Dear Dr Pierce

I am now in receipt of The Retreat charges but before paying the bill shall be glad of a few particulars. I don't understand the meaning of "Fee during absence." Then I note your charge 1/10 for Attendant to Madam which seems to me excessive & an addition £3/6/6 for expenses. I cannot conceive how they can come to anything like that & shall be glad to have particulars for there must be some mistake. Then I altogether object to pay Dr. Gayner's fee. It was not the wish of either myself or my wife that he came to see me. I came willingly to the Retreat on Dr. Finley's promise that I should not be certified Insane & there was no occasion whatever for Dr. Gayner's visit. I presume he is also a magistrate & if so I think I had a right to be informed.

I am Yours sincerely
G. G. Wright.

29th March, 1917.

Dear Mr. Wright,

I have your letter, and enclose particulars asked for as regards the charges to Malvern. I think you can understand that we cannot send off our deputy head attendant at a moment's notice without extra payment.

As regards certificates you were not a voluntary boarder but came to the Retreat under an Urgency Order, within a week formal papers were completed, and you were given the usual notice of right to see a magistrate if you wished to do so. Dr. Gayner is not a magistrate, he came to the Retreat to sign the second certificate, for which his fee was £2. 2. 0 which has been paid.

As regards the fee for leave of absence I enclose a paper which will explain matters, but as this was probably not sent to Mrs. Wright we will raise no objections to your deducting the half crowns for this item.

May I suggest that you do not allow yourself to be worried over this unhappy episode, but remember that under the difficult circumstances everyone acted for the best. I can quite believe you still think something better might have been done, and you may not agree with me on the matter; but the proof of the pudding is in the eating, and you certainly made a very rapid recovery under the treatment that was adopted.

May I point out that the average cost at the Retreat at the present time is something over $3.30 a week, and that while you were here you had a room to yourself and accommodation somewhat better than the average. Though I can quite see that the account may be more than you would like, yet the expense is much less than if you had had an attack of pneumonia or typhoid fever.

I remain,

Yours very truly,

Dear Dr. Pierce

I am much obliged for your letter to hand this morning. I quite understand that you cannot send off an attendant without charge but 1/10 struck me as excessive.

You are mistaken in saying that I was given notice of the right to see a magistrate

I told Dr. Finley that I ^{was} willing to go to the Retreat on his promising that I was not certified. He hesitated to give the promise & I said if you won't I will go before a magistrate. Then he promised. You know how he kept it. From that moment if ~~you~~ anyone can tell me of any act or word of mine that indicated I was not of a perfectly sound mind I shall be willing to give £100.

In my opinion any doctor who certifies a man to be insane when he knows he is not is guilty of a crime & that is what Dr. Finley & Dr. Gaynor have done. Under these circumstances I cannot see that there is any claim on me for Dr. Gaynor's fee. Dr. Finley presented what I consider an

Dear Mr. [unclear]

I am much obliged to you for your letter to hand this morning. I have not had your account. I had an intention to write but the day was so busy.
You are a remarkable man saying that I am given notice of the right to be a representative I had the feeling that I was to go to the Parliament in the morning that I was not.
I thought the matter to give the business a moment of your work. I will go before a representative. Then the business is not done how to help it. I know that the business is concerned you will see of any set in work I am that interested in them out of a perfectly business point of view in wishing to give you to my opinion and do not as a business man to be known when he knows he is not a of a business that is what I think it is business. Then the business is not so that there is any class in one for the for the feeling that I was to go to the extortionate bill to my wife & pressed for immediate payment. no doubt - concluding & quite rightly that I would refuse to ~~repay~~ pay it. This no doubt - accounts for his anxiety to get my wife out of Matron's before I returned.

Since writing my last letter I have learned that Dr. Inley had no thought of certifying me insane till you refused to admit me to the Retreat unless he did so. What your reason may have been I do not know. but the consequences I know only too well. Of the bitter consequences to myself I will not write but it ^{has} caused a shock to my wife that she will never get over In time I hope I may be able to forgive you.

Yours truly
George Wright.

2nd April, 1917.

Dear Mr. Wright,

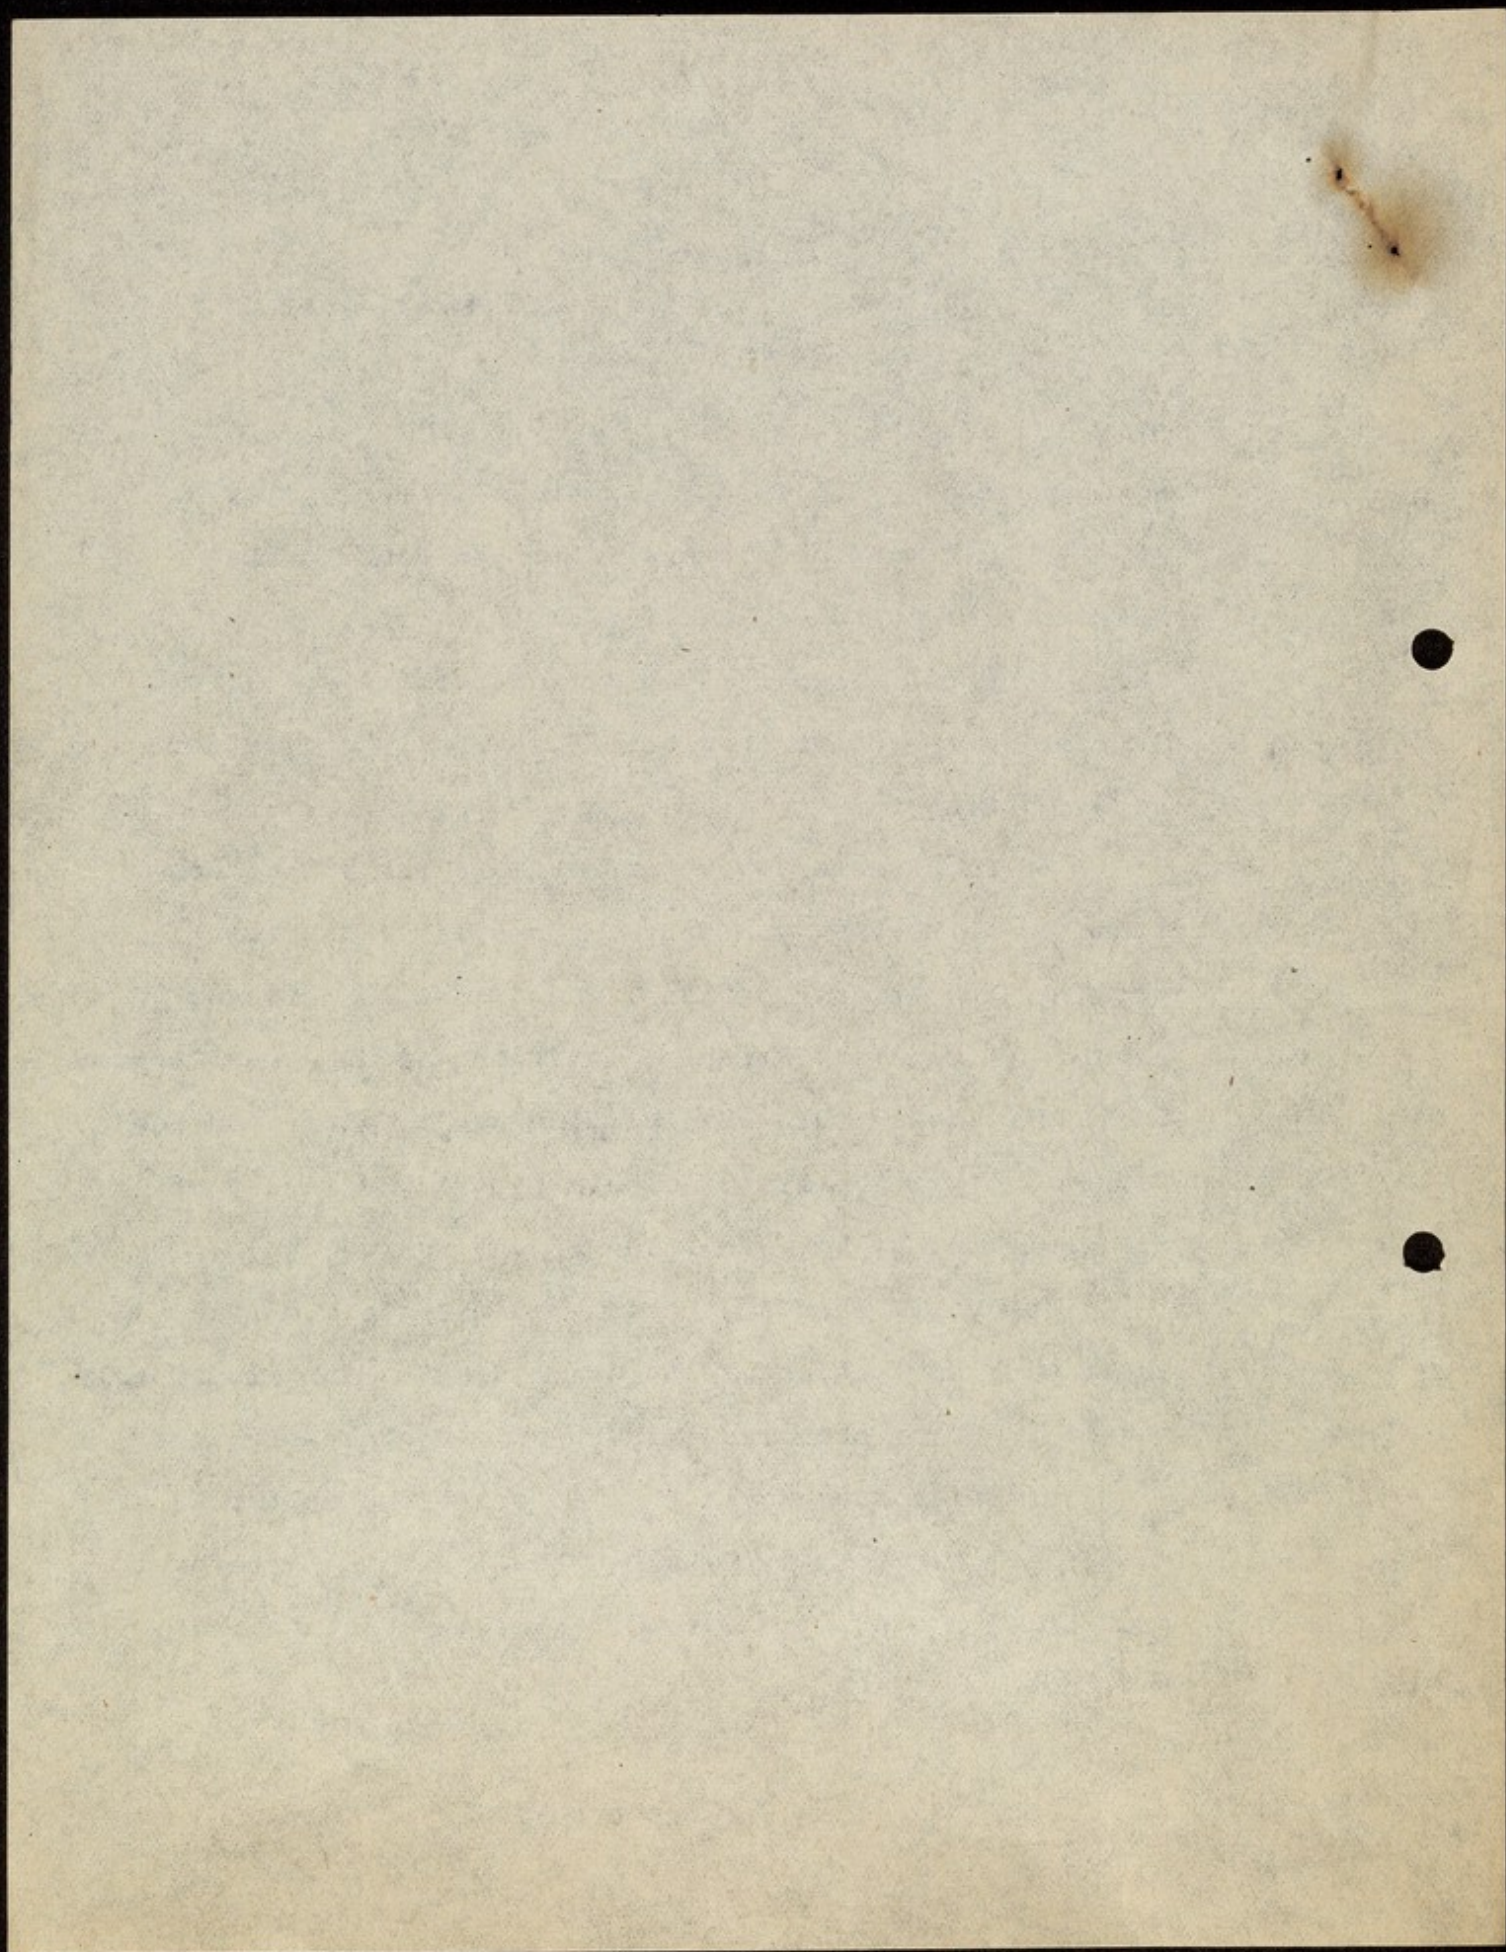

I am sorry to find that you still feel grieved at your treatment before and after you came to the Retreat. I do not think it would serve any useful purpose by explaining to you my view of the situation. It would only revive incidents that really had better be forgotten.

It is, however, very unfortunate for you to continue to think that you were improperly or unkindly treated, and the suggestion I would make is that you should nominate any Friend of standing or any other person in whom we both would have confidence, to ascertain the facts; and, if you like, let him report the result of his enquiries to the Committee of the Retreat.

I am quite sure that neither I nor the Committee would wish any patient to be charged any amount improperly, and if an error occurred through some mistake or other I am satisfied they would wish it rectified as far as possible. I can only repeat what I have said before: that under the unhappy circumstances the best course was taken.

I remain,

Yours truly,

Dear Dr Pierce

In reply to your letter to hand this afternoon. This affair is so upsetting my wife that I have come to the conclusion it will be the least expedient to settle it at once & after all the expense is only a secondary matter & no number of Committee's will convince me that I have not been falsely & criminally declared to be insane.

I have deducted the absent fee which you kindly agreed to allow & also 12/10 from the reports etc. By a strange error you have charged 3 fees from Malvern instead of 2. I trust this will end what has been to me a most unpleasant episode & I will try & cultivate kinder feelings towards you

Dear Dr. Pierce,

I am in receipt of your letter of the 2nd inst. and cannot see any way in which I can write any special letter to Mrs. Wright, because her keeping it secret would be a pure chance.

Neither I nor my Wife know any particulars as to what took place with reference to Mr. G. Wright's going to or leaving York, as we received very little information about it. We understand, however, that Mr. Wright is now quite well. His letters are perfectly normal and written with a strong hand, such as always indicates his being in good and perfect health. We have heard from Bournemouth several times and we are quite under the impression that his recovery was complete. We think, personally, that his name might now be taken off your books. If any opportunity, of gaining further and more precise information, occurs in the immediate future, we will take advantage of it and write you again.

Perhaps you could ascertain from Mrs. Wright (I think it is better that I should not write to her myself) whether Mr. George Wright has not properly recovered, so that his name can be removed from our books. I am very pleased indeed to hear that you have got on so nicely and that Mrs. Wright is doing well. I cannot but think that the change to Bournemouth at this season of the year will be good for her, though I fancy Bournemouth is having quite a cold spell now. There is no doubt that it is not pleasant there on a cold day with a north-east wind, but this combination is not very common.

I much appreciate your kind reference to the staff, and I may reciprocate by saying that there was much regret when you left as you helped materially in the social life of the Lodge.

With kind regards.

I had a comfortable journey yesterday arriving here not more than 20 minutes late. There was no opportunity for refreshments except just a cup of tea & I was therefore very glad of the liberal supply of sandwiches with which I was provided. I am glad to say I found my wife looking very well though with evident signs of having gone through a trying time. She has seen a Dr. here who tells her that the right lung is still slightly affected & that she will have to be very careful for some time.

She is sleeping better now & slept very well last night & I trust when warmer weather comes will soon regain her usual health. We are very comfortable in this hotel & have made arrangements to remain here at least a month so she will have a complete rest from housekeeping worries. It is bright & sunny here today but very cold in fact. The frost has been keener here than in Gore but there is no snow.

I feel that I cannot finally close my connection with the Retreat without saying how thoroughly I have appreciated the great kindness that I have received from everyone with whom I have come in contact from yourself down to the humblest servant.

With kindest regards & sincerest thanks for all your kindness in which my wife unites I am Yours sincerely

Dear Dr. Seaco

From the contents of a letter from G. Wright received this morning, it appears that his wife is not willing for him to return to her just yet.

I am very sorry to hear this & would be glad if you would tell me whether you think him sufficiently recovered to resume normal life.

Unfortunately there is no one at liberty to accompany him to a Hydro or other similar establishment.

Judging by his letters, he appears to be very well & balanced & we thought the best thing for him & his health would be a return to his wife. Unless she is willing, we are afraid it may have a deleterious effect upon him. I am

Dear Mrs. Wright,

Just a line to tell you that I can speak very favourably of Mr. Wright. He is much more reasonable, and the excitement has subsided, and really there is nothing the matter with him that I can ascertain. He is quite wishful to do the right thing, and he feels that if he could only see you you would be greatly reassured about him.

I have made the following suggestion to him, that he should leave here on Wednesday morning, go straight through to Bournemouth, and that you should engage a room for him at a boarding house or some hotel, that he should after seeing you stay away a week or ten days until you feel distinctly better than you do at present. He might either stay at the boarding house suggested or go to Christchurch, Poole, or Brockenhurst, or some of the places near by if this seemed better. If you have any objections to this please wire as the post from Bournemouth is very slow.

I am in receipt of your letter of the 12th with copy of your letter to Mrs. Wright.

I'm sorry to read what you say about G. W.'s conduct towards his wife; we however do not know to what you refer as we have rec^d. no complaints from her. She did tell us that he had shown an infatuation for the servant but is not this, deplorable as it is, a usual symptom of such derangement as he suffers from? He is so entirely different from anything of the kind when he is well, that such an occurrence would indicate derangement. If this is anything else, I should be glad to write him about anything which could rightly be taken up in a letter.

My wife is posting a letter by this same post, advising G. W. to be guided by your opinion. I am sorry we cannot take him here for two reasons. First we are leaving this house

Dear Dr. Pierce

I am very sorry that my brother in law, George Wright has again broken down & think that perhaps you may not fully learn what I believe to be the main reason of it. Since his marriage he has seemed to be very well & very happy but unfortunately his wife has recently had an illness which confined her to bed. She suggested having a nurse but was ^{by her Doctor} persuaded to do without one. In consequence I am afraid her husband was ^{with loss of sleep} overdone with nursing & he does not fully realize it & much regrets she did not insist on the nurse. - Perhaps she has told you about it. I am not aware of any other cause likely to bring about this attack.

I have had 2 (my wife's) letters from G. W. since he went to The Retreat & judging from his last, an improvement has already set in. If you ever spare the time I am wife

Dear Mrs. Wright,

I think Mr. Wright is going on nicely. He is calm and collected except when he becomes indignant at his detention here; he feels that he is being unjustly detained. I have tried to explain to him that if he realised properly the effect that his recent breakdown had on you and other persons he would be quite contented to stay quietly here until sufficient time had elapsed to be quite sure that he was himself again.

I am sorry to hear that you are not yet well, and as you say the weather is very unfavourable for travelling, but if you could get to Bournemouth I quite expect you would find the conditions better though I have known it quite cold there at this time of the year. The advantage of Bournemouth is that the gardens are so sheltered that invalids can get out there more than in almost any other place I know.

I think the right thing is for Mr. Wright to stay here the calendar month, and after this if he gets on nicely he could go to a Hydropathic as you suggest.

I remain,

Yours very truly,

15th January, 1917.

Dear Mrs. Wright,

Mr. Wright is extremely unwilling to stay here any longer and he declares he will not do so. I have tried to reason with him and explained that he, who had been so poorly until about a fortnight ago, should not be willing to be advised. My impression is that the best plan is for him to stay out the month here, and then perhaps he might go to stay at Harrogate or at a Hydropathic or something of that kind.

The Commissioners have returned the Statement of Particulars on account of your having stated ythat Mr. Wright was not dangerous to others, whereas Dr. Finley's certificate says explicitly that Mr. Wright had repeatedly struck you. Will you either alter the "no" to "yes" and "say has struck and threatened me"; or if this is more than you would like to say put something of this kind, "though he has threatened me I did not consider him dangerous". In some way or other it is clear the alteration must be made. Please place your initials opposite the correction.

I remain,

Yours very truly,

Dear Mr. Sparkes,

I am glad to say that Mr. George Wright has rapidly improved, in fact he is almost well, and will be leaving before long.

I fancy Mrs. Wright is going away for a time to Bournemouth as she is, I understand, far from well. It is very unfortunate that he had this attack just at a time when his wife was poorly. I think the strain of nursing and loss of sleep was the explanation.

Dear Madam,

I have seen Mr. Wright and talked over the subject raised in your letter. He does not want to go to Throxenby Hall and is very disinclined to stay here. He minimises the gravity of his recent illness, and though he is a good deal better he really is not well or he would see that it is wiser for him to remain quiet here for a longer period. He is talkative and somewhat excited, and in this state he is always inclined to blame others rather than his unfortunate malady for things going wrong. It is quite clear that he must remain under supervision of some kind for another few weeks as he is not fit to join you or to see his friends.

I am inclined to think that the best course is for him to remain where he is for the present.

Yours very truly,

I have been very busy and failed over the subject raised in your letter. It has not been to my knowledge and is very difficult to say whether the quality of the recent findings and though in a good deal better he really is not well or he would be that it is what for him to remain here for a longer period. He is sensitive and somewhat excited.
 In this state he is always inclined to blame others

 It is quite clear that he must remain under supervision of

Dear Dr. Siera

I am much obliged for your letter of the 9th & very glad you are able to send such a good report of my brother in law's condition & health. He writes us frequently & his letters show a continuous improvement - one to hand this morning is quite rational & normal.

As regards a suggestion as to where to should go when well enough to leave the Retreat, we were hoping & expecting that his wife would take him somewhere for a rest & change but from what she says in a recent letter, it appears that Dr. Finley (her Doctor) advises her that G. W. will not be well enough to be with her for 3 months. We have written suggesting that we hoped very differently & also suggesting her communicating with you on the matter think No ~~that~~ that if she attempted to carry this out it would have a disastrous effect on G.D.

He mentioned to her that The Retreat had a Convalescent Home at Scarborough. + wondered whether she had thought of his going there for a time.

Is there any chance of finding anyone who could go away with him for a week or two?

Hoping you have already heard from Mrs. Wright or will soon do so. Love

Yours sincerely
G. B. Dickard.

9th January, 1917.

Dear Mr. Pickard,

I am glad to say that Mr. Wright is getting on very well. He was excited and talkative and restless when he came, but he has rapidly improved, and though perhaps rather buoyant and self-satisfied he is on the whole very well.

He explained to me that his anxiety had been through his wife's illness and his loss of sleep in consequence, but I gather that at the time he refused to be advised and made matters exceedingly difficult.

I should be glad of some suggestion as to what he should do when the time comes for him to leave here. I hardly think he ought to return home, and yet I should not like him to remain here long if he continues to improve at the rate he is now doing.

I remain,

Yours very truly,

Dear Mr. Fisher,

I have just received your letter of the 10th inst. in regard to the matter of the proposed extension of the railway line from the station at ... to the station at ...

and I am glad to hear that you are in favour of the proposed extension.

I have discussed the matter with the Board and they are of the opinion that the proposed extension is not desirable at present, owing to the fact that the proposed extension would involve the expenditure of a large sum of money, which is not available at present. I am, however, of the opinion that the proposed extension should be considered at a later date, when the financial position of the railway is more favourable.

Yours faithfully,

January 4th, 1916.

Dear Dr. Finley,

Just a line to say that Mr. George Wright is beginning to improve in the same way that he did before, when a few days after admission he began to clear up. If he goes on like this it will be difficult to detain him long, still he is not well yet, is excitable, talkative and gives a garbled account of what happened before he came.

As he did before he blames everyone else besides himself and when asked about his conduct explains it away to his complete satisfaction. He especially blames you for his breakdown! By the way, he declares that you promised that he should come as a Voluntary Boarder and not under certificates, and he does not know that he is certified. Perhaps we can manage that he does not learn this, but of course if he asks he can find out. Anyhow for the time he is quite pleasant to do with and gives no trouble. The difficulty will begin when he is better.

I should like to know whether Mrs. Wright is or has been seriously ill, and whether there is independent evidence of his treating her badly. Also do you think recent intemperance had anything to do with this breakdown?

I remain,

Yours very truly,

January 2nd, 1918.

Dear Dr. Pierce

Thanks for your letter recd. this morning - we are greatly pleased to hear a better report of my brother in law. I hope he will gradually improve from day to day. I enclose a list of clothing which has been sent from Mrs. Scott, his landlady at Mansfield. My wife &

I go to No. 12 Seaview Terrace Seaton
South Devon

on Friday leaving here about 8.15 a.m. so we should like to have a line or telegram sometime on Thursday.

I have written to G. W. by this post - perhaps it would have been better to have enclosed it with this for you to read but I posted it before writing this - you must open it if you think best.

It appears that Miss Grant-Georgis Francie has no idea of doing anything other than going on with the engagement - a fact that I think you should know. I think I told you we never heard of her before hearing my letter of the engagement 3 weeks ago. I thought to be a nice lady but we know nothing more than that they met at a Boarding House.

May 1, 1911

Dear Mr. Pickard,

I Am pleased to hear that Mr. Wright is so nicely and that you think he has reached practically his normal condition. On hearing from you again that you consider the improvement is well maintained I will send you the notice of discharge "recovered".

I had a letter from Miss Grant asking my opinion on the subject of marriage, but I was obliged to tell her that my relations with Mr. Wright are confidential and I was not able to give her any information except at his request; but if you, however, as his responsible relative ask my opinion on the question of his marriage I should not have the same difficulty in replying, though I think it is extremely unlikely that anything I say will make any difference.

With regard to the concluding sentence of my letter of April 18th, "I have little doubt that after a time he will return to his normal state, though I honestly think the ultimate outlook is serious and that he will relapse sooner or later", my opinion is that it is almost certain that sooner or later he will relapse and have another attack of maniacal excitement: probably he will have many more. It is impossible, however, to say when or how this will happen; and of course there is just a possibility that they may be long deferred. We find as a general rule the relapses are similar in type to the previous attacks. Sometimes, however, prolonged attacks of depression take the place of excitement. But there is not much prospect of mental decay or enfeeblement.

I am much obliged for the cheque, duly received, for which I believe you have already had a receipt.

With kind regards,
Yours very truly,

Dear Mr. Pickard,

I am pleased to hear that Mr. Wright is so nicely and that you think he has reached practically his normal condition. On receipt of your letter I will send you the notice of government in which mentioned I will send you the notice of "Exchange Renewal".

I had a letter from Mr. Wright about my opinion on the subject of exchange, but I am glad to tell her that I related to you. I had a letter from Mr. Wright and I was not able to give her any information except at his request; but if you, however, as the responsible relative has my opinion on the matter of his exchange I should not have the same and only in reply, though I think it is extremely unlikely that anything will make any difference.

With regard to a concluding sentence of my letter of April 1951, I have little doubt that after a time he will return to his normal state, though I honestly think it is likely outlook is serious and that all relief must be on later, my opinion is that it is almost certain that soon or later he will relapse and have another attack of mental illness; possibly he will have many more. It is impossible however, to say how or how long this will last; and of course it is not a possibility that they may be long deferred.
As far as a general outlook relapses are similar in type to the previous attacks. However, however, prolonged attacks of depression like the place of an attack. But there is not a great deal of mental health or improvement.

I am sure obliged for the trouble you have taken, for which I hope you have already had a receipt.

With kind regards,
Mrs. V. J. Pickard

April 18, 1911

Dear Mr. Pickard,

Many thanks for your letter. At the same time I received one from Mr. Wright asking to leave on Thursday so that he may be able to see your brother at Mansfield before he goes away.

I find the situation somewhat perplexing, as it seems to me clear that Mr. Wright is not really well. On the other hand I do not think he is likely to improve further by staying much longer at Throxenby. I therefore propose, unless I hear from you to the contrary, to allow him to leave at the time previously arranged, viz. at the end of this week; and I suppose he would go on one month's trial to see how he gets on.

I am still of opinion that it would be better for him not to go to Mansfield in the first place, and I am writing to tell him this and that. I think it would be better for him to stay at some hydropathic establishment for a few days before going there.

I expect, however, he must be allowed to do as he likes, as the indications of mental disorder are not sufficiently pronounced to justify restraint. I have little doubt that after a time he will return to his normal state, though I honestly think the ultimate outlook is serious and that he will relapse again sooner or later.

Yours very truly,

Dear Mr. Wright,

I am sorry that you are not willing to take advice. Long experience has showed me that the patients who are really convalescent are willing to be guided as to what they should do when they leave our care.

I shall not be able to arrange for your leaving so soon as Thursday next as you propose in your letter, but I hope to be able to arrange for Saturday. I am going away for a few days towards the end of the week, but I will arrange with Dr. Mackenzie that you have ample notice in order to make arrangements.

Yours very truly,

then I have had a letter from my as to when they will return from prefer to go to Mansfield for a few

I should like to see him before he goes as he has kindly taken charge

So if this can be arranged conveniently I shall be glad.

Dear Dr. Pierce

Thanks for yours of the 13th —
My brother in law is not yet like himself in one or two ways.

When in his usual health he is unselfish, kind, courteous, gentle, thoughtful & considerate for others - is never boastful and is a general favourite with both men & women.

He appears now, judging from what you say & from the tone of his letters to us, = self-assertive, cantankerous, impatient & even bad tempered ^{condition} _{such}, however may be principally accounted for by the fact that he is smarting under a sense of injustice & unnecessary restraint.

As you point out, he appears to think that everybody has muffed everything that he need now have been placed under restraint.

I remember that he was much the same after his attack many years ago.

There are of course plenty of cantankerous men who are not under restraint so we can only wait your decision as to the time when G.H. is ready to be discharged.

As regards his going

April 13, 1911

Dear Mr. Pickard,

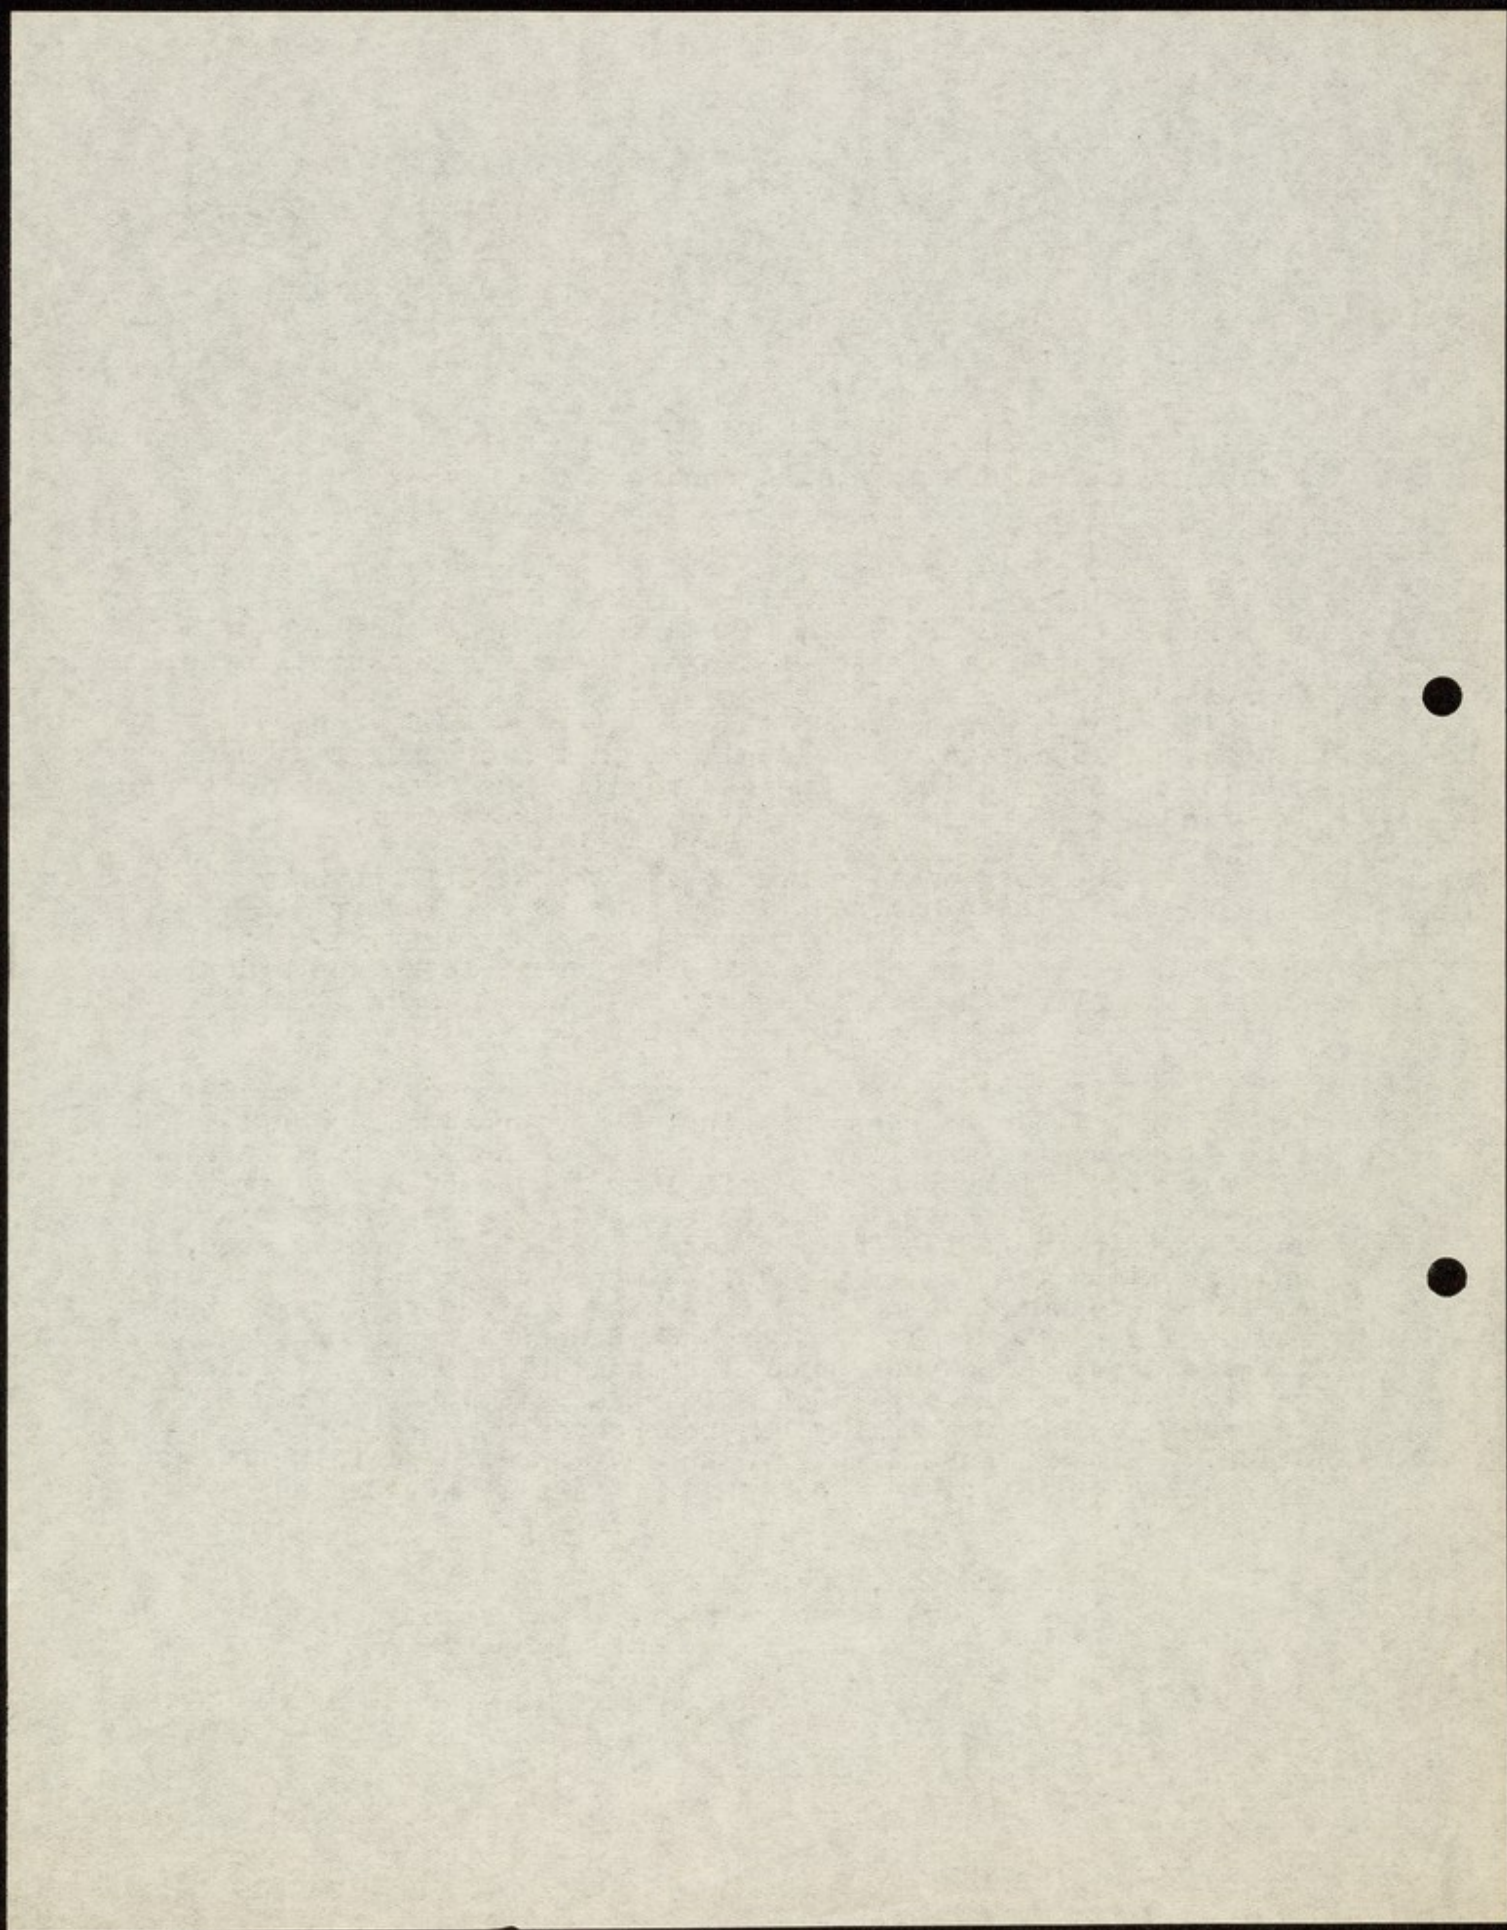

There is no doubt that Mr. Wright is very much better, and sometimes he appears to be practically well. I did not know him before, and consequently have some difficulty in judging whether he is in his normal state.

There is, however, a self assertiveness and tendency to speak of himself and a failure to understand the feelings of other people. No doubt he himself is quite unaware of this. He still minimizes the gravity of his recent illness, forgets or ignores the facts, says it was due to a doctor administering a sedative or "the mismanagement of young Littlewood" etc. etc. He declares that his engagement had nothing to do with it. One can readily understand that it is pleasanter for him to try to explain things away.

The very small amount of restraint at Throxenby appears to irritate him, and I doubt whether a longer stay than another week or two will do any good whatever. He still wishes to go to Mansfield, says he has some clothes on order, and wants to look up some things. My view remains that it would probably be better for him not to.

With regard to his staying with some relatives of the Grants, I see no reason against this, provided a short time elapses after he leaves here, to make sure that he remains all right. At Throxenby the feeling is one of great sympathy with the fiancée, and I am not sure that it would really be kind to them to let them see something of him pretty soon, and certainly the family should be informed without reservation as to the repeated attacks of this kind that George Wright has had in the past. If they are not discouraged under such circumstances, then your conscience will be clear. I think you told me you had explained matters already, but I think it is probable that the family has not properly grasped the situation. In any case I think a speedy marriage would be altogether unwise; but people are not easily advised on this point.

I remain,
Yours very truly,

different after Easter. but it is too far away again & we cannot find anyone to accompany him.

In a letter I recd. from a Torquay Dr. it was stated that whilst there G.W. had a slight epileptic attack. I thought perhaps that this was a mistake but this morning I have a letter from an old friend of mine G.W.'s, a medical man he says that the first attack was 11 years ago was brought on by G.W. being tricked into drinking champagne which brought on a slight epileptic attack & inasmuch ^{as} we know that he had been drinking a lot of whisky in the smoke room at Torquay it appears likely that taking an intoxicant caused the trouble & breakdown. It appears that whilst feeling excited about his engagement he unwisely bought a bottle of whisky to celebrate the occasion amongst his fellow gentlemen guests at the Boarding House. I am Yours sincerely L. A. Pickard

Dear Dr. Pierce.

I duly received your letter of the 6th & have been trying to my brother in laws entertainment immediately after his discharge but cannot see any other safe & likely course than his coming to my house

My wife has rec^d a letter from him in which he says he must go to Mansfield first but we think he should come to us first.

He also have a letter this morning from Miss Grant who is now staying with her married brother at Latchford near Warrington & she suggests that G. D. should go & visit them at her brother & sister in law's express invitation. What do you think of that plan? — in any case, he should come to us a while first — my wife does not think it very suitable but would be very glad of your advice as to whether it is advisable for him to marry almost at once as we gather from what has been said from time to time by both that such a course is contemplated.

We do not think "Highbury" suitable & we know it is very full just now tho perhaps it may be

Dear Mr. Pickard,

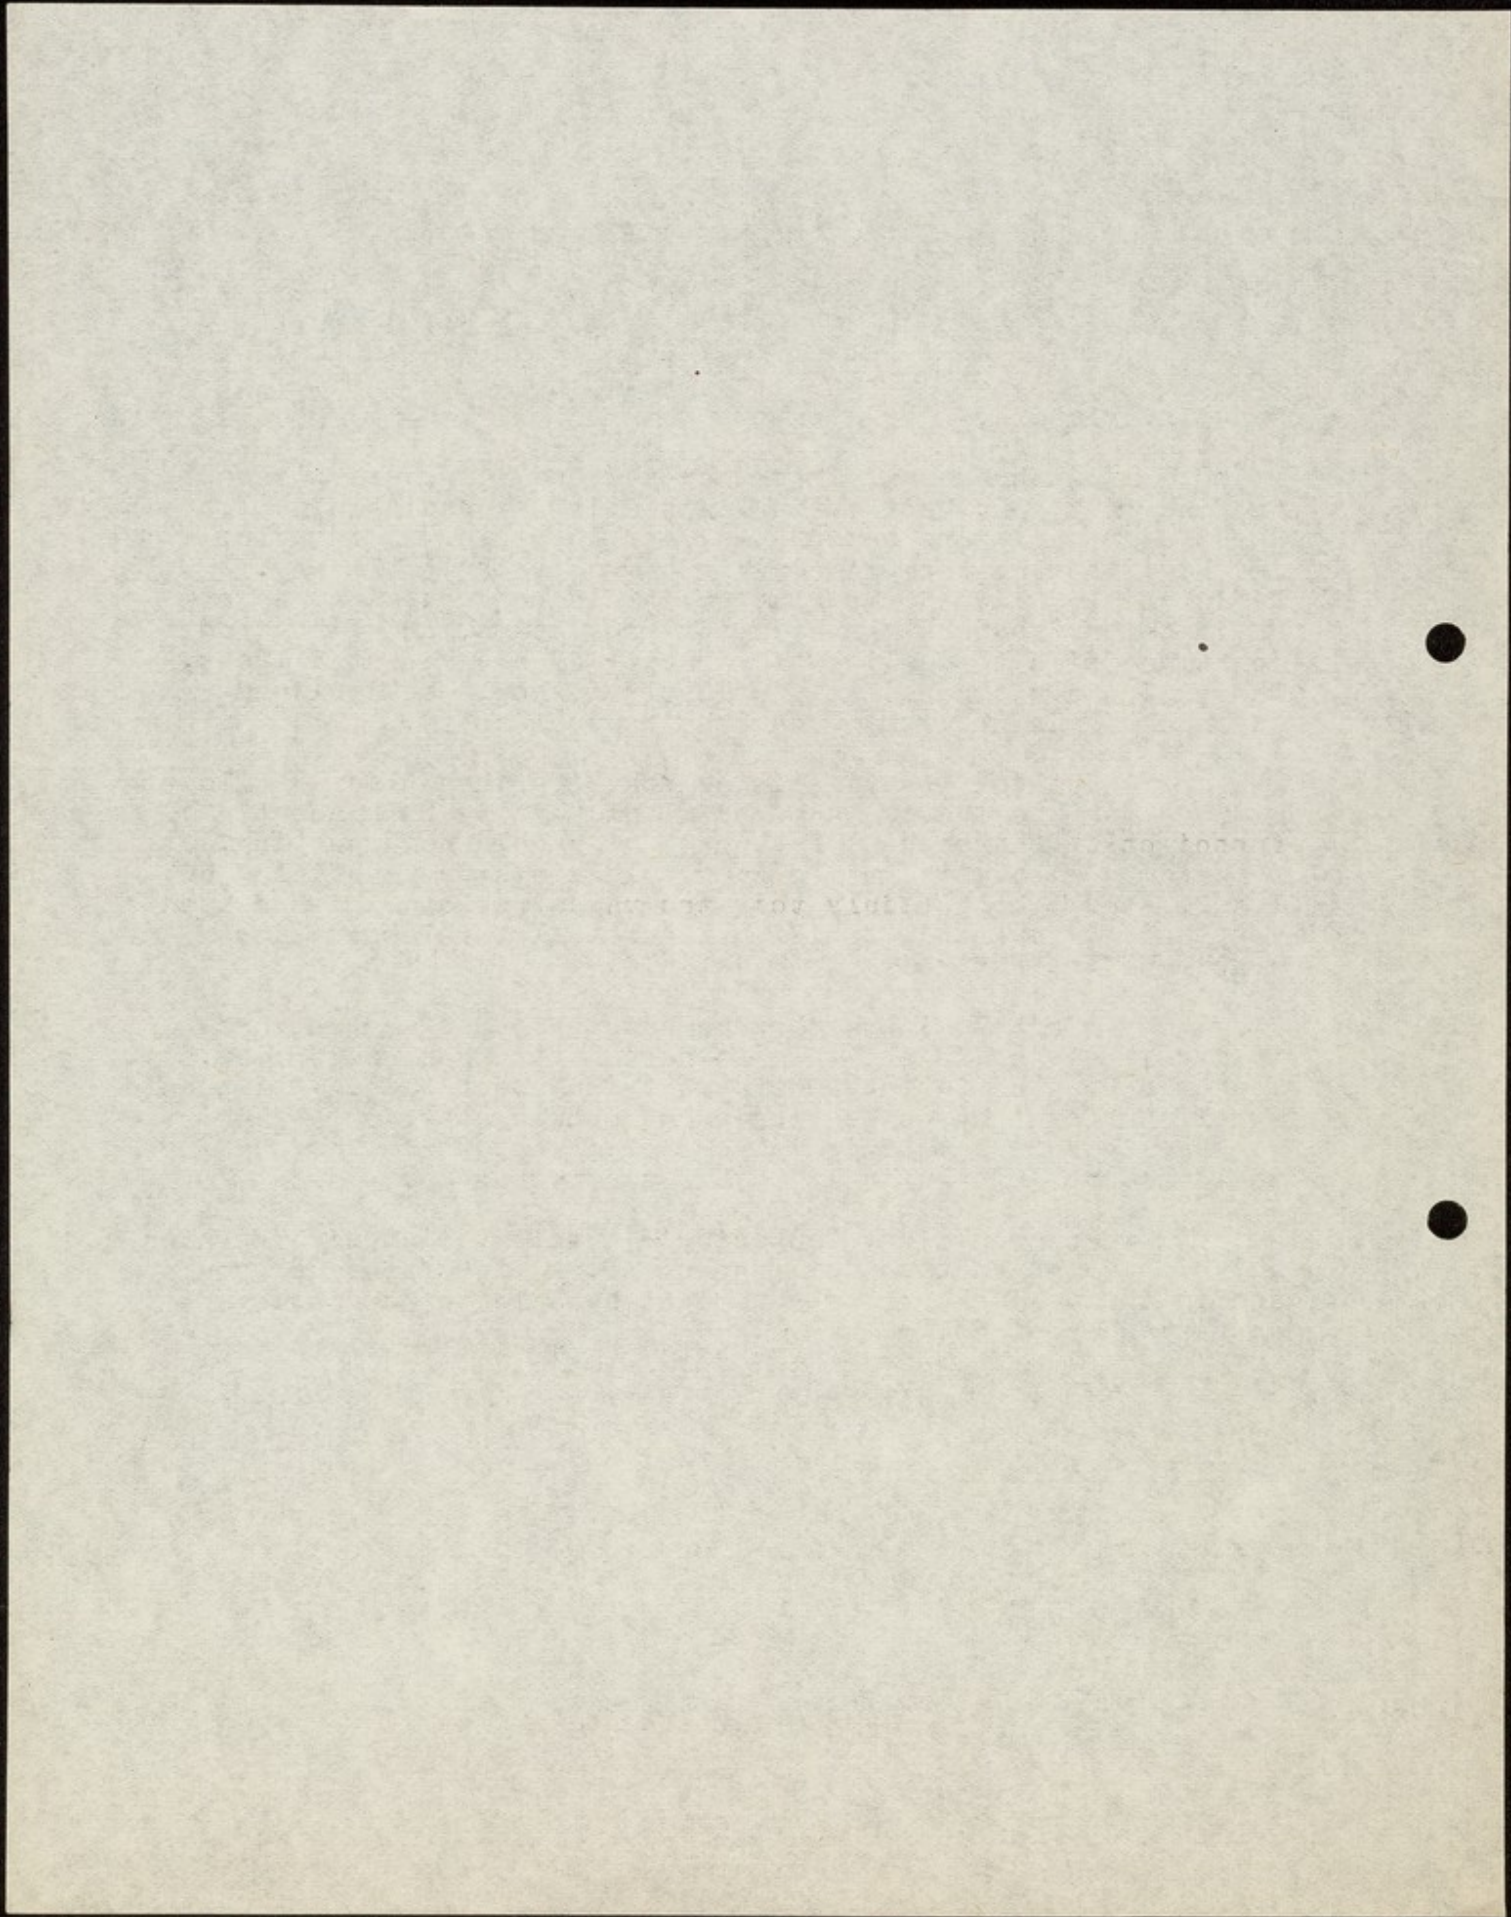

I was over at Throxenby yesterday and was pleased to find that your brother in law is doing exceedingly well. He is very much more reasonable, and is giving no trouble; and he is not now complaining in the same irritable way. He is still a little superlative in his conversation, says he is better than he has been for many years, and I have no doubt he fails to realise the gravity of his recent illness. Though I did not know him previously I should be inclined to think he is now very much in his usual state.

I think the time is approaching when plans should be made for his leaving us; and I told him that in about a fortnight or thereabouts I thought he should be departing. He said he wished to return to his lodgings in Mansfield, but I suggested that possibly this was undesirable as he had been very bad there and it would be wiser to let a longer time elapse before returning to Mansfield.

I asked him whether he had any other suggestions to make, but he did not seem to have anything else in view. I should be glad to know what you think about this. I should myself prefer that on leaving us he should stay for a few weeks with some family or in some place or other where he would not be left entirely to his own resources.

How would Mr. Carpenter's; Huptly; Bishop's Teignton do? I have heard this well spoken of. Perhaps now you are in that neighbourhood you might be able to make some enquiries about it.

Thanks for your letter of the 2nd. I returned to Seaton yesterday & have arranged to stay until Wednesday the 19th on which day I expect to return home.

We feel very pleased & thankful that Geo. Wright is so much better - his letters are all but now normal & are indeed quite so were it not for the fact that he still thinks a little at his being quite well. I should be glad if you would advise me as to what it will be best to do when he is ready to leave

March 28, 1911

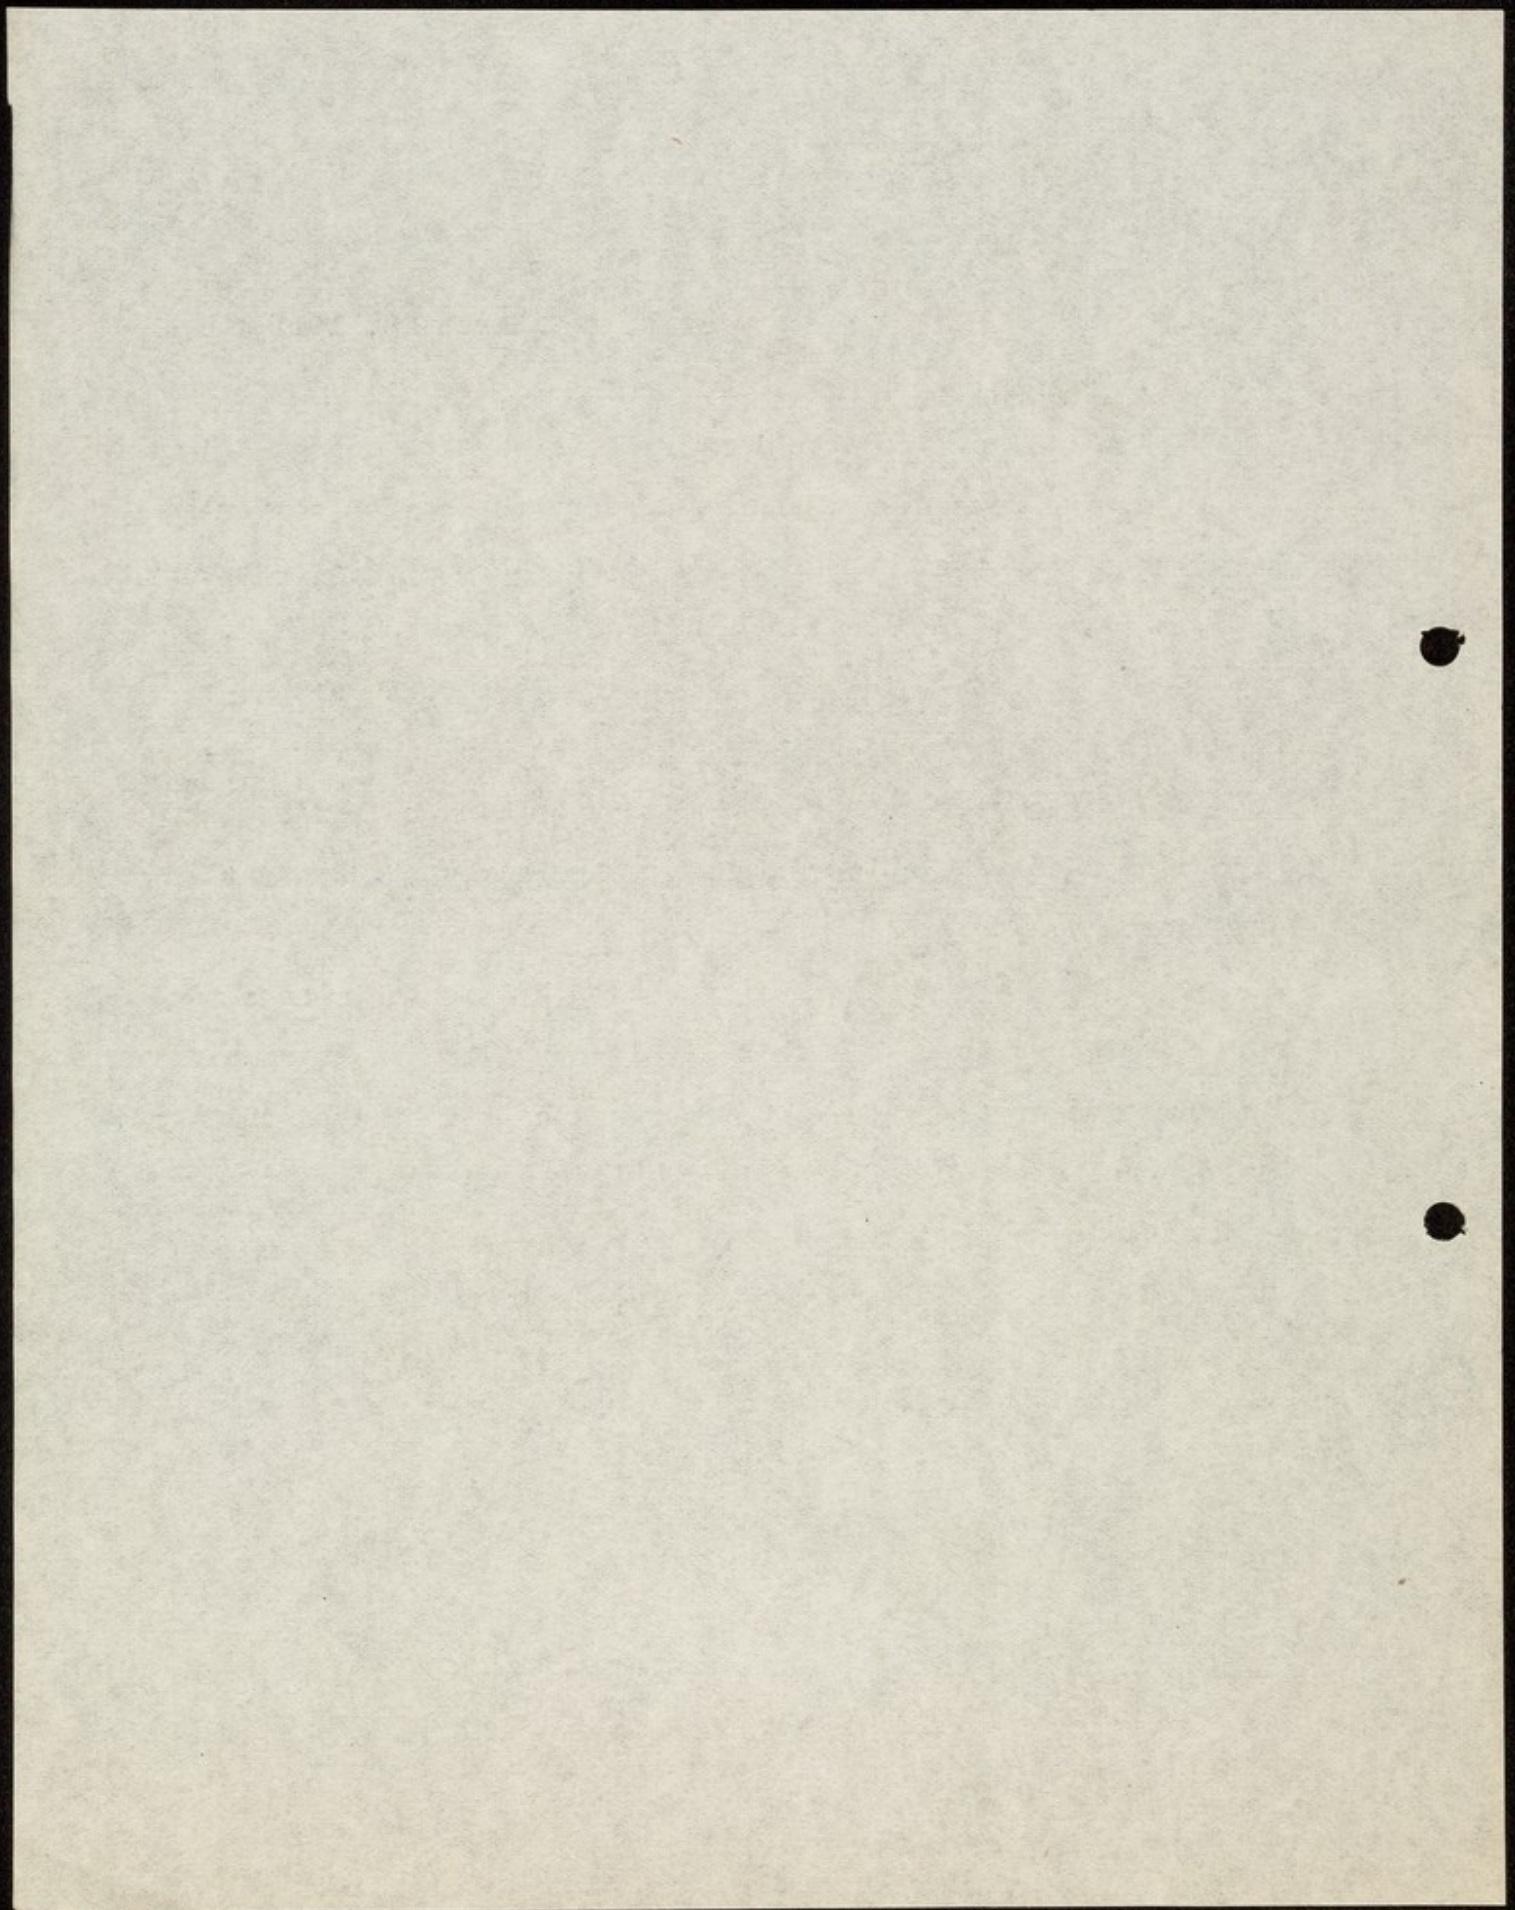

Dear Mr. Pickard,

The last two days I am glad to say Mr. George Wright has been more reasonable, and he appears to be much comforted by my proposing that he should go to Scarborough, to Throxenby Hall, this week. We think of sending him on Thursday.

I do not think the suggestion that he should go away with a doctor is for the best. It would be very expensive to secure somebody, and I should think he had better become decidedly convalescent before he leaves the Retreat or Throxenby.

He has a swelling in the calf of his leg, the nature of which is obscure. I think it is possibly due to some inflammation of the vein with interference with the circulation. It does not seem at all a serious matter, and perhaps it may be useful in keeping him quiet.

Yours very truly,

afraid his recovery is being

I am sorry I cannot propose his coming here as I am sure it would be very detrimental

Dear Dr. Pierce

Besides the personal appeal made to me when at The Retreat last Thursday, I have had 2 long letters full of protest & appeals for liberty. from my brother in law I am replying by this same post and have written very plainly both as to the justification for his being placed under restraint & as to the impossibility of his being discharged until you can advise it. I have with the view of convincing him of the necessity of restraint given him some few particulars of his doings between leaving Torquay & arriving at York & have done all I could in a letter to quieten & soothe his mind.

I believe that when he was unhinged 30 years ago, he found fault with everybody just the same as he is doing now.

There is one course which if possible & recommended by you as safe & reasonable, might be taken that is - to send him to some quiet place for a week or two under the care of a young medical man if a suitable one is available.

In this way he might sooner be relieved from the unhappy condition of mind in which he appears to be living. - I have told him that I am suggesting this course for your consideration & approval.

His letters ^{indicate} such a state of mental anguish & disappointment that I'm reconcile him to staying where he is for another week or ten days, or whatever the term may be, if I came up to stay in the near neighbourhood & could see him now two or three each day.

Mr. George Wright, who is Miss Grant, his fiancée.

You have also spoken to

I am so thankful he is, now, so much better & is getting stronger.

Mr. Pickard told me how hard he feels it to be where he is, being himself again.

I have been wondering if it would help to as my Father may be rather averse to it, but he does not know Mr. Wright, as I do.

I would ask you, ^{then} to take a bright, sunny bed-sitting room for me, not too far off. It would be advisable perhaps, to say nothing to Mr. Wright, about this, in the meantime.

Mr. Pickard to go

Let Mr. Pickard

March 20, 1911

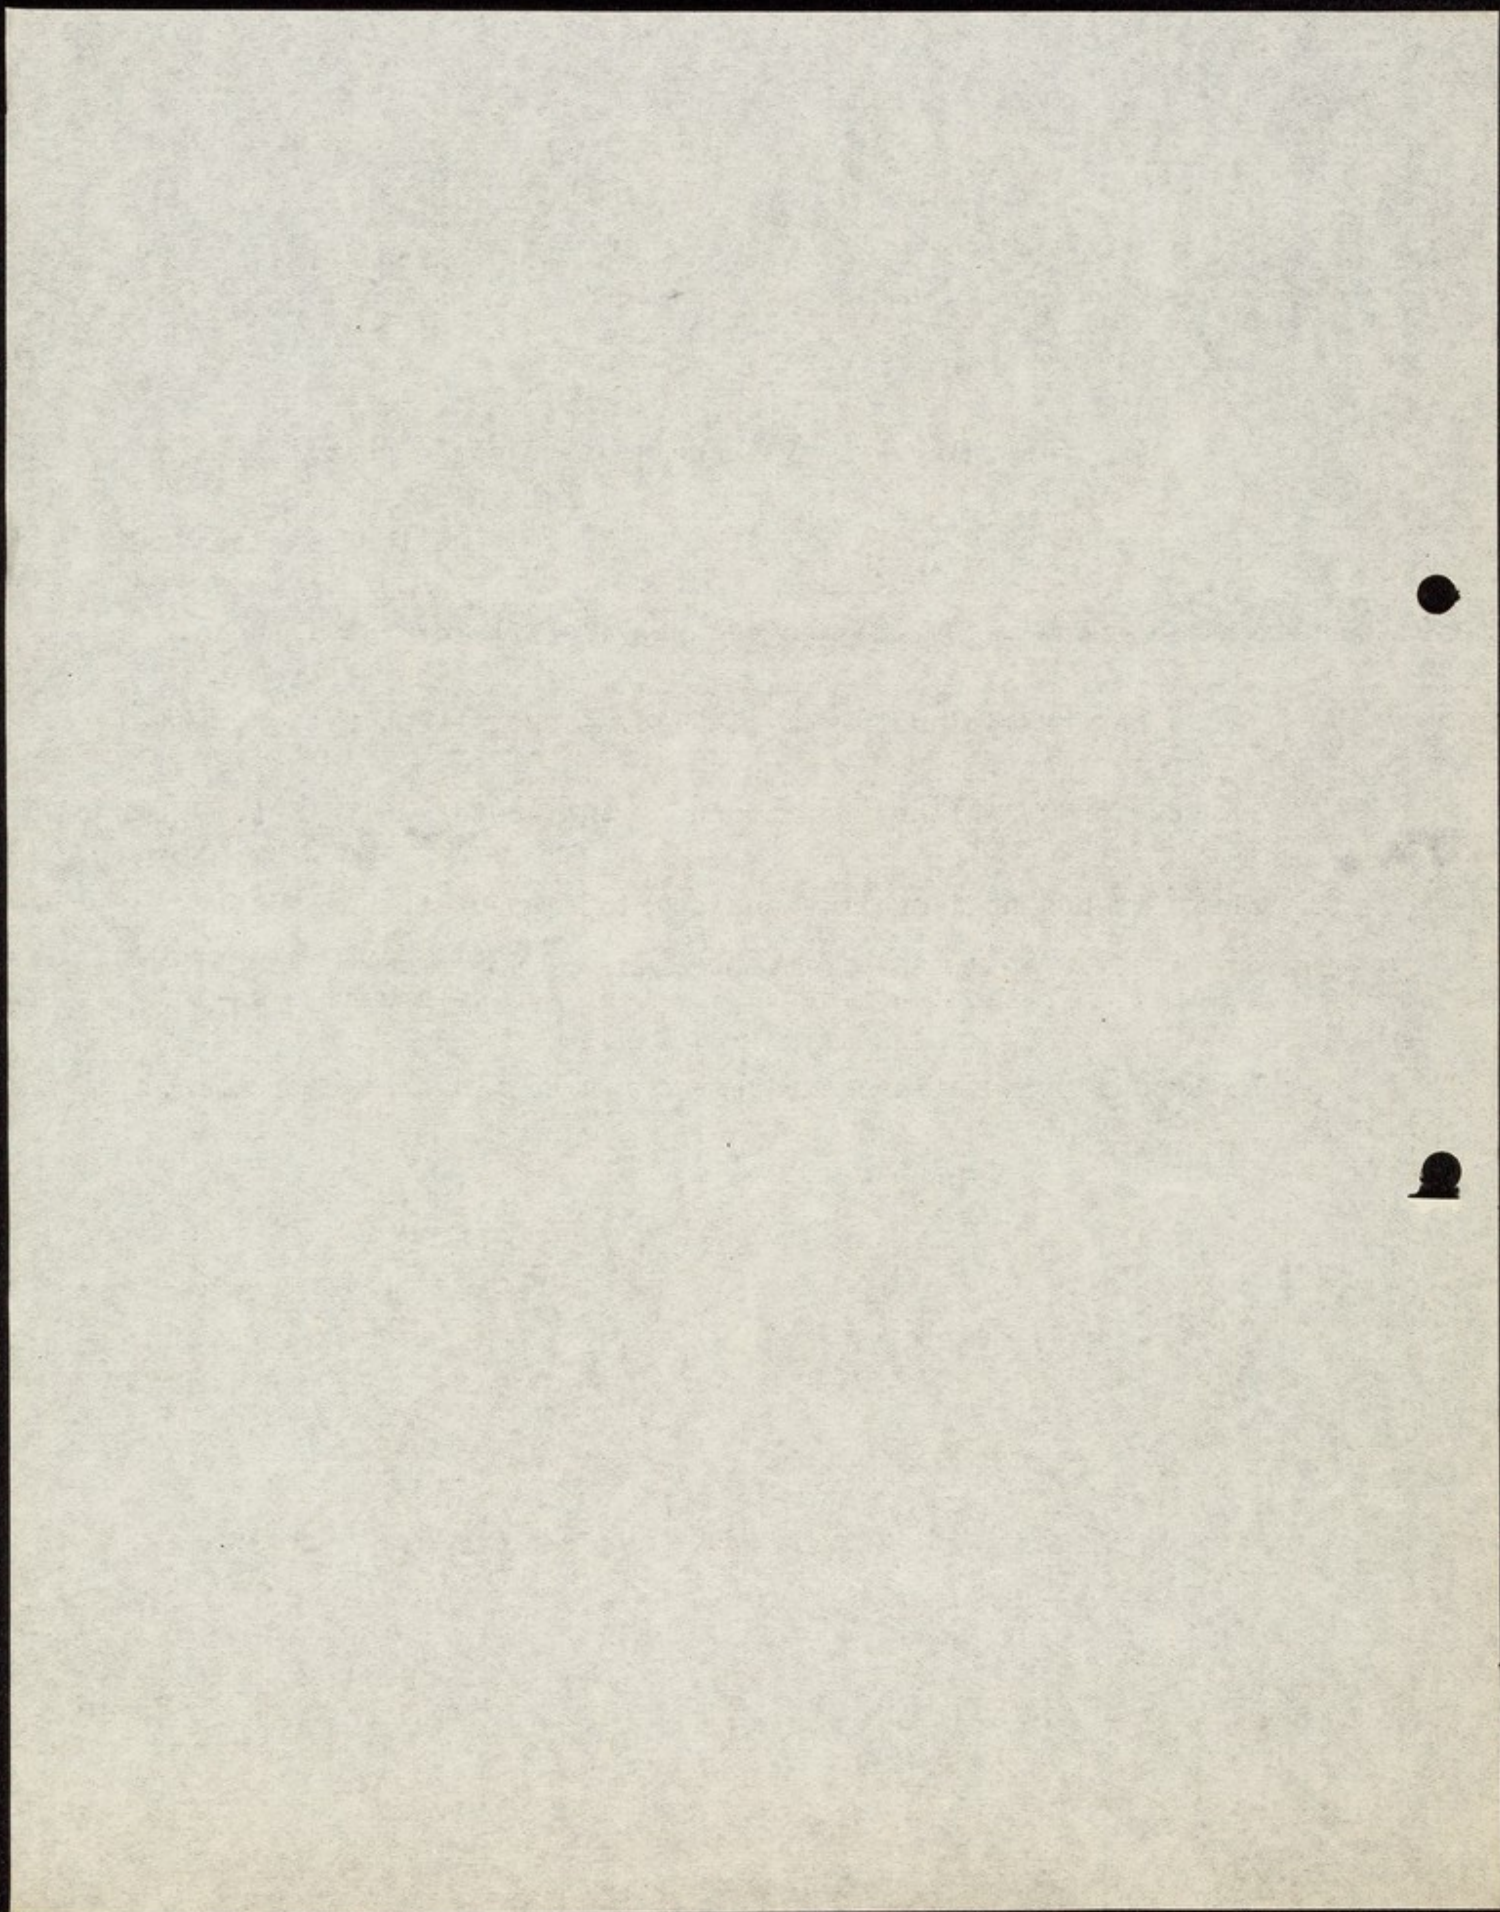

Dear Mr. Pickard,

I am glad to say there was a decided change for the better yesterday and Mr. Wright still remains less excited and more composed. He forgets many details of his illness.

He is now remaining quietly in bed. He sleeps better, and we hope there will be no return of the acute excitement.

There is now no immediate anxiety in respect to his bodily health. What we feared was that he would become exhausted if the intense excitement had continued much longer.

soon be a change for the better - I do not know whether it

George Wright left all his winter clothing off last Friday & changed into summer weight clothing so that I am sending his warmer things

Yours sincerely

Dear Sir:

M^{rs} Peabody of Plimouth asked me to forward some clothing for George Wright to-day, as several things were at the laundry it has proved impossible to send until to-morrow. I hope to despatch by 11.40 passenger train & it should arrive in York at 3 p.m. It appears that

Dear Sir
I have the pleasure to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th inst.

and in reply to inform you that the same has been forwarded to the proper authorities for their consideration and that you will receive their answer in due season
I am, Sir, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,

THE PALM LINE
SUPER STRONG

It is a great advantage to have a strong and durable line for writing
and drawing on it is very easy to write
and the lines are very clear
and distinct
I
am,
Sir,
very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
