Sterilized Surgical Dressings.

THE dressings contained in the outfits are guaranteed to have been sterilized at a temperature of at least 260 degrees F. in High Pressure Autoclaves; and by means of a strong vacuum producing apparatus they are rendered perfectly dry.

The preparation of the dressings is carried out in specially designed laboratories and under rigorous control. The sterilizing and sealing chambers are dust and germ free. The rooms are constructed on the hospital operating theatre plan, filtered air being circulated by means of an elaborate electric fan system. In the sealing chamber, the dressings, etc., packed in patent metal drums, are removed from the Autoclave and immediately hermetically sealed.

The Dressings remain Aseptic for any length of time.

John Bell & Croyden, Ltd., are pleased to sterilize dressings to a surgeon's own requirements. These can be kept ready for use or specially prepared at short notice.

The outfits mentioned in this booklet are always in stock, and may be had, at any time of the day or night, from our Wigmore Street establishment.
