GENERAL HEALTH.

ALTHOUGH the House has been so greatly and unprecedentedly over-crowded during the entire year, the physical health of the inmates has been surprisingly good, and no epidemic of any consequence made its appearance within the walls.

DEATHS.

Twenty-four Deaths in the aggregate occurred during the year, fourteen of whom were males, and ten females, and all from natural causes. Those being-viz., Exhaustion from acute and continued mania, six (one male, five females); Senile Decay, five (three males, two females); General Debility, four (two males, two females); Cerebral Disease, three (males); Pulmonary Consumption, three (two males, one female); Epilepsy, two (males); Paralysis, complicated with Epilepsy, one (male). Several of the deceased were inmates for prolonged periods—One (male), thirty-seven years nearly; one (female), twenty-five years; one (female), twenty-one years; one (female), twenty years; one (male), eighteen years; one (male), thirteen years; one (male), twelve years; one (female), six years; three (males), between two and five years. Of the remainder, four (two males, two females), were between two and five months; two (male and female), five weeks; one (male), four weeks; two (males), three weeks; two (females), two weeks; one (female), one week; one (male), six days. The senior as to time of residence in this list was a weaver by trade, and throughout employed himself very industriously and usefully at his loom in the weaver's shop of the Institution. He outlived all belonging to him, and never expressed any desire to obtain his liberty, being perfectly contented with his lot and position as he was, and which he imagined to be that of a Divine Being, and occasionally would stop at his work, and preach a sermon for the benefit of those around him, his hearers listening to him with varied attention. Another, the female who had her home here for twentyone years, laboured under the strange delusion that she was a "monument," from the circumstance of her having found a stone image, as she stated, when she was engaged in planting potatoes, on which was written that its finder was to become a monument from henceforth. She continued in this strange delusion to the last; and, during her illness, which terminated her life, a pulmonary affection, when asked how she felt? her invariable answer was, "Sure a monument can't feel anything!"

The gross total of years of the deceased, was eleven hundred and fourteen, making the average age of the twenty-four, forty-six and a-half years. The oldest (a female), was eighty years; and the youngest (a male), twenty-five years. The average age of the males (the oldest being seventy-four, and the youngest twenty-five), was forty-five years nearly; and that of the females (the oldest and youngest being eighty and thirty, respectively), forty-six and three-quarter years.

SUICIDAL, &C., CASES.

Thirty-eight of the admissions were Suicidally disposed—sixteen males, twenty-two females. Two of the males had attempted to hang themselves, two sought self-destruction by jumping out of a window, one by beating his head against a wall, one by cutting his throat, three attempted to drown themselves. Eight of the females attempted to drown themselves, two tried to poison themselves, one to throw herself out of a window; the remainder by different ways and threatenings.

Thirty-four of the admissions were of the Homicidal class, —twenty-seven males, seven females. Of the Males—seven threatened the lives of their mother, ten of their wives, three of their brother, and seven of their father; three of the females threatened their husband's lives, one of her child, one attacked her servant with a hatchet.

Three males and six females were both suicidally and homicidally disposed.

It may be conceived from the above enumeration how great are the advantages the public reap by being protected from such cases, and what the responsibilities are of those who are charged with the care of the insane generally—a responsibility which never ceases; and which day and night, and night and day, is a source of the most constant anxiety, and calling for the most unceasing watchfulness.

ACCOMMODATION AND ADMISSIONS DURING THE YEAR.

Since the House was opened, now exactly forty years ago, so large a number of admissions never took place as during the past year, and which so greatly tried the resources-ordinary and extraordinary—that could be made available for the reception thereof. The new Act, giving power to magistrates to send in so-called "Dangerous Lunatics," and as referred to in last year's report, has been called into requisition in a manner that exceeded all calculation as to the admissions of such cases, and which it was judged would not have been greater than when they were committed to gaol, in the first instance, and from thence sent here by Warrant of the Lord Lieutenant, and which at no time during the twenty years operation, the Act now repealed by this new one exceeded more than ten or twelve in the year. The serious disturbance caused in the domestic arrangements of the House by these cases being sent in at most unseasonably late hours, and as referred to in last year's Report, has, it is satisfactory to state, been materially mitigated latterly by the committing Magistrates having given directions to the constabulary to be careful in that respect, and which has been a most important boon and relief to the Institution.

THE NEW DISTRICT HOSPITAL FOR THE INSANE FOR THE COUNTY DOWN, AT DOWNPATRICK.

So far back as the year 1861, it was resolved by the proper authorities that this Institution should be relieved of its then over-taxed state as to accommodation, by its County Down inmates being removed from it to a separate establishment; and though measures were immediately thereafter taken for the erection thereof, yet at this time such is not in readiness for their reception, but which, from present appearances, is expected will be the case between this and the ensuing autumn. The relief to be thus afforded it has already been stated will be more imaginary than real, inasmuch as the cases of insanity of a probable curable nature, and of various degrees of urgency, which are at present scattered throughout the several Union Workhouses in the County Antrim, and so largely in the Belfast Union, will then be expected to be taken in here; and so, accordingly, will very soon take up all the available accommodation left at disposal by the removal of the County Down patients.

Indeed, seeing the rapidly increasing state of the population in Belfast, and the large proportion of cases which such an intensely commercial and actively trading community always produces, the time is not very far distant when an establishment for this Borough alone will be required, and which at present gives so many as one hundred and fifteen inmates.

This Institution, too, as such, it cannot be omitted to observe, has ceased in a great measure—indirectly, at least—to fulfil its important mission, surrounded, as it now largely is, by buildings for the working classes, foundries, &c., and being enveloped in smoke from factory and other chimneys immediately outside the wall; whereas an establishment of this special kind, to be fully serviceable in all its important objects, should be strictly rural, and apart from the noise, excitement, and busy hum of the outside world, and all other exterior influences and disturbances which in any degree interfere with its curative operations and general sanitary state.

IMPROVEMENT IN THE DOMESTIC OFFICES OF THE HOUSE.

For some time past, and up to the present period, the Board has been and is specially engaged in reference to the erection of a Dining and Recreation Hall, besides New Bathrooms, Lavatories, Sculleries, and Water Closets, all so essential to the comfort and health of the inmates. The existing Bath-rooms, &c., have been in a very unsatisfactory state for some time past; and, accordingly, it is contemplated to erect entirely new offices of this description on the newest and most improved principles, and which will be so very desirable in every respect to be furnished with.

NEW GROUND.

The additional ground outside, between this and Grosvenor Street, and amounting to 3a. 2r. 30p., at a cost of £3,361 5s 1d, was placed in possession of the Board within the last few months, and the question now is as to its enclosure, either by a temporary paling, or the continuation of the boundary wall. It has been a most desirable matter the obtaining of this addition, for otherwise the Institution would have been overlooked so immediately by closely adjoining houses, and those too of a very second-rate character, as to have most injuriously interfered with its discipline and the general well-being of the patients.

EARTH CLOSETS.

A single dry-earth closet, constructed on the most approved plan has been lately erected in one of the male airing courts, by way of experiment, and testing its advantages or otherwise, and so far it has been found to answer its purposes. After the best consideration, and the most careful inquiry, the introduction of such, generally, within the house as a substitute for water-closets has been abandoned as not likely to be satisfactory.

ATTENDANCE OF GOVERNORS DURING THE YEAR.

The Governors who attended the monthly meetings of the Board during the year, together with their attendance respectively were:—A. J. Macrory, Esq. (11); Right Rev. Dr. Dorrian (11); John Sharman Crawford, Esq. (9); David Taylor, Esq. (9); C. B. Grimshaw, Esq. (8); H. H. M'Neile, Esq. (7); Viscount Templetown (7); Captain Gray (7); the Bishop of Down (6); Dr. M'Gee (6); Thomas M'Clure, Esq., M.P. (5); Sir Edward Coey (5); Wm. Ewart, Esq., Jun. (5); Thos. Hamilton-Jones, Esq. (4); Wm. Dunville, Esq. (3); John Young, Esq. (3); John Blakiston Houston, Esq. (3); The Mayor of Belfast (S. M'Causland, Esq.) (2); the Very Rev. Dean Stannus (2); the Rev. Dr. Cooke (late) (1); Col. Forde, M.P. (1).

The average number attending each meeting was nine and a fraction, three constituting a quorum.

Besides the regular Boards, several Committee Meetings were held during the year on various matters of detail referred to them to report upon to a subsequent Board.

DEATHS OF GOVERNORS—MARQUIS OF DOWNSHIRE AND THE REV. HENRY COOKE, D.D., LL.D.

Two distinguished members of the Board have paid the debt of nature since last year, and both most sincerely regretted. The late Lord Downshire, whose decease occurred in the month of August, though necessarily infrequent in his personal attendance at the Board, yet always took a lively interest in the affairs of the institution, and never failed in affording, and was ever ready to give, the benefit of his services and the weight of his position in promotion of the welfare of the patients and all connected with their care.

Dr. Cooke, who died in December, was eminently an invaluable member of the Board, being intimately acquainted with the daily operations of the House, and sensibly alive to the onerous nature of the conduct and management of such an establishment. Having, in the first instance, some intention of pursuing medicine as a profession, he attended the hospitals and medical classes in Dublin for some time, and especially applied himself to an acquaintance with the treatment of the insane, then provided for alone in the metropolis, under immediate Government direction, and thus had peculiar fitness and qualifications for fulfilling his duties as a member of the Board, and thereby rendering his opinion and counsel in all matters affecting the routine and carrying on of so peculiarly circumstanced an establishment as this of more than ordinary importance and value. His regular attendance here was continued until within a few months preceding his lamented removal—an attendance which lasted twenty-seven years nearly. After so prolonged a period of intimate official connexion with him, the Resident Physician personally felt his loss in a more than ordinary way, having throughout experienced nothing but courtesy and confidence at his hands, together with a consideration for the position he held and the duties he had to discharge, so encouraging, delicate, and thoughtful as shall never be effaced from his memory.

The following are the resolutions of the Board in connexion with the above-referred-to deceased Governors:—

"Board Room, Monday, 7th September, 1868.

"David Taylor, Esq., J.P., ex-Mayor of Belfast, in the Chair.

"The generally lamented death of the late Marquis of Downshire having occurred since last month's Board, this meeting desires to take this the first opportunity of recording its sincere regret at being deprived of a member who was always ready and willing to use his influence in the promotion of the interests of the institution during the lengthened period of twenty-one years that he had been one of the Governors, and to afford the benefit of his personal attendance at the meetings of the Board as frequently as his other numerous public engagements enabled him to do."

"Board Room, Monday, 4th January, 1869.

"The Right Rev. Dr. Dorrian in the Chair.

"The demise of the late Rev. Dr. Cooke having occurred since the last meeting of the Board, the following minute in connexion therewith, was unanimously adopted, viz.:—

"That the Governors desire to record on their proceedings to-day, their deeply felt regret at the removal from their body of the late Rev. Dr. Cooke, D.D., LL.D., whose decease has been now formally announced to have taken place since the last monthly meeting of the Board.

"That in him the Board have to deplore the loss of one of its ablest, kindliest, and most devoted fellow-labourers; one whose large experience in the details of the daily operations of the institution, acquired by a constant attention to its interests during the lengthened period of seven-and-twenty years, had rendered both his counsel and judgment of the highest practical importance in its conduct.

"That the ever prompt and able manner in which he afforded his time and invaluable assistance towards furthering to the utmost the beneficent and enlightened care of its afflicted inmates, as also the ready and liberal help which he gave with so much effect in supporting the authority and promoting the welfare of those immediately engaged in fulfilling its arduous and responsible duties, had obtained for him the lasting gratitude and best wishes of all in connexion with the establishment.

"That the Governors beg to assure his bereaved family of their profoundly sympathizing with them in the greatness of their loss, and offering to them their earnest and respectful condolence for one whose place, whether in a public or private capacity, will not again be so easily supplied."

NEW GOVERNORS.

The Lord Lieutenant and Privy Council of Ireland have recently appointed the following gentlemen to be members of the Board of Governors:—The Rev. James Morgan, D.D.; Professor Cuming, M.D.; M. A. Dalway, Esq., M.P.; James Mehan, Esq., J.P.

CHAPLAINS.

The question of the appointment of Chaplains was again before the Board during the past year, and ultimately negatived as on former occasions.

OFFICIAL INSPECTIONS.

The following are the Reports made by the Government Inspectors of their official visits to the Establishment during the past year :-

"There are at this date 385 patients in the Belfast Asylum, or 25 more than on the corresponding day in 1867, the admissions during the three past months being 46, or 30 more than in the same period last year. The house, particularly at the male side, is in some of its dormitories much too overcrowded, and the day-room accommodation not sufficient. The beds too in the Infirmaries are all occupied, so that in case of sickness the Institution would be very badly circumstanced, unless tranquil and hopeless cases are provided for in the respective Union Workhouse to which they belong, and where they can, with ordinary care and good dietary, be well maintained. Some fresh provision of a temporary nature must be made for the insane who under magisterial warrants are thronging this establishment.

"The sanitary condition of the patients, I am happy to observe, is particularly favourable, five only being confined to bed from actual illness. The apartments are clean and orderly, the more so at the female side, where there is not the same pressure as at the male. I examined the various articles of food, which appear to me of unexceptionable quality. Altogether I have to report very favourably of the general state in which I found the Belfast District Asylum. The number of inmates chargeable to the County of Antrim is 79; to the Borough of Belfast, 115; to Carrickfergus, 8; and to the County Down, 183. The latter, I hope, will be transferred to their own Asylum in the course of the year.

"The Books, &c., &c., are regular.

"J. NUGENT.

"9th April, 1868."

"Inspected the Belfast District Asylum, and found every part of it in very creditable order, with the exception of the water-closets, lavatories, and bath-rooms. I fully concur with the Board of Governors as to the necessity of having them removed from their present position to the outside of the main building. I will be happy to confer with the Board on this subject at their next meeting.

Visited and inspected the Belfast District Asylum this day, and found every part of it in most satisfactory order as to cleanliness and comfort.

"July 6th, 1868."

"The patients at present in this institution I find to be 394-221 males, 173 females—an excess in the aggregate of fully 70 beyond the legitimate accommodation which the house affords; still I am happy to observe that the sanitary state of the inmates is particularly good; the dormitories and day-rooms I regard as being very much overcrowded. The opening of the Down Asylum, and which I anticipate before May next, will materially, by the removal to it of 190 patients, relieve the existing pressure. The establishment generally is in a very satisfactory condition, clean, orderly, and of a healthful temperature, at the same time well ventilated. I have carefully examined the proposed places and sites for domestic improvements in the way of baths, lavatories, sculleries, &c., and consulted with Dr. Stewart, who will confer with the local Architect in reference to them. I regret the resolution of the Governors in regard to a Dining-hall, as from experience I am convinced there is no arrangement more calculated to add to the comfort of the inmates, and to the efficient and cleanly working of the house. The meals thereby are commodiously served and more comfortably and economically, the refectory being in juxtaposition to the kitchen, thus obviating the great inconvenience of carrying food three times a day through corridors to day-rooms, probably some of them over a hundred and thirty yards from it. Even in Union Workhouses the practice is universally carried out, one advantage being a prompt and facile supervision by the officers. The cost would not, I apprehend, exceed £800 in full; I therefore would again venture to bring the subject under the Governors' notice, so that under one Governmental loan all requisite improvements may be effected.

"The books are regularly kept, and the external officers duly attend.

"J. NUGENT.

"11th February, 1869.

"On my inspection of the Belfast District Asylum this day, I find it presenting its usual appearance of good order and cleanliness. The several corridors, day-rooms, and dormitories are kept with great care, being comfortable and well ventilated.

"The patients are quiet and orderly, none being in seclusion or under restraint, and a large number is fully occupied with work of some kind or other. The men are in some cases employed on the farm, others in mechanical work—viz. at the loom, repairing clothes, &c.—the females in spinning and knitting, sewing, &c.

"The sanitary state of the house is particularly satisfactory. I also inspected the provisions, the meat is of most excellent quality, as also the other articles of food.

"(Signed) "GEO. W. HATCHELL.

"January 4th, 1869." -

"I this day inspected the Belfast District Asylum and have to report, as hitherto, in the most favourable terms of its general condition, in fact nothing can be more satisfactory than its organization, considering especially the overcrowded state of the house, which at this date has so many as 64 in excess of its proper accommodation.

AMUSEMENTS, &C.

During the past year, the patients, as usual, had, besides their regular in-door amusements, the variety of several walks outside the walls, accompanied by the Band. They also had the privilege of being present in large parties at Stevens' Menagerie, the Circus, the Panorama of Scotland, the Royal Botanic Gardens, the Flower Shows at Newtownards and Comber—all of which were greatly enjoyed by them; and on those respective occasions their conduct and demeanour were of an entirely satisfactory nature.

The Band continues to be an unfailing source of enlivening pleasure and satisfaction to the entire establishment.

AUDITING OF THE ACCOUNTS.

Since last year another new Act has come into operation with regard to these Institutions, so far as relates to the auditing of their accounts. Hitherto the Audit Office, Somerset House, fulfilled this duty, and in so satisfactory a manner, as frequently to elicit this Board's commendation. By the Act now in operation the accounts are to be audited yearly instead of monthly as was the rule with the Audit Office—the auditor being the official connected with the auditing of the Union Workhouses in this district, and whose duties here are to commence immediately, with the accounts for the year ending 31st December last.

CHANGE OF TERMINATION OF THE FINANCIAL YEAR.

Formerly the financial year of the institution had been from the 1st of April to the 31st of March, both days inclusive, in accordance with the arrangement of the Audit Department, Somerset House, London, where the accounts of these institutions were transmitted for audit since their establishment; but the recent Act of Parliament having changed the audit to a local one, and for a different period—viz., from the 1st January to the 31st December—the Annual Reports for the future will correspond with the latter period of time.

CONCLUSION.

It is very satisfactory to be enabled to state that, during the past year, no untoward accident of any kind occurred amongst so crowded and so heterogeneous a community as this one has been, and necessarily is, and with so many of its inmates the subjects of most decidedly marked suicidal and homicidal tendencies. The duties of the officers and attendants, so largely increased, and so trying and irksome, have been fulfilled in a generally creditable and humane manner, and altogether it has been a matter of great thankfulness that the year has been brought to a close in such a way as to merit for the working staff no small measure of well-earned praise.
