

Collectio geniturarum: or, a collection of nativities, in CL genitures ... with ... observations on them, both historical and astrological / [John Gadbury].

Contributors

Gadbury, John, 1627-1704

Publication/Creation

London : James Cottrel, 1662.

Persistent URL

<https://wellcomecollection.org/works/hedtsnuy>

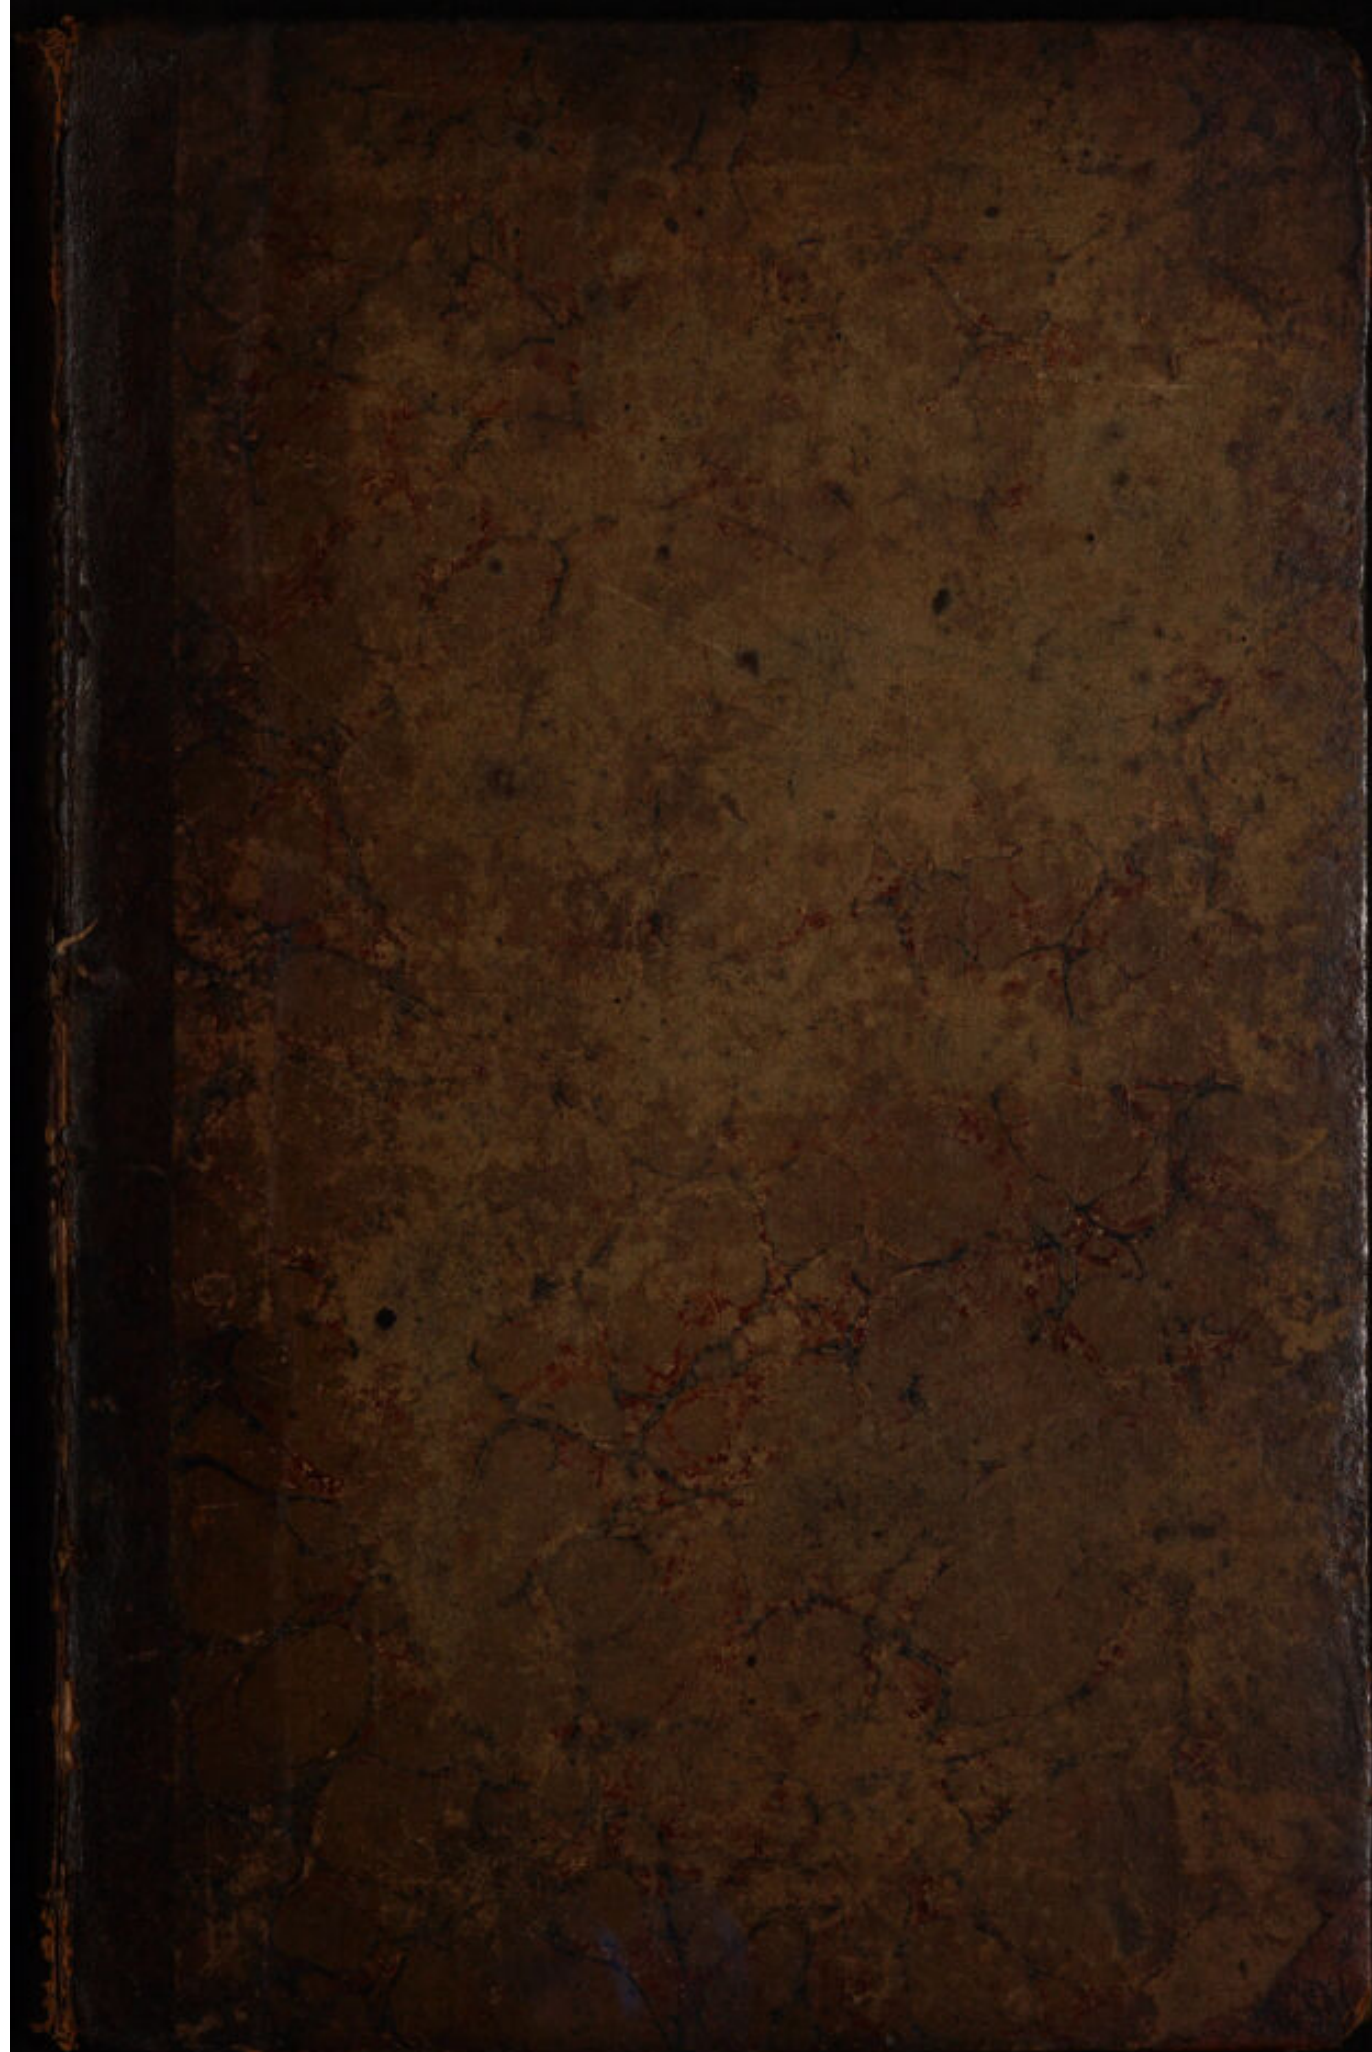

License and attribution

This work has been identified as being free of known restrictions under copyright law, including all related and neighbouring rights and is being made available under the Creative Commons, Public Domain Mark.

You can copy, modify, distribute and perform the work, even for commercial purposes, without asking permission.

Wellcome Collection
183 Euston Road
London NW1 2BE UK
T +44 (0)20 7611 8722
E library@wellcomecollection.org
<https://wellcomecollection.org>

Gadbury

1662

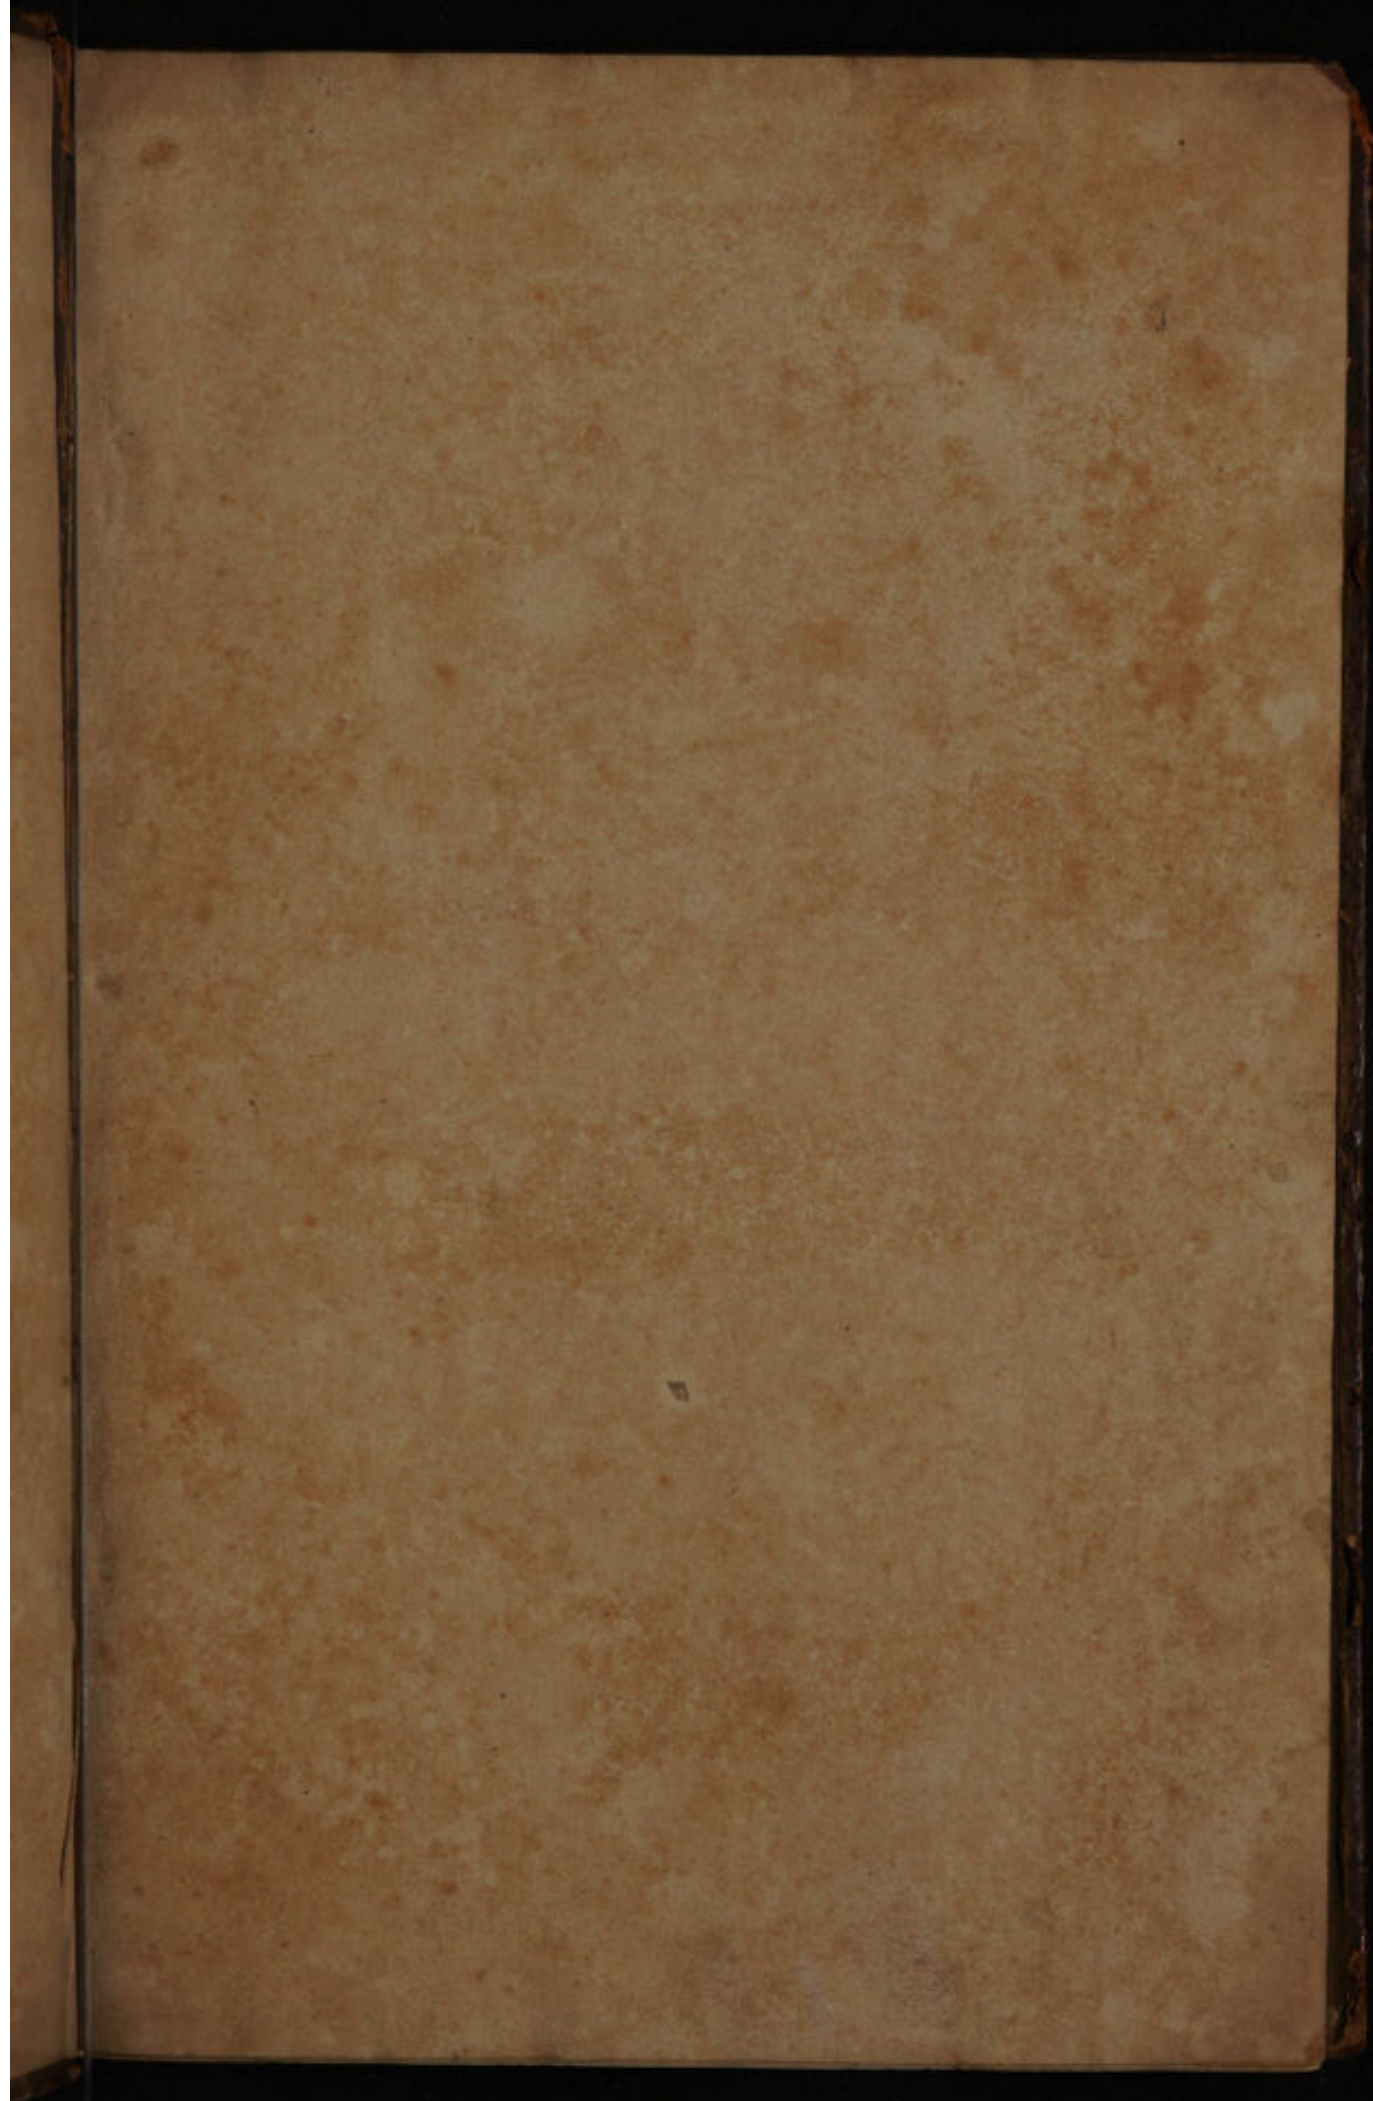

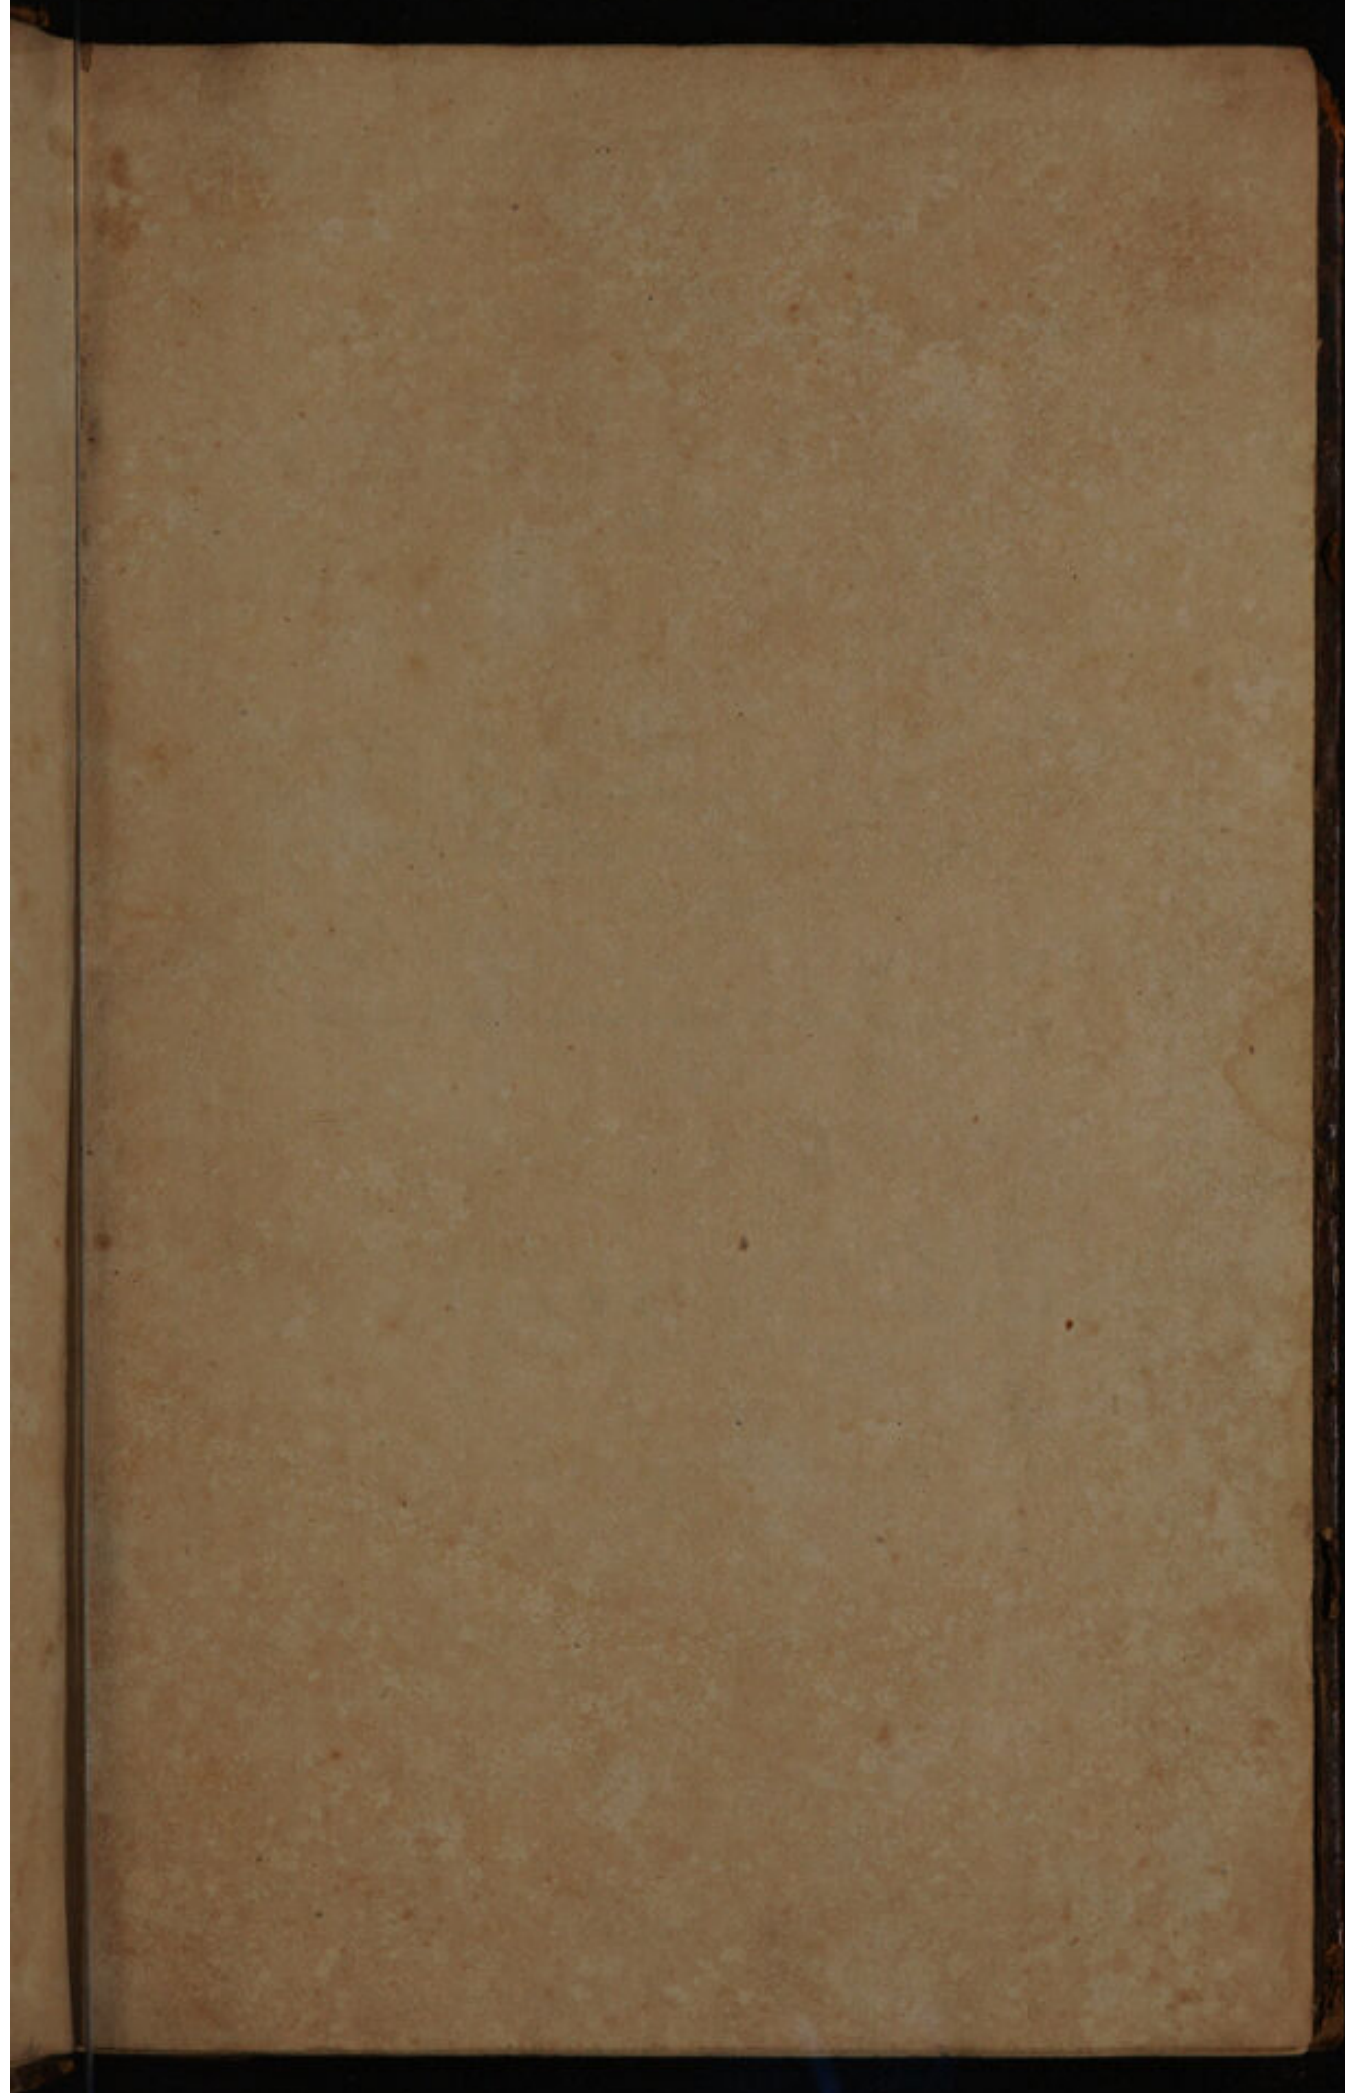

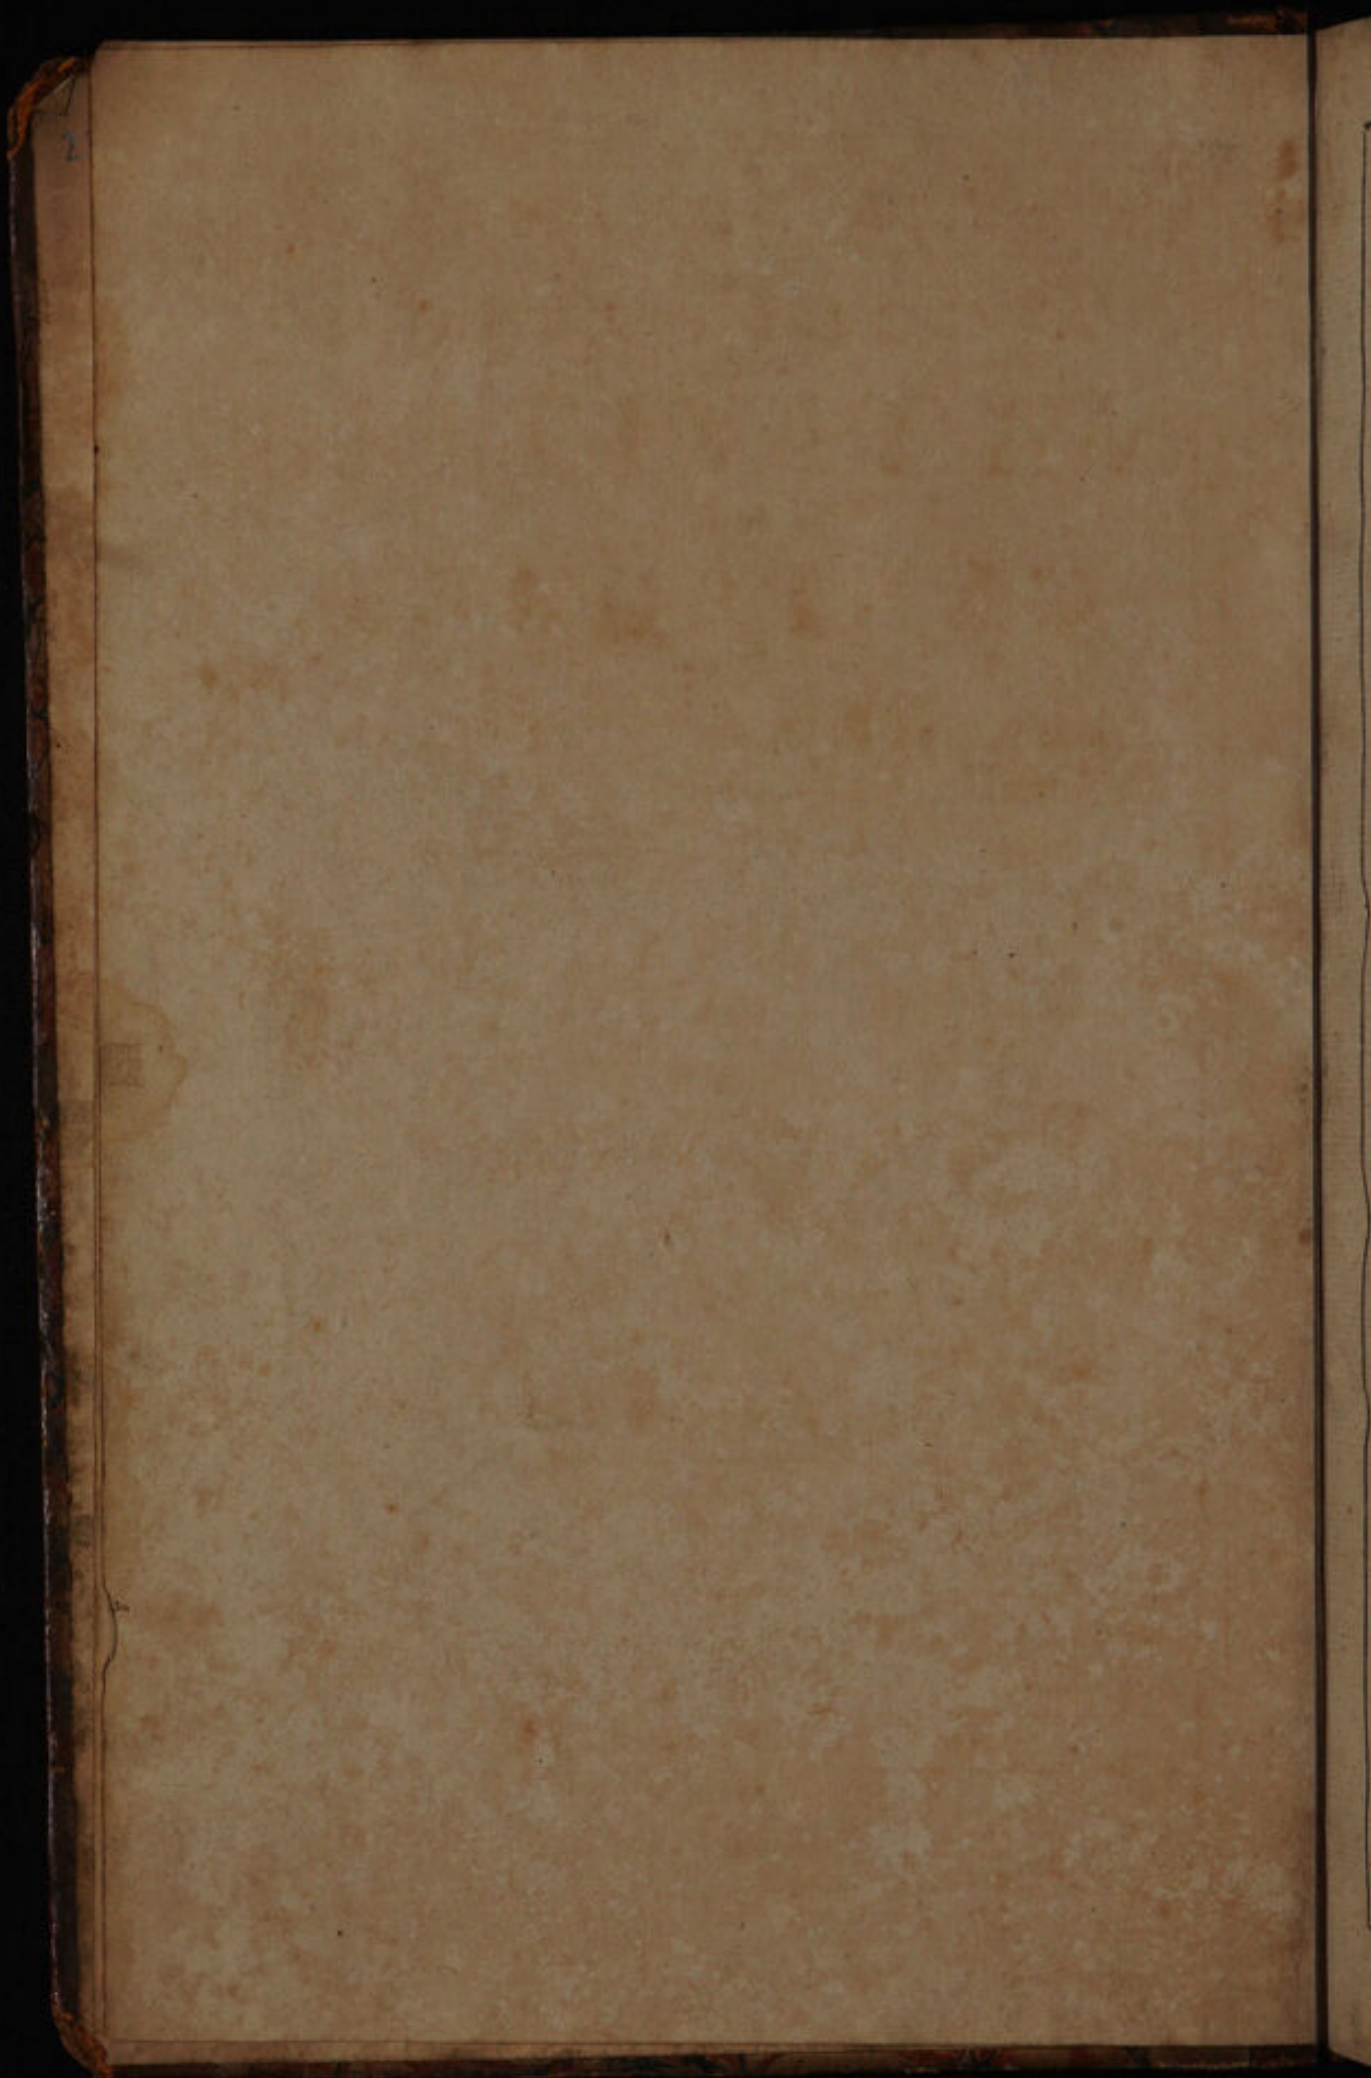

23,799/C

N v

17/8

51523
COLLECTIO GENITURARUM:

A COLLECTION OF NATIVITIES,

In CL GENITURES;

VIZ.

Princely, } Physical, } Of short Life,
Prelatical, } Mercatorial, } Of Twins, Causidical, } Mathematical, } &c.

WITH
Many Useful OBSERVATIONS on them, Both HISTORICAL and ASTROLOGICAL,

Being of Practical Concernment

UNTO PHILOSOPHERS, } ASTRONOMERS, PHYSITIAN S, } ASTROLOGERS,
And others that are Friends unto U R A N I A.

BY JOHN GADBURY,

ΣΤΑΘΜΑΘΗΜΑΤΙΚΟΣ.

Pertinet ad fidem & diligentiam Astrologorum, omnium quantum fieri potest veracium, Ducum, Comitum, Nobilium, Consulium, principum quoque, Theologorum, Episcoporum, Consiliariorum, Medicorum, Genituras acquirere: Non enim magna solum modo laus est, priori consulta ex eorum de ipsis in specie aliquid dicere: sed publica quoque fata ex eo um salute pendent. — Orig. de Effect. fol. 522.

Maii 29. 1661. Imprimatur. G. Wharton.

L O N D O N:

Printed by JAMES COTTREL. MDCLXII.

COLLECTIO GENTILITUM
 A COLLECTION OF NATURAL GENIUM

Principally of Physical Practical, Medicinal, & Astronomical Candidates, & Mathematicians, &c.

Many Useful OBSERVATIONS on them
 Both Historic & Astronomical.

Practical Comment INTO PHILOSOPHERS, ASTRONOMERS, PHYSICIANS, & MATHEMATICIANS HUMAN

BY JOHN GADSDEN
 ESQ.
 OF THE
 UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE
 Printed by James Gorton, M.D.C.LXII.

To all those Worthy Persons,
(That are living) WHOSE GENITURES
Are made publick in this Work.

John Gadbury
Wisheth Health, and increase of Days;
Happinefs in their Studies, &c.
AND
(To testifie the Honour and Respects he owes) Elects Them

PATRONS
Of these his { ASTRONOMICAL AND ASTROLOGICAL }
LABOURS.

To all those

Worthy Persons,

(That are living)

where

GENITIVES

Are made publick in this Work.

John Gabbury

Wishes Health, and increase of Days;

Happiness in their Studies, &c.

AND

(To testify his Honour and Respect he owes)

Else Them

PATRONS

Of these

ASTRONOMICAL
AND ASTROLOGICAL

LABOURS

To the INTELLIGENT and JUDICIOUS READERS.

GENTLEMEN:

Although the Judgements and Humours of some Men, be opposite to every serious Performance; whence they assume an unworthy Liberty of Taxing and Traducing what they do not understand, and envy that in others, themselves are ignorant of: yet in this my Appeal to you, I cannot but expect much fairer Quarter, and a far juster Verdict on my present Pains, from your more season'd Breasts; since as the Ignorant, so the Intelligent, always judge like themselves.

There are three sorts of Persons that seem most of all to oppugn this Noble ART; viz. The Seeming Religious, the Politique, and the Ignorant.

The First of which, (having a Zeal against it, but not according to knowledge) endeavours to render it repugnant to Divinity, and to the Scriptures; and deemeth it as Mortal to Religion, as your Amazza Franchi * is said to be to the Christians.

fall into such Diseases whereof they die; and thence it is called, The Death of Christians. Vid. Lithgow's Travels, Part 5. pag. 192.

* Amazza Franchi, is a Fruit growing on Mount Libanus, or Lebanon, of which if any Europeans eat, they

A

The

The Epistle to the Readers.

The Second, would make it destructive to Institution, Education, and all good Policies, for the Preservation of Men and Kingdoms, &c.

The Third, they either conclude it an Imposture, or else an absolute Piece of VVitch-craft; and therefore protest against it.

Now, although these several Objections have been answered, over and over; yet since we have Dwarfs grown up among us, which stand upon the Shoulders of our former Giant-like Opposers, I shall (for their sakes) respond to them again.

The seeming Religious Objection answered.

1. If Astrologie were repugnant to Divinity, or to the Oracles of God, the Scriptures; Divines themselves would not with such ardour have been the onely Promoters thereof, and the most industrious therein, as they in all Ages have been. For it is highly contrary to Reason, to believe any Man (much less him that is learned) would advance that which any way thwarts or opposes him, his Study, or Interest. Besides, *If there be a Truth in Astrologie, it injureth not Divinity, but rather becomes related to it: for by how much the more there is of Truth in any thing, so much the nearer is it unto Divinity; and instead of opposing, is most ready to shake hands therewith. I shall not here make a Distinction between the Religious and the Wise, as the learned Mr. Hartgil hath done*: howbeit, they that suppose Astrologie repugnant to Divinity, are not in the number (I suppose) of the Religiously Wise. The Kingly Prophet sings, Psalm 19. Verse 1. The Heavens declare the glory of God, and the Firmament sheweth his handy-work, &c. And must not he then be a most resolute and perverse Adversary, that shall brand Astrologie, which treateth of the Power of the Heavens and Stars, for being contrary to Divinity?

* Dr. Brown in relig. Med.

* In Epistle to his Tables of the fixed Stars.

* Dr. Tho. Swadlin, in Divinity no Enemy to Astrologie, fol 18. and 19.

“Many things (saith a learned Divine*) I heretofore did believe against Astrologie, and was perswaded thereunto from its Name, Root, and End; but upon a just Examination, I retract; because (saith he) I finde the Astrologer neither an Enchanter, nor Witch, or Dealer with Familiar Spirits, &c. nor yet to meddle with Magia Demoniacæ; and other Magia I read of none; but what is called Divina, Mathematica, or Physica; none of which I conceive will any wise Man say is unlawful; and therefore I give my Vote for the Legality of Astrologie.——And the Reasons that induce me hereunto, are the very same which perswaded me to the contrary. (1.) Their Name; the Hebrews call the Stars Maffaloth, of Nazal, which signifies Influere: and the Rabbins call them Meharim, of Sheret, which signifies Ministrare: whence that Axiome allowed by all Men, — Astra non necessitant, sed inclinant.

The Epistle to the Readers.

“inclinant. And therefore by the Stars may the Astrologer predict Man's Inclination and Manners; which if good, may be heightened by a holy Ambition; if bad, may be prevented by good Education.—— (2.) The Root, it was not Idolatry, but Innocency: Adam in Paradise was the Father of this Art; and had he as well observed the Star of Knowledge for the Direction of his Will, as the Tree of Knowledge for the pleasing of his Fancie, he had not yet been banished. It was not Idolatry, but Obedience, upon which this Syen was grafted, when the Tree was almost withered: Abraham the Friend of GOD, and Father of the Faithful, was no Step-Father to Astrologie, if we believe Antiquity. It was not Idolatry, but Wisdom, from which this Art got Life, after it long lay bleeding: Solomon, the wisest of Men, was the best Astrologer the World ever entertain'd. And why were the Priests of Egypt forbidden the Study of all other Arts, and yet permitted to study Astrologie? And why do the Arabicks call their Astrologers Cachin, which comes of Cahu, which signifies a Priest? Surely it is to tell the Astrologer, that though the Presbyter may be his Enemy, yet the Priest may be his Friend, and allow his Art lawful; not onely for the Root of it; but also (3.) for the End of it;—— which cannot be injurious to God, because the Astrologer confesseth,—— Sapiens Dominabitur Astris. Thus far (and farther) this learned Doctor. Yet a little more: we have another learned Divine among us, who makes it a Doctrinal Observation,—— That it is our Duty to study the Heavens, and to be acquainted with the Stars*. The learned Ptolomy affirms in the beginning of his Almagest,—— Hanc unam Scientiam esse viam, semitam ad Sciendum Deum altissimum. This equally considered, plainly evinceth Astrologie not to be contrary, but consonant to, Divinity, and to the holy Scriptures.

2. That Astrologie should be repugnant to Policy, Laws, Institutions, Education, &c. is as impossible as for it to be opposite to Divinity: it may indeed be helpful unto them all, but no way hurtful unto any of them. I do allow with the Objectors, that the Laws are good and necessary, as they are intended to bridle the wild and corrupt Passions of Men; and no more to be faulted, when they miss of their right and proper end, then Wine is, when it maketh a Man drunk. Albeit, I must acquaint him, that the Stars have such a Power over the Manners and Minds of Men, that they order and dispose them into such a frame, that when they shall meet with Laws or Institutions contrary to their Nature and Inclination, they esteem it the highest Happiness to break and confound them. Hence it is, that Jayls and Prisons are constantly furnished with variety of Offenders; notwithstanding many are taken thence continually, either to Banishment or Death, or other less Punishment. And therefore it was that Hand Job, Vol. 3, p. 221.

The Politick Opposer answered.

The Epistle to the Readers.

Plutarch in the Life of Solon. * Sir Christ. Heydon in Defence of Astrology, fol. 524. that Solon *, in the Athenian State, commanded, that their Law should be always applyed to their Manners; and not their Manners to the Law. And as a learned Knight * observes, although the Laws and Institutions under which we live, be never so good and commendable, yet the Adversary might as well profess to say against the VVinde and Tyde, or to make a barren Soyle fertile, as to imagine that Laws or Institutions will be of any force, without a Natural Propension to that wherein we are instructed, or unto which we ought to be subject and obedient.

Now certainly Astrologie, which sheweth the Reason why good and wholesome Laws and Institutions miss of their right End and Aim, cannot be thought Anti-Politick, or Anti-Nomical; but may rather be esteemed of good Use unto the Politician, in framing and forming Laws and Institutions suitable to the Constitutions and Inclinations of the People that are to be governed and instructed by them. Had Astrologie been an Enemy to Policie and the Laws, &c. Augustus the Emperour would never have been so great a Friend unto it, as to have stamped the Signe of Capricorn (it being the Ascendent of his Nativity) on his Coyn, and advanced the same in his Ensigne or Standard; as saith my Author *. Nay, so eminently honourable was this Science with Tiberius, as Tacitus and Dion testifie, that he learnt the same of Thrasyllus at Rhodes, and afterwards brought him over into Rome, honouring him above all Men, and attempting nothing without his Advice. If then the greatest Politicians have had so great a Respect unto, and Honour for this Science, it cannot reasonably be conceived contrary to Policie, &c.

Then for Education; which in the thoughts of all ingenious Men, cannot be held at an undervaluable Price, it being the very best of Ornaments to Mankind. Beyond all question, it profiteth very much; but then it must meet with a fit and proper Subject. Every Man is not a Socrates; nor have all Men a Power to master or bridle their Affections and Passions. I grant (in a just sense) A wise Man may rule the Stars: yet are there few so prudent, either by force of Nature or Education, but must submit (in a great measure) to the Energie of Coelestial Influences. And although the Stars do not absolutely necessitate the VVill, yet they so strongly incline it, that the Effects of Nature are commonly seen beyond the force of Education. VVere Education of force sufficient in all respects to better Nature, we should have no such things as Injury or Injustice in the World. Where Education meets with an apt and proper Inclination, like a skilful Lapidary, it polisheth Nature, and presents the World with a Comparative Miracle. But, where it meets with a morose or violent temper, it is but a Slave to Passion, and makes the Native more mischievous and cruel.

The Epistle to the Readers.

cruel. Thus some Men come to play the Villains and Treach-ers with the greater Dexterity and Courage; and, using Education as a Bawd to their corrupt Desires and Pleasures, colour their unworthy Actions at the more confident rate, and make their greatest Villanies and Cruelties, matter of Sport and Pastime.

None will deny, but NERO was most excellently well Educated; yet what unheard-of Actions is he recorded to have done, when once he came to the Government of the Empire? Although Tacitus in many places of his History, speaketh but meanly of Astrologers; yet in this very Example, he hath shewn himself such a Friend to their Predictions, that he testifieth on their behalf, That they before-hand did assure Agrippina his Mother of his Cruelty, &c. And this power of a Natural Propensity was not onely plain in Nero, but apparent in Galba, Caligula, Dionysius; and others, that were diligently instructed by most excellent and learned Tutors; and yet afterward returned to their Natural Improbability, and became foul Monsters of Men.

Thus we see of what force Education is, when it concurr-eth with, or contradicted a Natural Inclination and Temper-ature. Nature may be bettered by being joynd to Education, or Discipline; but that without Nature, or contrary to it, is Deficient; and of no more use, then if a Husband-man should Till Barren Ground, of which he can reap no Profit.

It is not onely the Poet, that is Born, and not Made; but the Politician, Divine and Lawyer, &c. of which the following Treatise affordeth many and eminent Examples. It will therefore plainly follow, that Astrologie may be of good use to the Politician, in making known the Natures, Temperatures and Inclinations of Men; For, they are not onely distinguished, but discovered from the Predominancies of the Planets at their Births *.

* Lord Bacon's Advancement of Learning, fol. 352

3. To the Ignorant Objector, (although he rather deserve a Whip, then a Reply) I answer, (first) in worthy Cardan's words: — * Stulti negligunt et contempnunt Astrologiam, &c. And the Reason why they do so, is, because they understand it not. If the Fool in his heart thinks lightly of a Deity; nay, deny a God; Astrologers must not be troubled, if in Words he abuse both him and his Science. This Adversary, of all the three, is the most intolerable: for Reason cannot prevail or perswade with him; what his Folly suggests unto him, (let it be never so incredible or impossible) that (in his Breat) must receive the currant stamp for Truth! The Astrologer therefore had better be subject to the Censure of any, rather than the Ignorant. Let the Nightingale sing never so sweetly, the Ass (if he hap to be Judge) will be sure to dislike and discommend him.

The Ignorant Objector, replied unto Segmenius, Aphor. 24.

The Epistle to the Readers.

If the Artist at any time chance to fail, (as Humanum est errare; for he is but a Man) the Ignorant Antagonist cries out presently, — The Art's a Juggle, the Artist an Impostor, &c. And if he happen to speak truth, (as if he be true to his Rules, he cannot fail twice in an hundred times) then replies Ignorance, — The Artist is a Witch or Wizard, a Dealer with the Devil, &c. the Art, Conjurat[i]on, the Black Art, Magick, &c. Thus you see, by the Verdict of this Enemy*, to be an Astrologer, is the highest Unhappiness in the World! for let him be never so careful and just in his Practice, he cannot easily escape one of the Horns of the Ignorant's Dilemma! Howbeit, it is no hard matter to confute this Ceratin, by a plain Conversion thereof, to the Reason of any, but the Ignorant. — The Astrologer must speak either true or false: if the first, it proves the Excellency and Divineness of his Art: (for Truth is of a Heavenly Lineage and Descent:) if the last, he discovers himself a Man, and subject to Er-your *. The Ignorant understands not the Difference between Philosophia, and Magica: the one being an Heavenly Magique, or the Wisdome of God; the other being the Magique of Hell, and the Learning of the Devil. It was the saying of a Learned Diviner*, and I would have the ignorant Antagonist consult it, who-Stella No-soever confounds, or takes for the same, the wisdome of Heaven, and the wisdome of Hell, either out of Ignorance or Malice, or both, too much wrongs and abuses the Servants of God, and too much honours the Vassals of the Devil.

Having spoken thus much in Defence of the Science I profess, and I hope sufficient to satisfie all reasonable Opposers, I shall in the next place speak somewhat of the following Treatise.

Astrologie is a large and various Study, and admits of divers Parts*; each of which, might become the undertaking of the most active and industrious Understanding. I have from the rest, selected the Genethliacal Part thereof; which for divers years past hath been my constant Companion, not mixing it with any other Study, or admitting it any Competitor, as an equal Object of my Respect and Pains. And finding so much of Excellencie, Certainty and Truth (to my great satisfaction) therein, therein, I have endeavoured its Restauration, and (as much as in me lieth) its Perfection also! And that is the end of my publishing the following Treatise; which contains an Hundred and Fifty choice Genitures, of different kinds, as expressed in the Title; and of such different Signification, that the ingenious Artift can hardly meet with a Nativity to Calculate, but he herein may finde an apt Example, enabling him the more readily to give a certain and determinate Judgement thereof. It is indeed (and so I ever intended it) a Commentary or Exposition of the whole Genethliacal Part of ASTROLOGIE; explaining (almost) every Aphorism and Rule therein, and giving proper Examples thereon.

The Epistle to the Readers.

I have been befriended by many good Authors in some Nativities here published, chiefly the Obsolete; and have respectfully mentioned their Names, that thereby I might shun the Censure of Plagiarism: For I always esteemed it as horrid a Crime to steal the Labours of the Dead, as to rob the Houses of the Living.

There is extant but little Practical Astrologie in the English Tongue; whereas Physick, Law, and most other Studies, have whole Volumes of that kind for their Students Assistance: and that perhaps may be one Reason why the Astrologer is so commonly subject to Errour. In some Nativities I am Copious, in others not so large; but have not in any, omitted any thing necessary, to the bettering of the industrious Students Understanding. And could I, from all my collected Experience, Study or Pains, have contrived a fitter Clavis for the unlocking the Mysteries of this Abstruse Learning, I should most readily have done it, although I had been requited with the greater Envy for my Pains.

One Objection I hear methinks already taken against me; and that is, I have not proceeded orderly in placing the Genitures of Persons according to their Dignities or Degrees of Honour. In answer herunto, I return; — That by these my Labours, I would not have the World to mistake me for an Herald, but consider me as an Astrologer; and then they shall finde, I have observed a Method as facile and profitable for the ingenious Student, as any that they ever met with, treating of this subject: besides, what I have here done, is intended more for Service, then for Ceremony.

To conclude: If the ingenious Student accept of these my Endeavours,

The Epistle to the Readers.

Endeavours, he will encourage me to make a further Progress in this Science, not onely for his, but the Worlds satisfaction: Unto whose good, and to Astrologies Honour, I am seriously devoted; and shall so continue, whilst I am——

From my Study in Aldersgate-street, against the Half Moon.
2. August 8. 1662.

JOHN GADBURY.

There is a certain sort of People, who in the History of our Country, are called Witch-hunters; and who have been so busy in their Search after the Devil, that they have neglected the Study of the Christian Religion. I have been thinking of this, and have been desirous to write a little, to shew the Vanity of such a Search, and the Danger of such a Pursuit. I have been thinking of this, and have been desirous to write a little, to shew the Vanity of such a Search, and the Danger of such a Pursuit. I have been thinking of this, and have been desirous to write a little, to shew the Vanity of such a Search, and the Danger of such a Pursuit.

One Objection, which is often made, is, that the Devil is a very cunning Creature, and that he will not be easily caught. I answer, that the Devil is a very cunning Creature, and that he will not be easily caught. I answer, that the Devil is a very cunning Creature, and that he will not be easily caught. I answer, that the Devil is a very cunning Creature, and that he will not be easily caught.

To conclude: If the Ingenious Student, who reads this, should be desirous to know more of the History of our Country, I have here done, it is hoped, more for Service, than for Gain.

T A B L E

Of the several

N A T I V I T I E S

Published in this Book:

With their Number and Page readily how to find them.

All those with a Star at them, are of Persons living.

In the First Part.

Numb.	Pag.	Numb.	Pag.	Numb.	Pag.
1. N ero Caesar	4	19. Sebastian King	30	34. Picus Mirandula	50
2. Alexander	5	of Portugal	30	35. Christiern K.	52
3. Henry 6. of England	6	20. Gustavus Adolphus	31	of Denmark	52
4. Henry 8.	8	21. Emperor of Ger-	32	36. Prince of Orange	53
5. Edward 6.	9	many	32	37. Prince Maurice	55
6. Queen Mary	11	22. Lewis 13. of	34	38. Elector of Saxony	56
7. Queen Elizabeth	12	France	34	39. Maximilian 1.	58
8. King James	14	23. Carolus Gustavus	35	40. Maximilian 2.	59
9. King Charles 1.	15	* 24. King of Denm.	37	41. Duke of Savoy	61
10. Duke of Gloucester	17	* 25. King of Spain	38	42. Lesdiguerius	62
11. Lady Elizabeth	18	* 26. Lewis 14 King	39	Magnus	62
12. Princess Royal	20	of France	39	43. M. A. Columna	63
13. Duke of Rich-	21	27. Prince of Spain	41	44. Duichesi of Sfortia	64
mond	21	* 28. Charles Gustavus	42	45. Don John of Au-	65
14. Henry 2. of France	23	29. Earl of Strafford	43	stria	65
15. Henry 3. of France	25	30. Earl of Essex	45	46. D of Buckingham	66
16. Henry 4. of France	26	* 31. King of Poland	46	47. Duke Hamilton	67
17. Anne Queen of	28	32. Carolus L. Tor-	48	48. Prince Charles	68
Hungary	28	tensonabe Swede's	48	49. Lady Anne	69
18. Maria de Medices	29	General	48	50. Duke of Albe-	70
		33. La Fr. Villiers	49	marle	70

The TABLE.

In the Second Part.

Numb.	Pag.	Numb.	Pag.	Numb.	Pag.
1. A lexander 7.	75	19. Mr. Gregory	101	37. Gassendus	126
2. Paul 3.	77	20. Mr. Gataker	102	38. Dr. Fisk	127
3. Sextus 5.	78	21. Mr. Bentham	105	39. Mr. Stephens	129
4. Clement 8.	79	22. Mr. Coppe	106	40. Dr. Starkay	130
5. Paul 5.	80	23. Dr. Gouge	107	41. Dr. Harrington	131
6. Gregory 15.	81	24. Mr. Crook	109	42. Dr. Tymms	132
7. Erasmus Roter-	82	25. A Minister of	111	43. Dr. Laford	133
damus		Cambridge		44. Mr. Turner	134
8. Phil. Melancthon	83	26. Dr. Sybbaids	113	45. Mr. Blynman	135
9. Martin Luther	84	27. Mr. Childrey	114	46. Mr. Heydon	136
10. Peter Bembo	85	28. Mr. Mackerneß	115	47. Mr. Beale	137
11. Card. Richliu	86	29. Mr. Vaughan	117	48. Mr. Rogers	138
12. Card. Mazarine	87	30. Mr. Morgan	118	49. Mr. Baiston	139
13. Bishop Laud	89	31. M. T. Cicero	119	50. Mr. Culpeper	140
14. Bishop Hall	91	32. Judge Reeves	121	Oliver Cromwel's	145
15. Bishop Marton	92	33. Dr. Britland	122	Richard Cromwel's	151
16. Bishop Usher	96	34. Sir R. Holburn	124	Massianello's	155
17. Dr. Gell	98	35. Cornel. Agrippa	125
18. Dr. Hammond	99	36. Sir Theod. Mayer	126

In the Third Part.

Numb.	Pag.	Numb.	Pag.	Numb.	Pag.
1. F R. Holles 159	159	17. Dr. Le Neve	178	35. Mary Sawyer	197
2. Sir Christ. Heydon	160	18. Mr. Gresham	179	36. Mr. Bate's Child	199
3. Sir Will. Wittipoll	161	19. Mr. Mallet	180	37. 1 Twin	200
4. Maj. Strangways	162	20. Mr. Booker	181	38. 2 Twin	201
5. Sir John Reynolds	163	21. Mr. Wing	182	39. 1 Twin	202
6. Col. Hutchinson	165	22. Mr. Saby	183	40. 2 Twin	203
7. Maj G. Lambert	166	23. Mr. Mills	184	41. 1 Twin	204
8. Captain Bray	169	24. Mr. Collins	186	42. 2 Twin	205
9. Mr. Eastwood	170	25. Mr. Leyburn	187	43. John Fletcher	Ibid
10. Mr. Richardson	171	26. Mr. Lilly	188	44. Eliz. Barret	206
11. A Genu- Merchants	173	27. Mr. Blackwel	189	45. Charles Clun	208
12. Mr. Hooper	174	28. The Author's	190	46. Sarah Sing	Ibid
13. Mr. Woolsey	175	29. Filius Authoris	191	47. 1 Twin	209
14. Regio. Montanus	176	30. Benj. Gadbury	193	48. 2 Twin	210
15. Eras. Rheinholdus	177	31. Mary Martin	194	49. A Gentlewoman	211
16. Trapezontius	Ibid	32. M. Tryonne	195	50. A Dwarf	212
		33. Mr. Colly's Child	Ibid
		34. Clem. Bareford	196

COLLECTIO GENITURARUM:

The First Part,

In Fifty Illustrious

R A D I X E S:

Being of eminent Use to the industrious Students

In the Genethliacal Part

O F

A S T R O L O G I E.

T O G E T H E R

VVith something touching the VVorlds Nativity.

B Y

J O H N G A D B U R Y,

ΦΙΛΟΜΑΘΗΜΑΤΙΚΟΣ.

Why Art should be excluded — from the Cognizance of Nativities, or of Kings and States, I cannot see; since Preditions according to Precepts of Art, for many Ages known and approved, have been found so true. Dr. Gell, Stella Nova, pag. 9.

L O N D O N:

Printed by JAMES COTTREL. MDCLXII.

COLLECTIO GRÆCOTORARUM

The First Part

In Fifty Illustrations

R A D I X E S

Being of ancient Use to the industrious Students
in the

Geographical Part

OF

A S T R O L O G I E

TOGETHER

With something touching the World's Nautick.

BY

JOHN GADSDEN

ESQ. OF LINCOLN'S INN

Printed by J. G. at the Sign of the Gun, in St. Dunstons Church-yard, near St. Dunstons Church, in the City of London.

L O N D O N

Printed by James Gutterell, M.D.C.XII.

Collectio Geniturarum :
OR, A COLLECTION
Of divers
Choice Nativities.

Something touching the several Opinions of the Worlds Nativity.

o question the Worlds beginning, were to depart from the Heaven-like and pleasant Path of Christianity, and to run into the confused and dangerous Road of Atheism: and for any Man to endeavour to confine the same to any limited certain time, (considering the uncertainty of History and Chronologie) is every whit, without doubt, as ridiculous and erroneous; yea, perhaps, as great and unwarranted a Presumption.

Some Authors (and those most eminently learned) have fixed the time of the the Worlds beginning upon the Summer-Season; at which time the Sun entered the Regal Signe Leo, which of Astrologers is termed his House, or Place wherein he is most principally dignified. And of this Opinion was the famous Mercator, who, in his Chronologie, seemeth to render many Reasons thereof, which some have thought Demonstrations.

This Opinion (as some conjecture) was first conceived among the Priests of Egypt, who having observed the River Nilus to overflow about the Summer Solstice, (viz. a little before the time above-mentioned) adored it for a god; and esteemed the time of its Inundation, for an infallible beginning of Divine Actions in things created.

The Arabians and Egyptians were generally of Opinion, That the World was created in Autumn, when the illustrious Lamp of Heaven entered the fifth Astrum of the Equinoctial Signe Libra. And those two Renowned Authors, Josephus and Calvisius, seem very much to assent to this their Opinion; urging both Reason and Scripture for the proof thereof. Nor did the learned Juntilinus fault this Opinion, but rather approved thereof, as appears by his Spec. Astrol. Tom. 1. fol. 660.

Others are of Opinion that the World was made in the Spring-time; and upon that very day the Sun was placed in the very Degree of his Exaltation; viz. in nineteen Degrees of Aries. So Petrus de Alinda concludeth, fol. 102. and with him agreeth the learned Author of the above-said Figure, as you may read in the before-cited Juntilinus. Some have thought Virgil to be of this Opinion, by reason of that eminent and lofty Fancie of his, Lib. 2. of his Georgicks:

*Non alios prima nascentis origine Mundi, Illuxisse dies, aliumve habuisse tenorem
Crediderim. Per illud ergo, Per magnus agebat Orbis, & Hibernis pascebant flatibus Euri, Cum primam lucem pecudes hausere virumq;
Ferreæ progenies duris caput exiit arvis;
Immissæq; fera Silvæ, & Sydera Cælo.*

Which Words are not more elegantly written by Virgil, then Englished by the Polite Quill of his learned Translator, Mr. John Ogilbye, thus:

*Sure I believe, when first the World was made,
So shone the day; and such bright Count'nt had.
That was the Spring; the Spring makes all things fair!
And blushing Eurus did cold Tempests spare.
Then Cattle bred: in unplow'd Fields began First to appear, that Iron Race of Man:
Wilde Beasts possess the Woods, and Heav'n the Stars.*

Mr. Swan, in his Speculum Mundi, pag. 36. and in his Calamus Mensurans, pag. 10. after much Discourse concerning the Worlds Creation, cometh to this Conclusion: 'That (notwithstanding the strongest and best Objections to the contrary) the World began at the Spring-time of the year; and that on the fourth day of the first week, the Sun was in the fourth Degree of Aries: which fourth day, according to the Julian account, (saith he) was on the twenty seventh day of April: on which day the Sun was created, and set in the Firmament of Heaven.

These (in brief) are the several Opinions concerning the Worlds Creation, in respect of time: but how near, or how far wide they are of the Truth, Truth, let Reason it self be Judge. Divine Plato, in his Dialogue of the Soul, professeth freely that he knew nothing of it; and that the very Contemplation thereof, had made him blinde. Socrates calls those men that busie themselves in their Discourses or Disputes concerning the Worlds Originall, Mad, and Inconsiderate. And indeed the Knowledge of this Mystery, being onely competent to God that made the World, deceiveth the Generations of Mankind in their Disquisitions and Scrutinies after it.

If the Saviour of the World, as he was Man, or the Angels of Heaven, knew not the End of the World, why should (or with what hopes can) we endeavour to acquaint our selves with the Creation or Beginning of it? But alas! in this, as in other deep Mysteries,

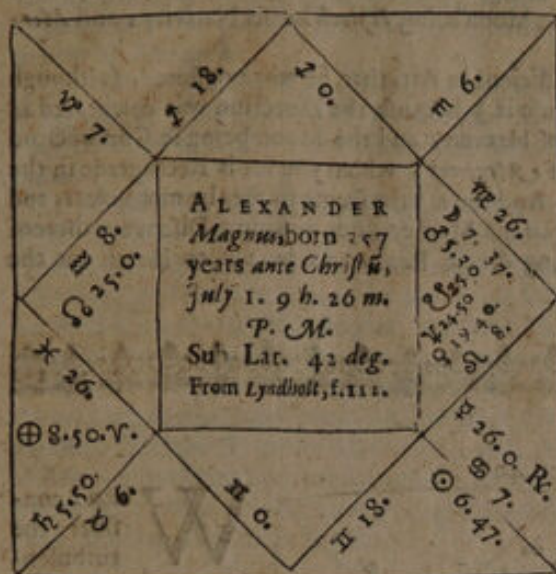

The gods our Muses do muffle up in Clouds.

I shall spare to speak here of the vast and irreconcilable Differences of the Computations of Years, that I finde both History and Chronologie to abound with; but to shun the Censure of Scepticism, I will willingly and freely deliver my Opinion concerning the Matter in question, thus: I do believe (with Plato) that the World had a beginning, and that God was (ἀναμνηστὴς, κτίστης, καὶ πατὴρ τοῦ κόσμου) the Creator, Maker, and Father of this goodly and to be admired Frame; yet am of Opinion, that He made it neither in the Spring, Summer, or Autumn, but in all: for it is impossible that one Season should be universal or predominant in all the World at once; especially if we consider the Differences of Shadows; and the Diversities and Contradictions of Clymates: unless we should understand the same per Synchdochem, de parte pro toto, ut Testum pro Domino; a part of the World for the whole World, and so confine the Conceit to the Land of Judea onely. But this were to subjugate our Reason, and lay our Understandings in Shackles. For (saith Dr. Brown) as the Question is generally, and in respect of the whole Earth proposed, it is with manifest injury unto Reason in any particular determined, Pseud. Epid. fol. 241. And, if I should turn Qyerist, and desire to know under what Elevation of the Pole the Figure of the Worlds Creation could be erected; that it might relate to all Meridians exactly, I suppose it would trouble the greatest Defenders of such Opinions, to return any satisfactory Answer. Let us therefore credit this truth: — That the World had a beginning, but the time thereof unknown to the wisest of Men; and to set the Figure or Scheme thereof, that it should relate to all Elevations above this earthly Globe, is absolutely impossible.

Alexander

C Rediting the Authority of Plutarch, we shall finde that this Heroick and Magnanimous Prince descended from the Loyns of Philip King of Macedon, begotten on the Body of Olympia a young Maid, who lived in the Island of Samo-thracia, and at some time after was married to Philip: yet the learned Plutarch seemeth to differ in the time of this Nativity from Lyndholt; for he recordeh Alexander's Birth to be on the sixth day of the moneth Hec- tombæan, (i. e.) July; whereas you see Lyndholt not onely presumeth, but asserteth it to be at the above-noted time in the Figure. But letting pass the Errours and Uncertainties of Chronologie, we will first examine how this Figure represents this illustrious Natives Person, Inclination and Conditions; and secondly, how it agrees with the time of both those eminent Accidents, his Coronation and Death.

First, for his Person, &c. He was of a Middle Stature; which is very well signified by the Positions of the Lord of the Ascendent and the Luminaries in Signes of Brevity. He was (as the Author of his Life avers) Titeneked; (i. e.) he held his Head upon one side: which Deformity is plainly seen by Saturn his Position in Taurus in Azimene and Pitted Degrees, he being Lord of the Ascendent. Besides, if (as Hermes saith) Venus adorns that part of Mans Body signified by the Signe wherein she is posited at Birth, then Saturn (being an Enemy to Nature) must necessarily deform that part represented by the Signe in which he is found; chiefly if he be Lord of the Ascendent, and in such Degrees as Saturn is here. He was also very Clerick and Haly; which is notably proved by the Moons being in Conjunction with Mars, &c. And his Ambition, Courage, Magnanimity, and great Spirit, is conspicuously evidenced by the Position of Caput Draco in Ascendente, in the Horoscope, and Saturn (who is Lord thereof) his being in Trine to the Moon and Mars; together with the Location of the Sun in the Exaltation of Jupiter, in Sextile to them all. Thus you see this Figure, and the severall Configurations of the Stars therein, exactly correspond with the Description of this eminent Natives Person, Inclination and Conditions, as related by the Author of his Life.

Secondly, I shall observe how it agrees with the times of his Coronation and Death; and what Directions those Accidents may be caused by. First, for his Coronation; which seems admirably well to be signified by the occurrence of the Mid-heaven to the Trine of Venus, who is in Conjunction (Plurickly) with the Benign Planet Jupiter in the seventh House, and he Lord of the Tenth, which happened near the one and twentieth year of his Age; at which time this Princely Native received the Royal Diadem.

Secondly, for his Death: which Accident was well denoted by the Moons Progress to the Quartile of Mercury, Lord of the eighth House, which happened in the eighth House in Libra, and the Promittor of the Evil posited in Cancer Retrograde; the Moon being Hylech in his Nativity, and Mercury Anareta.

And it is an Evidence sufficient in Art, that he was poisoned, (although Plutarch endeavors to excuse it) because the Direction was celebrated in so obscure a House or part of Heaven, and the Moon being in Conjunction of Mars, in the House of Mercury, whom you see is Retrograde in the sixth House of the Figure. And the matter seems to me the more clear, and fully confirmed, by Olympias his Mother, her making a Discovery thereof six years after, and causing divers Persons to be put to Death for the same.

When I consider the turbulence and unsettledness of this Kings Reign, I begin to conclude our late miserable Times no Wonder: for this King came to his Fathers Crown at two moneths old; and after he had reigned the space of nine and thirty years, was by the Earl of March degraded, and kept a Prisoner in the Tower of London twelve years, where at the last he was murdered by Richard Duke of Gloucester.

Sir Richard Baker saith he was a Pious Prince, and one of so gentle and mild a Disposition, that few men could equal; and he gives one remarkable instance thereof:---When being in his greatest Miseries and Afflictions, one rudely struck him, he gently replied,---Forsooth, you wrong your self more then me, to strike the Lords Anointed!

Upon November the 6. 1429. being aged eight years, he was crowned King at Westminster; the Mid-heaven was then directed ad Trium Luna: And near ten years of Age, he was crowned King of France at Paris; the Ascendent then came to the Body of the Moon by Direction.

Being aged twenty four years, he was married to that illustrious Lady, Margaret, Daughter to the Duke of Anjou; a Princess of most Masculine Resolution and Courage, as is eminently seen by Mars his being in Scorpio in the seventh House, in Sextile of Venus in the Tenth: he had then the Ascendent directed to the Sextile of Jupiter, who is Radically in Trine and Reception of the Sun.

When this great Prince was aged thirty nine years, he was captivated by the Earl of March, and by the consent of the People degraded of his Kingship, and afterwards sent Prisoner to the Tower of London: the Mid-heaven was then directed to the Quartile of the Moon, and suddenly after to the Quartile of Mars; and the Ascendent nigh about the same time, to the Opposition of Mercury.

was

On the 21 of May, 1642. being then aged fifty one years, and after his being twelve years imprisoned, he was murdered by the Hand of Richard then Duke of Glocester: the Ascendent was then directed ad Quartilum Saturni.

Sir Richard Baker saith, Although he was a Pious Prince, no Enterprize of War, where-ever he was present, did prosper with him, as if it had been a Destiny attended him. Had this learned Knight but been acquainted with Astrologie, and considered that the Moon had been in Opposition of Mars in his Nativity, and this from Angles; and Mars (which signified his Enemies) the most potent Planet in the Figure, he might have concluded it a Destiny indeed, and very hard to be withstood. The Reasons of his Captivity are, Venus, Lady of the Horoscope, in Quartile of Saturn: Jupiter, Lord of the Twelfth, in Quartile to the Ascendent: and, thirdly, Luna in Opposition of Mars, from fixed Signes and Angles. Which later being considered together with the Moon her being inter Pleiadum, which are violent fixed Stars, denoted his violent Death.

Thus much for this Great (yet most Unfortunate) Prince his Nativity.

Henry

One, pretending to Astrologie in England, about fourteen years since, presents us with the same Figure out of Cardanus; and telleth his Readers, That this Princely Native was cruel, and that his Cruelty was signified by Mars his being to near the Ascendent: but it is obvious to all that have eyes, this confident Pretender was mistaken; for Mars is above five Degrees distant from the Ascendent, and in no Aspect of the Moon and Mercury: Ergo, he can have nothing to do in the Signification of this Princely Natives Inclination or Manners. If he were inclined to Cruelty, it should (in my Opinion) be occasioned rather by the Lord of the Ascendent his being posited in Leo, in Opposition to Saturn, a cruel Planet. But Mercury being in Sextile of Venus, and she in Trine to his Ascendent, should make him more Debonair, Courteous and Gentle, then Cruel, and of a Temper most worthy to be beloved.

Although this buſie Aſtrophologiſt, miſtaking a Non-cause for a true Cause, he pleaſed to account him Cruel, yet he cloaths him with ſuch Epithets, that do not belong to a cruel Perſon : viz. We muſt (ſays he) acknowledge him to be the firſt that permitted the Goſpel to be preached: — And we have cauſe to account him a brave man that daſt in thoſe times oppoſe a rroud inſulting Clergie, &c. — And the Engliſh never had any Prince of that largeneſs of heart, nor any that did ſo great matters. Sir Walter Raleigh indeed gives but a bad Character of this illatrous Prince ; and it is probable, upon his Credit (which in ſome things I eſteem worthy, chiefly in ſuch where Prejudice beareth not the ſway) the before-mentioned pretended Artiſt hath endeavoured to ſtretch his Art, to make that ſay the ſame with this Noble Knight. Had his Nativity ſhewn him ſo vile, as Envy hath endeavoured to render him, I ſhould have relied upon Sir Walters Authority ; but finding his Geniture to diſſent, I ſhall rather endeavour to preſerve the worthy eſteem that learned Knight Sir Richard Baker hath of him.

His Manners, Temperatures and Inclinations, are to be judged from Mercury's Significations; and he (being in Trine of Luna, and Sextile of Venus, and in Sextile of the Ascendent also) according to Origanus, Facit ingenii genii acumene. Excellentes, Studiosos,--Doctrinarum Capaces, Dociles, Sagaces, Antiqua & Secreta in lucem revocantes, Vafros, solertes, cantos, bene con-jestantes, & cum dexteritate omnia facientes, &c. And that Prince that partakes of such illustrious Qualities, cannot (without Envy) be termed Cruel.

The same Gentleman tells us further, That the Moons being in \square of \mathcal{Q} , is one Argument of his having many Wives, or Wenches, &c. but he is as far distant from Truth in this, as a \square is distant from a \star ; for the \mathcal{Q} is in \star , not \square of \mathcal{Q} . The Quadrate of \mathcal{U} Lord of the seventh with \mathcal{S} , and the Quadrate of the Luminaries, together with \mathcal{U} 's \square to the Ascendent, might very well portend the unhappy Jars that happened between this Princely Native and his Queens: considering therewith, the \mathcal{Q} her being in \mathcal{V} , the House of \mathcal{S} , and in the West Angle, and \mathcal{Q} in \mathcal{S} of \mathcal{U} .

The Causes of this Heaven-favouring Prince, his changing his Religion, and endeavouring, a refining thereof, following the Steps of Luther and Calvin, may (Aitiologically) be referred to the Quadrate Aspect of \mathcal{U} and \mathcal{S} , and the Position of Cauda Draconis in the Ninth.

He Reigned 39 years over Great Britain; and lived until he was 56 years old, and upward, viz. until January the 28. 1547. at which time the Ascendent was directed to the Square of \mathcal{H} ; upon the Effects of which Direction, this great King expired.

I Have taken this Nativity from the Learned Ephemeridist - Master John Stadius, in fol. 15. of his Introduction to his Ephemerides.

This Kingly Native received the Crown of Great Britain at ten years of Age, viz. on January 28. 1547. (at which time K. Hen. 8. expired) he having then the Ascendent directed to the Body of \mathcal{Q} Lady of the House of Honour, Dignity and Supreme Power. He Reigned sole Monarch of Great Britain six years and five months: after which time he died, being in the sixteenth year of his Age, and labouring under the malicious Influence of three most cruel Directions: First, the Ascendent to the Body of \mathcal{H} , (who is Lord of the sixth House in this Geniture) as may more plainly appear:

Ascensio Obliqua Saturni

deg. min.

159. 41.

Ascensio Obliqua Ascendentis

143. 57.

Arcus Directionis

15. 44.

Secondly, he had the Sun to the \square of \mathcal{S} ; as hereby is evident: The Circle Circle of the Sun being 17. his Oblique Ascension is — 209. 26. The Proof is thus :

Ascensio Obliqua ☐ Martis 224. 16.

Ascensio Obliqua Solis 209. 26.

Arcus Directionis 14. 50.

Thirdly, the Moon directed ad Oppositum Martis; happening upon the Cusp of the sixth House, of danger equal to the other :

Descensio Obliqua ☿ Martis 296. 51.

Descensio Obliqua Luna 279. 54.

Arcus Directionis 16. 57.

The same Author that trifled with King Henry the 8th his Geniture, hath been (to little purpose) busying himself with this likewise; and tells us, — That the Pleiades Culminating; and four Planets being in their Descriments, or Falls, (although in Truth there are but three of them which so suffer, viz. the Sun, Moon and ☿) together with h's being in the Ascendent of this Nativity, might well give cause to suspect this King should neither live long, or have any quietness in his Reign. His Reign, I willingly grant, was somewhat disquieted and troubled; and indeed, he did not live very long: but he must needs be an incompetent Artist that shall refer this to the fore-mentioned Arguments in his Nativity. For King Henry the second and third of France, and divers other Princes and meaner Persons, have had as many Planets debilitated in their Nativities, and nevertheless have out-lived this Princely Natives years. And that glorious Prince, of ever famous memory, King James of England, had the Pleiades Culminating; and ☿ and h in ☐ of ☿ Lady of the tenth House, upon the Cusp thereof, (far worse then the Pleiades Culminating) and yet he was lyable to no such Infortunacies.

The eminent and true Astrological Reasons of this illustrious Natives short Life, and trouble some Reign, are these: The Quadrature of the Luminaries from Tropical and Equinoctial Signes; and ☿ Lord of the Ascendent being in exact Square of ☿, from violent fixed Signes, ☿ being in a malicious place of the Heavens. Nor is h's presence in the Horoscope always a Testimony of short Life; chiefly, if he be fortified, as in this Nativity he is, viz. by the presence of ☿, ☐ of ♃, and ♀ of ☿ his Dispositor.

Had this Pious Prince but missed the cruel Directions before-mentioned, in which the three principal Hylech's are concerned, and the Quartiles of the Luminaries, and of ☿ and ☿, not been so Pastil, he might have lived as long as most Kings that ever Reigned in England, and have Reigned quietly too, Notwithstanding h's presence in the Ascendent, or the Culminating of the Pleiades. Ill Positions are bad, but ill Directions are the surest Tokens of a short and troubled Life.

I cannot here omit the false Play that Gassendus useth toward Astrologers at large, and Cardanus in particular, about this Princes Geniture: For (saith he) Cardan predicted that King Edward should be very sickly in the 23, 24, and 25th year of his Age; and yet (saith he) the Records of England assure us that he died in the 16th year of his Life: And immediately after subjoyns this scoffing Quere; O! if Cardan had had the luck to have foretold that this King should fall into some dangerous Distemper in that year wherein he died, what joy, what triumph, what quacking would there have been among Astrologers?

But is it not a very great Argument that Gassendus either never read Cardan, or else by halves, and with Prejudice? for had he read him impartially, as an Author ought to be read, he would never have abused him, by relating what out of him serveth as an Occasion (though weak) whereon for him to fasten his Cerberian Fang. Cardan, it is true, supposing the Horoscope of this this Princes Birth to be the latter Degrees of A. saith — Ascendens ad Saturnum pervenit in aetate 23. Mensibus 9. diebus 22. Et tunc animi & corporis langorem patietur : which are but the Natural Effects of such a Direction. But Cardan, supposing a possibility for himself to erre in the Ascendence of this Radius, chuseth rather to rely upon the Directions of the Luminaries, as appeareth by these words out of him :

Deduxi (saith he) postmodum oppositum & ad id hoc modis ut praecepit Ptolemaeus, & suis distantia par 18. min. 7. quae si jungatur parti Septuagesima secunda, perveniet oppositum & ad id, in annis 18. mensibus 9. 4. quo tempore imminuebant insidiae a servis propriis & Periculum Vitae. Eodem tempore pervenit & ad id & hoc modo in annis 14. completis paulo plus. Hoc igitur tempore expresse imminuebat periculum amissionis etiam regni rebellionis causa, &c. Where you see that Cardan doth predict danger of Death, and of Rebellion also ; and although both were true, Astrologers have neither boasted nor bragged thereof, nor needed they indeed ; the Art being demonstrated by so many eminent Examples : but we see Gassendus hath cracked and quacked (worse then the weakest of Empericks) and altogether of a Falshood, onely to colour his Hatred against Astrologers at the more splendid rare. And let me tell all Gassendists, that had *Cardan*s Suppositive Ascendence of this Princes Geniture been true ; the Judgement he gave thereon had not been subject to so rash Censure : howbeit, Astrologie is sufficiently verified, and Gassendus proved an insulting Lyar, by Cardan his predicting Danger to the Life of this Prince in the year he died.

By this piece of Forgery, you may estimate the Truth of his Quirks and Quibbles against Nostredame and Morinus, and all others, whom he labours Tooth and Naylor to render Infamous, Contradictory, always mistaken, &c. I shall leave the whole to be censured by the Learned ; and request the Disciples of this lying Impostor, (for such he was, to say no worse of him) to remember the Orators words, — Qui semel verecundia fuit transierit, eum bene & graviter impudentem esse oportet : He that is once gone beyond the bounds of Truth and Modesty, it behoves him then, to grow impudent to purpose, and to lye beyond all line or measure. Mendax semel, mendax semper praesumitur.

Secondly, the Parvity or Smalness of this illustrious Ladies Honour, Estimation, Fame and Repute, by reason of the Persecution of Persons for matter of Conscience in her Reign, is eminently discovered from the exact Square of δ to the Sun and ξ in the Ascendent, in the Dignities of μ ; and this from Bi-corporeal Signes, δ being near Aldebaran, a fixed Star of the first Magnitude, of most malignant influence. Howbeit, I shall not be so bold, as others have been impudent, and lay the blame of all (or indeed any) of the Blood shed in her Reign, at her Door, as if she were the original Cause thereof: for it is obvious in Astrologie, that the Clergie were the eminent Occasioners of that tedious continued unhappiness; which began long before ever she came to the Crown. Dorth not μ oppose δ , and that from a fiery Signe? And is not δ in \square of \odot and ξ , who are in δ in \times ? May not a wilful and a stubborn people precipitate themselves to Destruction, but their Governour or Governesse must needs be Tyrannical and Cruel? It were most monstrous to conclude otherwise.

When the Ascendent came to the \ast of \odot , this illustrious Princess came to the Crown of Great Britain; viz. in the year 1553. being then aged near 37 years: a Direction very pertinent for such an Accident.

Suddenly after, viz. in 1554. this eminent Lady was married to Prince Philip of Spain: (and as a Remembrance very common of that inter-marriage, we have a Coyn that passeth among us with the Effigies of Philip and Mary:) this Accident was caused by the Suns Direction to the Δ of \odot .

This eminent Native died five years and a half after she began to Reign, being then aged above two and forty.

Ascentio Obliqua Martis, cum Circulo Ascentio Obliqua Solis

deg. min.

393. 5.

350. 46.

Arcus Directionis

42. 19.

And this Direction hath apt Signification thereof. Upon the very day she expired, viz. November 10. 1558. the \odot was in \square to the \odot 's Radical place, and in δ to the place of δ , Promittor in this cruel Direction. The \odot was then in exact \square of η 's Radical place, who is Lord of the Ascendent; and η was in Partile \square to the Ascendent of the Radix: all which were of dangerous consequence, in regard of the malicious Direction then operating.

Most Astrologers that have published this excellent Princesses Nativity formerly, were notoriously mistaken: for they make ν (a cold, dull, earthly, feminine Signe) to ascend on the East-Angle at Birth; when every one, that hath left any thing in print behinde them concerning this magnanimous Lady, report her to have been a most most Masculine-spirited Princess; endued with a high, lofty, and undaunted Resolution: One that feared not the Face or Fury of any Man. Which Princely Qualities, are most excellently well portended by the Regal Signe Sagittary, horoscoping at the time of her Intra into the World; and Jupiter, Lord thereof, his Position therein, (though Virtually and Locally in duodecima domo) the Degrees ascending being the Dignities of the Planet Mars.

One in England some years since, pretending to present unto the World this illustrious Queens true Nativity, tells his Readers, that she died when the Ascendent came to the Pleiades by Direction: and after a confident manner, (as if it had been impossible for him to have erred) he subjoyns these words: — I know no Reason (saith he) why she should have been angry with any Astrologer that should have said, — Madam, about the sixty ninth year of your Age, the Ascendent comes to the Pleiades, which denotes not onely sickness to your Person, but disturbance in your Government. But I know no Reason but that she might well have been angry at any one threatening her with so false a Fear: for she must have lived many more years then sixty nine, before ever that Direction could have happened. But besides, if it could have touched in her Life-time, and at the same time that mistaken Person would have had it, there is no Astrologer that I know of, (except himself) that ever averred such a Direction to portend Death: for the Pleiades, though appearing to us but as seven Stars, are four great Constellations, containing 126 Stars in number, that are (by the Assistance of good Optical Glasses) to be plainly seen; and to which of these the Ascendent should be directed to have such a fatal Effect, (for sure he intends not all at once) requires his better Explication. But I pass by this, as a point too nice for an Ignorant in Astronomy.

To prove this Nativity the true one, I shall verifie it by these three grand Accidents which happened to this eminent Princess in her Life-time: Viz.

1. In the 21 year of her Age, she was imprisoned, and laboured under many Crosses and Afflictions: she had then operating the Sun ad Quadratum Saturni, and this in the ninth House, exactly denoting the Cause for which she suffered, viz. Religion.

2. In the 25th year of her Age, this illustrious Native was crowned Queen of Great Britain, &c. and at this time the Ascendent was directed ad Trinum Solis; the onely Patron of Honour and Sovereignty.

3. Being 69 years old, she died: at which time she had the Ascendent directed ad Quartilum Saturni, in Ariete; a Signe that Saturn most mischievously hates.

In the Revolutional Figure for that year, there was a Conjunction of the two Infortunes in the opposite place of the Moon in her Nativity, and the Figure it self nearly in Quartile to that at Birth; the Lord of the Ascendent was in the Eighth, and the Sun was falling into the sixth House: And the very day of her death, viz. 24 of March, 1602. the Sun and Mars were in the place of the Direction, and the Moon was in Quadrant Aspect of them both.

James

I Have Calculated and Reduced the Suns place in this Nativity, by the Tables in my Dolline of Nativities; and the Planets places I have taken from the learned Stadius his Ephemerides for that time given, having had regard to Reduction.

Without the true place of the Sun, it is impossible to set the Figure right; and the Consideration hereof neglected, occasioned one among us (some fourteen years since) to erre no less then a Degree and a half in the Mid-heaven and fourth Houses, and a Degree in the Ascendent and seventh Houses, and (by consequence) the same in all the rest of the Figure: and yet the time given is the same by which I have corrected this Nativity, and the Poles Elevation the same also.

Here are several eminent Arguments of Acquisition of Honour and Dignity: as, (1.) The Sun being in exact * to the Ascendent from the tenth House: (2.) The Moon in Partile * of ♄, who is in ♄ of Pars Fortuna in the second House: (3.) ♀, who is domina decima, Lady of Sovereignty in this Geniture, is Culminating with divers eminent fixed Stars, and this in her own Dignities, thence casting a Δ to the second House: (4.) The Luminaries are in a strong Reception each with other, and the Lord of the Ascendent is in the tenth House, in ♄ of ☉, casting a * to the Ascendent.

But notwithstanding these eminent Arguments of Sovereignty, which were truly verified in this prudent and Princely Native, his being vested with the Crown of Great Britain, &c. he had many Difficulties attended his Reign, as our Chronicles expressly mention. I shall not trouble my self to enumerate them here, but shall acquaint the World, they were well portended by ♀ her Position so near ☉, and in perfect □ of ♄ and ♀, and ☉ and ♀ their being in □ of ♄ (Lord of the Seventh) from Cardinal Signes.

This Kingly Geniture was chiefly verified by these grand Accidents following:

First, his Coronation, he being aged near 37 years; which was occasioned by the Ascendents occurre to the Body of ♄, and * of ♄, just coming upon it.

	deg. min.
Oblique Ascension of ♄	181. 37.
Oblique Ascension of the Horosc.	145. 12.
The Ark of Direction	36. 25.

Secondly, the Powder-Plot; occasioned by the Ascendents occurre ad Quadratum Mercurii, in the 39th year of his Age.

Oblique

cular Treatise handled, and long since published to the World: I shall therefore forbear to do what I have already done, and refer the desirous Readers to that Piece, which contains a brief History of our late Confusions; and entituled, The Nativity of the late King CHARLES Astrologically performed, &c.

Yet considering this Book may be common when that may be scarce, I shall (for the satisfaction of those that have not seen that Book) demonstrate this to be the true Nativity of this Martyr'd and Murther'd Prince, thus:—In the 25th year of his Age, he was crowned King of Great Britain, and suddenly after was married unto the Daughter of King Henry the fourth of France: The Medium Celi was then directed ad Trinum Lunæ, in the Angle of Dignity.

This Princely Native in the 29th year of his Age, had the Mid-heaven directed ad Oppositum Solis; and then he dissolved his Parliament.

In the 38th year of his Age, the Scots pretend Religion, and rebel against him, though their lawful Sovereign: Then was the Moon under the Direction of the Body of Saturn, both with and without Latitude.

In the year 1641. being the forty first year of his Age, he summoned another Parliament, and they contend with their King for the Militia, &c. and then (by reason of Sectaries, and their divers pretended religious Outcries and Complaints made against the Bishops) his Miseries and Sorrows began to encrease to purpose: The Ascendent was then directed to the Quadrant of Venus Lady of the tenth House, and the Mid-heaven at the same time to the Quartile of Jupiter.

When he was 46 years old, he hazarded his glorious Person in the Scottish Army, and expected safety among them; but they, to their eternal Dishonour, sell him to the English Army, who kept him close Prisoner: The Ascendent was then directed ad Contrantiscium Lunæ, and an ill Revolution; besides, the malignant Planet Saturn was then transiting his Medium Celi.

Being aged 48 years, he was basely butchered under the pretence of Justice and Law, by his own Subjects; his Head being cut off by a Vizarded Villain, upon a Scaffold before his own Palace-Gate: The Ascendent was then directed to the ☐ of ☿. All which things you will finde more fully and particularly handled in the Discourse before noted.

After this unparallel'd and prodigious Tragedy was acted, the Regicides allowed some Loyal Persons the Liberty to Interr his Corpse: Which was done at Windsor, in a Coffin of Lead, with this Inscription upon it;

CHARLES, King of England.

A worthy Person standing by at the same time, threw this Dyssich into the Vault with him, relating to his innocent suffering:

Non Carolus Magnus, nec Carolus Quintus; Sed Carolus Agnus, hic jacet inus.

In English thus:

Not Charles the Fifth, nor Charles the Great, lies here; But Charles the Lamb! A Prince without a Peer.

Henry,

Henry, Duke of Gloucester, third Son to Charles the first, King of England, was born at the time within written, at White-hall, London.

If I may take the Liberty to speak freely, and according to the Rules of Art, it is one of the most unfortunate Nativities, for a Person of Princely Extraction, that ever I beheld; and yet I have seen some hundreds of illustrious Genitures.

For herein we finde the three superiour Planets Retrograde, and Jupiter Lord of the Ascendent under the Earth in Capricorn, which Astrologers term his Fall; then the Luminaries are in Conjunction (besieging poor Mercury) upon the Cusp of the eighth House, the most unfortunate part of the whole Heavens: and all of them in direct Quartile to the tenth House, and in Opposition to the Second.

The fortunate Planets are in Opposition from Angles and Cardinal Signes, and the Infortunes in perfect Conjunction in the second House. I spare to urge the Aphorisms Authors afford us for the true understanding of such Positions, their Significations being easily understood by the meanest Artist: all that I shall urge, is this: When this Princely Native was in a probable Capacity of attaining Dignities suitable to the Honour of his Birth, Death snatch'd him out of the World; and in the 20th year of his Age, cropt this lovely Flower before he was fully blown, to the unexpressible Grief of England.

I was, I confess, once of Opinion that the Sun or Moon could not be Hylech, if posited upon the Cusp of the eighth House; and thence was in good hopes, this hopeful Prince might have lived past the Sun to the Opposition of the Infortunes: but experience hath taught me otherwise, as by this following Demonstration appears:

Oblique Descent. \circ h. C. L.

deg. min.

163. 33.

Oblique Descent of \odot

143. 19.

The Ark of Direction

20. 14.

And at the same time the Sun was nearly directed to the Opposition of \odot , sive Latitude. This famous Prince being ill of the Small Pox, the Physicians let him Blood, as I have been told, three times; which, together with his Distemper, brought him to such a pass for weakness, that in very few days after, (notwithstanding the best Cordials they could devise) he died. I should judge this sad Effect of Blood-letting, might occasion our learned Physicians to consider, Whether Phlebotomy be at all proper to a person in such a Distemper; and if so, Whether in this Clymate. The Physicians were Learned and Loyal, but this Princes Fate most Cruel.

F

Revolutio

and ☐ of ♂ in the Revolution ; which was at the beginning of September, 1660. And on the 13th day of that Moneth, this Princely Native expired.

His eminent Lady was the second Daughter unto Charles the First, King of Great Britain : and to demonstrate it to be her true Nativity, I have verified it by Accidents both eminent and considerable.

Being aged seven years, the Ascendent came to the Quadrant of the Moon by Direction ; at which time this illustrious Lady had the sad misfortune to break her Thigh by an unhappy fall ; and at the same time she was very much afflicted with the Jaundies : Which two unhappy Accidents, were very aptly portended by the before-said Direction. It's proved thus :

Ascentio Obliqua ☐ Luna

deg. min.

198. 42.

Ascentio Obliqua Horoscopi

191. 36.

Arcus Directionis

7. 6.

I have heard it credibly reported (by persons which very well knew) that this young Lady was generally very sickly; and the Report is no way improbable: for here is one Infirmitie in her Ascendent, and the other in exact Quartile to it; and both the Luminaries are in Quadrate to it also, and this from the fourth House. But it was also reported of her, that notwithstanding her Affliction of Body, yet in the Intervals of Health, she would discover a most Princely Disposition of Minde: for in most things she was very Ingenious, Witty and Apprehensive. She was very curious in her Disquisitions after Novelties, and expressed very much Delight therein; as indeed most persons do, that have ♀ in any good Aspect of ♂; chiefly, from the Ascendent and third House. She loved Poetry and Oratory, and delighted much in Quaint Language: and this is no Wonder at all; for she hath ♀ in * of ♂ in the Ascendent, and in Reception of his Dispositor; and ♀ in □ and Reception of ♂. All which are Arguments of a sharp and active Fancie.

As you see a great many Arguments of a short Life in her Radix, so (to shew the Stars are not void of Influence) she accordingly died Young; being not full fifteen years of Age when she expired; the Ascendent being then directed to the Body of ♂ in ♌.

Ascensio Obliqua ♂ Martis S. L.
Ascensio Obliqua Horoscopi

deg. min.

206. 18.

191. 36.

Arcus Directionis

14. 42.

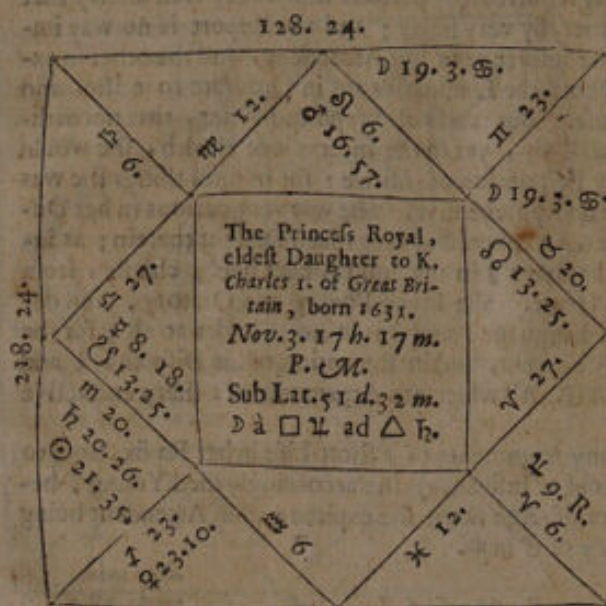

She had been ill two years before, having laboured so long under the Ascendent ad ♂ ♂ cum Latitudine, ♂ □ Solis; and underwent many Miseries and Troubles from the time of her sacred Fathers Murther, until September 8. 1650. on which day she died. ♄ was then in exact ♂ to the ♀ in her Radix, and nearly in ♂ to her ☉, and □ to her Ascendent, the ♀ being that day in ♂ of ♄, Lord of the Fourth in her Geniture, and ♂ in exact ♂ to the Ascendent of the Revolution.

Here we finde the fiery Planet ♂ in the Ascendent, in exact □ of ♄ Lord of the Sixth in the Radix, and he here in the eighth House; and the ♀ posited in ♂ to the Ascendent at Birth, and the almost Degree thereof upon the Centre of the eighth House in the Revolution: besides, ♄ Lord of the Ascendent here, is in ♂ to ♀ Lady of the Eighth, and of ♄ Lord of the fourth House. And thus you may behold the signal Concurrence there is between Revolutions and Radixes; by considering which, an Artist may (with pains) predict, what some account impossible, viz. The time of any Natives Expiration.

The

AT the time of my publishing the Nativity of our late glorious Sovereign King Charles the first, I was wrought upon by a Pretender to Astrologie, to publish a false Scheme of the Nativity of this great Lady: and wanting proper Accidents to verifie it by, and being over-credulous of the Fidelity of the Gentleman that gave it me, I did, upon his bare Word and Credit, print it; but since have discovered the Weakness or Wilfulness of him, and cannot but blame my own easiness of Disposition a little, that I should suffer my self to be (by cracking VVords and Pretences) cheated into a good Opinion of what was most erroneous.

This (sine dubio) is the true Nativity of that eminent Princess, and nearly agreeth with the curious Observation of that late Reverend Father in God, the Archbishop of Canterbury, who hath (inter alia) set down the same in his Diary.

This Princess was married to the Prince of Aurange in 1641. at which time the Medium Celi was directed to the Body of Mars Lord of the Seventh in the Nativity: which Direction was very proper and pertinent for that Accident.

Upon December the 24th, 1660. this great Lady departed this Life, having some few days been ill of the Small Pox: the Physicians bled her, as before they had done his Highness the Duke of Glocester, being sick of, and expiring by, the same Distemper. There was then operating the Ascendent to the Quartile of Mars by Direction; a Direction of most dangerous portent.

	deg. min.
Ascensio Obliqua □ Martis	247. 4.
Ascensio Obliqua Horoscopi	218. 24.
	—
Arcus Directionis	28. 40.

But, to concomitate this most unfortunate Direction, there happened on November 4. 1659. an Eclipse of the Sun in his Radical place, in this eminent Princesses Geniture: nor was the Revolution any way fortunating this illustrious Native, but assisting in the before-mentioned Cruelty; as from the Figure it self doth eminently appear.

Revolution

♄ in ♋, besieged of ♀ and ♂, is an eminent Testimony of a Defect in this Princely Natives Speech: and had not the Moon cast her friendly Rays thither, that sad Position might (for ought I can perceive in the Figure else to assist) have occasioned an absolute Dumbness. I have heard several eminent Persons relate, That this honourable Native was but meanly furnished with Elocution; and that when he spake earnestly, he spake with much difficulty, &c. yet his Understanding and Intellectuals were firm and good; and that he was of Apprehension quick and ready. It is the Opinion of the learned Cardanus, that ♀ with ♂ may impede the Speech, but yet they make the Native of Fancie profound.

Having laboured long of a tedious lingering Consumption, this Princely Native, in the forty third year currant of his Life, upon the 30 of March, 1655. expired, there being then two unfortunate Directions operating together, viz. the Ascendent to the ☐ of the ♀, and to the ♂ of ♄, both with and without Latitude, and this from fixed Signes.

1. The Ascendent directed ad Quartilum Luna.

	deg. min.
Ascentio Obliqua ☐ Luna	340. 46.
Ascentio Obliqua Ascendentis	298. 6.
Arcus Directionis	42. 40.

2. The Ascendent directed ad Oppositum Jovis.

	deg. min.
Ascentio Obliqua ♂ Jovis	340. 12.
Ascentio Obliqua Ascendentis	298. 6.
Arcus Directionis	42. 6.

But besides these two Directions, the Sun was nearly under the ☐ of ♄ in the sixth House, near violent fixed Stars; and for the year of Death, he had the Revolution following.

The Angles of the Figure are Cardinal, and (most of them) violent Signes. ♄, Lord of the Ascendent in the Radix, in the Radical place of ♀: ♀ in ☐; and ♂ and ♄ nearly in ♂ to the ♀'s Radical place: the ☉ and the ♀ in ♋ in the Ascendent, the one Lord of the Sixth, (and Eighth of the Radix) and the other Lady of the Fourth in this Figure; Arguments most dangerous.

And upon the day of this Princely Natives Death, the Moon was in the Revolutional place of ♂.

♂, and opposite to her own Radical place. ♂ Lord of the Eighth, was in exact ☐ of ♀ Lord of the Ascendent at Birth; and this from the prime Angles of the Revolution: the Moon was then also applying to a hateful Quadrate of ♀. Thus much for this Nativity.

I shall not stand to give you any large (Astrological) Account of the Actions, Manners, &c. of this most eminent Prince; but refer you to the History of his Life for that. But this I shall acquaint the ingenious Reader, That it was no hard matter, or Prediction impossible, for the learned Gauricus to foretel the Death of this Princely Native by a Wound in his Head; and this to happen in the forty first year of his Age: if it be considered, that the Sun was in ♀, (a Signe representing the Head) and squared both by Mars and Saturnus, (who are Competitors in the discovery of the kind of Death this illustrious Native should die, as being both of them essentially dignified in the Eighth) and opposed by Jupiter a Planet posited in the Sixth, and all from Cardinal Signes: and that in the year of his Death, the Ascendent was directed to the Quadrate Aspect of Mars, Dispositor of the Sun.

Now the learned Gauricus having taken pains in the Geniture of this great Prince, (and that five years before he died) did, like a good Artist, (and Christian too) forewarn him by several Advisees, to forbear running at the Tilt; (the grand Exercise then in use) in the forty first year of his Age; for that the Stars did then threaten a Wound in his Head, which would cause either Blindness or Death: which Prediction was most remarkably fulfilled in the same year, and by the same Action before noted; for as he was running at the Tilt with the Earl of Montgomery, a Shiver of his Lance pierced into his Head, through the Vizard of his Helmet; of which Wound he, according to Gauricus's Prediction, died.

But now, if any shall Question how Gauricus could hit so right of the Exercise this illustrious Prince should loose his Life by; or whether Particulars of so rare Signification and Portent can be read in the Heavens or Stars: I answer: Gauricus did not predict the kind of Exercise by which Death should come, but the time of Death onely, by the Stars. The kind of Death, his Reason led him to consider of; Tilting being the onely Exercise then in use, as was before remembred. So that to mix Reason with Art, is not unworthy the best of Artists; and indeed without so doing, a Man can be no good Astrologer.

The

The Direction that cut off Life, was this :

	deg. min.
Ascentio Obliqua Martis	76. 16.
Ascentio Obliqua Ascendentis	35. 58.
Arcus Directionis	40. 18.

Temp. Directionis secundum	}	A.	D.	H.
Naybode Institutum		40.	324.	7.

At which time this eminent Prince expired.

IN the Figure of this Princely Natives lying down, the Ascendent is the opposite place of Mars in his Nativity; and the Seventh (qua Morti adscribitur, sicut Ascendens vite, Argol saith) is the place of Mars and Hercules. Saturn, Lord of the Ascendent, is in Quartile of Mercury, Lord of the Ascendent of the Radix, and near the Radical place of the Moon. The Moon is in Quartile of Venus from the Sixth, and Venus, Lady of the Fifth, signifying Pleasures, is Peregrine in the Eighth. Sol, Lord of the Eighth, in the Eighth, (i. e.) within five Degrees thereof. Argol says, ♄ placitè Opposita ♄ & ambo in via lactea, quod oculis noceant. I allow they are in the Milky-way both of them; but the Moon is not in Platicque Opposition to Mars: howbeit, there are other dangerous Testimonies without it.

Gassendus is so much mistaken, as to tell his Readers, that it was (nor this Henry, but) Henry the third of France that died of such a Wound, as is before noted: but that is as true as the rest of his vain and fruitless Cavils against either Astrologie at large, or the learned Gauricus in particular. What pity is it, that a witty Man should be wilfully vain, and causelessly captious!

Henry

This is the Figure that Argol (in his Book de diebus Criticis) presents us with, for the Nativity of this illustrious Prince. He pretends principally to correct it by the time of his Death: and to prove it agreeable to the time thereof, he tells us, the Directions which occasioned that Mortal Accident, were (1.) The Ascendent ad ♄ in 12: (2.) ♄ ad Sextilum ♄: (3.) the ♄ ad △ Martis. Risum teneatis amici!

That either of these Directions are of Energie sufficient to kill, we may as soon believe, as that the Sun is in our Antaci, or Antipodes, when it is high Noon with us! Did ever any Astrologer before, aver that such Directions which are naturally fortunate, could kill? If they have, I must acknowledge it beyond, not onely my Reading, but Reason. However the mistake came, Argol himself is of a quite different Opinion, in his Ptol. Parv. Lib. 3. lately published.

Had Argol in stead of ♄ 7 deg. 6 min. given ♄ 16 deg. 30 min. in the Ascendent, ♄ would then have been placed in the eighth house of the Heavens, and the Ascendent (in the thirty eighth year of this Princely Natives Age current) had come (as without doubt it did) to the ♄ of ♄ by Direction; and this in ♄, the Detriment of ♄, and the most malignant and contrary place to him in the Zodiack. Which Rectification, I refer to all ingenious Artists to consider.

	deg. min.
Ascensio Obliqua ♄ ♄	121. 42.
Ascensio Obliqua Ascendentis	84. 17.
Arctus Directionis	37. 25.

Which Arch according to Naybodes Measure of Time, gives 37 A. 351 D. 11 H. and at that time this eminent Native was slain by one James Clement a Jacobine.

Such prodigious Mistakes, as this of Argol's, hath given the greatest occasion to the Adversaries of Astrologie, to bespatter and blemish it, as they commonly do: whereas you see the Errour is, Non ex Scientia imbecillitate, sed professorum; Not from any uncertainty in the Science, but Negligence and Weakness of the Artist.

To prove this Correction of mine yet further, I shall add another Accident, by which it is confirmed, viz. his Coronation; and that was admirably well signified by the Ascendents occurre to the ♄ of the Sun by Direction.

H

Oblique

Oblique Ascension of * ☉

Oblique Ascension of the Ascendent

The Ark of Direction

deg. min.

107. 14.

84. 17.

22. 57.

Which being turned into time, according to Naybode, gives 23 A. 103 D. 20 H. at which time this great Prince was Crowned.

If any Person shall demand why this Princely Native should die a violent Death: I answer, That, by my aforesaid Rectification, the ☽ is Lady of the Ascendent, and in ☐ of the cruel Planet ♄, who is Lord of the Eighth, and in the Eighth, from fixed Signs. Secondly, ☿ is in the fourth House, in Quadrature to ♀ in the Ascendent, from Cardinal Signs. Thirdly, all the Significators of Death are near violent fixed Stars. And the Stars of the Archer descend on the eighth House, they being of the Nature of the Sun and ☿; and some of the same Nature are near ♄ in the Eighth. The ☽ is near Caput Medusæ, and the Pleiades, she having five Degrees of South-Latitude: which Stars are of the Nature of ♄, ☿ and ♀.

Thus much may serve for the Correction and Amendment of Andrem Argol's Errour, and for the Redemption of the Credit of Astrologie, in the Geniture of this eminent Prince. The day he died, the ☽ was in exact ☐ to the Ascendent of his Nativity, and ☿ was in ☿ to the ☽ therein: ☿ was also in ☐ of the Sun that day, and upon (or near) the ☐-place of the Direction. Thus much for this Geniture.

125. 21.

Wanting the assistance here, that is required in such a Nativity, I shall content my self with the Authority of Argol, de dieb. Crit. Lib. 2. p. 35. where he presents us but with one Accident by which it is verified, viz. That of this Princely Natives Death.

The Radical Reasons of a violent Death, he says, are these, viz. Luna solitaria cum imperante Saturni prope occidentalem angulum in Quadrato Martis juncti cum Cauda Draconis; Pleiades in Octava, ambo Luminaria in signis violentis nec contiguus: Venus domina Ascendentis & Octava, in domo Martis peregrina. And these are not inconsiderable Arguments of a violent Death, but very pertinent perante Saturni prope occidentalem angulum in Quadrato Martis juncti cum Cauda Draconis; Pleiades in Octava, ambo Luminaria in signis violentis nec contiguus: Venus domina Ascendentis & Octava, in domo Martis peregrina.

pertinent and proper to signifie the same. It is most true, that this illustrious Prince was slain by that bloody Villain Raviliac, on May 14. 1610. at which time the Ascendent was directed to the Quadrate Aspect of h , Lord of the fourth House in this Nativity.

Ascentio Obliqua \square Saturni
Ascentio Obliqua Ascendentis

deg. min.

271. 46.

215. 21.

Arcus Directionis.

56. 25.

Which Ark of Direction turned into time, according to the learned Naybodes Measure of Time, gives 57 years, 88 days, &c. which wants but a very small quantity of time to agree exactly with the before-mentioned Accident. The D was also directed ad Oculum Tauri, in the eighth House; a Direction most dangerous.

I shall in the next place present the Face of Heaven under which he was assaulted and slain; which happened on May 14. 4h. 48 m. P. M. 1610. as by the following Figure may appear.

AT the time of this Kingly Natives Death, we finde, — Venus Domina Ascendentis, ac Octava domus inter procellosas Pleiades Constituta, Combusta, & in Quadrato Saturni, & Martis; Domina etiam Ascendentis Nativitatis. Mars ad locum Saturni in Radice; & in Antiscio Ascendentium; & Cauda Draconis ad locum Mercurii pro prodicione, & Luna ad Mercurio defluit ad Saturnum. (i.e.) Venus Lady of the Ascendent and eighth House, is Combust, and constituted among the violent and tempestuous Stars, called the Pleiades; in Quartile of Saturn and Mars; she is also Lady of the Ascendent of the Nativity, the Figures being nearly one. Mars is near the Radical place of Saturn, and in Antiscio to the Ascendent: The Dragons Tayl is near the place of Mercury, (arguing the Treachery by which he lost his Life) and the Moon defluxing from a Quadrate of Mercury, to a Conjunction of Saturn: all of them being most dangerous Transits and Positions. Thus much for this eminent Gemiture.

Arcus Directionis

According to the learned Naybodes Measure of Time, gives 57 years, 88 days, &c. which wants but a very small quantity of time to agree exactly with the before-mentioned Accident.

This eminent and illustrious Lady, was the Queen of Uladislans, King of Hungary & Bohemia; and had Issue of her Body, Male and Female, fifteen Children, viz. four Sons, and eleven Daughters; and died in travel of the sixteenth Childe.

The Names of her four Sons, and years of their Births, are thus in order:

1. Maximilian,	} born in the year	1527.
2. Ferdinand,		1529.
3. John,		1538.
4. Charles,		1540.

The Names of her eleven Daughters, and the several years of their Births, are thus in order:

1. Elizabeth,	} born in the year	1526.
2. Anna,		1528.
3. Mary,		1531.
4. Magdalen,		1532.
5. Katharine,		1533.
6. Eleonor,		1534.
7. Margaret,		1536.
8. Barbara,		1539.
9. Ursula,		1541.
10. Helena,		1543.
11. Joanna,		1546.

And of the twelfth Daughter, but sixteenth Childe, she died in Travel, at the City of Prague, anno Domini 1547. being then near forty and four years of Age: The Ascendent came then to the Body of Saturn in Cancer (a place most fatal, as having signification of the Breast, &c.) by Direction; who is the true Anaretas, or Destroyer of Life in this Nativity; he being Lord of the eighth House therein.

Ascensio Obliqua & Saturni est 77. 38. 17. deg. min. sec.
Ascensio Obliqua Ascendentis est 34. 17. 17. deg. min. sec.

Arcus Directionis

43. 21.

Which according to Naybodes Measure of Time, gives 43 years, 359 days. The Manner or Quality of this Ladies Death, is not obscurely made known; for for the ♀ is locally in the Fifth, thence casting an exact ☐ to the Ascendant; and she disposes of ♄ Lord of the Eighth, and is going also to a Quadrate of ☿, a Planet in the Ascendant. Secondly, ♄ Lord of the Ascendant, is in the fifth House, in ♄ of ♀, and both of them in ☐ of ☿, who is in ♄ with Oculus Tauri; a violent fixed Star of the first Magnitude. Camaratus, from whom I have this Nativity, makes ☿ in Sexta, Domicilio Veneris, in ☐ ♄, & ♄ Octava Domus Dominorum, to be another Testimony of the Quality of this Princesses Death: but we, in our days, do not allow imaginary Points to emit Rays.

The Arguments of Fecundity or Fruitfulness, are the D in δ of φ and ψ in the fifth House, and all of them in * of ψ , a Prolifical Planet in a Prolifical Signe, and ψ his casting a * Aspect to the Ascendent.

His eminent and illustrious Princess, was Queen to King Henry 4. of France, surnamed the Great; and Mother to the most illustrious Henrietta Maria, Queen of Great Britain, the Widowed Queen of King Charles the first of ever glorious memory.

She was born at the time within written ; and in her Life-time subject to many notorious Scandals, Ca-

That the latter should be as Goads and Thorns in the sides of her Honour, Repute and Good Name, is plainly to be seen by that eminent Satellitium of the Planets in and near the ninth House; and the ♃ being in the House of ♃, in ♄ of ♄ in the Ninth also. And that the Rabble-Rout, the Multitude, should cherish and believe what Reports and Scandals the others should broach and set on foot, is conspicuously evident from the ♃ her being in ♄ of ♄, ♀ and ♃ from double-bodied Signs; and from her being so near her South Node, called of the Greeks Karabudzon, or Cauda Draconis, in m in the third House; as also from the cruel Planet ♄, his casting a malicious ☐ to the Ascendent from ♄, on the Cusp of the Fourth.

This great Queen was most unfortunate in her Relation, although she was the Daughter of a King, Wife of a King, and Mother of Kings ! which is eminently signified by the ☐ of ♀ to the Ascendant from the Fourth, and the ♀ her being in ♄ with ☿ in the Third, and in ♁ to ☿ Lord of the Third.

Neither

Neither the Happines or Misfortunes that attended this honoured Ladies Life, shall I trouble either my self or Readers with: a Confutation or Confirmation thereof, cannot reasonably be expected from me. Whether she were better then, or so bad as, the Trumpet of Fame hath proclaimed her, I leave to the Artists of after-Ages to consider; who, by beholding her Geniture, will be drawn rather to pity then condemn her. I shall onely say thus much: That notwithstanding the many prodigious Calumnies, Reproaches and Vilifications her whole Life was interwoven with, (by which, as Vertue and true Worth are rated, she may be deemed undeserving and guiltless of all Opprobies cast upon her Name and Honour) yet she went to the Grave in a full Age, wanting not much above three Solar Revolutions of the best of Persons; whereas the Wicked live not out half their days.

The Direction upon whose Effects she expired, was the Ascendent (Giver of Life in her Nativity) to the δ of \odot .

	deg. min.
Ascentio Obliqua δ Solis	238. 20.
Ascentio Obliqua Ascendentis	172. 57.
Arcus Directionis	65. 23.

Which according to Valentine Nabhodes Measure of Time, gives 66 years, 125 days, and happened in the beginning of her 67th year currant: (i. e.) in the year of our Lord 1642. viz. suddenly after she returned from England. Thus much may suffice for this eminent Queens Nativity.

SEBASTIAN, the illustrious King of Portugal, died a violent Death, of two Wounds which he received in his head, in his expedition to Affrick: and this in the flower and prime of his Youth; being aged but twenty four years, or thereabouts.

The Reasons in Astrologic for a violent Death in this Princes Nativity, are (as Argol truly saith) Mars cum Sole in signo humano; cum testimonio Mercurii domini Octava Occidentalis; Luna in Opposito Solis; Martis, & Mercurii: [He might have noted their casting a \square to the Ascendent also, chiefly the ν and ψ] Venus Domina Septima [ubi Pleiades] cum Cauda Draconis, &c. (i. e.) δ Lord of the Ascendent in δ of the \odot in a humane Signe; and of ψ , who is Lord of the Eighth, and Occidental: the ν in Opposition of them all, all casting the last day of November the same year. Argol, in this, comes nearest the Truth, and may therefore be the more credited. But although Argol be credited in the Birth-time of this Potent King, yet in his Death he was much mistaken, no less then a whole moneth; for he reports it to have been upon October 16. 1632. when the Gazets or News-books of the particular year in which he was slain, (as my self have seen in Italian, in the Hands of * Francis my worthy Friend Mr. F. B. *) report it to have been on November 16. Bernard, 1632.

This, and other such Misfortunes in the Genethliacal part of Astrologie, shew it in as much want of its History, as any other part of Philosophy, (as a learned Person of this Nation, in the year 1653. complained ingeniously of) it being the onely Via Regia, the Kingly Way, to its Perfection.

To prove this the true Nativity of this great King, Observe,

1. He came to the Crown of Sweden, &c. being aged 24 years; and then the Ascendent was directed to the * of $\mathbf{\Lambda}$, and Δ of $\mathbf{\eta}$.
2. He made War upon Prussia, and went himself in Person, being aged 32 years: Medium Celi came then by Direction to the Δ of the $\mathbf{\eta}$.
3. He wars against the Emperour, takes Frankfort; and by his means poor Germany for many years together was made (Sedes Belli) the Seat of War; and this even to its Ruine: The \odot was then directed to the Body of $\mathbf{\eta}$.
4. Being aged 38 years, and having laboured for a year, (and more) immediately before his Expiration, under many Misfortunes; as well was portended by the Mid-heavens occurse to the Quartiles of $\mathbf{\eta}$ and $\mathbf{\Lambda}$, and to the Body of $\mathbf{\delta}$. But the Direction that ushered in his Death, was the \odot to the $\mathbf{\delta}$ of $\mathbf{\eta}$ in the eighth House, and to the \square of $\mathbf{\delta}$, Lord of the Fourth.

Proof thereof:

	deg. min.		deg. min.
Ascensio Obliq. $\mathbf{\delta}$ $\mathbf{\eta}$	349. 16.	Ascensio Obliq. \square $\mathbf{\delta}$	349. 24.
Ascensio Obliq. Solis	311. 0.	Ascensio Obliq. \odot	311. 0.
Arcus Directionis	38. 16.	Arcus Directionis	38. 24.

Then the which, nothing can be more plain to portend his Death.

The Arguments of a violent Death, are, (1.) Stars of a violent nature Horoscoping and possessing the opposite Angle: (2.) $\mathbf{\Lambda}$ Lord of the Ascendent in $\mathbf{\delta}$ of $\mathbf{\eta}$, and \square of $\mathbf{\delta}$, in violent fixed Signes: (3.) The \odot with Stars of a Malefique nature. Argol makes another Argument of—Luna prope Caput Medusa servata Latitudine: but he is mistaken; for although Caput Medusa have 22 deg. of North Latitude from the Ecliptique, yet the $\mathbf{\delta}$ is above 25 deg. distant from him, her Circle of Position considered. Howbeit, he may the better be excused, because the other Testimonies are sufficient.

I cannot cry out with Argol, Digna admiratione est haec fatalis hora! because I know it not; neither in truth did he: but the day of his Expiration is worthy of Admiration enough! for then was the \odot upon the very degree of $\mathbf{\delta}$, in $\mathbf{\delta}$ to $\mathbf{\Lambda}$ Lord of the Ascendent, and in \square to his Radical place. A day most ominous! as indeed to this potent and mighty King it proved.

Frederick

AT the time which in written, as it is commonly received among Astrologers, was this illustrious Emperour born: and it is very likely to be the true time of his Nativity, because it so notably agrees with the Nature, Manner and Quality of his Reign, &c. For, first, he was inactive and remiss; and by reason thereof, his Reign was but obscure:

(i. e.) comparatively so only; (for he was not so obscure, but that he was taken notice of, and by all European Princes acknowledged to be Emperour, &c.) The Reason of his Inactivity, and of not making such a bustle in the World as some of his Predecessors, is very significantly seen from the Sun, Moon and Mercury, their Opposition to Saturn Lord of the tenth House, (viz. the House of Honour, Eminencie and Dignity) and he Retrograde upon the very Cusp of the same; as also from Mercury, Lord of the Ascendent, his being Combust; and the Moons Opposition to Mars, who is in Conjunction of Cauda Draconis in the tenth House: nor is the Quartile of Jupiter and Mars meanly to be considered herein.

Secondly, although his Reign was (Comparatively) obscure, yet it was Moderately, Quiet and Peaceable; which is singularly well denoted from the Sextile of the Sun and Jupiter, and the Position of Pars Fortuna in the Ascendent; and the Moon, Saturn and Mars, casting friendly Aspects thereunto; and from Venus her arising into the same. And for Persons (let them be Illustrious or Mean) that have unfortunate Genitures, to content themselves with Moderation, [the Golden Mean] is no less Vertue and Honour, then for such that have the most Noble and Propitious ones, to aim at, and achieve the very highest of Things.

As this eminent Native lived peaceably, so he died a quiet and natural Death: which some may wonder at, by considering the before-mentioned Configurations. But, if we consider Saturn (who is wholly Lord of the Eighth) his being posited in Capricorn, we shall finde that he signifies, not a violent, but a natural Death, according to Ptolomy, Lib. 4. Cap. 10. Quadrup. h. Mortis praefectus, obitus efficit post diuturnos morbos, Pibysin, Rheumatismos, & febres cum rigore: Item per affectiones lienis; hydropicas, Colicas, Vetricine affectiones, & quotquot ex frigoris multitudine constant: and of a long-lingering tedious Disease, he did die. The Direction occasioning it, was the Ascendent to the Body of the Sun.

Ascensio Obliqua Solis

Ascensio Obliqua Horoscopi

Arcus Directionis

deg. min.

80. 2.

31. 31.

48. 31.

K

It

It is eminently worth the noting, that at the same time this Princely Native expired, viz. on April 2. 1657. S. N. 4 h. Mars, was upon the opposite place of the Sun, Moon, and of the Direction also; and the Radical place of Mars then ascended on the Eastern Finitor: the Moon was then in Opposition of the Ascendent of the Radix, and unto Venus Lady of the sixth House in that Figure.

Upon the Day of the Revolution that year, Mars was transiting the Radical place of the Moon, and the Moon lately separating from an Opposition of Saturn, Lord of the Eighth, in the Radix. Thus much for this Nativity.

THis eminent King was Son to King Henry the 4. and Father of the present King of France, and Brother to the illustrious, and of late eminent suffering, Queen of England. He was born at the time within written, and died in the Moneth of April, 1643. being somewhat above 41 years old.

It hath been con-troverted very much, Whether this eminent Native died a natural or a violent Death. Some will have it that he died a violent Death, viz. by Poyson: Others, that he died a natural Death, viz. of a Fever, &c. But his Nativity doth seem (some, and I have no reason to be partial herein) to side with the Reports and Opinions of those that affirm he died a violent Death, (and that by Poyson.)

For (1.) Saturn is Lord of the Eighth, and he posited in Scorpio, a Signe violent, malicious and poysonous. (2.) He is there in exact Quartile of Mars, a violent fiery Planet, and his Dispositor. (3.) The Moon (Lady of the Horoscope) is going to the Body of one, and Quadrate Aspect of the other. (4.) A violent Star upon the sixth House, and the Lord thereof Combust; and the Sun and he, both, are in Quartile to the Ascendent from Cardinal Signes. (5.) The Moon is in via Combusta. These are eminent Arguments of a violent Death.

The kind of Death is apparently enough to be discovered; for Saturn being Lord thereof, and posited in a violent venomous Signe, denotes (as I urged before) Death by Poyson. See Cardan, Seg. 2. Aph. 108. Origamus consents to the same Opinion, fol. 726. de Effetib. Albubater says, If Saturn be the alone Significator of a violent Death, he denotes Death by Poyson. And he saith further, The Lord of the Eighth Peregrine, and afflicted of Saturn

or

or Mars, he being in Cancer, Scorpio or Pisces, the Native shall die by the Sting or Venome of a Serpent, or else by Poyson. These Aphorisms I have translated from Albubater, and printed them in my Doctrine of Nativities, Part 1. fol. 148.

This Kingly Native laboured under many Misfortunes, both of Body and Minde, five years together before he departed this Life; as was most notably and aptly signified by the Ascendents occurre to the Body of Mars, about five years before, viz. in the 36th year of his Age.

	deg. min.
Ascensio Obliqua & Martis	107. 50.
Ascensio Obliqua Ascendentis	71. 45.
Arcus Directionis	36. 5.

But the Direction which occasioned his Death, was the Ascendent to the Quattile of Saturn, Lord of the Eighth: it happened in Leo, a place that Saturn so eminently hates.

	deg. min.
Ascensio Obliqua ☐ Saturni	112. 28.
Ascensio Obliqua Ascendentis	71. 45.
Arcus Directionis	40. 43.

At the time of this great Kings Expiration, the fiery Planet ☿ was upon the Ascendent of his Radix; a Transit very dangerous, in regard it is his Detriment, and he then in ☐ to ♄, whose ☐ was the Promittor of Death! ♄ was in ♊, in ☿ to the ☉ and ♃, and ☿ in ☐ of them both. All which (together with his bad Revolution) were Arguments eminently prodigious, and remarkably pertinent to the time and manner of this Princely Natives Death; chiefly, as being concomitated by so dire Directions,

I Have already published this prodigious Prince his Nativity at large, under the Title of Merlinus Verax; at what time Astrologie (by reason of him) was in danger of an utter and unavoidable Disparagement. For this Prince being engaged with most Princes in Europe, (so lofty and great an undertaking Spirit had he) the more politickly (as he thought) to bring his Designs about, he bribes a Quack in Astrologie with a Gold Chain, to predict him Victory and and Success over his Enemies from the Stars: which unfortunate Bribe, (for so it proved both to the Astrologer and to himself at last) procured such kind of Predictions from his Astrologers Pen, that Astrologie and Reason were never in the least acquainted with. For the Sibyls and Mother Shiptons &c. are conjured out of their Graves to assist the Swedish King for the Gold Chains sake; and he is promised to be greater then Charles the Great, and that he is ordained to Kick and Cuff the Hogens of Holland, and to make William of Brandenburg repent in Sackcloth and Ashes: that he shall beat the Dane out of his Kingdom, and write himself Rex Danix! &c. (Rare Gipsie-like Astrologie!) The strongest Purge that ever Physitian gave, never expelled so much Filth, as did this his Gold Chain.

Seeing Astrologie so basely abused, and this Princely Native so beflattered by his Astrological Parasite; for the Redemption of the Arts Honour, I printed this Kings Nativity; as well to acquaint this Prince how he was abused, as to oppose the Forgeries and Impossibilities of the Abuser of him: wherein I acquainted the World with his Death; which happened as exactly as any thing in reason could be expected. Veritas Odium parit: I got no Gold Chain for my Labour.

In June 1654. this eminent Native was Crowned King of Sweden; Queen Christina, the Daughter of Gustavus Adolphus, then surrendering her Government unto him: he had then operating the Medium Caeli ad Jovis, by Direction.

	deg. min.
Ascensio Recta Jovis	121. 29.
Ascensio Recta Medii Caeli	90. 19.
Arcus Directionis	31. 10.

Which turned into time, according to Naybode, hits the time of the Accident very nearly.

Being aged somewhat above 37 years, on February 13. 1659. he died: he had then operating Medium Caeli ad Corpus Saturni; a Direction very dangerous.

	deg. min.
Ascensio Recta J Saturni	127. 24.
Ascensio Recta Medii Caeli	90. 19.
Arcus Directionis	37. 5.

And at the same time the Ascendent, Mid-heaven, and Part of Fortune, were directed to the Terms of Mars, near violent fixed Stars. But above all, there happened a little before his Death, a great Solar Eclipse in the Radical place of his Sun, and opposite place of his Moon; as the certain Predromum of his Exit. And happy it was for him, that his Life so exactly ended with his Honour, Dignity and Greatness: for you must know, the Mid-heaven to the Body of Saturn, in his Debilities especially, is a never-failing Argument of the Shipwracking of the Natives Estimation and Power. The Figure it self pronounces him a Person prodigious, and all Europe knows it to be true.

Having published this great Kings Nativity in a Book by it self, entituled, Nuncium Astrologicum; at what time the Difference between him and the Swedish King was at the highest; it will be unnecessary for me to treat largely hereof again: however, knowing that future Ages may be desirous to be acquainted with so glorious a Nativity, by which Astro-logic it self hath been so eminently confirmed, I have thought fit to mention it here, and some Notes upon it, lest the Tyranny of Time should oblivate that lesser Book wherein I first printed it. For when the true Astrologer shall read the Story of this mighty Prince, and compare it with this his Geniture, he must of necessity receive it with a Welcome of Admiration! there being, among the best collected, and most choice Nativities of Princes, not a more illustrious Figure of Heaven to be found.

When the King of Sweden twice invaded this Princely Native, and for a long time together blocked him up in his chiefeft City, Copenhagen, having once by Treachery took him Prisoner; then had this King both the Sun and the Mid-heaven under the cruel Directions to the Body of ☽, as I shall thus prove:

1. ☉ ad Corpus Martis.

Ascensio Recta ☉ & ☽, est

deg. min.

Ascensio Recta Solis

56. 2.

Arcus Directionis

7. 17.

48. 45.

Which, according to Naybode, gives 49 years, and 20 days, ferè; and happened on September 4. 1658.

2. Medium Caeli ad ☉ & ☽.

Ascensio Recta ☉ & Martis

deg. min.

Ascensio Recta Medium Caeli

56. 12.

Arcus Directionis

6. 32.

49. 30.

Which gives in time 50 years, 31 days, and commenced on June 8. 1659. The first captivated him, and the second blocked him up close in Copenhagen, and straitened him much. His Condition, in truth, was very low at these times; and all men in Reason yielded him an absolute lost Prince: yet notwithstanding Vox Populi, the Clamors and Noises of all sorts, I resolved to consider his Nativity; and finding it so Princely and glorious a one, as you may see; and observing also, that his Hopes and Assistance (I write now Astrologically) was stronger then his Dangers and Fears; (i.e.) ♀ Lady of the eleventh House, was better fortified then ♂ Lord of the Seventh; I adventured to publish the same; and therein asserted, That he should overcome his Enemies; and, That notwithstanding this great Kings (then) present Misfortunes, he should recover all his former Greatness and Glory; yea, and more then ever he lost. And behold! in the year 1660. his Kingdom was made Hereditary, which before was but Elective; and he overcame his violent Adversaries, according to my Prediction exactly. And in page 38. of Nunc. Astrol. I laid down this Axiome, with which I shall conclude: That as this renowned Person obtained his Dignity and Greatness honourably, and hath with much Magnanimity, Courage and Resolution kept and maintained it, even in the greatest of Dangers; so he is likely to keep and preserve it to the end of his Life, and to die Quietly, Peaceably and Honourably, possessed thereof. Thus much for this Nativity.

I Have not altered this Geniture above twelve minutes in time from the tempus Estimatum given; and presume it to be the onely true one of this magnanimous and great King, because it so exactly accords with many eminent and remarkable Accidents, which have happened to him already.

1. Being aged 25 years, viz. in the year 1630. he was most miraculously preserved from Burning: near which time, ♂ passed by his Ascendent; and a little before, there happened a ♂ of ⊙ and ♀ in the opposite Degree of ♂. Besides these dangerous Transits, there was then operating the Mid-heaven to the ♂ of ⊙, and the Ascendent to the Body of ♀ with Latitude, by Direction; and the Sun and ♀ both posited in fiery Signs.
2. In the year 1633. he was in great danger of Stabbing; and then he had the Ascendent directed to the Body of ♀ without Latitude: ♀ then passed over his Radical Ascendent, ♂ having led the way a little before.
3. In the year 1649. being then aged 44 years, this illustrious Person was invaded by a very sharp and desperate Fever, &c. which had nearly ended his Life; and beyond all hope, had, but that the benevolent Planet ♄ was then upon the Ascendent, in * to one of the Directions that then happened: The Directions

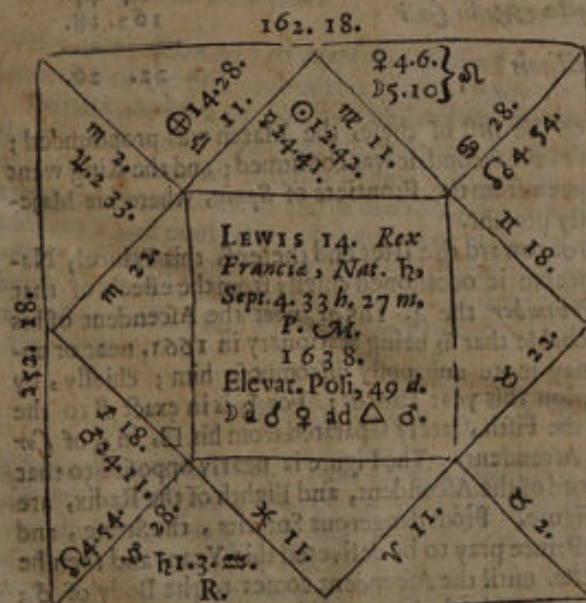

Directions were, the Δ to the \square of δ , and the Mid-heaven to his δ .

4. In the year 1656. and 51 year of his Age, the War happened between him and Oliver Cromwell, then Protector of England, about the Indies: there was then in force the Sun ad Oculum Tauri, to the Bulls Eye, a violent fixed Star, by Direction; and \oplus ad Oppositum Solis, to the Suns δ from violent Signes: very aptly and truly signifying that (to England) most unhappy Quarrel; I so term it, because his Majesty of Spain is, by the Heavens, ordained a Friend, and not a Foe, to England. Hath he not the Sun in γ , Englands Horoscope? Is not his Ascendent and his Δ , and \oplus , all in Δ to γ ? This Nation may be happy in his Friendship, but cannot gain any thing by being at Enmity with him. And I should think, that although Cromwell and he could not agree, because the Sun in his Geniture, was in the place of δ in this Nativity; and δ in this, was in the place of the Sun in his Radix, &c. yet England and this great King may naturally and friendly unite, for the before-mentioned Reasons.

5. In the year 1659. this King made Peace with France, and suddenly after married his Daughter to the King of France: the Ascendent was then directed to the \ast of δ , Lord of the Seventh in this Nativity, and the Δ was then directed ad Sextilum Solis. I need not verifie this Regal Geniture further, for these several Testimonies are sufficient.

This Princely Native within less then two years, hath the Ascendent directed ad Corpus Jovis; and within less then four years, the Δ directed ad Sextilum proprium, and Medium Caeli ad Trinum Veneris: Before which time, he will (in all probability) regain much of what he formerly lost; and be in a most prosperous and flourishing Estate. The 61 year of his Age will be dangerous in respect of Health; for then the Ascendent will be directed ad Quartilum Martis.

The greatest Kings, as meanest men, must die!

With much pains and trouble I have gained this present King of France his Nativity; and have verified it by these following Accidents to be the true one.

1. This Princely Native being aged between nine and ten years, he had the Small Pox: the Sun was then directed to the \square of the fiery Planet δ , Lord of the Ascendent.

2. Being aged about 13 years, many Troubles began to arise in France; the Prince of Conde opposed opposed the King, and the City of Paris shut their Gates against him; but side with the Prince of Conde, and permit him and his Army to pass thorow: the Pretence was to eclipse the Pride and Power of Cardinal Maximilien, but it is most certain the King felt the smart of the Rebellion, and had then the Mid-heaven directed to the \square of δ .

	deg. min.
Ascensio Recta \square δ	174. 40.
Ascensio Recta Medii Caeli	162. 18.
Arcus Directionis	12. 22.

This Mischief was violent, and lasted not long: for suddenly after, the Mid-heaven was directed to the Body of γ ; and by the Policie and Prudence of this Kings Council, all things were set in statu quo prius.

3. Being aged 20 years, viz. 1658. in May and June, this eminent Prince was accosted by a violent Fever, &c. the Ascendent was then directed to Cor. Scorpionis, a violent fixed Star, with Latitude; δ then (by Transit) was upon the Radical place of the \triangleright ; and there was a very ill Revolutionary Figure that year.

4. When this great Prince was 22 years old, he was married to the Infanta of Spain; it happened in the beginning of the year 1660. the Mid-heaven was then directed to the \ast of the \triangleright , and γ , both having Dignities in the seventh House.

	deg. min.
Ascensio Recta \ast Veneris	183. 46.
Ascensio Recta Medii Caeli	162. 18.
Arcus Directionis	21. 28.

Then the Mid-heaven to the \ast of the \triangleright , followed presently upon it.

	deg. min.
Ascensio Recta \ast Luna	184. 44.
Ascensio Recta Medii Caeli	162. 18.
Arcus Directionis	22. 26.

Upon the Influence of the first of these, the Match was propounded; and upon the Operation of the second, it was confirmed; and the King went in person to fetch his Queen from the Frontiers of Spain, where his Majesty of Spain was personally present.

This present year 1660. toward the later end thereof, this Princely Native was sickly; I conceive it occasioned chiefly from the effects of that great Solar Eclipse, November the 4. 1659. near the Ascendent of his Nativity. It is very probable that γ being Stationary in 1661. near or upon the same Degree, may more unhappily discompose him; chiefly, by reason of the ill Revolution this year affords: For γ is in exact δ to the Ascendent, and the \triangleright in the Fifth, lately separated from his \square , in δ of Cor Leonis, and in \square to the Ascendent. The Figure is nearly opposite to that of the Radix; and the Lord of the Ascendent, and Eighth of the Radix, are in δ in the Sixth of the Figure. From dangerous Surleits, the Stone, and Treachery, let this great Prince pray to be delivered this Year, and then he may be most healthful, &c. until the Ascendent comes to the Body of δ ; which will happen in the one and fortieth year of his Age.

Prince

The Latitude of the Planets.

	d.	m.
☉	4	48	South.
☿	2	0	North.
♈	0	5	} South.
♉	0	15
♊	2	0	} North.
♋	2	0

IN this Nativity, neither of the Luminaries or Horoscope are befriended by the Beams of the Fortunes; ☿ is in ☐ of the Lord of the Ascendent, and he posited in the House of Death. I therefore adjudge this Princely Native but of short Life; and this the rather, because the Luminaries are in ☐ each to other, and ☿, Lord of the Eighth, beholds the Ascendent with the same malicious Aspect, from m, a violent Signe.

For the time of Death, I conceive it may be about the fifth year of Age; because, near that time, the Ascendent will be directed ad Quartilum Mercurii, Lord of the eighth House; as may appear thus:

Ascensio Obliqua ☐ Mercurii
Ascensio Obliqua Horoscopi

deg. min.

332. 41.

327. 23.

Arcus Directionis

5. 18.

Which will, according to Nayboder Measure of Time, happen toward the latter end of the fifth year of this Natives Age.

I would not have any to misunderstand me in this Prediction; and shall therefore premise, That I do not maintain, or plead for, a Stoical Necessity; or positively conclude that this Prince will then die; because Life and Death are in the Hands of God, and he can shorten or lengthen the same as himself pleases: I aver onely this, that according to Natural Causes, he will be in very great danger of Death about the time of his Age mentioned: and I have known in several Childrens Genitures, the same, or like Arguments attended with the Effects I fear will befall this Princely Child. Thus much for this Nativity.

POST-SCRIPT.

Since the Writing of this, (and Licensing the whole Book also) we have had News in England, that this young Prince, on Nov. 1. Stilo Novo, did depart this Life; wanting (it seems) some few days of accomplishing full five years of Age. Which inconsiderable Error, (for it is no other) cannot, I suppose, beget any ill thought of Astrologie in the Breasts of the ingeniously Learned; but rather convince the Antagonists thereof, of its Certainty and excellent Use.

M

Charles

The Latitude of the Planets.

	deg.
h	2	North.
♄	1	} South.
♃	1
♀	2
♅	2
♄	3	North.

S Atturn in the Ascendent of the Nativity of this Prince, in □ of the ☉, and he in □ of ☿, &c. are Arguments of a short Life; chiefly, because h is Lord of the Sixth, and in the Ascendent, and ☿ Lord of the Eighth, in ☿ to it, and in ☿ of the ♄, and □ of the ☉.

This present year 1661. he labours under the Ascendent to the Body of h with Latitude, by Direction; and may possibly combat with the Evils it portends indifferently well, he having no dangerous Revolution this year: but in the year 1663. at what time he hath the ♄ directed to the ☿ of ☿, and Ascendent to h sine Latitude, and the ☉ nearly to the □ of h, all by Direction, he may be in great danger of Death, should he this year escape: for he hath then a most dangerous Revolution indeed, and h will be no less then twice Stationary upon or near the Suns place, and many moneths together upon it, and in □ to the Ascendent.

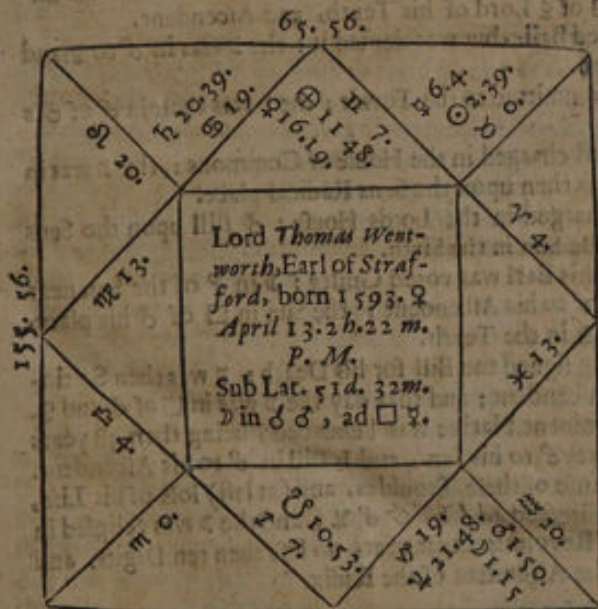

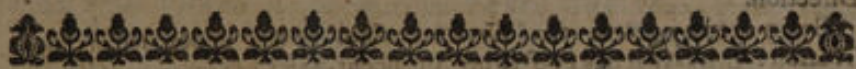

Ascensio Obliqua h	cum Latitude	deg. min.
	sine Latitude	165. 48.
		167. 59.
ad Corpus h cum Latitude		5. 54.
ad Corpus h sine Latitude		8. 5.
		deg. min.
Descensio Obliqua ♄		318. 44.
Descensio Obliqua Martis		326. 51.
Arcus Directionis		8. 7.

The ☉ to the □ of h, happens somewhat latter; but the Revolution for the eighth year currant, is a most malicious one, as is by the Figure thereof seen.

Revolution

the end of this Princes Days in this year ; but according to the Canons of Astrologie , I may lawfully say he will be in great danger of Death , and that by reason of the before-mentioned Directions concurring with so dangerous a Revolution.

THis is the Nativity of the Lord Deputy of Ireland; and doth agree exactly with the Actions of his Life, and Manner of his Death.
He was a Person of most admirable Parts; a great Coun-seller, States-man, and Politician; and therefore highly envied by such as came short of his worth.

He was a Gentleman so signally accomplished, that our sacred Sovereign; King Charles the first, (who without doubt best of any Man knew him) in his Εἰκὼς Βασιλική, as he is bemoaning the unfortunate end of the Earl, and his own mishap in consenting to his Death, writes thus: I looked upon my Lord of Strafford as a Gentleman whose great Abilities might make a Prince rather afraid than ashamed ashamed to employ him in the greatest Affairs of State: for those were prone to create in him great Confidence of Undertakings; and this was like enough to betray him to great Errors, and many Enemies: whereof he could not but contract good store, while moving in so high a Sphere, and with so vigorous a Lustre, he must needs (as the Sun) raise many envious Exhalations; which condensed by a Popular Odium, were capable to cast a Cloud upon the brightest Merit and Integrity.

To signifye his great Parts and Accomplishments for Government and Politie, &c. he had η ascending his Horoscope; a Signe that ever represents a Native admirably ingenious and prudent: φ , Lord thereof, is in δ above the Earth, with the Sun, who is Lux temporis, casting a Δ to the Ascendent; and he [φ] being Lord of the tenth House, and the Ascendent also, denotes the Native to acquire or gain Honour and Dignity by his Politie, Prudence and Deserts.

It is true, the Sun combustes φ , and the Δ and δ are in exact \square to him; which did not onely eclipse the Credit of his great Parts, but argued his Relations and Friends, as well as Enemies, to envy his Honours and Advancements. δ , \odot and Δ , govern the Eleventh, Twelfth, and third Houses; and η being Locally and Virtually in the eleventh House, in δ of Δ , argued the Perfidiousness and Falseness of his Friends, and the Violence, Envy and Malice of his Enemies. And to add to these unhappy Configurations, and malicious Significations, the Cusp of the Mid-heaven is the Antiscion of η , and Contra-antiscion of Δ .

When this great Earl was aged near forty years, he was constituted and appointed Lord Deputy of Ireland: he had then operating in his Nativiry the Moon ad Sextilum Solis, and the Medium Caeli ad Antiscium Veneris by Direction.

Being aged 47 years, viz. Nov. 12. 1640. he was impeached of High Treason: δ was that day in δ to his Ascendent, (an ill Prodromus of his unfortunate end) and in \square of φ Lord of his Tenth, and Ascendent.

On Nov. 19. he desired Baile, but was denied it: the Δ was in δ to φ , and the Sun in δ to his Tenth.

On Nov. 23. he was committed to the Tower: the Δ was then in δ of δ 's and her own place.

On Jan. 28. he was first charged in the House of Commons: the Δ was in δ of η 's place, and δ was then upon the Suns Radical place.

On Jan. 30. he was charged in the Lords House: δ still upon the Suns place, and the Δ in δ of the Sun in the Sixth.

On April 15. 1641. this Earl was voted Guilty: Δ in δ of the Sun near his Radical place; η in δ to his Ascendent; the Sun in \square of δ his place, and δ upon the place of φ in the Tenth.

On May 10. the King signed the Bill for his Death: φ was then Stationary, and η in δ of his Ascendent; and that day the Δ was in \square of δ and φ .

Upon May 12. this eminent Native was beheaded, being then 48 years of Age: the Δ was in exact δ to his Sun, and η still in δ to his Ascendent. But as a more eminent Cause of these Troubles, and (at last) loss of his Life, he had the Medium Caeli directed ad δ η , & δ Δ ; and the Δ was eclipsed in the very beginning of his Revolution that year, no less then ten Digits, and δ and η both afflicting the Ascendent of the Radix.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.
♈	1
♉	1
♊	1
♋	1
♌	1
♍	1
♎	1
♏	1
♐	1
♑	1
♒	1
♓	1

North.

This is the Geniture of Robert Earl of Essex, who was so famous in the days of Queen Elizabeth, that the Commonalty generally adored, as well as admired, him. It had been no great Unhappiness to England, if his Honour and Fame had lived no longer then his Person: for without all peradventure the very Name of Essex did more Countenance and Encourage the late never-to-be-forgotten Rebellion, then the Interest either of the Parliament, or the misguided Earl that in 1642. became their General against our Sovereign Lord King Charles the First. But the Tables being by G o d's great Goodness turned, I shall most willingly be silent.

This famous Person began to grow most eminent in the 28th year of his Age, obtaining great Favours of the Queen, &c. he had then both the Luminaries directed to ♋ his ♀.

Being aged 32 years, he was Commissioned to seize the Spanish Elect, and suddenly after (as saith John Stow) he was made Earl-Marshal to the Queen; which latter Honour begat him very much Envy among the Nobles of the Land: he had then the Luminaries directed to the ♀ of ♋; and to denote the Envy he thereby contracted, he had the Medium Celi at the same time directed ad Oppositiuum Solis.

When he was 33 years of Age, he was deputed to Ireland, viz. on March 27. 1599. the ♄ was then upon the Ascendent of his Horoscope; and the day of his beginning his March, the ☉ and ♀ were in ♈ from the Tenth and Fourth Houses; and that which was worst, the M.C. was then directed ad ♈.

His Voyage prospered not; for on September the 28. that year, he returned to Court again, the ☉ being then in the place of ♀ at his going forth. October 2. 1599. he was committed to the Tower. June following, he was suspended from all Offices. February the 19. he was arraigned, and suddenly after condemned. And on February the 25. being on Ashwednesday, at eight of the Clock in the morning, he was beheaded: he had then the Mid-heaven directed ad Oppositiuum Martis cum Latitudine.

ON the day of his Revolution for that year, he had the ♄ in the opposite places of the ☉, ♄ and ♂ in the Radix; and in the Figure for that year, the Radical place of ♄ ascended, and ♂ Lord of the Eighth was in exact □ thereunto from the fourth House; the ♄ was also with Oculus Tauri, a violent fixed Star.

At the Moment of his Death, the Radical place of Cauda Draconis ascended, and ♄ in exact ♂ thereunto, the ☉ and ♂ being in ♂ to the Ascendent of the Revolution. All which seems to intimate his Life to be taken away by Treachery, as to this day is still believed by many. And it is no new thing for Persons, whom Envy cannot sufficiently blemish or hurt in their Life, to be falsely and treacherously dealt with at their Death.

The Brightest Sun, the blackest Clouds doth raise.

The Arguments of a violent Death, are, the Luminaries in ♂ of ♂, near a violent fixed Star. (2.) The ☉, ♄, and Lord of the Eighth, in violent Signes. ♂ in 2, afflicting the Lights in any English great Persons Nativity, is little less then fatal to his Honour, Life and Fame.

John Casimir, King of Poland, &c. in the year 1655, and part of 1656, was violently forced out of his Kingdom by the undaunted Charles Gustave then King of Sweden; and this in so strange and miraculous a manner, the suddenness of it considered, that it amazed the whole Christian World! But the King of Sweden at last (being intoxicated cated with Victory and Success) striving to get more Honour, and greater Advantages against this (then) unfortunate King; and improvidently endeavouring to grasp too much; behold! he looeth all; and in the year 1657. was totally routed out, and devided of all he had gotten from the King of Poland: and then the exiled King Casimir enjoyed his own Territories and Power again.

For to signifie this great Kings (then) Misfortunes, he had the Medium Culi directed ad ☿, and the Horoscope ad ♄ Saturni; two Directions most unfortunate; the one falling in the eleventh House, arguing the Inability, Weakness and Backwardness of Friends; the other in the second House, denoting Loss and Destruction of his Estate, &c.

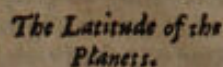

For to signifie his sudden Recovery again from those unparallel'd Prejudices, he had suddenly after the Ascendent directed ad ♀ cum, & sine, Latitudine, and she Radically posited in ♋, her own House: a Direction most happy and splendid indeed! and so it proved. Besides, the King of Sweden's Fate was now declining, as I have elsewhere remembered, and by sufficient Arguments evinced.

And since that, his Majesty of Poland hath had the Ascendent directed ad Corpus Jovis, cum & sine Latitudine; which by reason of his having at the same time the ☿ directed ad ☿, and ♄ his transiting the opposite place of the Direction, and of ♃ and ♀ also, hath not had those glorious and splendid Effects yet, that naturally attend such a Direction, or as shortly he may (by Gods blessing) have therefrom. ♃ is Lord of the Tenth in his Radix, and the Direction happens in the third House. Why his Honour, Dignity and Territories may not be enlarged with the taking in of some Neighbour-Dominions, (perhaps the Swedes Kingdome) I see not. In his next years Revolution, he hath the Moon on the M. C. of the Radix, in ♋ of Cor m., and in ☿ of ☿ and ♄, and ♃ with the ♀ in the Radical place of the Moon; intimating a year of honourable Action unto him, and an Increase of his Power and Greatness. It is an admirable Revolutiōal Figure.

the ☿ in the Fourth. A Figure exactly portending the Mischiefs this great King then underwent, being considered and compared with the before said Directions.

BEhold the Revolution for that year he underwent his grand Troubles! First, here is ☿ from the Twelfth of the Radix, but Seventh here, in ☿ of both the Luminaries, and ♃ Lord of the Eleventh in this Figure: then here is the Moon in ♋ of the Sun and ♃, and going to an ♋ of ♀ and ♄, from Signes Cardinal and violent; then have we ♄ Lord of the Tenth, in exact ☿ to the eleventh House, and nearly in ☿ to the Ascendent and

d.m.

♂	2	0	North.
♂	0	0
♂	0	4	South.
♀	1	0	} North.
♀	2	0
♀	3	0

IN this Nativity we have the Regal and commanding Signe ♌, Horoscopical; and ♄ Lord of the same, in his Exaltation, viz. in ♈.

At the time he was created General, which was in the year of our Lord 1641. he being then aged 42 years, he had then the ☽ to the * of ♂, and the ☾ to the * of ♀ by Direction: portending Addition to his Honour and Estimation, and Safety to his Person.

	deg. min.
Descensio Obliqua * ♂	195. 26.
Descensio Obliqua Luna	155. 13.
Arcus Directionis	40. 13.
	deg. min.
Ascensio Obliqua * ♀	374. 8.
Ascensio Obliqua Ascendentis	332. 29.
Arcus Directionis	41. 39.

For a Continuance of his Honour and Victory in this great Undertaking, he had between the years of 1641. and 1646. the Moon directed to the * of the ☉ and ♀, and the Sun directed ad * Luna. And in the year 1646. at what time ♀ came to an ♂ of his Mid-heaven, he prudently parted with his Generalship, and gave up his Employment, and betook himself unto a private, peaceable and quiet Life; and so he lived until the year 1652. at which time he had the Ascendent directed to the ♂ of ♀; and he then died, being aged 53 years.

Longit. ϕ Saturni, γ	deg. min.
Latitudo h Merid.	17. 0.
	2. 0.
	Declinatio

	deg. min.
Declinatio Septentrionalis	4. 51.
Ascentio Recta, &c.	16. 25.
Different. Ascensionalis	8. 22.
Ascentio Obliqua	368. 3.
Ascentio Obliqua Ascendentis	314. 28.
Arcus Directionis	53. 35.

This Native lived victoriously, and died quietly; which is not common for the true-born Sons of Mars: but here it is no Miracle at all, if we consider the strength of δ in his Geniture, and the several before-mentioned Positions. It is to be noted, where-ever (I mean in what Nativity soever) δ is fortified, he makes the Native fortunate and victorious in War; but more eminently so, if having Dignities in the tenth House, and strong in the Horoscope, as he hath in this great Persons Radix.

T His honoured Native was second Son to the great Duke of Buckingham, whose Nativity we have presented before; and had it pleased God to have spared his Life, he might have enjoyed as great Fame as his illustrious Father: for here are three Planets in their Exaltations, and the Δ in * of Δ upon the Ascendent, and the locally in the Angle of Honour and Dignity, near a Royal fixed Star of the first Magnitude, viz. Kapha Scorpio, the Heart of the Scorpion. While he lived, he was famous; when he died, he contracted no Dishonour, though his end was violent; for his Designe was to redeem his King and Country from Slavery: in prosecuting of which, he lost his Life near Kingstone upon Thames, on July 9. 1648. being then aged but 18 years, three months, and six days: the Ascendent was directed to the Body of δ at the same time.

	deg. min.		deg. min.
Asc. Obl. δ & δ, S. L.	351. 6.	Asc. Obl. δ & δ, C. L.	351. 56.
Asc. Obl. Horoscopi	333. 15.	Asc. Obl. Ascendentis	333. 15.
Arcus Directionis	17. 51.	Arcus Directionis	18. 41.

Upon the day he died, δ and δ were upon the opposite place of his Δ in the Radix; and the Δ then separating from the δ of δ , and applying to a δ of δ : Δ was then in the opposite place of δ , and the \odot in the \square place of δ , and of himself also. Behold the Revolutioal Figure for that year!

O

Revolutio

IN this Figure the D is returned precisely to her Radical place, and is in □ of ♀ Lady of the Ascendent, but Lady of the Eighth in the Figure of the Radix; the very Cusp of the eighth House thereof being ascending in this Scheme. Besides, ♂ here opposes the Ascendent exactly; and ♄ Lord of the Ascendent of the Radix, is in □ of ♀, and she in the Radical place of ♂. All which Arguments exactly portended the prejudice he underwent, being considered as the sad Concomitants of so fatal a Direction.

The Arguments of a violent Death in this Nativity, are, (1.) D in □ of ♂ from Angles, (2.) D in ♂ of Cor Scorpionis. (3.) ♄ in exact ♂ of the ☉. And it is to be observed, in any Nativity whatsoever, where the Luminaries are afflicted by the Infortunes, chiefly from Angles, a violent Death is threatened to the Native, and he seldom escapes the same.

THIS honoured Native was (beyond peradventure) a Person most ingenious, and of a large capacious Understanding, as ♀ in ♂ of ♄ under the Earth, aptly denotes; chiefly, by their being posited in ♄, the greatest Dignity of ♄, and in Δ to the Horoscope. See Guido Bonatus, pars 5. fol. 707. and my Doctrine of Nativities, pars 1. fol. 99.

Few Genitures have had the like Fortune as this great Natives hath had; for this this hath been under the handling of the most able Astrologers the World was ever acquainted with, if we may believe that renowned Person Henricus Rantrovius in his Treatise of the Certainty of Astrological Predictions, fol. 97. where he mentions the Prediction of Picus's Death by several Astrologers by Name, in these Words: Joannis Picus Mirandula comes, edidit librum adversus Astrologos: hi (inter quos fuerunt Bellantius Senensis, Antonius Sirigatus Florentinus, & Angelus de Catastivis Carmelita) ut Ariem veram ostenderent, illum annum etatis 33. non transgressurum prädixerunt, ex Directione Ascendentis ad Martem, quemadmodum ex scriptis hinc inde editis constat. (i. e.) John Picus Earl of Mirandula, wrote a Book against Astrologers; and they (among whom were Bellantius of Siena, Antonius Sirigatus a Florentine, and Angel of Catastive a Carmelite) to prove their Art to be true, predicted that the said Picus should not live past the 33 year of his Age, from the Direction of the Ascendent to Mars: as is evident from what they have written in Relation thereunto. That learned Knight Sir Christopher Heyden, mentions the same thing, thus: 'Picus being foretold by three Astrologers, that he should not live above 33 years, (as Lucas Gauricus, and others, do witness) yet flattering himself with a false Comfort, as if he could wrangle away Death by writing against Astrologie, while he sought to prove the Art vain, his own Death concurring exactly with the time foretold by the Astrologers, confirmed it to be true; and more actually confuted that which he had written against it, then if all the world besides had conspired to answer him. Def. Astrol. p. 193.

But Monsieur Gassendus is so confident as to deny this truth, viz. That the Astrologers predicted Picus's Death exactly, as to the time: and yet saith, 'If Bellantius came so near the matter therein, he might easily conjecture Picus to be no long-lived Man, from his weakly Constitution, continual Labours of Minde, &c. When it is more then probable, that Bellantius knew nothing more of Picus, then by his idle Writings, (be not angry I so term them; for whoever writes against a thing he doth not understand, writes idly; but Picus did so, Ergo, &c.) and the Scheme of his Nativity: Ergo, there could be no such Consideracy. & Gassendus most dis-ingenuously insinuates. And he would not be well pleased, should an Astrologer cast the same reproach upon the Cures pretended to be performed by Men of his Profession. But behold the great Justice of the Heavens! Gassendus that quarrelled at Astrologers for so certain and splendid a Demonstration of their Art, had, by an Astrologer, viz. Johannis Baptista Morinus, his own Death predicted from his Nativity, long before it came to pass, to make him amend for his ignorant and credulous Confidence.

I allow Picus a discreet, prudent and learned Man: But Bernardus non vidit omnia. For notwithstanding his great Parts, both natural and acquired, of which before I have rendered Reasons; yet his rashness was such, that he would (Agrippa-like) oppose even the best of things: as is obvious by the Moon being in Opposition to Mars; and both in Quartile to Mercury and Saturn. Which Arguments are sufficient to Retrograde (if not confound) the Sagacity of the wisest of Men.

Christiernus

I Have presented to publick View this Princes Geniture, as much for the rarity and strangeness thereof, as to help make up my number of illustrious Nativities.

Herein we find the Regal Signe Δ ascending, and both the Luminaries in a * Aspect to each other; the \odot being in \odot , the D 's House, and U 's Exaltation; and the D in M , the House of P ; both the Fortunes befriending and fortifying the Horoscope: All which were Arguments of an illustrious Geniture.

But that which is strange herein, is, that he being a King should be expelled his Kingdom, and subject to Exile for the space of ten years; and afterwards to be detained in Prison not less then twenty six years more. But this is no strange Marvel at all neither, if his Nativity be duely scanned and considered: for here we finde the \odot , Lord of the Ascendent, posited in the twelfth House, the Angle of Imprisonment, &c. there in \odot of J , Lord of the Tenth. Nay, although U be a Fortune, yet he being Lord of the Eighth, and posited in the Ascendent, is no singular good Position. The D in \square of P , Lord of the Eleventh and Third Houses, denoted the Instability and Negligence of his Friends and Relations. The Lord of the Seventh, being stronger then the \odot , Lord of the Ascendent, and in \square to him from Cardinal Signes, is an Argument of his being at the Mercy of his Enemies. At what time he was expelled his Kingdom, the D was directed ad Quartilum Martis, Lord of the Tenth, he being then aged somewhat above 42 years.

In the year 1559. saith Ramzovius, *Christianus 21. triennio Borealium Regnorum quondam Rex, nempe Dania, Suecia, ac Noruegia, & Caroli 5. affinis in captivitate, in qua per annos 27. detinebatur, propter tyrannidem, quam exercuit erga Nobiles subditos. Obiit anno 77. quem aliquot mensibus excesserat die 25. Januarii anno 1559. De Ann. Climact. fol. 169. on January 25. being aged near 78 years; (an Age considerable, especially for a Prince to live so long, and enjoy such cross Fortune) he died: The Ascendent was then directed ad Corpus Saturni.*

Ascensio Obliqua & Saturni
Ascensio Obliqua Horoscopi

Arcus Directionis

deg. min.

191. 10.

113. 16.

77. 54.

Revolution

IN this Revolution we finde δ come to the Radical place of the \odot , and the Δ in δ of \mathcal{U} Lord of the Eighth in δ to the Ascendent, and in \square of \mathcal{H} Lord of the Sixth, who casts the same malicious Aspect to the Ascendent: a Revolution most dangerous in respect of Life; and this the rather, the Figure being nearly the same with that of the Radix.

Upon the day he died, the Sun was in the Revolutionary place of the Δ and \mathcal{U} , in δ to the Ascendent of which he was Lord. The Δ was in her Radical place, and \mathcal{H} and δ in δ from Angles, and both of them in exact \square to the Ascendent of both Figures.

The Latitude of the Planets.

deg.
\mathcal{H} 1	South.
\mathcal{U} 1	North.
δ 1
\mathcal{Q} 3	South.
\mathcal{E} 1
\mathcal{P} 6	North.

THis illustrious Prince was Son unto the late deceased Princess-Royal, eldest Daughter to Charles the first, late King of England; and had the Unhappiness to loose his Royal Mother December the 24. 1660. (She being then come over into England to visit her Royal Brother, our sacred Sovereign, King Charles the second, &c.) he having then the Mid-heaven directed to the \square of \mathcal{H} , and the Sun nearly touching the Scorpions Heart by Direction.

The Eclipse of the Sun in November 1659. being upon the Suns Radical place in his Geniture, argues Infelicity and Trouble unto him, although it be so long past; chiefly, because the cruel Planet H is now passing over the Suns place, and his being thereon near five Moneths together. I wish the Death of his illustrious Mother occasion not too much Grief and Anxiety of Minde unto him; and pray God to preserve him from the Treacheries and Conspiracies (of all kinds) of those among whom he abides. His Revolution is most maliciously unfortunate, and nearly the same with that of the Princess his Mother.

The learned Origan saith, if δ shall come to the place of the Sun in a Revolution, it signifies, — Tristitia, labores, ac infirmitates, calidas, &c. Et vel occidet, aut occidetur, si fuerit in signo violento (he is so here) ad mortem usq; laborabit, fol. 786. and for H to be there also, is every whit as dangerous.

Behold the Figure!

His Revolution is not onely evil in regard of the dangerous Returns of H and δ , but because they are both infesting both the Sun and the Angle of Life therein; and H Lord of the Eighth, his being in δ of them all. In all my Practice I ever observed that Revolution dangerous, in which the Lords of the Sixth and Eighth Houses were conjoynd in the Ascendent, or with the Sun, &c. here they are exactly so.

The two Directions before spoken of, are these:

\odot ad Cor Scorpionis.
Descentio Obliqua cordis m	deg. min.
Descentio Obliqua Solis	28. 41.
Arcus Directionis	27. 41.
Medii Cali ad \square Saturni.	11. 0.
Ascensio Recta \square H	deg. min.
Ascensio Recta Medii Cali	13. 25.
Arcus Directionis	3. 57.
	9. 28.

Thus much for this Princely Geniture.

Prince

THis illustrious Native, Prince Maurice, (second Son to the King of Hungary and Bohemia) was born at Custria, and at the time within written.

This eminent Prince being aged twenty one years, and upward, viz. Anno 1642. came into England, and obtained a very considerable Command over the Forces of King Charles the First, his Uncle: He had then operating the Sun to the Trine of ♄ by Direction, and the Trine of ♄ Lord of the Ascendent also; and at the same time the Ascendent directed ad Sextilum Jovis: three Directions of admirable Significations.

Being aged near 28 years, viz. in the year 1648. this great Prince obtained a Generals place at Sea: the Ascendent was then directed to the * of the ☉ and ♄.

Aged a little above thirty years, viz. in the year 1651. as he was coming from the West-Indies, the Ship he was in, was cast away; and he, by that unfortunate Accident, drowned: The Ascendent was then directed ad Quadratum Saturni; and this from Cardinal Signes, viz. ♄ and ☉, and therefore the more dangerous.

Ascensio Obliqua ☐ Saturni
Ascensio Obliqua Horoscopi

deg. min.

360. 4.

330. 7.

Arcus Directionis

29. 57.

As he then laboured under a most Malignant Direction, so his Revolution for that year was none of the best; as by the Figure thereof may appear.

Revolutio

IN this Figure the Radical place (or near it) of η ascends the Horoscope, and η here Lord of the Eighth thereon, being in δ of δ , who in the Radix is posited in the eighth House; the Horoscope of Birth is the Cusp of the Eighth in this Figure: the δ is returned to her Radical place; and both the Fortunes are in \square to each other: a more dangerous Revolution cannot well happen.

The Arguments of a violent Death, are,

(1.) The Position of the Luminaries in violent Signs: (2.) δ casting a \square to the \odot and Ascendent from the eighth House, he being in a violent Sign: (3.) The Lord of the Ascendent and Lady of the Eighth with violent fixed Stars. For the kinde of Death, viz. by Water, &c. Let it be considered, that the δ , and η Lord of the Ascendent, (whose \square proved Anareta in this Geniture) are in Watry Signs: (2.) δ , an Infortune in the Eighth, is just entering an Aquatical Sign, thence afflicting the \odot and Ascendent: (3.) A Watry Sign ascending in the Revolution, and η and δ in Conjunction therein; and the Moon near her South Node, in exact Quadrant of the ninth House, she being returned to her Radical place.

Augustus Elector of Saxony, that great Prince, was born at the time within written; and had a Geniture as Princely as any of the Princes of his time, that ever I yet saw: for here we have the Kingly Signe δ Horoscoping, and the Sun in that Signe, in exact \ast to ψ , a fortunate Planet, posited in the Medium Cali. The Moon is located upon the very Cusp of the House of Sovereignty, in her Exaltation; and although she be in \square of the Sun, neither she nor the Sun are any way tion; and although she be in \square of the Sun, neither she nor the Sun are any way way afflicted by the infortunate Planets: and to add unto the excellencie hereof, the Moon is in strong Reception of Venus, who is in Sextile of the Horoscope; and all the Planets are above the Earth.

In the year 1586. on February 11. St. Vet. being aged 59 years, six moneths, and eleven days, he died of an Apoplexie. Jupiter is Lord of the Eighth, and he denotes Death to the Native, Ab angina, Peripneumonia, Apoplexia, Convulsionibus capitis, & Stomachi doloribus, &c. Vide Orig. pa. 3. fol. 730.

At the time he expired, he had no Direction save the Medium Celi, and the Moon to Cauda Draconis, and to several Stars of Hercules, they being of the Nature of Saturn. Nor was the Revolution for that year considerably dangerous, as here following may be seen: there must therefore be some secret Operation more then ordinary in Saturn's double Return; chiefly, if a Revolution be any manner of way Malevolent.

Here is nearly the Cusp of the Fourth ascending, and the Moon is in exact Quartile thereunto; Jupiter and Saturn nearly returned to their Radical places; the latter of which is in Opposition of the Lord of the Ascendent from the sixth House, both being in violent Signes; the Moon is also in Opposition of the Sun, Lord of the Ascendent at Birth; and Mercury, Lord of the Eighth herein, is in Platick Quartile to the Ascendent. Howbeit, this is not of power sufficient to kill, except we allow that double Return of Saturn to be more dangerous then ordinary. Unless that great and terrible Eclipse of the Sun, (as Leoviti calls it) which happened a little before this Revolution began, viz. on April the 19th, should spend part of its Effects upon the Life of this Princely Native, it happening exactly upon the opposite point of the Ascendent of this Revolution. 'Tis a new Enquiry (I confess) in Astrologie; yet not so idle, that I should fear to commend it unto the serious Student, as a Matter most worthy his serious Consideration and Pains. I shall (perhaps) more fully have studied it, before I have accomplished my Second Part of the Collection of Nativities.

The Day this illustrious Native died, viz. on February 11. 1586. the D

Q

was

was in Conjunction of Saturnus in Saturnus Radical place, in the sixth House of this Revolution, and the Sun was in Conjunction of Mars and Mercury, and Quartile of Jupiter in the fourth House thereof; Jupiter being Lord of the Eighth in the Radix, and in it in this Figure.

That Emperour or Prince that shall have the Sun and Saturn in Quartile from Angles, and Mars and the Moon in the same Aspect from fixed Signes; and shall have nothing good in his Nativity, save a Trine of the Sun and Mars by Reception; might well say with this great Prince, That if any man knew the weight of a Diadem, he would never stoop to take it up.

The learned Ranzovius, fol. 243. saith, he died in the year 1519. on January the 12. he being then aged sixty years: he had then the Moon (if we consider she hath near five Degrees of North Latitude) directed to the Body of Saturn, and this in the fourth House. And had Origanus but removed his Ascendent but a small matter, and in stead of 26 Degrees of Virgo, made it 28. the Ascendent (which must in this Nativity be Hylech) would have come at the same time to the Quadrant of Mars, Lord of the eighth House. But Origanus minded not (it appears) so much the true Correction of the Scheme, as the Signification of Saturn in Capricorn in the Fourth; who being in Trine of Jupiter, and no way afflicted of Mars, signified those rich Mines and Quarries he is reported to have been Master of; and by means of which, he increased his Power. Origanus then treating of the fourth House onely, his Observation was the more considerable, and he the less to be blamed for not correcting the Figure.

Nasc.

ORIGANUS presents us with this Figure for the true Nativity of this great Prince; and, to the purpose he cites it: it is not improbable, but it may be the true one.

He, treating of the fifth House, notes it for a Geniture of great Fecundity, because the Moon and Venus are in the fifth House, and Jupiter in a Prolifque

Signe, in Sextile not onely to the Cusp of the fifth House, but nearly of Venus therein. My Author saith, he married Mary, Daughter of Charles the Fifth, and by her had four Daughters, and nine Sons; whose Names, and times of Births, he giveth thus:

1. Anne, Nat. 1549. Nov. 1. 11 h. P. M.
2. Ferdinand, Nat. 1551. March 27. 30m. P. M.
3. Rodolphus, Nat. 1552. July 18. 7 h. 30m. P. M.
4. Ernestus, Nat. 1553. June 15. 2 h. P. M.
5. Elizabeth, Nat. 1554. June 5. 10 h. 30m. P. M.
6. Mary, Nat. 1555. June 27. 3 h. A. M.
7. Matthias, Nat. 1557. February 23. 11 h. 30m. P. M.
8. Maximilian, Nat. 1558. October 12. 9 h. A. M.
9. Albertus, Nat. 1559. November 13. 9 h. 30m. A. M.
10. Wenceslaus, Nat. 1561. March 9. 10 h. 30m. A. M.
11. Frederick, Nat. 1562. June 21. 30m. A. M.
12. Mary, Nat. 1564. February 19. 9 h. 30m. P. M.
13. Charles, Nat. 1565. September 27. 9 h. 30m. A. M.

The Arguments of his Sovereignty, are, (1.) ♃ in Δ to the Ascendent and tenth House, and her being in Reception of ♄, Lord of the Tenth. (2.) The ☉, the natural Significator of Greatness, is simply the most strong in the Figure, and he casts an amicable Aspect to the Ascendent. (3.) ♀ is very strong, and in Sextile of ♄ Lord of the tenth House; he is also in some small Reception of Mars, who is in Sextile of ♀, Lord of the Horoscope.

The ☐ of the ☉ and ♄, and the same Aspect of the ♃ and ♀, together with the Position of the ☿ in the first House, and the ☉ his ♀ to the Tenth, might well denote a troubled Life and Reign.

Hen. Rantzovius saith he died on October the 12. 1576. being then aged 49 years, and somewhat above two moneths: at which time ☿ was upon the opposite place of the ☉, in ☐ of ♄, his Significator.

If this be the true time of his Birth, he died upon the ☉ ad ☐ ♀, by Direction; rection; having some two years and upwards before laboured under the δ ad δ δ , δ \odot ad δ δ cum Latitudine. But being not particularly assured, that the Horoscope hereof is right, I shall request the Astrological-Reader to consult it with other Accidents, if so be he can obtain any: until which, for my own part, I shall rest satisfied with what Origanus hath done, believing the Sun to the Quartile of \mathcal{U} , (he being Lord of the seventh) in a Climacterical year, may occasion Death.

IN this Revolution on the Moon is in the Radical place of Saturn, and both ascend the Horoscope: Mars, Lord of the Ascendant, is on the Cusp of the Sixth in the Radix, and in the Quadrant place of the Sun, and the Moon in her own Quadrant place. But above all, there happened a great Eclipse of the Sun in Opposition of the Ascendant of the Radix, at the beginning of the year. All which considered, together with the before-mentioned Directions, are Arguments eminent enough of the Fatalness of the year unto this Princely Native.

On the day he expired, there was no eminent Transit; but the Moon was in her Radical place, lately separated from the evil Aspects of \mathcal{H} , \mathcal{U} and δ . But upon the day he sickned, viz. September 18. the Moon was in exact Conjunction of \mathcal{H} , Lord of the Eighth in the Radix, and in Quartile of \mathcal{U} , Lord of the Sixth, she being Lady of the Ascendant of the Radix.

Thus much for this Nativity.

Emanuel

This is the Nativity of a Prince that died at six years of Age, viz. on October the 3. 1638.

The Moon is Lady of the Horoscope, and in Leo, posited in exact Quartile of Jupiter, Lord of the Sixth, and in the same Aspect of Saturn, Lord of the eighth House. Mars from the Fourth, casts a malicious Quartile to the Ascendent; and he being in Conjunction of Canda Draconis, makes his Aspect the more mischievous.

These are Arguments of a short Life in any Nativity. Argol is pleased to make the Cadencie of Sol, and Saturn Trine to the Ascendent, two other Arguments of a short Life: but I understand not how Trine-Aspects can be any way unfortunate, though of the evil Planets, unless we will make the Oppositions of the Benevolents fortunate. Nor yet, that the Sun can suffer Debility by his Cadencie in the third House, it being the second Angle of the third Triplicity, and honours each Native with the Friendships of Men and Kindred, &c. as may be seen by the Cabal of the Twelve Houses, Printed by my learned Friend, Captain George Wharton, in his Calendarium Ecclesiasticum 1659. But there are Arguments sufficient without these, of a short Life to this illustrious Native; and Art need not be forced.

The Directions that occasioned his Death, were the Ascendent ad Quadratum Martis, and the Moon (absque Latitudine, as saith Argol) to the Quadrate of Jupiter, Lord of the sixth House; and herein, the true Significator of Diseases; but the Moon was then (cum Latitudine) under the Square of Saturn by Direction, and he Lord of the eighth House.

Argol hath ter down but few of this Princes Accidents; three is the most, viz.

(1.) In the year 1600. he was elected Vice-Roy in Delphinum; he had then the Ascendent directed to the Antiscion of Mars, and Jupiter all that year in Trine of his Sun.

(2.) Anno 1609. he was made Marshal of France; and had then the Sun directed ad Sextilum Mercurii, Dominus Ascendens.

(3.) In the year 1626. he died, being aged 83 years; and had then the Sun directed to his own Quartile.

A little before his Death, he was much molested with a Diarrhea and Vomiting.

deg. min.

Ascensio Obliqua ☐ Solis 97. 3.

Ascensio Obliqua Solis 13. 40.

Arcus Directionis 83. 23.

My Author saith, — Obiit Saturni in Sexta cum Opposito Martis constituti inter Pleiades plurimis fuit agitudinibus Obnoxius, &c. And it is not unlikely at all: for Mars, Lord of the Sixth with violent Stars, in Opposition of Saturn upon the Sixth, always makes the Native Obnoxious to violent Sickneses. He should have been a Person of most admirable Accomplishments, as is seen by both the Fortunes, and the Sun casting friendly Rays to the Ascendent, and the Moons Trine to Saturn, and Sextile of Mars from the Mid-heaven.

Thus much for this Nativity.

Mars.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.	m.
♂	1	9 North.
♀	0	25
♄	0	3
♂	0	14 South.
♀	1	0
♄	1	38

THe Fame of this worthy person was, and yet is, such, that it needs not the flourish of the best Pen (much less mine) to set it forth further: I shall therefore make some short Observations on the Figure Astrologically, and then refer it to the Judgement of those that are able to censure.

Cardinal Signes possess the Angles, and the Moon, Lady of the Tenth, (though in her Fall) is in exact Sextile of Venus, who is Lady of the Ascendent, and in her Exaltation, and in Platique Sextile of the Sun: all Arguments of very great Fame, &c. And they are not meanly strengthened by the Conjunction of Mars and Jupiter, and their Trine to the Ascendent; as also by the Trine of the Sun and Venus to the tenth House. As Saturn and the Dragons Tayl are posited in the Mid-heaven, he could not want Scandals and Disgraces to be cast upon his Honour, and his highest Actions and Attempts; nor did he.

After the great Fight against the Turks, 1571. he was made Prorex, or Vice-Roy in Sicily, where he remained many years: he had then to signify that Accident, the Sun directed ad *♂, and the Direction fell in ♀; Ergo the more eminent.

He died in the year 1584. being then aged forty nine years: he had then the Ascendent directed ad Quartulum Martis.

Ascensio Obliqua ☐ ♂

Ascensio Obliqua Ascendentis

Arcus Directionis

deg. min.

242. 15.

193. 1.

49. 14.

A little before, he went a Progress with the King into Spain, and had the Ascendent directed ad ☉; which any one may see by the Figure onely; and on the 20th day of July, he died there: ♀ was Retrograde in Opposition to his Ascendent, and the Moon in ♄, in Opposition of ♀, Lady of the Ascendent, and both in Quartile to it, and to the malignant Planet ♄ also. My Author saith, he died of a Fever: whether ♀, Lady of the Ascendent and Eighth, being in Conjunction of ☉ (who is Hot and Dry) on the Cusp of the Sixth, or ♂ his Trine to the Ascendent, may signify the kinde of Disease lease by which he should expire, I leave to the Astrologique-Physician to consider: Or whether Persons that have Cardinal Signes possessing the Angles of their Nativities, and 3 in any Aspect of the Hylech's, do not (if a Natural Death attend them) die of a Fever always. I confess my Experience of this kind is but mean, but by Observation I may be able to give a better Account hereafter; and shall endeavour it, if I happen not to be anticipated by some more worthy Pen.

Thus much for this Nativity.

sixth House; but she is in Opposition of Mars, and in Trine of Saturn, and in Reception of him also. Luna is with Pallistinum, or the Bulls Eye, a violent Martial Star, in Quartile of Mercury, who is Peregrine, and under the Earth joyned to Canda Draconis. Saturn in the Ascendent is but a sickly Position. This Lady could not but be naturally sickly; yet she lived to a great Age, viz. near 65 years: viz. until December 17. 1634. at which time the Sun was directed ad Quadratum Veneris, Lady of the Eighth, and the Direction it self falling in the Eighth, near to the Pleiades.

Descensio Obliqua Solis	deg. min.
Descensio Obliqua ☐ Veneris	2. 10.
Arcus Directionis	67. 2.
	64. 52.

At the same time the Ascendent was directed ad Oppositum Lune; which was more dangerous, she being (by Latitude) locally in the eighth House.

Ascensio Obliqua ☐ Luna, est	deg. min.
Ascensio Obliqua Ascendens	262. 9.
Arcus Directionis	197. 19.
	64. 50.
	There

There happened an Eclipse of the Sun in the opposite place of the Sun in her Nativity a little before she died; and her Revolution was most dangerous, the Moon being therein, in evil Aspect of all the Planets.

Thus much for this Nativity.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.	m.
h	2	52 North
♄	0	52 South.
♂	0	53 North.
♀	1	42 } South.
♂	1	0 }
♄	2	3 }

This Prince is of Courage and Confidence equal to the Significations of ♂ in ♌, in * of the ☉; and should be of a more then common Prudence, by reason of the Δ of h and ♄: and according to this Nativity, (he having five Planets essentially dignified) his Soul should not be more Generous and Liberal, then his Fortune Large and Considerable.

I have been told by those that have often seen him, that he is naturally troubled with sore Eyes: the Moon (you see) is among the Pleiades, and in ♎ of ♂ from Angles, aptly denoting the same. It is a Rule among Astrologers, The Pleiades with the Moon in the Ascendent, denotes great Defects in the Eyes of the Native. In this Nativity the Moon is with them, in Opposition to the Ascendent; which is, in effect, all one: for without doubt, the fixed Stars emit benign and dangerous Rays, as do the Erratical.

Anno 1656. in June, this valiant General obtained a great Victory over the French at Valenciennes and gained extraordinary Honour thereby: he had then the Sun directed ad Trinum Jovis.

Descentio Obliqua { Δ Jovis } est Solis }

deg. min.
117. 11.
90. 40.

Arcus Directionis

26. 31.

And at the same time, ♄ was upon the place of his Moon, ♀ upon his Sun's place, and ♂ in Trine to his Ascendent. Being not certain that the Ascendent is precisely true, I wanting Accidents to verifie it by, I shall say no more of this eminent Persons Geniture.

The Latitude of the Plane 1.

d.	South.	North.
1	1	1
2	2	2
3	3	3
4	4	4

This great Duke was an eminent Favorite of that Martyr'd Prince King Charles the First of England; and there wanted not an admirable Sympathy between their Genitures for the same: for this eminent Persons Nativity is not onely near the same (in respectu Zodiaci) with that Glorious Kings, but ♀ herein, is upon the place of the ☉ therein; and ♀ therein, is upon the place of the ☉ herein: the ♀'s place is the same in both Genitures, &c. A Harmony and Concordancie so excellent and considerable, that a greater is not to be found (nay, scarcely one so great) between any two Nativities whatsoever.

No Wonder therefore, that there was so great a Concurrence of Judgements and Affections, yea, and Familiarity between them. This eminent Person wanted not private Enemies that used Means and Endeavours to alienate, or abate of, the Kings Grace and Favours towards him: but in vain they attempted it; for where the Heavens make a Union, it will be too hard for the Subtily of the greatest Politician to dissolve it.

In the year 1627. on the 27 of July, this great Duke (being then aged near thirty five years) embarked for the Isle of Rhee; the Success of which Undertaking, proved nothing so well as by the Noble Undertaker was expected: for on the very Day he set sayle, ☉ was in exact Quartile to his Ascendent at Birth, and to the Sun there also: the Moon was then in Square to the places of ☉, ♀, and of the Sun, and in Opposition to ♀'s place. All which unfortunate Transits, argued the Voyage as unsuccessful as at last it proved.

In the year 1628. upon August the 23. this eminent Native (being then aged thirty six years, within five days) was basely slabb'd to Death at Portsmouth in England, by one John Feltham: the ♀ that Day was in ☐ of the Ascendent at Birth, and the ☉ was upon the Radical place of ☉. And the very day of his Revolution that year, the ♀ was in exact ☐ of ☉ and ♀.

But besides this Troop of Transits, which in themselves are mischievous enough, there was a dangerous Direction then operating in this great Duke's Nativity, viz. the Ascendent ad Corpus Martis.

deg.	min.
145.	37.
109.	31.
36.	6.

The

The grand Arguments of a violent Death in this Nativity, are, a Conjunction of the ☉ and ☿, and both of them being in Quartile to the Lord of the eighth House, who is in Conjunction of that violent Star, called Anares, or the Heart of the Scorpion.

Thus much for this great Dukes Nativity.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.
☿	1	North.
☽	1
☽	2	} South.
☽	3
☽	4
☽	1

THe Eminence, Honor and Fame of this illustrious Native, are sufficiently known; or were they not, his Nativity doth super-sufficiently set them forth: for here are no less then five Planets most Royally dignified; and the Luminaries are above the Earth, in admirable Reception of each other; the Light of the time being in the House or Angle of Dignity; and the Lord of the Ascendent is in his Essential Glory in the Mid-heaven also! All which were Arguments of this eminent Natives great Achievements, and of the height of Honour and Fame he enjoyed in his Life-time. But now, although his Life for the most part was honourable, yet his End was Cloudy and Tragical; for he died by the Hands of his Enemies in the 42 year of his Age; having at, or near that time, the Ascendent directed to the ☐ of the cruel Planer ☿, in the beginning of ☿, he being Radically posited in the fourth House. Upon the very day he was routed by Cromwel in Lancashire, viz. August 17. 1648. ☿ was upon the Quadrate place of his Moon, and ☿ Stationary, to Retrogradation, upon the place of ☿, Lord of his Ascendent, the Moon being upon the opposite place thereof; the Sun too was in the very opposite place of ☿. All which malicious Transits, were eminent Arguments of this eminent Natives being worsted by that (ill) undertaken Engagement; and this the rather, he having then the Medium Caeli directed ad Opposium Saturni.

In the year 1643. on January the third, he was sent Prisoner from Oxford to Pendennis-Castle in Cornwal; where he continued until 1646. ☿ was then in ☐ of his Sun, and ☽ in ☽ of the Lord of his Ascendent. A very bad Revolution he had also for that year.

Toward the latter end of the year 1642. King Charles the first, entertained him very honourably, and advanced him to Employment considerable: he had then operating the Mid-heaven to the ☐ of ☿.

To conclude : Upon the very day of his being beheaded, viz. on March the 9. 1648. the Moon was in Conjunction of \hbar , whose Quartile was Promittor in the Direction at his Death; and the Sun was then upon the very Degree of the eighth House of his Nativity, nearly in Opposition of \mathfrak{u} ; and the fiery Planet δ had but newly passed Retrograde over the Horoscope of his Birth.

Loss of Honour.

Loss of Life.

	deg. min.		deg. min.
Ascentio Recta { δ \hbar }	95. 4.	Ascentio Obliqua { \square \hbar }	187. 3.
{ M.C. }	55. 20.	{ Asc. }	145. 20.
Arcus Directionis	39. 44.	Arcus Directionis	41. 43.

Under the Effects of the first of these, he raised his Army in Scotland, which proved the Ruine of his Honour; Under the second, he lost his Life: he at both times being contending with, and under the Power of, Oliver Cromwell; a Person of so prodigious a Fortune, that the World yielded not his parallel: for, he was born poor, yet to be great by the Ruines and Destructions of the most excellent Men of the World.

The Arguments of a violent Death in this Nativity, are, \hbar his opposing the \odot from Angles. (2.) The \mathfrak{u} upon the Eighth. (3.) δ upon the Cusp of the Fourth, in Opposition to the Tenth, and the Governors thereof. (4.) The \mathfrak{u} her being posited in the Eighth House, Secundum Latitudinem.

Thus much for this Nativity.

IN the Diary of that Reverend Prelate William Laud, late Archbishop of Canterbury, page 14. I finde the time of this Princes Birth; his words are these:—Wednesday, May 13. this morning about three of the Clock, the Queen was delivered (before her time) of a Son, he was Christened, and died in short space; his Name CHARLES. The next day, being Ascension-day, paulo ante mediam noctem, I buried him at Westminster.

That this Birth should naturally be but of short Life, is apparent, in that it was upon a New Moon: for it is the Opinion of the Learned in this Science, ence, (and Experience vouches it) that those which are born in the Full Moon, die suddenly by the excess and super-abundance of Humidity; but those born in the New Moon, for want of Moisture.

But this must be when the Luminaries are either applying, or separating to, or from each other: for according to Ptolomy, Cent. Aphor. 18. Cum ambo Luminaria in eodem minuto fuerint, &c. When both Lights shall be in one and the same minute in a Nativity, the Native shall live, and be healthful, &c. Besides, in this Nativity, the New Moon was celebrated near violent fixed Stars, and the Lord of the Eighth (though a Fortune) in exact ☐ of the Horoscope, and the Lord of the Sixth in the Ascendent.

Thus much for this Nativity.

THe time of the Day in which this eminent Princess was born, I could never obtain; but the Day I found in the Diary of the Archbishop of Canterbury, fol. 21. The Planets places to the Noon-time thereof, (sine Reductione) by the Tables of David Origanus, are thus:

	d.	m.		d.	m.
☉	7	10	♊	29	24	♍	R.
☽	20	42	♋	0	43	♎
☿	0	19	♌	8	39	♏
♂	24	48	♍	20	6	♐

On December the 8. 1640. this hopeful Lady died at Richmond, being then aged near four years. It is very probable she might die upon the Moons Direction ad Quadratum Saturni, ♀ being potent to do mischief. On the day of her Revolution that year, there was a Platique of ♄ and ♂, and both of them in ☐ to the ☉; the ☽ also was near the ☐ of ♀ and ♄: all denoting a sickly and dangerous Revolution. Wanting the true time, I cannot be Positive, but Suppositive onely in this Geniture.

T George

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.	m.
h	0	17 North.
l	1	50
♂	0	49
♀	0	59 South.
♂	1	20
♂	4	53

This is the Nativity of that renowned Person, (the Miracle of his Age) the Duke of Albemarle; as I had it communicated to me by a very good Friend: and I having an Opportunity to transmit it to Posterity, with the Genitures of divers other Worthies, have adventured the Publication thereof; as well for the Honour of the English Nation, (who in this one Example of true Valour, Honour and good Policies, may vie with the whole World) as for the signal Merits and Deserts of the Noble Duke himself: whose Princely and unparallel'd Adventures, cannot be too seriously or often acknowledged by any English Man.

To prove this the true Radix of this Princely Native, let it be remembered, that in the twentieth year of his Age, (as I am informed) he had the Small Pox: he had then the Ascendent directed ad Quartilum Saturni; and this in ♄, the greatest Dignities of ♂.

Being aged 21 years, he was preferred to some Martial Employment in the Low-Countries, and increased in Honour, &c. the Moon was then directed ad Oculum Tauri.

Being aged 31 years, he was created Captain of Horse: he had then to signify the same, in his Nativity, the Ascendent directed to the Δ of ♀; and this in ♀, her chief Dignity.

Being aged 32 years, he was honoured with the Command of a Colonel; and to signify that, he had the Medium Caeli directed ad * ♂; and this in ♄ his Exaltation: an eminent Argument of that Honours encreasing.

Being aged 35 years, he was (unhappily) taken Prisoner: the Sun was then directed ad Corpus Saturni, and the Moon (nearly) ad Quadratum Martis: the first Direction fell in the twelfth House; and h, the Promittor therein, was Lord of the Twelfth.

But above all, let it be remembered, that in the 52 year of his Age current, viz. May 1660. he brought in his Glorious Majesty King Charles the second, who had been twelve years kept out of his Kingdoms; and brought the Confusions of the three Nations, England, Scotland and Ireland, into a calm Condition of Peace and Tranquillity: He had then the Moon directed ad * ♄. Origanus, fol. 751. saith, ♄ ad * ♄, natum dignitatibus & honoribus sublimibus auget, &c. and ♄ being Lord of the Tenth in his Nativity, made that Action the more eminent and honourable: besides, to encrease create the same, the \oplus was at that time also directed ad Trium jovis. Now, to signifie the Opposition and Struggling he met with, in that honourable Undertaking, he had the Ascendent directed ad Contrajscium Mercurii; perhaps one Reason why the City of London (in some respects) seem'd not satisfi'd with his Noble Actions and Undertakings.

That this eminent Native was born for illustrious Undertakings, is plain; he having the \odot in the Tenth in a Noble fiery Signe, and thence in Δ ad Lunam, in a Signe of the same Triplicity. And to add to this, he hath Υ (Dominus Ascendentis) in Δ of φ and ψ in domo undecima. δ in the Ascendent in his Triplicity, gave him Courage and Valour; being in \ast of η , that added Reason to his Resolution, and made him not onely Souldier, but Polititian. He hath the Moon placed in the very Degree of the Suns Exaltation, and perhaps the Ascendent of England in general; which might apt and fit him for great and to-be-admired Deeds in his own Native Kingdom. I shall say no more hereof, but conclude in the words of the Epigrammatist:

*Had Plutarch liv'd till now, to blazon forth
His Life, (as sure he would) what Prince of worth,
Or Greek or Roman, had his single Story Selected out, to parallel his Glory!*

Thus much for this honour'd Persons Nativity, and for a Conclusion to the first Part of the Book.

Collectio

卷之四 七 八 九 十 十一 十二 十三 十四 十五 十六 十七 十八 十九 二十 二十一 二十二 二十三 二十四 二十五 二十六 二十七 二十八 二十九 三十 三十一 三十二 三十三 三十四 三十五 三十六 三十七 三十八 三十九 四十 四十一 四十二 四十三 四十四 四十五 四十六 四十七 四十八 四十九 五十 五十一 五十二 五十三 五十四 五十五 五十六 五十七 五十八 五十九 六十 六十一 六十二 六十三 六十四 六十五 六十六 六十七 六十八 六十九 七十 七十一 七十二 七十三 七十四 七十五 七十六 七十七 七十八 七十九 八十 八十一 八十二 八十三 八十四 八十五 八十六 八十七 八十八 八十九 九十 九十一 九十二 九十三 九十四 九十五 九十六 九十七 九十八 九十九 一百

Collection

南齊書卷之六十五

COLLECTIO GENITURARUM:
OR, A COLLECTION
OF NATIVITIES.
The Second Part,
In Fifty eminent GENITURES;
VIZ.

{PRELITICAL, {CAUSIDICAL, {PHYSICAL:

Being of Practical Concernment unto Philosophers, Physitians, &c. and all other Learned and Ingenious Persons.

BY JOHN GADBURY,

PHILOMATHEMATIKOS.

—We need not labour with so many Arguments to confute Judicial Astrologie; for if there be a Truth therein, it doth not injure Divinity: If to be born under Mercury, disposeth us to be witty; under Jupiter, to be wealthy; I do not owe a Knee unto these, but unto the merciful Hand that hath ordered my indifferent and uncertain Nativity unto such benevolous Aspects. Rel. Medici, Sect. 18.—

LONDON: Printed by James Cottrel, MDC LX II.

COLLECTIO GEMMIFERARUM

COLLECTION

OF

NATIVES

The Second Part

In four volumes

GEMMIFERAE

VIZ.

(PRACTICAL) (ANATOMICAL) (PHYSICAL)

Being of Practical Concernment unto Physicians
Of, and all other Learned and Ingenious Persons

By

JOHN GADSDEN

SIROMAENATIOM

—The author of this work, who has been many years a Surgeon, and has seen many of the most famous Physicians of the age, has been enabled to collect a great number of the most curious and rare Gems, which he has now presented to the public, in this second volume. He has also been assisted by several of the most ingenious and learned Physicians of the age, who have been consulted in the selection of the Gems, and in the arrangement of the work. The author has also been assisted by several of the most ingenious and learned Physicians of the age, who have been consulted in the selection of the Gems, and in the arrangement of the work.

LONDON: Printed by James Gower, M.D.C.LXXII.

COLLECTIO GENITURARUM:

O R,

A Collection of Nativities :

The SECOND PART.

This is the Nativity of the present Pope of Rome; and for a Person of such eminent Power, it is a very suitable Genesis: for here we have Υ ascending, the greatest Dignities of Υ , and that part thereof in which he is exalted; as if God and Nature had from his beginning appointed him for the enjoyment of the highest Ecclesiastical and Political Dignity.

Next, we finde Υ in the Tenth in his Exaltation, in \ast unto the Ascendent, and in Δ to Υ , Lord thereof; and Υ (though in \ast his Detriment and Fall) is in Reception of the benign Planet Υ by Triplicity and Exaltation: there is likewise a great Reception between Υ and Υ , and a Δ also. The \odot and Υ are in Δ , and the \odot with δ enjoys the same Aspect; and that which is as eminent, as what is most considerable, is, that there are no less then five Planets treated largely thereof, I shall be brief in my Observations on it.

This Nativity I have taken from Cardan; but he having (among his twelve Genitures)

The Geniture is not onely considerable in that it was to great a Person's; but in that the Person born under it, should from a private Life rise to the greatest Dignities and Government of the Church or Priesthood. My Author says, he was well learned in the Greek Tongue, and a Person most Prudent and Discreet, and well versed in the Mathematicks. All which are admirably well discovered by the exact Trine of Mercury and Jupiter from Angles and Aëreal Signes: Nor doth the Quartile of Mars and Mercury other then adde unto his Parts; nay, it makes them the more eminent and excellent, although at some times it might note a perturbed Fancie and Judgement.

It is always observed, that Aëreal and Fiery Signes possessing the Angles of a Nativity, adds to the Fame of the Native according to his Condition, be it what it will. Mercury in the first House, in Trine of Jupiter Lord of the Tenth, and Saturn (Lord of the Ascendent) in Sextile to both, are Arguments of great Honour, Dignity and Renown: the Sun in Conjunction of Venus, in Sextile of Mars and the Moon, the same: all which are to be found in this Nativity. But the kinde of Dignity is known from Jupiter chiefly, and partly Mercury, in that they are here in Trine; and Astrologers tell us, when they have Signification of Dignity, &c. the Native riseth thereunto by Learning, and by Ecclesiastical means.

I am apt to believe, that although the Planets places may be nearly true in this Nativity, the Figure it self is not: for were it, at the time of this Natives Expiration, he had the Ascendent directed ad ♄ ♀, & ♂ ♃; which is an apparent Solæxism in Astrologie. I do not deny but that a Person at 81 years of Age may die without a killing Direction, it being an Enneatical year; but then there must be none to support Life, as those before mentioned are.

and (saith my Author) his Dignity and Felicity was not much unlike to his.

To denote his Greatness, here is (1.) a happy Conjunction of the Sun and Jupiter in the Ascendent: (2) The Lord of the Tenth is in Conjunction of the Lord of the Ninth in the Ascendent: (3.) The Lord of the Ascendent strong in the second House, in Trine of the Moon, who is in Conjunction of ☉ in the Sixth.

In the 64 year of his Age, he was created Pope: he had then the Mid-heaven directed ad Corpus Solis.

Ascensio Recta Solis

deg. min.

271. 26.

Ascensio Recta Medii Caeli

208. 14.

Arcus Directionis

63. 12.

Anno 1590. being the 69 year of his Age compleat, he yielded up his Life and Power together, the Ascendent being then directed ad Quartilum Martis.

Ascensio Obliqua ☐ & cum circulo

deg. min.

366. 54.

Ascensio Obliqua Ascendentis

298. 14.

Arcus Directionis

68. 40.

He sickned upon the 14 of August, and died on the 28 thereof: the fatal Planet Saturn was all the time upon the Radical place of the Moon.

Thus much for this Nativity.

The Latitude of the Planets.

	d.	m.
h	1	25	S.
u	1	0	M.
♂	3	0	S.
♀	3	0	S.
♂	2	0	M.
♂	4	34	S.

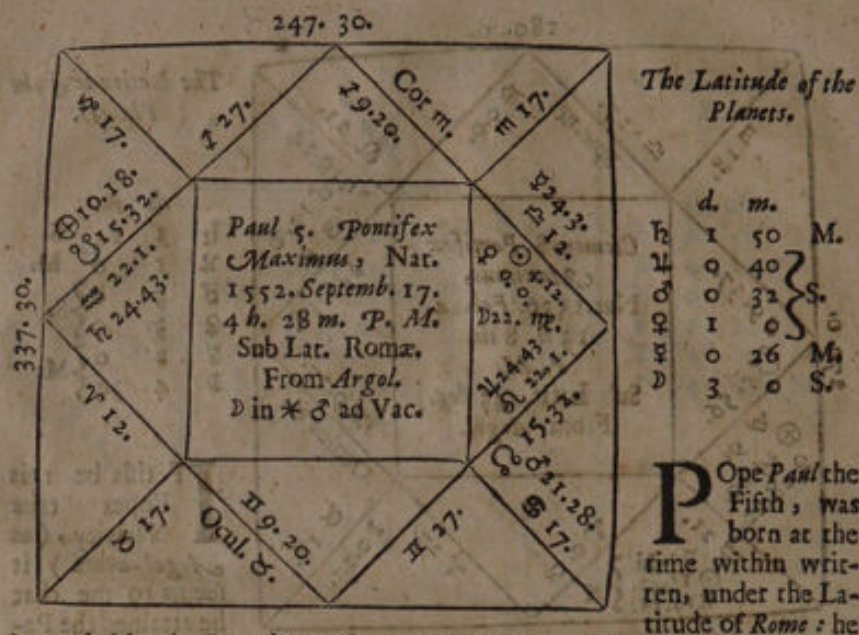

If this be this Popes true Nativity, (as Argol avers) it seems to me that he attained the Papal Dignity more by Policy, then Desert; and was made the Head of the Church more for Necessity, (perhaps to curb aspiring Factions; as it is fabled of the Coffer, who was said to be made Pope) then for any Religion, &c. For although he hath 2 ascending the Horoscope, and u strong in ♄, in Conjunction of the Sun; yet h is upon the very Cusp of the ninth House, in ♄ is greatest Debilities: a sad Position for either Pope or Priest! They are the very Words of Argol in Ptolomeus Parvus, Lib. 1. h ill dignified in the ninth House, denotes the Native to be an absolute Hypocrite or Dissembler; makes him Heretical, and guilty of great Errors in Matters of Faith and Religion, &c.

Anno 1592. and 56 year of his Age, he attained the Papal Chair: he had then the Mid-heaven directed ad * ♄.

	deg.	min.
Ascentio Recta * ♄	236.	8.
Ascentio Recta Medii Caeli	108.	0.
Arcus Directionis	56.	8.

Anno 1605. March 3. being aged 69 years, he died of a tedious lingering Sickness: He had then the Ascendent directed ad ♄ h, and the Sun at the same time directed ad stellam violentam Pakilitii, or of the Bulls Eye, which most plainly presaged this great Persons Expiration.

succeeded in the Popedom Clement the Eighth, whose Geniture we presented you with before. Argol thinks the Comet that appeared in the Knee of the Serpent, anno 1604, was the Prodromus of his great Honour. I have elsewhere proved that Comets (if they have any Signification at all) cannot portend Good, but Mischiefs to Men: See Nagorn Argol, page 44, and cannot therefore be of his Opinion. I acknowledge with Argol, that the Lord of the Tenth with a Kingly fixed Star, may be an Argument of Grandeur and Greatness: so also is the strength of the Lord of the Ascendant, and his Trine to Mercury; and Jupiter's being in Sextile of Mercury and Luna, in the same Aspect with Mars, together with a Royal fixed Star culminating. All these (I say) are Arguments of acquiring great Dignity and Renown; and these are sufficient, without being beholding to the unknown Effects of Comets or new Stars.

Anno 1621, on the 28th of January, he died: the Ascendant was then directed ad Cuspitem domus quarta, & ad Antiscium Martis; and this without the Assistance of any Direction of the fortunate Planets. The Revolution that year was most pernicious; Mars was in exact Opposition of the Ascendant of the Radix, and his Lord; he was in Quartile of Jupiter; Saturn was in Quartile of Sol, Mercury and Venus.

The Latitude of the Planets.

	d.	m.
♈	1	14	M.
♉	1	43	S.
♊	0	7	M.
♋	1	15	S.
♌	1	0	S.
♍	5	0	M.

THe Papal Chair had not been vacant one full moneth, but this eminent Native was elected Pope:

he was then somewhat above sixty seven years of Age, and had at that time very conveniently operating, the Medium Caeli ad Trinum Veneris per Directionem.

Ascensio Recta ♄ Veneris

deg. min.

149. 58.

Ascensio Recta Medii Caeli

82. 45.

Arcus Directionis

67. 13.

He had not held the Popedom much above two years, but died, being aged near 70 years: he had then operating the Moon ad ♄ Saturni, and Ascendent ad ♄ Mercurii: two dangerous Directions, at those yeares especially.

Descensio Obliqua ♄

deg. min.

22. 6.

Ascensio Obl. Ascendentis

deg. min.

172. 45.

Descensio Obliqua ♄ ♄

90. 54.

Ascensio Obliqua ♄ ♄

242. 9.

Arcus Directionis

68. 46.

Directio quæstus

69. 24.

This Nativity in the general was a good one; here is a strong Reception betwixt ♄ and ♀, and they are both near the friendly Aspects of ♄, who is Lord of the Ascendent and tenth Houses. The ☉ is in ♄ to the Ascendent, ♄ in ♄ of ♀, and in * of ♂ and ♄, and the Head of the Dragon is locally in the Tenth, in the Exaltation of the benign Planet ♄.

The Ascendent at the time (if my Reports were exact) came to the House of the Reception by Direction, with I suppose; and (if the learned Hæcyl may be credited) his Direction at the time to the Opposition of ☉ was.

Nasc.

THe learned David Origanus, fol. 601. writes, ♏, ♏, & ♏, conjuncti præsertim in Ascendente, faciunt Oratores doctissimos. (i.) ♏, ♏, & and the ♏, posited in the Ascendent of a Nativity, make most learned and admirable Orators. And this, he saith, (and it is true) is in part to be observed in the Genesis of this excellent Person:—

Cum judicium gravissimum, & oratio copiosissima, ex scriptis editis eruditissimis, omnibus nota est. He hath ♏ in Conjunction of ♏ in the Horoscope, in an Aëreal Signe, viz. ♏, and the fortunate Planet ♏ beholding them both from the ninth House, and an Aëreal Signe, with the most friendly of Aspects: from all which, his most excellent Parts are singularly well discovered.

The learned Cardan (who hath this Nativity as well as Origanus) says, the Reason of his undertaking so many Journeys, and travelling out of his own Country, is seen from the Luminaries possessing the Dignities of ♏; and although they are not, yet ♏ is, Cadent from an Angle. In my Opinion there is another Argument for Travel as eminent; and that is, the Lord of the Ninth (not onely in the Ascendent, but) in Conjunction of the Lady thereof, in a moveable Signe. Cardan saith also, that while the ♏ was under the Direction of the Sextile of ♏, he enjoyed times of happiness: this was about the 34 year of his Age, though he says the 32. I spare to speak of what he relates while the Sun was in Opposition to ♏, because it is not improbable but that he may be abused by his Printer. The 56 year might very well prove (as it did) a most dangerous year unto him; for he laboured under the Sun and the Moon to the Opposition of ♏, and Quartile of ♏. But he lived until near 70 years; viz. until the fourth Ides of July, 1536. as saith Rantzquius, fol. 175. who concludes thus in his Commendations:

Eloquii clarus qui vicis Erasmus Athenas, Non minor eximio qui Cicerone fuit.

* Hartgil allows the fixed Stars, their Rays or Aspects, to have an influence as well as their godies

The Ascendent at that time (if my Authors were exact) came to the Heart of the Scorpion by Direction, with Latitude; and (if the learned Hartgil may be credited) its Direction at the same time to the Opposition of Oculum Tauri, did not meanly add unto the Effects thereof.

Nascit.

It is no new thing among Artits to take Nativities upon trust, without sitting them to the utmost; and thus I am perswaded hath Origanus done in the Geniture of this learned Native.

Rantzovius tells us, that this Person died in the 63 year of his Age of a Tertian Fever; but by this Figure there is not one Direction of either of the Hylegical Points to any cross Aspect at that time.

Now, if we (instead of ♄ 27.) make ♄ 26 to ascend the Horoscope at the time of his Birth, the Ascendent at the time of his Death will be directed ad Corpus Martis; which is proper, not onely to signify the Tertian, (of which he died) but to cut off Life, (non obstante ♄ being so near the place of the Direction, and strong also) it happening in so dangerous a Climatrical year. Origanus main Reason for giving ♄ to ascend, is, because this Native was but short of Stature, and of Temperature Dry, &c. and saith fol. 577. That a Signe of Brevity ascending, and the Lord thereof disposed of by ♄, might very well denote the same: but allowing the Stature and Temperature of this learned Native to be as Origanus saith, I should judge that the latter part of ♄ ascending, and ♄ Lady thereof in 8 h in ♄, the House of 3, and the Luminaries in such Signes as they are, may much better signify them then those Arguments before mentioned. ♄ in 8 of ♄, in Δ of 3 and ♄, and the Moons being in ♄, and ♄ in the Dignities of ♄, very plainly denote the excelling Parts of this worthy Person, his great Acquirements in Divinity, his Learning, and Love of Arts. Let it be remembred, that this learned Person (although a Divine) as he was a Friend to all Literature and all commendable Arts: so to Astrologie in particular; as appears by his turning the two last Books of Ptolomy out of Greek into Latine; and in divers Epistles, especially in that to Grynus, wherein he hath not onely commended, but most strenuously defended the same.

I Have seen other Nativities that are reported to be Martin Luther's, viz. one done by Paulus Eberus, his Contemporary and Friend; and another by a third person: and all the Reason they give why this should not be the true one, is, that they believe him to have been born, not on Octob. 22. but on Nov. 11. which is a Festival held in honour of St. Martin; and thence (say they) he had his Name given him: which if true, I conceive their Plea to be the better. But why Gauricus should not meet with those Nativities, as this, I understand not; and if he did, without controversie he saw good Reason to reject them, for this I know Gassendus spits his Venome at Astrologers to purpose for the same Reason; yet I know not but Gassendus may very well be deceived; for neither he, nor others give any good Authority, or any at all, (but their Presumption) for his being born on St. Martin's day. And if probable Reasons in Astrologie may take place, this Figure best suits with Martin Luther his Temper and Actions: for H and P are in Conjunction in m , an eminent Argument of the Activity of his Fancie, and of his great Parts and Learning: and five Planets in the Ninth, noted his Eminency in Religion, and (they being in Sextile to the Ascendent) his great Abilities to perform what he did therein. I meddle not with the Addle-headed Stories of great Conjunctions; it being impossible for the short-lived Experience of Man to affix a Judgement on such things that happen so rarely, as great Conjunctions.

Nascitur

on of Heaven suitable to his Birth, pious Inclinations, good Actions, and his great and to-be-admired Acquirements in Honour and Learning, &c. For here is ♄ (which of Astrologers is termed Signum justitiae) ascending, and ♄, the true Patron of Arts and Learning, is in Conjunction of Spica Virginis in the Horoscope; and ♄ is in the ninth House with Oculus Tauri, (another eminent fixed Star) in perfect Trine thereunto: the Moon and ♄ are in friendly Trine with the Cusp of the Angle of Honour and Dignity, and enjoy the same benign Configuration with each other, and that from good places of the Figure; and (to make the Nativity the better to correspond with the Dignity of this learned and pious Native) there are several Stars of the nature of ♄ and ♄ culminating. It is an Aphorism in Astrologie, that—Stella fixe auri dona grandia, & ex paupertate sublevant ad sublimitatem eam quam non faciunt septem Planetae:—The fixed Stars do raise Men even from a low Degree, and give greater Honours, than do the seven Planets. And this was exactly verified in the Original and Progress of this honoured Native.

Another Argument of the Grandeur of this worthy Native, is, Cardinal Signes possessing the prime Angles of the Figure: For as the greatest Actions of the World depend upon the Cardinal Points of the Heavens, viz. ♄, ♄, ♄, ♄, so the most eminent Persons (I mean now, where there is in the rise of a Man any Wonder, or that it seems prodigious to the general or common way of Advancement) have those Points upon the Angles of their Nativities. Thus it was in the Nativity of Marcus Tullius Cicero; whose Parentage (if Authority may be credited) was scarce known, yet was he at last elevated to such a Degree of Honour, that he was called, The Father of his Country. Thus it happened in the Nativity of Charles Gustave, late King of Sweden, who (though not born to a Kingdom) had one given him by Queen Christina; and afterwards did such Acts, that History cannot often parallel. So it chanced in Oliver Cromwell's Nativity also, who by Birth was but a Gentleman of mean Fortune, yet by the prodigiousness of his Fate, he attained (I will not say here by what means) to the greatest Dignity that could be, in, and over three flourishing Kingdoms.

If we shall enquire Astrologically into the Reason of this eminent Na-rives Misfortunes, viz. his tedious Imprisonment, and violent Death; we shall finde (by observing the Figure) that the Lord of the Twelfth is in the Ascendent: and Argol and Ogier Ferrier say, If the Lord of the Twelfth be posited in the First, it argues (not onely Imprisonment, but) many eminent Enemies to the Native; also many Labours, Grievs and Troubles, attended with grievous Treacheries and Deceits, &c. besides, the fiery Planet Mars is upon the Cusp of the Twelfth, in Opposition to the Moon, and in Quartile to her Dispositor. That he should die a violent Death, is obvious, because δ , Author Mortis, is in a humane Signe, in Opposition to the Moon; and the Lady of the Horoscope is in Signo violenti, going to a Conjunction of an Infortune, and he Lord of the Fourth.

I shall not in this place give you many Demonstrations of the Truth of the Correction of this eminent Natives Geniture, because I intend a particular Treatise thereof at large; onely take notice, that the Medium Celi ad Corpus Martis, was the cause of his Imprisonment, though not the instrumental cause, for that was the over-heated Conceptions of the Vulgar, being urged on by some in Power, as mad as they, to so causeless an Animosity. And four years after, the Ascendent came to the Body of γ cum Latitudine; at which time he was most barbarously murdered.

	deg. min.		deg. min.
M.C. R. A.	96. 15.	Ascend. Obl. δ γ .	257. 36.
A. R. Corp. δ .	162. 52.	Ascend. Obl. Ascendentis	186. 15.
Arcus Directionis	66. 37.	Arcus Directionis	71. 21.

Not to take notice that this Revolution is neatly the same with the Radix, here we finde the fiery Planet δ viciating both the Sun and the Horoscope; and that Planet in both Figures the natural Significator of his Enemies. Franciscus Junstinus saith, p. 169. Mars cum in Solis locum venerit in Revolutione, si natus habuerit Mortem violentam in Nativitate, (as here in this Nativity is very plain) occiderit aut occidetur, aut Natus laborabit morbo exustabile usque ad Mortem. He laboured under no Disease but that of popular Fury; which, as hath been before remembred, (for Necessity sake, and in Envy to his great Parts and Piety) doom'd him to Death before Nature had appointed.

The Latitude of the Planets.

	d.	m.
♄	0	8	} North
♃	2	32
♄	0	39	} South.
♃	1	40
♄	3	19
♃	1	1

IN the Diary of this learned Persons Life, (written by his own Hand) I finde the time of his Birth as it is within written; and do conceive it to be somewhat near the Truth, because about the time of his being imprison'd in the Tower of London, (by reason of that popular Fury that then prevailed against that sacred Function, of which he was an eminent Member) he had the Medium Caeli directed ad Cauda Draconis: he was then aged 67 years, and upward. And for to signifie his Death, which was in the 82 year of his Age, ferè; he laboured under the force of the Sun to the Quartile of the Moon. Other Accidents in general I finde scattered among the Passages of his Life; but the times of them being not therein set down, nor I in any probable way to obtain them otherwise, renders me the more incapable of confirming it by further Astrological Observations.

For to signifie this Reverend Divine should be subject to Imprisonments, there need no other Testimony then the Lord of the Ascendent in the Twelfth, it being the same Position that that illustrious Prince Christiernus King of Denmark had in his Nativity; and how he suffered by Imprisonment, I have in his Geniture mentioned.

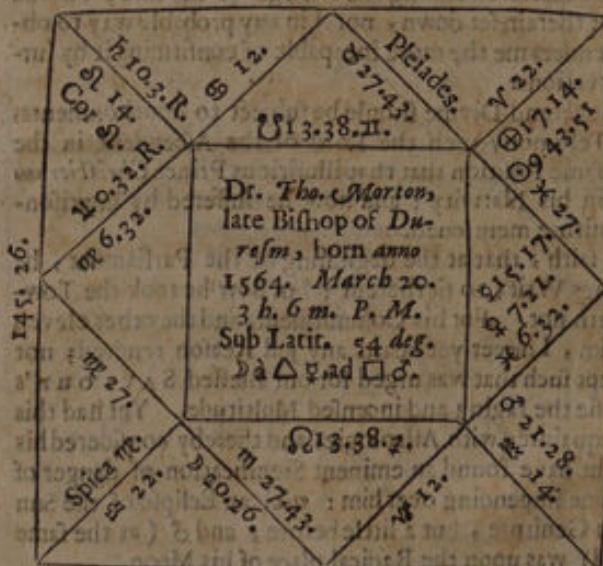

This learned Divine saith, that at the beginning of the Parliament, he was sent for, by the Kings Writ, to sit therein; but how he took the Tower in his way, he knoweth not. For his Commitment, and the other eleven learned Bishops with him, I never yet heard any just Reason rendred; nor indeed any at all, except such that was urged for our Blessed SAVIOUR's Suffering, viz. to satisfy the raging and incensed Multitude. Yet had this learned Bishop been acquainted with Astrologie, and thereby considered his own Nativity, he might have found an eminent Signification of danger of Imprisonment at that time impending over him: viz. an Eclipse of the Sun in the place of ♂ in his Geniture, but a little before; and ♂ (at the same time he was Committed) was upon the Radical place of his Moon.

Revolutio

THe Ascendent of the Radix is the Cusp of the eighth House in this Figure, and the Dragons Tayl thereon: 8 is in exact Opposition to the Horoscope of Birth; the Moon is in Opposition of 14 Lord of the Ascendent of the Revolution. All which are eminent Testimonies of a fatal year, when co-operating with so dangerous a Direction, as before we noted. Besides these, the Moon was eclipsed sed 11 Digits of 12. in the Radical place of the Sun, on January 1. 1658. which was of Effect sufficient to cut off Life at such years as this Reverend Native died.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.	m.
h	0	20 North
14	1	145 North
8	0	28 South
9	0	0
3	3	50 North
1	9	South

THis Reverend Prelate was born at the time within written, in the City of York:

the Day thereof is attested by that learned Divine, John Berwick, D. D. who hath most elegantly writ his Life. But the time of the Day he mentioneth not: howbeit, by the Assistance that learned Doctor hath afforded me, I have been at the Pains to finde out the Hour and Minute thereof; and I suppose truely too; as may appear by these following Directions, rections compared with the several remarkable Accidents of his life, as follows: In the year 1582, being the 18 year of his Age, he was taken from Halifax, (where he then went to School) and sent to St. John's Colledge in Cambridge: He had then the Medium Cali directed ad \square 5, in π , and \odot at the same time directed ad Δ 11.

Anno 1584, viz. in his 20 year of Age, he was chosen Scholar of the House into a place of Constables Foundation; peculiar to his own native County of York: His Ascendent was then directed ad $Ant.$ \odot , &

Anno 1586, he proceeded Batchelor of Arts: The \odot was then with the Trines of \odot and \hbar .

Anno 1590, and 26 year of his Age, he commenced Master of Arts; having (saith Dr. Barwick) first performed all Arts and Exercises — with great Approbation and Applause: This was occasioned by the Mid-heavens oc-curre ad Δ 3, \odot ad $Ant.$ \hbar , & \odot ad \square 2; Directions that (indeed) portend very great Honour and Preferment also.

Anno 1592, March 17, and in the 28 year of his Age, he was admitted Fellow into a place of the Foundation of Dr. Keyson, having in the obtaining thereof, contended with eight Competitors: that year also he was made a Deacon; and aply to signify this, he had the Sun directed ad Δ Javis.

Anno 1598, he was created Batchelor in Divinity; and was inducted to the Rectory of Long-Marston near York, presently after: He had then the Sun directed ad \star 2, & \odot ad \star 3.

Anno 1600, he commenced Doctor in Divinity, being then aged 42 years; and was at the same time also admitted Chaplain to the King: The Medium Cali was then directed ad $Trinum$ $Veneris$.

Anno 1609, he was preferred to the Deanry of Winchester: he was then aged 45 years, and was under the Moons Direction to the friend, Δ of Δ .

Anno 1616, July 7, being then aged 52 years, he was translated from the Deanry of Winchester, to the Bishoprick of Chester: He had then the Medium Cali directed ad Δ 4, and the Ascendent ad \star 2. It happened a little after this time, as he was going to his Bishoprick of Chester, he fell sick of a dangerous Fever at Sir Christopher Hattons of Clay-Hall in Essex:
 He had the \odot by Direction to the δ of the ν , and nearly to the Quartile of δ .

Anno 1618, March 6, he was translated thence, to the Bishoprick of Lichfield and Coventry: Medium Cali then nearly touched the Δ of the ν , and \odot was under the \square of Δ .

Anno 1632, he was removed to the Bishoprick of Duresm: The \odot was then directed ad \square 11, but a little separated, and \odot ad \star \odot & \hbar ; the Ascendent also was then directed ad $Ant.$ 2.

Being aged 77 years, anno 1641, he was (with other his learned Brethren, by the Malice of a prevailing Party in the late iniquitous Times) committed to the Tower of London Prisoner: Medium Cali was then directed ad δ \hbar , & $C.$ $A.$ ν .

Anno 1659, September 22, being then aged 95 years, he died of a Hernia or Rupture: The Ascendent was then directed ad \square 11, Lord of the Sixth, and of the Eighth of his Revolution that year, and the ν was directed then to the δ of δ , and to her own \square : Directions sufficiently dangerous to this learned Prelates Life.

These several eminent Accidents so exactly corresponding with the Directions they are compared withal, evince the Hours and Minutes within written, to be the true time of this great Church-mans Birth. We shall in the next place consider how it agrees with him in things of more general Concernment.

The Author of his Life telleth us, that he was inclinable to Acts of Mercy and Compassion; and among many, in page 68. giveth us one incomparable instance, or proof thereof, viz. In the year 1602. (saith he) began the great Plague at York; at which time he carried himself with so much heroical Charities, as will make the Reader wonder to hear it: for the poorer sort being removed to the Pest-house, he made it his frequent Exercise to visit them with Food, both for their Bodies and Souls. His chief Errand was to instruct and comfort them. — And to make his Coming the more acceptable, he carried usually a Sack of Provision with him for those that wanted it, &c.

Now to signify this worthy Inclination in him Astrologically, we finde φ his chief Significator to be in Conjunction of φ , and in great Reception of \mathcal{A} , (the most compassionate and friendly Planets in the Heavens) who with his benefique Rays, fortifies the Ascendent of this Nativity, although he be six Degrees from the same.

He was a Person of great acquired Parts, a sharp Student; and gained much Honour and Esteem thereby; yea, so much, that the Author of his Life compareth him with St. Remigius; of whom it was said, — Ut primum disciplinarum capax factus est — Non modo nam majores, ingenii felicitate, discendi ardore, sed & morum maturitate singulari excelluit: That from the time of his first Capacity of Learning, he out-stripped even those that were his Superiours in Age, both in Excellency of Parts, Proficiency in Learning, and Maturity of Moral Vertues.

In his Nativity to denote the same, we finde the Moon in Trine of φ and φ ; and although φ be in Pisces, he is befriended by both the Fortunes, and in no ill Configuration with any one Planet: therefore is his single Debility of being in \mathcal{X} , most super-sufficiently supplied; and accidentally his Position is very good.

The Pleiades Culminating, and the Sun in his Exaltation, in Trine of η , a superiour Planet, and φ Lady of the Tenth in her Exaltation also, are eminent Arguments of the Honour and great Preferments which this worthy Person enjoyed.

The Dragons Tayl in the Tenth, occasioned those unworthy Scandals cast upon him by divers, of which the History of his Life maketh mention; and was perhaps, by being in π , the Dignities of φ , a main Reason of the several Contests in print, wherein he was in his Life-time engaged: yet nevertheless, by reason of the forementioned Arguments, the Engagements he underwent, and the Prejudices of his Adversaries towards him, turned still to his Honour and Advantage.

One Passage in his Life, I shall take the Opportunity to relate, it being of so eminent Concernment to all; and therefore cannot be too often printed, nor by too many read: and it is indeed a Demonstration of his great Parts, and of the Profundity of his Judgement; and shews him to have been a Person so curiously scrutinous, that he would pierce the very inside of what he once undertook. The Story is thus: The Son of one Edward Perry near Woolver-Hampton in Staffordshire; (commonly known by the Title of The Boy of Bilson) being incapable of Learning, and therefore negligent of going to School, (yet apt enough it seems for Villany, which made Dr. Berwick, when he came to mention him and his Practices, to term him, Little leis then a Devil) was wrought upon by some, to counterfeit himself possessed with the Devil; and was promised a good Reward, no doubt, for his his Labour. Which Impotence, this Boy (it seems) had practised so long, that he began to conceive himself to be possessed in deed; and accordingly accused an old Woman for bewitching him: which Counterfeit this Knave managed so subtilly, that the Woman at the Assizes was condemned for to die. This learned Bishop hearing thereof, (it being in his Diocess, he being then Bishop of Lichfield and Coventry) and perswaded in his own Thoughts that the Boy did but counterfeit, (though so strangely, as made it almost beyond discovery) and again, that if it should not be discovered, the poor Woman must loose her Life; he requests of the Judges that then went the Circuit, that he might have the Boy home with him to his own House; assuring them, that he would use his best Endeavours to finde out the Impotence before the next Assizes: which he did, but not without great Difficulty, &c. as may be seen in a Book of that matter set forth by Mr. Richard Baddely, this Reverend Bishops Secretary. The Boy would counterfeit so exactly, that every Man (learned, or not so) would believe that the whole frame of Nature was out of order with him: his Urine, that was always black, yet proved the best Discoverer of the Cheat at last; for there being a hole made through the Wall that belonged to the Chamber where this Boy lodged, he was found thereby to colour his Urine with Ink, or other such-like stuff: in which he being first discovered, the remainder of other his Impotences, himself confessed. And this learned Prelate, upon his Contrition for it, bound him an Apprentice to a Shoe-maker in Bristol; from whence he went to London, and is still living (as Doctor B. thinks) in the Parish of St. Martins in the Fields.

Thus we see how easie a matter it is for Innocents to be ro'b'd of their Lives; and also how dangerous it is for Judges to permit the Malice and Wickedness of an Evidence, to heighten the Ignorance of a Jury, or indeed their own Negligence or Credulity.

I Do not insert this Revolutionary Scheme, as if it contained any Significations of Death therein; but to shew, that when there are dangerous Directions operating, a good Revolution cannot totally enervate their Effects; especially at ninety five years of Age.

The Ascendent to the Quartile of Saturn, did not only (together with that of the Moon ad ☉ ☉ ☐ proprium) signifie the time of this learned Persons Expiration, tion, but (as it happened in Scorpio) the Hernia or Rupture of which he died.

deg. min.
Saturni 239. 3.
Ascensio Obliqua 145. 26.
Horosc. 93. 37. sec.
Arcus Directionis 361. days.
 Which turned into time, according to Neybode, gives 95 years, 361 days, 3 hours.

Thus much for this Nativity.

being a hole made through the Wall in a place where the Boy lodged, he was found thereby to be the same person of whom the like had been said.

thereof; as every ingenious Astrologer knows: if therefore I should happen to be a little wide the Mark, (I am sure it cannot be much) the modest Artist will (nevertheless) esteem my Endeavour; and (then) for the others Censure, I shall in no wise concern my self.

Herein you have π ascending the East Angle, and π Lord thereof, in Conjunction of η , Lord of the Ninth, in the Tenth, and both casting a Trine therefrom to the Ascendant, and to the fortunate Planet ζ , and (Platiuely) to δ also: All which are eminent Arguments of Ingenuity and Learning; and (indeed) of a more then ordinary Capacity and Understanding, because all the Significators thereof are in Aereal Signes. Let but any Astrologer consult Authors about the Significations of these excellent Positions, and he shall finde that this learned and pious Native was eminently deserving of the honourable Epithets several learned Men, both Papists and Protestants, have fixed on him; as you may read in the History of his Life at large, unto which which (after I have instanced in a few, for the rest) I shall refer you. Morus in his Oration at Geneva dedicated to him, styles him, The most excellent Servant of God, The most Reverend Man of God, The Athanasius of our Age. Thy Breast (saith he) is a breathing Library: Thou art to Britain, as Antin was to Hippo, &c. Paulus Testardus Blesensis, styles him, Seculi, & Ecclesie decus eximium, The greatest Honour of the Church and Age. Arnoldus Boetius saith of him, "That he did excel with a most singular Judgement in the Oriental Languages, and in all other abstruse and deep Learning; venerable to all Europe, whose Authority prevails much with all Men, &c." Mr. Selden terms him, Most Reverend, and a Man of great Piety, singular Judgement, learned to a Miracle, and born to promote the more severe Studies, &c. Dr. Prideaux (sometime Bishop of Worcester) calls him, The most rich Magazine of solid Learning, and of all Antiquity.

In this Nativity there are six of the seven Planets supra terram, and ♀ Lord of the Ascendent, in the very Heart of Heaven to the Degree thereof, and in ♄ with ☿, and the Sun upon the Cusp of the ninth House; which Astrologically portended the spreading of his deserved Fame; and made him not onely noted, but honoured and beloved for his exquisite Pains and Parts. This in general. I shall in the next place compare some Directions in his Nativity, with some of the particular Accidents of his Life; from which it will follow, that this Nativity is this Reverend Bishops true one.

1. Anno 1600. being then aged twenty years, he commenced Master of Arts, (a thing not commonly known in any University; and indeed, a great Demonstration of this pious Persons Pregnancie in his younger years) he had then operating the ☉ to the ♀ of ♄, and to the Mid-heaven also, which aptly portended the same.

2. Anno 1612. being aged 32 years, he proceeded Dr. of Divinity: he had then operating the Medium Cœli ad Sextilum Luna, by Direction.

3. Anno 1624. in the 44 year of his Age, he was created Archbishop of Armagh, and Primate of Ireland; but was not possessed thereof, until two years afterwards; at which time he had the ☉ directed ad Sextilum Jovis: which Direction fell upon the Cusp of the eleventh House, in the Dignities of ♄; ergo, very significant to that purpose.

A little after he was elected Archbishop, &c. he had a Sickness that continued with him nine moneths together: which was said to be a Quartan, but I believe not truly; because the Ascendent then was directed ad ☿ ☉, and ☉ ad ☿ ☿, which Directions fell in ☿ and ♄: I rather adjudge it a Consumption, &c.

4. Anno 1640. he being then sixty years of Age, viz. at the beginning of the Miseries in Ireland, he came to England: he had then the Medium Cœli directed ad Quadratum Luna, and ☉ ad Antiscium & Sextilum Martis.

5. Anno 1647. the Benchers of Lincolns-Inne requested him to come and Preach among them (they having a great Honour for him) and allow him a considerable Maintenance; it then being the time of the Bishops Persecution in general: he had then the Moon directed ad ♀ ♄, and the Ascendent ad Trinum Veneris.

6. Anno 1655. on March 21. this learned and pious Church-man (after he had been 73 years a Pilgrime on Earth, and 55 years thereof a Preacher of the Gospel, and a strenuous Defender of the Truth thereof other ways) died at Rygate, in the County of Surry. He had then operating the Ascendent to the Opposition of Saturn, and he Lord of the Eighth in the Nativity, and the Part of Fortune (which Ptolomy calls the Lunar Horoscope) directed ad Oppositum Mercurii, qui est Dominus Ascendentis.

From all which Arguments, I conclude this to be the true Nativity of this eminently learned Prelate.

	deg. min.		deg. min.
Ascensio Obliqua & h. est	116. 29.	Asc. Obl. & h. S. L.	116. 54.
Ascensio Obliqua Ascendentis	42. 8.	Asc. Obl. Ascendentis	42. 8.
Arcus Directionis	74. 11.	Directio quasita	74. 46.

166. 18.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d. m.
♂	0 32 South.
♂	0 39 North.
♂	0 45 } South.
♂	0 12 }
♂	6 12 North.
♂	1 54 South.

This Nativity was given me (by a Friend) for this learned Nativestras one; and it is very like to be so: yet wanting Accidents whereby to verifie it, I shall request the Reader to excuse me; if I am not so large herein as (the worthy Author deserves, and) he may expect from me.

Hence we finde in Horoscopicall; a Signe that not onely the best of Prelates, but of Princes, have drawn their first Breath under: the Moon is falling into the House of ♃, casting a Trine to the Cusp of the ninth House: the Sun, Lord of the Ninth, is in Conjunction of ♃ in 36; and ♃, Lord of the Ascendant, is in ♃ his Exaltation, in Sextile to the Sun, ♃, Ascendant and the Moon ♃ (the proper Patron of Learning) is in 23, in Quirile of the Moon; which doth not so much afflict as some Men believe: and although he hath lately been in Opposition of ♃, yet being not now so, it doth not debilitate the Effects that ♃ naturally portends. Origines de Effet. fol. 598. si quis h. saltem, non tam pariter & malefici praesertim Marte in bono Caeli loco, in Signis Aeneis, Praecipue ad facit ingeniosissimos, ad omnes disciplinas aptos, & semper dat plurimum linguarum. And he gives an Example hereof in the Geniture of Melancthon, wherein ♃ was so placed & Unde (saith he) ingenii sui sollicitudo tantum rei literariae profuit, ut ex ejus institutione scripturae, modum Germaniae, sed & aliarum linguarum maximum senserit incrementum. That this learned Native was no way inferior to Melancthon, his Notes on the Bible his Stella Nova, his Apocalypsa and his Noah's Flood returning, are eminent Testimonies. It may also be remembered of him, that in these late Confusions, he was never known to change.

Nat.

The Latitude of the Planets.

	d.	m.
♂	1	51	} North
♂	0	2
♂	0	14
♀	1	4
♀	1	44
D	3	31

Reading over that elegant and well-penn'd Piece,
The Life of this learned Native, I met with the Day of his Birth, and several eminent Accidents, by which I have endeavour'd to find out the true Ascendant thereof; yet shall not be so confident or overweening, as to affirm it to a tittle true; I may perhaps (in tanto) fail of the verity hereof. However, I shall adventure to publish some Reasons in Art, that I have been at (no small) pains to excogitate, which seem to me to convince it probably (at least) to be his true Nativity.

1. The learned Author of his Life saith, That in his younger years he was so pregnant in Learning, that at 13 years of Age he was admitted into Magdalen Colledge in the University of Oxford: That he should be of Parts so admirable in his Youth, need not astonish any that shall Astrologically view this Figure: for ♄, the Patron of Learning, is simply the most powerful therein; and the ☉, Lord of the Ascendant, is in Conjunction with him: and that which so notably sharpened his Understanding, and gave Wings to his Ingenuity, and made him honour'd thereby, was ♄ in his Ascendant, and he Lord of the tenth House. And that he should at such years (as the Author of his Life affirms) be so serious a Student, that he generally spent thirteen hours of the Day at his Book, may be denoted by the Lord of the Ascendants being in Conjunction with ♄, in his greatest Dignities, and this in a melancholy and earthly Signe; the great Reception between ♄ and ♀, doth not inconsiderably add unto the same. But as these are Radical Positions, so they are generally to be observed, as well at one time of the Natives Life, as at another. But to signify that particular Accident, I finde by Calculation that the M. C. about the 13 year of his Age, came (by Direction) to the Δ of ☉ and ♄.

2. Aged 24 years, he entered into Holy Orders; and at that time he had the Medium Coeli directed ad Trinum Jovis, and Luna ad Sextilum Jovis: which Directions are properly natural to cause the Honour they produced.

3. Being aged 34 years, he commenced Doctor of Divinity: the Ascendant was then directed ad ☿ Solis, & ☿ ☿, cum Latitudine.

4. Aged 39. made Canon of Christ-Church in Oxford by the King, and chose chose publick Orator by the University : he had then a most advantageous Revolution, and Jupiter transiting his Medium Cali most of the year.

5. He was made Chaplain to the King at 42 years of Age, and more then ordinarily in favour with his then sacred Majesty ; as may appear by the Kings Message to the Parliament, in 'ΕΙΜΩΣ ΒΑΣΙΛΙΚΩ, wherein his Majesty is pleased to request his Attendance on his Person in the time of his greatest (and most to-be-lamented) Sufferings : He had then the Medium Cali directed to Aldebaran, a Kingly fixed Star of the first Magnitude, and to the Quartile of the Sun also ; which in other things wanted not its Significations.

6. Aged 55. on April 24. 1660. he died ; having (like Moses of the promised Land) but a Glimpse of his Majesties access to the Throne of his Ancestors, (for whose Cause he had been so great a Sufferer) but was not permitted to see him settled there : he had then the Ascendent directed ad Quadrantem Saturni.

	deg. min.
Ascensio Obliqua ☐ Saturni	165. 45.
Ascensio Obliqua Ascendentis	110. 56.
Arcus Directionis	54. 49.

These concurrent Directions, to me, prove this to be the true Nativity of this learned Person. Take however one or two more Testimonies in general, which very much seem to strengthen the truth of these several Particulars.

He was (saith the learned Author of his Life) of a just height for Stature, and all proportionate Dimensions ; avoiding the Extremis of Gross and Meagre. And in fol. 85. of his Life, 'tis said, — His Face carried Dignity and Attractions in it ; scarce ever clouded with a Frown, or so much as darkned by Reservèdness. Which Characters of Description, Mars in Leo in the Ascendent, may justly challenge, as all Astrologers consent.

In Page 59 of his Life, we read, — His Memory was serviceable, but not officious ; faithful to Things and Business, but unwillingly retaining the Punctualities of Words : which Defect he frequently lamented, it being harder for him to get one Sermon by Heart, then to Pen twenty.

This may justly (in Astrologie) be attributed to the Combustion of ☿ ; for although he be the most potent Planet in the Figure, yet his Combustion must necessarily have its Effects.

Thus much for this learned Doctors Nativity.

Nasc.

Study. The Trine of the Sun and ♄ to ♀, from the tenth House, gave him the great Honour he enjoyed by Learning, and his skill in Languages and Antiquity. He was indeed a general Scholar; no Science, either Liberal or Mechanick, but he was acquainted therewith.

He was born at Amersham in Buckingham-shire; of Parentage (in the Eye of the World) but mean: yet he being ordained from his Nativity for great Acquirements in Learning, &c. was about the 15th year of his Age, preferred to Sir William Drake, to wait upon him at Christs Colledge in Oxford: he had then operating Medium Caeli ad ♄, ☉, & ♃, & ♄, & ♄, & ♄, which singular Directions, were the mediate Causes (next under God's Providence, of his laying a Foundation to his future Honour and Preferment; which he failed not to enjoy and partake of, until the Iniquity of the Times prevailed so highly among us, that Learning began to be neglected.

When he was 26 years old, he published his Notes on Ridley's Civil Laws, and a little before, was made Chaplain of Christs Church, Prebendary of Chichester and Sarum: Ascendent was then directed ad ♄, and Medium Caeli ad ♄, cum ☉ sine Latitudine.

Aged near 40 years, he died, having been about 20 years (as saith the History of his Life) before afflicted with the Gout: the Ascendent was then directed ad ☉, and the Moon nearly come to the Conjunction of ♄. Thus then we see that there are other Causes of the Gout besides the Radical Affliction of the Sun and Moon: here is ♄, Lord of the Sixth, Conjunct in m, in the tenth House. Argol says, ——— If the Lord of the Sixth be in the Tenth, it notes molestation to the Native by great persons, &c. and by such means, Sickness and Trouble of Minde will invade and disquiet him: and by the Tyranny of our late Times, he was much molested and disquieted; which gave Opportunity to his (too) cruel Fate to seize upon him; which never deferred him till Death. But that which made it the more malicious, was the unhappy ☐ of the two Infortunes from Cardinal Signes.

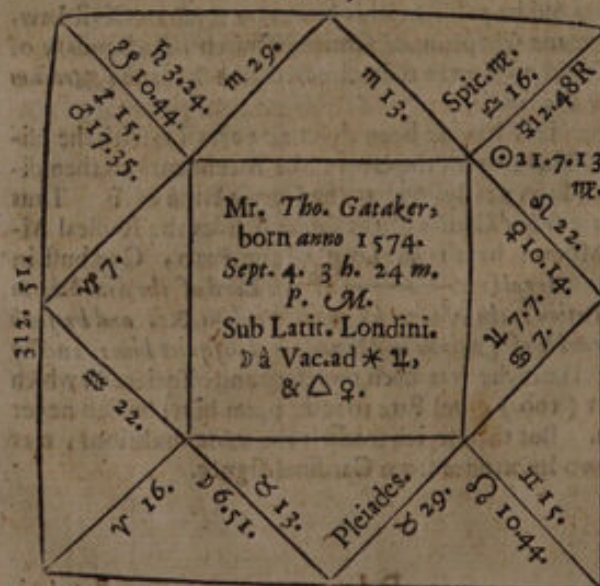

WE may remember that the ☉ was eclipsed almost 10 Digits in the very Degree of ♄ Lord of the Ascendent at Birth, on the 26 of December, viz. a little after this Revolution began: and on March the 13. 1646. he died: On which very day, the ☉ was in ☐ to the Ascendent of the Radix; and Luna was in ♄ of ♄ Lord of the Ascendent thereof, and of the Sixth in the Revolutionary Figure. In the Revolution it self, the ☉ is in domo Martis & Mortis, in ☐ to the Ascendent and its Lord, at Birth: an intercepted Signe in the Eighth of the Radix, ascends in the Revolution, and ♄ is in ♄ to ♄ Lord thereof. Thus all things concurring together, might well denote the year dangerous: but besides all these, the ☉ was directed to the eighth House in the Revolution, just about the time he died; and about three weeks or a month before, it is most probable he first sickned to death; because about that time, the Ascendent of the Revolution was directed to the ☐ of ♄, and ♄ of ♄.

Thus much for the Nativity of this worthy Person; whose loss, not only Amertham, but England, may lament! but yet rejoyce in this, that they were truely blessed, in bringing forth so great a Son of Learning.

222. 51.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.	m.
♄	1	37 S.
♄	2	57 N.
♄	0	43
♄	1	50
♀	0	34
♀	2	55

ALTHOUGH this learned Person (for such beyond all peradventure he was) was in his Life-time a great great Enemy to Astrologie, I shall not refuse to give his Nativity a place in my Book, because it doth not meanly evince the Power and Influences of the Stars, in as much as it truly describes his Person, Temper and Disposition. The Man, I must confess, I never saw; but relying on the Credit of the Author of his Life, I believe him to have been a Person of Middle Stature, Thin Body, Lively Countenance, and Fresh Complexion, &c. to signify which Astrologically, we finde ν , a Signe of Brevity and Sparseness, to ascend the Horoscope, and the ν in δ , another Signe of Brevity, in exact Δ to the Ascendent. The Author of his Life reports him to have been Grey betimes: for signification of which, we finde in his Nativity η , Lord of the Ascendent, posited in 2 , a fiery Signe, (quite contrary to his own nature) near Cor Scorpii, a violent fixed Star. Now, a Planet Cold and Dry, being posited in a Signe Hot and Dry, may very well abate of its own nature, and receive an Impression of the Nature of the Signe; as we see it apparent in Vegetables, the hottest Ground ripens any thing the soonest. This Native must for the same Reason have been also very Cholerick, although the Author of his Life hath mentioned no such Character of him; and by that Humours wasting of the Humidum Radicale, it is no wonder that he should seem Ancient in his Youth. And to assure all Men (that shall Read this) that this is no Fiction, or fained Story, cunningly compelled to agree with the Significations of his Geniture, viz. that he was Cholerick, I can demonstrate the same from his own Writings: for he contended with divers eminent Persons under Pretence of Zeal to the Truth, that never were known to begin with him; as Mr. Salmarsh, Mr. Sympson, Mr. Walker, Mr. Cann, as the Author of his Life maketh to appear: so that one may justly say of him, as a learned and ingenious Person once of Cassendus the French Physician, — He made that to seem the Severity of his Devotion, which in Truth was the Moroseness of his Nature.

To prove this his true Nativity further, let it be considered, that he was most fortunate in Wives, as ν in δ in the seventh House, might well denote, together with ϕ her Δ to η from the seventh House: Nor could he be but very Uxorious, as ν 's disposing of η , aptly argues.

Being aged 16. he was first sent to the University: the \odot was then directed ad \ast η .

Aged 23. he commenced Master of Arts: the Sun was then directed ad \square Jovis.

Aged 27. he went to Preach at Lincolns-Inne, where he continued ten years together: the Ascendent was then directed to the \ast of δ , the ν to the Δ of the Sun, and the Sun to the \ast of ϕ .

Aged 37. he left Lincolns-Inne, and went to Redriff, where he continued 43 years: he had then the Ascendent directed to the Δ of ν , and to the \ast of ν .

Aged 69 years, he was chosen one of the Presbyterian Assembly: Medium Caeli ad Δ Solis.

Aged 80 years, he died: Ascendent ad ϕ η , and to the Bulls Eye.

THe Ascendent of the Revolution is the opposite place of the Sun in the Raxix, and the Lord of the Eighth is in Quartile to the Ascendent: h, Lord of the Ascendent at Birth, is here posited in the sixth House, and the Sun with ☿ is there also; the Moon is in Opposition of ☿, and Quartile of ☊, and ☿ beholds the Sun with a Quartile also. All which are Arguments very dangerous in such a Revolution, wherein to dire a Direction happens, as before hath been remembered. But besides this, to make the year the more cruel and fatal, we find that the Moon was eclipsed 19 Digits in the place of the Sun, a few months before the Revolution began, and operated in full force near the time of his Death. Nor is it improbable, but that the Sun's Eclipse in August 1654. happening on the eighth House of the Radix, and upon the place of η in the Revolution might considerably add unto the foregoing dismal Presages. Thus is a Justice in the Decrees of God and Nature most eminently observable, viz. To cut him off (partly) by the Influences of Eclipses, that in his Life-time so furiously endeavoured the Obscuration of their most apparent Effects. See his Discourse against Lilly. Let not any mistake me; I do onely assert the verity of Influences in Defects of the Luminaries, but cannot defend Lilly in any point, because he deserves notoriously to be condemned, in that he pretended unto the Science of the Stars, and was not able to answer Mr. Gataker's Sophisms against the same.

On July the 8. 1654. he was first taken with a fainting Fit: the Moon was then in the opposite place of the Ascendent, going to an \odot of γ , Lord thereof, who was newly become Retrograde.

On July 17, his Tertian grew too strong for Nature: ♂ was then in ♄ of the ☉, and both near the sixth House of the Revolution, and the ♀ was in the Ascendant of the Radix.

On July 22. he began to be at a little ease, and to talk and discourse freely: the ♃ was then in ♄ of ♋, Lord of the Ascendent of the Revolution.

July 26. in the Morning he was in great pain: the ♀ was in ☐ of ♂ and the ☉.

July 27. about eleven of the Clock at Night, he departed this Life : the Moon was then exactly in Quartile of \mathfrak{h} , Lord of the Ascendent of the Radix.

The ☉ in ♍ in the Eighth of the Nativity, in ☐ of ♂, may very well portend a Terrian Fever to cut off Life; also a violent waiting of the Vital Spirits before Death: both which were true in this Nativity.

A. R. M. C. 13 d. 26 m.

The Latitude of the Planets.

	d.	m.
D	1	30	S.
H	2	13	N.
U	1	38	S.
♂	0	3	} N.
♀	0	59
♀	0	34

A Bout the 21 year of this Natives Age, he was admitted into Orders, and at the same years was married: he had the Medium Cæli directed ad Trinum Veneris.

Aged 25 years and two months, he died of a surfeit: he had then the Ascendent directed ad Quadrantum Saturni, near Cor Leonis, a violent fixed Star.

He was a Person of Parts most pregnant; a great Scholar, (let his years be considered) as the Sextile Rays of Mercury to Saturn, admirably well denote. His Inclination was apt to any thing of Study: for he had the Sun, Moon and Mercury all posited in earthly Signs. He was of a large Spirit, and was aiming at Honour sufficiently; as most do that have Leo ascending; but to add to that, here were the Luminaries in Trine to each other; and one in Conjunction of, and the other in Trine to, Venus; which in some sense did not want their Significations.

For his kinde of Death, viz. by a Surfeit; let it be considered, that Saturn, Lord of the Sixth and Eighth, was in Scorpio, on the Cusp of the Fifth, and the Moon going to his Opposition.

Thus much for this Nativity.

De

Mr.

His Native for Parts both Natural and acquired, was, and is, most eminent and prodigious; it being observable, that (while he was at the University, and afterwards) few of his years were able to equal him. His Acumen, and admirable Memory, are plainly discovered from the great strength of Venus, and her being in so happy Aspect with Mercury, Lord of the ninth House, who is in Trine to the Ascendent. I know the Opposition of Mars and Jupiter, and their Quartile to Mercury, are of no good Signification in Matters of Religion; but rather encline the Native to Enthusiasm, as all Astrologers will judge that shall see it; yet they do not abate of his great Parts, but rather occasion him rashly to employ them. And thus hath it fared with this learned Person: for in the 31 year of his Age, (he having the M. C. directed ad Quadratum Saturni) he unhappily wrote a Book, entituled, The Fiery Flying-Rowle; for which the then Powers (thinking Religion not so much honoured (therein) as it ought to be by a Divine, committed him to Newgate, where he lay a year and half. Origanus says, ♄, ♂, ♃, in 9 aut 3 in signis mobilibus, Jove peregrino, aut in detrimento, atq; in cadente, a maleficio damnato, significat natum non mansurum in una Religione. Here ♃ is in the Ninth, in a moveable Signe, and Jupiter cadent, and afflicted of Mars, and from moveable Signes; ergo the Aphorism in the greatest part is herein made good. Argol and Ferrier say, If Mercury be ill dignified in the ninth House, the Native will be noted for Errours in Religion: Mercury (you see) is so in this Figure; and the then Powers (though perhaps as guilty themselves) were pleased to call his Writings Errours.

Many other things might be noted in this Figure; but I, intending not a Calculation, and thence Observations at large, forbear all further scrutiny herein.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.	m.
1	16	North
1	34
0	8
0	28	South
3	23
0	48

IN the Narrative of the Life of this learned Doctor, he is said to be born on the Day within written, at Stratford-Bow, in the County of Middlesex; viz. within three Miles of London; but the time of the Day is not mentioned. Howbeit, I have been at the pains to discover the true time thereof; as by the following Correction may appear.

He being aged 20 years, he was sent to Cambridge; viz. Anno 1595. he had the Sun then directed to the Scorpions Heart.

When he was aged 28 years, he married an Orphan in the City of London; formerly the Daughter of an eminent Citizen and Mercer of London: he had then the Sun directed ad Trinum Jovis, Lord of the seventh House; and at the same time \oplus ad Sextilum Mercurii, Lord of the Ascendent; the Direction happening on the very Cusp thereof.

Anno 1608. being aged 33 years, he became Rector of Black-fryers, London; where he continued above 45 years, viz. to his Death: he had then by Direction the Moon to the Conjunction of Mercury, Lord of his Ascendent and Tenth, and the Ascendent ad Spicam Virginis, & Sextilum Saturni; which Directions fell in the second House.

Anno 1628. when he was aged 53 years, he commenced Doctor of Divinity: he had then the Moon directed to the Trine of Jupiter, and the Sun to the Body of Venus, cum Latitudine.

Anno 1653. December 12. at eight of the Clock in the Evening, being aged a little above 78 years, he died: the Sun was then directed ad ☐♂, and the Ascendent under the Direction to the Body of the Sun, and Cauda Draconis.

The Author of his Life saith, he was Asthmatical, and sometimes troubled with the Stone: Here is the Sun in Quartile of Jupiter, Lord of the Sixth, and Saturn in Quartile to the Ascendent, aptly denoting the first; and the Sun in Conjunction with the Dragons Tail in Scorpio, and the Moon and Mercury (who is Dominus Ascendentis) in the same Signe, are very significant Arguments of the last.

That this learned Native should be so eminent a Divine, and so much honoured for his Learning and Parts, is apparent from these several remarkable

Confi-

Configurations: viz. the Moon her being in Sextile of ♀, Lady of the ninth House, and the ☿ posited locally therein. 2. ♄ his being in the Eleventh, in Sextile of ☿, a Planet in the Ascendent. 3. ♃ his being in Trine of ♀, the Dispositor of the Lady of the Ninth, of whom he also disposeth. 4. The Sun and Mercury in Sextile to the Ascendent; ♄ being Governour of the prime Angles of the Figure.

Thus then the Figure agreeing with those several Accidents, as well in Particular as General, I dare pronounce it the true one, and commend it to the honest Astrologer for such.

This Figure is very nearly the same with that of the Nativiry; which (of it self) upon dangerous Directions operating, is nearly fatal: but besides this, herein we finde ☿ returned to the Quartile-place of the Moon, and the ♄ halting to his ☿ in Cardinal Signes; ☿ is also in platrique ☐ of ♄, the one being Lord of the Ascendent, the other Lord of the Eighth in both Figures: the ☿ is posited on the Ascendent, and ♄ is returned to its Radical place, there applying to a ☿ of the ☉ in the Combust way. All which are most eminent Arguments of a dangerous time, (in respectu vite) as to this learned Native it proved.

And if we shall follow the Doctrine of the learned Johannes Baptista Morinus, and direct the Significators in a Revolution, we shall find, that about the time he departed this Life, the ♄ was directed to the Body of ♀, and this in ♄; which denotes the Direction always to prove Mortal, it governing the most Vital Parts in the Body of Man. And this is further demonstrated by the Figure of the time of this worthy Divines Expiration; the Revolutionary Degree of Saturn (nearly) ascending therein, therein, and ♄, Lord of the Sixth in his Nativity, (but Eighth in the Revolution) in Opposition thereunto.

Thus we see a Harmony in Astrologie; and so certain a Dependence of one Figure of Heaven upon another, that the ingeniously Learned may discover, and read the Power and Wisdom of Almighty God, in his Creatures the Stars, and thereby be taught to magnifie the same.

The Latitude of the Planets.

♃	2	7	South
♄	1	50	North
♅	0	36
♆	0	18	South
♇	0	27
♈	2	50	North

MR. Samuel Crook was born on the Day within written, at Great Waldingfield, in the County of Suffolk:

but the time thereof, I have endeavoured to finde out Astrologically: it being either the Moroseness, Ignorance or Negligence of those that write the Lives of famous Men, not onely not to set down the time of the Day of their Births, but sometimes not the Day it self; and content themselves with a bare knowledge of the Year: which Errour (in this, as other things of moment) hath not onely caused Confusion in Chronologie, but in Astronomy also; and is like yet to occasion much more, if the Pains of some serious and industrious Pen and Brain do not endeavour a Rectification thereof.

This learned Native in his time was so famous in his Profession, that the Publisher of his Life terms him A Prophet, and The Son of a Prophet, (his Father having it seems been a Preacher of the Gospel) and the University of Cambridge, in honour of his great Parts and Accomplishments, in their Library have done him a particular Honour, (as he in his Life-time had done them) of which the History of his Life maketh mention.

Upon the first sight of this Nativity, many Artists would wonder where there should be that therein, sufficient to signifie, not onely such Honour and Fame, but the Natives Defects and Merits thereof. Howbeit, upon a serious View, we shall finde many Arguments of weight that fely portended the same: viz. ♀, Lady of the Horoscope, her being in Conjunction of ♄, Lord of the ninth House; (a most singular Position for a Divine.) 2. ♄ his being posited in ☿ his Exaltation; in the House signifying Religion; partly in to the Ascendent. 3. ♀, Lord of the Ninth, his being in Sextile of ☿, the Dispositor of the Moon, and ♀, Lady of the Ascendent, in the same Aspect of him. 4. The Luminaries in Sextile of each other, the one being Lord of the Mid-heaven, and the other partly Governess of the Ninth. 5. The Moon in Trine of ♄, who disposes of ♀, ♀ and the Sun) and he in friendly Sextile to the Ascendent. All which, are not onely Testimonies of great Honour and Fame in the Profession he was bred up unto, but of eminent Ingenuity and Learning.

The Author of his Funeral-Oration hath this Passage, relating to his great Parts. — Two things (rarely met in one Man) were eminent in him; A quick Invention, and a sound Judgement; and these accompanied with a clear Expression, and a graceful Elocution. Which seems to be most admirably denoted by all the foregoing Configurations, their happening in the Dignities of ♄, ♀ and ☿. ☿ sharpens the Invention; and by his * with ♀ and ♀, adds to the Elocution: and ♄ and ♀ give a singular sound Judgement.

To come to particular Accidents: Let it be remembred, this learned Native, when he was somewhat above 26 years old, received Ordination, or entered into holy Orders: the Moon at that time, was directed ad * Jovis; and within a year (or less) after, he was inducted to the Parsonage of Wrington in Somersetshire, by the means of Sir Arthur Capel: he had then the Sun directed ad ☿ Jovis. And ♀, being the most powerful Planet in the Figure, (I mean essentially) might be an eminent Argument of his continuing in that Benefice so long: for I do not read in all his Life, that he ever had any other, but still remained there.

When he was aged 75 years, he died, viz. on Decemb. 25. 1649. he had the Ascendent directed ad ☿ ♄, Lord of the Fourth; ☿ being upon the very Radical place of the Sun at that time, and the Moon newly separated from his Conjunction, and the Sun was in exact Quartile of the Moons place in his Nativity also.

Thus much shall serve for this Nativity.

But the time of his death, which was on the 25th of December, 1649, is not mentioned in the original text. The text continues with a long, ornate decorative border consisting of a series of small, repeating floral or scroll-like motifs. Below this border, the text resumes with a paragraph discussing the author's life and the circumstances of his death, mentioning his residence in Cambridge and his death at the age of 75.

A Gentleman in Cambridge, (by Profession a Divine) whose Name I have no Commission to annex to his Nativity, was pleased to Communicate his Geniture to me, with several Questions to be resolved therefrom; which some years since I resolved in the following Method, and hereby way of Example publish them in manner following.

Lat. Planet.

Anisc.

Contra-Anisc.

d.	m.		d.	m.		d.	m.
{ h	1	52	{ 22	44	♂	{ ☉	22	44	m
{ u	0	18	{ 3	46	♀	{ h	2	46	♂
{ ♂	0	7	{ 17	14	♂	{ u	17	14	m
{ ♀	1	2	{ 15	44	II	{ ♂	15	44	♂
{ ♂	1	6	{ 25	11	II	{ ♀	25	11	♀
{ ♀	0	40	{ 26	2	γ	{ ♂	26	2	♂
			{ 6	17	m	{ ♀	6	17	♀

The Accidents by which this Nativity was verified, are those following:

1. Aged 13 years, a dangerous Fall from a Horse; it happened about Midsummer 1648. And it was occasioned by the Ascendents occurre to the Opposition of h in u, an \bar{e} cal Signae, near the Stars of Auriga, of the nature of ♂, and partly ♀. ♀ pilled by the place of the Direction at the same time, and abated much of its evil Influence.

Aged near 17 years, the Small Pox; it happened in the moneth of May 1652. the Sun was then directed ad ♂ ♀, and ⊙ ad ♂ ♂. In July following, went to the University; then the M.C. came to the Body of the Moon with Latitude, she being strong in the Tenth of the Nativity: the Moon then came to the Terms of ♀, and Trine of ♂: the ⊙ was under the Trine of h, Lord of the Tenth.

In the moneth December 1657. elected Fellow, aged then about 24 years: the M.C. to the Terms of ♀, and going to the ♀: the ⊙ ad Ter. ♀: Asc. to the Body of ♀, and going to the Terms of u: the ♀ and ⊙ to the Terms of ♂, might occasion some difficulty about it. And this he confessed was true.

Aged 23 years, in the moneth April 1658. a Tertian Ague of short continuance, occasioned by the force of that years Revolution.

From the Nativity thus corrected, the Questions propounded by the Native, received from me these following Answers.

1. When

1. When like to come to any Preferment? If durable?

Resp. The Native may obtain Preferment in the 26 year of his Age; and it may be durable: for then the Mid-heaven comes by Direction to the Trine of ♀, and the Sun to the Conjunction of ♀: both which signifie admirable and durable Preferment.

Quest. 2. Whether ever like to marry? and when?

Resp. ♀ being in a Prolifical Signe, near the Body of ♂, and both in Sextile to ♄ Lord of the Ascendent, are eminent Testimonies of the Natives Inclination to Marriage. The time when, may be in his 27 year of Age: for then he is under the force of the before-mentioned Direction, and the Sun at that time comes to the Sextile of ♀ in ♎ in the fifth House of the Nativity. But the Moon being about that time directed to a Quadrate of ♄ falling in the eleventh House, may denote some kinde of unexpected Crosses to the Native; and this from some of his Elderly Friends, perhaps his Mother, &c. by reason of the fore-mentioned Business: which may not onely prove (somewhat) obstrusive to his Proceedings therein, but may occasion some Disraifines in Body, and Grief and Trouble of Minde by reason thereof. But the best on't is, it may go over without much Danger.

Quest. 3. Whether thrive by his Profession? and in what place most like?

Resp. The Native may thrive and advantage himself by his Profession: for ♃, the natural Significator thereof, disposes of ♄ Lord of the Ninth and Tenth Houses, and casts a friendly Sextile to the Ascendent. The Place the most like to do good therein, should be the North-East part of the Nation; for both the Fortunes are in that Quarter of Heaven, and in Signes representing the same Quarter also.

Quest. 4. Whether many, or few, real Friends? and what kinde of Persons they shall be, in reference to Temperance and Profession?

Resp. A double-bodied Signe upon the Cusp of the Eleventh, and the ♀ there, should portend many Friends: ♃, Lord thereof, in ♈, a fixed Signe, and in Sextile to the Ascendent, denotes them to be real. For the kinde of Persons, they should for the most part be Civilians and Clergie-men, or Persons of a considerable Quality and Degree: for ♃ naturally patronizeth such Persons; and the rather in this Nativity, because he is in the House of the Sun. Those of a middle Stature, full bodied, well made, oval Visage, and a brightish Chestnut-coloured Hair, will be the most friendly. The Native may also receive Friendship by the means of Female Persons: for ♀ being exalted in the Eleventh, and in Trine to the same from the Cusp of the Second, prenotes no less.

Quest. 5. Whether ever like to Travel? and when?

Resp. The Lord of the ninth House in an Angle, and disposed of by a Planet in an Angle, argues small Inclination in this Native to Travel. Nor would it be either pleasant or profitable for the Native so to do, because the Lord of the Ninth is Retrograde, and in a Signe contrary to his nature, and in Opposition to the Ascendent.

Quest. 6. How long it is probable I may live?

Resp. The Native according to Rules of Art, may live many years, if he escape the thirty third year of his Age, which (according to Natural Causes) cannot but prove very dangerous; for then the Ascendent is directed to the Body of ♂, and this happens in ♄, and ♂ hath great Dignities in the eighth House. The Moon at the same time is directed to the Quartile of ♀; Lady of the sixth House; and both these Directions fall in Cardinal Signes. But Sapiens dominabitur Astrem.

In this Nativity, ♄ and ♀ are in Trine-Platique, the one being Lord of the the Ninth, and the other of the Ascendent; and the Moon in sextile of h from the tenth House: the Sun and u are in Sextile to the Ascendent; q and s hold the same Aspect with the Lord thereof, who is in m : Argueth not onely of an accomplished Scholar in general, but of a good Divine.

The Latitude of the Planets.

	d.	m.
D	1	7	} North
h	2	25
u	1	3
s	0	6	} South.
q	5	8
r	0	44

IN this Figure, S ascends the Horoscope; and the benign Planet q being posited therein, and u in Sextile thereunto, doth so exactly describe the Person of this learned Doctor, that the Pencil of the best Limner in the World cannot do it better. For he is of Stature tall, and well proportioned; void of the Extrems of Grois and Meagre: his Complexion is very fresh and ruddy; his Hair of a brightish Colour, not much curling, &c.

To denote his excellent Parts, (for of such he is, and in Learning and Reading inferiour to very few) he hath q in m , in X to s and to the Ascendent, and holding the same Aspect with h , Lord of the Ninth, who is in Δ of his Dispositor: and to add to these, the D (Lady of his Ascendent) is in Platrique Δ of u , who friendly respects the Ascendent likewise, he being exalted therein.

This learned Person in the late Times of Confusion, (when Loyalty was held a Crime, and to be Orthodox, no less then Heresie) after several years being envied by the (then) prevailing Factions, was in the year 1651. most disgracefully (and without just cause) committed to Prison, and had his Benefice of Clerken-well (not long before) taken from him: h was then upon his Ascendent, and opposite place of his D , above a year together: but that which was more mischievous then this: he laboured under the malevolent Direction of the $\text{M.C. ad Oppositem Saturni, cum \& sine Latitudine}$.

	deg. min.		deg. min.
Asc. Recta P h C. Loc. circulo	393.31.	Ascentio Recta P h S. L.	392.42.
Ascentio Recta Medii Cali	342.33.	Ascentio Recta Medii Cali	342.33.
Arcus Directionis	50.58.	Arcus Directionis	50.9.
	Gg		The

The Effects hereof continued until towards 1657. all which time he was kept out of his Right; and then was admitted into a part of his Living again: the Moon was then directed to the Antiscion of η , and this in the ninth House, and his Part of Fortune at the same time to the Trine of ν , Lord of the Twelfth; perhaps one Reason why his Enemies became kinde to him.

Other Accidents I have not; howbeit, these seem sufficiently to correct it, because they agree so aptly with the general Significations of the Scheme, as with his Person, Profession and Parts. Nay, there is an eminent Signification of his suffering by restraint, and the Malice of his Enemies; as the Moon in Opposition of Mars from Cardinal Signes, and Mars and the Dragons Tail their being posited in the Twelfth House, clearly declare: but such Mischiefs should not commonly, or long attend him, because φ is in the Ascendents, and ψ in Sextile thereunto, and δ his being in Reception of the Moon.

Thus much for this Nativity.

The Latitude of the Planets.

	d.	m.
\odot	0	53	North
\odot	1	1
\odot	1	4	South
\odot	4	20
\odot	0	16	North
\odot	3	34	South

THis Nativity doth differ somewhat from the time the Author of it gave me: but if the Accidents which he communicated unto me at the same time, be considered, the ingenious Artist will finde a Reason for the Alteration I have made, which is 28 min. in time. The time given was October 2. 3 h. 50 m. P. M. and the corrected time (you see) I have made 4 h. 18. P. M. And now I shall compare it with Accidents.

Anno 1657. on January the twenty second day, this Native told me, he had the greatest Misfortune befall him, as ever did in his Life, for the impairing his Estate: He had then the Ascendent directed to the Opposition of φ , sine Latitudine; but that which was much worse, was, the Sun directed ad $\square \varphi$, Lady of his second House, and to the Scorpions Heart; and \odot ad C. A. $\odot \delta \eta$: and on the day of the Misfortune, φ , Lady of his second, was Retrograde in the Twelfth House of the Nativity, and δ was upon the Radical place of the Sun: which Directions and Transits, would not onely only have afflicted his Fortune, but Person, had not the Moon at the same time been directed ad Trinum Veneris, and to her own Sextile-Aspect.

Anno 1656. August 24. he had a Quartan Ague, that held him until September 9. 1657. He had then the Sun directed ad ♄; which Direction happened in exact Quartile to his Ascendent: and (2.) the Part of Fortune directed ad ♄, a Planet posited in the Ascendent. On the Day the Ague took him, the Sun, Mars and Venus were passing the opposite place of the Moon, and in Quartile to Jupiter, Lord of his Ascendent: Whence I should adjudge, the Ague to be accompanied with a Fever.

Anno 1658. this Native was entertained Chaplain to an honourable Peer of this Realm: He had the Sun directed then ad ♄, Lord of the Ninth, and the Ascendent ad ♄, and Moon nearly to the same.

Here again we see a Sextile of Saturn and Mercury, and this from the Houses of Mars and Mercury, and the Moon in exact Trine of Mercury, &c. as if a Divine were necessarily compelled to partake of such admirable Positions. But this learned Person, is Philosopher and Astrologer, &c. as well as a Divine; as is testified by his learned Labours already in Print: Viz. His Indago Astrologica; Collection of Eclipses; Britannia Baconica, &c. In which regard, I shall forbear all further Enquiry into his Geniture; referring this (as a Testimony of my Respects) to his own Consideration and Examination.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.
♄	2 North
♄	2 South.
♄	2 North
♀	2 South.
♀	1 North
♄	5 South.

IN this Nativity, (the very latter part of it) ascends the Horoscope, and ♄ is in ♄, in Platique Sextile thereunto: the Sun and ♄ are in Trine and Reception of each other, and the Moon collecting both their Lights from ♄, by a friendly Sextile: but besides these, there is a Conjunction of ♄ and ♄ in the Dignities of ♄. All which are eminent for Signification in the Nativity of a Divine; and make him not onely learned,

&c.

&c. but much delighted in the Business of his Profession: which things are eminently true in this Native. The Quartile of h and s , with S , Lord of the Sixth, I know denotes many Prejudices, Accusations, Scandals, &c. and at sometimes tedious Sickneses: the first of which, are unhappily heightened by the Presence of the Dragons Tayl in the Ascendent; but the other good Configurations, abate much of the Fury thereof: and for the latter, viz. sharp and tedious Sickneses, that is most certainly true; for by one of them, I have corrected his Geniture: viz.

Anno 1661. November 5. he had, not onely a high and violent Fever, but the Dropsie, attended with the Scurvy, seized him at once; of which he was compelled to take his Bed, and lay languishing under the same until November 17. on which Day he was given over for dead. On the Day he was first taken, the Sun was upon the Radical place of h , and h there in Conjunction of him; and S , Lord of the Sixth, nearly Stationary in Quartile to the Ascendent of Birth. In his Revolution that year, S was in Conjunction of the Sun, and h in the Ascendent thereof, all the year; the place of the Dragons Tayl ascending, and the Dragons Tayl in the Sixth of the Figure: All which portended a sickly Year. But besides all these Arguments, the Ascendent was then directed ad S Saturni cum Latitudine, and also ad Q: which most aptly signified those violent and tedious Distempers he then laboured under. From the time he was given over for dead, until toward May following, viz. near six moneths, he never went abroad. It is my Opinion, had not Q beheld S (one of the Promissors in this Evil) by a friendly Trine, and the place of the Direction by a Semi-Sextile, it had been impossible for him to have recovered. The Applications of his Physicians (as I have heard him say) were rather prejudicial and tormenting, then any way assitant to him: Nature at the last turn'd the best Physician; and by Vertue of his next years good Revolution, and the Abatement of the Force and Fury of the ill Directions, this Native unexpectedly recovered, to the Amazement and Wonder of his Doctors, the Joy and Comfort of his Relations and Friends: is now (by G o d's Mercy) alive, and may live until a very considerable Age.

Thus much for this Nativity.

The Latitude of the Planets.

	d.	m.
☿	1	59	} North
☌	0	20
♂	0	2	} South.
♀	1	6
♂	2	9
☿	0	57

THis Nativity the learned Person whose it is, gave it me; and for some things remarkable therein, I here present it to the World, among my Collection of Ecclesiastical Genitures; the Author thereof being an eminent Minister of the Gospel.

☿, the chiefest Dignities of ♀, ascends the Horoscope; ♀, Lord thereof, is (it is true) in ♋, but in exact Conjunction of ♀, Lady of the Ninth, and in Platique Sextile of ☌ his Dispositor; here is great Reception between ☿ and ☌, and a Reception also between ♀ and ♂: ☿ and ♂ are in Platique Trine. No contemptible Configurations in the Nativity of a Minister; nor indeed do they want Significations accordingly: for this Native is a great Student, read in most Arts and Sciences; a singular Divine, and most industrious. Yet I cannot omit to relate his being subject to believe, that he converseth with Angels and Spirits many times in the likeness of Scarabees, &c. who often inform him of Unhappineses that shortly after (as he saith) attend either himself or Family. Joannes Angelus tells us, If the ninth House be in the Dignities of ♀ or ♀, and ♂ therein, it denotes learned and famous Persons; and such as will be a terror to (and it may be terrified by) evil Spirits. And this may be admitted for a Truth in some sense, because the ninth House hath Signification of Visions, Dreams, &c. and the rather, because ☿ casts a Sextile to ♂ there; nor doth the Moon in Opposition of the Sun from Cardinal Signes, he being posited in the eighth House, meanly augment hereunto; perhaps a great Reason why this Native is so far perswaded into the Belief of such things as before I have related.

If we may credit the learned Casaubon, Enthusiasm (in some Men) is an Ornament to their Parts; and he seems to prove Cicero and Demosthenes, cum multis aliis, embettered by it: nay, he avers, there was hardly any excellent in any Faculty, but in some sense he was Enthusiastical. If therefore this learned Person be so in some measure, it is no great Wonder, he having an earthy Signe ascending, the Lord thereof in Opposition to it, and ♂ in the Ninth, in an earthy Signe, in Trine of ☿, Author of Melancholy.

Being aged 39 years, he obtained a Benefice: M. C. at that time directed ad ☌ ♀ ♂ ♀, and the Sun to their Sextiles, and all in the eleventh House.

H h

From

From the 41 year of his Age, to the 53. he was troubled with Sectaries, could not be quiet in his Living, (it was indeed in our late Times of Confusion) but yet he overcame them: he had 10 vex him Ascendent $\text{ad } \delta$ \odot , and $M. C.$ $\text{ad } \delta$ ♄ ; and to help him, Ascendent $\text{ad } \text{Spicam}$ ♄ \odot ♄ , and \odot $\text{ad } \Delta$ ♄ .

His learned Minister died in the prime of his years; viz. before he had accomplished 33 years of Age; having then two malignant Directions operating together: (1.) The Ascendent $\text{ad Oppositu} Marris$: (2.) The Moon $\text{ad Oppositu Saturni}$, and both of them with and without Latitude; which was the main Reason of their Effects proving so fatal.

In this Nativity there are divers good Arguments of a good Divine, and a great Scholar; and such this Native was. (1.) The Sun Lord of the Ninth, in Trine to the Ascendent. (2.) The Moon in Trine of δ , Lord of the Ascendent, and both of them in Platique Sextile with a Planet in the ninth House. (3.) ♄ and ♄ their being in exact Trine to each other. The Opposition of ♄ and δ might denote him somewhat Enthusiastical, and give him a greater Measure of Zeal then ordinary; and that he was known to have all the time of his being a Preacher, which was near upon seven years.

In the twenty fourth year compleat of his Age, he entred into Holy Orders: he had then operating the Medium Caeli ad Conjunctionem Luxæ, and this on the Cusp of the eleventh House.

Thus much may serve for this Nativity.

Here

Here follow the GENITURES OF Lawyers & Physicians, &c.

18. 30.

IN the time of this ever-famous Persons Nativity, both Cardan and Lyndholt agree: Yet Plutarch in his Life reporteth, that some have supposed him born in annary, &c. I confess, the uncertainty of Chronologie is such, that the best Judgements know not where (in some Cases) to centre. Yet it seemeth probable, that the latter is onely presumed upon the Credit of blind Report; and that for two Reasons:

(1.) The Credit of Cardanus being considerably valuable among the Learned, I adjudge he would have hardly adventured without assured Grounds, and a thorow Scrutiny, to have published the Nativity of a Person so eminently considerable, as this: besides, had it been erroneous, Lyndholt coming many years after him, would not (I perswade my self) self) have offered to present the same again unto the World without Correction.

Secondly, the Figure it self (which is the best Reason) exactly agreeth with the Description that Plutarch hath given of him. (1.) He was a lean Person, weak and sickly: and this is aptly discovered by the Moon her being in ♍, in the sixth House, she being Domina Ascendens; and ♄ her Dispositor, in Quartile of the Sun and ♄ in the Ascendent, from fixed Signes. (2.) Concerning his Oratory, he saith, that he had a good loud Voyce, but it was harsh, and he lacked both Grace and Comeliness: which seems well signified by ♄'s Conjunction with ♀ in Ascendente, there afflicted by the presence of Cauda Draconis, and ♄'s Quartile, and in Combustion of the Sun. (3.) He attained to great Dignity, and was eminently honoured for his eminent Skill in Science: which is lively denoted by the Essential Dignity of the Sun; and both he, ♄, ♀ and ♂, casting a Trine to the Angle of Dominion and Sovereignty, the Sun having Exaltation there: then ♄, Lord of the Ninth, is in Conjunction of ♄ in the Fifth, thence emitting their benign Rays to the Horoscope. All eminent Arguments of Honour, &c.

Plutarch tells us, that his Nurse was told by a Vision, that she gave suck to a Childe, which in time to come should do great good to all the Romans. And yet he was but the Son of a Bond-woman; or at the best, of mean Extraction: which occasioned Juvenal (when writing of the force of Fate) to bring him in, as an eminent Proof thereof, Sat. 7.

*Si fortuna volet, fies de Rhetore Consul;
Si volet hac eadem, fies de Consule Rhetor.
Venidini quid enim? Quid TULLIUS? anne aliud quam Sydus, & occulti miranda Potentia Fati.*

And in process of time, he was twice made Consul of Rome: and for discovering and preventing Catiline's Conspiracie, he was by Cato called, Pater Patriæ, The Father of his Country.

He died in the 64 year of his Age, he having underwent the chiefest of his Miseries in his grand Climacterical year.

Being in Exile, he was by a Prodigie forewarned of his Death, viz. a Shole of Crows coming toward the Ship in which he was sailing, and settling upon the Mast thereof; at which being terrified, he went to Land; but the Crows (as if not satisfied till they had done their Errand) followed him even to the Chamber-Window where he lay; yea, some of them to his Bed: which caused his Servants to hasten him out of Doors into his Litter for Safety, (hearing of his Enemies approach, and deeming this strange Army ominous) and behold! he was betrayed by a Youth he had bred up, into the Hands of Herrenius and Popilius Lana, who basely murder him. Thus ended this famous Person by the Violence of the Sword; who in his Lifetime was wont to say,—Cedant Arma Toga.

*Let Sword and Shield give place to Gown;
And give the Tongue the Lawrel Crown.*

The Latitude of the Planets.

	d.
♂	4	North.
♀	3	South.
♂	1	North.
♀	1	} South.
♂	2
♀	2

THis famous Judge was a Person both Pious and Prudent, and very full of Charity and true Pity;

Qualities well becoming a Judge; and very aptly portended by the friendly Trine that ♀ casts to the benign Planet ♃, he being posited in Signum iustitiae, and the great Dignities of ♀. Nor did this eminent Person want a laudable Portion of Ingenuity, Learning and Oratory; as is aptly signified by ♀ her Partile Sextile to ♀, the natural Patron of Ingenuity and Oratory, &c. as also the Sextile of the Sun and ♂, and their friendly Aspects to the Ascendant.

This prudent Person in the 58 year currant of his Age, but 57 compleat, died suddenly at Kingstone upon Thames, near London: having then the Sun directed ad Quadratum Saturni.

	deg. min.
The Sun's Circle is 3 d. } Descensio Obliqua □ Saturni	339.32.
	282.21.
	57. 11.

Arcus Directionis

The Arguments of a sudden Death, are, (1.) the Moon being in Opposition of ♃, and Quartile of ♂. (2.) She being near a violent fixed Star, viz. Antares, or the Scorpions Heart. (3.) She being secundum Latitudinem upon the Cusp of the eighth House. (4.) The Moon in Platique Quartile of ♂. (5.) ♀ Lady of the Ascendant in Conjunction of ♃, and hastning to a Conjunction of Mars. Albubater saith, — When the Moon is in the eighth House, in Aspect of the Infortunes, he who is then born shall be subject unto a sudden Death. See it as I have translated it from him, in my Doctrine of Nativities, fol. 148. It is true, Albubater confines the Aphorism onely to a Birth Nocturnal: but Experience teacheth us, that it is of the same signification and import to those that are born in the Day-time.

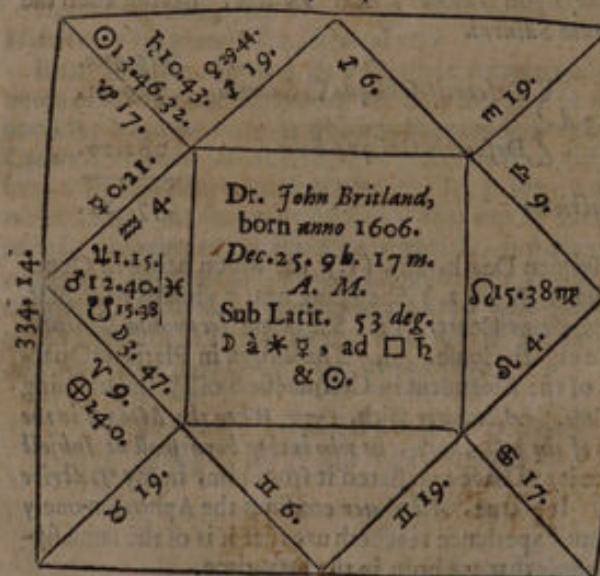

IN this Revolutional Figure, the Signe of the Sixth House ascends the Horoscope; and ♄, Lord thereof, is in Opposition of ♄, Lord of the Eighth in the Radix, and in the same Aspect of ♄, Lord of the Eighth in this Figure. The Moon is returned exactly to her Radical place, and to the opposite place of ♄, she being in Conjunction of Cor Scorpii; and the cruel Planet ♄ is returning toward the Ascendent by a Retrograde Motion, and there in exact Quintile of ♄, and Platique Square of ♄. All which Arguments demonstrate it an ill Revolution; chiefly, it being attended by a most dangerous Direction.

Thus much for this Nativity.

244. 14.

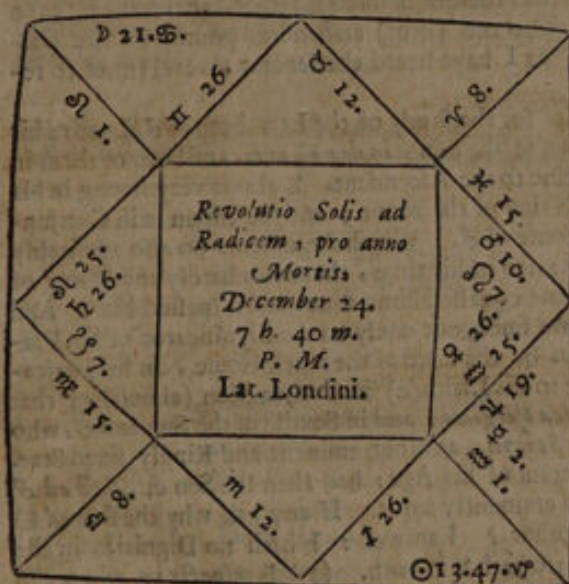

The Latitude of the Planets.

	d.	m.
♄	1	40	South.
♅	1	0	North
♄	0	51	South.
♅	0	34
♀	0	17	North
♄	1	43	South.

THis learned Person (though a Lawyer) had the happy Unhappiness to be engaged on the Kings Behalf in the late Cruel and Unnatural Wars; and in the year 1647. (at what time our then gracious Sovereign was a Captive by an unheard-of Fate, unto those that had sworn Allegiance to him) was this worthy Person sequestred for for his Loyalty. He had then the Mid-heaven directed $ad \square \text{D}$, and the Ascendent $ad \delta \odot \text{H}$. And by reason of this Misfortune (which for his Loyalty and good Affection) he sustained, and seeing no probable Hopes (in those times) of amendment, he fell into a deep Melancholy, which held him near seven years, viz. until January 1654. at which time he died thereof. It is remarkable, that in these seven years time, he had many unfortunate Directions operating: viz. $\odot ad \delta \delta$, $\odot \square \text{Q}$; and $\text{D} ad \square \delta$; Asc. ad C. A. \delta, & C. A. \text{U}. And at the time he died, he had the \odot directed $ad \delta \text{D}$ in domo Martis, he being but little past the $\square \text{Q}$, Lady of the Eighth, and wanting but a little of the $\square \text{H}$: the Moon was then under the C. A. of H , by Direction. All which considered, it was little less than a Wonder, he combated with his Dislemper so long. That Melancholy should be the Dislemper by which this Native should expire, is very eminently denoted by H , the Natural Patron thereof, his afflicting both Luminaries, and he in his great Dignities. The Fortunes in \ast , made him famous in his Profession, viz. the Law. D in \ast of Q , and \odot and H in \ast of δ , gave him both Personal and Intellectual Abilities to manage the same. But all these Endowments, both Natural and acquired, were compelled to yeild to a cruel Fate: and herein was the Wise-man's Words made good, — The Race is not always to the Swifts,—nor Riches to Men of Understanding.

THe Lord of the Ascendent, and Lady of the 8th in the Radix, in this Figure are in exact Opposition from Angles; and the Luminaries are in Opposition also. The Figure of Heaven is nearly in Opposition to what it was at Birth; ergo, most dangerous to Life. He died in January following; which may not unaptly be referred to H his possessing the East-Angle of the Figure: and at the time of Death, δ was upon the place of the Moon in the Radix, and nearly upon the Quadrate place of the Sun.

Thus much for this Nativity.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.	m.
♂	4	11 South.
♂	2	9 North
♂	0	5 } South.
♂	0	2 } South.
♀	1	35 } North
♀	2	5 } North

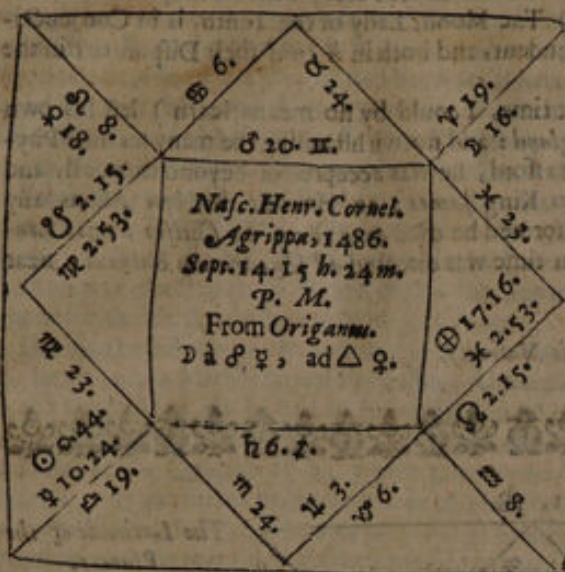

This Gentleman by Profession was a Lawyer; and in his Life-time so great a Lover of Astrologie, (having it seems experienced the Truth thereof in himself) that, at times, he gave Dr. Fisk (my honoured Friend and Tutor) an hundred pounds for the Calculation of his Nativity; as I have heard the Doctor several times to report.

To denote this Native apt for the Study of the Law, here is ♂, Lord of his Ascendent, in Conjunction of the Sun, in domo Jovis, and both of them in Sextile of ♄ and in exact Trine to the Ascendent. ♄ also is very strong in his Exaltation, in a friendly Trine of the Moon; and the Moon is in Conjunction of ♀ and ♀, in the House of ♂. Which Arguments do also admirably well denote his great Parts: for in his time, there was hardly any Man (of that Profession or Study) that equalled him, much less surpassed him. And to denote his great Fame, we finde, not onely ♄, the Significator of his Practice, in his Exaltation, but ♄, the Lord of the tenth House, in his Exaltation also; and (according to his Latitude) in Conjunction (almost) of that Noble fixed Star called Spica Virginis; and in Sextile of the Sun and ♂, who are in Conjunction of Cor Scorpii, another eminent and Kingly fixed Star. He died in the 48 year currant of his Age: had then the Sun directed ad ♄, ♄ in ♍, a place that ♄ so eminently hates. If any ask why the Sun ad ♄, might not kill as the other? I answer: ♄ hath no Dignities in the Eighth nor Fourth Houses; so hath ♄ in both. (2.) ♄ respects ♍, where the Direction fell; and although he were strong, yet was like a Noble Enemy, who'd kill, although he had a Power.

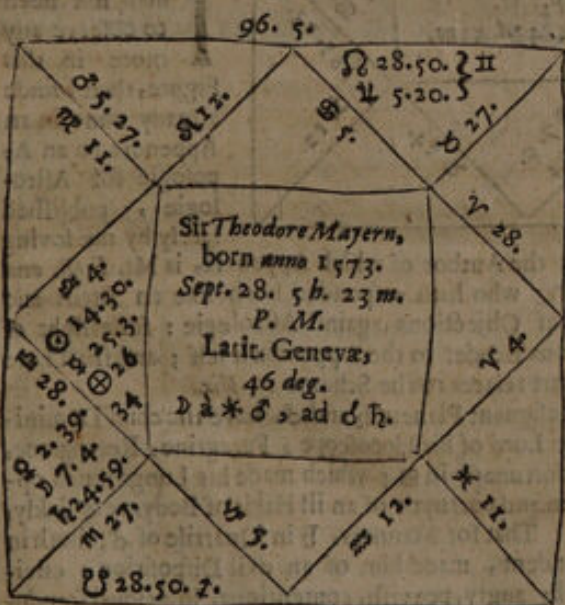

Thus much for this Nativity.

Nasc.

I Shall say no more of this Nativity then in my Book, enticuled, Natura Prodigiorum, I have already said; and shall therefore refer all those that are curious after the search of this Nativity, thereunto for their satisfaction: where also they may finde something touching the vanity of Sigils, Laments, Spirits, Prophecies, Charms, &c. things that this learned Author did mightily countenance in his Life-time; but a little before his Death, did retract them as Errours, and things vain, idle and superstitious; as I have therein proved: and to that purpose did I there print this learned Persons Nativity; as also to shew the world, — That some Persons were born to spread and promote Lyes and Deceits, as others to believe them.

Being more acquainted with this eminent Physicians general, then particular Fame or Fate, I shall chiefly observe the Reasons thereof in his Nativity, and refer the other to be scan'd and considered by those Artists that shall have the advantage of the Knowledge of the Accidents of his Life, better then my self. That this Native should be of publick Honour and Estimation, is very plain from this Scheme of his Birth: for herein we finde Cardinal Signes possessing the principal Angles; as it happened in Charles Gustave's of Sweden, and Oliver Cromwell's Nativities. 1. The Sun, a general Significator of Honour, &c. is in the Ascendent, and in Trine of Υ , who is exalted in the tenth Houle, and in exact Trine to the Ascendent also; besides, they are both with eminent fixed Stars. (3.) The Moon, Lady of the Tenth, is in Conjunction of ♀, Lady of the Ascendent, and both in * to ♂ their Dispositor, in the Eleventh. in nota

This Native (at what time, I could by no means learn) left his own Country, and came to England: and notwithstanding the many learned Physicians that this Nation did afford, he was accepted of beyond them all, and sworn Physician in chief to King James; an Honour that few Aliens any where attain to. I am informed he died anno 1654. at Chelsey, near London: the Ascendent at that time was directed ad Quadratum Saturni, near the Scorpions Heart.

Thus much for this Nativity.

Friend Mr. Vincent Wing: the Author of which Appendix, is Mr. F. B. and my very good Friend also; who hath responded both like an Artist and Scholar to Gassendus's chief Objections against Astrologie: for a sight of which, I refer the ingenious Reader to the Appendix itself; and shall here only present him with what relates to the Scheme: Viz.

Here you may see the malignant Planets ♀ and ♂ have the chief Dominion in his Scheme; ♀ is the Lord of his Horoscope, Peregrine, Retrograde, in his Detriment, and unfortunate in ♂; which made his Lungs much oppressed with Phlegm rotten and corrupt: of an ill Habit of Body, very sickly, subject to Catarrhs, &c. That for Manners, ♀ in Quartile of ♂, both in ill Aspect with the Ascendent, made him of an evil Disposition; envious, suspicious, revengeful; angry, peevish, contentious, injurious, fraudulent; a Lyar, a Calumniator, an Impostor; Coverous; a Robber of other Mens Honour; a false Friend, a perfidious Traytor, a notorious Hypocrite; an Atheist; and (to say no worse of him, then he does of Mr. Des Cartes, though unjustly) a Toad swelled with Pride and malicious Venome: as you may see in the Book against Des Cartes, and other of his Works.

As he had ♄ in Sextile of ☿, and in the House of ♀; so he had a Wit apt enough for Mischiefs, Quarrels and Contentions; sharp in Disputations; as in Quartile to the Moon, so it was turbulent enough; and had not ♄ applied to a Sextile of ♃ also, he had been so ill natur'd, that he had not been sociable: but that good Aspect gave him so much Wit, as hypocritically to dissemble it, and cloak it under Zeal to Religion; and make that seem the Severity of his Devotion, that was the Moroseness of his Nature.

But if we go further, we shall finde it agree with the Accidents of his Life, as well as his Disposition. About the time the Medium Coeli was directed to the Sextile of the Moon, we finde he had a Journey into Holland. When the Sun was directed to the Trine of ♃, he was made Propositus Dinensis; where for the most part he was Non-Resident.

During the Effects of the Sun to the Trine of ♄, and the Mid-heaven to ♄, he was made Mathematical Professor. Upon the Direction of the Moon to the Quartile of ☿, he had an Inflammation of the Lungs: which also returned upon him again, when the Horoscope was directed to the Body of ☿, and after to the Quartile of ♀; which produced a Consumption: in which Disease, his Physicians being over-free of his Blood at threescore and three, brought him to that excessive weakness, that he never recovered; and died whining, that his too much obsequiousness to their Prescriptions, had snatcht him out of the World in viridi senectute. Take his Friend Borellus Relations, and his own Words, Observ. 11. Cent. 3. Possem hic viri semper legendi mortem dolorosam toti Europa, imo mundo recensere, nimio illo remedio sanguineo, & verba ab ejus ore deprompta referre quibus ante obitum fassus est se nimio obsequio perisisse, & cum heroe suo ad inferos cum viridi adhuc & stantē senectute descendisse.

Thus much for Gassendus's Nativity.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.	m.
♄	3 54	South.
♂	2 7	North.
♃	0 4	South.
♄	0 7
♂	1 20	} North.
♄	1 32

His learned Doctor was a Practitioner in Physick threescore years, and had singular success therein; which is plainly known from the great Dignity of the Lord of the Tenth, and the Position of ♄, Lady of the sixth House, in the Mid-heaven, between the Sextiles of ♃ and the Ascendent.

dent. He was excellently well versed in the Mathematicks, viz. in all the parts thereof; chiefly in Astrologic and Astronomy: in which Sciences, it was my good Fortune to have and receive Instructions from him: and no other Tutor had I ever; nor indeed needed I any, he being the ablest and the best (for Instruction of Tyroes in those Mysteries) in his time. So excellent he was, that in all respects, I am perswaded (and dare undertake to predict it) that England will scarcely (in many Ages) produce his Equal; and yet I am confident that this Nation hath brought forth as many excellent Sons of the Mathematicks, as any Nation in the World, and may again. The Reasons of his Excellencie in these Arts, is, (1.) The great Fortitude of ♀, he being not onely in his own House, but Exaltation, and in the ninth House posited, which of Astrologers is termed Domus Scientiarum. (2.) ♄, a Fortune in the Ninth, in Trine to the Ascendent. (3.) A Platique Trine between the Moon (who is Governess of the Ninth) and ♄, and a great Reception also. (4.) ♀ in ♐, (a Signe signifying great Ingenuity and Study) casting an exact * to the Ascendent.

Although his Skill was great, and his Rationative Faculty very strong, yet his Elocution was but mean; which made many to set the lower Esteem and Value upon his great Acquirements: this I conceive may be occasioned by the Platique □ of ♄ to ♀, and ♄ her being in □ to one, and ♀ to the other.

The Lord of the Second strong, and the Sun in Trine to the Second, together with Part of Fortunes being in the Eighth House, gave this Native a competent Estate of Annual Rent, near 100*l.* besides great Gains by his Practice: Yet the Position of ♄ upon the second House, in Opposition to the Parr of Fortune in the Eighth, destroyed all again; so that it was this learned Natives Fate to die not worth much: yet by reason of ♄'s great strength, viz. his being in Exaltation, and in Trine and Reception of the Moon, &c. he was not absolutely necessitated, (it is true) but carried Matters even with the World; and so left a good Name, though not a good Estate, behinde him.

After this worthy Person had lived 84 years of Age, (partaking both of good and bad Fortune) he died of a lingering Consumption, attended with a Meagrim toward his last days: He had then the Ascendent directed ad ♀, ♄, with and without Latitude.

Ascensio Obliqua	{ ♄ Martis	{ est,	deg. min.
			334. 26.
	Ascendentis		250. 22.
Arcus Directionis			84. 4.

On the Day he died, viz. February 7. 1659. Astronomically, the Moon was in exact Conjunction of ♄, the Promittor of his Death. The Revolution that year was nearly the same with his Radix.

Thus much for this most learned Persons Nativity, as his several Books on that subject already published; &c. do sufficiently prove. To denote which Astrologically, he hath π , the most ingenious Signe of the whole Zodiack, ascending the Horoscope; and γ , Lord thereof, is in π , in Sextile of δ and ζ , (who are in Conjunction in the eleventh House) and in Trine of η , the Moons Dispositor: and to add to these, the Sun and Caput Draconis very considerably (by their pretence) fortifie the House of Physick.

Mr.

Howbeit, this Native hath been subject to Misfortunes, as Imprisonments; &c. very much; which are aptly (in the general) occasioned by the Sun his Partile Opposition with μ , and both of them being in Quartile to the Ascendent; as also by η his being in Plarique Square to the Sun. Which Positions Astrologers tell us, portend to the Native many Vexations, Crosses and Contentions; Scandals, Envyes, Conspiracies, Suits in Law, &c. of all which this Native hath largely participated. But besides these general Arguments of evil, he hath had the Sun by Direction to the Opposition of the Moon: besides, notorious Transits, &c. as in 1655. and 1656. η was upon his Ascendent, and the Quadrate place of his Sun, and M. C. And in 1659. δ was upon his M. C. and the Suns place, near six moneths together. And the latter part of 1661. and beginning of 1662. δ was passing over the opposite place of his Moon near seven moneths together: such prodigious Transits that are not commonly known to succeed one another at so swift and malignant a rate.

But a time there will be for those turbulent Significations to pass away, and good ones to possess their seat; and this will be, when η hath once passed the opposite Points of γ , M. C. and \odot .

Thus much for this Nativity.

Tho.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.	m.
♄	3	5 South.
♅	0	3
♆	0	49 } North.
♇	0	12 }
♈	1	0
♉	0	19 South.

HAVING not the time of any of the Accidents that have happened to this ingenious Native, whereby to verifie his Nativty, I shall be the briefer in my Observations thereon. First, here is the latter part of m ascending, and δ , Lord thereof, is posited in η on the tenth House, thence casting a Sextile to the Horoscope: an eminent Argument of an able and learned Physician. Secondly, there is a Sextile of η and ξ , which declares a sharp and serious Understanding, and a Judgement capable of any mysterious Knowledge. It is not improbable, but that this happy Configuration (for such it is) between η and ξ , they being both near eminent fixed Stars, might encline this Native to the Study of Chymitry; in which Science he hath had such singular success, that his Application of Medicines hath been, and is, (mostly) by way of Chymical Preparation.

Thirdly, the Fortification of the tenth House by the presence of the Sun, ξ , and δ ; and the Lord of the Ascendent his being in Conjunction of η , and the Moon applying to his Trine give the Native not onely good Fortune in his Profession and Practice, but great Credit and Esteem thereby. Indeed he is so highly respected for his Parts, and the success which attends them in his Practice, in Leicestershire, the place of his abode, that there are hardly any other Physicians who have an equal Honour with him; as I have heard several Persons of that Country to aver.

He is also Astrological, as the former Arguments do aptly intimate; and that may be an eminent Cause of his so great success in Physick: for it is impossible for any Man to make a good Physician, that is not acquainted with Astrologic.

The

Accidents that had befallen him, by which I might be enabled to correct his Geniture truly, viz.

1. Anno ætatis 17. he went to the University of Cambridge: the Ascendant came then by Direction to the Virgins Spike, a Noble Star of the Nature of ♂ and ♀, and of the first Magnitude.

2. Being aged 20 years, he was married: the ♀ (who in this Nativity is Lady or Governess of the Medium Cali) was then directed ad Δ ♀.

3. Being near 30 years of Age, this Native commenced Doctor of Physick: he had then the Sun directed ad □ ♄, and ♄ exalted in the Tenth, and Radically in Δ thereunto.

4. Anno 1658. he was troubled with a Rheum in his right Eye, in the months of June and July: ♄ was then upon the Quadrant place of the Sun in his Nativity, and upon the Radical place of the Moon: ♄ was at the same time Stationary in his Ascendant: all dangerous Transits.

The Nativity is partly the same with Sir Theodore Mayer's; and (notwithstanding so grand a Satellitium of the Planets in the eighth House) it is no inconsiderable one for a Physician: for the fortunate Planet ♄ is in Sextile unto four of them there, and they respect the Mid-heaven with the same friendly Aspect. All which argue not onely Fortune, but Honour unto the Native in and by his Practice; and most eminent Advantage from things signified by the eighth House, — whether it be by the Lands or Goods of Persons deceased, or by Legacies, Deeds, Wills, Administrations, or Portion of the Wife, or by all: his good Directions must acquaint him, and point out the time or times thereof. The Dignities of both the Fortunes, and their friendly Aspect to each other in the descending part of Heaven, (were there no such Knot or Conjunction of Planets) must have some more then ordinary Significations toward the middle or third part of the Natives Life. But I transgress, while I glance at things particular, when my Business is onely of Generals. Let it therefore be remembered, — Whoever is born under such a Position of Heaven, cannot but make a good and fortunate Physician.

The Latitude of the Planets.

	d.	m.
♄	5	7	} South:
♄	1	29
♄	1	6
♄	0	0	} North:
♄	1	55
♄	2	25

I shall spare to speak of the several Accidents that have happened unto this ingeniously learned Native: they having been very little (if any thing at all) answerable to his Deserts or Merits. This is a Nativity that may well make the Native (that is born under it) ingenious and industrious in his Profession, rather then fortunate or rich thereby: for here is the Moon in the Dignities of ♄, in exact △ to the Sun and ♄, near eminent (though violent) fixed Stars, in the eleventh House; and all three of them are in good Aspect of the Ascendent. But then to darken their good Significations, and prove the truth of the latter part of my Assertion; here is the Moon in □ of ♄, ♄ and ♄; and ♄ (though in ♄ his own Dignities) is besieged of the Infortunes; and the Sun and ♄ are in exact Opposition to his Part of Fortune.

Any man versed in the Genethliacal part of Astrologie, will easily see, that this Native hath passed a great many very dangerous, and some very good, Directions: all which, have (according to the Letter of Astrologie) had their Significations on the Person and Affairs of this Native most exactly.

I observe, that the Moon in good Aspect with some Planets in the eleventh House, and in evil Aspect with others there, gives the Native, some faithful, and some perfidious Friends; and our Native is eminently sensible of the same. Argol says, ♄ and ♄ ill affected, and posited in the Eleventh, declare few, and faithless friends; Ptol. parv. p. 153. This Native hath sufficiently proved the same to be true: for some pretending Friendship unto him, were the occasion of his probable ruine, when he was in a very flourishing Condition; and afterwards perswaded him into a willing and voluntary Exile: which in the latter part of the year 1658. or beginning of 1659. he consented unto, and accordingly left his Native Country. The Ascendent was then directed to the □ of ☉, and * of ♄, who is Lord of the Ninth in the Nativity.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.	m.
♄	1 10	South.
♃	1 18
♅	1 25	North.
♄	0 13
♃	1 11
♅	1 45

T His Mr. Turner is not onely a Student in Physick, but in several other parts of Philosophy; as his several Translations of Paracelsus, Sendivogius, Johannes Angelus, Guido Bonatus, &c. eminently testifie. And indeed it is no wonder that that Native is of an enquiring Brain and Fancie, who hath the Lady of his Ascendent in Conjunction of ♂, in the House of ♄; and ♄ in Conjunction of the Sun and Dragons Head; and in exact Sextile of ♃, who is the Moons Dispositor. Nor is it a mean Argument of Ingenuity and Aptitude in him to Science, that hath one Planet governing both the Ascendent and ninth House, as is in this Nativity: it is a Position that happens in some of the eminentest Genitures of Physicians before mentioned. The Moon being Lady of the Tenth, and in Opposition of ♂, ♄ and ♃, doth abate much of that Splendour and Fame other Physicians enjoy, whose Parts (perhaps) may not be so meritorious and deserving, as are our Natives. But Falsa agimur, &c.

Being aged nineteen years, he had the Small Pox, and that to purpose: the Sun was then directed ad ♂ Martis, cum ♂ sine Latitudine.

Being aged thirty three years, he was afflicted both with Dropsie, Ague, Scurvey, &c. and this in so strange and tedious manner, that very few of his Friends believed that ever he would have recovered thereof again: the Sun was then directed ad Corpus Saturni, both with and without Latitude. He had also an ill Revolution that year, and ♃ but a little before, transiting his Ascendent a long time together.

There are divers other things to be observed in this Figure; but these I have already taken knowledge of, being of the most Practical Concernment to the Sons of Art, I shall forbear all further Discourse hereon. And correct it by : which with my Correction, take as followeth.

Thus much shall serve for this Nativity.

Mr.

1. Anno Aetatis 6. he lost his right Eye by an unhappy Accident: the Sun in his Nativity was then directed ad 6 D. S. L. Origanus says, Solis ad Luna corpus directio, &c. denotes danger to the Eyes, and sometimes brings blindness, &c. the truth of which, this Native sufficiently experienced: but besides this Direction, the day of his Revolution that year, \odot was upon the Radical place of the \odot , and the \odot then applying to his \square .

2. Aged 11 years, he had an Ague, &c. the \odot was then directed ad 6 h. cum Latitudine; and \odot ad 6 D. cum Latitudine also.

3. Aged 21 and 22 years he was much apted to study Physick, and chiefly Chymistry: then was the Ascendent directed ad Sextilum Jovis, Lord of the Tenth, and the \odot unto her own \ast : Singular Directions for such an Undertaking; and so they have proved to this Native: for of himself, and by his own Industry, (his Family having had the same Misfortunes with others in our late times of Confusion, viz. of being Plundered, &c.) he became a Physician; and by God's Blessing upon his Endeavours, hath done a great deal of good therein; and is arrived to a considerable Credit and Repute thereby.

4. Aged 27 years, he had a very violent Fever: the \odot was then directed ad 6 8, and the \odot ad Pleiadum: Directions of so dangerous a tendency, that had not the \odot at the same time been directed ad Trinum Jovis, (according to Natural Causes) he could not have escaped Death at that time.

5. Aged 29 years, he married, and much to his Advantage and Content: the Medium Caeli was then directed ad 6 0, and the Moon to the Trine of \odot in \odot .

6. Aged 30 years, in great danger of Imprisonment; many Scandals, &c. the Medium Caeli was directed ad Caudam Draconis.

The Arguments of his studying Physick, are, (1.) Luna, Lady of the Sixth, in \ast of \square , Lord of the tenth House. (2.) \odot of \odot and \odot , although in the twelfth House. (3.) \odot , Lord of the Ascendent, in Reception of \odot , a fortunate Planet. And to add to all these, \odot in Cazimi is no inconsiderable Argument,

Mr.

The Latitude of the Planets.

	d.	m.
♈	3	15	} North
♎	2	3
♌	0	18	} South.
♋	0	19
♑	0	38	} North
♒	1	23

For me to present the Reader with a Catalogue of this Natives Accidents, & the Significations thereof from his Nativity, were but actum agere; he himself having done the same in one or two Books already by him published; viz. in The Harmony of the World, and The Holy Guide. In which said Books, he hath been so plain with himself, (as best knowing his own natural Inclinations and Dispositions) that since Cardan's time, I have read and heard of but few Men so ingenuous.

That he should be apt to enquire after many curious Arts, and occult Mysteries, and make them his quondam Studies, is plainly seen by the great strength of ♑, Lord of his Ascendent, viz. his being not onely in ♑, his own House, but in the fourth House, and in the Degrees thereof, which Astrologers hold (and that truly) to be his Exaltation; and this in the Imum Caeli; and the Moon is in ♍, in exact Sextile unto him, and holding the same Aspect with ♌, who is in Partile Trine of the Sun.

Now the Reason why I bring his Geniture among those of the Doctors and Students in Physick, is, in regard he hath writ several things of Physick; as in his Holy Guide, the way to prepare most Chymical Medicines, naming them particularly; and then a Treatise of Rosie-Crucian Physick, printed some years since: and in several other his Books, something or other tending thereunto. Divers other Secrets he hath published, which (because they come not within the Perimeter of my Apprehension) I shall in modesty judge tenderly of them: but the grand Reason why some persons cavil at him for them, and that they are not (by many Men) with other things equally relented, (though perhaps in themselves may be as deserving) is, the Quartile of the Sun and ♋, and the Sun's beholding the Ascendent with the same Aspect; and ♈ and ♌ their Quartile from Cardinal Signes likewise. Howbeit, it is Wisdom for every Man to judge tenderly of what he doth not understand. I may also note further, that ♋ in the Ascendent, in Quartile of the Sun, doth aptly signifie his being subject to Imprisonments, and to the Frowns of great Persons, &c. as it happened unto him in the late times of Usurpation and Tyranny; of which himself hath largely made mention.

Mr.

THis Native hath been subject to Variation, and many and eminent Troubles in the whole course of his Life; as Cauda Dra- conis in the Ascendent, and the Moon in Opposition to ♂ Lord thereof, very plainly portends. But notwithstanding his many Misfortunes, Imprisonments, Law-suits, &c. that he hath been extremely subject unto, yet still in the end he hath met with Assistance convenient to draw him out of those troublesome Wires: and this may be portended very well, by the Sun his being in exact Sextile of ♀, and in the same Aspect and Reception of ♀, who is Lord of the eleventh House; as also the Moon her being in Trine of ♀. For it cannot be, that that Native can long want Friends or Assistance, who hath in his Geniture both the Luminaries befriended by the Beams of the Fortunes.

To descend to particular Accidents. About seven years of Age, this Native by a Blow had like to have lost his Right Eye: the Ascendent was then directed ad ♂ ☉; and had not the same Promittor been at the same time directed ad Δ ♀, it's very probable that he might have lost it quite.

Aged 19 years, a deep Consumption, Scurvie, &c. which lasted with him a great while, viz. near a year and half: Ascendent then directed ad □ ♀, and a little before the ☉ had been directed ad □ ♀.

Aged 21 years, he married, (and that a considerable Fortune:) the Sun was then directed ad ♂ ♀, cum Latitudine.

Aged 30 years of Age, he was imprisoned upon a publick Account, but soon released; and a little after, viz. about 31. being with a Company of resolute Persons, among whom there unfortunately happened a Man to be kill'd; this Gentleman, together with the rest, was laid hold on, and put in Prison: but after much Trouble, Scandal and Cost, was acquitted. The M. C. was then directed ad ♂ ♂, with and without Latitude.

The Quartile of ♂ and ♀ with ♀, and Sextile of ♂ and ♀, together with the Sun his Sextile and Reception with ♀, Lord of the Tenth, might make him a Physitian, and that an able one: but the Moon being in Opposition of ♂, together with what was before urged, doth, in some respects, eclipse his Fame and high Deserts, and prevents his Merits shining.

Thus much for this Nativity.

Mr.

THe Signe ascending the Horoscope is ♊, a Signe of Brevity; and ♋, Lord of the Ascendent, is in ♋, a Signe of Brevity alio, and the Moon in the sixth House decreasing in Light: all which are Arguments of a middle Stature, and somewhat a spare lean Body; Complexion darkish or swarthy; hair dark brown; Village more long then round; Eyes quick and piercing, &c.

And the Person of this Native was exactly such. He was also full of Agility, very active and nimble: which I presume was occasioned by the Moons Position in the House of ♀ in Sextile to ☿, and ♀ in the House of ♀, having South-Latitude.

His Temperature, according to Astrologers, should be Melancholy, Choleric, as is plain by an earthy Signe ascending, and H° 's Position in an earthy Signe also, and the Moon being among Mars's fixed Stars, and Stars of the same nature in the Ascendent, are very strong Testimonies of Choler prevailing over this Native. But the greatest Argument of Choler predominating, I take to be the Sun's Reception with S° , from violent Signes; which seems to signify that Choler should over-power the Humour of Melancholy, notwithstanding an earthy Signe ascending, &c.

He was indeed of such a Temperature: I remembred to have heard him confesse, that Melancholy was an extraordinary Enemy unto him; so great at sometimes, that wanting Company he would seem like a dead Man: and at other times would his Choler macerate him very strangely; yea, more oft then the Dittemper of Melancholy.

☿, the Patron of Ingenuity, &c. is the most potent Planet in the Figure; and he being in m, the House of ☿, and so near the benign Beams of ☿, argued the Native to be of an excellent Wit, sharp Fancie, admirable Conception, and of an active Understanding.

For proof of this, let his many worthy Works now extant, be summon'd to give in Evidence: viz. (1.) His Translation of the Dispensatory, so exquisitely done, that the best Physician need not be ashamed to own it. (2.) His English Physician: a Work of such rarity, that never any Herbarist before him durst adventure to do. (3.) His Astrological judgement of Diseases from Avenezra and Durrer: in which he hath so ingeniously followed the Text of his Authors, that if any Copies may be presumed or thought to improve, or excel their Originals, this very Book of his doth so.

He was very eloquent ; a good Orator ; spoke both freely and fluently. And if I shall speak the Truth in all parts , he was very conceited, and full of Jests ; as the Quartile of ♂ and ♀ aptly denotes : but the Knack of Jesting was so inseparable to him, that in his writing things of most serious Concernment meine, he would mingle matters of Levity, and extremely pride himself in so doing; as is evident in all his Writings: but the Poets excuse is sufficient:

Quadam cum prima recensentur crimina barbae, Indulge veniam Pueris.

“Some Faults with our first Beards are shav’d away;
“And Youth (if any) pardon merit may.

The fixed Signe π is on the Cusp of the second House; and the Moon ☾ casting their friendly Rays thither, and the ♋ in the House of ♊ , viz. ♋ , intercepted there, are Testimonies of a competent Fortune naturally, according to Haly, Bonam, &c.

*Sed quæ præclara prospera tami,
Ut rebus lætis par sit mensura malorum?*

“But what can all the hopes of wealth him skill, “That’s balanc’d by as many threats of ill?

The Lord of the Second is Retrograde upon the Cusp of the Fourth, in Quartile to the second House; and ♀ his Dispositrix Combust in Quartile of ♄ , and in Quartile to the Secotid also; which plainly portends a Consumption of Riches, and a Detraction of what Patrimony should descend unto him from his Parents. And ♄ afflicting Pars Fortuna, in an obscure House of the Heavens, and opposing the Second; and the Sun, Dispositor of the Part of Fortune, in Opposition of ♄ , caused him to squander away his Estate both carelessly and negligently, and sometimes by reason of restraint or imprisonment.

It is most true, that he was always subject to a Consumption of the Purse, notwithstanding the many ways he had to assist him. Indeed he had a Spirit so far above the Vulgar, that he contemned and scorned Riches any other way then to make them serviceable to him. I could parallel this his Generosity with Arguments of the same stamp, from some Genitures very eminent; but I am confined. I shall close my Discourse of his Estate with this: Had not he had Caput Draconis in the Second, he would have been perpetually poor: for the Arguments of Poverty in his Radix are such, that had he been born to Cræsus Estate, he would have made it like to that of Diogenes.

The third House hath Signification of Kindred in general, and short Jour-Kindred nies; and ♄ Lord thereof, in ♊ in the eighth House, the most unfortunate place of the whole Heavens: as saith Ludovicus de Rigiis, — Nulla divisio Circuli tunc pessima, tamque crudelis in omnibus quam octava est. And he being there in Quartile of four Planets, viz. ☉ , ♀ , ♄ and ♋ , is an Argument of great infortunacie to the Native from his Kindred, and indeed no great happiness to him in his Inland Journeys. Besides, ♀ being on the Third, and ♄ in a sterile Signe, portends very few, or no Brethren or Sisters to the Native: and in this case the fewer the better.

It would be too tedious to make repetition of the many Misfortunes this Native hath suffered by his Kindred, and the Perils and Dangers he hath escaped in travelling or going short Journeys. It is confirming enough of the Art, that he never gained good by either. Nor had he ever any Brethren, &c.

♄ the general Significator of Fathers, and ♀ the particular in this Nativity, are in Opposition; and ♄ Lord of the Tenth, in Quartile to both, and that from fixed Signes, together with ♀ her being Combust: all which clearly denote, that the Parents of this Native should die before him: but had they lived, I cannot see in Art how he should have been bettered by them; their Significators are so squaring and opposing his. He hath often averred, that his Father, according to report, died before he was born; and his Mother lived till the twenty third year of his Age: and a good Estate he acknowledged that they did leave him; but he was cheated thereof.

Wife and Children.

♂, Lady of the Seventh, in a double-bodied Signe, might seem to denote two Wives: but ♀, a general Significatrix of Wives, being Combust, and in evil Aspect of the Infortunes, seem to contradict it; and that so strongly, that did she not cast a friendly Beam to the Ascendent, and another to the Seventh, he would hardly have ever married: but that is an Argument that once he should.

♀ being Governess of the fifth House, and in a fruitful Signe, irradiating both the Ascendent and Seventh friendly, signifies that the Native may have many Children: but ♄ being upon the Cusp of the Fifth, and ♀ Combust, and in Opposition to ♄, that Enemy to Nature, and all natural Existencies, and in Quartile of ♂, a Planet posited in the House of Death, presages that very few of them (if any) shall be long lived.

This Native had but one Wife. (viz. Mrs. Alice Culpeper, now living, and Wife to John Heydon Esq;) and by her he had seven Children, (although himself died young) but they are all dead but one, which is a Daughter.

Enemies publick and private.

His Enemies, both publick and private, are signified by ♄ and the Moon; but principally ♄, because he hath great Dignities both in the Twelfth and Seventh Houses. ♂ also will have a share in Signification of his Enemies, because he is in Trine of ♄, and Sextile of the Moon, and beholds the Lord of the Ascendent with a Quartile. Now if the Question be demanded what kinde of Person these Planets signifie? ♂ will signifie Physicians; Apothecaries, &c. and ♄ Divines. And those two kinds of Men and Professions should be his most potent Adversaries, both publick and private; ♂ the most publick.

It is notoriously known, that his most publick Enemies were Physicians, and his most private ones Divines. The first hated him, and made their Hatred publick, for his discovering the use of Medicine in his Mother-Tongue. The second did disgust him for his studying Astrologie: but neither of them durst to enter the Lists of Dispute with him, albeit I remember he hath made publick Challenges to some in print, who pretended to fault his doings. Whereby it appears, that the Doctors questioned not, nor cavilled at the matter, but the manner of his Writings: They were not simply sorry that such things were done, but that he that did them was not one of the Colledged, a Brother of their Order. And the same may be said of his other sort of Enemies: but well said Juvenals.

Refert ergo quis hac eadem parit, in Rustulo nam Luxuria est, in Ventidio laudabile nomen; Qui prope gressus on hostis Sumit, & a censu famam trahit.

"Much odds in Men, doing the self-same thing;

"Feasting in Rustlus is rioting;

"But in Ventidius brave Munificence,

"And gains him Honour by his great Expence.

His Friends

The Saying needs no Application; from his Enemies I will therefore descend to his Friends,

And those should not be many: for ♂, Lord of the Eleventh in Quartile to four Planets, denotes the Natives Friends, or at least such as pretend Friendship.

Friendship unto him; to be hypocritical and deceitful; and of such covetous Reserves; that he shall seldom be bettered by them. His own acknowledgement was; that he had divers pretended Friends; but he was rather prejudiced then bettered by them; and when he most stood in need of their Friendship and Assistance, then they most of all deceived him. But this was not to him alone, 'tis generally Morbus Mundi; the Dittemper of the whole World; like that of the Poet:

Rari quippe boni, numero vix sunt totidem, quot Thebarum portæ, aut divitis æstia Nyli.

So rare true Friends, and such in number few,

That scarce so many can be found below,

As Gates of Thebes, or Ports of wealthy Nile.

Origanus fol. 699. tells us, that the Sun in the Tenth House, (as in this Nativity) is a certain Argument of Honour and Preferment; and ♀, a general Significatrix of Honour, being in the Tenth also, portends the same. ♃ in Sextile of ♀, and ☉ in Reception with him, he being Lord of the Tenth, are certain Arguments of Honour, Fame and Renown: and indeed had not ♃ who is Domini Ascendens, been in Opposition to the Sun, the general Significator of Honour, &c. and in Quintile of ♀, the particular Designer thereof in his Radix, the Native would have obtained a far higher Degree of Honour and Preferment then he did; but he was an Enemy to his own Preferment: Yet nevertheless he did in the latter part of his Life increase very much in his Reputation, and his Honour and Fame were generally taken notice of. If you would know by what means he should attain Fame and Credit, &c. ♃ being in Sextile of ♀, Lord of the Tenth, and ♀, Lady of the Ninth, locally in the Tenth; whence casting a Sextile Aspect to the Ascendent, and ♀, Lord of the Sixth, there also, being the strongest Planer in the Figure: All which Arguments laid together, preface his Fame and Honour to come by studying Arts and Sciences; and that he should rise in the Opinion of the World, chiefly thereby: but this not without some difficulty, as ♀ in Quintile to ♃ aptly signifies. It is very well known that he gained his Honour by Arts and Sciences, but chiefly by Physick; in the knowledge of which, he was most excellently skilled: and it was purely by that alone Study and Practice that he hath left a Name behind him, which will remain until time shall be no longer.

The fiery Planer ♃ in the eighth House, in Quintile to ♃, Lord of the Ascendent, and three Planets more, seems to portend a violent Death: but the Sun being upon the Cup of the Mid-heaven, near the Body of ♀, and in Reception with ♃ and the Moon in the Sixth, in Sextile to him also, takes off the edge of that suspicion, and abates much of the Fury of ♃, and seems rather to portend the Native to die of a Consumption, or by a decay of natural Strength at the Heart: (♃ is in ♈).

I have heard it credibly reported by some that were with him at the time of his Death, and constantly in his Sickness, that he died of a Consumption which had been long upon him; and much Means (and that of the better sort) was used to enervate it, but it still prevailed upon him, wasting and consuming him by degrees, until it reduced him to a very Skeleton, or Anatomy; and afterwards, viz. on Monday the tenth of January 1651. released him, and gave him his Passport to a better World: The Moon then being in Quintile to the Radical place of ♃, and the Sun in Quintile to his own, and to the place of ♃ in his Nativity; ♃ and ♀ being then in a direct Opposition.

Nor

Nor was it truly reported, that some Physicians designed his Death, by setting their Engines at work to poyson him. I do believe they were Enemies great enough unto him; yet I am confident, by this Report, they are egregiously scandalized, it being customary for Ill-will to speak the worst.

The Accidents by which this Nativity was verified, are these:

1634. Aged 18 years, he went to the University: ☉ to the Body of ♀, and the Ascendent near the Sextile of the same Promittor by Direction, caused that. He being bred up a Scholar, and fitted for the University in his younger years, upon the M.C. ad ♂ ♀, and ♂ ad ♀.
1640. Aged twenty four years, began to study Physick, the ♀ being then directed to the ☿ of ♀ her Dispositor in the Radix.
1643. Aged twenty seven years, he then went for a Souldier, and was wounded by a small shot over the forepart of the Body, which he never recovered of till his dying day; and then the Ascendent came to the ☿ of ☉ and presently after to the ☿ of ♀ by Direction. Directions of so evil Tendencie and Import, that might very well have ruined any Man.
1651. Aged 38 years, he died. The Ascendent then coming to an Opposition of ♂ with Latitude. The Revolution it self being the same with that of the Radix; ♀ passing by the Radical place of ♂, and ♂ upon the Ascendent, ☉ and ♀ in ☿, and ♀ upon the opposite place of ♂, and in ☿ to ♀'s place also: which ill Revolution agreeing with an ill Direction, necessarily portended Death.

Tempus edax rerum, non terit omnia tempus,

Nos terimus tempus, jam sumus atque pares.

“ Thus Time devoureth all, and doth all waste,

“ And we waste Time, and so we're ev'n at last.

Thus much for the Second Part of my Collection of Nativities.

NATIVITIES

1. OLIVER CROMWELL,
Of 2. RICHARD CROMWELL,
3. MASSIANIELLO.

Artificially and Historically considered.

1. Of OLIVER CROMWELL.

Oliver Cromwell was born at Huntington in England, on St. Mark's Day, at 46 m. 49 sec. past three of the Clock in the Morning, 1699, after our Vulgar way of reckoning: but Astronomically, on April 24. 15 h. 46 m. 49 sec. Post Meridiem. The Heavens then being as followeth.

Oliver of Kef & will never be able to eat out, nor the Mois of Time of Quantity sufficient to cover.

Presuming that divers Artists will be curious in the scanning and perusing of this Geniture, I shall, for their Assistance, and prevention of Trouble, present them with a Catalogue of several Accidents of his Life, and the Directions, &c. that were (in an Astrological sense) the proper Occasioners of them: and (with no small pains to me) they are these following.

M. C. ad \odot Directio felicitatem designat circa Negotiationes, & in omnibus actionibus fortuna-tum, &c. Orig.

1. In the year 1640. this Native (in hopes he would have proved honestier then he did) was by his Countrey elected a Member of that terrible long Parliament: and this was his first visible step to Honour and Preferment; and the Direction that occasion'd this, was the Medium Celi ad Caput Draconis. He had then also a good Revolution, and \mathcal{N} (though but weak) was then upon the Mid-heaven of his Radix.

\odot ad Cor m , natu aliquam assignat dignitatem, quæ tandem mali a-liquid inimicitia ac ter-rore junctum apportat. Orig.

2. In the year 1641. being adjudged by the Rebels a fit Villain to sink the Oath of Allegiance in opposing his Sovereign, he was made a Colonel of Horse; having some short time before discovered his rebellious Heart, by raising a Troop of Horse at his own Charges, under the Command of Col. Sir Philip Stapilton: the Moon was then directed to Antares, or the Scorpions Heart; an eminent Martial and Jovial Star.

3. In the year 1643. he was (for his whining, dissembling and villanous Zeal to the Cause) elected Lieutenant-General to the Earl of Manchester: he now began to be a Rebel in good earnest: the Moon was then directed ad Trinum Martis.

Horosc. ad \mathcal{J} , efficit naturam Cholericum, remetarium, & variis generibus scelerum & flagitiorum sese implicantem, &c. Orig.

4. In the year 1644. this Native quarrels with the Earl of Manchester; and the Earl, believing himself to be the better Man, prefers divers Informations against his Lieutenant-General in Parliament; but to no purpose: for Cromwel quickly acquitted himself; and in despite of the Earls Teeth, he would ride the Fore-horse; and did. To occasion this Trouble, he had \mathcal{H} all that year upon his Ascendent, being the Radical place of \mathcal{J} , and his own opposite place: he had also then the Ascendent directed to the Terms of \mathcal{J} .

\odot ad \mathcal{H} , natum potentibus viris prospera & felici commendatione notum facit, Magnos eti-am gloriæ & honoris actus discernit, &c. Orig.

5. In 1645. this prodigious Native was made Lieutenant-General to Sir Tho. Fairfax; and now his Trophies begin to spread apace: the Moon was then directed to the Sextile of \mathcal{H} , Lord of the tenth House in his Nativity; and under this Direction, he at last routed Fairfax.

6. In the year 1648. he contends with the Parliament, and contested with the Levellers; by which means he underwent much disgrace: he also now laid the Plot for the Murder of the King. An eminent Lady hearing of which, (as I have been credibly informed) went unto him, and desired him to forbear so vile an Action, for the Judgements sake it might bring upon the Kingdom, if not for the Perjury himself might be guilty of, and the whole Parliament also: unto whom he angerly, and like a Tyrant, reply'd, Madam! forbear to move me in this matter; for by the Life of GOD he must die, and the world cannot save him. He had now the Sun directed to the Quartile of \mathcal{H} , and his Part of Fortune to the Opposition of \mathcal{J} .

7. In the year 1649. having done his Villany in England, and hearing of some Matters that might prove Impediments to him and his desired Sovereignty, in Ireland, he in haste marches over thither to allay the Fury of what that that Opposition portended. He was fortunate in that Undertaking more from his general then particular Fate: yet he was sick in Ireland of a Flux and Fever; the Moon being directed ad Quartilum proprium, and Contransfiction of \mathcal{U} .

8. In the years 1650. and 1651. having been gluttied with Success in England and Ireland, and his Irish of Sovereignty still prevailing, (being drunk with the same Ambition as was Rollo Duke of Normandy, (and in some sence a greater Pride) who was always crying, (as rendred by the Tragedian) A Crown, a Crown; O sacred Rule now fire me!) he marched into Scotland to subdue all Opposition there, that endeavoured to confront his Aims. And having struck through the Life of his Sovereign Lord King Charles the First, before, is resolved to ride thorow to his desired Stage, mangre all Opposition; and at Worcester now strikes at the Life of his present sacred Sovereign: but God preserved him from his infernal Claws, for England's future Happiness. Howbeit, Cromwel came off a Bloody Victor; having then the Sun directed to his own Sextile; and the Revolutionary Figures of those two years, most singularly fortunate in all things as to his own particular Interest.

9. In the year 1653. this Saint in Grain, (after many religious Quackeries, Cheats, Villanies, and bloody Actions by him committed in the fear of God) he made himself the usurping Protector of England; dissolv'd the Parliament, &c. It is observeable, that when he came to turn out his Masters, the Rumpers, (such was his then hatred to Superstition, that) he cried out at the sight of the Speaker's Mace, Away with this idolatrous Bable! yet afterwards held it no Vanity to have three such carried before his Tyrantship: He had now the Sun directed to the Body of \mathcal{U} , and to the Sextile of the Moon, and the Part of Fortune to the Sextile of \mathcal{Q} . I need not tell you how this Villain made use of the basest of Instruments in the best of Professions, to uphold this his usurped Dominion: viz. both in Law, Divinity, and Astrologie; allowing them liberal Penfions for their Services performed on his behalf.

10. In the year 1654. the better to fix him in his Chair of Usurpation, (as if he had been a lawful King indeed) he concludes a Peace with France by the Means of Cardinal Mazarine, and patches up a League with Sweden, by the pains of Mr. Whitlock a Lawyer, (afterwards one of his Lords) whom he sent Ambassador to Sweden: the Part of Fortune was now directed ad Trinum Martis.

11. In the year 1656. (being jealous he was not fast enough rivetted in this his usurped Power) he calls a counterfeit Parliament to confirm him in the same; and by this Convention he was solicited to have taken upon him in Name, what before he had boldly assumed in Substance, viz. the Title of KING; but he refused: so they confirmed him in Westminster-Hall (but what he was before) an usurping Protector. Fortune was now directed to a Sextile of \mathcal{H} , Lord of the Tenth; a good Revolution, &c.

12. In the year 1657. this politic Native, intending to grasp as much as he could, and hoping to make the Country of Flanders partake of his pious Parts, he sends a blessed Bird of his own hatching over thither, viz. Sir John Reynolds, with six thousand Men; and this valiant Person takes Dunkirk from the Spaniard: but Sir John, adhibebitur, exiguo tamen cum emolumento & lucro. In itineribus quoque; Scripturis, & reliquis negotiis non per omnia felix erit, sed in illis quoddam damnum sentiet. Orig.

☉ ad * ☉, natum Animosum, imperiosum, fortem, audacem, & in actionibus sagacem, &c. — inq; actionibus commodum sentit cum laude & substantiæ suæ augmento, &c.

☉ ad \mathcal{U} , natum corporis sanieatem, animi tranquillitatem, & aliis vitæ ac fortunarum bonis beat. — & non nunquam accessum ad Dominium.

☉ ad Δ \mathcal{J} , Pollicetur augmentum facultatum, Marcialium personarum auspicio, &c.

☉ ad * \mathcal{V} , inquietum designat natum, qui multis quidem negotiis knowing

knowing his Friend Oliver's Wiles, was unwilling to undertake this weighty Affair, until he had been advised by Lilly what the Success thereof would amount unto; and therefore gives him his Nativity to direct him by. But Lilly being Sir John's Masters Creature, viz. Oliver's, would never predict any thing contrary to his blessed Patron's Undertaking: and so deals by Sir John, as in the Swedish Business he did by Sir G. A. one lost his Life, the other his Honour. Howbeit, Oliver's Designs went on somewhat the better for this Parasites Knavery: for he had now the Sun directed to a Sextile of ♄; a fit time to advantage himself by Traytors and Trepanners.

13. In the year 1658. upon the third day of September, this Troubler of England died at White-hall in London; (a Palace never built for him.) This was a day remarkable with him; which he idolizing in his Mock-thanks to God Almighty, it pleased God to give Satan leave to put a Period to his Tyrannies: which he did, having before sent him a Monition of his intentions, by a strange and prodigious Storm of Winde, the like hath seldom been known. But he whose Head and Heart were full of the Tempest of Tyranny, Murder, Dissimulation, Perjury, &c. in his Life-time, it could not be expected but Nature should give a Groan to be delivered from him at the last. The Ascendent (which is Hylech or Giver of Life in this Nativity) was then directed to the Quartile of the cruel Planet Mars in Cancer his Fall; and this in the fourth House of his Radix, viz. the end of all things. VVhich malicious Direction being attended on, with the progress of the Sun to the Head of Hercules, and the Part of Fortune to the Square of the Moon; and all these concomitated with a most strange and remarkable Return of the three superiour Planets (but a little before) to their true Radical places, were Arguments both eminent and sufficient of the Death of this (to England) prodigious Native in that year.

* Afc. ad ☐ 8; natum varii morborum, ex re-dundantia Cholerae & vehementi sanguinis Chol-erici adusti ebullitione provenientium, arque periculorum ac infortuniorum generibus obijcit;
imminentem quoq; mortem denuntiat, &c. — Orr.

For a Proof of the Concurrence of Revolutionary Figures with Directions, I shall present you with his last Revolutionary Scheme: which (because it is eminently considerable) take as followeth.

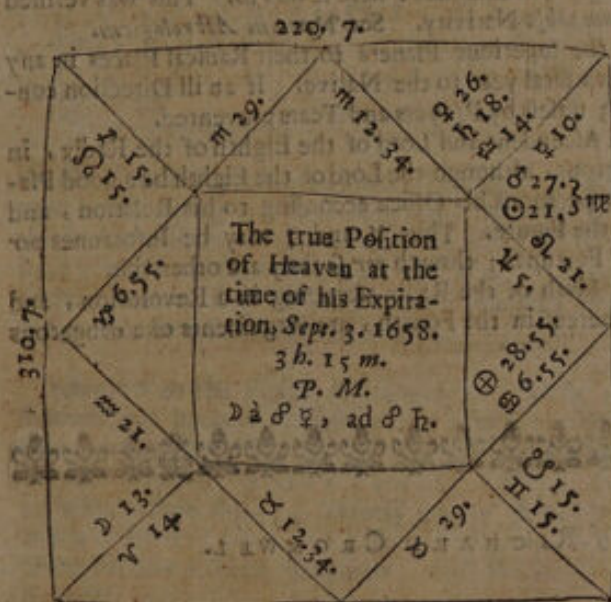

IN this Revolutionary Figure, we finde (as most ominous and fatal) ♀ returned to his Radical place, in Opposition to the Ascendent of the Radix, and the Lord thereof; and in ☐ of ♄, and this in the fourth House, viz. the Grave, or the end of all things. And as a fit second to so remarkable and cruel a Position, here is ♂, Lord of the Ascendent of the Radix, in Conjunction of ♄, Lord of the Eighth thereof; and that that upon the Cusp of the Fourth of the Nativity, though twelfth House of this Figure.

All which dangerous Configurations, Positions and Transits, concurring with such malignant and cruel Directions, as before I have largely noted, might very well, (as indeed it most seasonably did) proclaim a most fatal year unto the Native, and happily put a Period to his Life.

At the very moment of his expiring, the Sun, who is Fons Vitalis, and Lord of the Sixth in the Radix, and Ascendent in the Revolution, was in Conjunction with δ , Lord of the Ascendent of the Radix, in the eighth House; viz. the House of Death, near unto the Radical place of the Moon; and η , their nimble Dispositor, in the Radical place of the malignant Planet \hbar ; and the Moon in the Radical place of δ , in Opposition to them both, as may be seen by the following Figure.

Thus much for the Nativity of this eminent and prodigious Person; whose Resolution was such, that he never attempted any thing but he accomplished it, though surrounded with a multitude of Difficulties. And now I am mentioning his Resolution, I remember a Comical Story of a Scotch Minister concerning him, as (I have heard) was delivered in a Pulpit; which for the Jests sake I shall relate, but not commend such Doctrine in a Preacher:—The Minister being in the midst of his Sermon, makes a start therefrom, and accosts his Auditory (after a Rabble of News) with this wild Question; viz. Beloved, ken ye Cromwel? ken ye Cromwel the English General? Marry Ise tell ye what he is; he is ene warse then the Devil; and Ise prove it too: for the holy Scripture saith, Gif ye resist the Devil, he's flee from ye; but gif ye resist Cromwel, marry he's flee in your face: therefore Cromwel is warse then the Devil. Indeed he was a Person of a mighty and undaunted Resolution; and (as by his Nativity appears) had more thereof then he had Reason: yet Success often-times made his Resolution seem Reason. He was always a Victor; was never conquered by any Opponent, save that, which Hercules himself could not withstand, viz. his last Antagonist, —

D E A T H.

Observations Astrological from the Schemes of his beginning and ending.

1. δ in γ is an assured Argument of a Victorious Person, and of Valour also; but more especially if γ shall ascend in the Nativity.
2. The Moon and φ in Trine and Reception, (as here in his Nativity it is) makes a Man a Turner up of Councils by the root, and a Destroyer of them at pleasure.
3. δ and η in Opposition, makes a famous Rebel, (δ being Lord of the Ascendent:) and both in Square of μ , makes him observe Law and Religion for his own Ends.
4. All the Planets under the Earth, (as here they are, except δ) when they promise Honour, Dignity and Renown, they generally perform it in the latter part of a Mans Life.
5. The Lord of the Eleventh stronger then the Lord of the Seventh, the Native overcomes his greatest Enemies: here it was so. This was verified also in the King of Denmark's Nativity. See Nuncius Astrologicus.
6. The Returns of the superiour Planets to their Radical Places in any Revolution, portends a fatal year to the Native. If an ill Direction concurs, it is unavoidable; unless by Prayers and Tears prevented.
7. The Lord of the Ascendent and Lord of the Eighth of the Radix, in Conjunction, is dangerous, although the Lord of the Eighth be a good Planet: for every Planet performs his Office according to his Relation, and the Power he hath in the Figure. Thus μ and φ may be Infortunes per accidens, and η and δ Fortunes; though per se they are otherwise.
8. The Cusp of the Sixth of the Radix ascending in a Revolution, and the Lord of the Sixth thereof in the Fourth, are Arguments of a dangerous year.

II. Of RICHARD CROMWEL.

Richard Cromwel was born near Huntington, in the year of our Lord 1626. on October 4. 13 hours, 57 minutes, Post Meridiem. The Heavens were then posited, as by the following Figure is represented.

Richard

This is the Nativity of Richard Cromwell; a Person who had the Impudence to pretend a Right to the Government of England, Scotland and Ireland, upon no other score but because Goodwin, Owen and Nye, (Oliver's Creatures) swore it was his Fathers Will upon his Death-bed, that he should succeed in the Government.

It is very probable the old Gentleman might be prodigal enough, to give that away which was none of his own; and these Men might swear the same truly: but yet methinks Richard might have considered what had been his Fathers Right to have given him; for he could not but know, that his Father was never born to the Crown of England; nor himself neither, which in some sort was the better and more deserving Gentleman.

But now to the Figure Astrologically. To be plain, it is one of the meanest and poorest Nativities that ever I yet saw or beheld (and I have seen five thousand) for a Person that was a Governour or chief Magistrate over three Nations especially. For here is not one Planet essentially dignified in the whole Figure; scarcely one of them truly in his own Terms; which is the very meanest of Essential Dignities. And if the Fortifications of the Planets promise Happiness, their Debilities must necessarily shew ill Success.

But then divers will be apt to object, — If his Nativity be so bad, how came he to so great a Fortune? I answer: — What he enjoyed was rather a Misfortune than a Fortune; for he was but a Pageant or Stalking-horse to the Pride of others, and onely served their Ends and Aims, as a Protector of Clowns might have done. Howbeit, in a qualified sense, I allow his titular Honour was very great; yea, so great, that you see it quickly sunk the Ship of his waning Fortunes: but I deny that this titular Honour was an Effect of his own Nativity, but of his Fathers. As Maximilianus Stampa attained all his Honours, Dignities and Preferments by the Grace and Favour of Sforza, Duke of Milan, he taking a more then ordinary Affection unto him: so this Native came to be vested with the Government, and the Honour of supreme Magistracy of these Nations, not by any particular Configuration, Position or Aspect in his own Nativity, but onely as he was the Son and Favorite of Oliver his Father; who did what he could to leave him a friendly Legacie. Indeed he happened to have about that time some good Directions operating, and that hope to make amends for his ill Radical Positions.

Now, that you may know this to be the true Nativity of this Person, take these these following Accidents, as compared with Directions, and they prove the true Rectification thereof.

1. When Richard Cromwel was 31 years of Age, viz. in 1657. being then a Hunting, he had the Misfortune to break his Thigh by a Fall from his Horse; of which he ever after continued lame, and is like never to be cured. He had then by Direction the Ascendent to the Body of h , Lord of Fifth and Sixth in his Nativity.

2. Being aged (as before) viz. in July 1657. he was (with no great Affection of the University) elected and installed Lord Chancellor of Oxford:

M. C. ad Δ \odot , officia publica & honores, ac a rege vel magno principe munera & gratiam, ac favorem nato pollicetur: unde & res suas ita instituit, ut magnanimus, magnificus, nihil humile cogitans habetur, & reipublice cum laude vel praeest vel praeesse judicetur ab omnibus. Orig.

but, Poor Man! he understood but little of Latine, notwithstanding Needham reported him to make an elegant Return to the Vice-Chancellor's Latine Oration to him: which could be indeed no other then the Mute to Moros in the silent Woman, viz. by Signes with his Leg, and an insolent Nod or two, to inform them of his impudent Acceptance. But to bear him out in a greater piece of Confidence, (had a greater matter been offer'd him) he had now the Medium Caeli ad Trinum Solis per Directionem operating in his Nativity.

3. In the 32 year of his Age, viz. in September 1658. after the Death of old Oliver his Father, he was proclaimed (in his stead) Protector of England, Scotland and Ireland, &c. and had many Addresses from all parts presented unto him in a Congratulatory way, (as it was then sycophantrickly worded) all promising to live and die with him, they acknowledging him to be the undoubted Heir to Englands Crown. And to add to these Ignes fatui, out comes a quacking Astrologer in his May's Observations 1659. (at what time poor Richard was turn'd out of all) and predicts like a fawning Parasite, ——— That the English Lord Protector now enters upon the Stage, and manifests himself to the whole world, that he hath sound Abilities to govern, and sound Judgement to distinguish both secret Enemies, and sneaking Friends: he is abundantly courted from several parts of Christendome, &c. ——— Richard Lord Protector of England stoops not, is not terrified with words, provides for all occasions. And towards the months end, ——— Is made happy with welcome News, &c. And in his general Prediction of Lyes, he writes, ——— Let no mans heart fail; the Sun seems to us to shine as well on the present Lord Protector his Actions, as on his deceased Fathers. ——— Thus did divers parasitical Wretches chant forth their Fictions and lying Elogiums to this their new Saint Richard: all Functions and Arts, &c. were made Hackney-Heraulds to proclaim (what the Heavens were totally against) the Continuation of this Pageant of Regality. Upon which I remember a learned English Artist thus Poetically writes:

Captain
Wharton's Calend.
Ecclef.
1660. in March.

But where be those fine Juglers did Address
Such sugred Phrase, such smooth Obsequiousness:
That vow'd to live and die with Richard, yet
Ne'er blemish'd, when they saw his Glory set?
Such Hypocrites, run with the stream of things,
And will keep Time whatever dance begins.

At this time Richard Cromwel had no Direction but the Part of Fortune ad Trinum Veneris, and the Medium Caeli ad Trinum Solis in Gemini, London's Ascendent, (not fully over;) which in divers respects were good, but I deny that they were of force to make him so noted a Spectacle: and indeed, had had not his Happiness (if so it may be termed) in that Action been dependant upon his Fathers Fate, nothing in his Natiuity (as I said before) could ever have brought such a thing to pass.

4. Being aged near 33 years, he presumed to call a Parliament; but when they met, they thought him a little too bold, and therefore began to question how he came by that Power he had; and finding no satisfactory account thereof from him, they call the Power into their own hands, and so eased him of the Burden of being chief Magistrate of England. He was now overtaken by a Direction of the Medium Caeli ad Quadratum Saturni; a Direction of most cruel import, as by the Text out of Origani de Effectibus, &c. appears, — Ac in specie Medii Caeli ad corpus Saturni directio, maximas indignitates, & odia Principum aut Magistratum iudicis; vario quoque malorum genere, dignitates, officia, honores atque fauores subvertit; Negotia cum tarditate uatum perficere facit; facinorosa uero scelere excitat, &c. Besides, η was then Retrograde upon the place of his Sun in the Radix. The very day of that years Revolution, there happened a Conjunction of the Sun, and the cruel Planet η ; and δ was by Position near them both, in Quartile to the second House thereof; and the Moon (Lady of the Ascendant of that Figure) was posited in the twelfth House, in Opposition to ζ , Lady of the Tenth, in the Radical Scheme.

Behold the Figure it self!

If we consider this Revolution never so seriously, we shall finde it a most malefick one to all intents and Purposes. For besides the before-mentioned Evils, here is the Moon with Cauda Draconis in the Twelfth, and the place of Cauda in the Radix culminating: all portending plainly what then befall him.

Upon the Consideration of all which sad Significations, I took the Liberty in the time of this Rebels Reign, (as hundreds are able to testify) to prognosticate his Downfall and Ruine. At which my Opinion, many learned and ingenious Persons seemed much to wonder. Unto whom I constantly replied, "That it was more my wonder and astonishment that ever young Richard should have an opportunity convenient to climb up to such a monstrous height of Honour, then that at such a malicious and direful time he should loose or be deprived of the same.

The Head of Medusa in the Medium Caeli, and ζ , Lady of the tenth House in the Fourth, in Conjunction of Antares, or the Scorpions Heart, and in Square to the Ascendant; and η , Lord of the Ascendant, in Conjunction tion of δ in ♊ ; and the Moon in ♋ , (though in Conjunction of Cor Leonis) and void of course in the twelfth House in the Heavens; are no singular Testimonies (by the Consent of the the most Learned in Astrologie) of an illustrious or Princely Nativity. Indeed they signifie the quite contrary; as unto this Native hath been sufficiently made appear.

Seeing the Luminaries in friendly Aspect of each other, and ♄ in good Position of the Ascendent and Part of Fortune, and none of the Significators of Life afflicted by the Beams or Bodies of the evil Planets, either by Direction or Configuration; it is probable he may live to an indifferent Age. The forty second year thereof will be dangerous unto him, in respectu Vitæ: for then the Moon (the Fountain of all Natural Power) will be directed to the Body of ♄ ; and ♄ will then transit over the sixth House; and the opposite place of the Moon in the Radix, who is the Significatrix in the Direction. And so we mildly take our leave of Richard Cromwel, as himself did of his Protectorship and Honour.

Astrological Observations on the Scheme of Richards Nativity.

1. All the Planets our of their essential Dignities, generally signifie a Person of no Quality; or if he hap to arise to any Preferment, he cannot enjoy it long: an accidental Good, can never totally overcome an essential Evil. Planeta in domo non sua, est ut vir in domo aliena pulsans jam deprimatur judicium suum; nec est ei auctoritas. Bethem. Aphor. 27.

2. ♄ in the Second, is always an Argument of Poverty; and it is rare, if the Native (be he never so high) come not to beggery in the end.

3. Caput Argol in the Tenth, and the Moon in Quartile unto the Cusp thereof, from the Twelfth, denotes Loss of Honour and Renown, if not Death in a Prison.

4. ♄ , Lord of the Ascendent, in Conjunction of δ , and in Square to the Part of Fortune; and ♁ , Lady of the Tenth, in Square to the Ascendent from the fourth; argues the Native to be trepan'd by Craft and Subilty; and that himself will be willing to be cheated, and will consent to his own abusing, yea, undoing also.

5. Violent Stars upon the tenth House, and the Governour thereof with such likewise, denotes a violent Catastrophe of the Natives Greatness.

6. All the Planets in a Nativity void of Reception, declares the Native to be void of real and constant Friends and Adherents.

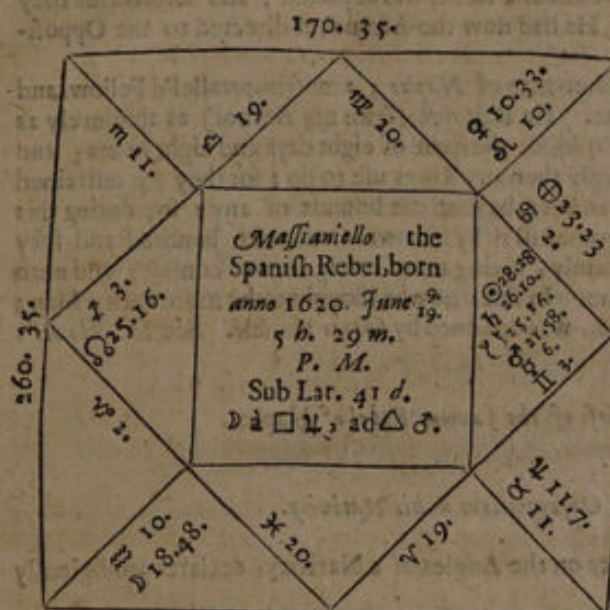

III. of

III. Of Massianiello the Fisher-man's Nativty.

Massianiello the Fisherman of Naples, was born near Naples, in the year of our Lord 1620. on June 19. five hours, twenty nine minutes after Noon, under the Latitude of 41 Degrees; and the Figure of Heaven is as followeth.

This Gentleman in the beginning of the seven and twentieth year of his Age, (notwithstanding his poor, obscure, nay, scarce known Original) begins to oppose the Power of the King of Spain, under pretence of crying down the Gabels and Taxes; (as Cromwel did the King of England, by perswading People to labour after Liberty of Conscience, and a Freedom from Tythes.) And in few days had so ordered his business, that he was become the Head of an innumerable factious Multitude; who being at his beck and command, followed him at the heels of every Undertaking: and to satisfy the people, would not directly in words oppose the King of Spain; but as if they intended as religiously as the best, their common Cry was, — Viva Dio, Ré di Spagna & Massianiello: Let GOD live, and let the King of Spain live, and Massianiello live also. By which Means he encreased his power dayly; and as his power encreased, his Commands issued out accordingly: Some of which were, That the People under pain of Life and Firing, should have Lighes (every night) in their Windows: so that he made streets as light by night as by day. And that all should go en cuerpo without Cloaks, and the Bishops and Priests without Cassocks; and Ladies and Gentlewomen were commanded not to go abroad in wide-hoop'd Gowns or Kirtles, because they might not convey Arms underneath them. At length, Massianiello concludes a Peace with the Vice-Roy, and thereupon becomes his Companion, having his Wife cloathed in Cloath of Gold, and himself as rich: all Tribunals were shut up, and no Person was obey'd but Massianiello, who did even what he pleased: commanded Gibbets to be set up in divers places of the City; which struck great Terrour into the Hearts of all people. While Massianiello was acting these unparallel'd things, he had the Medium Caeli directed to the Trine of the Moon, which occasioned the Rabble-Rout so to adore him; as also alto to the Virgins Spike, a most glorious fixed Star: but as Protony himself saith, Although the fixed Stars do designe admirable Preferment, yet the Honour they bring, ends in unusual Calamity, &c. And thus it proved with Massianello.

For after all his great Acts performed, and the Peoples honouring and adoring him; the raising of his Kindred, suppressing and destroying of his Enemies, and doing whatsoever he would; behold! a Company of venturous Blades hearing he was in a Church, went thither, and found him airing himself, and there they surprized and dispatched him, and cut off his Head: at which Action of theirs, and unfortunate end of his, the people never grieved in the least, but dragged his Body up and down the City, with great Acclamations of Joy, that so famous a Rebel was departed; and afterwards they interr'd him in a Dike. He had now the Ascendent directed to the Opposition of \hbar .

Thus fell this bold Fisher-man of Naples; a most unparallel'd Fellow, and of as egregious a Fortune. He Reigned (saith my Author) as absolutely as any Sovereign in the World, for the space of eight days and eight hours; and we may say, more absolutely then any Kings use to do; for they are restrained by Laws, but Massianello was beyond the bounds of any: for during this short time, he caused to be kill'd by his own Order two hundred and fifty persons, and that suddainly, giving them onely time to confess; and unto some he would give none. In fine, he was thought to be more then a Man; and that what he ordered, was ordained by God himself. See Mr. Howel's History of him.

Thus much in brief of the famous Rebel of Naples.

Observations on his Nativity.

1. Eminent fixed Stars on the Angles of a Nativity, declares prodigiously ambitious Persons.

2. The Lord of the Ascendent weaker then the Lord of the seventh House, chiefly if the first be Cadent, and the last Angular, is a most certain Note of the Natives being overcome and ruined by his Enemies, let him be never so potent and mighty in Friends.

3. Directions to Planets in the descending part of Heaven, although they argue and procure the highest Felicity imaginable to the Native, yet it is not long durable. I could give infinite Instances of this truth; but this one being very remarkable, shall serve.

4. Those Persons that have crowds of Planets in Angles, have at some time or other of their Lives, most remarkable and unexpected Fortunes or Misfortunes, according to the Nature of the Directions which happen.

COLLECTIO GENITURARUM:

The Third Part,

In Fifty Select

NATIVITIES.

VIZ.

Of { Gentlemen, Merchants,
Mathematicians,
Short Life, Twins, &c. }

Being of Practical Concernment to the Sons of ART.

BY

JOHN GADBURY,

• ΙΑΟΜΑΘΗΜΑΤΙΚΟΨ.

We do not reject or condemn a sober and regulated Astrologie; we hold there is more truth therein, then in Astrologers: in some more, then many allow; yet in none so much, as some pretend. We deny not the Influence of the Stars, but often suspect the due Application thereof. Pseud. Epidem. Lib. 4. fol. 194.

LONDON: Printed by James Costrel, MDCLXII.

The Third Part.

SENSITIVITÄT

IV

Michipicants

Mathematicians

Shore Line, Twp. 6 N.

211

УТВЕРЖАЮ

LONDON: Printed by James Gorton, M.D.C.LXII.

Collectio Geniturarum :

THE THIRD PART.

I Here present the Reader with one of the most remarkable Nativities I ever yet met with
(of a Subject's) in the whole course of my Studies; it is not indeed commonly to be parallel'd among the most illustrious Radixes: the nearest that I finde unto it, is that of Gustavus Adolphus, the great King of Sweden; and that, Consideratio Considerandis, is not in many things so excellent a Geniture as this: as may be seen in the first Part of this Book.

In this Nativity, the Regal Signe Υ ascends the Horoscope, the last of the fiery Triplicity: Υ , Lord thereof, is the most potent Planet in the Figure; he is posited in Υ , his own House, in Conjunction of the Moon, and both of them in Trine and Reception of the fortunate Planet \odot : \odot , the natural Patron of Ingenuity, &c. is not onely in Υ , but in Cazime Solis, and Angular: \odot , the Lord of the Eleventh and Fourth Houses, is posited in Υ , his greatest Dignities. But besides these singular Positions of more then ordinary Signification, it is very remarkable, and worthy to be noted, that in the whole Figure, — There is not one Planet in his Detriment, Fall, Peregrine, Retrograde, Combust, or in an ill place of Heaven. Which being told to an Artist in London, with a desire of his thoughts thereupon, he replied hyperbolically, — That the Native must expect the Effects of such Noble Significations in the other world: for he thought that this World could not afford him them. But certainly if the Stars have Influences upon humane Bodies, (as elsewhere I have sufficiently proved) they must be known before the Bodies Annihilation, and in the time of its combating with Mortality, or not at all.

I shall next descend to some particular Accidents herein: as, (1.) When this worthy Native was aged five years, he had the Measels: the Sun was then directed ad \square δ . (2.) At eleven years, he was invaded with an Ague and Fever: Δ was then directed ad δ , chm Latitudinis. (3.) At 18 years old, he took a Voyage to Holland; which was the persequens of attaining great Honour, &c. Medium Caeli was then directed ad Δ η ; Lady of the Tenth; and the next year following, he had \odot ad Δ ν .

Divers other things may be observed from this Nativity; but having no particular Licence either for this I have done, or for more, I shall forbear. I have adventured to publish this, it being a Nativity so remarkable, and so worthy to be transmitted to Posterity.

Astrologie, written in answer to a Book published against Astrologie, by Mr. John Chambers: in which Defence, this learned Knight was so exact in his Responses, so satisfactory and full in his Arguments, so strenuous in his Refutations thereof, that when once Mr. Chambers (who no question was a great Scholar) had seen and perused it, and found the same unanswerable, and his own Arguments so fully refuted and refuted, he for very grief died. Divers others since Mr. Chambers's time, have pretended to answer this unanswerable Work; as Vicars, Rowland, &c. who have so far failed in their Enterprise, that they have (in stead of proclaiming themselves Scholars to the World) made themselves the very Pageants of Envy, Ignorance and Folly; and are gotten within the reach of learned Cardan's Lath before they knew where they were: — Sibi negligant & contemnunt Astrologiam, qui contradicunt, ambitiosus est; qui maledicunt, fatuus. Seg. 1. Aphor. 24.

The Book it self is of such excellent Use, in that it answers all Objections brought against the Art, from Reason, Scriptures, School-men, Fathers, Councils; and that in so plain and familiar a way of Reasoning, that I should advise every young Student to acquaint himself therewith: that by it, he may be enabled to understand, first, what it is he would study; and secondly how to defend the same against the malicious and ignorant Oppugners of the Art.

In the Figure, we finde π (the latter part thereof) ascending the Horoscope; and φ , Lord thereof, in ϖ his greatest Dignities, there in exact Trine to \mathcal{U} , and Sextile to φ : Arguments of very great Learning, Ingenuity, Sagacity and Prudence. The Moon is in \mathcal{U} , in Conjunction of that Noble Star called Spica Virginis, and in exact Trine to δ and the Medium Coeli; which denoted in this honoured Native, not onely a sharp and active Fancie, which quickned him in his Studies; but gave him great Courage and Resolution, &c. For you must understand, he was as well a Souldier as Scholar; and both by Sword and Pen did purchase himself such lasting Honour and Fame, that time will never wear out.

This worthy Native died in the year 1620. a little before his fifty ninth year of Age began: he had then operating by Direction the Ascendent ad δ Martis cum Latitudine, and this in \mathcal{U} .

Ascentio Obliqua δ δ , C. L.

Ascentio Obliqua Horosopi

Arcus Directionis

deg. min.

111. 18.

53. 42.

57. 56.

Which turned into time, according to Naybode's Institution or Measure of Time in Directions, gives 58 years, 285 days. — Besides this, the Moon was nearly come to the Opposition of \mathcal{H} , both with and without Latitude.

Thus much for this Nativity.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d. m.

\mathcal{H}	1	27	North
\mathcal{U}	1	2	South.
δ	0	51	} North
φ	0	43
\mathcal{Z}	0	40	} South.
\mathcal{D}	3	18

His Nativity was given me for the true one of this worthy Person; but any Accidents belonging thereunto, I could never obtain, excepting this,

That he had the hard hap to be engaged in Duels often; in which Engagements, three Men were slain by him. It cannot but be ill provoking him, that had many Planets above the Earth; especially if they shall be in the Dignities, or in any Aspect of δ , or near eminent fixed Stars; as most of them are in this

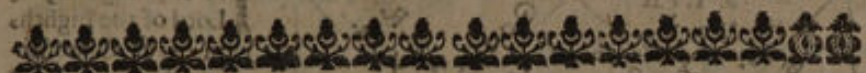

Tt

Geniture.

Combust, and in Quartile to the eighth House. (6.) The Moon in Opposition of δ , a violent Planet.

His Revolution for the year of his Death, was most ominous and cruel: for therein h was upon the opposite place of the Sun in the Radix, and that from the Tenth and Fourth Angles; the Figure it self (almost) opposite to that of the Radix; and the fiery Planet δ in Opposition to the Ascendent thereof, and very near the Ascendent of Birth; the Moon (also) was in Quartile to the Revolutional Ascendent. All which concurring with two such dangerous Directions, have a most apt and proper Signification of the time of this Natives Death, and of the violence of it also.

Thus much for this Nativity.

This is the Nativity of Colonel Reynolds, whom Oliver Cromwell (upon some Considerations had of his Services performed) pretended to confer the Honour of Knight-hood on: A Person he was most resolute and daring; (soe he had not been fit for Cromwell's Designs;) for here is \ast ascending, and that part thereof, wherein is posited Cor Scorpi , a most eminent fixed Star; and u , Lord thereof, is in u , in the eleventh House, in exact Sextile of the Moon, and the Sun in v , in Trine to the Ascendent, and in Sextile of δ . Anno 1649. on July 15. being Sunday, [no other day fit for so great a work] Cromwell knighted him at White-hall: he had then the Sun directed ad Δ Luna. On the day this pretended Honour was conferred, the Sun was in exact Trine to his Radical place, and unto the Ascendent of the Radix also: the Moon was then in Conjunction of u , but in Opposition to his Radical place, yet in Trine to that of her own.

Anno 1657. on May the 4th, this Native found to what purpose he was knighted; for then he went General over 6000 Men into Flanders: the Effect of that Undertaking is known notoriously to have been mischievous; most of the Men were lost, and himself, with Colonel White, and others, as they were returning for England, on December 5. (the same year) were drowned.

On

On the day he went forth, viz. May 4. η was (almost) Stationary upon the Quadrate place of the Moon. The Sun and δ were in Quartile, the one squaring, the other opposing, his ninth House; (which hath Signification of Voyages.) The Moon also was in exact Opposition to the Ascendent of the Radix. In all respects, a time most dangerous for such an Undertaking; as at last it proved unto this Native. He had now operating by Direction the Ascendent ad δ , Lady of the eighth House; and to the \square of the Sun, Lord of his Ninth. His Revolution that year was also very malicious, and concordant with his Directions and Transits then operating: as may be seen by the Figure.

IN this Figure, η Lord of the Eighth, is in exact Opposition to the Sun, Lord of the Ascendent; and this from the third and Ninth Houses, and violent Signes: an eminent Argument of the kinde of death he suffered. δ was in Quartile to the Radical place of \mathcal{A} , the Lord of the Ascendent of his Nativity.

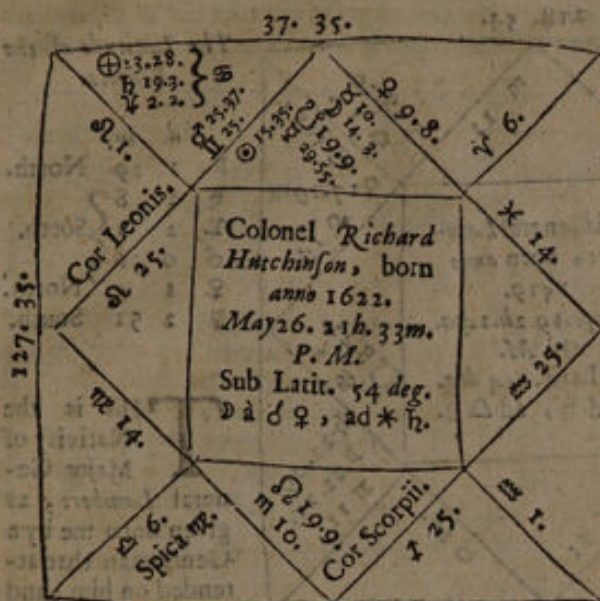

On the day he was drowned, η and δ (the two Infortunes) were in perfect Opposition, from the Tenth and Fourth Angles of the Radical and Revolutional Figures; and the Moon upon the opposite place of \mathcal{A} , Lord of the Ascendent of the Radix.

The Arguments of a violent End, are, (1.) δ his being in Opposition to the Ascendent from violent fixed Stars. (2.) η , Lady of the Eighth, in Quartile of the Sun, from violent Signes. (3.) η in Opposition to \mathcal{A} , Lady of the Tenth, and in Quartile to the Ascendent from the ninth House.

For the kinde of violent Death, viz. by Water: \mathcal{S} , a Watry Signe, is upon the Cusp of the eighth House, and the Lady thereof is just entering \mathcal{S} , a Signe wherein she receives her Detriment; and η , an Afflicter of the Ascendent by his Quartile, is by Longitude posited among the Stars of Jason's Ship Argos: All which (when there is a violent Death threatned) are Signes it shall be by Water.

Colonel

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.	m.
D	0 33	North.
h	0 37	South.
l	0 25	South.
s	0 6	North.
q	1 32	South.
q	2 18	South.

This is the Nativity of a Gentleman, whose Fate hath been (considering his Capacity) as prodigious and remarkable, as ever any Mans is, or was, or indeed is like to be. For he hath been employed in the great Business of Drayning in Hampshire, and the Isle of Wight: in which as he hath had more then ordinary good Success, so he hath had more then common unhappy Fortune. He hath also had to do with the great Affairs of two eminent Kings of Europe, viz. those of Denmark and Sweden; and in the thirty sixth year of his Age compleat, and thirty seventh current, had a Commission as Colonel to raise a Regiment; and he did so: the Medium Caeli was then directed ad δ ☉, and the Ascendent ad Sextilum Saturni. But in this Undertaking he was also unfortunate; and by Treachery had his Regiment taken from him, when he had been at the Pains, Care and Charge to transport them: the Sun at the same time was also directed ad δ Saturni, cum & sine Latitudine: which Direction being of more mischievous tendency then ordinary, did not end its Effects here; but a little after he came over into England again, was engaged into a Law-Controversie for 200 l. of his own money which he had made over to a Person in trust; which said Person for his defence, pretended a Bond of a thousand pounds which was forged against this Native, for payment of 500 l. to a third Person; but after a year or two's Contest, he cast them all in Chancery, &c. and recovered his monies: he had then \oplus directed ad Cor Δ , & Ascendentem, and a good Revolution to assit him.

Now, if you would know, why a Person of private Fortune should come to such publick Honour and Preferment; you must take notice that all the Planets in the Scheme of his Nativity, are, not onely supra terram, above the Earth; but in the Tenth and Eleventh Houses posited; and the Moon, \circ and Δ essentially dignified, and in good Aspect to each other. It is true, Cauda Draconis its Position in the Tenth, doth eclipse the Honour and Eminencie the other Positions so aptly denote; and h in the Eleventh, makes his Friends false-hearted, and his greatest Hopes oftentimes to faile him. And thus we see a Harmony between the Effects of Directions, and the Influences of general Positions.

because it so exactly agrees with several eminent Accidents of his Life. As, (1.) In the year 1648. he received great Addition of Honour in the Army: Medium Celi was then directed ad Trinum Jovis; an excellent Direction to signify the same. (2.) Being aged 36. he was made Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports: Medium Celi ad ♀. (3.) Aged 37. he was made Chief Justice in Eyre, within the Forest of Dean: ♀ directed then ad Trinum Martis. Aged near 40 years, he was made General against Sir George Booth: the Moon was then directed ad Δ Jovis. But this Direction happening in the seventh House, denoted the Honour it portended to be of no long continuance; nor was it. (4.) Aged 41. he was imprisoned in the Tower for being not conformable to the Rump-Parliament's Designs. A little after escaped from the Tower, was proclaimed Traytor; and in Northamptonshire taken by Colonel Ingoldby, and committed to the Tower again. He had then the Ascendent ad ♀ Martis by Direction, and the Medium Celi directed ad ♀ Lunae, & Saturni, cum & sine Latitudine: which most aptly signified these Unhappineses unto him. (5.) Being aged near 43 years, he was (with Sir Henry Vane) brought to Tryal at the Kings Bench Bar; was found guilty of the Charge exhibited against him, and condemned to die for the same: but our gracious King reprieved him immediately, even as soon as his Sentence was past. He had now to prejudice him, ♀ ad ♀ & by Direction; but to assist him, the ♀ was directed ad Sextum proprium. It is observable, when he escaped from the Tower, that ♀ was upon the Cusp of the Medium Celi in his Radix, and ♀ upon the Quadrant place of his Sun; and ♀ in the Eighth, upon the Quadrant places of the Moon and ♀ in his Nativity: then the which (together with the Directions before remembered) there can be nothing more plain to denote the Infelicity of that Undertaking.

And now (before I conclude this Nativity) to shew the ingenious Artist a more eminent Proof of the Effects of an unfortunate Election, I shall present him with the Figure of Heaven, under which this Native advanced towards the North, to oppose General Monk; it being an Observation worthy to be known to Posterity. It is true, the Directions before noted, did generally generally portend the unhappy (yet happy) issue of that Undertaking. But the Minute of his advance being known, is a more particular Radix for such particular Action; and therefore more particularly to be considered.

This was the true posture of Heaven; at what time Major General Lambert put his Foot in the Stirrup to march toward the North, to meet the valiant Lord General Monck; then advancing out of Scotland towards London; and a most sad Position it is, and exactly agrees with that Major General's Success he had by that unfortunate Undertaking. As the Moon is in a Watry Signe, in exact Conjunction of ♄, the cruellest and unfortunate of Planets, he had like to have been drowned in Torkshire, riding through a River toward his Army; where his Horse left him to the mercy of the most merciless of Enemies, the Water; from whence he with much ado, escap'd. Thus was his Beginning ominous.

Hermes Trismegistus, Cent. Aphorif. 29. adviseth, — In exitu conjungq. ad pugnam. — Sic ascendens domus Superiorum Planetarum, vel ☉ & ☿ sit tam ipse quam dominus ejus fortis: Dominus vero Septima debilis, & impeditus a malis: (i. e.) When any one goeth to War — let the Horoscope be a Signe belonging to the Superiour Planets, or the Sun; and let the Ascendent and his Lord be strongly fortified: but debilitate the Lord of the Seventh as much as you can, and let him also be hindered by the Body or malicious Rays of the Infortunates. This Quondam victorious Person, had not the good hap to set forth upon a time suitable to this Direction of Hermes; but on the contrary, at such a time when the Lord of the Ascendent was not onely in Detriments and in the eighth House, the most obscure place of the Heavens; but was in ☿ also, the natural Significator, and grand Patron of War.

The learned Guido Bonatus, fol. 459. saith, — If he that sets forth to Battel, intend to obtain the Victory over his Adversary, he must either have one of the Houses of Mars ascending, or Mars in good Aspect of the Moon, Ascendent, or the Lord thereof. But in this Figure, there was no such thing: Ergo, it could not be expected otherwise, then that he should be worsted, and come off with loss in that Undertaking: chiefly, in that the Lord of the Ascendent is Cadent, and the Lord of the Ascendent Angular in domo Martis.

There are divers eminent Persons in London that have heard me relate the Misfortune that happened upon that Expedition, long before the Conclusion thereof; even as soon as the March it self was beginning. And indeed, had I considered nothing but the Moon her Conjunction of ♄ in decima do- mo, and Canda Draconis in the Fourth, together with the Angularity of ♄, and ill Location of ♃, it had been easie to have pronounced (as then I did) No great Felicity or Pleasure in the beginning of that Undertaking; and nothing but bitterness in its end.

It was very plain (by the foregoing Figure) there should not be any dangerous Fight, because the Lord of the Ascendent and seventh House were in Sextile. Haly de judic. Astror. says, — Sed si duorum significatorum unus applicuerit, alteri de Sextili vel Tertio, habebunt pacem & convenientiam antequam ad manus veniant. And every Man (that knows any thing) knows, that the Controversie ended in a Treaty: and thrice happy was it for England that it thus fell out.

Should any enquire into the reason of this Major Generals coming off peaceably, and without any questioning in that Designe, (for so he did, though he was therein unsuccessful) it is eminently considerable, that the Lord of the Tenth applies ad Dom. Ascendentis, doubly; first, as he is a lighter Planet; secondly, as he is Retrograde; and the learned Haly says, fol. 85. — Si dominus Medii Caeli applicuerit domino Ascendenti, juvabit eum liberè, & sine petitione. All England remembers, that while this (then) eminent Person was in the North with his Army, the Parliament at London voted him Indemnity, without the least request or desire from him, but freely of their own accord; being (it seems) willing to oblivate his present Failings, and force committed upon them, and indulge him a free Pardon, in Compensation of his former Adventures on their parts. This very Example may be of good use, and serve to instruct others, — That it is ill to strive against the Stream; and that no Man can thrive by fighting against the Fates. Beginnings are always deemed ominous.

Rarus Principii est exitus bonus mali:

“ Things ill begun, do seldome come to good.

The great Philosopher absolutely avers, Ἀδύνατον ἐστὶν ὅτι ἂν καὶ ἐκ ἀρχῆς ἡμάρτανον, καὶ ἀμαρτάνῃς ἴκῃ ἐν τῇ ῥῆσιν καλῇ, Arist. Ethic. Lib. 5. cap. 1. It is impossible (saith he) but that that which is faulty at the first, should prove ill at the last. It is most conspicuously true in this; for how many hundreds have been sharers in this unfortunate Gentlemans sufferings? How many both in England and Scotland, yea, in Ireland also, have been cashiered their Employments; by their (unsuccessful) Zeal to him, in espousing his Interest? and all, in not readily perceiving the depth of that Undertaking; or knowing unto what Butt the Arrow of that Designe would be directed. 'Tis an old Adage, Sapiens debet incipere à fine: A wise Man should always take his beginning from the end of his Business; and then he may be sure to prosper.

Thus much for this remarkable Election, and Nativity also.

Captain

King Carolus Gustavus of Sweden, and others, that their publick and prodigious Ends were occasioned thereby: and the Reason why it fell not out so with this Native, is this; He hath no Testimonies of a violent Death in his Nativity, and they had. (He hath but two of Imprisonment and Restraine, but those are unhappy ones; viz. ν in \square \hbar , from fixed Signes: the \odot , who is Lux temporis, is posited in the Twelfth.) Besides, it may be termed as mischievous unto him, as if it had the same Effect with him, as them: for notwithstanding his being both Gentleman, Scholar and Soldier, and a Person fit for any honourable Undertaking; yet such hath been the cruelty and force of its grim Effects towards him, that to all intents and purposes hitherto, it hath prevented his rising to any Preferment.

If any desire to know the reason why Cromwel and this Native should be such prodigious Enemies to each other, (for without question had it been in this Natives power, he would not have favoured Cromwel, any more, then he befriended him) it proceeds from the Antipathy of their Genitures; for their Nativities are directly opposite to each other: δ in Cromwel's opposing (nearly) the Degree ascending in this, and \hbar in the Ascendent of it; and δ in this Nativity, upon the place of Cromwel's Moon; and Cauda in this, upon the place of his Sun. It is indeed such an Antipathy, that a greater can hardly be found.

Thus much for this Nativity.

there happened two Eclipses of the Luminaries, one of the Sun, and the other of the Moon; and both of them very great ones, and in the Moons Radical place. He lost his other, viz. his left Eye, about nine or ten years of Age: the Ascendent was then directed to the Pleiades, and nearly to the Body of δ .

When he was 13 years of Age, he had both Ague and Fever; and this violent: the Ascendent was then directed ad Corpus Saturni, both with

THis Native, many years before he died, was blind of both Eyes. He lost his right Eye at five years of Age: there was then no Direction operating; but in that year and without Latitude: a Direction in Signification most apposite for such Effects.

Being near 32 years of Age, he died, (the Disease I could not learn) but the Moon was then directed ad Oppositu Saturni cum Latitudine: he then had newly transited the place of the Sun in his Radix.

The Arguments of Blindness in this Nativity, are in general these: (1.) The Infortunes afflicting the Sun within Orbs. (2.) The Sun entering the Milky-way, and with violent fixed Stars; and the other Luminarie being in via Combusta. (3.) The Conjunction of h and s with the Pleiades in the Ascendent.

Argal says, — The Pleiades with the Moon in the Ascendent, denotes great Defects in the Eyes; & aliquando etiam sine Luna; they also signify the same (sometimes) without the Moons presence there, Prol. Parvus, Lib. 2. If at any time they have such Signification without the Moons being with them there, certainly it may well be then, when both the Infortunes are not only there, but there afflicting the Sun. It is such a Nativity, that I am not able to parallel with Example: I insert it, to the end it may be serviceable to others, that may occasionally meet with the like Nativity; as certainly the month June 1646. may afford many, and June and July 1676. may produce many more.

The Native was a great Precisian, and very violent in any Opinion that he espoused: that I conceive may be occasioned by the great Reception between v and h , Lord of the Ninth, and the Platique Trines of z , v and u : and the Conjunction of h and s in his Ascendent, being in Platick \square of u ; as also the Lord of the Ninth his Position in the Ascendent. These are Arguments that may well denote an Enthusiast, or an obdurate Person in every Opinion he shall take a liking unto.

Thus much for this Nativity.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d. m.
h 1 5	North.
u 0 41	North.
s 0 22	South.
q 2 40	North.
v 2 13	North.
v 3 50	South.

IN this Nativity, there are no less than five Planets essentially dignified; viz. h , u , s , q , and not one Planet (except u) in an ill House of Heaven; all of them direct in Motion: A Geniture more befitting a Prince, than a Merchant Merchant, or Trader, &c. and doth declare the Native to be eminently prosperous and successful in all his Undertakings, except at such times when ill Directions occur; and then he, as the greatest Potentates, must submit to the unkind strokes of Fate. Besides these happy Positions, we may further observe, (as an Augmentation to their good Significations) the Virgins Spike is upon the Cusp of the Medium Cali; the Sun and \odot are in Trine to the Ascendent: Which declare him to be of a generous Minde and Disposition, being answered with a convenient Resolution and Ambition; for to the Sun and \odot , their Trines to the Ascendent, do very aptly denote; as also \odot his Quartile to \uparrow , it happening from Cardinal Signes. \uparrow in Platick Trine of φ , Lord of the ninth House, and φ in Trine of \uparrow , Lord of the Second, should make his Profession not onely credible and delightful unto him, but gainful also. And so it doth, notwithstanding the Moon her Opposition to φ : for although that Aspect of it self be ill, yet φ , Lady of the Tenth, and Dispositrix of the Moon, collecting both their Lights by friendly Aspects, makes amends sufficiently for the ill Signification thereof.

This Native is also inclineable to the study of the Mathematicks; (as is aptly denoted from the Partile Trine of \uparrow and φ from earthly Signes) and in Astrologie (a principal Branch thereof) he is so well acquainted, that he both Calculated, and gave me this Scheme of his Nativity himself. Thus from general Observations, I proceed to some Particulars.

Anno aetatis 12. he was put an Apprentice first of all: he had then the Medium Cali directed ad Oppositionem Mercurii: but he tarried not full two years there. Thus we see Directions of the Hylechs to the Opposition of a Planet will have its Effects; but it will then be of a shorter and more troubled continuance, then unto the Trine or Sextile. Of this I could give many Instances.

Being aged about 19 years, and upward, the Native had an Ague, and some Detriment in point of Reputation, &c. He had then the Ascendent directed ad Corpus Saturni, cum Latitudine; which plainly portended the same: but at the same time the Ascendent was directed ad Δ φ , and not past the Sextile of φ , which greatly meliorated the Fury of that Direction; otherwise it could not but have been much more mischievous and cruel.

Being aged 23 years, he obtained his Freedom of the City of London: he had then operating \oplus ad \odot \uparrow ; \uparrow being then nearly come to his Radical place, the second time from his Birth.

At the present, the Moon ad Δ \uparrow is operating: it is a very admirable Direction, and cannot but have remarkable Effects.

In the years 34 and 37 of his Age, upon the Effects of M. C. ad Δ \uparrow , and \odot ad \ast \uparrow , the Effects of five Planets being essentially dignified in his Radix, may appear to purpose: their Significations must be good, and that in a great Degree; but the particular kinds thereof, I refer to time to discover. And

Thus much for this Nativity.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.	m.
♂	4	57
♂	1	44
♂	0	51
♂	0	53
♂	1	02
♂	0	65

Upon a sudden View of this Figure, no one would conceive it to be a Nativity portending much Wealth; yet before the Native was 32 years of Age, he was not less worth then 16000 l. which himself had increased by his Industry in Merchandizing, from less then 500 l. Stock, left him by his Friends; as I have often heard him to acknowledge: but upon a strict Examination, we shall finde not a few Arguments to declare increase of Riches. As, (1.) the Moon in Conjunction of ♀, Lady of the Second and Ninth, in the Second, (though in m) and in Sextile to ☉. (2) ♀, a Natural Significator of Riches, in Sextile to the second House, and in Quartile to the ☉. (3.) The ☉ and ♀ (who is Lord of the Tenth) friendly irradiating the ☉ and Ascendent; ♀ being in a strong Reception of ♂ in the ninth House. These were not onely Testimonies of the Natives obtaining great store of Wealth by Merchandizing, but of his gaining eminent Credit and Esteem thereby: which this Native also had.

Now, as this Native hath been made happy with Riches, he hath in other things been unfortunate. As in the 24 year of his Age, he was imprisoned a whole year together; for what, he would not tell me; but this I am sure, the M. C. was directed ad ☉ ♀, and the Ascendent to his Body, with and without Latitude: Directions most malicious, that would indeed have ruined him, both in Health and Honour, &c. had not M. C. been at the same time directed ad ♀, and the Ascendent ad ♀, which preserved him both ways. ♀ was at the same time transiting his Mid-heaven, which mightily aggravated the Mischiefe.

In the 21 year of his Age, he had a Violent and Pestilential Fever, of which he had like to have died: the ☉ was then directed ad ♂. — The Lord of the Ascendent in Conjunction of the Lord of the Twelfth, and Conbust too, is a great Argument of Imprisonment; as also ♂ in Opposition of ♀.

Thus much for this Nativity.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.	m.
4	57	South.
1	33	North
0	42	South.
0	24	North
1	0	South.
3	5	South.

This Mr. Hooper was (of a young Man) one of the greatest Merchants of his time, and got into the greatest Credit that way of any man, either of late or former years: and indeed his Nativity doth very plainly shew his Nescimus, or first Entrance upon the Theatre of the World, to be splendid and glorious; but his Katareson, or Exit, to be cruel, black and malicious: for here is π (an apt Signe for to Horoscopize at a Merchants Birth) ascending; and the benign Planet ϕ , Lady of the Tenth, fortifying the Horoscope, and in Sextile of π , (an Aspect not usual) who is Lord of the Ascendents, and posited on the Cusp of the eleventh House: besides, the tenth House is fortified by the presence of the Moons South Node; and ϕ , Governess thereof, is in Trine of δ , Lord of the Ninth. These, I say, are Arguments of a good beginning, and declare aptly the Natives Fame and Esteem he enjoyed in the first part of his years: but Now, (contrary to the received Rule, Bonum principium, bonum finis sequitur) behold the black and dismal Significations in the latter part of his years! viz. δ and η , both in the Occidental part of Heaven; the latter of them, exactly opposing the Cusp of his second House; the Moon going to an Opposition of π from dolorous places of the Figure; and Cauda Draconis in the fourth House.

To be brief, this Native, notwithstanding his great Fame, &c. and height of Living, (like a Comet or Blazing Star, when the master of which it consists, is exhausted) in the year 1639. had such crowds of Losses and Unhappineses attending him, that in stead of keeping up his former splendour, he submitted to a rigid Fate, and broke for threescore thousand pounds: he had now operating by Direction, Ad Oppositionem Veneris, Lady of the Mid-heaven, with and without Latitude; and Medium Caeli ad ☿ Saturni. In his Revolution that year, he had Jupiter in Opposition to the Mid-heaven of the Radix; δ upon the place of the \odot , and η upon the Moons place; and that not onely at the Revolution, but all that year, and longer: Directions and Transits most dangerous and unfortunate.

Anno 1643. February, he died, being 32 years of Age currant: he had now the Sun directed to the Opposition of the Moon with Latitude; and \odot directed ad ☐ Solis. — δ was at the same time in ψ his Exaltation, (and therefore the stronger to do Mischief) in exact Opposition of the Suns Radical place. Thus much for this Nativity.

Nascitur

112. 17.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.	m.
♂	4	41 North.
♀	0	30 North.
♂	1	15 North.
♂	0	49 South.
♀	1	50 North.
♀	1	5 North.

L Ibra herein, ascends the Horoscope; and ♀ the Governess thereof, in Conjunction of ♀, in the Fourth, and in ☐ of Mars and Jupiter in the Ascendent; would give the Native a strange Temperance, did not the Beams of the Luminaries so happily assist; the one being in Trine to the Lady of the Ascendent, the other in Sextile to the Ascendent it self. However, the Native is at sometimes very melancholy and serious, as I well know: and it is not amiss that he is so; otherwise ♂ in his Ascendent, in Quartile (and great Reception) of ♀ and ♀, would be of too rash and violent Signification.

As he hath ♀, the Patron of Ingenuity, in Sextile both of ♀, ♀ and the ☽: so he is inclinable to many commendable things, in which the Brain is chiefly exercised; as Musick, and some parts of the Mathematicks: in which he hath attained a very handsome degree, or measure of Knowledge; and this without the Assistance of any Tutor, as I often have heard him say. It may pass for an Aphorism in Astrologie, — "That he who hath ♀ in the House of ♂, in good Aspect of the Moon, and the Lord of the Ascendent, cannot but be very ingenious; and will naturally be inclined to the study of serious things, viz. such as are beyond the Conception and reach of common Understandings: chiefly, if he be not Combust, and be posited under the Earth, as in this Nativity.

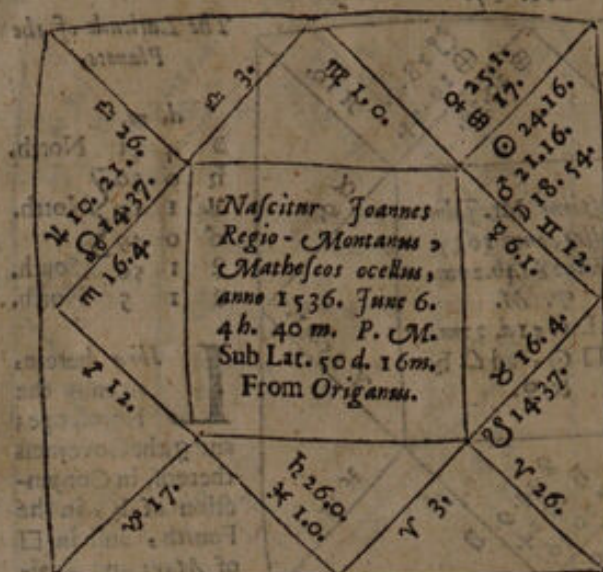

When this Native was four years and half old, he had the Small Pox, and that very much: the Ascendent was directed ad ♂ in ♉, an Aereal Sign; perhaps one reason of his violence, and leaving so unhappy and lasting an impression behind him.

Being aged 12 years, he had an Ague continued 18 months upon him: the Ascendent was directed then ad ☐ ♀, and both Significator and Promotor in the great Dignities of ♀.

Many other Arguments of the force of Directions I could instance in; but my inserting this Nativity, is not so much for that, as to inform after-Ages, — That had this Native, in the stead of being brought up to Merchandize, been bred a Scholar, he might in his Age, have proved Nulli Secundus. And by this Example, I do also advise such Parents, who shall have Children born under such Positions, to train and breed them up according to their natural Inclinations: which vis & modis, (as this Native) they will endeavour after, let them be put or placed to what Profession soever.

Thus much for this Nativity.

Nascitur

This is the Nativity of that excellent Mathematician and Astrologer, Regio-Montanus, (as Origanus hath it, fol. 724. de Effectibus) who framed those excellent Tables of Directions, for all manner of Latitudes: before which time, Astrologers were at such a loss, that they could not direct one Nativity then, in that space as now they may do ten.

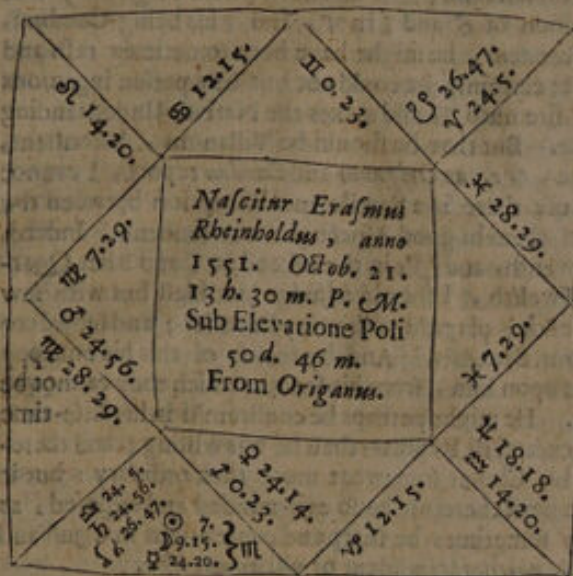

To denote his Ingenuity and Excellencie in those Studies, he hath ♄ in ♐, and the Lord of his Ascendent also, together with both the Luminaries: nor is the Ascendent it self, (it being the House of ☿) to be noted for other then an Argument of Ingenuity likewise, it being befriended by Caput Draconis his presence there.

Origanus brings in this learned Natives Geniture, as an Example of a violent Death; which it is most true, he unhappily suffered: he urges the Rule first, and then compares it with his Nativity, thus:—Dominus Horoscopi in Octava natura maleficus & damnatus, vel alter utrum Luminare affligens, morte violenta periculum natum significat, &c. As in the Figure of Regio-Montanus, Qui à Pontifice Sexto accersitus Romam, dum liberibus versionem Trapezontii iuratus eorum ☿, Ptol. taxaret, à Trapezontii filiis veneno propinato sublatu est.—Habuit enim Mariem natura maleficum dominum Horoscopi una cum Luminaribus in 8. domo, qua & ipsa à Saturno ex quarta ☐ radio affliguntur. He might have added also, They had all been posited near, or with, violent fixed Stars; as those of Orion, Auriga, and the Bull: as may easily be seen by Harigil's Tables of the fixed Stars.

For the time of his Death, we may relie upon the Authority of Rantzovius, who in his Collection of the Names of such as died in their sixth Hebdomatical year, saith,—Johannes Regio-Montanus, Mathematicus Roma, Obiit ætatis 41. Ergo periit annum ægens 42. At that time the Ascendent was nearly directed to the Opposition of the Moon with Latitude; the cruel Planet ♄ having but newly passed the Opposition of the Sun, Moon and Mars.

Thus much for this Nativity.

Nascitur

This is the Nativity of that famous Person, Erasmus Reinholdus, the Author and Publisher of the Prutenick Tables; who (considering the rawness of Astronomy in his days) made to near a Compendium of that Art, that hardly any (then) were able to equal; much less to amend; and the world (at least so much thereof as understands Gratitude) must remain Debtor to his worthy pains.

That he should be a Person curious and inquisitive after Astronomical Truths, is obvious from \uparrow ascending in his Nativity, and \downarrow Lord thereof, being not only in \uparrow the House of \uparrow , but in \uparrow and Reception of \uparrow also: which Configurations, gave Origanus occasion to stile him both Ingenious and Noble, (as without doubt he was;) and, to parallel his Geniture with that of the most Learned Joachim Camerarius. Vide Orig. de Effectib. fol. 598.

The learned Rantzenius, fol. 179. tells us, he lived 42 years, and then died: his words are these: Erasmus Reinholdus, qui tabulas Prutenicas edidit, & Mathematicus excellens fuit, obiit Salveldia in patria 19. Feb. anno aetatis 42.— Let this suffice for a Remembrance of this worthy Person; and for a fit and proper Example of a Nativity of an ingenious Scholar and Artist.

This Nativity I finde Origanus hath borrowed from Cardan; it being the second Example of his hundred Genitures. Origanus brings it in, to verifie an Aphorism relating to the Manners and Dispositions of Men; which Rule is this:—
Quando nullus Planeta in Horoscopo aut signo intercepto versatur, videndum est num Luna & Mercurio aliquis Planetarum jungatur, & secundum naturam naturam ejus Mores nati dijudicentur.—I do allow (with Origanns) that by reason of the Conjunction of δ and η in γ , and η his being Combust, and ζ its being in his Ascendent, he might have been sometimes rash and cross-natured enough; yet certainly he could not but be a person ingenious and learned: for δ adds fire unto η , and makes the Natives Understanding the more sharp and active. But that he should be Villanous, Inconstant, Fraudulent, Quarrellsome, &c. as Origanns and Cardan report, I cannot altogether believe; because there is a Sextile and Reception between the Moon and η , and both of them in good Aspect of the Ascendent. Indeed, by η 's presence in the Eleventh, and ζ 's in the Ascendent; and ν her Quartile to μ , Lord of the Twelfth, I should adjudge him blest but with few (except treacherous) Friends; plagu'd with many Enemies; and subject to many, and most notorious Scandals. And by reason of this his unhappy Fate, he hath a fault laid upon him, from his Scars, which they cannot be wholly compell'd to own. He might perhaps be constrain'd in his Life-time to cope with more Enemies, and ill Reports, then he was willing; and thereby have occasion to vent his Choler somewhat more then ordinary: but it doth not follow, that he must therefore be so evil-minded and disposed, as reported; for a Man may sometimes be sharp and contentious in a just and honourable Cause, and yet neither fraudulent or villanous, &c.

That he was both a Scholar and Artist, let his Commentarie upon Ptolemy's Centiloquium testify: it is printed in Octavo by it self, and also at the latter end of Guido Bonatus his Treatise of Astronomy.

Rantkovius saith, fol. 192.—Georgius Trapezuntius, qui in senecta omnium literarum oblitus dicitur, moritur Roma, 90. Which was in his Enneatical year, of Ten times Nine. He had then the Ascendent (with a small Remove) directed ad Oppositum Saturni.

different Signes) with that of the learned Rheinholdus, whose Nativty, for that very Significations sake, I have published from Origanns. He was indeed deed one of the best Astrologers that lived in his time, and most industrious and laborious in the Science he practised. I have seen of his own hand writing, a Collection of four hundred Figures, erected upon especial Occasions, with Judgements Astrological thereon, by himself most admirably performed: by him it was intended for the Press; but nescio quo fatis, it was prevented, as well to the prejudice of the worthy Author, as to Posterity; who thereby might have been made happy with many choice Presidents in the practice part of this Study: which now they most unhappily are deprived of.

Divers Accidents there are by which this worthy Persons Nativity was viciated; but I shall select only two or three of them: viz. at hoo an bus Anno etatis 44. he was afflicted with a Buthing Pestilential Fever: he had then by Direction, the ☉ ad corpus Martis.

Anno etatis 75. he died: the Ascendent (which is Hylech in his Nativity) was then directed ad corpus Martis. That he should be of great years, is plainly seen from the Ascendent its being no way viciated; and h, the Lord thereof, (who is Alchocoden, or Giver of years) is strong in z his own greatest Dignities.

He was necessitated to many Troubles and Unhappineses in his Life-time, chiefly in our late times of Confusion; when for his Loyalty to his Sovereign, he was Plundered of all he had, and compelled to flee to Oxford for Refuge: he had then (it being the 64 year of his Age) the Medium Cali directed ad Quartilum Jovis, and was not quite free from the Effects of the Mid-heaven to the Body of h. But the general Cause thereof, was, the Sun in Quartile of h, and in Opposition of ♄; one being Lord of the Tenth, the other of the Ascendent in his Nativity.

In his Revolution for the year he died, viz. 1654. he had h Stationary upon the Opposition of his Ascendent, and the Sun going to his Quartile.

Thus much for this Nativity.

The Latitude of the Planets.

	d.	m.
☉	1	48	South.
☽	0	21	} North.
♄	1	13
☽	0	42	} South.
♀	0	53
♂	1	12

This is the Nativity of Mr Edward Gresham, a most ingenious Person and good Artist, as the several Almanacks he wrote, sufficiently testify; as also by an ingenious and learned Discourse upon a Conjunction of h and ♄, which in Platick Trine of η , they will conceive there is reason enough Astrologically for the same.

Being aged 31 years, anno Christi 1646. October, he died of the Plague: the Sun was then directed ad δ , cum & sine Latitudine; and the Ascendent ad \square η , in Cancro; a Signe representing the most Vital Parts of a Man.

η in γ Retrograde, and he Lord of the Eighth, and the Moon in γ , near violent fixed Stars, in Quartile of the Sun and γ , &c. might very rationally portend the kind of Death by which this Native expired.

Thus much for this Nativity.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.	m.
♂	4	55
♂	2	59
♂	1	35
♂	0	8
♂	1	42
♂	0	1
		North.
		South.
		North.
		South.

This is the Nativity of my good Friend, Mr. John Booker, who hath near 40 years wrote Almanacks in this Nation; and it is a Radix apt and significant enough for to make a very good Art-tist; which all Astrologers must acknowledge him to be. (1.) Here is π , or the Coelestial Twins, Horoscoping; an Ascendent that seldom fails of making him an Artist Naturally, that draws his breath under it. (2.) γ , Lord thereof, is in γ , the House of δ , nearly in Conjunction of the Sun, Moon and δ , and three of them in Sextile to the Ascendent. Although the Figure be not the same, yet these Positions have nearly the same Signification, as those in the Geniture of the learned Trapezantius; and to my knowledge, give this Native a competent share of Choler; which indeed makes his Fancie, and the rest of his Intellectual Faculties, the more active and industrious.

The Figure is as himself did it; onely the Latitudes of the Planets I have taken from the Ephemerides of David Origanus; whom I perceive this Native hath not followed in their Longitudes; nor yet Stadius, or any other old Ephemeridist-Master, as I can finde. I believe therefore he hath Calculated them de novo; and it being for himself, I presume he would be so much the more curious. I could verifie this his Geniture by Accidents; but his particular Fate being of no eminent concernment to any but himself, I shall forbear. I onely desire to let Posterity know, (by my publishing this Nativity) that there was once such a Champion for Astrologie, as Mr. John Booker.

viz. ☉, ♀, and ☿; two of them in their Exaltations, and two in their own Houses.

Which Testimonies are of admirable Signification and Tendencie; and do not barely procure Credit and Fame unto this Native, but that which is the natural and proper Support thereof, viz. a competent Fortune and Estate. And to denote that the more eminent and durable, the Sun casts an amicable Aspect to ☉, and the Moon and ♀ the same to the Cusp of the second House. This Native hath acknowledged unto me, that God hath blessed him with a moderate Fortune; and hath made his Studies and Endeavours happy unto him that way.

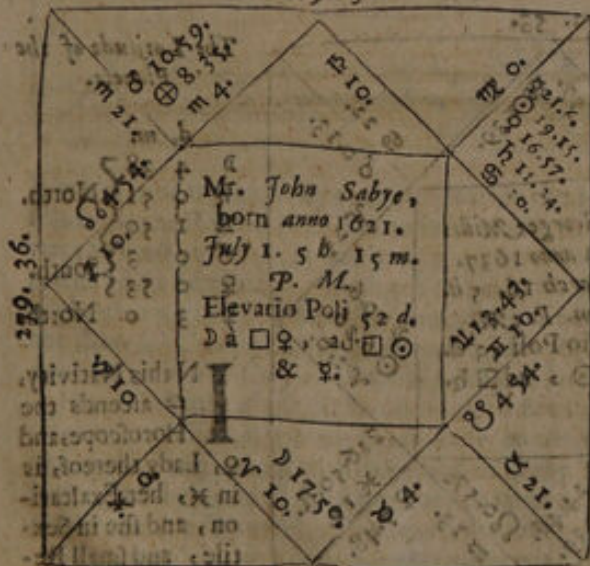

All the Angles of the Nativity are possessed by Cardinal Signes; and in that respect his Geniture is equal to that famous Physician's, Sir Theodore Mayer; who for Skill, and happy Success in his Profession, was esteemed the Wonder of his time: and there was reason sufficient for the same: for all the eminent and famous Actions of the VWorld, depend upon the Equinoctial and Solstitial Signes; as all Astrologers consent: if so, then certainly that Person that shall have them all upon the chief places of the Figure of his Nativity, must (naturally, and of consequence) perform some more then ordinary Action in his Generation. But this quoad, as the Native shall either be Scholar, Soldier or Artist.

VWhen this Native began first of all to write publickly, viz. in the twenty second year of his Age; he had the Sun directed ad Sextilium Veneris, Lady of his Horoscope, and this in ☿, her great Dignities: an eminent Argument of the happy (and deserved) Entertainments his VVritings have met with in the VWorld.

Many more things might be observed in the Figure, and in the Effects of Directions happening therefrom; but my Designe is onely to be an Observer in Generals, and therefore I shall forbear all further Disquisition.

189. 36.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.	m.
☿	3	51 North.
♀	1	07 South.
♂	0	53 North.
☿	1	13 North.
♀	0	33 North.
♂	1	35 North.

THis Mr. Sabye was very well versed in Astrologie, and understood some other parts of the Mathematicks competently well. And here seems to be very good Signification thereof in his Nativity, there being (1.) a great Reception between ♀, Lord of the Ascendent, and ☿; the Natural Significator of of Arts. (2.) A Trine of δ and η , which gave him not onely a Mathematicall, but a Logical Brain; still aiming at the substance of things, and slighting shadows. I remember very well how serious he was, when he first began to study Astrologie, (it being my good fortune to read to him therein) he would admit of things very slowly, (which I conceive was occasioned by the Moon her Quartile to η and δ) but when once he had thorow satisfaction therein, he never forgot them: his Memory was so good, and his Delight was so great in the Art he studied, that in three moneths time he was able to defend a Thesis in Astrologie, against most Rational Opposers. (3.) The Moon in Sextile of \mathcal{U} , Lord of the Ascendent, from the Dignities of δ and η , is another eminent Testimony of an ingenious and active Understanding: Nor is the Reception of the two Luminaries, less then an eminent additional Testimony unto the rest, notwithstanding their being in Quartile from Cardinal Signes.

He died in the year 1656. about Michaelmas, of a Surfeit and Dropfie, having some two years before had the Dropfie hanging on him: the Ascendent was then directed ad δ η , cum δ sine Latitudine.

	deg. min.		deg. min.
Asc. Obliq. δ η cum Lat.	313.27.	Asc. Obliq. δ η S. Lat.	315.19.
Ascendensis	279.36.	Ascendensis	279.36.
Directio quasita	33.51.	Directio quasita	35.43.

Four Planets in the eighth House, in a VVatry Signe, might well denote the Native to die of a Dropfie: \mathcal{D} , Lady of the Eighth, in \square of them from γ , the House of δ , and δ himself in Aspect unto them all likewise, might portend a Surfeit to accompany it. Thus much for this Nativity.

in Sextile of h , who calls a Trine to u , the Dispositor of z . All which are Arguments of an ingenious Inclination and Fancie; which this Native is conveniently possessed of: for his Acumen is such, that to my knowledge, in less then ten weeks time, he conquered the whole Genethliacal part of Astrologie, both Calculatory and Judiciary. The Affliction of z doth aptly denote him slow of Speech; and so he is.

In this Nativity, all Directions hie ad unguem. For when he was six years and a half old, he had the Small Pox; and that to purpose: he had then the Ascendent directed ad p \odot . Both the Luminaries, you see, are in Opposition to the Ascendent from v , the Dignities of z ; and that is the reason the Directions unto their Bodies or Aspects, are the more violent.

At 11 years of Age, he was brought near Death by the small Worms: the Ascendent was then directed ad p v , sine Latitudine.

Being aged 21 years, he had both Surfeit, Fever and Ague; which, because no Direction happens then, must be occasioned by the Revolution that year, and the cruel Planet h his passing over the opposite places of the Luminaries in the Radix.

IN this Revolution, the Moon is in v her fall, in Quartile to her own, and the Sun's Radical place, and in Quartile of h , who afflicts the Ascendent in the Figure. The Sun is in the sixth House, and h and he both applying to an Opposition, one by Retrogradation, the other by Direction: a more unhappy Revolution, reasonably cannot come, and the Native escape without danger of his Life. It is also observable, that h was Stationary upon the opposite place of the Moon in the Radix, in June following the Revolution; and just about that time of the year his Sickness was the most violent. h had been upon his Ascendent, and the opposite places of his Luminaries, most part of the latter part of the last year, which might give a minute or small beginning to his unhappy Effects; but could not shew his Cruelty till this unfortunate Revolution began: Besides, Cardan tells us, — Corpora Coelestia, non agunt in instanti, sed cum tempore.

Hence I should advise all Students in this Art, before they adventure upon the Correction of a Nativity, seriously to consider the force of Revolutions, as they may concur with dangerous or happy Transits: for many Errors in the Judiciary part of this Art, are committed through the neglect of a proper and due Correction, before a proceeding to Calculation.

Anno aetatis 24. this Native highly contends with his Friends; wastes and looses part of his Estate, and somewhat of Office and Preferment; in all things he was unhappy: he had now Medium Caeli directed ad p h , cum \odot sine Latitudine, and a very ill Revolution: and had he not had the Ascendent directed ad Spicam Virginis immediately upon it, I do not see how (without a more then ordinary Providence of God) he could have escaped Ruine. But that Direction, as soon as he had lost one Preterment, gave him another; as himself hath acknowledged to me.

This Native being a lusty, portly and tall Man, puts me in minde of an Aphorism I long since read in Ptolomy's Centiloqui, viz. The Lords of tall or great Mens Genitures, are in their Sublimities or Exaltations, and their Horoscopes in the beginnings of Signes, &c. Which in this Nativity is most admirably verified; the Ascendent being in the beginning of π , and φ , Lady thereof, in κ her Exaltation.

Thus much for this Nativity.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.	m.
5	17	South.
0	50	North.
1	20	South.
0	33	North.
0	56	South.
2	39	North.

Here we have the ascending the Horoscope, and φ , Lady thereof, in δ , in Sextile of φ , and (almost) in Trine of η ; the Moon is in Sextile of η from π , the House of φ ; and φ , Governess of the Ascendent, is in Trine of δ . All which are Arguments of a good Understanding, sharp Judgement, and a quick Fancie: yet φ being in κ , doth much hinder his Elocution; chiefly by being in Opposition of η .

This Native is a Student in the Mathematicks, and hath published many excellent Pieces therein; which declare his Judgement and Fancie to be sharp and active enough: for you must know, it is impossible for any Man, without an excellent Understanding, to be a good Mathematician; the Study is so large and various.

That his Elocution is but indifferent, (although the matter of which he speaks be always substantial) I know to be true, the Native being my Friend and Country-man: and it is no wonder at all; (neither is it a disgrace or shame, for him, or any Man, to wear the Livery of the Heavens!) for it is not onely where η in κ is afflicted of η , but where he is beheld of him: as it happened in the very last Geniture.

This Native when he was near 21 years of Age, he had like to have died of a Calenture: the Moon was then directed ad S. Martis, cum \odot sine Latitudine.

When

Anno ætatis 4. he had a Fever which had nearly kill'd him: this was occasioned by the Suns being directed ad ☐ Luna.

Anno ætatis 24. he had another violent Fever and Ague: the Ascendent was then directed ad Quadratum Saturni.

Anno ætatis 25. he was married: the Sun was then directed ad Sextilium Luna. All which Directions were seconded and made stronger by Revolutions and Transits; which any that pleases to take the Pains, may readily finde, by consulting the Ephemerides of those years in which they happened.

Thus much for this Nativity.

he tells his Reader (in Epistle thereunto) that he had the Moon in Pisces, which makes him a piece of a good Fellow, &c. which (if true) he must be born the fifth or sixth of May 1602. (2.) In his Introduction under his Effigies, he saith he was born on May 1. 1602. and then the Moon will not be in ♋, but in ♎, as in this Figure. I am of Opinion, he hath not the Moon in ♋, but in ♎; and therefore believe this to be his right Nativity: the rather, because my loving Friend Mr. James Blackwel, hath proved it so to be, by 13 several Arguments or Accidents; printed a year and half since by it self. In which little Tract, the ingenious Artist may meet with a concise Method for the Calculating and judging a Nativity; and unto which, I refer the desirous Reader for further satisfaction in his Geniture. The reason why I am no larger herein, is, Because I would not be esteemed either Envious or Partial.

Nascitur

centent; he is also in exact Sextile of the Moon: all which denote him a Person ingenious, apt and inclineable to the Study of many commendable Arts, and to learn any thing (almost) without a Tutor. I can aver on my own knowledge, that this Native is a singular good Artist in Astrologie; a Demonstration of which, he hath given the World in his Calculating and judging the Nativity of Mr. W. L. so accurately and sharply performed, that a Student of double his standing, could not have done it better. I know also that he understands Physick and Chirurgery competently well, and therein hath good success; and that seems to be well denoted by the Moon her Trine to Mars, there being a small Reception between them, and Mercury his Sextile unto them both. He understands Musick moderately well: nor is he a stranger to Tachigraphy, or Short-writing. Thus we see his Inclination is exactly pre-signified by the Positions of the Planets at his Birth.

Here are no less then five Planets in laudable Reception, viz. H, U, S, Q, R; and the Moon (in some respects) may admit of such Dignities: and accordingly this Native is beloved and respected by all sorts of Persons. I do not know above one that bears him any ill will; and that is for his Zeal in maintaining the Honour of Astrologie: but there is an Antipathy in their Genitures. In that envious Person's, Saturn is upon the opposite place of the Lord of the Ascendent and the Sun in this; Mars in this, upon the opposite place of the Moon in that, and Saturn in Loco Fovis: the Figures themselves are in Quartile; and the Ascendent of this, is the place of Cauda Draconis in that. An Antipathy as great (almost) as that between Captain Bray's and Cromwell's.

This may be noted as an Aphorism in Astrologie, That he who hath many Planets in Reception in his Geniture, shall be beloved and respected of many sorts or kinds of Men: and in cases of necessity, shall meet with Friendship or Assistance from those he least of all expects it. The truth hereof, this Native hath often verified.

When this Native was near ten years of Age, he had the Small Pox, but not very much: the Ascendent was then directed ad Quadratum

Ccc

Luna.

Luna. Quere, Whether the Moon in a Watry Signe, in Aspect and Reception of \odot upon Directions to her Body, or ill Aspects, doth not always signifie such Diseases?

Being aged 24 years, the Ascendent was directed ad Quadratum Saturni: he was then so dangerously afflicted with a Fever and Cold, that thereof he had like to have died.

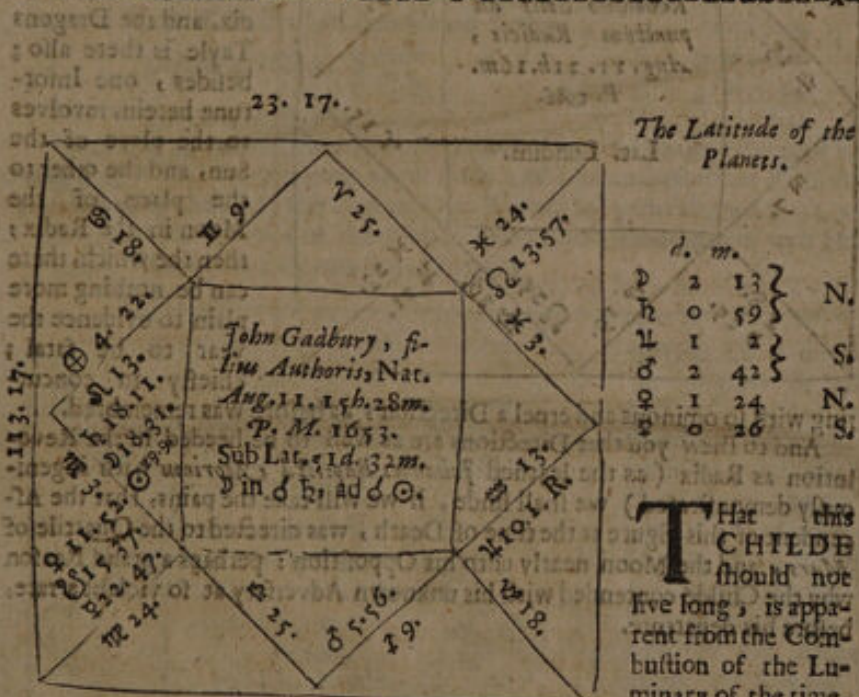

Thus much for this Nativity.

the World I am none of that number, I have not onely here, but in my Doctrine of Nativities at large, published my Geniture. Were there danger in so doing, as some pretend, I am sure I should speed none of the best; I having as many Enemies (for my time) as any Man living; and some of them Astrologically inclin'd. But Reason teaches, not onely me, but all Men, to deie such Augury. For a Mans Fate must be either certain, or not certain: if it be certain, (as there is no doubt it is) the obscuring of his Nativity, neither addeth nor abstracteth therefrom; if it be not certain, the knowledge thereof hurteth none. My Enemies can rejoyce at my Misfortunes at any time, without their knowledge of my Nativity, or any bad Directions therein; and by their knowledge thereof, more then that they can not do. Those Persons that are the most opposite hereunto, cannot by their nescience prevent the Effects of a bad Direction in their own Nativities; nor make a good one of greater force, then naturally it is; nor yet can their Understanding, when another hath a bad Direction, give them an Opportunity to heighten its Effects upon him. So then we see the timorous Man, (who is like a Coward that winks when he fights) cannot make better or prevent his own Fate by non-knowledge; nor the envious Man, encrease the Unhappiness of anothers, although he foolishly perswade himself he can, by being being acquainted therewith. We are govern'd by a Power (saith one) that we cannot but obey; and our Minds are wrought against our Minds, to alter us. If my Adversary arm himself to do me an Injury, he cannot put his Resolution into act; but by Divine Permission: and if my Friend designe a Kindness to me, he must wait for a Post-motion of his Mind, and thence receive a time to friend me with it. It is not in our Power (in all respects) to do what we will; either for a Friend, or against an Enemy. There is a kinde of Mundane Predetermination, that Men are generally ignorant of; it being writ in such Characters that very few can read. Let this therefore suffice, that GOD in his Providence hath so ordered our happy and inauspicious Fates, that it is not in the power of a Friend to assist, or an Enemy to hurt us; but as the grand Guider of our Fates, [GOD] shall please to direct. No Man therefore need be afraid or ashamed of having his Nativity known.

Here follow the Nativities of several Children of short Life, and of Twins, &c.

junction with that Enemy to Nature, the cruel Planet Saturn; and this in Leo, the principal part of the Zodiack that represents the Heart and Vital Spirits. He lived onely one year and forty three days; which ended on September the 23. 1654. and then expired of violent Convulsion-Fits, which held him near a Fortnight together: most miraculous in a Childe to behold. He was first taken with a Deep Melancholy somewhat near six weeks before he died; attended with an Ague, having Fits both Hot and Cold. At that time Saturn was upon the place of the Sun, and Mars upon the place of the Moon in the Radix. Physical Means was used for his Recovery or Ease; but neither could be effected: indeed his Fate was too strong to admit of any Competitor; for he had not only the Radical Infortunacies as I have related, but at the time of his Death, the Moon was directed to the Body of Saturn; as here appears:
on

	deg. min.
Oblique Ascension of \hbar .	118. 52.
Oblique Ascension of \mathcal{D}	117. 51.
Ark of Direction	1. 1.

IN this Revolutional Figure, the Sun (who is Lord of the Ascendent at Birth) is besieged by the Infortunes near the Ascendent of the Ra-dix, and the Dragons Tayle is there also;
besides, one Infor-tune herein, revolves to the place of the Sun, and the other to the place of the Moon in the Radix;
then the which, there can be nothing more plain to evidence the year to be fatal;
chiefly in concurring with so ominous and cruel a Direction, as before was remembred.

And to shew you that Directions are as well to be heeded in the Revolution as Radix (as the learned Johannes Baptista Morinus hath ingeniously demonstrated) we shall finde, if we will take the pains, that the Ascendent of this Figure at the time of Death, was directed to the Quartile of Mars, and the Moon nearly unto his Opposition: perhaps a grand Reason why the Childe contended with his unknown Adversary at so violent a rate, before his departure.

Benjamin

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.	m.
♄	2 30	South.
♂	1 55	North.
♂	1 11	South.
♂	2 24	South.
♂	1 10	North.
♂	3 25	South.

IN this Nativity, you also see the Light of the time is afflicted, and that by ♄, Lord of the Sixth in the Figure; which is an Argument of short Life; and this Native died at a year and 108 days old, viz. on August 29. 1656. at which time the Sun was directed ad Quadratum Saturni.

Descensio Obliqua { Solis
 ☐ ♄.

deg. min.

62. 20.

63. 44.

1. 24.

Arcus Directionis

He died of an intermitting Fever or Ague, a hot and violent Humour having first of all broke out over all his Body: which I conceive was Radically occasioned by the ☐ Aspect of ♄ and ♀ to ♄; for that generally denotes Corruption and Putrefaction of the Blood, and a super-abundance of evil Humours. Behold the Revolutionary Figure!

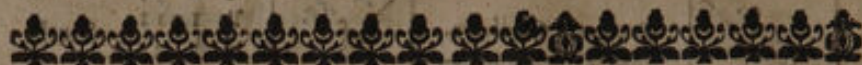

THE Lord of the Eighth in the Radix, is Lord of the Ascendant in the Revolution, and posited in the Eighth thereof; and ♄, Lord of the Eighth, is in Conjunction of the Moon, and both in exact Opposition to the Ascendant: the Sun and ♄ are in Quartile; as in the Radix: all which are Arguments of a Revolution dangerous, as concommencing so dangerous a Direction: and which is more, (and I suppose an Argument to persuade Artists the better to minde and consider Revolutions)

D d d

volutions) at the time this Childe died, the Moon in the Revolution was directed to the Body of η , and this upon the very Cusp of the Radical Ascendent.

On the day he died, viz. August 29. the Moon was in Quartile of δ . Lord of the Eighth of the Radix, and Ascendent in the Revolution; δ then being upon the Degree of the Horoscope of the Nativity, and place where the Revolutionary Direction happened.

thence going to an δ of η , Lord of the fourth House. (2.) Cauda Draconis vitiating the Degree of the Horoscope. (3.) The \odot his being corporally afflicted by the presence of δ , and then suddenly applying to the δ of η in the fourth House.

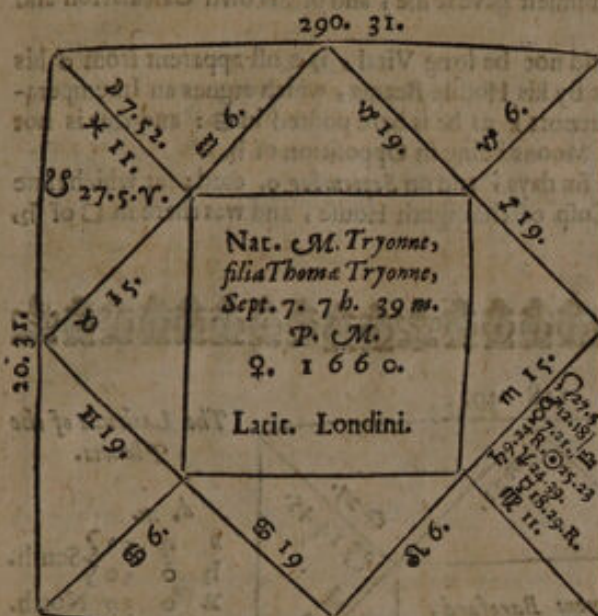

On April 12. 1657. this Native sickned of the Small Pox, δ then being in δ to her Radical place, and in δ of δ . Of the same Disease she died, on the Sunday following, viz. April 19. at which time δ came exactly to the Radical place of the Moon.

The Ascendent was then directed ad δ precisely, and that in a dangerous Saturnine Constellation; as may be seen by my Reduction of Hartgil's Tables of the fixed Stars.

Ascensio Obliqua	deg. min.
Ascensio Obliqua Ascendentis	74. 59.
Directio quæsitæ	74. 11.
	48.

The δ at the same time was directed ad δ η , Lord of the Fourth; η being posited in a fiery Sign. I know is not usual for such Directions to kill; but where there is short Life denoted in any Geniture, (especially so short as this) the weaker Directions will serve to cut Life asunder. This I can aver, the Nativity is so true, that truer cannot be procured; for my self took it precisely by a Minute-Watch, to the time mentioned: the reason of which my Curiosity was as well to satisfy my Sister, (whose Daughter this was) as to confirm my self in the truth of Nativities: and it is not unknown to divers, that I predicted the time of the Death of this Infant as soon as it was born.

Nat.

The Latitude of the Planets.

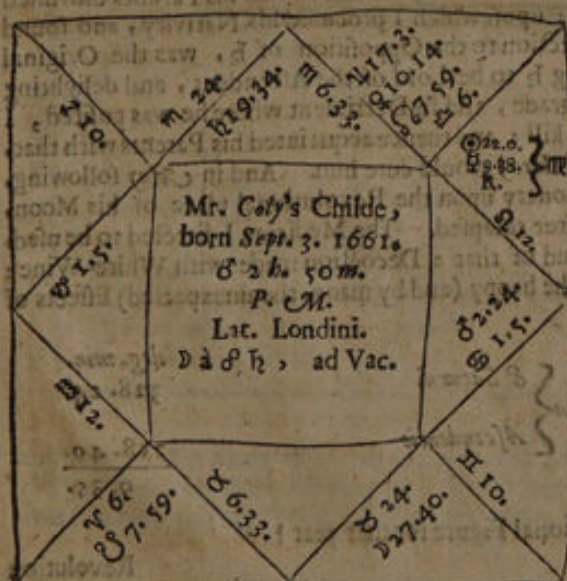

d.	m.
3	56	N.
2	10
1	7
0	30	S.
8	34
3	50

This is another Geniture of short Life; for η here by his δ , (his Latitude considered) vitiates the Horoscope ad Gradum, which is ever found to be fatal, if there be nothing in the Figure that proves adjuvant to Life, (as herein is not.) The Childe was not long born, before her Father asked my Opinion of the Figure: I told him that I adjudged her short-lived; and accordingly it fell out more certain then her Parents could have wished: for on Jan. 2. following, (having not accomplished more then 117 days, she was stricken with very strange Convulsion-fits, of which) she died. The Ascendent was under the δ of η by Direction with Latitude; and this Direction happened in δ , a Signe proper to the Distemper that cut off Life.

Ascensio Obliqua Horoscopi
Ascensio Obliqua δ Saturni
Arcus Directionis

deg. min.
20. 31.
10. 47.
0. 16.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d.	m.
4	3	S.
2	0
1	8
0	5	N.
0	59
0	8

This Nativity was taken very carefully by Mr. Coly himself, who is a curious Searcher into the truth of Nativities; and the Figure gure I here insert, is as himself gave it me, and of his own Calculation and Correction.

That this Childe should not be long Vital, is most apparent from \odot his obviating the Ascendent by his Hostile Beams, which argues an Intemperature beyond Natures support, as he is here posited in \odot : and this is not meanly seconded by the Moons being in Opposition of h .

The Childe lived but six days, and on September 9. died: at which time the Moon came to the Cusp of the eighth House, and was there in \square of h , Lord of the Ascendent.

Herein you may take notice, that h is in Opposition of the Ascendent, and the Moon also, as in the Radix, though not from the same Signes: an Argument of the Harmony and Agreement between the Radix and Revolution. And indeed I generally observe, when Directions of Sanity and Prosperity happen, the Revolutions to be auspicious; and when unfortunate Directions touch, the Revolutions are according. Hence we may conclude, there is no more interfering in the Influences of the Heavens and Stars, then in their Motions; but every thing is so curiously concatenated and linked together, that they sound forth the Majesty of their MAKER; who in his Wisdom hath set Stops and Limits to the Life, Actions and Accidents of all Mankind.

The Latitude of the Planets.

	d.	m.	S.
D	3	52	S.
h	0	56	N.
v	0	36	S.
z	0	22	N.
q	1	33	S.
f	1	12	S.

Here h , Lord of the Ascendent, is in the Seventh, in his Detriment, in Opposition to two of the three chief Hy-legs, viz. the Moon and Ascendent; and in Quintile to the third, viz. the Sun: all which are apparent Arguments of short Life, by the Judgements of all Astrologers. In the sixth year of Age, this Child was stricken with the Palsie, and a deep Melancholy attended it; which so perplexed

E e e

perplexed her, that (although she was naturally a very lively-spirited and most pleasant Childe) it quite stupified her; insomuch that she cared not at all to speak or be spoken unto: of which Distempers she waited until she came to nothing, and died on April the 13. 1659. being then six years old compleat, and three days over. The Ascendent was then directed to the Opposition of η , cum Latitudine.

Ascensio Obliqua δ η

deg min.

Ascensio Obliqua Horoscopi

335.48.

329.41.

Arcus Directiois

6. 7.

The Moon at the same time was directed ad Quadratum Veneris, and she Lady of the House of Death in the Figure. It is observable, that in the beginning of March, when this Childe was first taken ill, there was an Opposition of \mathcal{U} and δ from the First and Seventh Houses of her Nativity, and therein from the Degrees of η and the Moon, and in exact Quartile of her Sun.

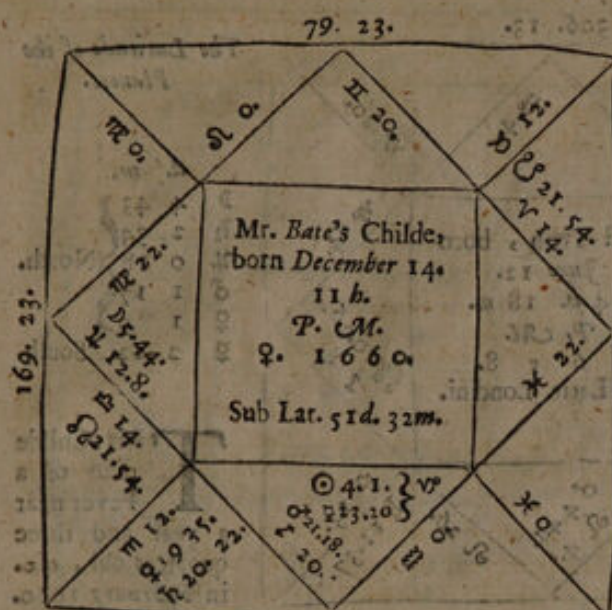

This Native sickning to death a moneth before her fifth Revolution was expired, and dying within three days of its expiration, I hold it proper to consult the Revolution for the fifth year compleat, and sixth year current of her Age, as the only Revolution to be considered for her year of Death; and that is represented by the following Figure.

IN this Scheme, η , which was Lord of Life in the Radix, is here Lord of Death, and in exact Opposition of \mathcal{U} , Lord of the Ascendent; the fourth House of the Radix ascending, and δ and the Dragons Tayle therein, and the Moon in δ thereunto: all arguing a most dangerous and sickly year. And at the time she sickned, the Moon was directed to the Body of η , upon the Cusp of the sixth House in this Revolution. And on the day she died, the Moon was in Quartile of δ , who here vitiates the Horoscope, and δ at the same time squared the Ascendent maliciously.

Mr.

about 14 weeks after this Childe was born, I found the Mother of the Childe weeping for her Childes Distemper; which at that time so cruelly tortured it, that she would not be persuaded that the Childe could live. Mr. Collings asked my Opinion thereof: I enquired concerning the Birth of the Childe, and the time which in written was given: which when I had a little considered, I bade the Mother be of good comfort, for that the Distemper of the Childe was nigh at the worst, and that she needed not to fear but that it would live; and about the beginning or middle of May, would be fully recovered. Still the Mother would be no way persuaded but that her Childe would die, and not live to be Coated: (those were her very words.) But behold! about the time I mentioned, the benign Planer Υ was Stationary upon the place of the Moon in the Figure, and φ in Trine to the Ascendant; and the Childe, beyond its Mothers expectation then, recovered. The occasion of its Sicknes, was δ his vitiating the Ascendant, and the Luminaries being in Quartile to each other. Δ being in Conjunction of Υ , and φ being in friendly Aspect of the Ascendant and his Lord, were Arguments it should recover: For, it is always to be observed, that where such adjuvant Testimonies happen, δ or η their Quartiles or Oppositions never kill in Youth, although they shall be Lords of the Eighth or Fourth Houses; for the good Significations of the Fortunes, to eclipse and darken the ill portents of the Malefiques, that their Effects cannot then hurt mortally.

First

this monstrous Birth, may properly be said to be Two! He proceeds: They should have agreed well, as having one Constellation; but they did often wrangle, &c. Mr. Chambers it seems never experienced the jarring and contending of one Humour or Passion with another in himself; for had he, such a trivial Objection had never escaped his Pen. Hath not sometimes one sore Finger brought Anguish upon the whole Body? But against this, he may urge their Speech, &c. I answer: The Difference upwards, and Duplicates of Organs and Faculties fit for Speech and Reason, renders the Birth only monstrous, and not two Births: Ergo, no Argument at all against Astrologie, or the Doctrine of Twins held and maintained by Astrologers. For what hath that Art, which is founded upon Natural and Demonstrative Principles, to do in Judgement with Births that are Monstrous and Prodigious?

IN the next place I shall present the Reader the Nativities of two Ladies, which were born within less then half an hour of each other, and Twins likewise; and they were so alike both in Shape, Stature, Feature, and Habit of Body and Minde, that it was (and yet is, for they are still living) a hard matter to distinguish the one from the other, although one should not onely see them, but hear them talk. Some small difference (it is true) might be observed in them, by such as constantly frequented their Companies; by reason of the small difference betwixt their Horoscopes, and their Moons; but eminently rare to be discovered by such as saw them seldome.

The second of these Twin-Ladies, born 1635. 11. April 23. 3 h. 18 m. P. M. Sub Latit. Londini. ♄ Δ ♀, ad Vac.

The Directions of the Luminaries in these Nativities, as they happen in both alike, so the Effects in each Native have followed. For instance: the Sun in their 17 year of Age, was directed ad Opposum Lunæ; they were then both afflicted with violent Fevers, and many other Unhappineses beset them equally; their Mother died, &c. In the 18 year of their Age, the Sun was directed to the Sextiles of 1 and 2; they had each of them then a very considerable Fortune left unto them by the death of an Uncle: they might then also have married well; but the death of their Parents was yet too fresh in their Memory, and their Sicknels of Body not thoroughly removed.

But now, although the Directions of the Luminaries operate equally in both Genitures; yet those of the Ascendent and Medium Cæli do not: for the second was much sickly and Aguish in her first year, as h's exact Quartile to the Ascendent denotes: the first was not sickly till her fourth year, at which time she had an Ague; then the Ascendent was directed to the Square of h, which it could never be in the seconds Nativity while she lives. Then the Medium Cæli in the Nativity of the second, was directed ad corpus Jovis, at twenty three years of Age; she was then eminently married; the same Direction happeneth not in the Nativity of the first Lady until the 28 year of her Age, ergo she cannot be married until then.

Thus we see the Reason why two born near at a time, (although alike in habit of Body and Minde, in shape and feature, &c.) enjoy not exactly the same Accidents of Fortune at one and the same time; and why also they do enjoy some Accidents equally, and alike, and others unequally, and four or five years time distant. Had the Ascendent of these Genitures been in π , γ , δ , the Accidents thereof might have differed nine or ten years; but π being a Signe of long Ascention, although the Primum Mobile run about very swift, it can differ no more in 19 m. of time, viz. the distance between these two Twin-Ladies Births, then four years, as I have before sufficiently proved.

I shall next insert the Nativities of two, born (as I was informed by their Parents) just half an hour distant the one from the other: the one is dead, the other yet living; and (by the Canons of Astrologie) likely yet to live.

The

The Latitude of the Planets.

	d.	m.
☿	2	47	} North.
♂	0	10
♂	1	25	} South.
♀	1	26
♂	1	37	} North.
♂	3	58

THis Childe was exceedingly sickly for the first half year; perplexed with Convulsions, and sore Eyes, and Ague also, insomuch that its death was expected and feared very often. I considered what might occasion such Unhappines; and finding ☿ and ♀ in the Ascendent, with many violent Stars, and ♄ in exact Opposition of the Sun, according to Latitude, from the Sixth in the Figure, I conceived it to be reason enough in Astrologie for the misery the poor Childe sustained: yea, the Arguments of themselves are so cruel, that had not the Sun been stronger then ♄, and the Luminaries in exact Sextile to each other, and the Moon in Trine to ♄ from the Tenth, (the House of Physick) and casting the same Rays to the Ascendent, the Childe could not have withstood the violence of his Distempers. Howbeit, he died in the fourth year of his Age, (supposed by Poyson) the Ascendent was then directed to the Dragons Tayle, and the Sun ad Oppositionem Saturni, without Latitude. A Question may be raised by some, Why this Native should expire upon the Sun to the Opposition of ♄ without Latitude, and yet survive the cruel Effects of their Opposition with Latitude? I answer to any that shall so demand, thus: — That the Sun in a strict sense was past the Opposition with Latitude; there could therefore be no Direction of that nature, unless we admit of converse Direction, which doth not consort either with Reason or Experience. (2.) That the Sun ad ☿ ♄, sine Latitudine, could not of it self be powerful enough to kill; but co-operating with so mischievous a Direction as that of the Ascendent ad Caudam Draconis, it might: so that per se such a Direction is seldome (I may say, Never) found to kill; but per accidens it may. And of the truth of this, you may finde other Experiences in this Book.

Second

though not equal to those cum Latitudine.) But here was no Ascendent directed to the Dragons Tayle, as in the other; which was the onely Cause (next to the Divine Cause) that this Native did not then die, as did the other. And although divers Persons have pretended to cavil at the Effects of such Directions to the Nodes, we see Experience to refute them, as in these, and some foregoing Examples; and Reason also: for it cannot be conceived that the two great Luminaries suffer their Deliquiums, in or near these points for nothing. Let the sober Artist accept this Essay, and thereby proceed to the perfecting his Judgement of Twins.

According to the Position of ♄ and the Dragons Head in the Ascendent, this Childe was most healthful and vigorous, as by his Parents is attested: yet it lived not above 13 days, and died suddenly, viz. on August the 23. at which time the Moon came to the opposite place of ♄ in the Nativity. That it was not long lived, is apparent by the the Figure: For the Moon is in exact Quartile of \hbar , Lord of the Fourth, from fixed Signes; and ζ , Lady of the Ascendent, is Combust, in her Detriment in the twelfth House, and in Quartile of δ . Whether δ or \hbar be Assaferus, the interficient Planet; or whether both be Destroyers of Life, is a Question worthy to be considered by Artists. I confels with the learned Cardanus, ——— Seg. 3. Aphorif. 108. Difficillimum omnium est scire locum interfectoris; nam ex hoc habetur & tempus Mortis, &c. I was almost at a stand in my Judgement, when I first considered this Figure, to think the Native should die suddenly: but endeavouring to satisfie my self, I was relieved with an Aphorism in Albubater; which I, in my Doctring of Nativities, (treating of the eighth House) had translated, thus: ——— If the Lord of the Eighth be infortunate, and the Lord of the First shall be in the earthy Triplicity, and in no good Aspect of the Fortunes, the Death of the Native will be sudden. Vide Dott. Nat. Pars 1. fol. 148. Which Aphorism takes full place in this Infant's Nativity: for ζ is here Governess both of the Eighth and Ascendent, and in the earthy Triplicity infortunate; (viz. in Detriment, Combust, and in Quartile of δ) and is in no Aspect of \mathcal{U} at all.

When this Native departed, there was not the least struggling or symptome of Death perceived, as say its Parents; but it was in perfect health one minute, and fully dead the next.

The Latitude of the Planets.

d. m.
\mathcal{U} 5 6	South.
\hbar 1 47	North.
\mathcal{U} 1 31	} South.
δ 5 24
ζ 1 31
ζ 3 16

That this Child could not be of any long Life, is plainly to be seen in the Nativity: for, here is the Sun in Conjunction of \hbar , (sive Latitudine) and he Dominus

Mortis. (2.) The Moon (who is Domina Vita) is in exact Opposition of \mathcal{U} , Lord of the sixth House, and both in Quartile to the Ascendent; and the Moon is in exact Quadrate of δ , secundum Latitudine, who most maliciously opposeth the Ascendent with his hateful Rays. Accordingly the Childe did die on December the 18. 1657. of the Small Pox, having before been much afflicted with Convulsions, and Pains and Gripings in the Bowels. About the time she departed, the Sun was under the Direction of \hbar 's Body in \mathcal{U} ; as may appear, thus:

Ascensio

Ascensio Obliqua δ h cum Lat.

deg. min.

Ascensio Obliqua Solis

163. 11.

160. 55.

Directio quæsitæ

2. 16.

And to signifie the Convulsions, &c. the Moon was directed to the Quartile Aspect of δ , at, or about a year old.

Descensio Obliqua \square Martis

deg. min.

197. 23.

Descensio Obliqua Luna

196. 42.

Arcus Directionis

0. 41.

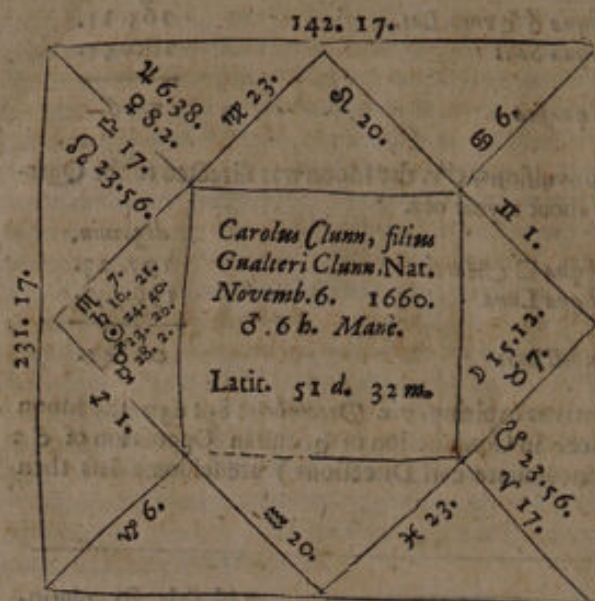

At the time of this Natives expiring, viz. December 18. 1657. the Moon was near her Radical place, in Conjunction of h , and in Opposition of δ : Transits that (if they concomitate evil Directions) are seldome less then fatal.

IN this Revolutional Figure, the Moon is in Conjunction of \mathcal{L} , Lord of the Sixth in the Ra-dix, in the House of Death; and δ , Lord of the Ascendent here, is come to the opposite place of the Moon in the Radix: and the Moon is in Quartile of h , Lord of the eighth House of the Nativity: all augmenting to the evil of the Direction. If any enquire why this Childe should die of the Small Pox? they may take notice that δ afflicts the Radical place of the Moon, and the Moon is in Conjunction with \mathcal{L} , Lord of the Sixth in the Radix, (and he is Dominus Sanguinis) and that Disease proceeds from a Corruption of the Blood: besides, the Moon was Radically in Quartile of δ , and Opposition of \mathcal{L} ; as was before remembered.

Carolus

Although the Lord of the Ascendent (which is δ) be the most potent Planet in the Figure, yet was this Native but of short Life: for it died on the 23 of February following, 13 h. P. M.

The Reasons in Astrologie, I conceive very plain: (1.) The Luminaries are both afflicted, and they with the Lord of the Ascendent are out of all Aspects with the Fortunes. (2.) That grand Satellitium of η , δ , \odot , and γ , (who is Lord of the Eighth) in the Ascendent, denoted a strange kinde of Intemperature, which always prenates a short Life. (3.) The Moon in δ , of them all from Angles, and fixed Signes, is a very eminent additional Testimony. Whence we may note, that not the Lord of the Ascendent, but the Horoscope it self, hath chiefly to do with the Life of the Native, and all Actions relating to the Body; and the other to Accidents, and Affections of the Minde and Inclination.

At the time of Death, the \odot was in her Radical place, in δ of η , & c . as at Birth; and δ was in exact \square of the \odot , and of the Ascendent also.

Here we find the Malefick Planet η in exact Opposition of the Ascendent cum Latitudine; and he (as Lord of the eighth House) in this Nativity, is Abscissor vita; and therefore an eminent Argument of short Life. γ , Lord of the Ascendent Retrograde, and in Detriment in the seventh House, is another Testimony of of short Life : the Moon within Orbs of $\frac{1}{2}$ Quintile, doth not meanly strengthen these Significations, nor yet the violent Stars on the Ascendent, and those with whom $\frac{1}{2}$ is conjoyn'd, in Opposition thereunto.

To be brief : This Infant lived but ten days ; and on December the 25. at four a Clock in the morning, died of a Diarrhea or Looseness ; and this without much struggling or screaming, &c. The Moon was then in Opposition to the Sun in the Eighth of the Nativity ; and $\frac{1}{2}$, Lord of the Ascendent, was then Stationary.

$\frac{1}{2}$, Lady of the Sixth, in Conjunction of the Moon, and $\frac{1}{2}$ in the Sixth in m , might occasion the Diarrhea or Looseness.

The Nativities of two Twin-Children, born June 1. 1662. in the Strand : one of which is yet living, the other died within an hour after its Birth.

The Latitude of the Planets.

	d	m.
\odot	2	0	South.
$\frac{1}{2}$	2	5	} North.
$\frac{1}{2}$	1	17
$\frac{1}{2}$	1	16	} South.
$\frac{1}{2}$	2	44
$\frac{1}{2}$	0	23	North.

This Twin, although it was born first, survives his fellow-Twin. Indeed, there are no Arguments of a short Life in the Geniture : for the Ascendent hereof is happily fortified by the presence of Caput Draconis ; and the Lord of the Ascendent is strong by being posited in his own Mansion, in Conjunction of Pars Fortuna ; the Moon being in Sextile of him, and the Sun, and Pars Fortuna, and also in Trine of $\frac{1}{2}$: all which, are proper and positive Arguments of Vitality. There is a Negative Argument of the same likewise, which is very considerable : (i. e.) The Ascendent or Luminaries are no manner of way vitiated, either by the Bodies or malicious Rays of the unfortunate Planets. — It is no Wonder therefore that this Twin escaped with Life, when its fellow-Twin (after Birth) was not above an hour Vital.

The Latitude of the Planets.

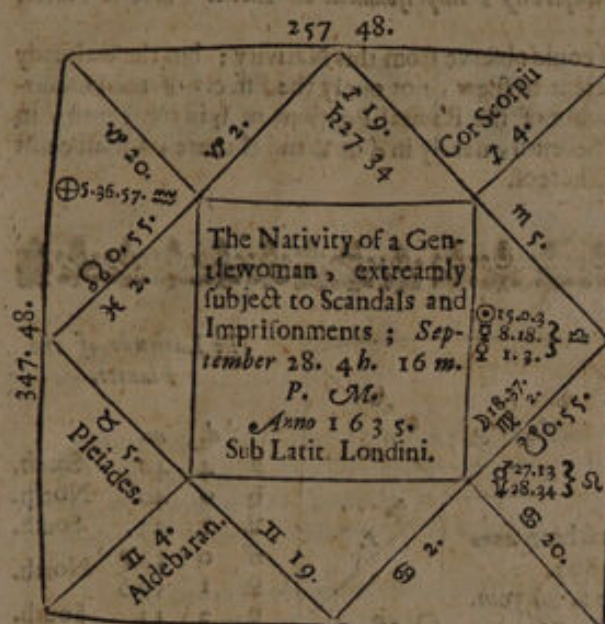

d.	m.
♂	27	South.
♀	5	North
♂	17
♂	16	South.
♀	24
♀	23	North

Although these were Twin-Children, yet you see here is a vast difference between the Figures of their Nativities, as well as between their Significations. In this, the Lord of the Ascendent is an Infortune, and in a Signe contrary to his Nature, Retrograde, and in Quartile of ♂, who is the Moons Dispositor; and made the more unfortunate (in this case) by being in Conjunction of a violent fixed Star. (2.) The Sun is in Conjunction with the Lord of the eighth House, near the Cusp of the Sixth. (3.) The Significator of Death, is much stronger then the Significator of Life. (4.) The Moon is in ♍, in Quartile to the Ascendent; a place she most perfectly hates, she receiving her greatest Debilities there, viz. her Fall: therefore is her Square the more cruel. (5.) ♂ is in exact Quartile of the Lunar Horoscope from Angles. All which denote short Life; and this Childe accordingly did die within an hour after it was born.

It is to be observed, that the Ascendent of the first Twin, is the Cusp of the Eighth in this; and the Lord of Life in that Geniture, is Significator of Death in this.

Thus much for these Twin-Genitures.

The Latitude of the Planets.

	d.	m.
D	1	31	South.
h	1	26	} North.
4	0	28
0	0	34
9	1	13
7	1	17

THis is the Geniture of a Gentlewoman of good Birth, who hath (for her time) been subject to the greatest Unhappineses imaginable, both in publick and notorious Scandals, Imprisonments, Controversies with Friends, &c. And these Misfortunes continually attended her from the 18. unto the 25 year of her Age; and yet is she not totally free therefrom. In those seven years space, she hath been in Prison eleven times: a thing not common for a Woman to undergo. But indeed so cruel and unhappy hath been her Fate, and such a continued Scale of malicious Directions, she had, between those years mentioned, that when the ingenious Artist shall have once read and considered, he will esteem this Natives several Sufferings, no Miracle at all. At the 18 year of her Age, the Ascendent was directed ad Oppositum Solis; then began her Misfortunes: she was not then sick; and the Reason I conceive, was, because the Sun in ♀ hath not power enough to do prejudice to the Body by Diseases; or else, the Direction falling in ♀ his Exaltation, a place he much delighteth in, he was like a Noble Enemy, and would not prejudice the place he respected, although his Enemy was there.

Being aged 21 years, the M. C. was directed ad ☐ 2; this help to continue the Infatuations the other began: then being aged 23 years, the Sun was directed ad ☐ 3; and the year after, ad ☐ 4; under which two Directions, she was not onely like to be ruined in her Reputation, but had like to have died of a Pleuresie, attended with a Fever, as said her Physicians: Directions of most unhappy Signification, as may be seen in the Writings of all Astrologers, that treat of the Effects of Directions.

But besides these Directions, she had many Radical Infortunacies which portended the several prejudices she underwent: as ♀ in the tenth House, in Quartile of the Moon from the seventh House. (2.) The Dragons Tyle upon the very Cusp of the Seventh; which denotes many publick Enemies, prodigious Calumnies, Scandals and Disgraces from them, and that constantly, &c. Vid. Doctr. of Nativities, Part 1. fol. 56. And the Conjunction of ♀ and ♂ so near the Cusp thereof, makes it so much the more mischievous.

Then H_2 , quatenus H_2 , is not onely located in the Mid-heaven, but as he is Lord of the twelfth House; which always denotes Damages and Difficulties to the Native in Reputation; &c. many Oppositions and Defamations in every Action.

Action; and portends Captivity, Imprisonment or Exile. Doctr. Nativ. fol. 177.

Divers other things I could observe from this Nativity; but these already mentioned, being sufficient to shew, not onely the Effects of the Directions above remembred, but of the Radical Positions of \hbar in the Tenth, in \square of \mathcal{D} , and \mathcal{U} on the Seventh, nearly in δ of \mathcal{U} and δ there, I shall desist from all further discourse hereof.

The Latitude of the Planets.

	d.	m.
\mathcal{D}	4	40	South.
\hbar	0	40	North.
\mathcal{U}	1	33	South.
δ	0	33	North.
\mathcal{Q}	1	59	}
\mathcal{P}	2	11
			South.

IN this Nativity, \mathcal{Q} , a Signe of Brevity, ascends the Horoscope; and \hbar , Lord thereof, (being a Planet Cold and Dry) is posited therein, in Conjunction of \mathcal{U} , who disposes of the Moon: δ from a Signe of Brevity, beholds the Sun in a Signe of Brevity, by a Sextile-Aspect: all which are proper Arguments in Astrologie of a Dwarfish or short Stature. The Sun in \square of \mathcal{U} from brevous Signes, may be admitted as an additional Testimony of a Dwarf, or little Person. Indeed whoever hath an earthy Signe ascending, and two or three Planets Posited therein, cannot but be of a short or low Stature, chiefly if \hbar be there; for a Cold and Dry Temperature is contrary to the growth of any thing; as we see it by Experience in the Autumnal Season.

Thus much for this Geniture; and for a Conclusion to the Third Part of my Collection of Nativities.

A

A CENTURY of choice Rules or Aphorisms, fit to be considered by those that practice the Genethliacal Part of Astrologie.

1. OF all the Parts in Astrologie, the Genethliacal is the chief; for therein is consulted the whole progress of a Man, (who is the Lord of all Creatures) from his Birth to his Burial: and by that alone, we are enabled to discover the times of his happy and inauspicious Fortunes.
2. Those that are born under such a Position, wherein h beareth the chiefest Rule, or if he be in the Ascendent, are melancholy, envious, yet timorous Persons: If f or z be in \square or p of him, they turn Enthusiasts, or Mad-men.
3. Men born under the Government of u , are generally Nobly minded; aiming to do good to others, thinking no ill: But if either of the Luminaries shall be in \square or p of u or h , and f in the Ascendent, or in p thereunto, the Native will be villainously minded; rash, head-strong, and rebellious; treacherous to all; friend to none but from the teeth outward.
4. If under f , and he essentially powerful, the Native is full of Courage; proves a good Soldier; attains to great Honour thereby: f also maketh good Chirurgions, Physicians, Apothecaries, &c.
5. He that is born under the Rule of the \odot , and the \odot royally dignified, is altogether aiming at Sovereignty, Rule and Dominion; and (quoad Carer) will be very famous. The same, if any of the three fiery Signes Horoscopeize, and the Sun fortified as aforesaid.
6. That Man which is born under z , and the Nobly fortified, is a great Lover of Delights and Pleasures; of an upright Minde, nothing distrustful: but if the be ill placed, and in bad Aspect of h , he follows Sensuality, and Bestial Pleasures; if of f , he is subject to many notorious Scandals and Disgraces; seldom free from Venereal Diseases.
7. z , Lord of the Ascendent in a Nativity, well dignified, shews the Native to be of a most admirable Fancie, and great Elocution: makes famous Orators, by being in good Aspect of p or z , or in Reception of them: excellent Divines or Philosophers, by being in good Aspect or Reception of h or u : the best Mathematicians or Astrologers, when in Reception or good Aspect of f .
8. When the Moon governs the Horoscope, and she well placed, the Native is a great Lover of Novel things; subject to Mutations; of a gentle Nature and Disposition; curious; often desirous to travel and see strange Countries: if the be in Aspect of z , he will be apt to learn many Languages.
9. f strong in a Nativity, and Lord of the Seventh, and in no good Aspect of the Luminaries or Ascendent, the Native is subject to Misfortunes in War, or in any thing of Controversie; for the seventh House signifieth his Adversaries: and in this regard they will be too powerful for him to contend with.

10. All the Planets (or the most of them) above the Earth, be the Native of what Capacity he will, makes him eminent and famous beyond it: but if they shall be in their Dignities so posited, the Native (like a Comet) shall out-shine all others in that place or part of the World where he shall be born.
11. The Infortunes afflicting the Luminaries or the Horoscope by Body or Partile Aspect, declare him that is then born, to be of a very short and sickly Life.
12. The Sun in the Ascendent, makes eminent Boasters, and very proud Persons. δ there, makes notorious Lyars, and Inventers of Fables, and great Contrivers of Mischief; perjur'd, turbulent, and cruel-minded Men.
13. Eminent fixed Stars upon the Angles of a Nativity, do give the Native eminent Honour and Fame.
14. φ in Cazime Solis, and in his own Dignities, makes the Native not onely a famous Orator, but an excellent Counsellor; and for his Ingenuity and great Parts, he will be admired, and had in much esteem.
15. η in the tenth House of a Nativity, detroyes the Natives Honour and Fame, let it be never so great: if χ be there under good Directions, he may preserve it cum difficultate; but in the end, it will be absolutely shipwrack'd.
16. If η in the Nativity of a King, or other less famous Person, shall be in δ to the Medium Caeli, although the Geniture be otherways fortunate, yet the Natives End will be most inauspicious and cruel.
17. All the Planets in a Nativity Retrograde under the Earth, though the Native be of illustrious Birth, denote him to be of a falling Fame or Fortune.
18. Cardinal Signes possessing the Angles of a Nativity, makes the Native (of any Condition or Capacity) most eminent and famous in his Generation; and to do such Acts that after-Ages shall admire him.
19. δ in the tenth House, brings Scandal and Dishonour to the Native in many things, whether he be deserving thereof, or no.
20. The Sun or Moon in \square or δ of δ from Angles, chiefly the Tenth and Fourth, declare a violent Death: if it be to δ onely, and in humane Signes, the Native will be slain by the Hands of his Enemies: if to η , he may be poisoned or starved to Death in a Prison.
21. Those Persons (let them be Kings, or of a mean degree) are beloved of all sorts, that have φ or χ Nobly posited in the Ascendent or tenth House, and those Angles free from Affliction.
22. The Mid-heaven famously fortified, gives the Native not onely eminent Honour, but such as shall remain and be durable, though at some times (upon ill Directions) it may be subject to interruptions; as in the Nativity of Fred. 3. Rex Danie.
23. When in a Nativity η is in the Tenth or Eleventh Houses, and the Medium Caeli comes to be directed to his Body, the Native loseth all his Honours, Offices, &c. and never riseth again to Preferment. If in such a Nativity there be a violent Death threatned, that Direction puts a shameful period unto the Natives Life.
24. The Dragons Tayle in the tenth House, and δ afflicting both Luminaries in a violent Signe in the Fourth, portends a fatal End to the Honour and Life of the Native.
25. The Lord of the Ascendent stronger then the Lord of the Seventh, the Native always overcomes his Enemies. Et à contra.
26. δ in γ , m or ν in the Ascendent of a Nativity, makes the Native invincible; chiefly, if other ways well Aspected of the fortunate Planets, or the Luminaries.
27. δ in δ , \square or δ of the Moon, and η in the same Aspect of the Sun from Angles, portends a violent Death: if they shall be so posited in violent Signes, though not in Angles, the same.

28. ♀ in ☐ or ♂ of ♂, gives a sharp, but a most turbulent and troublesome Wit and Understanding.

29. ♀ in ✕, in an Angle afflicted of ♂ or ☉, and ♀ in an Angle afflicted of ♀, makes an Ideot, Phanatique or Phrenetique Fellow; for his Brain, like a crackt Looking-Glass, will represent a thousand several Shapes.

30. Eminent fixed Stars upon the Angles of a Nativity, chiefly the Medium Cæli and Horoscope, declares eminent and prodigious Persons; such that shall make the World admire them, if the Planets therein shall but moderately afflict.

31. Both the Luminaries afflicted in Watry or Aiery Signes, bring to the Native an unremoveable Gout.

32. The Moon in ♂ of the Pleiades, and ☐ of ♂ from an Angle, denotes great Defects in the Eyes, if not Blindness.

33. He that hath any of the fiery Signes ascending, and the Lord of the Horoscope in the tenth House, will be always aiming at things beyond the Capacity of his Birth, let it be what it will.

34. Sometimes the inferiour Planets shall denote greater Honour and Fame to the Native then the Superiours; but then it shall not be of so long continuance.

35. He that is born upon a New or Full Moon exactly, lives but little time, if at all, unless the Moon have great Latitude; for that sometimes may make the ♂ or ♀ eight or nine Degrees distant.

36. ♀ ascending, generally makes ingenious Persons; unless ♀, who is Lord thereof, be in ✕ or ♀; then is the Native confident without Reason, and will pretend to things he understands not.

37. Fortunate Planets in the ninth House, makes famous Church-men and Lawyers: the like, if the Benevolents Trine the Lord of the Ninth.

38. He that hath ♀ or ♂ in the Ninth, and the Dragons Tayle in the Ascendent, will prove a mad Fellow to make either a Pope or Parish Priest of.

39. ♀ in an Aëreal Signe in the Ascendent, in good Aspect of the Moon or ♀, makes learned and famous Divines; such that will acquaint themselves with many Languages.

40. ♀ and ♀ in Conjunction in an Aëreal Signe in the Ascendent in Trine to ♀ in the Ninth, makes the greatest Scholars, and the most learned Critiques.

41. Those Divines are the very top and authority of their Profession, that have many Planets in the ninth House.

42. The Lord of the Tenth in the Twelfth, and Lord of the Twelfth in the Ascendent, are certain Arguments of Imprisonment and Restraint: the like if the Lord of the Ascendent is in the Twelfth.

43. ♀ in ☊, Retrograde, in Quartile to ♂ and ♀, and they in Opposition to each other, in the Nativity of a Divine, makes a great Enthusiast.

44. ♀ or ♀ in the Ascendent, void of the Affliction of the Infortunes, makes just and upright Persons.

45. Those Persons that have ☊, m or ✕ ascending in their Nativities, and ♀ afflicted by ♀ or ☊, they either speak not at all, or else have very great impediment in their Speech: if ♂ afflicts ♀ in such a Nativity, the Native stammers very much.

46. If Signes of Voice ascend in a Geniture, as ♀, ♀, ♀, ♀, ♀, and ♀ be free from Affliction, the Native is of excellent Speech, and of a graceful Elocution.

47. The ♀ in ♂ of ♀, in an earthy Signe, and an earthy Signe ascending, makes exceeding melancholy Persons, and such as believe they see Visions.

48. He

48. He that hath the Moon in γ , and in Opposition of ϱ , and the Dragons Tayle upon the Ascendent, will be a Promoter of Lyes and Deceits.

49. \hbar upon the Cusp of the Second, makes the Native always poor, let him have what assistance soever; unless he be well dignified there, and friendly irradiated by the Beams of the Fortunes.

50. δ and the \odot in the Second in their Dignities, give the Native an Estate; but procure him ways to waste it: ill posited there, he will not have much to be prodigal of, without other very remarkable Assurances.

51. The greater are the Dignities of the Planets in a Nativity, the more splendid and spreading is the Natives Fame: the greater their Debilities, the more obscure his Fortune.

52. A continued Series of good Directions, makes a bad Nativity at some times very good; but they will not continue it so to the end.

53. A grand Satellitium of the Planets in the eighth House, upon good Directions unto them, the Native gains mightily by the Wills and Legacies of deceased Persons.

54. Fortunate Planets well posited in the eleventh House, denote many great and powerful Friends: unfortunate ones there, ill affected, declare few and faithless.

55. ϑ and φ posited in the tenth House, either in the Houses of δ or ϱ , makes the Native exceedingly famed for his Skill in Sciences.

56. The \triangleright in Reception and Δ of ϑ , makes a Man a Turner up of Councils, &c. by the roots.

57. δ and \hbar in δ from \AA equinoctial Signes, makes a great Tyrant: and if they shall be in \square of γ , he will be an Observer of Law and Religion for his own Ends.

58. All the Planets under the Earth, when they promise Dignity, Honour and Renown, they generally perform it in the latter part of the Natives Life.

59. The Lord of the Eleventh stronger then the Lord of the Seventh, denotes the Friends and Assistance of the Native to be more considerable and powerful, then his Adversaries.

60. The Returns of the superiour Planets to their Radical places in any Revolution, portend a fatal year; chiefly if attended by an ill Direction.

61. The Lord of the Ascendent of the Radix, in δ with the Lord of the Eighth of the Revolution, in the Eighth, is very dangerous to the Life of the Native.

62. When the Signe of the sixth House of the Radix, ascends in a Revolution, and the Lord of the Sixth is posited in the Fourth, it is a dangerous year to the Life of the Native, if an ill Direction be operating.

63. Some Persons attain to great Honour and Dignity, who have bad Genitures; but then they must sympathize with the Nativities of their Rulers.

64. The greatest sympathy that can be betwixt Genitures, is, by having the fortunate Planets in one, upon the places of the Luminaries in the other, and the Luminaries upon the places of the fortunate Planets.

65. The greatest Antipathy, is by the Infortunes in one, possessing the places of the Luminaries in the other, and the Luminaries upon the places of the Infortunes.

66. \hbar in one Mans Nativity, upon the Ascendent of anothers, is an absolute Token of Hatred; and the latter shall be the injured person.

67. ϑ in either of the Houses of \hbar , gives a most excellent Understanding;

if he shall be in \ast or Δ , or Reception of h , the Native will be admired for his Ingenuity.

68. The \odot and D in g of z in a Tropical Signe, gives the Native large intellectual Abilities.

69. The Head of Algol in the Mid-heaven, and the D in the Twelfth in \square thereunto, portends loss of Honour and Renown, if not (at last) Death in Prison.

70. All the Planets in a Nativity out of their Essential Fortitudes, declare obscure Persons; which if they happen to attain to any degree of Preferment, they never long enjoy it.

71. Violent fixed Stars upon the Cusp of the Mid-heaven, and the Lord thereof posited among such, denotes a violent Catastrophe of the Natives Honour and Fame.

72. Directions to the Bodies or Aspects of Planets in the descending part of Heaven, although they denote the highest Happiness imaginable, yet it is not long durable.

73. Those Persons that have crowds of Planets in Angles, have at some time or other of their Lives, prodigious Success or Detriment, according to the Nature of Directions that shall occur.

74. He who hath h Lord of the Seventh in his Nativity, never marieth until he be past the 30 year of his Age; unless it so happen, that u or z be upon the Horoscope, or in good Aspect of the Moon in his Nativity.

75. A fortunate Planet in the eighth House, always portends a Natural Death.

76. The Lord of the Eighth posited in the tenth House, declares Death to the Native by the Sentence of a Judge.

77. The Sun, Moon, or Medium Caeli, directed ad \ast vel Δ u or z , the Native (if capable) rarely fails of Marriage.

78. Astrologers may easily miss of the measure of time in Directions, if they shall omit the Consideration of eminent Transits; for good or bad Directions may be both anticipated and continued, as happy or unfortunate Transits occur.

79. The D in via Combusta, and the \odot in via Lactea, denotes great danger to the Eyes: if the unfortunate Planets shall be in the Ascendent, or in g thereunto, it prelates blindness.

80. In the Nativities of Children, (I mean in such as are vital) the Ascendent or Sun to the Body of g , produceth the Small Pox or Measels: in grown Men, the Plague or Pestilential Fever: in elderly Persons, Death.

81. The Ascendent or either of the Luminaries (as either shall be Hylech) directed to the g , p or \square of h , and the Direction happening in v , g or d , the Native seldom escapes Death; because those Signes represent the most vital parts in a Mans Body: and h in the contrary Signes, hath most power to do mischief.

82. z in the House of g , in good Aspect of the Moon, and the Lord of the Ascendent, gives a good Understanding.

83. In a Womans Nativity, the Lord of the Seventh being posited in the Ascendent, makes her to domineer and lord it over her Husband: and if the Lord of the Ascendent be a superiour Planet, and the Signe thereof commanding, she will lord it over him to purpose.

84. The \odot and z in g in the Third or Fourth Houses, makes Men skillful in Occult and studious Arts.

85. He that hath many Planets in Reception, or beholding each other by good Aspect, cannot fail of having many Friends.

86. The \odot and g in the Ascendent in Aëreal or fiery Signes, makes proud and prodigal Persons; and such as conceit themselves to be much more then they are.

87. ♂ in ♈ to the Ascendant, and ♂ in the same Aspect of the \odot , makes an Absolute Knave and Traicher.
88. ♀ in the Ascendant, and ♀ , Lord thereof, in Reception of her, denotes a just, honest, and fair-conditioned Person.
89. The Moon in good Aspect of the Lord of the Mid-heaven, and the Lord of the Ascendant, makes the Native eminently honoured and esteemed.
90. Planets squaring and opposing each other from Angles and Cardinal Signes, declare great Mischiefs to the Persons then born, in their lives time; and at last, a violent Death.
91. In a Geniture of short Life, the Ascendant, \odot or ♂ directed to the ♄ , is killing.
92. Directions of the Mid-heaven to Promissors, never kill but in that Nativity which portends a violent Death.
93. If in a Nocturnal Nativity, ♂ shall be posited in the eighth House, it betokens a violent Death.
94. When in a Nativity ♀ is posited in the tenth House, be the Native Man or Woman, they marry honourably.
95. The \odot or ♂ in ♈ or ♉ of ♂ or ♀ from Angles, portends prejudice to the Native's sight.
96. ♄ , ♀ , or ♄ in the Fifth, in a fruitful Signe, declares many Children to the Native: if ♄ be in any good Aspect unto them there, she increases the number.
97. ♂ in ♈ to ♄ or ♀ , destroys the Children or Issue of the Native, let them be never so numerous.
98. The Aspects of the fixed Stars, are to be considered in general Positions or Directions, as well as the Aspects of the Planets.
99. Astrologers themselves, that are subject to a bad Fate, (though their Skill may be good,) shall be apt to erre in their Judgements.
100. The Art of Astrologie is certain, and most indubitably true: but there are few that practice it, who rightly understand it.

F I N I S

THe Escapes of the Press are neither many, nor material; yet I shall desire the Reader thus to correct them:

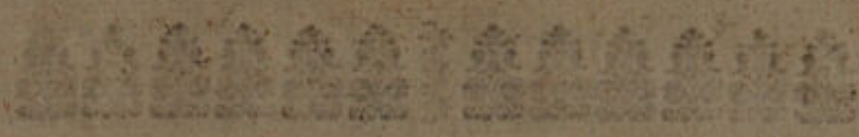

E R R A T A :

Folio 1. line 4. read May 1472. Fol. 42. in the Figure, read 1655. Fol. 51. read Rantzovius. Fol. 60. the Revolution there, should have been in fol. 62. it belonging to the Nativity of Emanuel Dux Sabaudie. Fol. 85. line 27. read was in the Asc. in Δ , in κ of γ . Line 29. read was in the Ascend. in Opposition of γ . Fol. 150. line 19. read in Conjunction in a Revolution. Fol. 155. read he made the Streets. Fol. 169. in Captain Boy's Nativity, there was a mistake in the relation of the Story; for it was Hurst-Castle (not Windsor-Castle) that he was designed to surprize: but, it is true, that he was Prisoner in Windsor-Castle; and at the same time when Sir Rich. Browne was there. Fol. 181. read Trapezuntus. Fol. 190. in the Figure, for 51 deg. 12 min. read 51 deg. 42 min. Fol. 192. in the Figure, read γ 25. From fol. 196. to fol. 201. the Leaves are misfolio'd.

A Catalogue of several Treatises written and made publick by J. G. the Author of this Book.

1. Astronomical Tables of the fixed Stars, made to continue for near fifty years yet to come; useful for Astronomers, Astrologers, Physicians and Navigators.
2. Cœlestis Legatus: or, The Cœlestial Ambassadour; being a Discourse of the many Conjunctions in Septemb. 1656. in Virgo: together with something of the Crisis in Diseases.
3. The Doctrine of Nativities; handling all the necessary parts of Astrologie, both Calculative and Judiciary.
4. Natura Prodigiorum: or, A Discourse touching the Nature and Effects of Prodigies; with a Chronologie of the most remarkable of all kinds, for 1600 years last past. Also, a Treatise of the Vanity of Sigils, Lamens, Spirits, Prophecies, the Chrystal, &c. by way of Appendix.
5. Nuncius Astrologicus: or, An Astrological Decision of the great Controversies between the Kings of Denmark and Sweden.
6. The King of Sweden's Nativity; wherein his Death was Astrologically predicted.
7. The Nativity of King Charles the First of blessed Memory: wherein is presented a brief History of our late miserable Times.

THE HISTORY OF THE KINGDOM OF GREAT BRITAIN, AND THE PEOPLES THEREIN, FROM THE FIRST SETTLEMENT OF THE ISLANDS, TO THE PRESENT TIME.

CONTENTS.

THE HISTORY OF THE KINGDOM OF GREAT BRITAIN, AND THE PEOPLES THEREIN, FROM THE FIRST SETTLEMENT OF THE ISLANDS, TO THE PRESENT TIME.

A Catalogue of the several Treatises, and other Works, published by the Author of this Book.

- A Catalogue of the several Treatises, and other Works, published by the Author of this Book.
1. A General History of the Kingdom of Great Britain, and the Peoples therein, from the first Settlement of the Islands, to the present Time.
 2. A History of the Kingdom of Great Britain, and the Peoples therein, from the first Settlement of the Islands, to the present Time.
 3. A History of the Kingdom of Great Britain, and the Peoples therein, from the first Settlement of the Islands, to the present Time.
 4. A History of the Kingdom of Great Britain, and the Peoples therein, from the first Settlement of the Islands, to the present Time.
 5. A History of the Kingdom of Great Britain, and the Peoples therein, from the first Settlement of the Islands, to the present Time.
 6. A History of the Kingdom of Great Britain, and the Peoples therein, from the first Settlement of the Islands, to the present Time.
 7. A History of the Kingdom of Great Britain, and the Peoples therein, from the first Settlement of the Islands, to the present Time.

