disengaged until the Chancery arrangements were concluded.

Now that I am again
free to take another case, may I, while thanking you for your most kind introduction to them, ask if you will still keep me in your remembrance. I should be glad to take a similar single charge, or a patient in my own house, unless I could again hear of any one to travel with.

Please forgive me for troubling you.

Believe me

Yours faithfully

Dear D^r Bedford Pierce

I had a letter from M^r Odely yesterday, telling me of the death of his sister-in-law. I am very sorry for them, that their trouble has ended so sadly.

I went to Scarborough at his request in March & saw M^{rs} Isherwood, whom I promised to undertake the charge, keeping myself
