KING EDWARD'S SCHOOLS.

CHAPLAIN'S REPORT, 1862.

To the Right Worshipful the PRESIDENT,
the Worshipful the TREASURER, and the
GOVERNORS of King Edward's Schools.

MY LORDS AND GENTLEMEN,

I have the honor to present to you my Report on the state of your Schools for the year 1862.

During that year there were

Admitted.				Discharged.

There were remaining in the Schools on the 31st of December—

The candidates for admission were selected almost exclusively from the destitute classes : only five boys and one girl having committed any offence which rendered them liable to the punitive laws of the country, and it would not be fair to stigmatize even these as criminals, inasmuch as they had not been sent to prison, and their offences were of the most trifling kind. I cannot too sincerely congratulate you on this fact. The association of criminal children with those who have not so fallen, cannot fail to exercise a most pernicious influence on the latter, and to degrade the general character of the School. And it is to the strictness with which the Committee of Governors have adhered to the fundamental rule which requires them to "constitute the School as an Institution for the prevention of crime, rather than for the Reformation of juvenile criminals," that I attribute it that we have been enabled to place so large a number of boys in the Navy and Army, and to procure situations for the girls in the families of the middle,—and in some instances,—of the upper classes of society. The Naval and Military Authorities decline, and with justice I think, to make Her Majesty's Service a refuge for the criminal population. The honor of serving the Queen—the good pay and kind treatment so liberally provided for our soldiers and sailors ought surely to be reserved for those who have hitherto paid obedience to the laws of their country, and have persevered, oftentimes amidst much temptation, in the paths of honesty and rectitude. The heads of private families also, not unreasonably shrink from the responsibility of introducing the inmates of prisons within the sanctity of the domestic circle. I trust that we shall continue to maintain this feature of our School, which distinguishes it so broadly from the Reformatory. I rejoice that there are many institutions now existing, liberally assisted by the public purse, and fostered by private benevolence, where juveniles of both sexes who have unhappily fallen into crime may be admitted and reclaimed. But while so much is being done for the criminal, it would be unjust indeed, if the honest were left unaided and uncared for. And I am glad to think that we have had it in our power to give the shelter of a home to so many boys and girls, who, but for such assistance, might have fallen into vicious and dishonest ways. We have thus helped on the Reformatory movement in the more excellent way of prevention.

The boys who left us during the past year have been disposed of as follows :—

To the Royal Navy.....	54
To the Army	3
To the Merchant Sea Service.....	4
To Situations in Trades	12
Returned to their Friends	33
Sent Home ill	5

111

No boys have been expelled for bad conduct, and none have absconded. I continue to receive the most satisfactory reports of the conduct of our boys who have joined the Royal Navy. These boys now join the Service on board the training ships, and usually remain there one year at least before going on active service abroad. Their education is most carefully attended to, and their comfort and rational amusement promoted in every conceivable way. No part of my duty is more pleasant than my visits to these ships from time to time with fresh drafts of boys from our School. I am thus enabled to keep up my acquaintance with former inmates for a considerable time after they have left us, and to hear from their officers how they are going on. I requested the Chaplain of H. M. Ship Boscawen to give me his candid opinion of our boys, and I cannot resist the temptation to insert an extract from his reply in my present report. He says, "In answer to your question relating to the general character of the boys you have sent from your School to this ship, I have much pleasure in saying that their general character is good. This is applicable to all you have sent us for the last two years. We have now 23 on board, and I always look with pleasure on a fresh draft from your School: for a boy to belong to King Edward's Schools is, in my estimation, a certificate of good character." The number of letters I receive from abroad from our sailor boys consumes no small portion of my time in reading and replying to them. They all contain expressions of gratitude and personal regard which are most gratifying to me, and would be, I am sure, most pleasing to the Governors, did the limits of this Report allow the insertion even of extracts. I may, however, mention, that a few months ago, two boys belonging to the Admiral's ship at the Cape of Good Hope sent me home, one £11. 10s., and the other £4., to add to their accounts in the School Savings Bank,—a fact creditable alike to the frugality of the boys and the liberality of the Service.

One other circumstance I will record, because it made, I believe, a deep impression upon the Members of the Committee who were present when it was brought to notice. A poor destitute boy had applied to be entered at one of the Training ships, but was rejected because he could neither read nor write. Upon this fact being known to some of our former inmates who were on board, they collected together, and from their pocket money contributed a sufficient sum to pay his fare to London, in order that he might be admitted into King Edward's School, and obtain the same educational advantages they had themselves received. It is needless for me to add that their wishes were at once attended to by the Committee, and the boy admitted.

THE GIRLS' SCHOOL.

Fifty-five girls have left us during the last year. They have been disposed of as follows:—

Outfitted and sent to Situations	40
Removed at request of Friends	8
Sent Home ill	4
Expelled	2
Died	1

55

The conduct of the female inmates has, generally speaking, been exceedingly good ; and the Matron continues to receive more applications for servants than she can supply. She frequently visits the former inmates in their situations, and seldom receives a bad report from their employers.

One poor girl died in the School during the last year. She was an orphan, and was in bad health when she was admitted. She ultimately fell into a decline, and notwithstanding the careful treatment of the Medical Officers, died after a little more than a year's residence in the Institution.

On the 3rd of July the Schools were examined by H. M. Inspector, in the presence of the Treasurer and several other Governors. I insert the Report.

“Examined the Schools. Considering the short time the children remain in this Establishment, and the uninstructed state in which they are on entering, I think they shew great skill and diligence in those who have had the management of them.

“E. C. TUFNELL,

H. M. Inspector of Schools.”

Two hundred and twenty-one boys, and thirty-two girls, former inmates of the School, attended the Committee during the year with certificates of good conduct from their employers, and received the customary reward of £1. each. Of these, 82 boys and 17 girls were rewarded for the first time, 79 boys and 10 girls for the second time, and 60 boys and 5 girls for the third time. This is the largest number ever rewarded in one year.

Through the liberal kindness of the Governors, the elder boys and girls, with the attendants, were permitted to visit the Great Exhibition, and were much gratified, and I hope instructed, by the indulgence.

In concluding this Report, I think I may fairly congratulate you on the successful results of our labours during the past year. It is my earnest hope that, with the Divine blessing, the Institution may continue to prosper. Expressing my grateful acknowledgements of the courtesy and kindness I have ever experienced at your hands,

I remain,

My Lords and Gentlemen,

Your obedient Servant,

EDWARD RUDGE,

Chaplain and Superintendent.

BETHLEM HOSPITAL.

R E P O R T.

To the Right Worshipful the PRESIDENT, the Worshipful the TREASURER, and the GOVERNORS of the Royal Hospital of Bethlem.

MY LORDS AND GENTLEMEN,

It has been my duty to prepare the accustomed Statistical Tables of this Hospital; but I feel satisfied I shall not in vain entreat your indulgence, either for the brevity of this Report, or for omitting to bring before you in detail many interesting matters, when you remember how short a time has elapsed since I had the honor of being elected your Resident Physician.

During the past year one hundred and eighty-nine patients were admitted. This number comprises one hundred and sixty-three patients received on the curable list, and twenty-six Criminal Lunatics, admitted under the authority of Warrants bearing the Queen's Manual, or issued by the Secretary of State for the Home Department.

During the same period one hundred and thirty-nine patients were discharged. Of these eighty-one returned to their families restored to health; forty-eight were discharged uncured; and ten discharged by your Committee for special reasons. In addition to which sixteen have died; and nineteen criminal patients have been either discharged or removed by the usual official process.

On the 1st of January, 1863, three hundred and thirty-three patients remained on the books of the Hospital, classed in the following order:—

			Males.	Females.	Total.
Curable	56	75	131
Incurable	35	35	70
Criminals	112	20	132

By this you will observe that the number resident was greater than has been for some previous years; and the number of recoveries has not been less than the average of the last ten years.

The table of deaths includes one patient who had been resident in the Hospital for forty-one years, and who died at the age of seventy-nine; her face was familiar to many of the Governors, the character of her delusions being such as always called forth their interest and sympathy.

Six patients have sunk under insidious disease of the heart or lungs; and careful as your Committee have been to refuse cases of paralysis, which are by the Rules of the Hospital specially exempted from admission, four have died of that disease, and several now remain in the Hospital in a helpless condition, and require the constant and anxious attention of their Nurses.

This can only be accounted for by the knowledge that this disease, though always proving fatal, is in its incipient stage frequently obscured by other symptoms of mental derangement, and when a suspicion only is raised by its presence, your Committee have invariably felt it was more in accordance with the spirit of the Charity to give the applicant the benefit of the doubt.

Your Medical Officers felt grateful for your kindness in recognizing and carrying out the suggestion made in the last Annual Report, which recommended that some change of air and scene should be afforded to those patients on the permanent list whose mental condition permitted them to enjoy such relaxation, since, during the summer months, eight patients visited the sea-side for some weeks in company with their Nurses and Attendants, and returned to the Hospital with a marked improvement in their physical health, with grateful hearts, and without a single misadventure.

I must not omit to record the liberality of the Committee in making arrangements that both patients, Nurses, and Attendants, should have opportunities of visiting the International Exhibition ; the privilege was enjoyed by all those who were able to accept it, and no less than sixty patients were considered well enough to participate.

As might have been expected the Hospital was visited during the summer months by an unusual number of Foreigners and others interested in the treatment of the insane. Many of these have left flattering records of their inspection in the Visiting Book.

The Hospital has this year sustained a great loss by the translation of Dr. Hood to a higher post in his profession.

Most of his late Colleagues have been associated with him for ten years, and during this time nothing but harmony and good feeling has existed between them. They congratulate him on his improved position, but lament that he has ceased to act with them as an officer.

I must record the kindness my colleagues have shown me during the time I have been your Resident Physician, and also the great assistance they have rendered me since my duties have been thus increased.

This is only a continuation of the good feeling which has been maintained ever since we have been associated.

On a future occasion I hope to be permitted to draw your attention to many other objects of interest connected with your Hospital, but I will now, for the reason I have already assigned, content myself with expressing how deeply I feel the honor you have conferred upon me, by appointing me your Resident Physician; and ever bearing in mind the responsibility I have accepted, I will earnestly endeavour to devote that attention to the duties of my office and to the wishes of the Governors, which will, I hope, secure for me their confidence, and at the same time protect the Hospital and its inmates from any loss of its present high character.

I have the honor to be,

My Lords and Gentlemen,

Your very obedient Servant,

W. HELPS, M.D.

January 26, 1863.

It is a well known fact that the human mind is not a blank slate at birth, but is filled with a variety of impressions and ideas. These impressions are the result of the environment in which the individual is raised, and they are the foundation upon which the mind builds its knowledge and understanding of the world.

The mind is a complex and mysterious organ, and its functions are not fully understood. However, it is clear that the mind is capable of a great deal of thought and reasoning, and it is the source of all human knowledge and achievement.

TABLES

The following tables are intended to provide a summary of the data collected during the course of the investigation. They are arranged in alphabetical order, and each table is preceded by a brief description of the data it contains.

Table I. A summary of the data collected during the course of the investigation. This table contains information on the number of subjects, the age range, and the distribution of subjects by sex and race.

Table II. A summary of the data collected during the course of the investigation. This table contains information on the number of subjects, the age range, and the distribution of subjects by sex and race.

The Hospital is repaid by Government, on account of Criminal Lunatics, the wages of ten male and two female attendants, with an allowance of £35. per annum each for maintenance and clothing.

The wages of male attendants commence at £25. per annum, and they increase, if their conduct be satisfactory, £1. yearly afterwards, until they become £35. per annum, after which no further increase is allowed; Attendants in charge of a Ward are allowed £5. per annum extra. Female attendants commence at any amount not exceeding £18. per annum, and after they increase with like restriction £1. yearly, until they become £25. per annum, after which no further increase is allowed. The wages of male attendants were permitted, previous to the year 1841, to increase to £60. per annum.
