could join her friends or find the right kind of family abroad that she might do very well alone & probably be the better for not having any one at her beck & call.

She seems to wish to stay abroad for some time but I dare say you Know all his plans better than I do, & you must know him so well by this time. ^{day}

I have ~~not~~ written to Mr. Von Halle.

It might make complications & I have not been asked ^{now} to do so.

popular at this pension & chatting to all.

With kindest regards

Yours sincerely

Dear N. Pierce.

Mrs van Helle had one or two letters & a few post-cards from Miss Amy. In her last letter she says that she has seen Dr. Lohr; he thinks her heart is weak, that she must take only a few weak baths, have a lot of rest & return in the Autumn. It strikes us as odd that Miss Amy only once - and that in her last P.L. - mentioned Miss Collier.

Have you had any report or communication from this lady, & can you form any idea how they are getting on together? We are naturally somewhat anxious on this point as it may make all the difference during the next month or so. Mr. our Halle pleasure to say I shall be glad to hear from ^{you} & hope you will forgive me for troubling you.

Dear Doctor Pierce

I have spent yesterday pm & today with my sister who I am glad to say is very well & only laid up for 4 days on usual account.

I consider that Miss Collier might have told me she would be in bed - as she knew the periods were due
- as naturally in that state there was no question of coming back with me to England - but even had I waited till Friday or Saturday next till she got up. she would in no way come to England.

Edna is a Quondary - but helpless - I cannot take her back by force. & had purpose to agree to her staying on at Versailles -

Luckily she is in good hands with an honorable family - & as long as she'll stand it - she ought to be all right there

I made inquiries & it is all satisfactory

I also asked 2 different people to have their eye to her - one a lady friend at Versailles & the other - my Paris representative this wife

I cannot suppress my regret at Miss Collier leaving my all in a fix & there'll

But as long as things are Only thing is it will worry my little Mother so - !

However I've written her a reassuring letter.

I shall be home

Dear Miss Collier,

Perhaps you will let me know exactly how the matter stands.

I hope you have managed to see Mr. von Halle.

Yours very truly,

over there & she paints well.
I feel she would be thankful to be here.

I never could possibly go anywhere with her again for that is a quite different matter.

In spite of all she much enjoyed Naukeem but never have I had such a time.

I told her weeks ago that if my work meant this kind of thing that I should at once leave off.

I am afraid these details must be very wearisome to you & I much wish that I could have written otherwise. Yrns sincerely during recent weeks. 806 The Versailles plan, we both thought it was approved of & I did not realize until I saw Mr. Von Halls that her friends are uncomfortable & disapproving.

I had no idea that I was expected either to stay on with her or to bring her back to England & she hurried on to Versailles to save expense & to have something to occupy her & settle down to.
We ought to have stayed quietly for a week somewhere - after the cure & then we could have received letters & known ^{definitely} whether the plans were approved.
Of course, she would have quarrelled with me, all the time having nothing else to do, & Paris was so noisy for her.

I wish I had known that she was not to be alone abroad & had been authorised to tell her so.

She went away with so great a sense of being her own mistress & it was bad for her to have this feeling & to have a companion at the same time.

It seemed to me (although I know nothing about it - that the baths were having a bad effect upon her mentally & I was greatly relieved when I found she was recovering from the condition.

She exceeded the time in the baths which I strongly opposed.

She seems to have a real liking for the quiet country & pretty gardens & if she cares to come here to Cranford & it is thought expedient,

(although I shall be ^{quite} ^{helpless} ^{afflicted} ^{by} after Aug 28th) it might ^{be} ^{well} ^{to} over the wedding & she seems not to wish to be at York.

My sister speaks excellent you behave thus I will leave you until you can be civil.

This I would unhesitatingly have done in England.

I did not know that the friends were so anxious about her except on the point of her making undesirable acquaintances.

There has seemed no danger of that.
I she seemed sensible in the matter.
I have been giving her credit for an honest desire to learn French in which respect I may be taken in if she is incapable of giving her attention.

She seemed to have kind intentions towards the three daughters of the House & I thought that not having a companion as a scapegrat (& she was without a scapegrat at York) that she might make herself popular with these nice people.

As nothing had been said against

Mr. Von H. asked me about fees. I do not know what was proposed to them by you. My extra expenses were 8/9.

Dear Dr. Pierce

On second thoughts I in the interest of past & future readers I think I ought to write more fully for Miss Von Halle was one person to the guests & servants at the Pension (I no doubt to all at York) & a totally different one to me.

In my first letter to you of June 17th I said her conduct was of the worst & it is I think true that I bore more violence in this short time than throughout my life.

Although appreciating my criticisms I believe she thinks well of me, I was the object of her ^{active} ill-nature throughout - & it was all but unbearable.

I told her on June 17th that I had never been on such terms with any one nor met with such conduct before.
That I had borne with her so far only because she was a heart-patient.

That I judged by her provoked treatment of me that she must find provocation at home - that she was not able to judge of her aggressions either to them or to me.

All this time she was quite liked & trusted by guests & servants & she appreciated being popular.

I know this kind of insane temper (towards certain people) but have never met with it in so great a degree.

I could not have imagined it ~~was~~ her feeling of cruelty if she thought

I was not well - a real bully.
I have met with inconsiderateness often but her object was to make life unendurable, it seemed.

Then she ^{can} so little judge of her behavior that she actually said at Hankin "Now you must say that you will hate to leave me" & at Vassar she said "Will you invite me to Cranford?"

I told her that once when I went to a case for you the friend said "There is no doubt of your being well received by the patient because you come from Dr. Price" & I must say that I thought her behavior ^{to me} great disrespect to you. (disregarding the heart trouble)

I think now that a better method than I took would have been to say "I will do nothing for you while

July 8, 1912

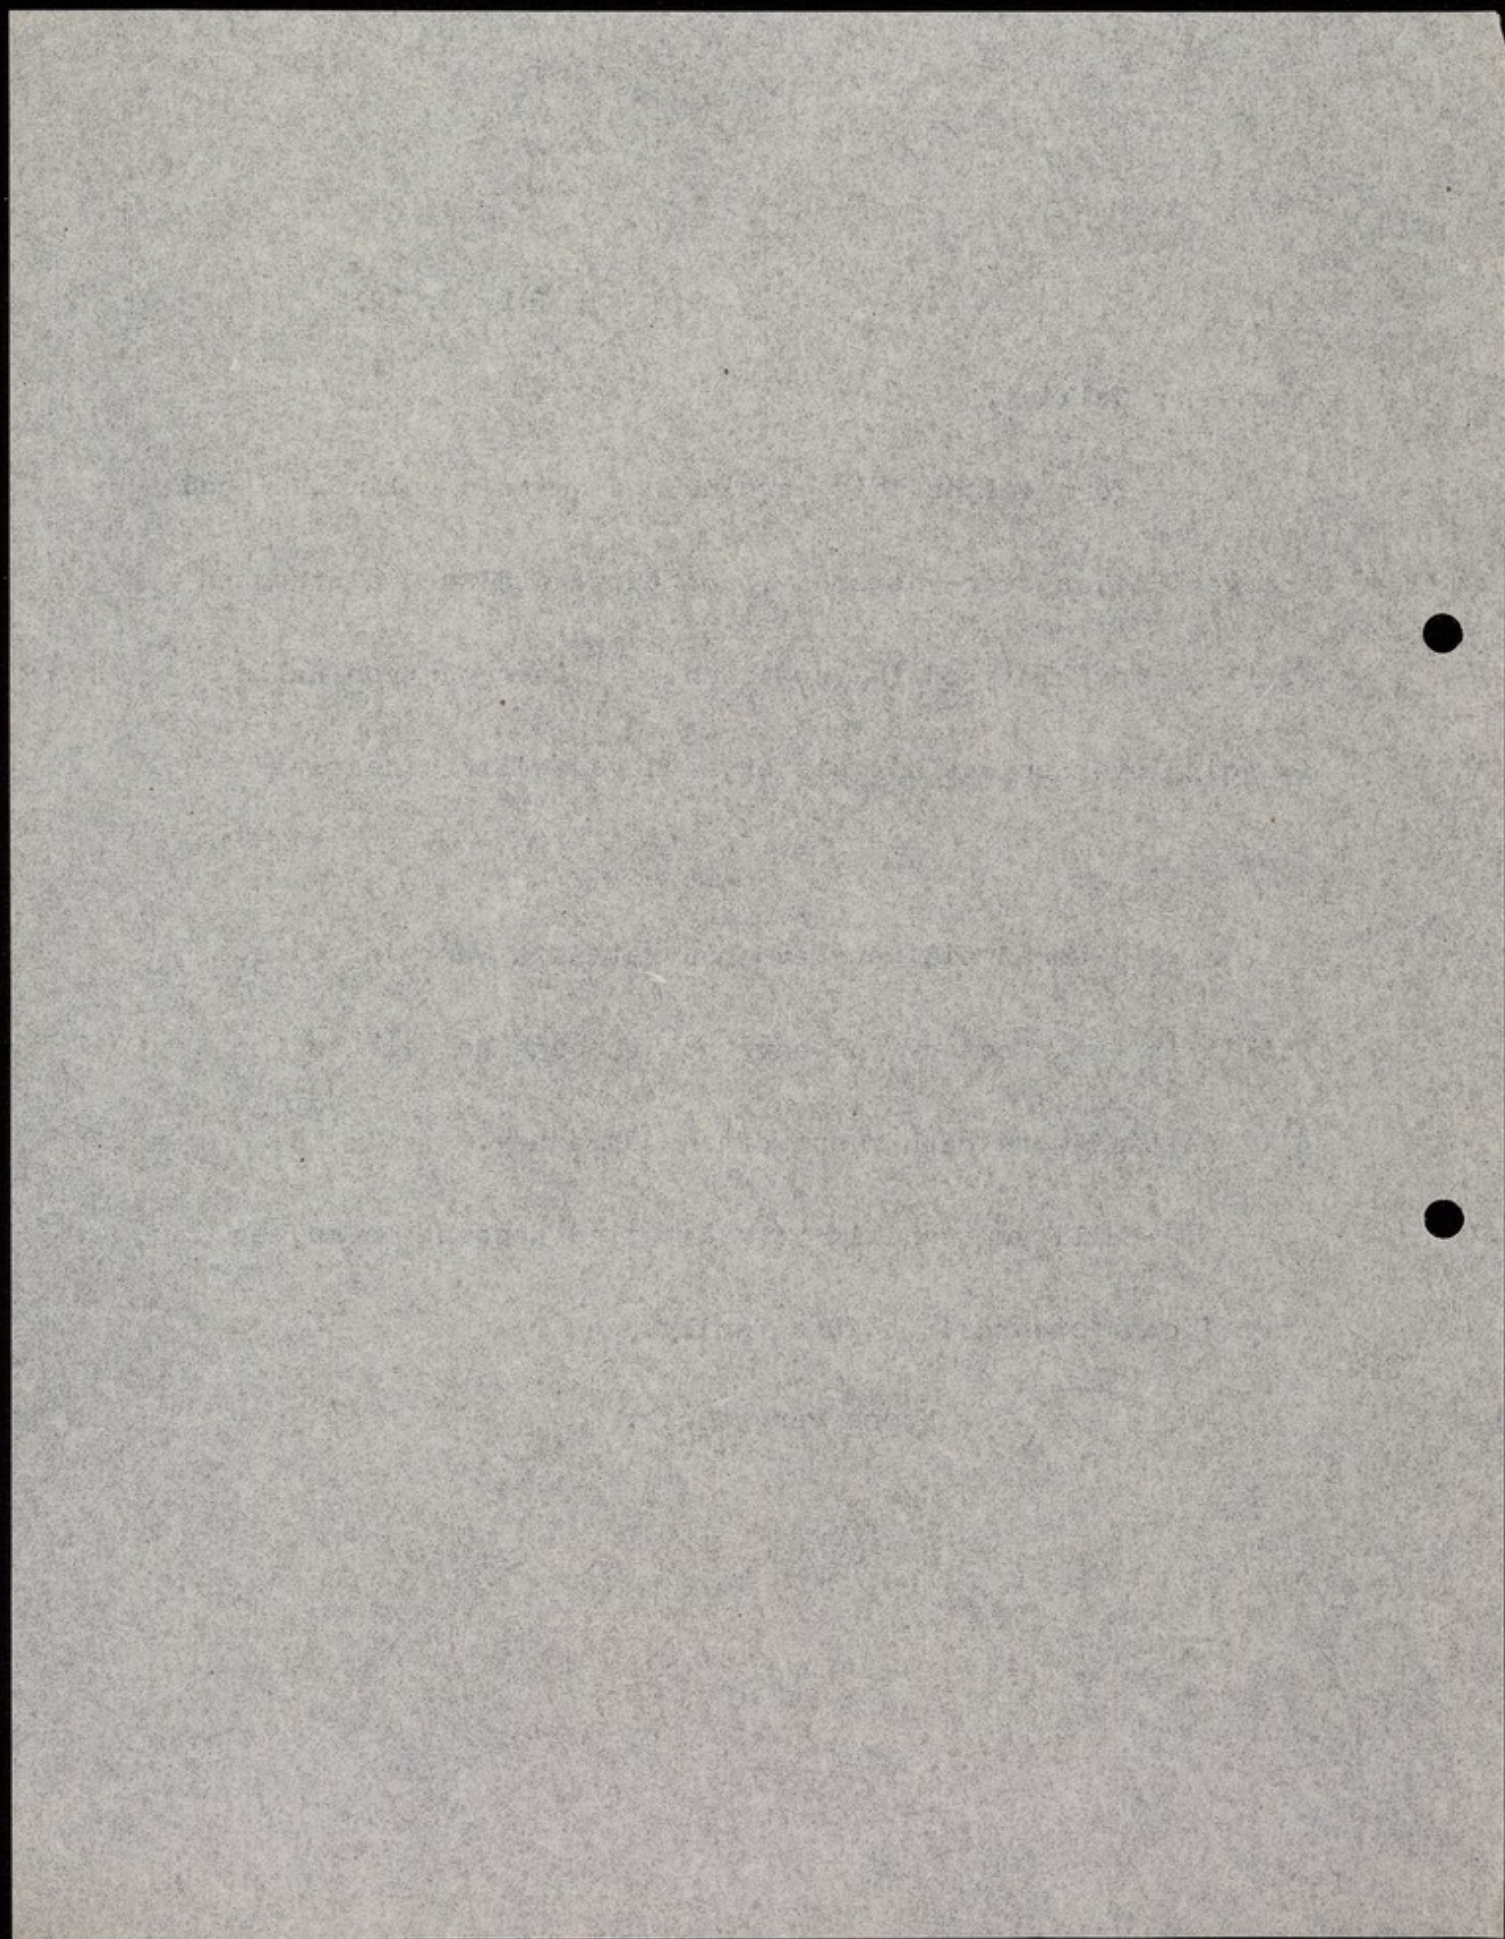

Dear Miss Collier,

Your letter this morning was quite a relief. I had the von Halles over yesterday, and they were much distressed at the uncertainty of the position. Lawrence von Halle is going over to see his sister, and you will be hearing from him.

I am afraid you have had rather a worrying time, but it is satisfactory you have got through so well as the difficulties were rather out of the ordinary.

Will you send in your detailed account to me, so that I can forward it to the family.

Yours very truly,

King alone, I would under any circumstances have stayed on.
Paris was terribly noisy & im-sustainable for the ^{but we would have stayed in letters} of the four families (recommended through Miss Grosvenor) there was only this one where there was no room for me.

I think Miss Von Halle is very well now for her! with Miss Minson - a most reliable & sensible woman. Evidently, so near (the gardens joined at the back) & Miss Von Halle was going to depend on her for counsel, it seemed to me not a bad arrangement until I found how upset Miss Von Halle was. I think the feeling that she was essentially to lose the expense of her helped her improvement. All along she gave even

Dear D. Price

Thank you for your letter just received.

I forgot to tell you that Miss Von Halle said she would write for me to return to her if she felt the need of anyone at any thing went wrong.

She volunteered this.

At Folkestone, I said "Will you letting D. Price know that we are staying several days here at

I will?" and she replied There is no need & I do not want you to write to him. Then we met S. Kemp.

A better plan than the one I took would have been to say "I shall write ^{we can} every week to Dr.
Price & make no plans without knowing his opinion."
She seemed to think she was perfectly free & I think it was so much for her.

Had she possessed a different nature it might have answered.

Miss Walker - another tenant - had her delusion to wield over me but it seemed to me that the question as to whether I was worth the travelling expenses & pension, ~~for~~ (she did not mind the fees her mother would pay me) was continually exercising her mind & made her as she was.
I did sympathize over the expense - naturally.

I would of course, have much preferred to stay on at Versailles for a few days & if I had known how her family felt about her

I have all along so hoped you would not be greatly disappointed at the result of the journey abroad.

I am ~~sure~~ it seemed so incorreкт in Mr. Von Halle to go to Paris but Miss Von Halle all along said he would be sure to go one day this week.
She even expected him at Nauheim -

From my point of view matters might have been very much worse.

June 10, 1912

Dear Miss von Halle,

I was very pleased to get your letter and hear that you are doing pretty well at Nauheim and that you enjoy the music. It will be a pleasant change from the dull routine of this dull old city.

I always feel rather sceptical about those methods of treatment which make a person worse with the expectation of making him better afterwards, but then I am sadly sceptical about many things medical. The proof of the pudding is in the eating, and if you feel better and can get about more easily that is the great matter, no matter how it comes about.

There is not much news in York. We are having a spell of wet weather. The grass is lush, and the trees and everything are at their very greenest.

My wife and I are planning to go to Sölden, not far from Innsbruck. Do you know anything about it? We cannot hear of anybody who has ever been there, though it is evidently quite a resort judging from the number of hotels. We expect to meet Marjorie in Munich and go on from there.

Yours very truly,

Dear Mr. Behrens,

I have received the enclosed from Miss von Halle, which is quite satisfactory so far as it goes.

With regard to the wedding, I honestly think my patient had better keep away, and I will write and tell her so; but I fear it will be very disappointing to her, and I should think it would be better to persuade her not to go, rather than to let her see she is not wanted.

I hope her brother will arrange to see her at Nauheim before anything else is done.

I have not had any letter from Miss Collier, but I can trust her to let me know if anything is going wrong.

Dear Dr. Pierce.

I have seen Mrs. von Helle since our conversation by telephone. She is quite agreed with the financial arrangements as proposed by you, but she wishes you to impress upon Miss Amy to be as economical as possible. Otherwise most of the important points seem to have been outlined at your recent interview with Mrs. von Helle. She is further of opinion that the minor details of the journey - where to stop in London, whether to travel first or second class on the Continent etc - could be safely left to the discretion of Miss von Helle who is quite used to travelling by herself. It is to be hoped that she & Miss Collier will find pleasure in each other's company & also that Miss C. will know how to exert her authority if necessary. Finally, both Mrs. von Helle & myself wish to express to you our gratitude for the trouble you have taken in this somewhat disturbing matter. As regards the will I wish to say once more, in order to remove all doubts, that it is by no means ambiguous; it is quite clear to those that understand legal phraseology, but I personally, judging from what Mr. over Hille told me many times, am convinced that she will does not express Mr. over counselors have nothing to do bound by the wording of the Dear H. Pierce.

As promised to you I have to day examined the will & of course there is no doubt about it that the Executors have acted in strict accordance with the wording of it.
On the other hand I feel equally convinced that the late Mr. & H. had the intention of putting Miss Amy into a more favorable position than her sister, but unfortunately the will - in its legal phrasing which is at least beyond understanding to the lay mind - does not convey this meaning. Mr. Whitland, my partner & one of the executors,

512 is quite willing to send you a copy of the will for your investigation & consideration; if you think this would be to the benefit of Miss Amy as far as her health & peace of mind is concerned I will either send it for & bring it with me when I come to York.

I am glad that you have arranged a meeting with Mrs. van Haller next Friday & I hope that you will find a way out of the difficulty.
The more I think about it the less inclined I feel to let Miss Amy go to Rouen unless proper supervision can be obtained all the time of the her stay on the Continent.
Anyhow, you will be better able to judge and understand my misgivings after the interview with Mrs. v. H.

you may tell ^{Miss} Amy what you think necessary & beneficial.

My dear Miss Collier -

Yours kind & most welcome letter just to hand for which many thanks I am so very glad to hear you are home safely after your long journey - I was so glad to have your dear p. & yesterday too off the boat. It must have been very stuffy in the Saloon I hear dear but you a tap in spite of the noise in the street. Today unfortunately I have to lay in bed for my neuralgic distil I say - Tuesday!! Fancy I have just had a telegram saying Laura is coming to see me a week arrive tonight. It is such a surprise, & I am so sorry to have to be in bed! I hope he will approve of every thing & let me be home! They seem to be making rather a fuss at home abt. my staying away. They don't want me there nor have it seems - well I'm not going to worry, if I can help it & shall think of you and all the kind little bits of advice you always gave me! You were such a great help to me down here & I'll be at home when I get to Newport & home again.

living that kind of life.
When leaving Manchester, I asked her where Averbach (to which place we were then supposed to be going) was. I was wanting to find it on the map. She said it was quite enough that she knew where we were going. This was always her way unless she was depending on me in something.
She seemed to have a vindictive hated most of the time. From her manner of attacking me, I thought it was all very much practised & that each Companion had had it before. I expect I got it the worse for being abroad! From her feeling that the cost came out of her own pocket.
I used to feel that never had I met with the real spirit of rudeness.

P.S. Miss F. does not seem to know that I met her brother. He thought he should not tell her. CRANFORD,

Dear Mr. Peice,

Thank you for your kind letter which has followed me about.

How can I apologise for the unpardonable mistake of not putting England on my letter!
I am afraid you would be the more anxious for not having had that letter - as I said it that I was not really anxious.

I became more so later, but I hope all will have ended well. & I can now feel glad that a less tough person was not out there with Miss Von Hall.

In writing to her now, I take it as a matter of course that she will soon return to England thinking that the suggestion may help. After all, she is not altogether confident in herself but feels the need of support.

I hope she will never go again to Hankeim. In I think that was my trying to her.

D. Schott was not interested in her case, I thought, although he said "Come again next year." It is very likely that Miss Von Hall may play me off against other companions in the future.

I told her not to ever do this but she is quite capable of representing that we get on well together for she is so altogether misleading & it is "any weapons to her hand."

In that case, I think they might be told what I said to Miss Von Hall, that I had never been so treated & that I could not continue my work if it meant to find I at Boppard it was appalling to have nothing to do the latter having been an occupation at Hankeim.

The first few weeks she was exactly saying how she liked you all at York & especially D. Price! She was really anxious that you should be told nothing.
I told her at Hankeim "You relieve your position & it will be all right" but it was no good.

I do hope nothing in this matter has bothered you! it may be useful to know all.

With kindest regards & best thanks if you want a home near London for a patient at low fees. With me away will you please think of Cranford?
It is really a beautiful spot in one.

I told her that I had written to you that she said I depressed her.

She thought it a most shocking act of treason to herself. & as there were no real quarrels - she say liberally ignores all the friction by this time.

She said I reflected on at Folkestone - (this was weeks after) when I had done all I could to amuse her & make the time pass? that she had then told herself never to expect anything from me or she would be disappointed.

This was a favourite attitude.

I must say I had no illusions about ^{her} & I started from the fact ^{in London} that her manner to me was wary & not spontaneous in she realised how she was going to treat me later.

You may like to see one of her pleasant letters to me & please destroy it.

It is rather difficult to keep to these letters but I do it willingly in the hope of her taking advice.

I am sorry to be sending you such a long account of this & I am particularly sorry that you have been troubled about my pen.

so enclose an account.

I expect you know that if I had felt I could ^{have} benefited Miss Von Haller by continuing with her in a little, or if I had thought you or her friends wished it under the circumstances, I would have continued to remain somehow - however unpleasant.

She was in a great hurry to get out of the noise of Paris & that Miss Denio was particularly noisy & at Versailles she seemed so pleased at the prospect of having French

Dear Miss Collier,

Thanks for your letter. I shall hope to make arrangements for Monday next, but will write to you again later.
Miss von Halle is very pleased to have the matter settled.
All being well I shall arrive in London at 1.40, but have a Committee to attend at once. I had better not make any plans just at present.

Dear Mr. Behrens,

After a longer stay than I thought likely, Miss von Halle is beginning to be restless. She is asking whether I would recommend her to go to Nauheim again under Dr. Schott's care for a course of treatment for her heart, and she appears to know of a lady with whom she could travel.

There are other matters relating to her, which I should like to discuss with you. Could you possibly come over to see her on Monday afternoon and to discuss the situation generally? I would suggest an earlier time, but Miss von Halle is spending the week end in Leeds.

I remain,

Yours very truly,

Saturday.

My dear Purcell.

It is a long time since I had the pleasure of seeing you - I hope you flourish.

With regards to Mrs Van Halle.

A day or so before Miss Van Valle (now under your charge at York) came to Bradford from Devonshire & advised Mrs Van Halle to remove her from Devonshire owing to conspicuous & distressing causes from her conduct.

I did not want Miss Van Halle at home, but I thought she Could be certified in London & transferred to you at York.

My reasons for not wishing Miss Van Halle to return to Bradford were that M^{rs} Van Halle was & is suffering from Diabetes (Exhaustion of nervous system)

She had as much as 40 grs to the ounce. Under treatment she lost this entirely. Her weight & anxiety over Miss Van Halle brought back the sugar & the dew has about 780 per ounce.

CLIFTON END,

MANNINGHAM,

BRADFORD

But this is not the only trouble. The Diabetes is a complication of Basedow's Disease. Dr Van Hall has during the past ~~five~~ years suffered from the following group of symptoms:- Increased excretion; Rapid heart action, palpitation & pulsation in Carotids. Tremor of Hands. Rapid loss of flesh (which she has since gained). Acute attacks of dermatitis; Oedema of lower extremities.
 Digestive disturbances: Nervous system markedly deranged - and excited, Cachexia, hotness

Excited, agitated about small matters.

Under care & treatment on rational lines she has greatly improved & these symptoms are now absent at present.

As you know better than I do, it is most undesirable that Mrs Van Hall should have any responsibility put upon her.

Please, therefore, decide & carry out what you think best.

CLIFTON END;

MANNINGHAM,

with regard to Miss Van Halle. Do not make Mr Van Halle ~~feel~~ responsible in any way for Miss Van Halle. There is plenty of money - I am Mr Van Halle all your own.

I have also Miss Follie Van Halle dependent, & with Chorea involuntarily in one arm.

You can quite see that it is most undesirable that Miss Van Halle should return to Bradford.

You have great influence with

Mrs Van Halle. I want you (as I write at the request of the family) to advise Mrs Van Halle soon to return home.

To get a house of her own (or any other plan you think wise). There are ample means.

Mrs Van Halle & her mother are much unhappy together & the mother is made nervous & ill. Yours very much
J. Beetham

Dear Dr. Pierce,

I am afraid that we cannot do anything at Saddlebridge to help your patient, Miss von Halle. Our anxieties as to our large family of mentally abnormal people are so considerable that we could not add to them by undertaking to have about the place anybody else who is not, so far as we know, sound in mind and body.

Saddlebridge is somewhat isolated and there are no houses within three miles round where Miss von Halle could find a home. I should think her better plan would be to establish herself in connection with some settlement, where she could probably arrange to reside and where everybody she residing would be grown up.

I think there is a good deal of demand for helpers who do not need payment in such places as these.

Yours very faithfully

Mary Denny.

- When I got home I asked my sister Nellie how long Amy had been in Munich. & I find that it is I who was mistaken & that in reality she was there about 5 or 6 days on her way home - I must apologise for saying she was only there 2 days & wish to make this straight without any delay - it was a mistake on my part to have been so positive

Enclosed I send for your son - a
