FIFTEENTH REPORT.

The value of an Asylum for the Insane, possessing the readiest and best means for restoring the recoverable, and of safety and comfort for those who are not so, is inestimable to the Patients, their Friends, and to Society: nor can a Public Asylum be considered as having fully accomplished the intentions of its founders, or satisfied just expectation, until these objects shall have been carried out to the fullest extent, which its means will allow. It will be gratifying to the Governors of this Institution to know that the improvements, which have been effected in the construction and arrangements of the house and grounds, have been followed, not only by an extraordinary amelioration of the treatment and condition of the Patients, but also by a cessation of suicidal and other fatal accidents*, and by an increased proportion of Recoveries effected in a reduced space of time; objects of deep importance in a humane point of view, and (as Mr. Farr justly remarks) also as a matter of economy.

Of the great extent to which the general condition of the Patients has been ameliorated, some judgment may be formed from a review of its early state. Then might be seen (amidst the Quiet and Convalescent Patients,) some in Strait Waistcoats, or wearing padded iron Collars, heavy cumbrous leathern Muffs, Belts with Manacles, solid iron Wristlocks, jointed iron Leglocks, or Hobbles;—or in Dresses inappropriate to their sex, to accommodate habits, which the use of Instruments confining the fingers had too often induced; while others were sitting locked in massive Chairs with lime strewed underneath, or were secluded in solitary Cells; -and these cruel substitutes for a steady system of Watchfulness, but a prelude to the still greater miseries of nights to be spent under the same wretched system of restraints, painfully sacrificing the freedom and ease of the Patients to the leisure, or misemployment, or inadequate number of the Attend-Such treatment has gradually given way, as a slowly acquired experience of the tractability of the Insane under a milder management, gave confidence and courage. At last Severity of every kind has disappeared, through the zealous co-operation* of the present House Surgeon, who by an honest and determined application of the means placed at his disposal, has carried out the system of mitigation to the unhoped for result of an actual abolition; of the practice of personal restraint; not any

*A late trial at York, concerning a fatal rencontre between two Lunatic Patients confined in an Asylum, both under personal restraint, proves that restraints are not of themselves a sufficient protection even against the worst effects of mutual violence.

*"We hope the time is near, when the conviction will be more strongly felt than it has hitherto been, that the ultimate success of an institution in which human beings are assembled together, whether for instruction, support, correction, or physical cure, must depend almost if not entirely, on the strength of character and moral fitness for the situation, of the individual who is placed at its head. Whether it be a school, a work-house, an Asylum, or a prison, no committee of managers, or set of visitors, can ever hope to be able to bring it into a thoroughly prosperous state, unless their intentions are seconded and carried into execution by the individual, who is in reality the executive head of the whole".

Monthly Chronicle, February, 1839, page 183.

"Without efficient Officers, honestly and zealously willing to co-operate with the Authorities, no superintendance, no Rules can be of any permanent use. An unwilling Officer can thwart the best arranged plans, without subjecting himself to any specific charge: he can contrive that an improved system shall not answer, or can arrange that any convenient plan of his own shall become necessary, or can affect to misunderstand: or can distress Officers who are houest in their duty, or can countenance a faction of an opposite character, or can raise difficulties, and may always avoid offering expedients."

Reports on prisons, transmitted to the Secretary of State, in 1827. [Lincoln Castle.]

+In order to become personally assured of the effect produced upon the Disorderly Patients by the Substitution of a system of Watchfulness instead of Restraints, the House Surgeon spent 3 hours daily for 38 out of 40 successive days in the Months of March and April of the present year among these particular Patients and their attendants: and had the satisfaction to witness good order preserved, without either violence or intimidation on the part of the latter, throughout the whole period.

instance * of which has now occurred for a period of more than twenty-three successive months.

The Severity of an Asylum does not, as is supposed, consist in the outrage, blows, and active ill-usage occasionally brought to light, and which may be prevented by a Superintendent having any claim to humanity or attention, and who has eyes to see bruises and a voice to ask their origin:—Its torturing effect lies in the aching of limbs forcibly detained in one position, especially during the night, forbidden the ease and alleviation of change, with confined irritability for which nature has opened the vent of free motion, monotony, the feeling of oppression, surrounding miasma, contempt, and neglect:—all much more keenly felt than occasional violence, and sometimes prompting fatal acts of revenge or despondency.

Lunatics do not lose with their reasoning Faculties their bodily susceptibilities, although occasionally perverted. It is true that they have been known to bear extreme privations of Warmth, Food, fresh Air, Cleanliness, and kind Attention, without complaint or other sign of suffering. But, as fire will scorch a paralysed limb, notwithstanding that the sense of feeling may be suspended or lost, so will cold, meagre and unwholesome diet, foul air, filth, and a neglect of all the common decencies and comforts and enjoyments of humanity, injure health and shorten life, whether any consciousness of the mischief in progress may be exhibited or not.

Lunatics have not been indebted to an affected or misdirected tenderness, which, while it has guarded them from the supposed inconveniences of the public eye, has at the same time deprived them of its protection. Strangers who inspect Asylums for the Insane, ought, as a matter of public duty, not to be contented with merely observing the more prominent arrangements of the Buildings and Grounds, the Work-rooms and modes of Employment of a portion of the Patients, the eccentric habits of others, often of a lively and amusing character; novelties too well calculated to strike the imagination, and divert attention from the far more important examination of the condition of those other inmates, who usually inhabit the more retired parts of the premises, perhaps suffering under various modes of restraint, or secluded in cells, or bound down in bed*. An inspection of the state of this Class of the Patients and their accommodation, may be considered as affording the unerring test of sound Government. efficient Visitation, and good Official Management. such inspection is avoided or evaded, reasonable suspicion must be entertained of a laxity in some or all of these departments, however imposing may be the exterior or high the character; and that the Privacy† professed to be necessary for the Patients, is only a plea for concealing negligent Superintendance. As the prejudices against Lunatic Asylums, and the grounds for them, have both had their origin and growth under a systematic exclusion of the public eye, so will both disappear under its honest Admission. Independent and Casual Inspection has frequently led to the detection of abuse, where Official inspection had failed; habit soon reconciles accustomed eyes. A single inspection of an Asylum conducted on wholesome principles, reverses all the

&quot;On the Continent, as at Aversa near Naples, there is much in the institutions ad captandum vulgus—for instance, at the place above-mentioned we find a Theatre considered a necessary appendage, there are Billiard-rooms, &c., &c. I am not deprecating these, but when I was only allowed to view one third of the institution, and that in company of ALL the Superior Medical Officers, I was inclined to laugh at the baubles which were in full view to attract all eyes. There is no Clap-trap in the management of this Institution—and from its Situation it possesses perhaps greater capabilities than any other in Europe. Sonnestein near Dresden can, in this respect, alone be compared with it.

+ How strong is the disposition to exclude the public eye under such circumstances may be learnt from the fact, that when, on a late occasion, a Stranger exposed some abuses he had witnessed in the treatment of Idiots confined in an Union-house, which, if not unobserved, had become familiar to the Official Visitors, an order was passed for the future exclusion of Strangers from this department preconceived notions of strangers concerning the intractable nature of insanity, and exposes the hollow pleas for severity and concealment.

A happy natural turn for statistical inquiry has led the House Surgeon of this institution, to devote his leisure hours to the preparation of various Returns showing the state of the Patients, and has produced a valuable accession to a department, so necessary for sound practical deduction. Returns of this description require the strictest accuracy, and an uncompromising determination not to adapt the plan of the Tables so as to mitigate results, which may seem to indicate a bearing contrary to the views of the person employed. For instance, any Return of Recoveries, from which have not been deducted Re-admitted cases previously discharged as Recovered, must be fallacious; as must also any Return of Deaths, where the whole of the Re-admitted cases have not been deducted from the numbers on which the Return is made. In the one instance the true proportion of Recoveries would be unduly multiplied; in the other the true proportion of Deaths would be disguised.

Religious duty upon the Lord's day was beneficially introduced some years ago, and the present House Surgeon has cheerfully, on an intimation from the Board, now also introduced the practice of Evening Prayer for all Patients, with whom they might not be deemed inappropriate. And this approach to the respectable domestic habits of an orderly well-governed family, has been productive of good effects.

Among the improvements of detail may be enumerated, the removal of all projecting windows, a source of danger to Suicidal Patients.—Boarded floors are in course of substitution for stone throughout all the day and night apartments of the Patients. It cannot be too strongly impressed, that the radiation of cold is one of the most injurious depressing agents upon a Lunatic; and that nothing but a boarded floor can secure the warmth of any apartment, beyond the size to be found in a small cottage.—An ingenious watch-clock has been adopted in the night galleries, from which it is known in the morning, whether any single quarter of an hour has been neglected by the person left in attendance.

In order to familiarize the Governors with the general arrangements of the Institution, the Routine of the Ordinary and Periodical business of the Boards, and a list of the Official Books in use, are published with this Report. The whole machinery of the Management, hitherto imperfectly seen in all its parts and bearings, will thus be made intelligible; and a regularity of proceeding is ensured, which will not allow of the inadvertent neglect of any fixed provision or arrangement.

Among the Benefactions lately made to this Institution by benevolent individuals, must be announced the munificent sum of £500 from some unknown friend of humanity, who may rest well assured that the means, so nobly placed at the disposal of the Board, shall not be unemployed or misapplied.
