Ap. 18. 1905

Mr. Wynne called to complain of her daughter's treatment.

Full enquiry was made - but one nurse had left who was concerned.

None of the charges made seem to me to be justified in the slightest.

They were -

- ①. complaints as to forcible feeding
- ② - as to patients being pushed & pulled.
- ③. That she was held up by the feet -
- ④. That nurses spoke to her cruelly -
  - (a) Relative to mother's visit
  - (b) to her treatment -
- ⑤. That patients are generally neglected.

The only suggestion that seems to me of further thought is embodied in the patient's memorandum ~~so~~ attached.

Mrs Wynne -

Food

When patients refuse food - then are fed by force -

Essi Refused milk pudding -

Then they are fed by tube -

Nurse broke her tooth - -

Nurse said she did not care if her teeth were broken - & she must be mastered - -

She has only told ~~me~~ Mr. Wynne these things lately -

Nurses treatment of patients is exceedingly rough -

Nurses pull & push -

Mr. Deshe - -

Says the nurse says

We <sup>allow</sup> ~~allow~~ you to be very ill but we never let you die -

When his mother left her - the sister said you ought to have gone with your mother you have lost your only chance - you will be here for life and Says the nurse washed her with spirit by force -

General neglect of the patients -

Mr. Henry Stills -

In the case of those patients who will probably never recover their former strength of mind, & yet never do any harm to anyone, or themselves, could not their friends be more encouraged to have them back again, even if they are not strong enough to battle with life?

The shelter of home-life might be a sufficient "retreat" for them.

And for those who have no home to go to, & no kind friends to welcome them back again, could not their lives be made happier & less monotonous by some interesting work or simple games during the hours which are spent indoors.

As Whittier puts it, when Adam & Eve lost Paradise, the curse of the ground was really their greatest blessing, for it made them have to work, & through toil bring back the beauty of Paradise.

We all know the saying "Satan finds some mischief still for idle hands to do" & if healthy people need work to keep them good & happy, how much more those who are liable by their very weakness to be a tool in Satan's hands, & do foolish acts for the sake of doing something.

Dear Dr. Pierce

You probably know that Mrs Wynn the daughter came Scarborough from York.

Hearing that I was on the Throscenty Comtee Mrs Wynn wrote asking if I would call & see her - when Wynn great astonishment, she complained of the treatment her daughter received at the Retreat.

I told her that her grievances should have been made to you, & she said she had fully intended seeing you, but you were away on her last visit.

I am hoping to go to Brydon on Monday - & as Mr. Wynn absolutely refuses to see you alone, I have consented to go with her if you can see her between 10 & 11 a.m.

I am extremely sorry that you should be troubled with Complaints of treatment of any patient - especially when such Complaints should have been made to you in the first place - but in common fairness it is only Successful. I should be grateful for any advice you can give as to her treatment at home. Of course the law of kindness rules in our home; but <sup>it</sup> is possible in spite of love & kindness that these queen states may return upon her at intervals.

Would you keep her in bed at such times?

Do you advise animal food even now once a day? I have reached the subject of painting & her teeth

Dear Mr. Wynne,

Many thanks for the cheque, duly received. I am pleased with your letter respecting the successful issue of the case; the more so as Miss Wynne, so I heard from her mother, had some painful recollections of her treatment when she was so very ill. The forcible feeding which was absolutely unavoidable if she was to recover at all I understood was thought by her to be unnecessary and not conducted in a sufficiently considerate manner. Perhaps this was not mentioned to you at all, but I do not feel justified in letting your letter pass without referring to this matter. When at its worst the case was a very painful one, and as so often happens the patient was not able to remember correctly all that happened. I need only add that there would have been no likelihood of her recovery had we not seen that the food was taken.

Dear Olive,

Thankyou for your letter. I dare say I shall see Shepherd when he returns into these parts. If he is ready for work in a month he certainly will do very well.

Miss Carrington is doing no good. She is anti-social and self centred; "egocentric" as a patient called it the other day; and by no means an agreeable patient. She walks about the grounds, crawling, when made to do so. Otherwise she lies on sofas or stands about. She is a poor creature.

Yours very truly,

Dear Mrs. Wynne,

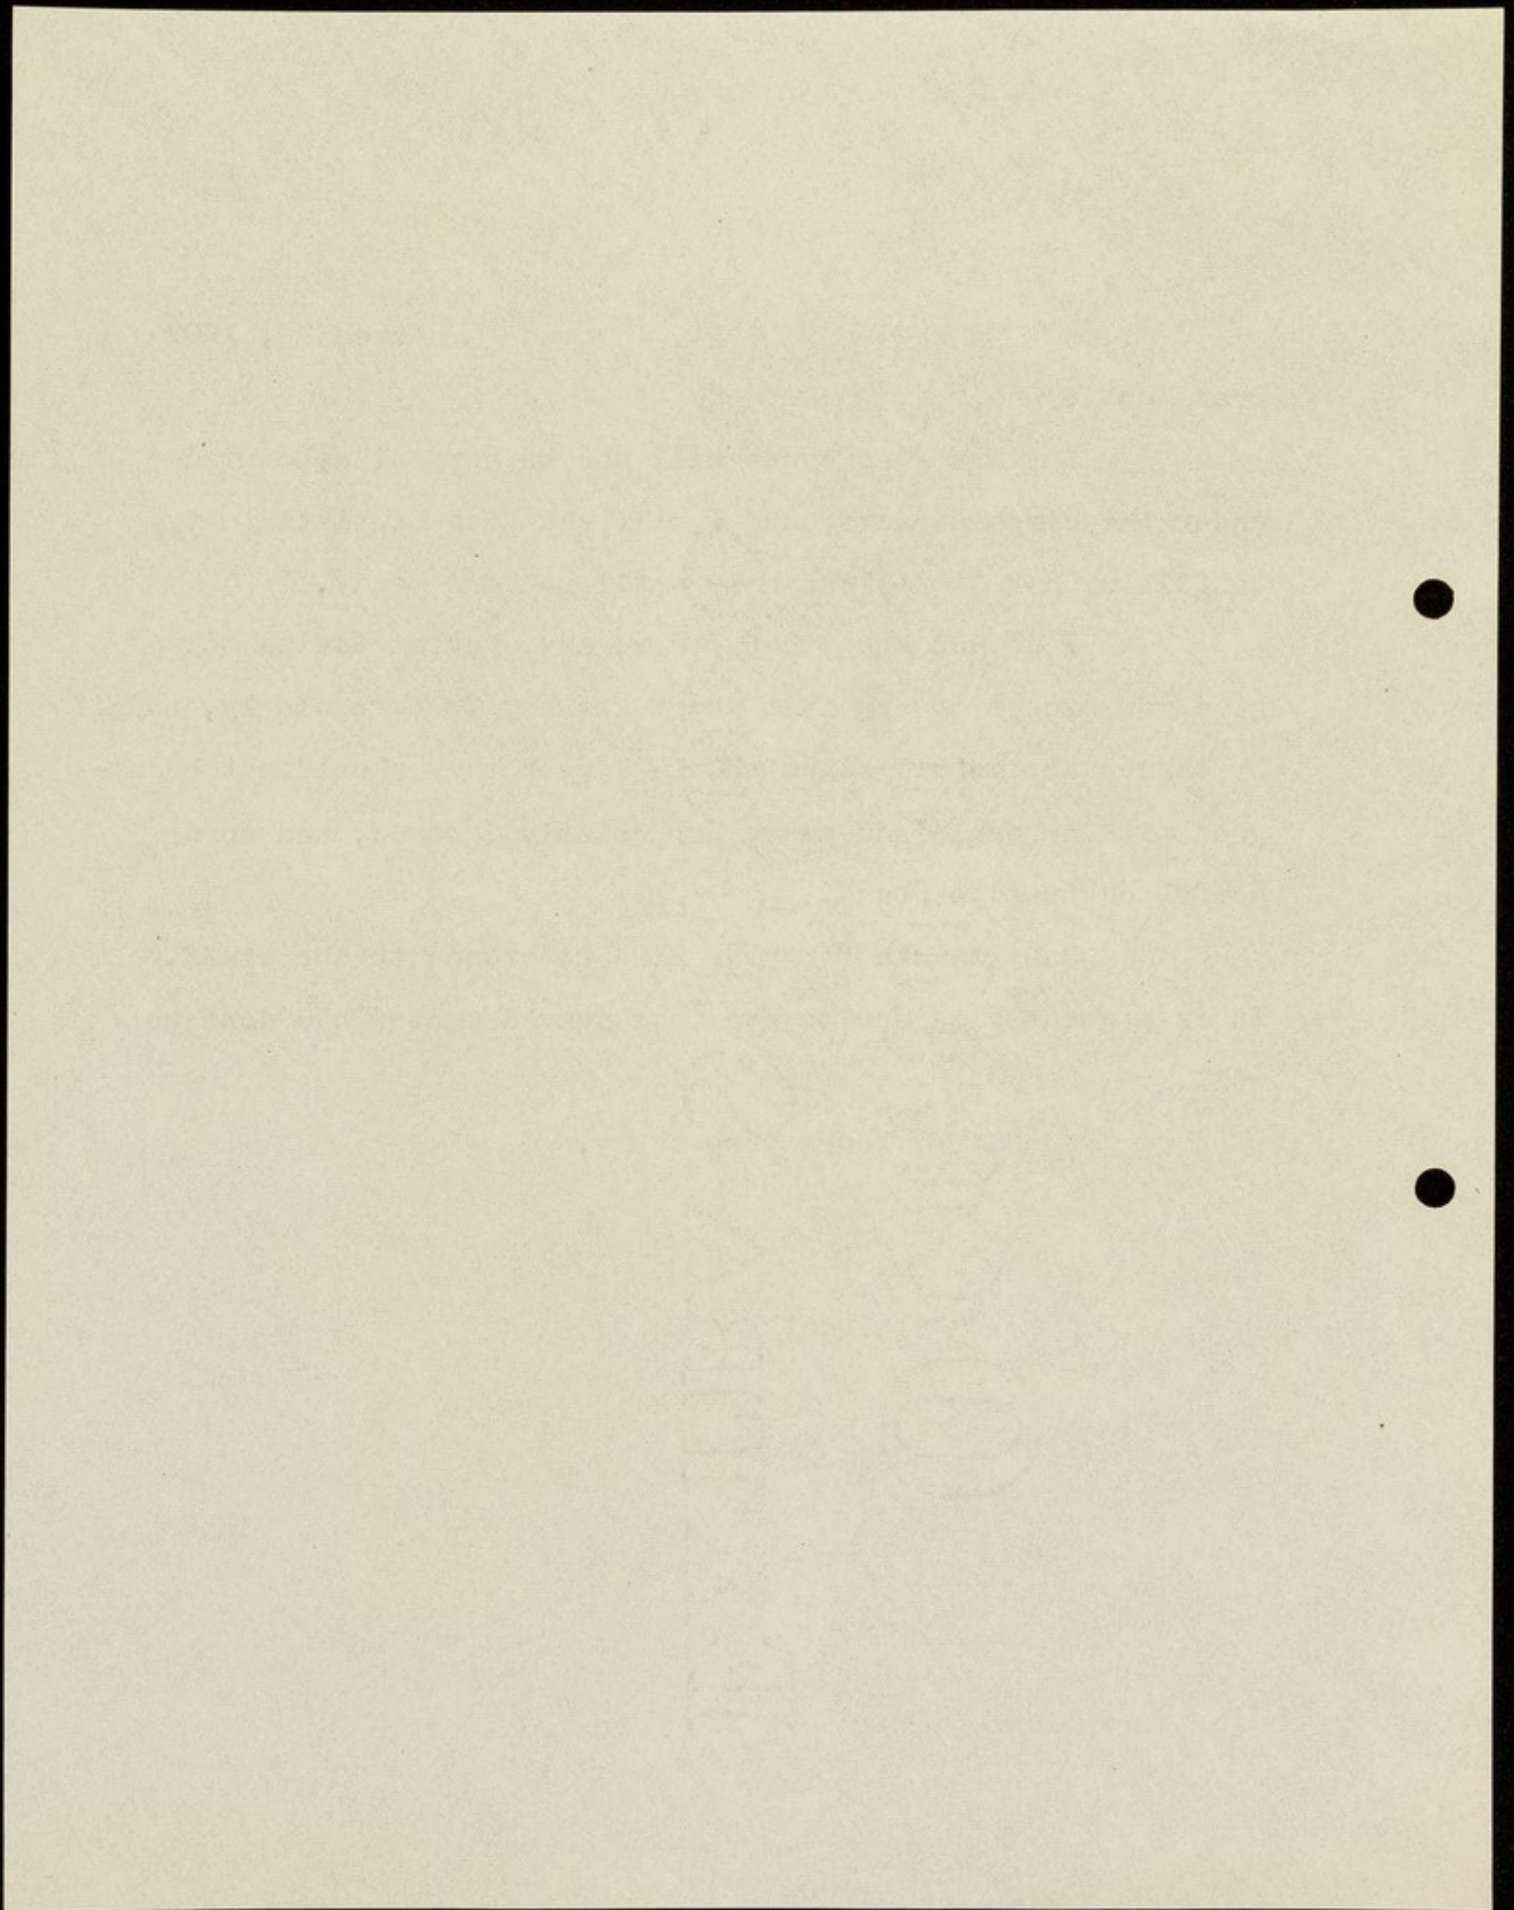

I think Miss Wynne will not be very disappointed under the circumstances, and I will ask Miss Lippiatt to try to fill up her time pleasantly until you are ready.

I do not know that I have any special advice to give you except to see that she takes her food regularly, and if by chance any morbid signs should appear they should not be argued with or explained away, but quietly ignored, and some useful occupation found.

Many thanks for your kind reference to the staff. It is a great pleasure to see that your daughter has done so well.

Dear P. Pierce

Thank you for your last letter.

I am extremely sorry to postpone my daughter's return for another week but circumstances have been very trying.

We decided some weeks ago that it would be much happier for her to come back to a home rather than lodgings; especially as she was taken ill in lodgings so many miles away from our old home at Lynton.

Grimsthy & Southport are the places where she was ill. Lynton much has pleasant associations. It is for a grand sub-soil & very healthy. However homes are not so easily found & only to-day have we been able to see the landlord & have the matter settled. As the house requires some painting &c. we cannot possibly get settled in before April 2nd or 3rd.

There are hardly any lodgings to be found here; consequently we are compelled to ac-complish the removal before we can find proper accommodation for my daughter.

Dear Mrs. Wynne,

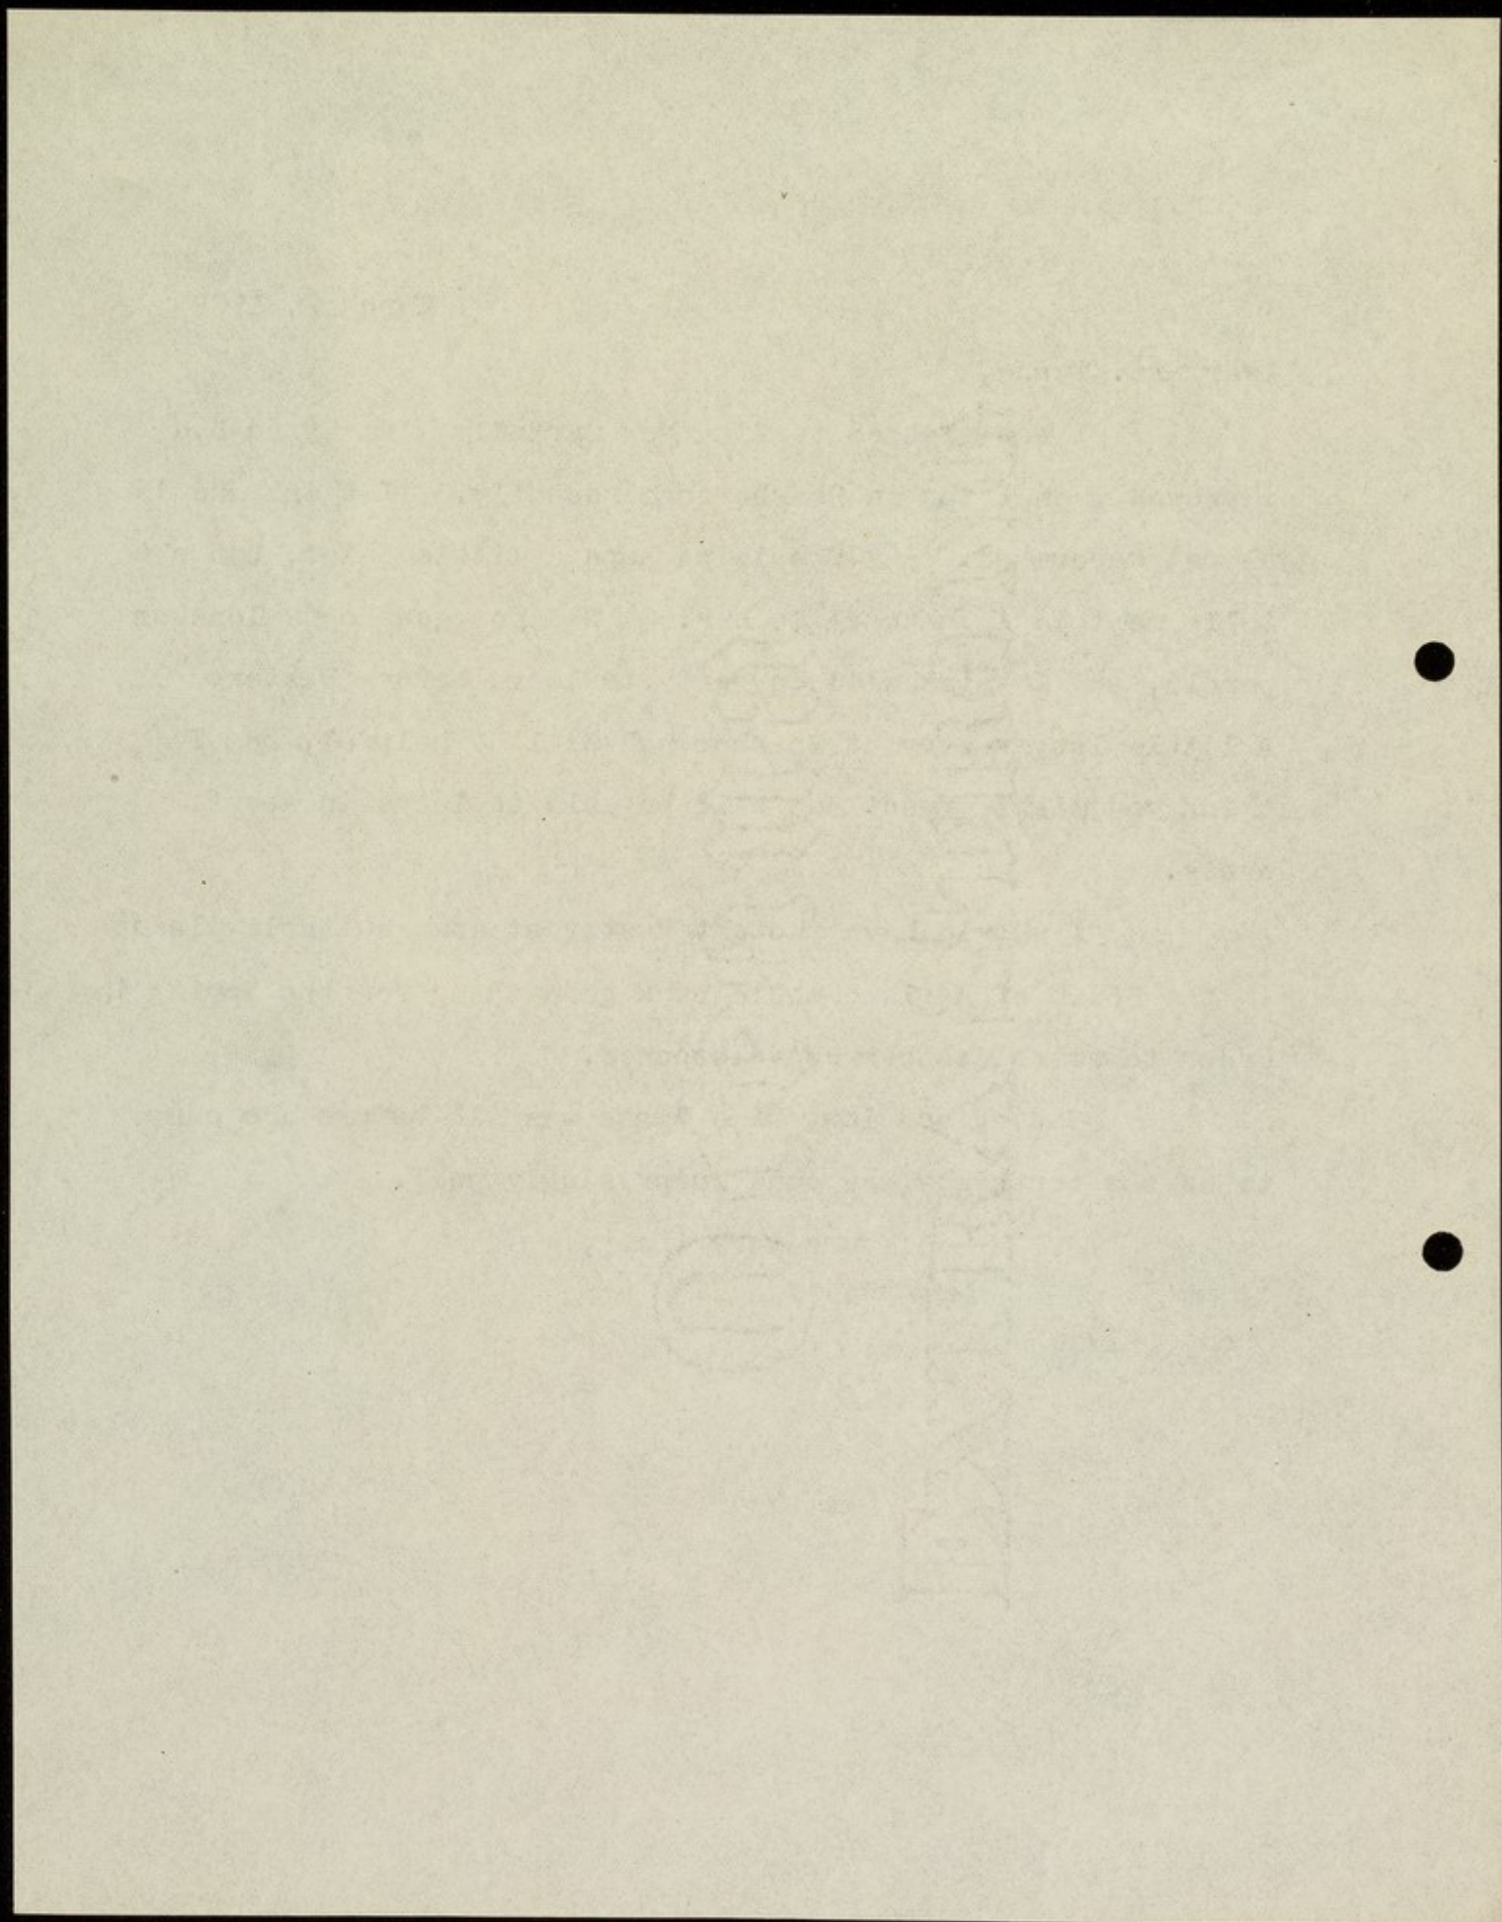

I was pleased to find how markedly Miss Wynne had improved when I was in Scarborough recently. I think she is almost recovered. She is perhaps a little quiet, but she tells me this is natural to her. She now goes out alone on parole, and I think will be ready to leave before Easter. A little longer stay at Scarborough will be helpful, but I think you might expect she will be able to leave in about 3 weeks.

I should have thought a stay at some suitable place in the South of England would be a good thing for the Spring in order to establish her convalescence.

Seeing how long Miss Wynne was ill before she came to us she certainly has done surprisingly well.

Dear Dr. Pierce

I am greatly obliged for Dr. Kemp's explicit letter.

I am extremely sorry about my daughter, but hardly surprised, as Sister said she was not as well as usual that day.

The circumstances sound grave. So her being right neither eating nor sleeping tells, are conditions that should be arrested.

Her associates, especially one, seem to have embittered her mind against the Institution & suggested some very undesirable conclusions. But that Jesse speaks unkindly of any one; when I made an inquiry she said
"Oh they are all right & not any worse than I am".

The question which arises in my mind is this,

Is it really her direct course in her case to separate her from those few for whom she has real or diminished affection?
This is no new feature.
She has always had an intense love of home & the home-folk; whenever away from home if distance would permit, would hasten back, if only for half-an-hour, several times a week.

A medical man recently privilege of the rich, & now see her wealthy friend's child with nurse & at-tendant in her own beautiful home.

There is there no way of reducing her scale of expenses at all, except including a nurse's fee; so that with two rooms in a country cottage I might be able to share her nursing of my child & take for her old self?

This suggestion is thrown out as an inquiry, but without any thought or desire to act in any way differently to what you would advise.

Kindly give me the best advice you can on the matter, for I need help very much.

I expect to return to Leeds shortly, & if you would like me to See Miss again before the expiration of the specified

Dear Mrs. Wynne,

I am glad to be able to report considerable improvement in your daughter's condition. She is much more connected in conversation, is beginning to be industrious and take an interest in things that are going on, and she worries very much less. She told me yesterday that she could see the desirability of staying longer at the Retreat and that it was well that she did not go home when she begged to do so. There is every reason to think that this improvement will continue as Miss Wynne is beginning to gain weight. We think it will not be very long before she can be removed to our branch house at Scarborough, but we are wishful not to make any hasty change as she is still easily upset. I enclose a report from the Sister in charge.

I think it will be well for you not to visit her at present, but by all means write and tell her that you have had a good report from me and let her know that she is looked upon as approaching convalescence.

Dear Mrs. Wynne,

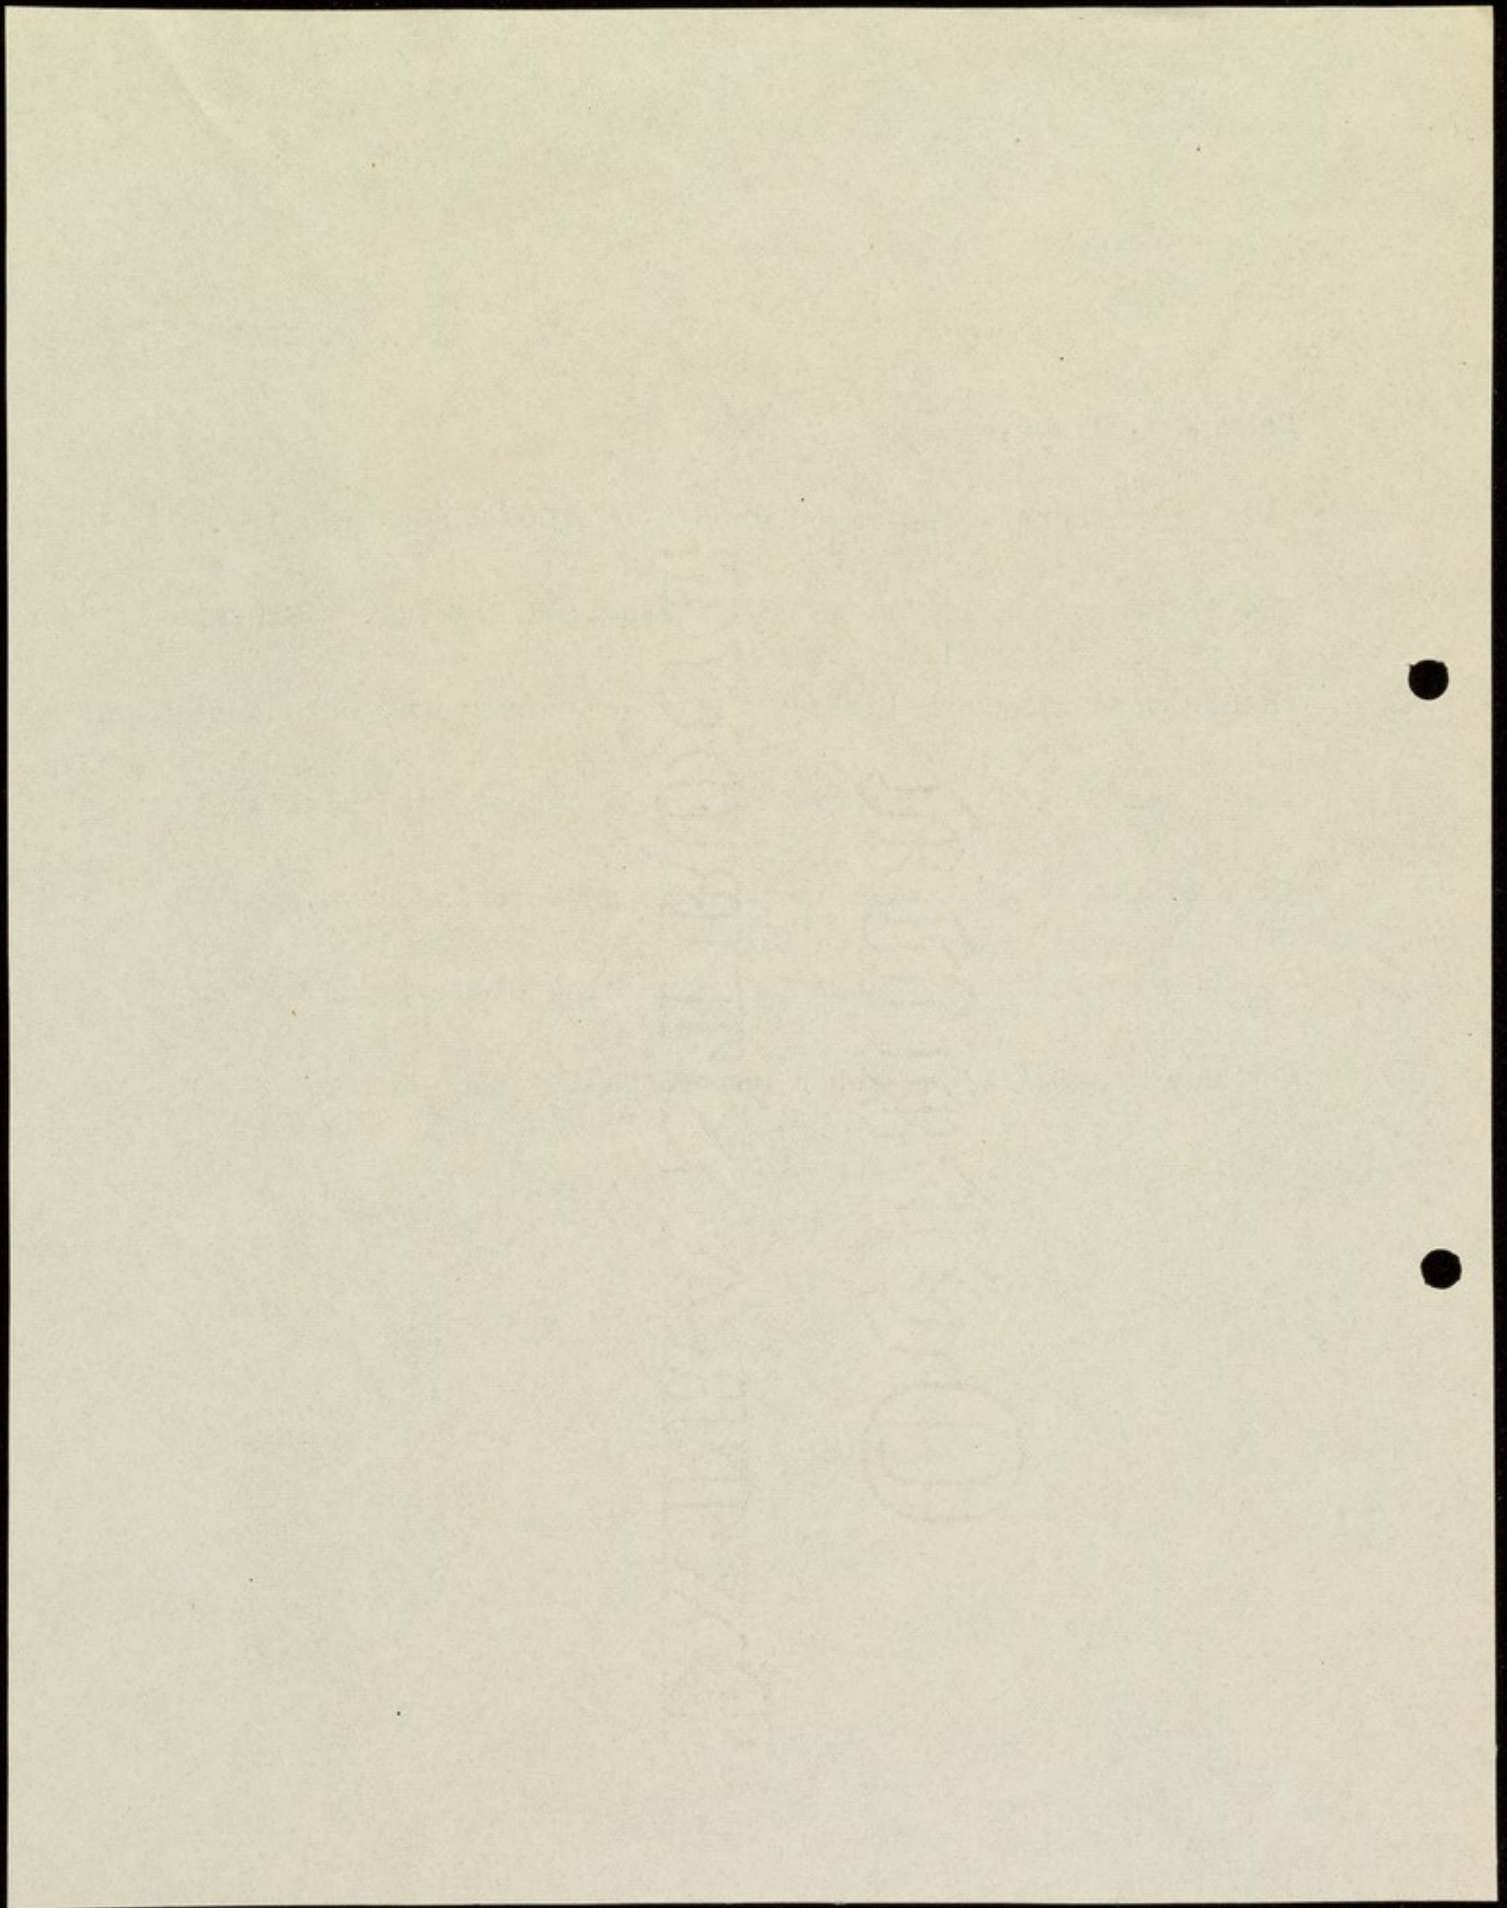

There is not much change in Miss Wynne's health.

She is perhaps a little less restless and fretful. She was rather specially bad the day after you were here, but since then there has been some improvement. I cannot but think that this is a case that will respond to persevering care.

With many thanks for your kind wishes, and hoping the new year will see you a united family once more,

Yours very truly,

Dear Dr. Pierce

My son's account of his visit to his sister was very cheering, & I feel very grateful to you & the nurses for the great care & attention she is receiving.

There is no doubt an delicate girl, & the rest in bed seems to have been nice treatment.

I am just writing to ask

I presume she shall

May I ask if her heart

Dear Dr. Pierce

It is very disappointing to me that my doctor will not consent to my going to see my dear Jessie. My health has given way so much since dear Jessie left us, & I suppose I shall not rally until the bright dry cool weather comes.

I should very much like to know if she is sleeping better than when you last wrote, if she really gets some hours of natural sleep now? I do want her to know that it is from no indifference that I have not heard.

Now we know certainly that I am not well enough at present to go to York, my son Cecil has consented to go in my place. Her will probably get over this week, though it may be Saturday. Should you consider it un-

Dear Mrs. Wynne,

I am sorry I cannot yet report any improvement in Miss Wynne's condition. She is sometimes very difficult to manage and impulsive, so that she cannot be dressed. Her mental state remains variable. Sometimes she remains sensible for some time, and at others she makes the most extraordinary statements.

I think there would be no harm in your coming to see her.

Dear Mrs. Wynne,

We find that Miss Wynne cannot rightly remain as a Voluntary Boarder. She says such outrageous things, and the other day in a quite aimless way tried to get out of a window. We have therefore been obliged to place her under closer supervision, and I have obtained two medical certificates which I enclose. I also enclose forms for the petition and magistrate's order. Will you kindly fill up the blanks in the petition and present it with the medical certificates to a Justice of the Peace in Liverpool. If you do not know of a Justice it is perhaps simplest to call on the stipendiary magistrate for the city, or failing this, the clerk to the Justices will assist you no doubt.

Although Miss Wynne says these extraordinary things she is by no means so unhappy as one might suppose. Indeed she says a good many things she really does not believe, and in this respect the case is a peculiar one, and I hope will not turn out to be as serious as it appears at first sight.

Yours very truly,

Dear Mr. Pierce

I shall be so very thankful to have a better report of our dear Jessie.

Insomnia is such a damaging condition for a weak heart.

There is a strong hereditary tendency to heart trouble on her father & mother & 2 brothers r a sister also died of heart disease.

She has been accus-

I trust she is tractable & willing to go out of doors a good deal.

Kindly let her hear sleeping better.

Yours will guide me & I am sure I am willing I am to come see my dear girl as soon as you consider it wise, you likely to soothe or comfort her.

I fear she is much lack of sleep alone would induce insanity

Dear J. Pierce

Thanks for your last letter to which I believe my son in Liverpool has replied. Although my sons have so generously undertaken the finan-cial question; I mean the responsibility of regularly providing it, I too have the privilege of sharing in it.

Now have I any regret for certain <sup>personal</sup> changes involved, so long as my beloved Jane continues benefit from your treatment, which I believe to be the best in the world.

I do not like to trespass on your valuable time & yet I should like to hear more frequently regarding my daughter's state.

Would you kindly allow her nurse, or your Secretary, or any one you prefer, to send me a few lines at least once a week? I am now longing to hear that she is able to sleep. It seemed dreadful to her taking the sedatives so long, for I feared it would only aggravate the real cause of trouble.

I enclose the prescrip-interest you, & can then be destroyed; I have no interest in keeping it.

My Son wrote

report. We have read it, & gather from it that Recent cases may be

My daughter was taken ill with Hysteria a month ago, apparently the result of insomnia, & though the Hysteria has not since been re-turned, she has not regained her natural to improve until she was permitted to dress

& that seemed to make her worse; the Doctor has been in attendance all the time, giving

She hardly gets any extremely anxious

My daughter is a

Are there any conditions of reduced fees for poorer members of the Society?

What stage of mental derangement must be reached by a patient before admission? I have been told that Public Asylums require as condition of admission that the patient shall have attempted violence on self or other, but I have been told that the conditions are not so strict with you.

Dear Sir

I am obliged for your favour of 18th inst.
Miss Wynne is without any means of her own & her mother is a widow with only a limited income which would not permit of any payment towards her daughter's expenses.

Under these circumstances any such charges will fall on her brothers' shoulders & though none of them are in affluent positions they are prepared to subscribe such an amount as would secure Miss Wynne's residence at the Retreat until she is better & without applying for assistance to the Monthly Meeting.

As you are aware Miss Wynne has been a member of the Society of Friends for very many years & taking all the circumstances into account I may say that the feeling in the family is that a contribution of £1 weekly would be in keeping & I trust that the Committee may see
