Dear Dr. Peirce.

I should have written before but am sorry to say I have not been very well of late since my return. I hope however to feel all right in a few days and then write again.

• Found Dr. Hewley
very well. He had made himself very comfortable it is even more difficult for me than I thought.

(That was bad enough)
to begin again.

With all kin regards

Yours sincerely

Mari Stensley.

My dear Pierre,

Many thanks for your letter --

I think it will be best to take the 9-50 train - I can set up from here in time to meet that at Kingscross - & it will probably be best to return home by an early train - without any particular hope in Lowell.

Dear Sir,

I am much obliged for your note confirming the information ~~from~~ about Mrs. Hensley which I had already received from Dr. Kemp. I am very glad to hear that my sister has on the whole made good pro-gress & will be able to resume her normal course of life before long. It is a highly gratifying result of your treatment.

With many thanks

Dear Madam,

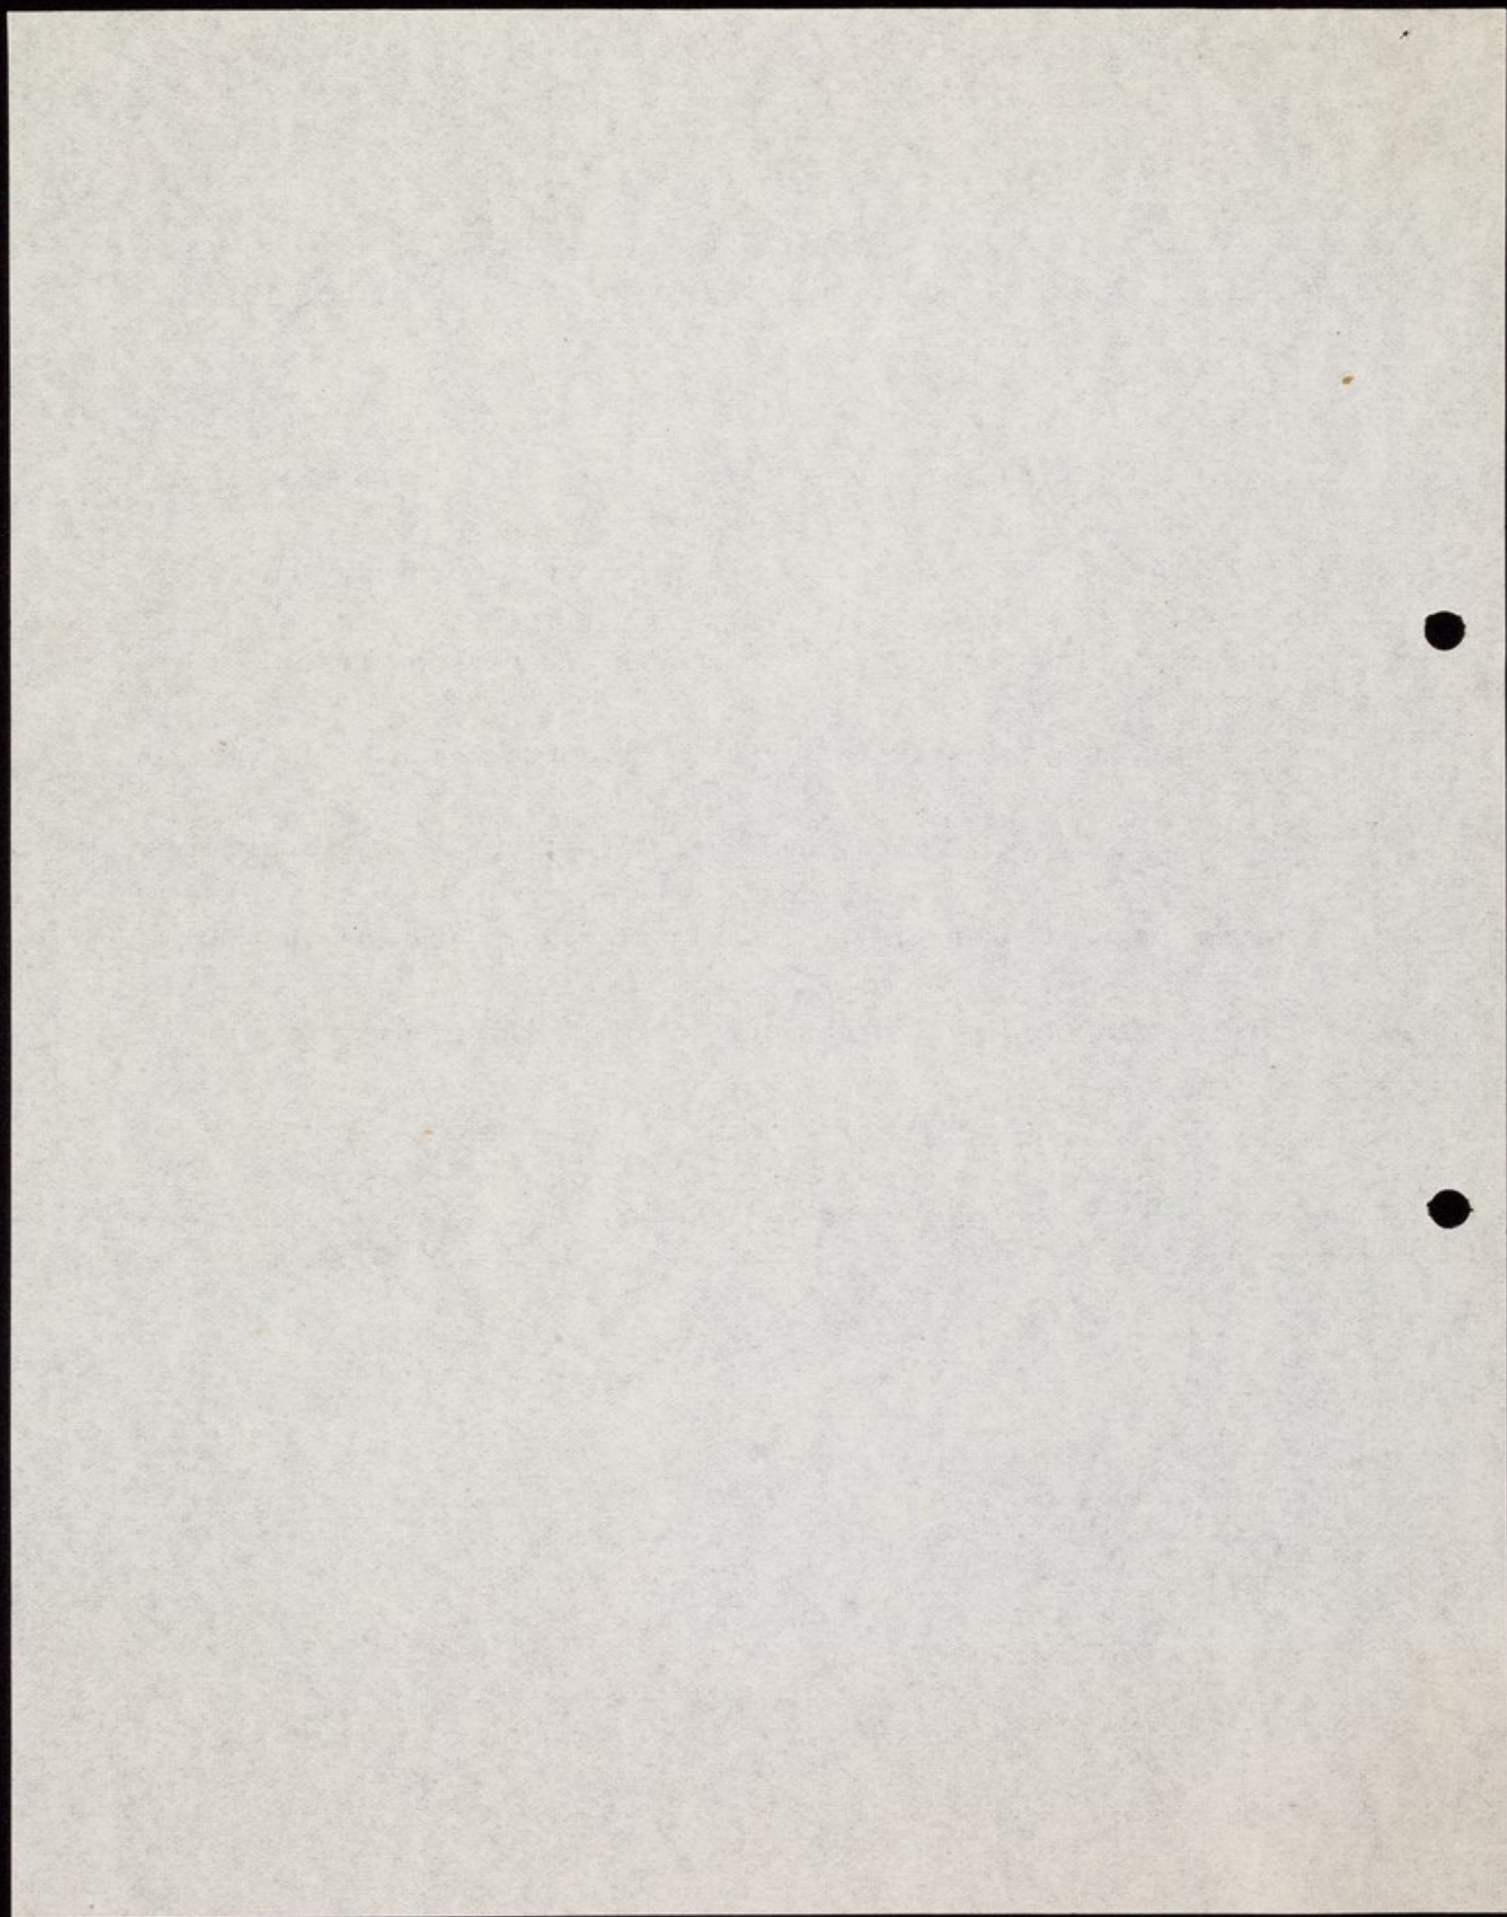

In reply to your letter, I am glad to be able to tell you that Mrs. Hensley has very much improved, and we are expecting her to leave this week and return home.

She has unfortunately been very much depressed and discouraged about herself, her work, and everything; but there is now a very pleasant change. She is sleeping very much better, and her general health has considerably improved.

I remain,

Yours faithfully,

My dear Sir,

I have heard nothing from my sister Mrs Horsley for some little time. She wrote to me about a fortnight ago saying she was to go out by herself & I was anxious to learn the result of the experiment; but she has not told me. If it would not be giving you too much trouble I should be extremely obliged if you would let me have a line to tell me how she is going on, as I am naturally anxious to know whether you think there is any satisfactory progress.

My dear Niene,

I was very glad to receive your last letter giving such a satisfactory account, all the more because the Retreat had made me afraid that a stay until the end of March was likely to be necessary - that however is I suppose subject to correction. As to what you say about the newspaper lunger - she is always rather omniverous - you see a number of her relatives are in the Graduate World & she rather feels bound or even likes to see the stuff they write.

If our mental condition was to be appraised according to the amount of rubbish we read or write which of us would be likely to be considered sound?

My anxiety will be to do the best for her when she leaves York & I think hints to various friends may be arranged ..

Will you kindly tell her that I am not writing to her now, because I understood she promised me a long letter shortly & I am waiting for that.

Yours very truly
Philip J. Hewley

Dear Dr Pierce,

I propose to come down to see my wife on Thursday, and if you can put me up till Saturday I shall be grateful.

The last letter I had from her was a little more herself, and with your report also has made me a little more hopeful... but some manifestation of interest in some of the things she used to be so keen about is what I really am looking for as the most favourable change.

I am myself endeavouring to adapt myself as much as possible to existing circumstances & happily find a good deal to occupy me and keep me going.

With best wishes for the season

Yours

Wm. J. Hewley

Dear Sir,

I have heard from my sister Mrs Hensley, & she appears to wish me not to come to see her on Saturday next. I think therefore it will be better for me to defer my visit till the following Saturday, December 24, by which time she may be ~~compos~~ more composed; unless it would be inconvenient to you to see me then.

● My dear Pierce,

The last letter I had from my wife was a little more like herself than others she has written, and made me a little hopeful that there might be the beginning of some improvement.

● ~~Do~~ you advise my coming to see her shortly -- of course I wish to see her, & yet it would be a trial if I found her no better than she was when I saw her last.

So far as I know at present there is no justification for all her self-reproaches - here & there things had been allowed to get a little behindhand but nothing serious, or that might not have occurred with almost any one.

I am trying to make the best of things pro tem. and find on the whole sufficient occupations & interests.

With kind regards to Mrs Pierce

Dear Sir,

I am much obliged for your kind letter. I have heard from Duffensley of your long-standing friendship with him & am very glad to know that my sister in her present unfortunate condition, is in such good hands, & is being treated with so much care & skill.

I hope to come to see her & you on Saturday next. I am much obliged for your very kind offer to put me up for the night. But I am rather busy just now & must

Dear Sir,

I am a brother of Mrs. Hensley who is with you at present. I should like to come & see her some time (probably next week) if you have no objection & think my visit would not be detrimental to her. I do not know exactly what her present condition is though I hear from Dr. Hensley that she is still suffering from extreme dejection; but I think it might do her good to see me.

My dear Pierre,

Thanks for your note...
I got this morning a letter from my wife asking me to come without delay, followed by a telegram saying that it did not matter.
Such communications I shall disregard... unless there be confirmation from you.

Unless I hear from you to the contrary I think it is probably best not to come for some little time.

Next week I expect to be away (probably Tuesday to Thursday)
