Honorable, GEORGE BOLLES,

Lord Maior of the Citie of London; Sir Anthony Benn, Knight, Recorder of London: and to all the Knights and Aldermen, Brethren-Senatours in the State of so. famous a Citie: all of them being my Honorable and worthy Masters:

A. M. Wisheth the fruition of all temporal felicities in this life; and the neuer-failing fulnesse of blessednesse in the life to come.

it is now fifteene yeeres and more, fince M. Iohn Stow, Citizen (the first painefull searcher into the reuerend Antiquities, concerning this famous Citie of London) presented the Book of Londons Suruay, to this Honourable State, in the time of Sir Robert Lee, then being Lord Maior, with very gracious and fauourable acceptance. Since when, hee hauing a further purpose to encrease the same labour in much larger manner, according ding as the subject very necessarily required, grew weake and sickly, so that his willing endeuour was preuented by death. Much of his good mind he had formerly imparted to me, and some of his best collections louingly deliuered me, preuailing with mee so farre, by his importunate perswasions, to correct what I found amisse, and to proceed in the persecting of a Worke so worthy; that being ouercome by affection to him, but much more by respect and care of this Royall Citie, beeing Birth-place and breeder to vs both: I vndertooke (so farre as my ability would extend) to surther a Booke of such needfull vse, and to supply it where I found any thing wanting.

Hauing drawne mine intention into a very briefe difcourse, before I would rashly aduenture on the least danger of displeasure, I deliuered the same to the Right Worshipfull Sir Henry Mountague, Knight, beeing then Recorder of London, and now the Honorable Lord chiefe Iustice of the Kings Bench, who having discreetly considered theron, and the Briefe Chronicle Of the Successe of Times, before deliuered by me to you all; caused me to appeare before you in the Councell Chamber, at the Guild-Hall, where I then received encouragement and command from the whole Court, to proceed in the perfecting of this worthy Worke, with surtherance of what helps could be afforded me.

According to the former proiect presented before you, I have (to my great cost, care, and no meane labour, both of body and mind, and for the space of about twelve yeeres) done my diligent endeuour, to effect the full scope of that which I had set downe to my selfe, for compleating the Survey of London, in such nature as might best become it, from the first Originall and Foundation,

dation, to the growing thereof in any greatnesse, and so to the Gouernours, Rulers and Magistrates, sitting (from time to time) in most eminence and authority; and as by name and Office, either of Port-graues, Prouosts or Bay-Liffes, they were then distinguished.

To the Honourable, and Right Reuerend Father in God, IOHN KING, by Gods most gracious permission, Lord Bishop of LONDON,

A. M. fendeth his hearty and humble dutie.

His Booke, Honourable, Learned, and most Indicious Father, reporting the Originall, Antiquity and continued succession of this famous City, both in her elder and more moderne condition; as also, what forme of Gouernment supported the same, not only by Authoritie of the Civill and Temporall Magistrate, but likewise in the sirst receit of the In the time of challenged a double dutie at my hand by way of Dedication. For, being a Free-borne Son of this Honorable City, even as Master STOVVE, the first collector of these painefull labours together was, and guided by the same line or level of common duty, as he very carefully before observed: the Body Politique, I meane, the Right Honourable Lord Maior, and the worthy assistant Senators his Brethren, deserved to claime no meane interest therein, in being by them thereto directed and commanded, and having been their servant sixe and twenty yeeres, in sundrie imployments for the Cities service.

Lastly, concerning a certaine instruction received from your Lordship by a Gentleman of much learning and respect, for the times of new building, enlarging and repayring of many Churches in this Citie, as also, the houses for dwelling of the Learned Pastors to them belonging, wherein hath appeared no lacke of love and bounty of the Parishioners in those Parishes, and some of them particular men, in very godly and liberall manner: I most humbly intreat your Honor, at this time therin to pardon and excuse mee, till a larger Volume may answere both yours & al others expectations in that kind with many other matters of great consequence, not willingly, but constrainedly omitted at this time.

As for such errors as have escaped in the Impression, many of them, through the fault of not being wel acquainted with my crabbed writing, more by mistaking, but none (I dare presume) by any willingnes in the Printer to commit in the very least kind: I know that you, Reuerend Father, and the Learned, will louingly correct, the uncapable easily slip ouer, and the most malicious (even in their severest splcene) thinke me not so ignorant as to write, or the Printer so negligent, wilfully to les passe, albeit wee both must now stand subject to every censure.

S the Romane Wziters, to glozifie the Citie of Rome, Dew the Dzigie. nall thereof from gods and demygods, by the Troian Pagente : fo Geoffrey of Monmouth the Wellt Hilfozian, deduceth the foundation of this famous Citie of London, for the greater glozie thereof, and emus lation of Rome from the very same oziginall. For hee reporteth, that Brute, lineally descended from the demy gods Eneas, the sonne of Venus, daughter of Iupiter, about the pereof the world 2855. and 1108. befoze the natinity of Chaile, builded this Citie nere but Trinousnium to the River now called Thames, and named it Troynouant, 02 hath the writ-Trenouant. But herein, as Liuie the most famous Distorto- ten copie. grapher of the Romans writeth, Antiquity is pardonable, and Liuic. hath an especiall priviledge, by interlacing divine matters with humane, to make the first foundation of Cities more honourable, more facred, and as it were of greater maie die.

Ling Lud (as the afozefaid Geoffrey of Monmouth noteth) afterward, not only repaired this Citie; but also increased the same with faire Buildings, Towers and Walls, and after his owne name, called it Caire-Lud, as Luds towne, and the ffrong Lud, but Luds gate which he builded in the West part of the Citie, he like wife

(for his owne honour) named Ludgate. towne is a

This Lud had iffue two fonnes, Androgeus, and Theomantius, 02 Tenanticus, who being not of age to gonern at the beath of their father: their Uncle Caffibelan tok bpon him the crown, about the eight yeare of whose reigne, Iulius Casar arrived in this land, with a great power of Romans to conquer it. The manner of which conquest, I will summarily fet downe out of his owne Commentaries, which are of farre better credit, then the relations of Geoffrey Monmouth.

Cafars com-

The chiefe gouernment of the Britons, and ordering of the warres, was then (by common aduice) committed to Cassibelan, mentaries, li.5. whose Signiorie was separated from the Cities towards the Seacoast, by the River called Thames, about 80. miles off from the Sea. This Cassibelan in times past, had made continuall war vpon the Cities adioining, but the Britons being mooued with the Romans inuafion, had refolued in that necessity to make him their Souereigne and General of the wars. Cafar hauing knowledge of their intent, marched with his Army to the Thames, into the Signiory of Cassibilian. This River can be passed but on-Thames to bee ly in one place on foote, and that very hardly. When hee came passed on foot thither, he sawe a great power of his enemies in battaile array, on the other fide of the River. Now was the banke flicked full of stakes, sharpned at the fore end; and likewise other stakes (of the same making) were driven into the Channell, and hidden with the water. Cafar having understanding thereof, by his Prisoners and Run-awayes : sent in his Horseman before, and commanded his footmen to follow immediatly after them. But the Romane Souldiers went with such speed and force, hauing no more then their heads onely about the water: that the enemy beeing not able to withstand the violence of the foot-men, and the men of Armes, forfooke the banke and tooke them to flight, Cassibelan despairing of his good successe, by fighting in plaine battaile, fent away all his greater powers, The Policie of and keeping still about foure thousand Waggoners, watched Caslibelan which way the Romans went, and drew somewhat aside out of vpon his ill the way, hlding himselfe in cumbersome and woody places. successe. And wherefoeuer he knew the Romanes should march, he draue both Cattell and People thence into the Woods. When the Romanes Horsemen ranged any thing freely abroad into the fields for forrage, or to harrie the Country: he fent his Waggoners, by all wayes and pathes out of the Woods, vpon their men of Armes, and encountred with them to their great prejudice, His advantage through the feare whereof, hee kept them short from ranging against the at their pleasure.

So the matter was brought to this passe, that Casar would not suffer his Horse-men to stray any farrenesse from his maine battell of Foot-men, and aduentured no further to annoy hisenemies, in wasting their fields, and burning their houses, then he could compasse by the trauell of his Foot-men, as they were able to journey.

In the mean while, the Trinobants, weh was then the strongest City, wel-neere, of all those countries (and out of which City, a Citizens of yong Gentleman called Mandubrace, vpon confidence of Cafars London. help, comming vnto him into the maine land of Gallia, now called France, had thereby escaped death, which hee should have fuffered at Cassibelans hand, as his father Imanuence had done, who had reigned in that Citie) sent Ambassadors to Casar, promifing to yeeld vnto him, and to doe what he should command them. Inflantly desiring him, to protect Mandubrace from the Mandubrace furious tyranny of Cassibelan, and to send him into the Citie, and the Triwith authority to take the gouernment therof vpon him. Cafar to Cafar, and accepted the offer, and appointed them to give vnto him 40. he defended Hoftages, and withall to finde him graine for his army, and so them. fent he Mandubrace vnto them.

When others faw that Cafar had not only defended the Trinobants against Cassibelan, but had also saued them harmlesse from the pillage of his owne souldiers : then did the Cenimagues, Segontians, Aucalits, Bibrokes, and Cassians, likewise submit themselves ynto him, and by them he learned, that (not farre

For the Brittons call that a towne, when they have fortified a combersome wood with a ditch and rampire, and thither they resort to eschue the inuasios of their enemies. To this place therwere comber- fore marched Cafar with his Legions; hee found it excellentlyfortified, both of nature, and by mans aduice : neuerthelesse, he resolued to assault it in two seuerall places at once; whereupon the Brittains being not able to endure the force of the Romanes; fled out at another part, and left the towne vnto him: a great number of cattell he found there, and many of the Brittains hee flue, and others he tooke in the chafe.

Whilest these things were a doing in these quarters, Cassibilan fent messengers into Kent, which lyeth vpon the Sea, and in which there reigned then foure particular Kings, named, Cingetorix, Carvil, Taximagul, and Segonax, whom he commanded to raise all their forces, and sodainely to set vpon, and affault the Romans in their trenches by the Sea fide: the which when the Romans perceiued, they sallied out vpon them, slue a great fort of them, and taking Cingetorix, their noble Captaine, prisoner, retired themselues to their Campe in good safetie.

When Cassibilan heard of this, and had formerly taken many other losses, and found his Country fore wasted, & himselfe left almost alone by the defection of the other Cities, he sent Ambassadours by Comius of Arras to Casar; to entreate with him concerning his owne submission: the which Cafar did accept and taking Hostages, assessed the Realme of Brittaine to a yeerly tribute, to bee paied to the people of Rome, giving firaight yeerely tribute charge to Cassibilan, that he should not seeke any reuenge vpon Mandubrace, or the Trinobants, and so withdrew his Army to the Sea againe.

Brittaine felfed to pay a to the Romanes.

> Thus farre out of Cafars Commentaries, concerning this History, which hapned in the piere before Christs nativity 54. In all which processe, there is for this purpose to be noted, that Cafar nameth the City of Trinobantes, which hath a refemblance with Troy nous, or Trinobantum, hauting no greater vif. Trinobant, ference in the Dathography, then changing b. into v, and yet new London. maketh an erroz, whereof I will not argue. Dnlv this I will note, that divers learned men do not thinke Civitas Trinobantum, to be well and truely translated, the City of the Trinobantes: but it thould rather be the fate, communalty, 02 Signiozy of the Trinobances, for that Cxfar in his Commentaries bleth the 10020 Civitas, onely for a people living under one and the felfesame Prince and law. But certaine it is, that the Cities of the Cities of the Britaines were (in those vaies) neither artificially builded with Britaines not houses, not frongly walled with frone, but were only thick and builded with combersome woods, plathed within & trenched about : and the houses, nor like (in effect) doe other the Romane and Breke Authours di- walled with rettly affirme, as Strabo, Pomponius, Mela, and Dion a Sena; fonc. toz of Rome, which flourithed in the fenerall reignes of the Ro. Strabo. Pommane Emperoze, Tiberius, Claudius, Domitian, and Seuerus, Ponius. Mela, to wit, that before the arrivall of the Romans, the Britaines had no townes, but called that a towne, which had a thicke intangled wood, befended (as I faid) with a ditch and banke, the like whereof the Irishmen, our next neighbours, doe at this day call Fastnes. But after that these hither parts of Britaine were rebuced into the forme of a Wrouince, by the Romans, who fowed the feeds of civility over all Europe: this City, what foener it was before, began to be renowmed and of fame. For Tacitus, London most who first of all Authors nameth it Londinium, saith, that in the famous for 62. peare after Chriff, it was, albeit no Colonie of the Romans, Merchants & pet most famous for the great multitude of Derchants, prouts entercourse. fion, and entercourse. At which time, in that notable revolt of the Britaines from Nero, in which 70000. Romanes and their confederates were flaine, this Citie, with Verulamium, necre Saint Albons, and Maldon in Effex, then all famous, were rans facked and spoiled. For Suctonius Paulinus, then Lieutenant for the Komans in this Ide, abandoned it, as not then fortified. and left it to the spoyle.

Shortly after, Iulius Agricola, the Romane Lieutenant, in The Britaines the time of Domitian, was the first that (by aphorting the Bri- had no houses, taines publikely, and helping them prinately) won them to build but cortages.

True it is, I confesse, that afterward many Cities & Towns in Britaine, bnder the gouernment of the Romanes, were walled with fone, and baked brickes, or tyles, as Richborrow, Ryptachefter, in the Me of Thaner, till the chanell altered his courfe, belides Sandwitch in Kent, Verulamium, belides S. Fog it fæmeth not to hane ban walled, in the pare of our Lozd 296. because in that pare, when Alectus the Typant was flaine in the field, the Franks oz Franconians easily entred London, and had facked the same, had not God (of his great fauour) at the bery instant, brought along the Liner of Thames certaine bands of Romans Souldis ers, who flew those Frankes in every fret of the Citie.

veere of Chaift, 399. When Arcadius and Honorius, the sonnes of Theodofius Magnus, gouerned the Empire, the one in the Cast, the other in the West. For Honorius haning received The Romanes Britaine, the Citie of Rome was innaded and deffroied by the Britaine. Witherupon, the Britaines, not able to defend themselves against the innalions of their enemies, were many veres together bu: Der the oppression of two most cruell nations, the Scots & Picts, The Scots and and at the length were forced to fend their Ambassadors, with Picts inuade letters and lamentable supplications to Rome, requiring appe this land. and fuccour from thence, byon promife of their continual feal tie, to that the Romanes would refcue them out of the hands of their enemies. Bereupon, the Romanes fent buto them a Legion of armed Souldiers, which comming into this Hand, and encountring with the enemies; overthrew a great number of them, and braue the rest out of the frontiers of the Countrie. And to fetting the Britaines at liberty, counfelled them to make a wall, extending all along betweene the two feas, which might be of force to keepe out their enill neighbours, and then reture ned home with great triumph. The Britaines wanting Da- Britaines vnfons, builded that Wall, not of frone (as they were adulted) but skilfull of building with made it of turfe, and that fo flender; that it ferued little of no- flone. thing at all for their defence. And the enemy perceiving, that the Romane Legion was returned home, forthwith arrived out of their boates, inuaded the bozders, ouercame the country, and (as it were) bare bowne all that was before them.

Waherenvon, Ambassadors were eftsoones dispatched to Rome, lamentably befeething, that they would not fuffer their miferable Country to be btterly beffroied. Then againe, ano. ther Legion was fent, which comming on a fodaine; made a great laughter of the enemy, and chased him home, enen to his owne country. Thefe Romanes at their Departure told the Britaines plainely, that it was not for their eafe or leafure, to take bponthem (any moze) fuch long and labozious journeies for their defence; and therfoze, bade them practife the ble of armor and weapons, and learne to withffand their enemies, whom no

And for so much as they thought, that it would be no small help and encouragement buto their tributarie friends, whom they were now forced to forfake: they builded for them a wall of hard fone, from the Weft Sea to the Caft Sea, right betweene those two Cities, which were there made to kepe out the ene. taines & Scots. mies , in the selfesame place, where Scuerus befoge had cast his Trench : the Britaines also putting to their helping hands as las bozers.

This wall they builded 8. fote thicke in bredth, and 12. fot in height, right as it were by a line from eaft to west; as the rus ines therof(remaining in many places till this day) do make to appeare. Which worke thus perfected, they gave the people Araight charge to loke well to themselves, they teach them to handle their weapons, and incruat them in warlike feats. And left by the fea five fouthwards; where their thips lay at harbez, the enemy Mould come on land; they made by funday bulwarks, each somewhat diffant from the other, and so bid them farewel, as minding no moze to returne. This happened in the dayes of the Emperour Theodosius the younger, almost 500. yeeres af ter the first arrivall of the Romans here, about the peere after Christs Incarnation, 434.

In the years 1016. Edmond Ironside, reigning over the west Saxons, Canucus the Dane, byinging his Paup but the west part of the bridge; did cast atrench about the Titie of London, and then attempted to have won it by assault: but the Titiens repulsed him, and draue them from their walles.

W. Fitzstephen.
The Citie of London walled round about by the Riuer of Thames.

William Fitzstephen, in the reigne of Ling Henry the second, writing of the wals of this Citie, hath these words: The Wall is high and great, well towed on the North side, with due distances betweene the Towes. On the South side also, the Citie was walled and towered: but the fishfull river of Thames, with his ebbing and flowing, hath long since subverted them.

By the Porthibe, he meaneth from the river of Thames in the east, to the river of Thames in the west, for so stretched the wall in his time, and the Citie being farre more in length from Cast to West, then in bredth, from South to Porth; and also narrower at both ends, then in the middest, is therfore compassed with the wall on the land side, in forme of a bow, except denting in betwirt Creplegate, and Aldersgate. But the wall on the Southside, along by the river of Thames, was straight, as the Aring of a bow, and all surnished with Towres or Bullwarks, (as we now terme them) in due distance energ one from other, as witnesseth our Authour, and our selves may behold for the land side. This may suffice sor profe of a wat, and forme thereof about this Citie, and the same to have been of great autiquitie, as any other within this Kealme.

And now touching the maintenance, and repairing the lapd wall, I read, that in the years 1215. the 6. of king lohn, the Ba-

Walls of London repaired. rons entring the City by Ealdgate, first tok affurance of the Cio Roger of Ran. tizens, then brake into the Jelves houles, fearched their coffers douer. to fill their owne purfes : And after, with great diligence repai Mathew red the walls and gates of the Citic, with ftones taken from the Paris. Jewes broken houses. In the piere 1257. Henry the third caus Ranul: fed the wais of this City, which were fore decaied and destitute Cogshall. Math. Paris. of Towers and Toweets, to bee repaired in more family wife then before, at the common charges of the Citie. Also, in the peere 1282. Hing Edward the first, having granted to Robert Kilwarby, Arch-biffop of Canterbury, licence for the enlarging of the blacke Friers Church, to breake and take volume a part of the wall of the City, from Ludgate to the riner of Thames: De also granted to Henry Waleis, Daioz, and the Citizens of London, the fanour to take toward the making of the wall, and inclosure of the City, certaine customes, or toll, as appeareth by his graunt. This wall was then to be made from Ludgate, west to Fleetbridge, along behinde the houses, and along by the water of the Fleete, buto the river of Thames. Hogeover, in the pere 1310. Edward the fecone commanded the Citizens, to make by the wall already begun, and the Tower at the end of the same wall, within the water of Thames, niere buto the blacke Friers, &c. 1322. The fecond of Edward the 3. the walls of this Citie were repaired. It was also granted by king Richard the fecond, in the tenth of his reigne, that a toll mould Patent, be taken of the wares, fold by land or by water (for ten yeres) towards the repairing of the walls, and cleanfing of the ditch as bout London. In the 17. of Edward the fourth, Ralfe Iofeline, Baioz, caused part of the wall about the Citie of London, to bee repaired, to wit, betwirt Ealdgate, and Alderigate. Dee alfo caused the Doze field to be fearthed for clay, and Bricke there: of to be made, and burnt: he likewife caufed thalk to be brought out of Kent, and to be burnt into lime in the fame Moore-field, for more furtherance of the worke. Then the Skinners, to begin in the Caft, made that part of the wall, betwirt Ealdgare and Buries markes towards Bishopsgate, as may appeare by their armes in three places fired there. The Daioz, with his companie of the Drapers, made all that part, betwirt Bishopsgate and Alhailowes Church in the same wall, and from Alhallowes towards the Posterne, called Mooregate. A great part of the same wall was repaired, by the Erecutors of ar John Crosby, late Alberman, as may appeare by his Armes, in two plas ces there fired : and other Companies repaired the rest of the wall to the Posterne of Creplegate.

In a Record which I have fiene, and affirmed also by John Rouse, and (after him) by Raphael Holinshed, I find thus waitten: In Anno 1477, by the viligence of Ralph Ioffeline, Maioz of London, the wall about London was new made, betwirt Algate and Creplegate. De caused the Doze fields to be fear. ched for clay, and Bricke to be made and burnt there. De caus fed chalke also to be brought out of Kent, and in the same Dozes fields to bee burnt into lime, onely for the furtherance of that worke. The Paioz, with his company of the Drapers, made al that part, betwirt Bishopsgate and Alhallowes Church in the same wall. Bishopsgate it self was new built, by the Werthants Almanes of the Stilliard. And from Alhallowes Church in the wall toward Mooregate, a great part of the same was builded of the good, and by the Crecutors of Sir Iohn Crosby, fomes times an Alderman, and Pais of London, as may appeare by his Armes theron fixed in two places. The Company of Skin. ners made that part of the wall, betweene Aldgate and Buries marks, towards Bishopsgate: as may appeare by their Armes in the places fixed. The other Companies of the Citie made the other deale of the wall; which was a great worke to be done in one veere.

Of Ancient and present Rivers, Brooks, Boornes, Pooles, Wels, and Conduits of fresh water, serving the Citie, as also of the Ditch compassing the wall of the same, for defence thereof.

peres after, the Citie of London was watered yeares after, the Citie of London was watered (besides the famous Kiver of Thames, on the South part) with the Kiver of the Welles, as it was then called: on the Welles, with water, called Walbrooke, running thosow the midst of the Citie into the river of Thames, serving the heart thereof. And with a fourth water or Borne, which ran within the Citie, through Langboorne ward, watering that part in the Cast. In the West suburbs was also another great water, called Oldborne, which had his fall into the river of Welles.

Then was there there principall Fountaines, or Welles in the other Suburbs, to wit, Holy-wel, Clements Well, and Clarkes Well. Peere but this last named Fountaine, were divers other Wels; to wit, Skinners Well, Fags Well, Tode Well, Loders Well, and Radwell. All which say Wels has uing the fall of their overslowing in the foresaid Kiver, much encreased the Areame, and, in that place, gave it the name of Well. In west Smithfield there was a Poole, in Records called Horsepoole, and one other Pole, neere but the parish Church of S. Giles without Creplegate. Besides, all which they had in every freet and lane of the Citie, divers faire Welles, & fresh Springs: and after this manner was this City then served with sweet and fresh waters, which being since decayed, other meanes meanes have bin fought to supply the want, as shall be shewed: but first of the afozenamed Rivers and other waters, is to bee lavo, as followeth.

River of Thames. Thames, the most famous river of this Iland, beginneth a little above a Aillage, called Winchcombe, in Oxfordshire, and still increasing, passeth first by the Aniversity of Oxford, and so (with a marvellous quiet course) to London, and thence breaketh into the French Decan by maine tives, which twise in 24. howes space both ebbe & some, more then 60. miles in length, to the great commodity of Aravellers, by which all kinde of Aerchandises are easily convaied to London, the principall Store-house, and Staple of all comodities within this Kealm. So that, omitting to speake of great ships, and other vessels of burden, there appertaineth to the Citie of London, Westminster, and Burrough of Southwarke, above the number (as is supposed) of 2000. Wherries, and other small boates, where by 3000. poore men (at the least) bee set on worke, and mainstained.

Whirries on the Thames.

River of wels.

That the river of Wels in the west part of the Citie, was of old so called of the Wels, it may be proved thus; William the Conquerer in his Charter, to the Colledge of So. Martin le Grand in London, hath these words: I doe give and grant to the same Church, all the land and the Moore without the Posterne, which is called Creplegate, on either part of the Posterne: that is to say, from the North corner of the Wall (as the river of the Wels, there neere running, departeth the same Moore from the Wall) vnto the running water which entreth the City. This water hath been long since called, the River of the Wels, which name of river continued, and it was so called in the reign of Edward the sirst: as shall be shewed, with also the decay of the sayd river.

Parliament record.

In a faire booke of Parliament recordes, now lately restored to the Tower, it appeareth, that a Parliament being holden at Carlile, in the yeare 1307. the 35. of Edward the first Henry Lacy, Earle of Lincolne, complained, that whereas (in times past) the course of water, running at London vnder Oldeborne bridge, and Fleete bridge into the Thames, had beene of fuch

fuch bredth and depth, that 10. or 12. Ships, Nauies at once with River of Wels Merchandises, were wont to come to the foresayd bridge of bare Ships. Fleete, and some of them to Oldborne bridge : Now the same course (by filth of the Tanners and such others) was fore decayed; also by raying of wharfes, but specially, by a diversion of the water, made by them of the new Temple; for their Milles Standing without Baynards Caftle, in the first yeere of King Iohn, Patent Record. and by divers other impediments, fo as the faid ships could not Mils by Bayenter as they were wont, and as they ought. Wherefore hee de- nards castell, fired, that the Maior of London, with the Sheriffes and other dif- made in the creet Aldermen, might be appointed to view the fayd course of the fayd water, and that by the othes of good men, all the forefayd hinderances might be remoued, and it to be made as it was wont of old. Whereupon, Roger le Brabason, the Constable of of the Towre, with the Maior and Sheriffes, were affigned to take with them honest and discreete men, and to make diligent fearch and enquiry, how the fayd river was in old time, and River so called that they leave nothing that may hurt or stop it, but keepe it in 1307. the same effate that it was wont to be : So far the Rerozo.

Whereupon it followed, that the layd Kiner was at that time cleanled, thefe Wils remoued, and other things done for the prefernation of the course thereof: notwithstanding, ne, ner brought to the olde depth and breadth: whereupon the name of Kiner ceafed, and it was fince called a Brooke; namely, Turnmill, 02 Tremill B200ke, fo2 that divers Dils were e- Turnemill rected bpon it, as appeareth by afaire Register booke, con-Brooke, teining the foundation of the Pziozie at Clarken-well, and donation of the lands thereunto belonging, as also by divers other Records.

This Brooke hath been divers times fince cleanfed, namely, and last of all to any effect, in the yeare 1502. the 17. of Henry the fenenth, the whole course of Flecte Dike, then so called, was scowzed (3 say) bowne to the Thames, so that boats with fifth and fewell were rowed to Fleetbridge, and to Oldborne bridge, as they of old time had been accustomed, which was a great commoditie to al the inhabitants in that part of the Citie.

Fleet Dike promised to be clenfed; the money collected, and the Citizens deceiued.

In the yeere 1 5 8 9. was granted a fifteene, by a common Councel of the Citie, for the cleaning of this Brooke or Dike: the mony amounting to a thousand marks, was collected, and it was undertaken, that by drawing diners fyzings about Hamp-Red Death into one head and courfe, both the Citie Mould bee ferued of fresh water in al places of want, and also, that by fuch a follower (as men call it) the chanell of this 13200ke thould bee scowzed into the river of Thames. But much money being therein fpent, the effect fapled, fo that the Baoke, by meanes of continuall incrochments upon the banks, getting over the water, and calling of loplage into the Areame, is now become

It ran through the Citie, with divers windings from the Porth toward the South into the river of Thames, and had (ouer the fame diners bridges along the Arests and lanes, through which Liber customs, it passed. I have read in a booke intituled, The customes of London that the Paioz of the holy Trinity within Ealdgate, ought to make ouer Walbrooke in the ward of Brodftreet, against the stone wall of the Citie, vz. the same bringe that is nert the Church of All Saints, at the wall. In the peere 1 300, the keepers of those bringes at that time, were William Iordan and John de Beuer. Langborne water so called of the length therof, was a great Langborne, Gream breaking out of the ground, in Fen Church Gréet, which ran downe with a swift course, west, through the stréet, thwart Grastreete, and downe Lumbard street, to the west end of S. Mary Wolnoths Church, and then turning the course South downe Shareborne lane (so termed of sharing or dividing) it Shareborne brake into divers rilles or rillets to the River of Thames. Of lane, this bourne that warde toke the name, and is till this day called Langborne ward. This Bourne also is long since stopped Langborne up at the head, and the rest of the course silled up and paved or ward, were, so that no signe thereof remaineth, more then the names associated.

Oldborne oz Hilborne, was the like water, breaking out as Oldborne, bout the place where now the bars do stand, and it ran downe the whole street to Oldborne bridge, and into the Kiver of the Wels, or Turne-mill brook. This Bourne was likewise (long since) Kopped by at the head, and in other places, where the same hath broken out: but yet till this day, the said street is there called, high Oldborne hill, and both the sides thereof (together with all the grounds adioining, that lye betwirt it and the Kiver of Thames) remaine full of springs, so that water is there found at hand, and hard to be stopped in every house.

There are (fayth Fitzstephen) neere London, on the North side, Fitzstephen. speciall Wels in the Suburbs, sweete, wholsome and cleere, amongst which, Holy-well, Clarks Well, and Clements Well, are most famous, and frequented by Schollers, and youths of the Citie in Summer Euenings, when they walke forth to take the ayre.

Of the Ancient and famous River of Thames, whence it deriueth her head or originall, and so conuaieth it selfe on to the Cities service, being supplied by divers other sweet Rivers, in her course.

Du haue already heard, what Kiners, broks, Bornes, Poles and Conduits of fresh was ter, have liberally afforded (out of their plentie) most commodious helpe for the fernice of so great a Citie. And pet the River of Thames, much moze famous then al the reft. peelding by Forners, Conduits, and other meanes of conuayance, ineffimable benefit to the Citie, wee land, and espe- have sayo little or nothing of her one worth, neither of her antiquitie, course and originall, all which well beferue to be more especially respected. According therefore to the aduice of bery wife and learned indgements, and borrowing fuch helpe as they have gladly lent me, I will begin with the head or fpring of this famous River, and thew how it glideth along in current, butill it come to embrace the bosome of the Sea, and there to take by her entertainment in his liquid Armes.

Dining credit to fuch mens writings, as have (of fet purpose) sought out the spring of the Thames: it is faithfully affire med, that this famous freame hath her head or beginning, out of the five of an hil, flanding in the Plaines of Corfwold, about out of the fide a mile from Terbury, neere buto the Fosse (an high way so called of old) where it was sometime named Isis, or the Ouse, although divers doe (ignozantly) call it the Thames even there: rather of a folish custome, then any skill, because they either neglect, or are otterly ignorant, how it was named at the fire. From hence it runneth virectly toward the Caff (as al and lifuers Mould Do) and meteth with the Cirne og Churne, a 1320h, called in Latine Corinium : whereof Cirncester Towne (by which which it commeth) both take the benomination, in most opinions.

From hence it haffeth unto Creekelade, alias Crekanford, Creekelade. Lechlade, Rattcotebridge, Newbridge and Eucham, receining Radcote-(by the way) an infinite fort of fmall Streames , 1820okes, bridge. Beckes, waters and Kundels. And here (on this fide of the Newbridge. Towne) dinideth it felfe into two courfes, of which one goeth Eucham. traight to Botley and Hinksey; the other passeth by Godstow, a billage not farre off. This latter fpzeadeth it felfe alfo (foz a while into funder fmaller beanches, which run not farre, before they beereunited, and then be clipping fundrie pleafant Dedowes, it passeth at length by Oxford, of some supposed Oxford of Ouleford, so rather to bee called Ouseford, of this Kiner where it meteth called of the with the Charwell. Surely as neither of thefe contedures are to be contemned, fo the laft commeth most nere to mine and, who affirme, that not onely the course of enery Water it selfe: but also his ouername to water flowing, was in times past called Rhee, by such Saxons as incourses and o- habited this Idand. And even to this day, in Effex, I have oft observed, that when the lower grounds (by rage of waters) have beene overflowne: the people beholding the fame, have faid; All is on a Rhee; as if they would have faid; All is now a River. Albeit the wood River is derived from the French, and borrowed by them from the Latines : but not without cor ruption, as it was brought to them. I will not heere give notice how far they are deceived, which call the aforefaid Church ouer Ifis, or lie. by the name of Saint Mary Auderies, 02 Saint Mary ouer Ifis, or lie : but I will proceed with the course of this noble fream. which, howfoeuer thefe matters fand, it hath passed by Reding, and there received the Kener, which commeth from the Dilles that ite West of Marleborough, and then the Thetis, commonly called the Dive, that commeth from Thetisford. It hieth thence to Sudlington, other wife called Maidenhead, and to to Windleshore, oz Windsore, Acton, and then to Chertley, inhere Erkenwald Biffop of London, fometime builded a Religious house or Cell, as I doe read.

From Cherrley it haffeth directly buto Stanes, and receibrooke. King uing another ffreame by the way, called the Cole (wherebyon Colebrooke franteth) it goeth by Kingstone, Shene, Sion, and ford Bregent Brentford, og Bregentford : where it meteth with the Brane og the Brene, another Brook bescending from Edgeworth. Apon this 15200k alfo, Sir Iohn Thin had fometime a ftately house, with a marueplous pronision to inclose and retaine fuch filly as Mould come about the fame. From Brentford it paffeth by Chelfey, Fulham, Lambeth. Mortlach, Putney, Fulham, Batterfey, Chelfey, Lambeth, and fo to London.

Dur famous River being thus brought to London, and has London East- Ming on, to meete with Oceanus her amozous husband : the first water that it then meteth withall, is the Brome on Kent Brome on Ker five, West of Greenewich, whose head is Bromis in Bromley fide. Darify, and going thence to Lewsham; it taketh in a water Lewsham, from by Caft, and so directeth his course forth right buto the Thames.

The next water that it meeteth withall, is on Effex five, almost against Woolwich, and that is the Lee of Luie. And bee Wolwich. ing past that, the Darwent also meteth with our Thames bpon Lee or Luie Kents five, two miles and more beneath Erith, it rifing at Tan- on Effex fide. ridge. The nert Kiner that falleth into the Thames, is West Kent fide. of the Wanie Isles, a Kill of no great fame, neither long course: The Wany for, rifing about Coringham, it runneth not many miles Caft les. and by South, till it falles into the mouth of this River, which 300 now describe. Last of all we come to the Medway, ano: table River, in mine opinion, watering all the South, and Southwest parts of Kent, in whose description we cannot (at

Daving (in this manner)briefely touched this noble Kiner, and fuch Brookes as fall into the same : I will insert a word or two, concerning the commodities of the faid Kiver, which Commodities I will performe with so much breuitie as is possible; heereby of this noble also finding out her whole tract and course from the head, to the River, fall thereof into the Sea. It appeareth evidently, that the length thereof is (at the least) an hundred and eighty miles, if The length of it be measured by the tourneyes of the land. And as it is in from the head course, the longest of the the famous Rivers of this Ille : so to the fall into is it nothing inferiour to them, in abundance of all kind of fift, the Sea, whereof it is hard to fay, which of the three have either most plentie, oz greatest varietie, if the circumstances be duly weighed. Tahat some other write, concerning the Rivers of their Countries, it skilleth not, neither will 3 (as viners do) inuent frange things of this noble freame, therewith to nobilitate, An honorable and make it more honourable: but this will I in plaine tearms affirmation of the River of affirme, that it neither swalloweth by baffards of the Celtish Thames. bewoe, or caffeth by the right begotten, that are throwne in (without hurt) into their mothers lappe : as Politian fableth of the Rhene, Epistolorum lib, 8. But how foeuer thefe small matters do fall out, and how of ten soener this course of the Areame Doth happen to be diffurbed : yet at two fenerall times of the Done, the Waters returne to their naturall course and limits of time exactly. Polidore faith, that this Kiner is felbome increafed, og rather nes uer overfloweth her bancks by land-flouds : but hee is heerein very much deceined, as it hall more apparantly be feene heeres after. Foz, the moze that this River is put by of her right course, the moze the water must (of necessity) swell with the white waters, which run bowne from the Land : because the passage cannot be so swift and ready in the winding, as in the Araight course.

Land-floods do much strain the streames fineneffe.

The Land flouds also do greatly fraine the finenesse of the Areame, in so much, that after a great land floud, you hall take

He Ditch which partly now remaineth, and compassed the wall of the Citie, was begun to be made by the Londoners, in the yeere 1211. and was finished in the yeere 1213. the 15. of Ling Iohn: this Ditch being then made of 200. foot broad, caused no small hinderance to the Canons of the holy Trinitie, whose Church stod neere buto Aldgate, for that the said ditch passed through their ground, from the Tower of London, but dishopsgate. This Ditch being originally made for the defence of the Citie, was also long time together, carefully cleansed and maintained as need required; but now of late neglected, and forced either to a very warrow, and the same a silthy Chanell, or altogether stopped up for Gardens planted, and houses builded thereon, even to the very wall, and in many places upon both Ditch and Wall, houses are builded, to what danger of the City, I leave to wis ser consideration then mine owner and can but wish that reformation might be had.

In the years of Christ, 1354. the 28. of Edward the third, the ditch of this City flowing over the bank into the Tower ditch, the king commanded the said ditch of the City to be cleansed, and so ordered, that the overflowing thereof should not force any filth into the Tower ditch.

Anno 1379. Iohn Philpot Paioz of London, caused this vitch to be cleansed, and energy houshold to pay b. d. which was soz a dayes worke towards the charges thereof. Richard the 2. in the tenth of his reigne, granted a Toll to be taken of wares solde by water, 02 by land soz ten yeeres, towards repairing of the wall, and cleansing of the Ditch.

It was againe cleansed in the years 1549. Henry Amcotes being Paioz, at the charges of the Companies. And againe 1569, the 11. of Queene Elizabeth, soz cleansing the same ditch, betweene Ealdgate and the Posterne, and making a new sewere, and whatse of timber, from the head of the Posterne plenty of into the towne ditch, biy. I am not ignozant of two fifteenes granted by a common Councell, in the yeare 1595, for the reformation of this vitch, and that a small portion thereof, to wit, betwirt Bishopsgate, and the Posterne, called Mooregate, was cleansed, and made somewhat broader: but filling agains very sast, by reason of ouer-raysing the ground neere adioining, therefore never the of Richard the first, when William Longshampe, Bishop of Ely, Chancellour of England, caused a part of the Citie wall; to wit, from the faid gate towards the river of Thames, to the white Tower, to bee broken downe, for the enlarging of the faid Tower, which hee then compassed far wide about with a Wallimbar wall embattelled, and is now the outer wal. De also caused a broad and deepe ditch to be made without the same wall, intending to have derined the river of Thames with her tydes, to have flowed about it, which would not be. But the Southfide of this gate, being then by undermining at the foundation logfed, and greatly weakned; at length, to wit, after 200. peres and odde, the same fel down, in the peere, 1440. the 18. of Hen. the firt, and was neuer fince by the Citizens reedified. Such was their negligence then, which hath beed some trouble to their fucceffogs; fince, thep fuffered a weake and wooden buil. bing to be there made, inhabited by perfons of lews life, oft times by inquest of Portfoken Ward prefented, but not reformed: wheras of former times, the faid Pofferne was accompted of, as other gates of the City, and was appointed to men of good credite. Antongle other , I have read, that in the 49. of Edw. the 3. Aldgate. Monday

Aldgate,

De next gate in the Cast, is called Aldgate, of the antiquity or age therof. This is one, and the first of the foure principal gates, and also one of the feuen double gates, mentioned by Fitzstephen. It hath has two paire of gates, though now but one, the hokes of them both remaine.

Also there hath bene two Portcloses, the one of them remained till the new building of the Bate, the other wanteth, and the place of letting volume was manifest. For antiquitie of the gate, it appeareth by a Charter of &. Edgar, to the knights of Knighton Guild, that in his daies, the faid port was called Lib. Trimitate. Aldgate, as ye may read in the ward of Portloken. Allo Matild the Duene, wife to Hen. the firft, hauing founded the Priorie of the holy Trinity within Aldgate, gane to the fame Church, Soke or court, to Norman the first 102102, and the Canons that denoutly ferued God there in the port of Aldgate, the Soke or Franches thereunto belonging, with all customes, as fre as the held the fame : in the which Charter, fie nameth the house Christs

Church, and reporteth Aldgate to be of his demaine.

Doze, I read in the yeare 1215. that in the civill wars be- Math. Paris. tween B. John & his Barons, the Londoners affifting the Bas rons faction, who then belieged Northampton, and after came to Bedford Caftle, where they were well received by William Beauchampe, and Captaine of the fame: hauing then alfo fecret intelligence, that they might enter the City of London, if thep would; they remoued their campe to Ware, from whence in the night comming to London, they entred Aldgare, and placing gardians, or keepers of the gates, they disposed of all things in the City at their pleasure. They spoiled the Friers houses, and Radul. Cogs. fearched their coffers, which being bone, Robert Fitzwater, leffrey Magnauile, Barle of Effex, and the Carle of Glocefter, chiefe leavers of the Army, applied all viligence to repaire the Wates and walles of this City, with the flones taken from the Aldgate new Tews broken houses; namely, Aldgate being then molt ruinous builded, (which had given them an easie entrie) they repaired, or rather newly builded, after the manner of the Normans, ftrongly ar thed, with bul warks of flone, broght from Cane in Normandy, and (mall Brick, called, Flanders tile, was brought fro thence, fuch as hath ben here bled fince the Conquell, and not befoze.

In the piere 1471. the ri. of Edw. the 4. Thomas the baffard W. Donthorn. Fawconbridge, hauting affembled a riotous companie of Shipmen e other, in Effex, and Kent, came to London with a great Thomas Lord nauis of thips, neere to the Tower: whereupen the Paio; and Fawconbridge Albermen, by confent of a common Councell, foztifico all along fer you Aldthe Thames five, from Baynards Castell to the Tower, with gare.

And further , on Sunday the elementh of May, fine thousand of them affaulting Acidthe Bulwarkes gate, wan the Bulwarks, and entered the Citie, but the Boots close being letten bowne, fuch as had entered were flaine: and Robert Baffer, Alberman of Aeldgate ward, with the Recogper, commanded in the name of God to date bp the Postclofe: which being done, thepissued out, and with harpe that and fierce fight, put their enemies backe fo farre as Saint Buttolphs Church, by which time the Carle Rivers, and the Lieu-Lieutenant of tenant of the Tower was come, with a fresh company, which the Tower of ionning together, discomfitted the Rebels, & put them to flight, fifted the Citi- whom the Taid Robert Baffet, with the other Citizens, chafed to the Miles end, and from thence, fome to Popular, fome to Stratford, flue many, and toke many of them paifoners. 311 which space, the Baltard having affaied other places bpon the water live, and little prenailing, fled toward his thips : thus much for Aeldgate, as it was, and continued in those elber baies : but the new building thereof remaineth till I come to speake of the Ward. If they toke not this way, by the Caff out at Aeldgare, they mut then take their way by the and all sais Posth out at Aeldersgate, through Aeldersgate streete, and Gofwelftreete towards Ifeldon, and by a croffe of ffone on their right hand, fet op for a marke by the Porth end of Goldinglane, to turne Caffward through a long freete, butill this dap called Alderstreet, to another Crosse then there standing, where now a Smiths forge is placed by Sewers dirch Church, and then to turne againe Boath towards Torenham, Endfield, Waltham, Ware, &c. The eldelt note that I read of this Bifhopfgate, is, that William Blund, one of the Sheriffes of London, in the pere 1210 fold to Serle Mercer, and William Almaine, procurators, or Wardens of London bridge, al his Lib. And now for repayring the fame, I find, that Henrie the London. third confirmed to the Parchants of the Paunce, that had an house in the Citie, called Guildhalla Themonicorum, certaine Diberties and Driviledges. Edward the first also confirmed the fame, in the tenth pere of whose raigne it was found, that the faid Parchants ought of right to repaire the faid Gate, salles Bishopsgate. Posterne of Cripplegate.

De nert is the Posterne of Cripplegate, so called long be: Postern of I foze the Conquest. For I read in the Distory of Edmond, Cripplegate. Abba Floria-ting of the East Angles, written by Abba Floriacensis, and censis. by Burchard, Cometime Secretary to Offa, king of Mertia, but Burchard. fince then, by Iohn Lidgate Donke of Bury, that in the yeare 1010, the Danes spoiling the kingdome of the Cast Angles, Alwyne, Bilhop of Helmeham, caused the body of Bing Edmond the Warty, to bee brought from Bedrifworth, (now called Bury Saint Edmonds, through the kingdome of Caft Saxons, and fo to London in at Cripplegate. A place, faith mine Author, fo called of Creples begging there: and at which gate, (it was faid) the body entering, miracles were wrought, as some of the Lame to goe byzight, prayling God. The bos by of Bing Edmond refted, for the space of thee yeares, in the Parith Thurch of Saint Gregorie neere unto the Cathe, Brall Church of Saint Paul. Dozeouer, the Charter of William the Conqueroz, cofirming the foundation of the Colledge in London, called Saint Martin the great, hath thefe woods. Martin le I doe give and grant to the same Church and Canons, serving grand. God therein : All the land and the Moore, without the Po- Liber S.Bartilflerne, which is called Cripplegate, on either part of the Do. mew. Merne. Doze I reave, that Alfune builded the Parify Church of Saint Giles, nigh a Gate of the Citie, called Porta contractorum, 02 Criplesgate, about the yeare 1090.

This Polterne was sometime a Paison, whereunto such Cripplegate 2 Citizens and others, as were arrefted for debt, or common prifon for trespasses, were committed, as they be now to the Compters. trespassers. Wilhich thing appeareth by a wait of Edward the first, in thefe words: Rex Vic. London salutem. A Well of Aldersgate.

De nert is Eldersgate, 02 Aldersgate, so called, not of Ale drich, og of Cloers, that is to fap, ancient men, builders thereof, not of Cloerne trees, growing there more aboundantly, then in other places, as some have fabuled; but for the very antiquity of the gate it felfe, as being one of the firth called Beware 4. Sates of the Citie, and feruing for the Portherne parts, as Aldgate for the Caft, which two Gates being both olo Bates, are for difference fake called, the one Ealdgate, and the other Aldersgate. This is the fourth principall Bate, and hath at funday times been increased with buildings, namely, on the South, og innerlide, a great frame of timber hath been added and fet bp, containing diners large roomes, and lodgings. Also on the Call fide, is the addition of one great building of Mimber, with one large flooze, paued with ftone, oz tile, and a Well therein curbed with ftone, of a great bepth, and rifing great depth at into the faid roome, two fories high from the ground : which Well is the only peculiar note belonging to that Gate, for 3 have not feene the like in all this Citie, to bee rayled fo high. Iohn Day Stationer, a late famous Painter of many good Books, in our time dwelled in this Gate, and builded much bpon the Wall of the Citie, towards the Parish Church of Saint Anne. Concerning the now new building of this Bate, wee shall speake moze thereof, in bescribing the Ward.

Newgate.

De nert Sate on the Well, and by Porth, is termed Newgate, as latelier builded then the reft, and is the fift Newgate. principall Gate. This Gate was firft erected about the raign of Henrie the first, og of King Stephen, vpon this occasion. The Cathedall Church of Saint Paul, being burnt about the peere, 1086. in the raigne of William the Conquerour, Mau- Paules church ritius, then Bilhop of London, repayzed not the old Church, as in London fome haue supposed; but began the foundation of a new work, new builded, fuch as men then indged would never have been performed, it was to them fo wonderfull for height, length, and breath, as also in respect it was rapled byon Arches of baults, a kind of workemanship brought in by the Normans, and never known to the Artificers of this land befoze that time, &c. After Mauritius, Richard Beaumore did wonderfully aduance the worke of the faid Church, purchasing the large Greets, and lanes round about, wherein were wont to dwell many lay people, which grounds he began to compasse about with a strong wall of Kone, and gates. By meanes of this increase of the Thurch territozie, but moze by inclofing of ground foz folarge a Ce. mitogie, og Churchpard : the high and large freet fretching from Aldgare in the Caft, buto Ludgare in the West, was in this place to croffed and Ropped bp, that the carriage through the Citie Wellward, was:forced to palle without the fayd Churchyard wall on the Posth live, through Pater noffer row: and then South, downe Aue Mary lane, and againe Meff, through Bowyer row to Ludgate : or elfe out of Cheape, or Watheling freete, to turne South, through the old Exchange, then Weff through Carter lane : againe Porth bp Creed lane and then West to Ludgate. Which passage, by reason of so often turning, was very combersome, and dangerous both for horse and man. For remedy whereof, a new Gate was made,

Newgate first and so called, by which men and cattell, with all manner of builded, and carriages might passe moze directly (as afoze) from Aldgate, the cause why. through West Cheape by Paules, on the Porth side, through Saint Nicholas shambles, and Newgate Market to Newgate, and from thence to any part Theffward over Oldborn bridge. or turning without the Gate into Smithfield, and through Ifeldon, to any part Porth and by Welf. This Wate hath of long time been a Gayle, or prison for felons and trespatters. as appeareth by Records in the raigne of King Iohn, and cf other Kings, amongli the which I find one tellifying, that in the peare 1218, the third of King Henrie the third, the King writeth buto the Sheriffes of London, commanding them to repayze the Gaile of Newgate, for the fafe keeping of his prifoners, promifing that the charges layo out, thould be allowed buto them byon their accompt in the Orchequer.

Dozeouer, in the yeere 1241. the Jewes of Norwich were hanged, for circumcifing a Christian child, their house called the Thor, was pulled downe and deffroped. Aaron, the fonne of Abraham a Jew, at London, and the other Jewes, were conftrained to pay twenty thouland Parks, at two Tearms in the peere, or elfe to be kept perpetuall prisoners in Newgate of London, and in other pailons. 1255. Bing Henry the third longed in the Mower of London, bpon displeasure comceined towards the Citienf London, for the escape of Iohn Offrem a paifoner, being a Clearke connict, out of Newgate, which had killed a Paioz that was of alliance to the King, as coulin to the Queene: he fent for the Paior and Sheriffes to The Sheriffes come befoge him, to answere the matter : The Paioz laid the fault from bim to the Sheriffes, foglomuch, as to them belonged the keeping of all paifoners within the Citie, and fo the the Tower for Paioz returned home; but the Sheriffes remained there paiescape of a pri- somers, by the space of a Poneth and moze, and yet they excufed themselves, in that the fault chiefly reffed in the Bilhops officers: For whereas the prisoner was under cultodie, they (at his request) had granted licence, to impaison the offender within the Gaile of Newgate; but lo, as the Bichops Deticers were charged to fix him fafely kept. In the yeare 1326. Robert Baldocke the Bings Chancel- The Kings loz, was put in Newgate, the third of Edward the 3. In the Chancellor peere 1237. Sir Iohn Poultney gane foure Parks by the prisoner in peere, to the reliefe of prisoners in Newgate. In the yeare Newgate. 1385. In the peere Prisoners in 1414. the Gaylers of Newgate and Ludgate died, and paifo, Newgate and Ludgate dyed. ners in Newgate, to the number of 64. In the peere 1418. the Parlon of Wrotham in Kent was impailoned in Newgate. The yeare 1412. the first of Henrie 6. licence was granted to John Couentre, Ienken Carpenter, and William Grove, executors to Richard Whittington, to reedifie the Gaile of Newgate, which they did with his goods.

Thomas Knowles, Grocer, sometime Daioz of London, builded bylicence of Reynold, Paioz of S. Bartholomews in Smith- Water confield, and also of John Wakering, Waster of the Dospitall of ucyed to New-Saint Bartholomew, and his brethren, conneped the walte of gate and Ludwater at the Celterne neere to the common Fountaine, and Chappell of Saint Nicholas (fituate by the faid Hospitall) to the Bailes of Newgate and Ludgate, for the reliefe of the prifoners. Auesdaynert after Palme Sunday, 1431. all the prisoners of Ludgate were remoued into Newgate by Walter Prisoners of Chartley, and Robert Large, Sheriffes of London. And on the Ludgate remo-13. of Apaill, the same Sheriffes (through the falle suggesti- ucd to Newon of John Kingesell Gailer of Newgate) did fetch from thence eighteene persons, free men, and these were led to the Compters pinioned, as if they had been felous. But on the 16. of June, Ludgate was againe appointed for free men, prisoners for debt, and the same day, the said Free men entered by ordinance of the Paioz, Albermen and Commons, and by them, Henrie Deane Mapler, was made keeper of Ludgate Prison. In the peere 1457, a great Fray was in the Porth Countrey, L. Egremond betweene Sir Thomas Percie, Lozd Egremond, and the Carle & other broke. of Salisburies Sonnes, whereby many were maymed and prison out of flaine: but in the end, the Lord Egremond being taken, was Newgate.

by the Kings Counsell found in great default, and therefore condemned in great fummes of money, to bee payed to the Carle of Salisburie, and in the meane time, committed to Newgate. Pot long after, Sir Thomas Percie, Lozd Egremond, and Sir Richard Percie his bother, being in Newgate, brake out of prison by night, and went to the Bing, the other prisoners tooke the Leads of the Gate, and defended it (a long while) against the Sheriffes, and all their Officers, infomuch that they were forced to call more and of the Citizens, whereby at last they subdued them, and lavo them in irons: And this map suffice for Newgate.

Ludgate.

Ludgate new builded,

I p the West is the next, and firt principall Gate, and is call Lled Ludgate, as first builded (faith Geffrey Monmouth) by King Lud a Briton, about the veere before Christs Ratiuitie 66. Df which building, and also of the name, as Ludfgate, 02 Fludfgate, hath been of late fome queffion among the learned, wherefore I ouerpaffe it, as not to my purpole; only referring the Reader, to that I have before written out of Ca-Roger Windo- fars Commentarics, and other Komane waiters, concerning a Tolune 02 Citie amongft the Britaines. This Bate, I fuy-Mathew Paris. pofe, to be one of the most anrient, and as Aldgate was builded for the Caft, fo was this Ludigate for the Weft. 3 reade, as I told you, that in the peere 1215. the 17. of Bing Iohn, the Barons of the Realme, being in Armes againft the laing, entred this Citie, and spoiled the Jewes howfes: which being being done, Robert Fitzwater, and Geffrey de Magna villa, Carle of Effex, and the Carle of Gloucester, chiefe leavers of the Armie, applied all viligence, to repaire the Bates and wals of this Citie, with the Cones of the Jewes broken boufes, especially (as it seemeth) they then repayzed, og rather new builded Ludgate. For in the veere 1,86. when the fame Bate was taken bowne, to bee new builded, there was found couched within the wall thereof, a ftone taken from one of the Jewes houses, wherein was graven in Bebzue Caracters, thele

And it had been fired bpon the front of one of the Jewes houses, as a note, og figne, that such a one owelled there. In the yeare, 1260. this Ludgate was repais Patent. red, and beautified with Images of Lud, and other Kings, as appeareth by Letters Patents , of licence ginen to the Citizens of London, to take by Cone for that purpose, dated the 25. of Henrie the third. Thele Images of Lings, in the raigne of Edward the firt, had their heads smitten off, and were other wife befaced, by fuch as indged enery Image to bee an Idoll, and in the raigne of Queene Mary were repayzed, as by letting new heads on their old bodies, tc. All which fo remained, butill the yeere 1586. the 28. of Queene Elizabeth, Ludgate again when the same Bate (being soze becayed) was cleane taken new builded. bowne, the prisoners in the meane time, remaining in the large Southeast quadrant to the same Gate adiopning, and the same peere, the whole Gate was newly and beautifully builded, with the Images of Lud, and others, as afoze, on the Cast fibe, and the picture of her Paieffie, Queen Elizabeth, on the Ludgate inlar-Well five. All which was done at the common charges of the ged in the Citizens, amounting to 1500. pounds of more.

This Gate was made a free prison in the peere 1378. the Ludgate a free firft of Richard the fecond, Nicholas Brembar being Paioz. prifon. The same was confirmed in the yeere 1382. HE Citie of London (faith Fitzstephen) hath in the East, a very great and a most strong Palatine Tower, whose Turrets and Walls doe rife from a deepe foundation, the morter thereof being tempered with the bloud of beafts. In the west part are two most strong Castels,

The Tower of

To begin therefore with the most famous Tower of London, lituate in the Call, neere buto the river of Thames, it hath been the common opinion, and some have written (but of none affured ground) that Iulius Cafar, the first Conquerour of the Britaines, was the oziginall Author and Founder as well therof, as also of many other Towers, Castels, and great buils dings within this Realme. But (as I have already before no- Inmy Anted) Cæfar remained not here fo long, noz had hee in his head a- nales. ny fuch matter; but only, to dispatch a conquest of this barbar rous Countrey, and to proceede to greater matters. Peither do the Romane Waiters make mention of any such buildings erected by him here.

And therefore leaving this, and proceeding to more groun. bed authority, I find in a faire Register Boke, containing the acts of the Bilhops of Rochester, let volune by Edmond de Ha. Edmond de denham: That William the first, surnamed Conqueror, builded Hadenham. the Tower of London, to wit, the great white and square Tow- Tower of Loner there, about the yeere of Christ, 1078. And pet again, in the yeere 1241. the faid wal and bulwarks that were newly builded, wherein the king had bestowed moze then twelve thousand Warkes, were bureconerably quite theofune bowne, as afore: for the which chance, the Citizens of London were nothing fortie, for they were threatned, that the faid wall and bulwarkes were builded, to the end, that if any of them would contend for the liberties of the City, they might be impaisoned: And that many might be laid in diners paisons, many lodgings were made, that no one thould freake with another. Thus much Mathew Paris anoucheth for this building. Poze of Henry the third his bealings, against the Citizens of London, wee may read in the faid Authour, in 1245. 1248. 1249. 1253. 1255. 1256. &c. But concerning the fapo wall and and bulwarke, the fame was finished though not in his time. For I read, That Edward the first in the second of his reigne, commanded the Treasurer and Chamberlaine of the Exchequer, to deliuer out of his Treasurie, vnto Miles of Andwarp. 200. In the piere 1344. Ling Edward the 3. in the 18. piere of his reigne, commanded Flozences of gold to be made and cois ned in the Tower, that is to fap, a penny a piece, of the balue of 6. og vained his Erchange of mony to be kept in Sernes Tower, a part of the Lings house in Buckles bury. And here to digress a little (by occasion offered) I finde that in times befoze passed. all great fummes were paid by weight of gold of filner, as fo many pounds, or marks of filuer, or fo many pounds or marks of gold cut into blankes, and not famped, as I could proue by many good authozities, which I ouerpaffe. The smaller fums Argent & pe- allo were paid in farlings, which were pence lo called, for other cornes they had none.

The antiquity of this starling peny bfuall in this realme, is from the reigne of Henry the fecond: not with fanding the Saxon cornes (befoze the conquett) were pence of fine filuer, the full weight and some what better then the later farlings, as 3 have tried by conference of the pence of Burghrede king of Mercia, Elfred, Edward, and Edelred, kings of the Well Saxons, Plegmond Archbishop of Canterbury and others. William the Conquerers peny also was fine filuer, of the weight of the Casterling, and had on the one side stamped, an armed head, with a beardlesse face (for the Pormans ware no beardes) with a Scepter in his hand. The Infcription in the circumference was this, Le Rei Wilam. Du the other fibe. a Crosse double to the ring, betweene foure rowals of five points.

neffe, forme of face, croffe, &c.

This Henry in the eight peere of his reigne, ozdained the peny which was cound, to to be quartered, by the croffe, that they might eafily be broken, into halfe-pence and farthings.

In the first, second, third, fourth & fift of king Richard the r. his reigne, and afterwards, 3 find commonly Cafferling money mentioned, and pet ofttimes the fame is called Argent, as afoze, and not other wife.

The first great summe that I read of to be papo in Gafferlings, was in the fift of Richard the first, when Robert Garle of Lescefter, being prisoner in France, proffered for his ransome a thousand Parks Calterlings; notwithstanding, the Cafterling pence were long before. The weight of the Casterling

But the money of England, was called of the workers and makers thereof: as the Florent of Gold is called of the Flozentines, that were the workers thereof, and to the Cafferling pence toke their name of the H. 2. made a Cafferlings, which did first make this money in England, in new coyne in Vpon Festival daies, the Masters made solemne meetings in the Churches, where their Scholers disputed Logically, and demonstratively: some bringing Enthimems, other perfect Sillogismes: some disputed for shew, others to trace out the truth, and cunning Sophisters were thought brave Schollers, when they flowed with words. Others vsed fallacies: Rethoricians spake aptly to perswade, observing the precepts of Art, and omitting nothing that might serve their purpose. But touching Scholes moze lately aduanced in this Citie, I read, that king Henry the fift, hauing suppreffed the Priories Aliens, whereof some were about London, namely one Dos. pitall, called, Our Lady of Rounciual by Charing Croffe : one other Bolpitall in Oldborne: one other without Creplegate; and the fourth without Aldersgate: besides other that are now worne out of memory, and whereof there is no monument remaining, moze then Rounciuall, connerted to a brotherhood, which continued till the reign of Henry the 8.02 Edward the 6. This I fap, and other of their Schooles, being broken bp and ceased: king Henry the firt, in the 24. of his reigne, by pa-Henry the fixt tent appointed, that there thould be in London, Grammar-Schwles, belides S. Paules, at S. Martins Le Grand, S. Mary Le Bow in Cheap, &. Dunftans in the weff, and S. Anthonies. And in the next yeere, to wit, 1394. the faid king ordained by Parliament, that foure other Brammar Schooles Gould bee erected, to wit, in the Parithes of S. Andrew in Oldborne, Alhallowes the great in Thames freet, S. Peters byon Cornehill, and in the Dospitalt of Saint Thomas of Acons in well Cheape. Since the which time, as diners schooles, by suppreffing of religious houses (whereof they were members) in the reign of Hen. the 8. haue bin becaied; fo againe, haue fome others bin newly erected, and founded for them. As namely, Pauls Schole, in place of an old ruined houfe, was builded in Pauls Schoole molt ample maner, and largely indowed in the yeare 1512, by Iohn Collet, Doctoz of Dininity, & Deane of Pauls , fo2 153. poze mens chilozen: foz which there was ozdained a Waffer, Submafter, og Affer, and a Chaplaine. Againe, in the peere 1553. after the erection of Chaises Pospital, in the late vistol. Free Schooles ned house of the Gray Fryers, a great number of poze childzen being taken in, a Schoole was also opdained there, at the Citizens charges. Also:

Also in the peere 1561. the Marchant Taylors of London, Free Schoole founded one notable Fre Orammar Schoole, in the Parith of founded by Saint Laurence Poultney, by Candle-weeke freet, Richard the Marchane Hils, late mafter of that company, hauing ginen 500. pound Taylors. toward the purchase of an house, called the Mannoz of the Rofe, fometime the D. of Buckinghams, wherein the Schole is kept. As for the meeting of the Scholemafters, on Feltinall dayes, at feltinall Churches, and the disputing of their Schollers Logically, ac.toherof I haue befoze fpoken, fame was long fince discontinued. But the arguing of the Schole, boyes, about the principles of Grammar, hath been continued Schollers difeuen till our time : for I my felfe (in my pouth) haue peerely puted in S. fæne, on the Euc of S. Bartholomew the Apostle, the Schol-Bartimewes lers of diners Grammer Schooles, repayze onto the Church-yeard. paro of S. Bartholomew the Paiogie in Smithfield, where, bpon banke, boogded about buder a tree, fome one Scholler bath flepped bp, and there bath apposed and answered, till bee were by fome better Scholler ouercome and put bolune. And then the ouercommer taking the place, did like as the firft: and in the end, the best opposers and answerers had rewards, which I obferned not, but it made both goo Scholemallers. and also good Schollers (viligently against such times) to pres pare themselves for the obtaining of this Garland. Fremember there repayzed to thefe exercifes, (amongst others)the Batters and Schollers of the free Schooles of Saint Pauls in London, of Saint Peters at Westminster, of Saint Thomas Acons Dospitall, and of Saint Anthonies Dospitall : whereof the laft named, commonly prefented the best Schollers, and had in the prize in those dates.

This Priorie of Saint Bartholomew, being furrendzed to Difputation of Henrie the eight, those disputations of Schollers in that place Christs furceafed, and was againe, only for a yeere or twaine, in the Hospitall, Reigne of Edward the firt, reuined in the Clopfter of Chrifts Hospitall, where the best Schollers, then Still of Saint Anthonies Schole, were rewarded with Bowes and Arrowes of fluer, ginen to them by Str Martin Bowes, Beldfmith. And fo proceeding from this to queffions in Gram. mar, they blually fell from woods, to blowes, with their Satchels full of bokes, many times in great heaps, that they troubled the Arets, and paffengers : fo that finally, they were re-Arained with the vecap of Saint Anthonies Schoole. This Citie, euen as Rome, is divided into Wards. It hath yeerely Sheriffes, in flead of Confuls. It hath the dignity of Senators, in Aldermen. It hath vnder-Officers, Common Sewers, and Conducts in streets, according to the quality of causes, it hath generall Courts and affemblies vpon appointed daies. I do not thinke that there is any Citie, wherein are better customes, in frequenting the Churches, in feruing God, in keeping Holydaies, in guing almes, in entertaining strangers, in solemnizing Marriages, in furnishing banquets, celebrating funerals, and burying dead bodies.

The only plagues of London, is immoderate quaffing among the foolish fort, and often casualties by fire. Most part of the Bishops, Abbots, and great Lords of the land, have houses there, whereunto they refort and bestow much, when they are called to Parliament by the King, or to Counsell by their Metropolitane, or otherwise by their private businesse.

Thus farre Fitzstephen, of the effate of things in his time, whereunto may be added the present, by conference whereof, the alteration will easily appeare.

Den of trades and fellers of wares in this Citie have oftentimes fince changed their places, as they have found their beft advantage. For whereas Percers, and Paberdachers bled wholly then to keepe their Moppes in Well Cheape; of later time, they held them on London bridge, where some of them

Laft of all, mine Author, in this Chapter hath thefe words: W. Fitzstephé. Most part of the Bishops, Abbots, and great Lords of the land. as if they were Citizens and Free men of London, had many fayre houses to refort vnto, and many rich and wealthy Gentlemen fpent their money there. And in another place, hee hath thele woods: Every Sunday in Lent, a fresh company of yong men comes into the fields on horsebacke, and the best horsemen conducteth the rest, then march forth the Citizens Sons, and other young men with difarmed Launces and Shields, and practise feates of Warre. Many Courtiers likewise, and attendants on noble men, repaire to this exercise, and whilst the hope of victorie doth enflame their minds; they do fhew good proofe, how seruiceable they would be in Martiall affaires, &c. Againe he faith, This Citie, in the troublesome time of King Stephen, shewed at a Mustar 20000. Armed Horsemen, and 40000. footmen, seruiceable for the Warres, &c. All which say ings of the faid Author well confidered, do plainely proue, that in those dates, the inhabitants & repairers to this City (of what effate foeuer, spiritual og tempogal) hauing houses here, lined in amity with the Citizens, every man observing the customs and orders of the City, & chose to be contributary to charges

Such a Pzelate was Ethelwald, Bishop of Winchester, in the reigne of king Edgar, about the yeere of Chzist, 963. De, in a great famine, solde away all the sacred vessels of his Church, for to relieve the almost starved people, saying: That there was no reason, that the senselesse Temples of God should abound in riches, and lively Temples of the holy Ghost to lack it.

Walter de Suffilde, Bishop of Norwich, was of the like mind, about the yeere 1245. In a time of great dearth, he fold all his plate, and distributed it to the pose energ penny worth.

Robert Winchelsey, Archbishop of Canterbury, about the yeare 1293. besides the daily fragments of his house, gave every Friday and Sunday buto every begger that came to his gate, a lose of bread sufficient for that day, and there more blually, everies such Almes day in time of dearth, to the number of 5000. and other wise 4000. at the least. Pore, he bled every great Festivall day, to give 150. pence to somany poore people, and sent daily meate, bread, and drinke, to such as by age, or sicknes, were not able to fetch his almes, and did send meat money and apparell to such as he thought needed it.

I reade in 1171. that Henry the second after his returns into England, did penance for the flaughter of Thomas Becker, by whom (a soze dearth then increasing) ten thousand persons, from the first of April, til new corne was inned, were daily sed and suffained.

Poze I find recorded, that in the yeare 1236. the 20. of He the third, William de Hauerhull, the Bings Treasurer, was comanded, that upon the day of the Circumcision of our Lord, 6000. pooze people hould be fed at Westminster, for the state of the Bing, Dueene, and their children. The like Commandement the said king Henry gaue to Hugh Gissord, and William Browne, that upon Fryday next after the Cpiphanie, they hould cause to bee sed in the great Pall at Windsore, at a god

fire, al the pose and needy children that could be found, and the kings children being weighed and measured, their weight and measure to be diffributed for their amb estates. These few cramples for charitie of kings may fuffice.

I reade in the reigne of Edward the third, that Richard de Richard de Berrie, Bifhop of Durham, did weekely beflow for the reliefe Bery, B. of of the pooze, eight quarters of wheate made into bread, befides Durham. his almes dill, fragments of his boule, and great fummes of mony given to the poze when he iournico. And that thefe Almes diffes were as well vied at the Tables of Poble men, as of the Wzelates, one note map fuffice in this place.

I read in the years 1452. that Richard Duke of Yorke, then D. of Gloceclaiming the Crown, the L. Rivers hould have palled the Dea fters almesabout the Bings bufines, but flaying at Plimmouth til his mos defh, contained nep was fpent, and then fending for more: the D. of Sommer- a great quanfet fent him the image of S. George in filuer and gold, to bee tity of filuer. folde, with the almes diff of the D. of Glocester, which was also of areat price, for come had they none.

To end the Deders and Customes in this Citie: as also of great families kept by honourable persons thither repairing, and of charitable almes of old time ginen : I fay for concluston, that all noble persons, and other of honour and worthip, in former times lodging in this Citie, or liberties thereof, Did without grudging, beare their parts in charges with the Citi, zens, accoading to their effimated effates, as I haue befoge faid and could proue it by examples. But let men call to mind Sir Thomas Cromwell, then L. painy Seale, and Micar generall, Th. Cromwell lying in the City of London, he bare his charges to the great at the great muffer there, confisting of 1 5000. belive Wiffelers and other mufter. waiters, all in bright harnelle, with coates of white filhe or cloth, and chaines of golde, in three great battailes.

In Anno 1539. De fent his men (in great number) to the Biles end; and after them their armour in Carres, with their Coates of white cloth, and the Armes of this City, to wit, a red Croffe, and a fwood on the breff and backe, which Armor and Coats they ware amongst the Citizens, without any difference, and marched through the City to Westminster.

Sports

Sports and pastimes of old time vsed in this Citie.

Of sports and pastimes in this City, euery thing hath his time, a time to weepe, atimeto Jaugh, a time to mourne, and a time to daunce. Eccles.3.

vs now (faith Fitz ftephen) come to the sports and pastimes, seeing it is fit, that a Citie should not only be commodious and ferious, but also merry and sportfull. Whereupon, in the seales of the Popes, vntill the time of Pope Leo, on the one fide was S. Peter fishing, with a key ouer him, reached as it were by the hand of God out of Heauen, and about it this verse.

Tupro me nanem liquisti, suscipe clanem.

And on the other fide was a City, and this infcription on it. Aurea Roma. Likewise to the praise of Augustus Casar, and the Citie, in respect of the shewes and sports, was written :

Nocte pluit tota redeunt spectacula mane, c.

Divisum Inn erium cum Gover Covere habet All night it raines, and shows at morrow-tide returne againe. And Casar with almighty Ioue bath matcht an equall reigne.

Stage-playes.

But London for the shewes vpon Theaters, and Comicall pastimes, hath holy playes, representations of miracles, which holy Confessors have wrought, or representations of torments, wherein the constancy of Martyrs appeared. Euery yeere also on Shrowe-Tuesday (that wee may begin with childrens sports, feeing wee all haue beene Children) the Schoole-boyes doe bring Cockes of the game to their Master, and all the fore-Cock fighting. noone they delight themselues in Cockfighting. After dinner, all the youthes go into the fields to play at the ball. Ball play.

The Schollers of every Schoole have their ball, or bastion, in their their hands : the auncient and vvealthy men of the Citie come forth on horsebacke, to see the sport of the young men, and to take part of the pleasure, in beholding their agility.

Euery Fryday in Lent, a fresh company of young men comes into the field on horsebacke, and the best horse-men conduct the rest. Then march forth the Citizens sonnes, and Exercises of other young men with difarmed launces and shields, and there warlike feates they practife feates of warre.

Many Courtiers likewise, when the King lieth necre, and at- with disarmed tendants on Noble-men, doe repaire to these exercises, and Launces. while the hope of victorie doth inflame their mindes, they shew by good proofe, how seruiceable they would be in martiall affaires.

In Easter holy dayes, they fight battailes on the water, a Battailes on shield is hanged upon a pole, fixed in the midst of the streame, the water. a boat is prepared without oares, to be carried by violence of the water, and in the forepart thereof standeth a young man, ready to give charge vpon the Shield with his Launce. If so be he breake his Launce against the Shield, and doth not fall; he is thought to have performed a worthy deed. If so be without breaking his Launce, hee runneth ftrongly against the Shield, downe he falleth into the water, for the boat is violently forced with the tide, but on each fide of the Shield ride two boates, furnished with young men, which recouer him that falleth as Leaping danfoone as they may. Vpon the Bridge, Wharfes, and houses, by cing, shooting the Rivers fide, stand great numbers to fee, and laugh thereat. Dauncing.

In the holy dayes, all the Summer, the youths are exercised in leaping, dancing, shooting, wrastling, casting the stone, and practifing their Shields: the Maidens trip with their Timbrels, and daunce as long as they can well fee. In Winter, enery holy day before dinner, the Boares prepared for brawne, are set Fighting of to fight, or elfe Buls and Beares are bayted.

When the great Fenne or Moore, which watereth the walls of Beares and of the City on the North fide, is frozen, many young men play Bulles. vpon the yee, some striding as wide as they may, doe slide swiftly: others make themselues seates of yce, as great as Milstones. and one slipping on a sudden, all fall together. Some tye bones to their feete, and vnder their heeles, and shouing themselves by a little picked Staffe, doe slide as swiftly as a bird slieth in the ayre, or an arrow out of a Cros-bowe. Sometime, two run together with Poles, and hitting one the other, either one or both doe fall, not without hurt: some break their armes, some their legges, but youth (desirous of glory in this sort) exerciseth it selfe against the time of warre. Many of the Citizens do delight themselves in Hawkes and Hounds, for they have libertie of hunting in Middlesex, Hartfordshire, all Chiltron, and in Kent to the water of Cray. Thus farre Fitzstephen of sports.

These of the like exercises have bin continued til our time, namely, in Stage-playes, whereof ye may read in Ano. 1391. a Play by the parish Clarks of London, at the Skinners Well besides Smithfield; which continued the dayes together, the King, Duéne, and Pobles of the Kealme being present. And of another, in the year 1409. which lasted eight dayes, and was of matter from the creation of the world, whereat was present most part of the Pobility, and Gentry of England.

Of late time, in fead of those Stage playes, have been been comedies, Tragedies, Enterludes, and Histories, both true and fained: For the acting whereof, certaine publike places have been erected. Also Cockes of the game are yet cherished by divers men for their pleasures, much money being laydon their heads, when they fight in pits, whereof some bee costly made for that purpose.

The Ball is bled by Poble-men and Gentlemen in Tennis courts, and by people of meaner fort in the open fields and Arets.

The marching forth of Citizens sonnes, and other young men on horsebacke, with disarmed Launces and Shieldes, there to practise feates of warre, man against man, hath long since been left off, but in their Citie, they have bled on horsebacke, to runne at a dead marke, called a Quinten.

Dac his now ac, many (hind in hand) doe draw him.

For note whereof, I read that in the peere of Chaiff 1253. the 38. of Henry the third, the youthfull Citizens for an exercise of Running at their actiuitte, let foath a game to runne at the Quinten the Duinten, and whosoeuer bid belt, for prizes. should have a Peacocke, which they had Math. feruants, because the Court lay then at The Kings fer-Westminster, came as it were in spite of the Citizens, to that wants deriding game, and giuing reprochfull names to the Londoners, which the Citizens, for the dignitie of the Citie, and ancient priniledge which they were fore beaought to have enioied, were called, Barons: the faid Londo ten, but the ners being wongfully abused, fell bpon the Lings servants, fined by the bet them Mzelvoly, so that byon complaint to the King, he fi- King. ned the Citizens to pay a thousand Darkes. This exercise of running at the Quinten, was practifed by the youthfull Citizens, as well in Summer as in winter; namely, in the feaft of Chaistmasse. I haue seene a Duinten set bpon Corne-hill, by Quinten vpon the Leaden Hall, where the attendants on the Logos of merry Cornehill. Disports haue runne, and made great pactime; for hee that hit not the broad end of the Quinten, was of all men laughed to scozne, and hee that hit it full, if he rio not the fafter, had a found blow in his necke, with a bagge full of fand hanged on the other end.

I have also in the Summer feason, feene some won the riuer of Thames rowed in whirries, with staues in their hands, Running with flat at the fore-end, running one against another, and for the staues on the most part, one, oz both ouerthzowne, and well dowked.

On the Poly dayes in Summer, the Ponths of this Citie haue in the field exercised themselves, in leaping, dauncing, Leaping, thoting, welling, calling of the Cone og ball, &c.

And for defence and ble of the weapon, there is a speciall profession of men that teach it. I reade, that in the peere 1222. Math Bis. and the firt of Bing Henrie the third, on Saint lames day, the Titizens of London kept games of Defence and waltling, neere to the Pospitall of Matilda, at Saint Giles in the field, where they got the malterie of the men of the Suburbes.

A game at Westminster on Laumas day.

The Bayliffe of Westminster deuising to bee reuenged, proclaimed a game to be at Westminster bpon Lammas bay, where unto the Citizens willingly repaired. When they had played awhile, the Bayliffe, with the men of the Suburbs, harneeffed themselves treacherously, and fell to such fighting, that the Citizens (being foge wounded) were fogced to run into the City, where they rung the common Bell, and affembled the Citizens in great number. When the matter was declared, euc

The L. chiefe luftice entred the Citie of London with an Armie.

Thefe things being thus bone, Hubert de Burge, chiefe Ju fice of England, with a great Army of men, came to the Wolve er of London, and fent for the Maior and Albermen, of whom he enquired for the principall Authors of this faction. Then followed one richly arraied, like an Emperoz, and after him fome biffance, one frately tyzed like a Dope, who was followed by 24. Cardinals, and after them eight or ten with blacke bifors, not amiable, as if they had bin Legates from some forraine Princes. Thele Balkers, after they had entred the Mannoz of Kennington, alighted fro their horses, and entred the hall on fote, which done, the Brince, his mother, and the Lozds came out of the Chamber into the ball, whom the Dummers did falute: thewing by a paire of dice on the table, their defire to play with & paince, which they to hand-

The like was to Henry the fourth in the fecond of his reign, hee then kæping his Christmas at Eltham, twelue Albermen of London, and their sons rode in a mumming, and had great thanks.

Thus much for sportfull thewes in Triumphes may suffice : now for sports and pallimes yeerely vied. First, in the Lord of Misfeatt of Chaiffmas, there was in the kings house, wherefoe- rule at Christuer he was lodged, a Logd of Pifrule, og Paffer of merry dif mas. posts, and the like had yee in the house of enery Poble-man of honour, og god worship, were he spirituall og tempogall. Amongst the which, the Paio; of London, and either of the Sheriffes had their leuerall Logos of Bilrule, euer conten-Bing without quarrell og offence, who hould make the rareft pastimes to delight the beholders. These Lozds beginning their rule on Alhallon Gue, continued the came til the mogroto after the Featt of the Purification, commonly called, Candlemas day: In all which space, there were fine and subtill difquis fings, Palkes and Pummeries, with playing at Cardes for Counters , Paples and Points in enery house, moze for pa-Aime then for gaine.

In the Poneth of May, namely, on May day in the mouning. enery man, except impediment, would walke into the fwete meddowes and green woos, there to reioice their fpirits, with the beauty and fauour of fwet flowers, and with the harmony of birds, papfing God in their kind. And fog example hereof. Edward Hall, Edward Hall hath noted, that hing Henry the 8. as in the 3. of hisreigne, and divers other yeeres, fo namely in the feuenth of his reigne, on May day in the mogning, with Duen Katherine his wife, accompanies with many Lozds and Ladies, robe a Paping from Greenwitch to the high ground of Shootershill, whereas they paffed by the way, they espied a company of tall Deomen cloathed all in Grene, with greene whoods, and with bowes and acrowes, to the number of 200. Dne beeing their Chieftaine, was called Robin Hood, who required the king and all his company to flay and fee his men thote: where unto the king granting, Robin Hood whiftled, and all the 200. Archers thot off, lofing all at once, and when hee whiftled as gaine, they likewife thot againe, their arrowes whiffled by traft of the head, fo that the noyle was frange and loub. which greatly velighted the King, Ducen, and their Company.

Mozeover, this Robin Hood befired the Bing and Queene with their retinue, to enter the greene Wood, where, in Arbours made with boughes, and becked with flowers, they were fet and served plentifully with venison and wine, by Robin Hood and his meyny, to their great contentment, and had other Pageants and Pastimes, as ye may reade in my faid Authour.

I finde also, that in the Poneth of May, the Citizens of London (of all estates) lightly in enery Parish, or sometimes two or three Parishes foining together, had their senerall Papings, and did fetch in Map-poles, with divers warlike thewes, with god Archers, Popice-Dauncers, and other benices for pallime all the day long: and towards the Quening, they hav Stage-playes, and Bonefiers in the Areets.

Of these Payings, wee reade in the reigne of Henry the firt, that the Aldermen and Sheriffes of London, beeing on Bishops wood. mongst the Englishmen of the Citie of London, against strangers : and namely, the Artificers found themselves much as grieued; because such number of Arangers were permitted, to refort hither with their Wares, and to exercise Handpcrafts, to the great hinderance and impoueriffing of the kings Liege people. Thich malice grew to fuch a point, that one Iohn Lincolne Iohn Lincolne a Bzoker, busied himselfe so far in the matter, a Broker begin- that about Palme Sunday, og the fift of Appill, he came to one D. Henry Standish, with thefe woods: Sir, 3 buderfand, that you Mall preach at the Spittle on Dunday in Gaffer-weeke, and fo it is, that Englichmen, both Parchants and other, are bndone by frangers, who have moze liberty in this Land then they: which is against reason, and also against the Commonweale of this Realme, I befrech pou therefoze, to verlare this in your Sermon , and in fo boing , you Mall beferue great by Lincolne to thankes of my Lord Paior, and of all his brethren. And here, Doctor Stan- with hee offered buto the faid Doctor a Bill, containing the matter moze at large. And on this Wert, Pugna pro Patria, he becught in, how (by Gods Law) it was lawfull to fight for their Countrey: and thus he subtilty moo- tria. ued the people to rebell against arangers. By this Sermon, many a light-headed person tooke courage, and openly spake as gainst strangers : and by mishap there had bene divers evill Some misseparts (of late) plaid by frangers, in and about the City of Lon-mitted by don, which kindled the peoples ranchoz the moze furioully a- ftrangers.

The twenty eight day of Apzill, divers young men of the City picked quarrels with certaine strangers, as they passed to strangers as along the Areetes: some they smote and buffeted, and some they went in they threw in the Chanell: for which, the Lord Paior sent the Arcetes. some of the Englishmen to paison, as Stephen Studley Skinner, Steuenson, Bets, and other. Then suddenly rofe a ferret rumour, and no man could tell how it began, that on May-day Evill May-day nert following, the City would flay all the Aliens. Infomuch, that divers strangers sed out of the Citie. This rumour came The Councell to the knowledge of the Kings Councell: whereupon the Lozd acquainted Cardinall fent for the Paior, and other of the Councell of the with the ru-Citie, giving them to buderstand what he had heard. The Load mour. Paioz (as one ignozant of the matter) told the Cardinall, that he doubted not so to governe the City, but as peace should observed. The Cardinall willed him so to doe, and to take god heed, that if any riotous attempt were intended, he thould by good policie preuent it.

The Paioz comming from the Cardinals house, about foure of the clocke in the afternoone on May Que, fent for his A meeting brethren to the Guild-Hall, yet was it almost seven of the of the L. And therefore I leaue them, and will searewhat touch of Watches, as also of the wes in the night.

LEWS THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPE

Of Watches in this Citie, and other matters commanded, and the cause why.

Illiam Conquerour commanded, that in euery Towns and Hillage, a Bell should be Curfew Bell at 8. of the nightly rung at eight of the clocke, and that clocke comall people thould then put out their fire, and manded fire & candle, and take their reft. Which ogder candle co be was observed through this Realme during quenched. his reigne, and the reigne of William Rufus : but Henrie the firft , restozing to bis Subieas the ble of fire and lights, as afoze, it followeth (by reason of Warres within the Realme) that many men also gave themselves to robbery and murders in the night: fog example wherof in this Citie, Roger Houeden waiteth thus :

In the yeere 1175. 2 Councell was kept at Notingham, in Rog. Houeden time of which Councell, a brother of the Earle Ferrers, beeing wanuscript, in the night privily flaine at London, and throwne out of his Inne into the durty freet, when the king vnderstood thereof hee sware that hee would be reuenged on the Citizens. For it was then (faith mine Author) a common practice in the Citie, that a hundred or more in a company, young and old, would make nightly inuafios vpon houses of the wealthy, to the intent to robbe them, and if they found any man stirring in the Citie within the night, that were not of their crue, they would prefently murder him: infomuch, that when night was come, no man durst aduenture to walke in the streets. When this had Night walkers continued long, it fortuned, that as a crue of youg and weal-

murthered all thy Citizens affembling together in the night, affaulted a stone house of a certaine rich man, and breaking through the wall, the good man of that house, having prepared himselfe with other in a corner, whe he perceived one of the theeues, named Andrew Bucquint, to leade the way, with a burning brand in the one hand, and a pot of coales in the other, which hee affaied to kindle with the brand, hee flew vpon him, and imot off his right hand, and then with a loud voice cryed Theeues. At the hearing whereof, the theeues tooke their flight, all fauing he that had loft his hand, whom the good man (in the next morning) deliuered to Richard de Lucie the Kings Iustice. This theefe, vpon warrant of his life, appeached his confederates, of whom many were taken, and many were fled. Among the rest that were apprehended, a certaine Citizen of great countenance, credit, & wealth, named Iohn Senex, who for as much of fire & water as hee could not acquit himselfe by the Water-doome (as that called Ordalij, law was then tearmed) hee offered to the King fiue hundred pounds of filuer for his life. But for a fmuch as he was condemned by judgement of the Water, the King would not take the Innecent the 3. offer, but commanded him to bee hanged on the Gallowes, which was done, and then the Citie became more quiet for a long time after.

But for a full remedy of enormities in the night, I reade, that in the veere of Theift 1253. Henrie the third commanded Watches in Cities, and Bozough Townes to be kept, for the better observing of peace and quietnesse amongst his peothat if any man chanced to be robbed, or by any meanes dam? nified, by any there or robber; he to whom the charge of heeping that Countrey, Citie oz Bozough chiefly appertained, where the robbery was done, thould competently restoze the loffe. And this was after the ble of Sauoy; but yet thought moze hard to bee observed heere, then in those parts: and ther, fore leaving those laborious Watches, I will speake of our Pleasures and Pallimes in watching by night.

His Citie (faith Fitzstephen) is glorious in Manhood: furnished with munitions: populous with inhabitants, infomuch, that in the troublesome time of King Stephen, it hath shewed at a Muster 20000, armed Horsemen, and threefcore thousand Foote-men seruiceable for the warres. Moreouer saith hee, the Citizens of London, wherefocuer they become, are notable before all other Citizens, in ciuility of maners, attire, table, and talke. The Matrones of this City, The modest are the very modest Sabine Ladies of Italie. The Londoners, Matrons that fometime called Trinobants, repelled Cafar, who alwaies made his passage by shedding bloud, whereupon Lucan sung:

The City of London duided from East to West, into a South halfe, and a North halfe.

He ancient division of this Citie, was into Mardes of Albermanries: and therfore I will begin at the Gast, and so proceed thosow the high and most principall street of the Citie to the West, after this manner.

First, through Aldgate Arat, to the west corner of S. Andrewes Church, called Vndershafe, on the right hand, and Lymestreet corner on the left; all which is of Aldgate Ward. From thence through Cornhill Arcet, to the well comer of Leaden-hall; all which is of Lymeltreet Ward. From thence, leaning the Areet, that leaveth to Bishopsgace on the right hand, and the way that leas beth into Graffe-ftreet on the left, Will through Cornhill Wreet, by the Conduit, to the West comer against the Stockes; all Subich is in Cornhil Ward. Then by the land Stockes (a mar, The Stockes thet place both of Fish and Fielh, Canding in the miost of the market the Citie)through the Poultry (a ffret fo called) to the great Con Citie. buit in well Cheape, and fo through Cheape to the Standard, which is of Cheape Mard, except on the South fide from Bowlane, to the faid Stanbard, which is of Cordwayner fret Mard. Then by the Standard to the great Croffe, which is in Creplegate Ward, on the Porth five, and in Breadfreet Ward on the South five. And to the little Conduit by Pauls gate, from whence (of old time) the faid high Areet Aretched Araight on to Ludgate, all in the Ward of Faringdon within, then diui-Ded trulp from Caft to Meff : but fince, by meanes of the bur- Saint Pauls ning of Pauls Church, which was in the reigne of William the Church burfirst, Mauricius, then Bilhop of London, lapo the foundation ned in the of a new Church, fo farre in largeneffe exceeding the olde, that Conquerors the way towards Ludgare was thereby greatly ffreightned, as before I have discoursed.

Pow, from the Porth to the South, this City was (of old The City detime) diuided, not by a large high-way of fret, as from Call uided from to West, but by a faire Brooke of sweet water, which came North to from out the Porth fields through the wall, and miont of the South into a Citie, into the River of Thames, and which division is (till a West halfe. this day) constantly and without change maintained. This water was called (as I have faid) Walbrooke, not Gallus The course of 13200ke of a Romane Captaine, flaine by Asclepiodatus, and Walbrooke, & throwne therin, as some have fabuled; but of running through, reason of the and from the wall of this City. The course whereof, to profecute it particularly, was and is from the faid wall, to S. This is the course of Walbrooke, which was (of old time) bringed oner in diners places , for pallage of horles and men, as need required : but fince, by meanes of encrochment on the banks therof, the channel being greatly Areightned, and other annoyances done therunto, at length the fame (by comon comfent) was arched ouer with brick, and paued with fone, equalt with the ground, wherethrough it palled, and is now in molt places builded byon, that no man may by the eye difcern it, and therefore the trace thereof is hardly knowne to the common This Citic di- people. This City beeing thus dinided from Caft to Well, and from Porth to South: I am now further to thew, how the fame was (of old time) broken into divers varts, called wards, whereof Firzstephen moze then 400, veers fince waiteth thus. This City (faith be) euen as Rome, is divided into Wards. It hath yeerely Sheriffes, in stead of Confuls. It hath the dignity of Senators in Aldermen, &c. Portsoken Ward.

Lib. Trinitate. Knighten Guild.

Ceing that of every these Wards Ihave to say somewhat, I will begin with Portsoken Ward, without Ealdgate.

This Portsoken, which soundeth the Franchise at hate, was sometime a Guild, and had beginning in the dayes of king Edgar, more then 600, years fince. There were then 13. Unights 02 Souldiers, welbeloued to the King and Realme, for services by them done, who requested to have a certaine portion of land on the Cast part of the Citie, beeing lest desolate and for saken by the Inhabitants, by reason of to much servitude. They befought the King to have this land, with the liberty of a Guilde for ever. The King granted to their request, with conditions following, to wit, That each of them should victoriously accomplish three Combates; one are bout the ground; one bover ground, and the third in the water.

And after this, at a certaine day in Cast Smithfield, they should runne with Speares against all commers; all which was gloziously performed, and the same day the Bing named it Knighten Guild, and so bounded it, from Ealdgate, to the place where the barres now are toward the Cast, on both the sides of the street, and extended it towards Bishopsgate in the Porth, but o the house then of V Villiam Presbiter, afterward of Lestrey Tanner, and then of the keires of Coluer; after that of John Kaseby, but since of the Lord Bourchier, as. And again, towards the South, but o the United Thames, and so far in to the water, as a Porseman entering the same, might ride at a tow water, and throw his Speare. So that all Cast smith field, with the right part of the Aret that goeth to Dodding Dond into the Thames, and also the Dospitall of S. Katherin, with the Wils, that were founded in ling Stephensdapes, and the outward stone wall, and the new ditch of the Woiver, were of the fayd free and Liberty: for the faid wall and ditch of the Tower, were made in the time of King Richard the first, when he was in the holy Land, by VVilliam Longshampe Biffop of Ely, as before I have noted buto pou.

These knights had as then none other Charter by all the Dayes of Edgar, Ethelred, and Cnutus, butill the time of Edward the Tonfestoz, whom the heires of those Anights humbly befought to confirme their liberties : whereunto be gracioully granting, gaue them a deede thereof, as appeareth in the boke of the late house of the holy Trinity. The sayd Charter was Lib. Trinitate. faire written in the Saxon letter and tongue. After this, king VVilliam, the fon of VVilliam the Conqueroz, made a confirmation of the same liberties, buto the hepres of those knights, in these words:

William King of England, to Maurice Bishop, and Godfrey de Magum, and Richard de Parre, and to his faithfull people of London, greeting: Know yee me to haue granted to the men of Knighten Guilde, the Guilde that belonged to them, and the land that belonged thereunto, with all Customes, as theyhad the same in the time of King Edward, and my Father. VVit-nesse Hugh de Buche; at Rething.

After him, king Henry the fird confirmed the same by his Charter, to the like effect, the recitall whereof, I pretermit for breuity. After which time, the Church of the holy Trinitie Priory of the within Ealdgate of London, being founded by Queene Ma- Trinity withtilde, wife to the faid Henry, the multitude of brethren pray, in Ealdgate. fing God dap and night therein, in thoat time to increased, that all the Citie was velighted in the beholding of them: infomuch that in the piere 1115. certaine Burgelles of London, of the progeny of those noble English lanights, to wit, Radulphus Fitzalgod, VVilmarde le Deuereshe, Orgare le Prude, Edward Hupcornehill, Blackstanus, and Alwine his kinsman, and Robert his brother, the cons of Leafstanus the Golosmith, VViso Knighten Guild giuen the Canons of the koly Trinity. ther into the Chapter house of the said Church of the holy Trinity, gave to the same Church and Canons serving God ther, in, all the lands and soke called in English, Knighten Guild, which lyeth to the wall of the Titie without the same gate, and stretcheth to the Kiner of Thames; they gave it, Isay, (taking byon them the Brotherhod and participation of the benefits of that house) by the hands of Prior Norman.

And the better to confirme this their grant, they offered by on the Altar there, the Charter of Edward, together with the other Charters, which they had thereof: and afterward they vid put the forelayd Prior in seisin thereof, by the Church of Buttolphes which is builded thereon, and is the head of that land: These things were thus done, before Bernard Prior of Dunstable, Iohn Prior of Deriand, leffrey Clinton Chamber, laine, and many other Clarkes and Laymen, French & English, Organ le Prude (one of their company) was sent to king Henry, beseeching him to confirme their gift, which the king gladly granted by his deed.

Henry King of England, to R. B. of London, to the Sheriffes and Prouost, and to all his Barons, and faithfull people, French and English, of London and Middlesex, greeting: Know yee mee to have granted, and confirmed to the Church and Canons of the holy Trinity of London, the Soke of the English Knighten Guild, and the land which pertaineth thereunto, and the Church of S. Buttolph, as the men of the same Guild have given and granted vnto them: and I will and straightly commaund, that they may hold the same well, and honourably and freely, with sacke and soke, toll and Thea, insangthese, and all customes belonging to it, as the men of the same Guild in best sort had the same in the time of K. Edward, and as K. William my Father, and brother, did grant it to them by their writs. Witnesse, A. the Queene, Ieffrey Clinton the Chauncellour, and William of Clinton at Woodstocke.

All these prescribed writings (sayth my boke) which some time belonged to the Priorie of the holy Trinity, are registred in the end of the booke of Remembrances, in the Guildhall of

On the Caft and by Porth of the Tower, lieth Caffmith, on Eaft-finith- field and Tower hill, two plots of ground fo called, without the wall of the Citie, and Caft from them both was sometime a Monafterie, called, Rew Abbey, founded by B. Edward the third, in the peere 1359. bponoccasion as followeth.

In the yeare 1348, the 23. of Edward the 3. the fir & great Buriall forthe peffilence in his time began, and increased fo foze, that for dead prepared want of roome in Church pards to bury the dead of the Citie, in time of pe- and of the Suburbes, one Iohn Corey Clarke, procured of Nicholas, Paioz of the holy Trinity within Ealdgate, one toft of ground neere buto Eaftimithfield, for the buriall of them that oped, with condition that it might bee called the Church pard of the holy Trinity, which ground he caused by the apd of viners denout Citizens to bee inclosed with a wall of stone. Robert Elfing, sonne of William Elfing, gaue fine pounds thereunto : and the same was dedicated by Ralfe Stratford, Bishop of London, where innumerable bodies of the dead were afterward buried, and a Chappell built in the fame place, to the honour of God: to the which Bing Edward fets ting his eye (hauing befoze in a Tempest on the Sea, and per rill of ozowning, made a bowe to build a Ponaffery to the honour of God, and our Lady of grace, if God would grant him grace to come safe to land) builded there a *Donastery, placing * Causing it to an Abbot, and Ponks of the Ciffercian, or white order. The be named, bounds of this plot of ground, together with a becree for tithes Eastminker. thereof, are expressed in the Charter, the effect whereof I have fet volune in another place, and haue to their.

This house at the late generall suppression, was valued at 546.1.r. d. perely, it was surrendzed in the peere 1539. the 30. of Henry the 8. Since the which time, the faid Ponaffery being cleane pulled downe, by Sir Arthur Darcy, Bnight, and other; of late time (in place thereof) is builded a large Stoze house for victuall, and convenient Duens are builded The Kings there, for baking of Bilket to ferue his Paiesties Shippes. fometime replenished with fewe, but faire and comely buils dings; on the Porth fide whereof, first was and is, the Parish Church of S. Buttolph, in a large Cemitary, og Church yard.

This Church hath beene lately new builded, at the speciall Parish Church charges of the Pziozs of the holy Trinity, Patrones thereof, of S. Buttolph, as it appeareth by the Armes of that house engraven on the Sone worke. The Parishioners of the Parish, beeing of late pieres mightily increased, the Church is pettered with loftes and feats for them. Ponuments in this Church are few, Henry Iorden founded a Chauntery there, Iohn Romany, Olaric and Agnes his wives were buried there, about An. 1408. Richard Chester Alderman, one of the Sheriffes 1484. Thomas, Lozd Darcy of the Posth, Bnight of the Barter, beheaved, 1537. Sir Nicholas Carew of Bedington in Surrey, Enight of the Barter, beheaded. 1538. Sir Arthur Darcy, poungeft fon to Thomas Lozd Darcy, deceased at the new Abbeyon the Tower Will, and was buried there.

There is a faire bault bnder ground, purpofelp made (as appeareth) for the whole Family. Duer which bault being in the East end of the Chauncell, but leaning somewhat to the Porth) is a faire ancient Tombe of Alabaster, ingeniousp wought: having thefe lines following engraven thereon:

Herelyeth Thomas, Lord Darcy of the North, and sometime of the Order of the Garter. Sir Nicholas Carew, Knight, fometime of the Garter. Lady Elizabeth Caren, Daughter to Sir Francis Brian, Knight: and Sir Arthur Darcy, Knight, younger sonne to the aboue-named Lord Darcy. And Lady Mary his deare Wife, Daughter to Sir Nicholas Caren, Knight; who had ten Sonnes, and fine Daughters. Here lye Charles, William and Philip, Mary and Vrsula, Sonnes and Daughters to the faid Sir Arthur, and Mary his Wife : whose soules God take to his infinite mercy. Amen.

On the South fice of this Tombe, there is a fmall Monument, fired in the wall, bearing this infcription:

Heere lyeth Sir Edward Darcy, Knight, third sonne of Sir Arthur Darcy, Knight, of the priuy Chamber to the late Queene
Elizabeth. He married the daughter of Thomas Asteley, Esquier, by whom he had sifteene children. Sir Robert Darcy, Knight, his eldest sonne, caused him to bee buried in this Vault amongst his Aucestors, according to his desire. Hee dyed at his house called Dartford Place in Kent, the 28. day of October. An. Dom. 1612. He being 69. yeeres olde.

Another smaller Ponument is also fixed in the same wall, but somewhat moze toward the South, having this inscription:

Here lyeth buried the corps of Robert Taylor, of Silverdale, in the Parish of Warton in the County of Lancaster, Gentleman, the Father of Iohn Taylor, Citizen and Draper of London, and of this Parish Beere-brewer. He departed this life, about the age of 80. yeeres, the 15. day of February An. Dom. 1577.

Upon the ground, buder the head of the Communion Table, lyeth an ancient faire Kone, and these lines engraven there on in brasse:

Hic incet Ioannes, Episc. Bathon. & Wellensis, qui cum obusset, plures insig. Legation. tandem obist summum in Legatione Cleuensis, in Ianuary. M. C. X L. Cuius anima propitietur Deus.

Peere buto the place where the Dinister readeth Dinine Service, there is a small brasse plate fired in the wall, a verie butworthy Ponument (in my minde) for a man of so great that rity and bounty, not having so much as a graven some bestowed on him by on the ground. The Plate containeth these lines following.

Here before this Pewe lieth buried the bodie of Robert Dow, Citizen and Merchant-Taylor of London, with Lettice his wife, and Thomas his sonne. Which Robert deceased the second day of May. Apon this Pill is alwaies readily prepared (at the charges of the City) a large Scaffold and Gallowes of Timber, for the execution of such Araytors or Transgressors, as are delivered out of the Adwer, or otherwise to the Sherisses of London by Writ, there to be executed. I read, that in the sist of king Edward the fourth, a Scaffold & Gallowes were there set up by other the Kings Officers, and not of the Cities charges; whereupon the Paior and his brethren complained, but were answered by the King, that the Adwer his was of the libertie of the Citie: and whatsoever was done in that point, was not in derogation of the Cities liberties, and therefore commanded Proclamation to be made, as well within the City as in the Suburbes as followeth.

For as much as the seuenth day of this present month of Nouember, Gallowes were erect and set vp besides our Tower of London, within the liberties and franchises of our Citie of London, in derogation and prejudice of the liberties and franchises of this Citie: The King our Soueraigne Lord would haue it be certainly understood, that the erection & setting up of the said Gallowes was not done by his commandement; wherefore, the King and Soueraign Lord willeth, that the erection and setting up of the said Gallowes, be not any president or example therby hereafter to be taken, in hurt, prejudice or derogation of the franchises, liberties and priviledges of the Citie, which he at all times hath had, and hath in his beneuolence, tender sauour and

Robert Smith in the Tower: For redresse of which wrongs, and of many others, there was complaint made to the Lords of the pring Councell, who referred the hearing of those controverses, and the examination of the rights and priviledges which the Lieutenant pretended, to belong but his Office, to the Lords Chiefe Justices and to the Paster of the Rolles, who were to certife their opinions thereof in writing, as by the letters of the Lords of the Councell in that behalfe sent and directed but o them, of the tenor following appeareth.

UTHER THE THE PROPERTY OF THE

The Councells letters to the Lords chiefe Iustices, and to the Master of the Rolles.

A Fter our very hearty Commendations, &c. There hath beene complaint made vnto vs in the behalfe of the Lord Maior and Citizens of London, against Sir Owen Hopton, Knight, Lieutenant of the Tower, whom they charge with some disordered dealing by him vsed towards one Robert Smith, a Soliciter for the Citie, sent lately vnto him with a Writ of Habeas Corpus, out of the Court of her Maiesties Bench, for the remouing of the bodie of one Robert Shapely, a servant to one William V Vikins a Citizen, imprisoned by the Lieutenant vpon some pretended quarrell of priviledge; the manner whereof shal best appeare vnto you by the several complaints and articles herein inclosed, exhibited vnto vs by the said Smith and Wikins.

And forasmuch as the Maior, Aldermen and Citizens of London, have heretofore oftentimes found themselves grieved, with sundrie actions of vnkind and vlolent dealings, offered by the sayd Lieutenant and his Officers as they have enformed, to the breach of their Charters and liberties, whereby there is growne some division and diffention betweene them (which we desire by all good meanes to have removed) and whereas the Lieutenant seemeth to warrant his doings by ancient priviledges and customes of the Tower, whereunto the Citizens on their parts, vpon opinion of the validities of their Charters, refuse to yeeld: We considering what inconvenience may enfue of the private diffention betweene them , have thought good to require you, calling Master Lieutenant before you, and the parties, whose complaints are herewith sent vnto you; with fuch proofes and witnes as may be produced) effectually to examine the matters thereby informed against him: and that you also take knowledge of such other complaints and controuerfies, as the Lord Maior and the Recorder of London shall deliuer vnto you against the Lieutenant of the Tower, concerning their former debates and strifes, for matter of liberties, prescripe tions, and customes, and the like on the behalfe of the Lieutenant against them, praying you to take some paines to heare the matters at large on both fides; and to fee vpon what priviledges, customs, & prescriptions, their seueral claims are grounded and pretended: as also to consider of their strength and validity in lawe, wherein after you shall have spent some time, and heard and vaderstood the matters at large, we require you then to make report vnto vs what you shal have found on both fides, as well touching the complaints of Smith and VVikins, as of the Lord Maior and Citizens, with your opinions of their faid complaints and controuersies, and what course were fittest to be taken betweene them, which we pray you to doe with as convenient speed as you may. And so bid you heartily farewel.

Directed to the Lozds chiefe Justices, and to the Prof the

Upon the receit of which letters, the faid Lozds chiefe Ju. Mices, and D. of the Rolles, did at large heare the allegations and proofes of both parties, and bid accordingly certific their opinions thereof to the Lozds of the Painie Councell in man. ner following:

The Certificat, touching as well the Articles and Complaints made to your Honours, by Robert Smith, and William Wikins, against Sr Owen Hopton Knight, Lieutenant of the Tower, as the controuerfies betweene the Major and Citizens of London, and the fayd Lieutenant.

Irft, bpon examination of the matter, touching the favo Smith and Wikins, mentioned in your Donours letters, it appeareth buto bs, that (fome controverfie being between the Daio; and Citizens, and the fair Lieutenant, touching a garben plot neere the fayd Tower) one Ralph Gasken, feruant to the fayd Lieutenant, biolently bio draw forth of the fayd gar ben, one Shapeley, fernant to the faid Wikins, then labouring therefor his faid Dafter, in fuch violent manner, as thereby bloud was drawne of him in severall places, and carried him to the Tower, and there kept him in pailon eight dapes, and that one Shawe, another of the Lieutenants feruants, was present with the sayd Gasken appling him, but that he bid not hurt the faid Shapeley; which Gasken and Shawe Did befaine some of the apparell of the said Shapeley, and yet doe for any thing knowne to bs.

And that likewise one Payne was taken forth of the said Garben, and carried to the Tower, and there imprisoned three dayes, and then delinered byon bond, to render his body to the Tower when he Mould be required, and that Payne hath left a palone of the value of 10. Hillings foz his meate and

And that her Paiesties Wait of Habeas Corpus for the bodie of Shapeley was fued forth of her Bench, directed to the Lieutenant, which carried and delinered to him by the fand Smith, who prayed the layo Lieutenant to make allowance thereof, and payd him the fee due therefore. But forthwith he would have forced the fand Smith to have received the mo, nev againe and the Wait: which Smith refused to doe, prave ing him not to be offended for bringing of her Paieffies Pro-

And thereupon D. Lieutenant said he wonld put his Wait in his pocket, as he had done many, and ther with rubbed Smith on the cheekes, and threatned to imprison him, if hee would not carry backe the Wait againe and the money: whereupon the faid Lieutenant imprisoned Smith, and detained him about the boures, butill byon a bill of his hand to returne to prifon. when the Lieutenant Mould fend for him, hee was belivered.

which matter the Lieutenant confesseth to be true.

And touching such liberties as D. Lieutenant claimeth to have bin bled for the Officers and Attendants in the Tower, as not to be arrefted by any action in the Citie of London, and protections to be granted to them by D. Lieutenant; and not obeving of Waits of Habeas Corpus, we thinke fuch perfons as are baily attendant in the Tower, feruing her Baieffie there, are to be priniledged, and not to bee arrefted bpon any plaint in London. But for Waits of execution, or Capias vtlagatum, and fuch like, wee thinke they ought to have no pair niledge.

Pozeoner, touching Protections granted by D. Lientes nant, for fuch as be condemned in any action in the Court kept in the Tower, to goe at large, and not be arrefted by any 10200 ces, out of the Queenes high Courts, oz elfewhere, oz any o. ther Protection to that effect for any priniledged person, wee thinke the same against her Patellies lawes and dignitie.

Item, that . Lieutenant ought to returne euery Habeas Corpus, out of any Court at Westminst. Soas the Juffices befoze whom it thall be returned (as the cause thall require) may either remaund it with the body, or retaine the matter befoze them, and deliver the body, as Justice Gall require. A.S.

As touching the iurisoiction of the Court in the Tower, and the controverte for certaine liberties upon the Tower hill. and the foile there, and divers places about the Tower, we are not pet fully resolued, but befire your Lozoships to have some further time to consider thereupon, foz, that there bee many matters alleaged, and to bee thewed in writing for the same, as we are enformed, which we have not yet seene.

Item, the lapo Lieutenant both claime a libertie, that if any perfon privilegged in the Mower be arrefted in London, that he may take the body of any Citizen that thall come within the liberties of the Tower, and keepe his body there, butill the other bee delivered: which we thinke altogether against the lawes of this Realme.

Christopher Wray. Edmond Anderson, Gilbert Gerrard.

After the Lozds of the Painy Councell had received the fame Certificat, they did thereupon make this finall ozder and becree following, vz.

At Nonfuch the third day of October. 1585. Pagelent,

Lord Treasurer. Lord Admirall. Lord Chamberlaine.

M. Treasurer. M. Secretarie.

7 Hereas fundry variances and contentions have heretofore arisen, and haue of late yeeres depended betwixt the Lord Maior and Comminalty of the City of London on the one part, and the Lieutenant of her Maiesties Tower of London, on the other part, touching matters of liberties, prescriptions, customes, and other claimes and pretences : by reafon whereof, and for lacke of order for stay of those variances and contentions, divers tumults have heretofore growne, and her Maiesties peace hath been many times in hazard to be dangeroufly geroufly broken; wherupon, seuerall complaints haue bin heretofore exhibited to the Lords and others of her Maiefties most honourable Priuy Councell, by the L. Maior and Comminalty aforesaid, against the said Lieutenant, for divers injuries alleaged to be offered on his part to the Citizens of London, without order of lawe or equitie; after consideration had of which seuerall complaints, it pleased their Lordships (hauing care to procure an end of those controuersies, for avoiding of inconveniences that might enfue) by their honourable letters to give order to Sir Christoph. Wray, Knight, Lord chief Iustice of England, Sir Edmund Anderson, Knight, L. chiefe Iustice of the common Pleas, and to Sir Gilbert Gerrard Knight, M. of the Rolles, that they (calling the faid Lieutenant & the parties complaints before them) should effectually heare and examine the controperfies on both fides) and certifie their Lordships what they should find, together with their opinions touching the same, who having called the parties accordingly before them, and aduifedly and with good deliberation fundry times heard their Allegations and answeres, aswell by writing as by word, with counsel learned on all parts, have fignified their opinions of the faid controuersies in writing, as hereafter followeth.

First, touching such liberties as M. Lieutenant claimeth to have been vsed for the officers and attendants in the Tower, as not to be arrested by any action in the City of Lond. & protections to be granted to them, by M. Lieutenants, and not obeying of writs of we thinke such persons as be daily attendant in the Tower serving her Maiesty there, are to be priviled ged, and not to be arrested vpon any plaint in London, but for writtes of Executions, or and such like, we thinke they ought to have no priviledge.

Secondly, concerning protections granted by Mr. Lieutenant for such as be condemned in any action in the Court, kept in the Tower, to go at large, and not to be arrested by any Processe out of the Queenes high Courts, or essewhere, or any other protection to that effect for any priviled ged person, wee thinke the same against her Maiesties lawes and dignitie.

Thirdly, that M. Lieutenant ought to returne every Habeas Corpus,

Corpus out of any Court at Westminster, so as the Iustices before whom it shall be returned (as the sause shall require) may either remaund it with the body, or retaine the matter before them, and deliuer the body as Iustice shall require.

Lastly, whereas the Lieutenant doth also claime a liberty, that if any person priviledged in the Tower be arested in London, he may take the bodie of any Citizen that shall come within the liberties of the Tower, and keepe his body there votill the other be delivered, we thinke the same to be altogether against the lawes of the Realme.

The Lords therefore of her Maiesties sayd priny Councell, vpon graue and deliberate considerations had of the certificate and opinions of the said Lords chief Instices and Master of the Rolles, and to the end occasions of contention, trouble, and disorder, & the danger of breach of her Maiesties peace, which have heretofore of late yeeres arisen and growne vpon the controversies aforesaid, may from henceforth cease, and be altogetime.

ther removed and taken away. It was this day by their Lordships ordered and decreed, betwixt the Lord Major, Comminaltie and Citizens of Lordon, and their successors, and the Lieutenant of her Highnesse sayd Tower of London, and all other Lieutenants and Officers of the Tower at any time hereafter to succeede: That the matters points, and articles contained in the Certificat of the fayd Iuflices and Master of the Rolles before mentioned, wherin their resolutions, opinions and determinations be set downe, declared and lignified, shall at all times from henceforth standard remaine for rules and resolutions and finall determination and decision : for so much and so many of the points of controuerfies as are contained in the faid Certificate (whereof they have deliuered their opinions) to bee for euer hereafter duely obserued and kept, and that nothing be hereafter at any time done, or attempted on either part, to the violating or interrupting of

On the South Ade of the Chauncell, Candeth an ancient Marble

Hic iacet Bartholomeus Iames, Miles, Ciuis & Pannarius, ac Aldermannus, necnon quondam Maior huius inclita Ciuitatis London, &c.

Tlose by it standeth another very faire Alabaster Tombe, richly and curiously guilded, with two ancient sigures of Aldermen in Scarlet kneeling, the one, at one end of the Tombe in a goodly Arch, the other at the other end in like manner, and a comely figure of a Lady betweene them, who was wife to them both. By the one standeth a Table, with this inscription:

Here lyeth Henry Heardsons corps, within this Tombe of stone: His foule (through faith in Christes death,) to God in Heauen is gone. VVhiles that he lived an Alderman, and Skinner was his state: To Vertue bare he all his loue, To vice he bare his hate. His Almes that weekely he bestowed, within this Parish here, May witnesse to the poores releefe, what good-will he did beare. He had to wife one Barbara, which made this Toombe you fee: By whom he had of iffue store, eight sonnes and Daughters three. Obist 22. Decemb. An. Dom. 1555.

The corpes of Richard Champion, Knight,

There is a faire Alabaster Tombe, principally belonging to Sir Christop. Draper, Unight, yet bearing all these inscriptions following, in regard of the severall marriages of his Daughters:

Sir Christopher Draper. Knight, Ironmonger, and Lord Maior of London, 1560. deceased, being 70. yeeres of age. Lady Margaret his wife made this Monument for him.

Sir William Webbe, Knight, Salter and Lord Maior of London, 1591. deceased the 4. day of July, 1599. Lady Bennet his wife, yet living, Daughter to Sir Christopher Draper, Knight, performed this in her love to him.

Sir Wolstane Dixy, Knight, Skinner and Lord Maior of London, An. Dom. 1582. deceased, being 69. yeeres of age. Lady Agnes his wife, Daughter to Sir Christopher Draper, Knight, deceased in the 37. yeere of her age.

Sir Henry Billingsley, Knight, Haberdasher, and Lord Maior of London, 1596. yet living in An. 1602. Mistris Bridget his wife, Daughter to Sir Christopher Draper, Knight, deceased in the 44. yeere of her age. M. Christopher Woodroffe, sonne to the sayd Mistris Bridget, deceased 37. yeeres of age.

Hoc Monumentum amoris, ergo posuit Domina Benet Webbe superstes in memoriam sui coningis dignissimi equitis Guil. Webbe, FINIS.

Pow, in regard that this Parish of S. Dunstane is the last (in our account) of Tower-Arcet ward, wee are to speake of Gods blessings there to the pooze, which I sind to be by. s. z.d. enery Sunday through the yeere, given in ready mony, beside bread and other gists, according to the wills and dispositions of Sir Richard Champion, and Pr. Alderman Heardson, with Coales given beside at certaine times. Poze, I sinde, that one man hath given yeerely for ener, an whole Pre, to be distributed by a quarter thereof quarterly, and a pecke of Date-meale ther withal to the pooze. But yet so discretly ordered, that they that have the quarter of Beefe, and pecke of Datemeale at one quarter, must stay till other pooze be so served, and that it comes to their turne againe. Other charities there are which came in gifts of ready money, and are accordingly truly distributed.

In the perambulation of this Parith, they goe first so farre Porth from the Church, as to the house next William Offington, and thence returning, walke vowne on the Porth side of Tower-Areete, so farre as Mincheon-lane, and to the house of Dumbelowe, next to Clothworkers Hall, where they resturne againe, and so goe on to the signe of the Dolphine in

Towre-Areets

Tower-Areet, being a Manerne. There they croffe the wap, and goe bowne the West fide onely of Water-lane, and then walke along Thames-ffreere, leaving the Custome-house, pasfing on to Smarts-key; whence returning back into the Croffe, Lane, fo farre as Sir Christopher Buckles house, now in the cuffodie of Sir Iohn Lemman, Anight, and Lozd Baioz of London, they goe home to the place where they began. Deere 3 was fauoured by Mafter Iohn Childerlay, Doctor of Diut nitie, my worthy good friend, and his biligent Officers.

Pow as concerning the two Church-lanes, they meeting on the Southfive of this Church and Church-pard, doe iopne in one: and running bowne to the Thames-freete, the same is called Saint Dunstans Hill: at the lower ende whereof the faid Thames-freete (toward the Waeft, on both fides almost to Belins-gate, but towards the Caft by to the Mater-gate, by the Bulwarks of the Tower) is all of Tower-Aret Ward. In this Areete on the Thames Ade, are divers large landing places, called Wharffes, or Reyes, for Cranage by of Wares and Warchandife, as also for thipping of wares from thenceto

Paffekes Wharfe, and Horners Key.

Key. Wool Key. Wools.

These Wharffes and Reyes commonly beare the names of their owners, and are therefore changeable. I reade in the 26. of Henry the firt, that in the Parish of Saint Dunstane in the Cast, a tenement called Passekes Wharste, and another called Horners Bey in Thames-Arcete, were granted to William Harindon Esquire. I reade also, that in the firt of Richard the fecond, John Churchman Grocer, forthe quiet of Parchants, oto newly build a certaine house bpon the Rey, called Wool-wharffe, in the Tower-streete Warde, in the Parish of Alhallowes Barking, betwirt the tenement of Paul Salisburie, on the Cast part, and the Lane called the Water-Wool Wharfe gate on the West, to serue for Tronage, or weighing of Mools in the Port of London: Whereupon, the Kinggran Water gate by ted, that during the life of the faid Iohn, the afozefaid Tronage should bee held and kept in the said house, with ease-Custom house. ments there so, the Ballances and Weights, and a counting place for the Customer, Controwlers, Clarkes and other Officers of the faid Tronage, together with ingreffe and es areffe to and from the fame, enen as was had in other places, where the faid Aronage was woont to bee kept, and that the Ling Mould pay perely to the faid John (during his life) fortie Millings, at the termes of &. Michael and Easter, by enen poz: Custome tions, by the hands of his Customer, without any other pay-house. ment to the faid lohn, as in the Indenture thereof moze at large appeareth.

Peere onto this Cultomers Key, towards the Caft, is the Porters Key, fait Watergate, and Meft from it, Porters Key: then Galley or Porters Key, where the Gallies were bled to bulade, and land their Lane. Parchandizes and wares: and that part of Thomes. firecte Galley Key. was therefore of come called Galley-Row, but more commons ly Petry-Wales. Petty Wales.

Dn the Porth fide, as well as on the South of this Thames Areete, are many fayze houses, large for folvage, builded for Parchants, but towards the Caftend thereof, namely, over as gainst Galley Key, Wooll Key, and the Custome-house, there bane been, of old time, fome large buildings of fone, the ruines whereof doe pet remaine, but the first builders and owners of them are worne out of memory: wherefore the common people aftirme Iulius Cafar to be the builder thereof, as also of the Mower it selfe; but thereof I have spoken already. Some are of another opinion, and that a moze likely, that this great fone building, was sometime the lodging appointed for the Princes of Wales, when they repayzed to this Citie, and that therefore Princes of the Areste in that part is called Petty Wales, which name recologing. maineth there most commonly butill this day: even as where the Bings of Scotland were bled to bee lodged betwirt Charing-croffe, and White-hall, it is like wife called Scotland; and where the Carles of Brittain were lodged without Alderfgate. the Areete is called Britaine Arcete, &c.

The faid building might (of old time) perfaine to the Brins ces of Wales, as is aforefaid, but is fince turned to other ble.

It is before noted of Galley Key, that the Gallies of Italy, chants of Itaand other parts, vid there discharge their Wines & Parchan ly their loddises brought to this Citie. It is like therefore that the Par, ging by their

chants and Divners procured the place to build bpon for their lodgings and Rozeshoules, as the Werchants of the Waunce of Almaine, were licensed to have an house called, Guilda Teutonicorum, the Build hall of the Germanes.

No Gallies landed here in memory of men liuing.

Aftrange kind of builwrightsor Galley-men.

An Hospitall for lunatike or phrensie

Alfo, the Werchants of Burdeaux were licensed to build at the Wintry, Arongly with Kone, as may yet be feene and feed meth olde, though often repaired: much moze cause have these buildings in Detty Wales (though as lately builded, and parte ly of the like frome brought from Cane in Normandy) to feeme olde, which for many veeres, to wit, fince the Gallies left their course of landing there, bath fallen to ruine, and been let ten out for fabling of horses, to Tipplers of Bere, and such like. Amongst others, one mother Mampudding (as thep tere med her) for many peeres kept this house, or a great part ther, of, for victualling: and it feemeth, that the builders of the Hall of this house were Shipwzights, and not house Carpenters: for the frame therof (being but low) is raised of certaine pring ding, by thip- cipall posts of maine timber, fired deepe in the ground, with, out any groundfell, boorded close round about on the infide, has uing none other wall from the ground to the roofe: those Boogdes not exceeding the length of a Clap-boogd, about an inch thicke, everie boozd ledging over other, as in a Shipoz Gally nailed with Ship nailes called rugh, and clench, to wit, rough naples with broad round heads, and clenched on the o. ther five with square plates of iron. The roofe of this Ball is also wrought of the like boord, and napled with rugh and clench, and feemeth as it were a Gally, the Beele turned bpwards: and Joblerued, that no wozme og rottennelle is fene to have entered into either boogd og timber of that Ball, and therefore, in mine opinion, of no great antiquity.

Tread in 44. of Edward the third, that an Dospitall in the Parish of Barking Church, was founded by Robert Denton Chaplen, for the fustentation of poore Priests, and other both men and momen, that were licke of the Phaengie, there to remaine till they were perfectly whole, and restozed to goo mes

Also I reade, that in the 6. of Henry the fift, there was in the Tower ward, a Dessuage or great house, called Cobhams Cobhams Inne, and in the 37. of Henry the firt, a Deffuage, in Thames Inne. Arcete, pertaining to Richard Longuile, et. Some of the rus ines befoze spoken of, may feine to be of the fozesaid Hospital, belonging peraduenture to some Paioz Alien, and so suppreffet amongst the rest, in the reigne of Edward the third, oz Henry the fift, who suppressed them all.

Thus much for the bounds and Antiquities of this ward, wherein is noted first the Dower of London, three Parish Churches, the Custome house, and two Hals of Companies, to wit, the Cloth workers, and the Bakers. This ward hath an Alderman, his Deputie, common Counsellogs eight, Con-Stables thirtiene, Scauengers twelue, Ward mote men thirteene, and a Beadle: it is tared to the fifteene at fire and twens to vounds.

THE PARTY OF THE P

Aldgate Ward.

De second Ward within the wall on the Gaff part, is called Aldgate Ward, as Aldgate ward. taking name of the fame Gate: the pains cipall freet of this ward beginneth at Aldgate, Aretching west to sometime a faire Well, where now a Dump is placed. From thence (the way being dinibed into twaine) the first and principall fret called Aldgare Arcet, runneth on the fouth fide to Lime-Areere cozner, and halfe that Aret Downe on the left hand, is also of that ward.

In the mid way on that South five, betwirt Aldgate & Lime Areet, is Harr-horn Alley, a way that goeth through into Fen- Hart-horne Church fireer, oueragainst Northüberland house. Then haue Bricklayers pe Bzick-lapers hall, and another Alley, called Sprinkle Alley, Hall. now named Sugar-loafe Alley, of the like figne. Then is there Sprinkle alley. afaire house, with divers Tenements neere adioining, some time belonging to a late Diffolued Paiogie, but fince poffeffed by Wiftris Cornewallies, widdow, and her hepzes, by the aift of Bing Henry the eight, in reward of fine puddings (as it was commonly (and) by her made, wherewith thee had prefented him : fuch was the Baincely liberality of those times. Dela. ter time, Sir Nicholas Throgmorton, Unight, was lodged there.

Wall, Gate, of stone, found ynder ground.

Then some what moze Well is Belzetters lane, so called of the first builder and owner thereof, now corruptly called Billitar lane. Betwirt this Belzetters lane, and Limestreete, was and windowes (of later time) a frame of three faire houses, fet bp in the pere 1590.in place where befoze was a large Garden plot, inclosed from the high freete with a Bricke wall, which wall being ta ken downe, and the ground digged deepe for Cellerage, there was found right buder the land Bricke wall, another wall of Kone, with a gate arched of ftone, and gates of Timber, to be closed in the midft towards the freete; the timber of the gates was confumed, but the hinges of your Kill remained on their Raples on both the fides.

Dozeover, in that wall were square windowes, with bars of you on either five the gate; this wall was under ground a bone two fathomes deepe, as I then effeemed it, and feemetb to bee the ruines of some house burned in the reigne of Bing Stephen, when the fire began in the house of one Aleward nere London Cone, and confumed Call to Aldgate, whereby itappeareth, how greatly the ground of this Citie hath been in that place raised.

Du the Porth fide, this principall Arest Aretcheth to the Weff comer of S. Andrewes Church, and then the Ward S.Mary freet, turneth towards the Porth, by S. Mary freet, on the Caft fide to S. Augustines Church in the wall, and so by Buries markes againe, oz about by the mail to Aldgate.

The second way from Aldgare, moze towards the South, from the Dumpe afogelayd, is called Fen-church ffreet, and is Culuer Alley. of Aldgate ward, till pe come to Culuer Alley, on the well libe of Iron mongers Dall, where sometime was a lane, which went out of Fen-church frete to the middeft of Limeftreete;

but this lane was stopped by, so? suspicion of theenes that lure ked there by night. Againe, to Aldgare (out of the principall street, even by the gate, and wall of the Citie) runneth a lane South to Crowched Friers, and then Woodrosse lane to the Tower hil, and out of this lane west, a street called Hart street, Hart street. which of that ward stretcheth to Sydon lane, by Saint Olaves Church. One other lane more west from Aldgare goeth by Northumberland house toward the Crossed Friers: then have ye on the same side, the Porth end of Marclane, and Blanch Axleton, where that ward endeth.

Thus much for the bounds: Pow for Ponuments, or plates most Ancient and notable. I am first to begin with the late discovered of the holy Trinitie, called Christs Church, on the right hand within Aldgate. This Priory was founded Priory of the by Matilda, Queene, wife to Henry the first, in the same place Trinity of where Siredus sometime began to erect a Thurch, in honor of Canons regulated Trosse, and of Mary Magdalen, of which the Deane lar. and Chapter of Waltham were wont to receive thirty spillings. The Queene was to acquite her Church thereof, and in erchange gave but them a Pill. Bing Henry her Pusband confirmed her gift. This Church was given to Norman, the first Canon regular in all England.

The layd Dueene also gave but othe same Church, and those that served God therein, the plot of Aldgace, and the Soke thereunto belonging, with all Customes so free as thee had held the same, and 25. li. Blanks, which she had of the City of Excesser, as appeareth by her deed, wherein she nameth the house of Christs Church, and reporteth Aldgace to be of her Demaines, which she granteth, with two parts of the rent of the City of Excesser. Norman tooke byon him to be Prior of Christs Church, in the peere of Christs 1108, in the Parishes of S. Mary Magdalen, S. Michael, S. Katherin, and the blessed Trinity, which now was made but one Parish of the holy Trinity, and was (in old time) of the holy Crosse, or holy know Parish.

The Priorie was builded on a peece of ground in the partith of S. Katherin, towards Aldgate, which lyeth in length betwirt the Kings Greete, by the which men go towards Ald. gate, neere to the Chappell of S. Michael, towards the Porth. and containeth in length 83. Elles, halfe quarter, and halfe quartern of the Kings Fron Eln, and lieth in bredth, &c. The Soke and ward of Aldgate, was then bounded, as I have ber fore thewne: the Queene was a meane alfo, that the land and English Knighten Guild, was given buto the Paioz Norman. and the honozable man Geffrey de Glinton was a great helper therein, and obtained, that the Chanons might inclose the war betwirt their Church and the wall of the Citie, ec. This wie Prior of Christ ozie in processe of time became a very faire and large Church. rich in lands and ornaments, and palled all the Priories in the Citie of London, or thire of Diodlefer, the Prior whereof was an Alberman of London, to wit, of Portfoken ward. I reade, that Euflacius the 8. Pains, about the peere, 1264 because he would not deale with temporall matters, instituted Theobald Fitz Iuonis Alberman of Portsoken ward buder him, and that William Rifing , 102102 of Christs Church, was Swoone Alberman of the faid Portfoken ward, in the firt of Richard the fecond. Thefe Priors have litten & ridden amongt the Aldermen of London, in linery like buto them, faying that his habite was in Mape of a spirituall person, as I myselfe have feene in my childhood: at which time, the Pator kepta most bountifull house of meate and brinke, both for rich and pooze, as well within the house as at the gates, to all commers according to their effates. But to conclude of this Priory, King Henry the eight, minding to reward Sir Thomas Audley, speaker of the Parliament against Cardinall Wolfey, as pe may reade in Hall, fent for the Prior, commending him for his hospitality, promiled him preferment, as a man worthy of a farre greater dignitie, which promise surely he performed, and compounded with him, though in what fort I never heard, so that the Priory of the ozy, with the appurtenances, was furrendzed to the king, in holy Trinitie the Month of July, in the peere 1531. the 23. of the fayo Kings furrendred & reigne. The Chanons were fent to other houses of the fame suppressed. ozder, and the Pziozie with the appurtenances, King Henry gaue to Sir Thomas Audley, newly Anighted, and afterward made Lord Chauncellor.

Bir Thomas Audley offered the great Church of this Wais orie, with a ring of nine Bels well tuned (whereof foure the greatest were fince folde to the Parith of Stebunhith, and the fine leffer to the Parith of &. Stephen in Colemans freete) to the Parishioners of S. Katherine Christs Church, in exchange for their small Parish Church, minding to have pulled if bowne, and to have builded there towards the freet: But the Darifijoners having doubts in their heads of after clappes,

Then was the Priory Church and Reeple proferred to whomfoeuer would take it downe, and carrie it from the ground; but no man would bndertake the offer. Whereupon. Sir Thomas Audley was faine to be at moze charges , then could be made of the flones, timber, leade, poon, tc. forthe workemen, with great labour beginning at the toppe, loofed Rone from Rone, and threw them downe, whereby the most part of them were broken, and few remained whole, and those were folde very cheape; for all the buildings then made about the City, were of Bricke and Timber. At that time any man in the Citiemight have a Cart-loade of hard flone for pauing, brought to his voore for 6.0. or 7.0. with the carriage. of S. Andrew Vendershaft.

A shaft or May-pole higher then the Church steeple.

Greet, Candeth the faire and beautifull Parith Church of 5. Parish Church Andrew the Apollle, with an addition, to be knowne from o ther Churches of that name, of the Knape og Vndershaft, and fo called S. Andrew Vndershaft, because that of old time, eues ry peere (on Day day in the mozning) it was bled, that an high or long thaft, or Dap pole, was let by there, in the mioft of the freete, befoze the South voze of the layd Church, which thaft when it was fet on end, and fired in the ground, was higher then the Church Steeple. Geffrey Chawcer, witting of a vaine boafter, hath these words, meaning of the save maft.

Chaucer chance of dice

Right well aloft, and high ye beare your head, The weather-cocke with flying, as ye would kill, When ye be stuffed, bet of wine, then bread, Then looke ye, when your wombe doth fill, As ye would beare the great shaft of Corne-hill. Lord fo merrily crowdeth then your croke, That all the street may heare your body cloke.

As hath bin at large before declared.

This thaft was not rayled at any time fince enill Day day (so called of an insurrection made by Pzentises, and other young persons against Aliens in the yeere 1517) but the sapo thaft was laid along over the doozes, and buder the Pentiles of one rowe of houses, and Alley gate, called of the Mast, Shaftalley, (being of the possessions of Rochester bringe) in the ward of Limeftreet.

Pauls Croffe.

It was there, I sap, hanged on Iron hookes many peeres, till the third of Bing Edward the art, that one Sir Stephen cu Shaft or May- rat of S. Katherine Christs Church, preaching at Pauls Croffe, pole preached faid there, that this haft was made an Jooll, by naming the Church of Saint Andrew, with the addition of buder that thaft: hee perswaved therefore, that the names of Churches might bee altered: Also, that the names of dayes in the weeke might be changed, the fifth dayes to be kept any dayes, except Friday and Saturday, and the Lent any time, faue onely betwirt Shaouetive and Cafter. I haue oft times feene this man, forlaking fogfaking the Pulpet of his fand Parift Church, preach out of The faid Elm an high Clime tree in the miodeft of the Church pard, and then tree his preaentering the Church, foglaking the Altar, to have fung his lately raken high Paffe in English, bpon a Tombe of the dead towards the downe. Porth. I heard his Bermon at Pauls Croffe, and I faw the effect that followed: for in the after-noone of that prefent Sunday, the neighbours, and Tenants to the layd bridge, or uer whose dwzes the faid Shaft had laine, after they had dined, to make themselves arong, gathered moze helpe, and with great labour raising the Shaft from the hooks (whereon it had Shaft or Mayrested two and thirty peeres) they sawed it in pieces, enerie pole fawed in man taking for his thare, fo much as had layne over his doze peeces and and stall, the length of his house, and they of the Alley, Die burnt. uided amongst them so much as had laine over their Allev gate. Thus was this Jooll (as be tearmed it) mangled, and after burned.

Soone after was there a Commotion of the Commons in Norfolke, Suffolke, Effex, and other thires, by meanes inheres of, Areight orders being taken for the suppreffion of rumors, divers persons were apprehended and executed by Warshall Law; amongst the which the Bayliffe of Rumford in Effex Bayliefe of was one, a man bery well beloned : he was early in the 902 Rumford exening of Mary Magdalens day (then kept holy day) brought by cuted within the Sheriffes of London, and the lanight Darchall, to the Aldgare for Well within Aldgate, there to be erecuted bpon a Jibit fet bp words fpoken that mounting, where being on the Ladder, hee had woods to the parish. this effect :

In place of this Church, is now a Carpenters yard, a Tennis court and such like: the Fryers hall was made a glasse house, or house wherein was made glasse of divers lores to drinke in, which house in the years 1575, on the 4. of Sep. The Glasse tember, burst out into a terrible fire, where being practised all house burned, meanes possible to quench it, not with standing, as the same houses in a small time before had, consumed a great quantity of wood by making of glasses, now it selse, having within it about 40000. Billets of wood, was also consumed to the some walles, which neverthelesse greatly hindred the fire from spreading any surther.

Thereas there is mention made by D. Stowe (in this his Suruap) of a monthly pention of 4.s. to belong to a four teenth house, being of one of the said Aimeshouses; Also of certain Bread and Coales, to be delinered to the Parifies of Saint Edmund in Lumbardstreete and Saint Michael in Cornehill: And of viners meffuages and garden plots in the Parift of S. Olane in Hart freete London, mentioned to be ginen to the Company of Dapers, for the performance thereof : Upon a perfect view of the will it felfe, by which the faid Almefhouses were given to the Company of Dapers, and bpon other waitings touching the same ; And withall , vpon biligent and painefull fearth and examination touching that matter: 3 finde, that Paffer Stowe was much deceined og millaken in that matter, and that there was no fuch Bread and Coales quento those parithes, neyther at any time had the Company any fuch houses or gardens, whereby to performe the same, But the Company, by the will, had lands given them in other Parishes (which now they doe entoy) only to maintaine the Almeshouses, and for payment of the pensions there, and to pay fome small sums of money to the Officers and others of that Company, for the looking to the houses, and papies taking in paying the pentions, according as by the will is limited, and for no other ble or purpofe.

Lord Lumleys house.

Pert to these Almes houses is the Lord Lumleyes house, builded in the time of Bing Henry the 8.by Sir Thomas Wiat the father, byon one plotte of ground, of late pertayning to the foresaid Crossed Fryers, where part of their house Good: And this is the farthest part of Aldgate Ward towards the South, and loyneth to the Tower hill. The other five of that lane, oner against the Lord Lumleyes house, on the wall side of the City, is now for the most part (or altogether) builded euen to Ealdgate.

Then have ye on the South side of Fen-Church street, overage gainst the Well of Pumpe, amongst other sayze and large builded houses, one that sometime belonged to the Prior of Monte Ioues of Monte Ioues of Monasterie Cornute, (a Cell to Monte Ioues Prior of Horn beyond the seas.) In Essex it was the Priors Inne, when hee Church in repaired to this City. Then a lane that leadeth downe by Nor-Essex, thumberland house, towards the Crossed Friers, as is asore shewed.

This Northumberland house, in the Parish of S. Katherine Northumber-Colman, belonged to Henry Percy Carle of Northumberland, land house. in the 33.0f H. the 6. but of late being left by Carles, the Gardens thereof were made into Bowling-allies, and other parts but Dicing-houses, common to alcommers so, their money, there to bowle and hazard. But now of late, so many bowling. Allies, and other houses so, unlawfull gaming, have been raised in other parts of the City and Suburbs, that this their ancient and only patron of miscule, is lest and so, saken of her Samesters, and thersoe turned into a number of great rents, small cottages, so, Strangers and others.

At the Cast end of this lane, in the way from Algare toward the Crosted Fryers, of old time were certaine Denements, called the Poore Iurie of Jewes divelling there.

Pert buto this Northumberland house, is the Parist Church The poore of S. Katherine, called Coleman, which addition of Coleman lurie. Parrish Church was taken of agreat Paw yard, or Garden, of old time called of S Ratherine Coleman haw, in the Parish of the Trinity, now called Coleman. Christs Church, and in the Parish of Saint Katherine, and all Saints, called Coleman Church.

Ponuments in this Church, I finde none recozded by D. Stowe, and bpon my viewe, these were the most remarkable that I found there.

But now peruerted are our present ends, That (for wealth) fell the fame of living friends. The dead we live by, now can scant afford The rites and facrifice of one good word: Of which, left I be one, though I can bring (For worthy Obsequie) no precious thing; My gratitude presents vnto her Hearse, My teares for Balme, for Offering, my fad Verse: Giue leaue then, griefe, let my drown'd Muse declare What she that's dead was, voto them that are. The Rule and Index to finde all the good, That euer heauen dealt vpon woman-hood. For, if we but anatomize her life, We finde both a good woman, and good wife: First, she lou'd God, not like the Pharisey, In oftentation and hypocrifie; But euen with all her heart, and all her Soule: She fecretly did raging finne controule, For the (for goodnes take) was innocent, And not for glory or feare of punishment. Next, to her Neighbour did her loue extend, Ready to helpe at need, and to befriend The poore, and those that neuer could repay; But with their prayers at the latter day : The remnant of her love, she did bestowe Vpon her Husband, not in outward showe, Or else in feign'd adulterate flattery; But in found truth, and deepe fincerity, Thus did she live divided in her love, From this vnworthy world and Nature then, Which had but lent her, tooke her backe agen. Where let vs liue in peace, and let vs try; To live like her, that we like her may dye.

Concerning Charity to the pooze in this parift, belide the Chaistian disposition of the parishioners themselues: I finde by information, that Sir Iames Deane hath ginen 2. Donuments or places notable in this Ward be thefe: In Limestreete are diners faire houses for Warchants and or thers: there was sometime a mansion house of the kings, cale led the Bings Artice, whereof I finde record in the 14. of Edward the firft, but now growne out of knowledge. I reade al-Kings Artirce, fo of another great house in the Wielt live of Limeftreete, has uing a Chappell on the South, and a Garden on the West. then belonging to the Lozo Neuill, which Barben is now called the Greene yard of the Leaden hall. This house, in the ninth of Richard the lecond, pertained to Sir Simon Burley, and Sir Iohn Burley his brother: and of late the faid houfe was taken downe, and the fozefront thereof new builded of time ber by Hugh Offley, Alberman. At the Porthwell corner of Limeftreete was (of old time) one great Deffuage, called Benbridges Inne : Raph Holland Dapper, about the peere 1452. gaue it to Iohn Gill, Baffer, and to the Wardens, and Fraternite of Taylogs, and Linnen Armogers of Saint Iohn Bapcift in London, and to their lucceffors for euer. lacke Cade, and other Rebels in the yeare 1449.

Afterwards, in the raigne of Henry the feuenth, it was feased into the Bings hands, and then graunted first buto lohn Alfton, after o bnto VVilliam de la Rivers, and fince by Henry the 8. to Iohn Mucas (a Wicarde) of Frenchman, who dwelled there, and harboured in his house many Frenchmen, that kalendzed wolffeds, and did other things contraric to the Franchifes of the Citizens. Wherefore on cuillimay day, Which was in the peere 1517. the Pentizes and other spopled his house : and if they could have found Mutas, they would Mutas house haue Aricken off his head. Moze, in the pere 1 380. Alice Neuil, widdow to Sir Iohn Neuill, Enight, of Effex, confirmed to Thomas Cogshall, and others, the fayd Mannoz of Leaden hall, the aduowifons, tt.

In the pere 1384. Humfrey de Bohun, Carle of Hereford, had the faid Pannoz. And in the pere, 1408. Robert Rikeden of Effex, and Margaret his wife, confirmed to Richard Whittington, and other Citizens of London, the fapt Wannog of Leaden hall, with the appurtenances, the Abuonfions of 5. Peters Church, S. Margaret Pattens, &c.

And in the peere, 1411. the faid Whittington and other confirmed the same to the Paioz and Comminalty of London, whereby it came to the postestion of the City.

Then in the yeere 1443. the 21. of Henry the firt, John Hatherly, Dato; purchased licence of the sapo laing, to take by 200. fodder of Leade, for the building of water Conduits, & to the building common Granarie, and the Crosse in west Cheape, moze rich ly for the honour of the City.

A brotherhood of 60. Priests in the Chappell of Leadenhall.

Touching the Chappel there, I find, that in the veere 1466. by licence obtained of King Edw. the 4. in the 6. of his reigne, a Fraternity of the Trinity of 60. Priefts (belides other bretheen and lifters) in the same Chappell, was founded by William Rouse, Iohn Risby, & Thomas Ashby Paietts, some of the which 60. brate dinine fernice there, to fuch market people as repaired to praper, and once energ years they met all together, and had folemme Service, with Do ocedion of all the Betheen and Si fers. This foundation was in the peere 1512. by a common Councell confirmed to the 60. Trinity Priefts, and to their luccessozs, at the will of the Paioz and Comminalty.

In the peere 1484. a great fire happened byon the Leaden Hall by what cafualty 3 knownot, but much howfing was Leaden hall there destroyed, with all the stockes for Wuns, and other pro-burned. uisson belonging to the City, which was a great lose, and no

In the peere 1503. the eightenth of Henry the senenth, a Rich. Arnold. request was made by the Commons of the City, concerning the blage of the laid Leaden hall, in fogme as followeth:

Please it the Lord Major, Aldermen, and Common Councell, to enact, that all Frenchmen, bringing Canuas, Linnen cloth, and other wares to be fold, and all Forreins bringing Wolfteds, Sayes, Stamins, Kiuerings, Nailes, Iron worke, or any other wares, and also all manner Forreins, bringing Lead to the Ci- A request of tie to be fold; Shall bring all fuch their wares aforefaid, to the the Citizens open Market of the Leaden hall, and no where elfe to be shew to the Maior ed, fold, and vetered, like as of old time it hath beene vsed, vp-men. on paine of forfeyture of all the faid wares, shewed or fold in any other place then aforefayd: And the shew of the said wares to be made three dayes in a weeke, that is to fay, Munday, Tuesday, and VVednesdy. It is also thought reasonable, that Leadenhall the common Beame be kept from henceforth in the Leaden- market for hall, and the Farmer to pay therefore reasonable rent to the Canuas and Chamber: for better it is that the Chamber have advantage linnen cloth, thereby, then a forraine person. Through the which searcitie, when the Carts of Stratford came laven with 15 zead to the City (as they had beene accustomed) there was such presse about them, that one man was readie to deftroy one another, in friuing to be ferued for their monp. But this fearcity lafted notlong : for the Paioz (in Mozt time) made fuch prouision for Wilbeate, that the Bakers both of London, and of Straiford, were weary of taking it by, and were forced to take much more then they would, and for the rest the Paior laid out the money & store ges it bp in Leaden hall, and other Garners of the City. This Paioz also kept the Parket so well, that he would be at the Leaden hall, by foure a clocke in the Summers mognings, and from thence he went to other Parkets, to the great comfort of the Cit zens.

Freadealso, that in the yeere, 1528. the 20. of Henry the eight, Surnepers were appointed to biew the Barners of the City, namely, the Bridgehouse and the Leaden hall, how they were floged of Graine foz & ferutce of the City. And because 3 have here befoze spoken of the bread Carts comming from Stratford at the Bow, pe thall buverstand, that of old time, the Bakers of bread at Stratford were allowed to bring dayly (ercept the Babbath and principall Feaffs) diners long Carts laven with Bread, the same being two ounces in the pennie wheaten loafe heavier then the penny wheaten loafe baked m the City, the same to to be fold in Cheape, thee og foure Carts Standing there, betweene Gutherans lane and Fausters lane end, one Cart on Corne Hill, by the Conduit, and one other in Liber.d. I reade also in the twentith of Henry the eight, Sir of scarcity. Iames Spencer being Paioz, fir Bakers of Stratford were merced in the Guild Hall of London, for baking under the fige appointed. These Bakers of Stratford left feruing of this City, I know not byon what occasion, aboue fortie peeres fince.

In the yeare 1519, a petition was exhibited by the come A Petition of mons to the Common Councell, and was by them allowed, the Commons concerning the Leaden hall, how they would have it bled, bis.

Meekely befeeching sheweth, vnto your good Lordship, and Masterships, dmers Citizens of this City, which (vnder correction) thinke, that the great place called the Leaden hall, should nor ought not to be letten out to farme, to any person or persons, and in especiall, to any fellowship or company incorporate, to have and hold the same Hall for terme of yeeres, for fuch inconveniences as thereby may enfue, and come to the hurt of the Common weale of the faid City in time to come, as somewhat more largely may appeare in the Articles follow-

First, if any affembly, or hasty gathering of the Commons of the fayd City, for suppressing or subduing of misruled people within the faid City, herefter shall happen to be called or commanded by the Maior, Aldermen, and other Gouernors and Counsellors of the faid Citie for the time being; there is none so convenient, meet and necessary a place to assemble them in, within the faid Citie, as the faid Leaden hall, both for largenes of roome, and for their fure defence in time of their counselling together about the premises. Also, in that place hath beenevsed the Artillerie, Guns, and other Armors of the said City, to be fafely kept in a readines, for the fafegard, wealth, & defence of the laid City, to be had and occupied at times when neede required. As also the store of timber, for the necessary reparations of the tenements belonging to the Chamber of the faid City, there commonly hath beene kept.

Item, if any Triumph or Noblenesse were to to be done, or shewed by the Comminaltie of the City, for the honor of our Soueraigne Lord the King, and Realme, and for the worship of the said City: the said Leaden hall is the most meete and conuenient place, to prepare and order the faid Triumph therein, and from thence to iffue forth to the places thereof appointed.

Item, at any largesse or dole of any money, made vnto the poore people of this City; it hath beene vsed, to be done and given in the faid Leaden ball, for that the faid place is most meete therefore.

free Market place for victuallers, and the people to fand drie.

Item, the honorable Father, that was maker of the faid Hall, I caden Hall a had a speciall will, intent and minde, that (as it is commonly faid) the Market men and women, that came to the City with victuals and other things, should have their free standing within the faid Leaden ball in wet weather, to keepe themselves and their wares dry, and thereby to encourage them, and all other, to have the better will and defire, the more plentiously to refort to the faid City, to victuall the fame. And if the faid Hall should be letten to farme, the will of the said honourable Father should neuer be fulfilled, nor take effect.

Item, if the said place, which is the chiefe fortresse and most necessary place within all the City, for the tuition and safegard of the same, should be letten out to farme, out of the handes of the chiefe heads of the same City, & especially to any other body politike, it might at length (by likely hood) be an occasion of discord and debate betweene the faid bodies politique, which God defend.

For these and many other great and reasonable causes, which hereafter shall be shewed to this honourable Court, your fayd beseechers thinke it much necessary, that the said Hall bee still in the hands of this City, and to be furely kept by fad & discreet Officers, in such wise, that it may alway be ready to be vsed and occupied, for the common weale of the faid City when neede shall require, and in no wife to bee letten to any body politique. Thus much for the petition.

About the yeare 1534. great meanes was made about the Leaden Hall Leaden Hall, to haue the same made a Burfle fog the affemblie meant to haue of Parchants, as they had been accustomed in Lumbardffreet; bene made a many Common Counselles were called to that end, but in the chants peere 1535. Iohn Champneis being Paioz, it was fully concluded, that the Burfle Gould remaine in Lumbardfreet, as a. fore, and Leadenhall no more to be spoken of concerning that matter. The vie of Leaden hall (in my pouth) was thus: In a part of the Porth Duabrant, on the Call five of the Porth gate, were the common beames, for waighing of Wavoll and other wares, as had beene accustomed : on the West side of the gate was the Scales to weigh meale: the otherthie fives were referred (for the most part) to the making and resting of the Pageants thewed at Diofummer in thewatch: the remnant of the fives and Quadzants were imployed for the flowage of wolfacks, but not closed bp: the lofts about were partly bled by the Painters, in working for the becking of Pageants and other deuices, for beautifying of the watch and watch-men, the residue of the losts were letten out to Parchants, the Moll-winders and Packers therein to winde and packe their Woolles. And thus much for Leaden hall may fuffice.

In the peere 1576, partly at the charges of the Paris of Saint Andrew, and partly at the charges of the Chamber of London, a water Dumpe was raifed in the high Areete of Limeftreete VVard, neere onto Limeftreete coaner: for the the high fireet placing of the which pumpe, hauing broken by the ground, they were forced to digge more then two fadome deepe, before Cornhill freet they came to any maine ground, where they found a Barth in some place made of Britaine, og rather Romane Wile, euery Wile halfe rayled two fa- pard square, and about two inches thick : they found Toale lying there also (for that lying whole will never consume) time, as appea- then digging one fadome in the maine, they found water sufficient, made their paall, and fet bp the pumpe, which pumpe, dings found so with off repayzing and great charges to the Parith, continued not foure and twenty peeres, but being rotted, was taken bp, and a new fet in the place, in the yeare 1600. Thus much for the high Areete.

S. Mary ftreere warehouse.

In Saint Mary Areete had pe (of old time)a Parith Church Parish Church of Saint Mary the Wirgine, Saint Vrsula, and the 11000: of Mary, S.Vr- Mirgins, which Thurch was commonly called S. Mary at the fula, & 11000. Are, of the figne of an Are, oner-against the Cast end thereof, atthe Axe, let 02 Saint Marie Pellipar, of a plot of ground lying on the Porth five thereof, pertayning to the Skinners in London. This Parish about the yeere 1565. was buited to the Parish Thurch of S. Andrew Vndershaft, and so was S. Mary at the Are suppressed, and letten out to bee a warehouse for a Parchant. Against the Cast end of this Church, was sometime a faire wall, now turned to a pump. Also against the Porth end Parish Church of this S. Mary ffreet, was fomtime one other Parish Church of S. Augustine, called S. Augustine in the wall, for that it for adiopning to the wall of the City, and otherwise called S. Augustines Papey, or the pore, as I have read in the raigne of Edward the third. About the piere 1430 in the raigne of Henry pulled downe the firt, the same Church was allowed to the brethren of the Papey, the house of pooge Paieffs, whereof I haue spoken in Aldgate ward. The Parishioners of this Church were appointed to the Parish Thurch of Alhallowes in the wal, which is in Broadstreet Watard : and this brotherhood called Papey,

being suppressed, the Church of Saint Augustine was pulled bowne, and in place thereof one Grey, a Pothecary, builded a Stable, a hay loft, &c. It is now a dwelling house. Those two Darif Churches, both lying in the Ward of Limefirect, being thus suppressed, there is not any one Parish Church or place for Dinine fernice in that Ward, but the Inhabitants thereof repaire to S. Peter in Cornhill Wart, S. Andrew in Aldgare Mard, Alhallowes in the wal in Broad-Areet Mard, and fome to S. Dennis in Langborne Ward.

Pow because of late there hath bin some queftion, to what Ward this Church of S. Augustine Papey Mould of right belong, for the same bath been challenged by them of Aldgare Ward, and (without reason) taken into Bishopsgate Ward, from Limeftreet Ward, Jam somewhat to touch it.

About 30. peres fince, the Chamber of London granted a Houses by Leafe of ground (in thefe woods) Lying neere London wall, in London wall, the Ward of Limestreet, from the West of the fayd Church or in the Ward Chappell of S. Augustine Papey, towards Bishopsgate, &c. Dn of Limestreet; the which plot of ground, the Leafee builded three faire tenements, and placed Tenants there: thefe were charged to beare fcotand lot, and some of them to beare office in Limeftreete Ward: all which they viv willingly without grudging. And when any suspected or visorozed persons were by the landlord placed there, the Dfficers of Limeltreet Ward fetched them out of their houses, committed them to Ward, procured their due punishments, and banished them from thence: whereby in Mozt time that place was reformed, and brought into god ozder: which thing being noted by them of Aldgate Ward, they moued their Alberman, Sir Thomas Offley, to call in those houses to be of his Warv. But I my felfe thewing a faire Led. gier booke, Cometime pertaining to the late diffolued Paioap of the holy Trinity within Aldgate, wherein were fet downe the inft bounds of Aldgate Ward, before Sir Thomas Offley, A part of Sir Rowland Heyward, the common Councell, & Mardmote Limeftreete inquest of the fayd Limefreete Ward; Sir Thomas Offley ward vniustly gaue ouer his challenge, and fo that matter reffed in god quis wirhheld by et, bntill the peere 1579.that Sir Richard Pype (being Paioz, ward, £ 4 and Alberman of Bishopsgate Ward) challenged those houses to be of his Ward, whereunto (without reason the wed) Sir Rowland Hayward peelded: and thus is that fide of the Greet. from the Porth corner of S. Mary West, almost to Bishopsgate (wherein is one plot of ground, letten by the Chamberlaine of London, to the Parish of S. Martins Oteswich, to bee a Churchyard of burying place for the bead of that Parith, $c.) buiufly drawne and with-holden from the Ward of Lime.

Diners other proofes I could fet volone, but this one following may suffice. The Paioz and Aldermen of London made a grant to the fraternity of the Papie, in thefe words:

Bee it remembred, that where now of late the Mafter and Wardens of the Fraternity of the Papie, have made a brick wall, closing in the Chappell of S. Augustine, called Papie Chappell, fituate in the Parish of All-Saints in the wall, in the Ward of Limestreete of the City of London : from the South-east corner of the which bricke wall, is a Scutcheon of 12. foote of affile from the fayd corner East-ward: And from the same Scutcheon there, to a meffuage of 55. foote and a halfe Westward, the fayd Scutcheon breaketh out of line right Southward, betwixt the measures aforesayd, 3. soote and 5. inches of affise, vpon the common ground of the City aforelayd; Ralph Verney, Maior, and the Aldermen of the same Citie, the 22. day of October, the 6. yeere of Edward the 4. granted to John Hod Priest, M. Iohn Bolt, and Thomas Pachet Priests, Wardens of the Fraternitie of Papie aforesayd, and to their successors for euer, &c. yeelding 4. D. sterling yeerely at Michaelmas. And this is, saith my boke, inrolled in the Guildhal of London: which is a fuf. ficient paof, the same plot of ground to be of Limestreet ward, and neuer otherwise accounted of challenged.

Dn the fouth five of this fret, fretching well from S.Mary ffreet towards Bishopsgate ffreet, there was (of old time) one large meffuage builded of fone and timber, in the Pariff of S. Augustine in the wall, now in the Parish of Alballowes in the same wall, belonging to the Carle of Oxford (foz Rich, Onford place, de Vere, Carle of Oxford, possessed it in the 4.0f Henry the 5.)

Edward Cooke, at the time when this was written, the Ducenes Attourney Generall. This house being greatly ruinated, of late time, for the most part, hath bin letten out to Powlters, for stabling of horses and solwage of Poultrie, but now lately new builded into a number of smal tenements, letten out to strangers, and other meane people.

It was ordered by the L. Paior and Aldermen, at a Court Hum. Dyson, holden on Thursday, the 24.0f Aprill, An. 4. Edward 6. That the Chamberlaine of London should yearly pay but the Scarnenger of Limestreet ward, 20. s. by even portions, out of the profits comming by the Butchers stavles in Leaden hall, to ward the clenking and sweet keeping of the same ward.

One note moze of this Ward, and so an end; I find of Research, that in the yeare 1371. the 45. of Edward the third, a Subsidy of great subsidy of 100000. pound was granted towards the Limestreet Rings warres in France, whereof the Cleargie paid 50000. ward in the pound, and the Laity 50000 pound to be levied to 39. shires of years, 1371. England, containing Parishes 8600. of every Parish 5. pound 16. s. the greater to helpe the lesser. This Citie (as one of the Sires) then containing 24. Wards, and in them 110. Parishes, was therfoze assessed to 635. it. 12. s. where s Limestreet Mard did beare 34. s. and no moze; so small a Ward it was, and so accounted, as having no one whole Parish therein, but small pozitions only, of two Parishes in that Ward.

This Ward hath an Alderman, his Deputy, Commonscounsailors 4. Constables 4. Scauengers 2. Wardemote insquest 16. and a Beadle, and is tared to the fifteene at 1. pound

Bishopsgate Ward.

Bishopsgate Ward.

De nert is Bishopsgate Ward, whereof a part is without the gate, of the Suburbs, from the Bars by S. Mary Spittle to Bishopsgate, and a part of Hounds dich, almost halfe thereof, also without the wall of the same Ward.

Then within the gate is Bishopsgate street, so called of the gate, to a Dumpe, where sometime was a faire Well with two buckets, by the Cast end of the Parish Church of S. Martin Oteswich, and then winding by the West comer of Leaden haldown Grassestreet, to the comer overagainst Grasse-Church: and this is the bounds of that Ward.

Parish Church of S. Buttolph without Bishopsgate.

Ponuments most to be noted, are these: the Parish Church of S. Buttolph without Bishopsgate in a faire Thurchyard, adioining to the Town Ditch byon the very banke thereof, but of old time inclosed with a comely wall of bricke, lately repaired by Sir William Allen, Paior, in the yeare 1571. because he was borne in that Parish, where also he was buried. An Ancresse (by Bishopsgate) received 40. s. the years of the Sherisses of London.

Petty France neere to the Pow without this Church-yard wall, was a Caufey, leabing to a Duadzant, called Perty France, of divers Frenchmen Towns ditch. Divelling there, and to other divelling houses, lately builded on the banke of the layo vitch by some Citizens of London, that moze regarded their owne pzinategaine, then the common good of the Citie. For by meanes of this Causey raised on the banke, and loylage of houses, with other filthinesse cast in to the Ditch, the same became enforced to a narrow channell, and almost filled by with busauoury things, to the danger of importoning the whole Citie.

For prevention whereof, and in a worthy charitable vispo-Ution of so honourable a City (in regard that this Parish was greatly bupsouided of buriall for their dead) that needelesse

Causey

Causey or passage to petty France, was given by the Citie to the said Parish, sor the same intent, which they have since then) made god and sirme ground, walling it about with a god strong Brick-wall serving as a lower and supplying Church, yard by it selfe, and towards the charges whereof, divers god Parishioners (that desire to be namelesse) gave large and honest contribution. And because they would not show them, selves unthankfull to the Citie, sor so great a benefit, their expression standed thus sixed over the gate, at entrance into the said Churchyard.

The bounds of Saint Buttolphs parith without Bishopsgate London, are thus: From Bishopsgate (bnder a part of which the City Ditch runneth) Westward, close by the ditch they passe along by petty France, into Possesseld: bnder the wall and Causey whereof (towards Bethlem) there did run a ditch, and from the Posth part of the said sield, kill doth, so farre as Hogge-lane, which is at the upper end of the Garden Allies. Close to which ditch, the parish extendeth all along on the inside, and taketh in one side of Hogge-lane. Thence straight south, it beginneth on the surther side of Norton Folgate, thence into S. Mary Spittle, and thence into a part of

Then have ye the late diffolued Priory and Polpitall, com Walter Brune monly called, S. Mary Spittle, founded by Walter Brune, and Mercer, one of Rosia his wife, for Canons regular; Walter, Archdeacon of London laid the first stone in the piere 1 197. William of Saint Mary Church, then B. of London, dedicated it to the honour of Jelus Chaiff, and his Pother the perpetuali Wirgin Mary, by the name of Domus Dei, and Beatæ Maria, extra Bishopsgate, in the Parish of &. The Prior of this Saint Mary Spittle, for the emortifing and propriation of the Driory of Bikenacar in Effex, to his faid house of S. Mary Spittle, gaue to Henry the feuenth 400. li. in the two and twentyeth of his raigne, This Bospitall surrendered to Henrie the eight, was valued to dispend 478. pounds, wherein was found, be, fides ornaments of the Church, and other goods pertayning to . the Hospitall, 180. beds weil furnished, for receipt of the pore. For it was an Doipitall of great reliefe: Sir Henry Plefington, Unight, was buried there, 1452.

In place of this Dospitall, and neere adicining, are now mas Pulpit Crosse np faire houses builded, for receit and lodging of worthipfull at the Spittle. persons. A part of the large Church pard pertaining to this Charnell and Hospitall, and severed from the rest with a Brithe wall, get Edmond and remaineth as of old time, with a Pulpit Croffe therein, some of Mary Magwhat like to that in Pauls Church pard. And against the faid dalen. Pulpit on the fouthfide, before the Charnell and Chappell of Sermons in Saint Edmond the Bithop, and Mary Magdalen, which Thap, the Eafter hovell was founded about the yeare 1391. by W. Eucham, Citi-Spittle. sen and Deperer of London, who was there buried, remaineth also one faire builded house of two Rozies in height for the Daioz, and other honourable persons, with the Alvermen and Shiriffes to fit in, there to heare the Sermons preached in the Caffer holidayes. In the Loft over them food the Bishop of London, and other Phelates; but now the Lavies, and Alder mens Wines do there fland at a fayee Window, or fit at their pleafure.

And here is to be noted, that time out of minde, it hath beene a lauvable custome, that on good Fryday in the after noone, some especialt learned man, by appointment of the Paelates, hath preached a Dermon at Pauls Croffe, treating of Christs pallion: and bpon the three nert Caffer Holydayes, Hunday, Tuefday, and Mednelday, the like learned men, by the like appointment, have bled to preach on the foremoutes at the faid Spittle, to perswave the Article of Chailes resurrection : and then on Low Sundap, one other learned man at Pauls Croffe, to make rehearfall of those foure former Sermons, et ther commending or reproduing them, as to him (by indgement of the learned Dinines) was thought convenient. And that done he was to make a Sermon of his owne ftudie. which in all were fine Sermons in one. At thele Sermons fo fenerally preached, the Daior with his Brethren the Alder. men were accustomed to bee prefent, in their Wiolets at Pauls on good Fryday, and in their Scarlets at the Spittle in the Polidayes, except Wednesday in Miolet, and the Paioz with his Bzethzen, on Low Sunday in Scarlet, at Pauls Croffe.

Touching the Antiquity of this Cultome, 3 finde that in the yere 1398. Bing Richard hauing procured from Rome, confirmation of fuch flatutes, and ordinances, as were made in the Parliament, begun at VVestminster, and ended at Shrewsbury, he caused the same confirmation to be read and pronounced at Pauls Croffe and at Saint Mary Spittle, in the Sermons befoge all the people. Philip Malpas one of the Shi riffes in the yeare 1439, gane 20, Millings by the yeare to the thice Pieachers at the Spittle. Stephen Forfter Paioz in the peere 1454. gaue fortie pounds to the Preachers of Pauls Croffe and Spittle. I find alfo, that the afozefaid houfe, where in the Paioz and Albermen do fit at the Spittle, was builded the Maior and (for that purpose) of the goods, and by the executors of Rich. Rawson Alderman, and Isabel his Wife, in the peere 1488. Pulpit Croffe In the peere 1594. this Pulpit being old, was taken downe, and a new let bp, the Pzeachers face turned towards the South, which was before toward the West. Also a large house (on the Cast lide of the said Pulpit) was then builded, Spittle church foz the Gouernogs and Children of Chaifts Hospitall to fit in: and this was done of the goods of William Elkin Alberman, ners and Chil- late deceased. But within the first yeere, the same house decaydré of Christs ing, and like to have fatten, was againe (with great coff) repayzed at the Cities charge.

The Sermon being ended, they robe home with the Logd Daio; to his houle neere Belinfgate, where they were louing. ly & honozably both welcommed and entertained, with a most liberall and bountifull Dinner, and all the Gentlemen attending on them. The Lozds, were the right reverend Father in Bod, George L. Arthbilhop of Canterburie, S. Francis Bacon, Lozo Beeper of the great Seale of England; the Carle of Worcester; the Lord Liste, Lord Chamberlaine to her Baiestie; the Lozo Bishop of London; the Lozo Carey; the Lozo Kniuet; Sir Iulius Cafar; Sir Thomas Edmonds; Sir Iohn Digbie, with divers other Unights and worthy Gentlemen, &c. And the Wzeacher that then pzeached, was Baffer Doctoz Dage, of Detford in Kent.

Duthe Caff fide of this Church pard lyeth a large field- Lolefworth time called Lolesworth, now Spittle field, which about & pare field. 1576. was broken by for Clay to make Brief. in the digging Romanes in thereof many earthen pots called Venz, were found full of Spittle field. Athes, and burnt bones of men, to wit, of the Romanes that Old Monuinhabited here, was the custome of the Romanes, to ments of the hurs-1900 vead, to put their Aches in an Arne, and then burie Romanes the same with certaine ceremonies, in some field appointed so found.

that purpole neere unto their City.

Query of these pots had in them (with the Athes of the bead) one piece of Copper money, with the infcription of the Emperour then raigning : some of them were of Claudius, some of Vespasian, some of Nero, of Anthonius Pins, of Traianus, and others. Besides those Arnes, many other pots were found in the same place, made of a white earth, 到 2 with long necks, a handles, like to our fone Jugs : thefe were emptie, but feemed to be burico full of fome liquid matter, long fince confumed and foaked through. For there were found biners Wials, and other fachioned Clades, fome mot commingly incought, fuch as I have not fene the like, and fome of Christall, all which had water in them, nothing differing in clearnes, taffe, 02 fauour from common fpzing water, whatfor ener it was at the first. Some of thefe Classes had Dple in them bery thicke, and earthy in fauour. Some were supposed to have Balme in them, but had loft the vertue : many of thele pots and glattes were broken in cutting of the clap, to that fem were taken by whole.

There were also found divers Dithes and Cups, of a fine red coloured earth, which thewed outwardly fuch a thining imothnelle, as if they had beine of Curral. Those had (in the bottomes) Romane letters painted, there were also Lampes of white earth and red, artificially woought with divers Ane tiques about them, some three or foure Jinages, made of white earth, about a span long each of them tone I remember was of Pallas, the reft I hane foggotten. Impfetfehaue referued (amongst divers of those antiquities there) one Urne, with the Thes and bones, and one pot of white earth very fmall, not ertaing the quantity of a quarter of a wine pint, made in shape of a pare, squatted bpon her legs, and betweene her

There hath also beene round (in the same field) diners Cofe of Stone found fing of Cone, containing the vone of men: thele I suppose to be the burials of some special persons, in and of the Brytans, og Saxons, after that the Romanes had left to gouternes mo Mozeoner, there were also found the sculs and bones of men; without Coffins, og rather whole Coffins (being of great time ver) were consumed. Divers great Paples of Fron were Great Nayles there found, such as are bled in the Wheeles of thod Carts, being each of them as bigge as a mans finger, and a quarter of fond opinions a parblong, the heads two inches over. Those Paples were moze wonder at then the rest of the things there found, and many opinions of men were there bitered of them, namely, that the men there buried, were murthered by bein ing those Paples into their heads; a thing bulikely: foz a fmaller Paple would more aptly ferue to fo bab a purpofe, and a more fecret place would lightly be imployed for fuch buriall.

But to let downe what I have observed concerning this matter, I there beheld the bones of a man lying (as Inoted) the head Porth, the fet South, and round about him (as thwart his head, along both his lives, and thwart his feete) fuch Paples were found. Therefore I confectures them to be the Paples of his Coffin , which had beene a trough, cut out of some great tree, and the same covered with a planke of a great thickenesse, fastened with such Mayles, and therefore a caused some of the Paples to be reached up to me; and found buder the broad heades of them, the old wood, flant turned into earth, but Will retaining both the graine and proper co. lour. Df thefe Paples (with the wood under the head thereof) I referued one, as also the nether taw-bone of the man, the teth being great, found, & fired, which (among many other monuments there found) I have yet to thew; but the Paple lying bay, is by fealing greatly walted. And thus much for this part of Bishopsgate Wlard, without the Bate: for I baue in another place (poken of the Gate, and therfoge Jam to fpeaks of that other part of this Ward, which lieth within the Gate.

A young new-borne childe was taken by, betweene the morie haging great ware house and Sir Iohn Spencers backe gate, being (by a most bunaturall mother) there buried in a great dunghill of Sea-coale affes, with the face byward; pet found aline by Richard Atkinson, who bled to make cleane the passage there of the lople, carrying it thence with his Wheele-barrow. The child had not any ragge og cloth about it, but was all bloudied, by reason that the Pauill Aring was butied, and the body meerely crufted oner with the Sea-coale ouf. Det beeing made cleane by the pooze mans wife, it was found to bee a most goody Man child, Arong and well featur'd, without any blemith or harme bpon it: but frangled inwardly, by fucking in the noplome filth and aftes.

I hold it a fable faid of him, to be named Crosbie, of being found by a croffe; for I have read of other, to have that name of Crosbie befoge him : namely, in the pere 1406. the 7. of Henry the 4. the faid Bing gaue to his fernant Iohn Crosby, the warothip of Ioan, daughter and fole hepze to Iohn Iordaine Filhmonger, c. The Pootestors of this house were to collect the benenolence of charitable persons, towards the building and suppozi ting thereof. And amongst other things observed in my youth, 3 remember, that the Officers (charged with overlight of the Parkets in this City) did divers time take from the Dar. ket people Digs farued, og otherwise bnwholsome fog mans fustenance : these they did fit in the eare. One of the Proctors for S. Anthonies tied a Bell about the necke, and let it feede S. Anthonies on the Dunghils, no man would hurt, or take it bp: but if a- Pigges fed on the day the dunghils. ny gaue to them bread, or other febing, fuch would they know, watch foz, and daily follow, whining till they had somewhat ginen them: whereupon was raifed a Ponerbe. West from this Thurch have ye Scalding Alley, of slo Scalding house time called Scalding house, or Scalding wicke, because that wicke. ground (for the most part) was then imployed by Poulterers that dwelled in the high Areete, from the Stocks Parket to the great Conduit . Their Poultrie which they fold at their Calles, were scalded there, the Areete doth pet beare the name of the Poultrie, and the Poulterers are but lately beparted from thence into other Areetes, as into Graffe Areete, and the ends of Saint Nicholas fielh thambles.

This Scalding wicke is the farthest part of Broad-Areere Ward, and is (by the mater called Walbrooke) pare ted from Cheap Ward. this Broadfreete Ward hath an Alberman, with his Deputic, Common Counsellers 10. Flesh market at Leaden hal, and alteration of prices in short time.

And it was enacted, that Butchers thould fell their biefe not aboue a halfe penny the pound, and mutton halfe penny halfe farthing: which ack being devised for the great commodity of the Realme (as it was then thought) hath since provued farre otherwise; for before that time, a fat Dre was solve at London, for 26.s. biy.d. at the most, a fat Weather for 3.s. ity.d. a fat Calfe the like price, a fat Lambe for 12.d. paces of biefe weighed two pounds and a halfe, at the least; yea 3. pound or better, for a penny on every Butchers stall in this Cite: and of those peeces of biefe 13.02 14, for 12.d. fat mutton for biy.d. the quarter, and 100. weight of biefe for 4.s. biy.d. at the dearcs.

Mhat the price is now, I need not to let downe: many men thought the same act to rise in price, by reason that Grassers knew or supposed what weight energy their beacks contained, and so raising their price thereafter, the Butcher could bee no gainer, but by likewise raising his price. The number of Butchers then in the Citie and suburbs, was accounted fire score, of which energ one killed 6. Oren a peece weekely, which is in sortie sire weekes 33120. Oren, 02720. Oren beth came to the Burfle.

In the pare 1570.on the 23.of January, the Duenes Da Queen Eliza- jeffp, attended with her Pobility, came from her house at the Strand, called Summerfet house, and entred the City by Tem. ple Barre, through Fleetftreet, Cheape, and fo by the Porth five of the Burfle, through Three needle fret, to Sir Thomas Grefhams houle in Bishopfgate ftret, where the dined. After vinner, her Baiestiereturning through Cornehill, entred the Burfle on the South fide, and after that the had biewed euerp part thereof abone the ground; especially the Pawne, which was richly furnished with all forts of the finest wares in the City: thee caufed the fame Burffe, by an Derald and a Trum pet, to be proclaimed the Royall Exchange, and fo to be called called the Roi- from thencefoath, and not other wife.

The Burffe all Exchange.

Pert adioining to this Royall Exchange, remaineth one part of a large frome house, and is now called the Castell, of fuch a figne at a Tauerne boze; there is a pallage thozow out of Cornehill, into Three needle ffreet, the other part of the fair fone house was taken bowne, for enlarging the Royall Exchange. This fone house was said of some to haue been a Church, whereof it had no proportion. Df others, a Jewes house, as though none but Jewes had dwelt in fone houses:

but that opinion is without warrant.

The cause of builded in London.

Foz belides the Arong building of Kone houses, againff in nafton of Theenes in the night, when no watches were kept: In the first peere of Richard the first (to prenent the casual stone houses ties of fire, which often had hapned in the City, when the how feg were builded of Timber, & conered with Reed og Straw, Henry Fitz Alewine being Paioz) it was becreed, that from thenceforth, no man fould build within the City but of Rone, butill a certaine height, and to couer the fame building with flate, og burnt tile. This was the verycause of such Rone builbings, whereof many have remained till our time, that for gaining of ground they have bin taken downe, and in place of some one of them, beeing low (as but two ffozies about the ground) many houses of source or fine Cortes high are placed.

From this Koneshouse downe to the Stockes are viners large houses, especially for height, for Marchants and Artis ficers.

Dn the South fide of this high ffreete, is the Parish Church of S. Peter bpon Cornehill, which seemeth to be of an Parish church of S. Peter ancient building, but not so ancient as same reporteth, for it of S. Peter bath bin lately repaired, if not all new builded, except the fees hill.

One thousand, fine hundred, forty and source,
The 22. day of Aprill, by inst computation;
In this place was buried with great honour,
Which proued a man meet to be a Gouernour,
For the Common-wealth of this high and samous City:
Called Sir William Bowyer, Lord of the Maioraltie,
Which departed not without sinding great calamity:
And pray we to God, to grant his Soule mercy.

There to finde Lycurgus that noble and kind King;
Or if thou feeke for Ciceroes minde most of prize,
Or if thou apply thee to have all the whole desiring,
Of Amphyon, Orpheus, or of Mecanas demeaning:
Seeke no further to finde, for here he is buried,
Which had all their properties for Londons good ordering.
Be we then of his Honourable degree well conceiving,
For his acts (for ever) be registred in Londons meaning.

Then have ye the Parith Church of S. Michael Tharchangell, for the Antiquity whereof, I finde that Alnothus the Drieff gaue it to the Abbot and Couent of Couesham. Reynold Abbot, and the Couent there, did grant the same to Sparling the Priest in all measures, as he and his Predecestors ber fore had held it; to the which Spailing also, they granted all their lands which they there had, except certaine lands which Organie Prowde held of them, and payd two Millings peerely. For the which grant, the fayd Sparling thould peerely pay one Parke of rent to the layd Abbot of Couesham, and finde him his lodging, falt, water, and fire, when he came to London; this was granted 1133. about the 34. of Henry the first. Thus much for antiquity.

Df later time I finde, that Elizabeth Peake, widdow, gane the Patronage oz gift of this Benifice to the Dzapers in Lon don: Gee lyeth buried in the Belfrey, 15.18. her Ponument pet remaineth. This hath been a faire and beautifull Church, but of late yeeres, fince the surrender of their lands to Ed-

Smarts Key.

Billinfgate.

Touching the principall ornaments within this Ward. On the Southfive of Thames ffrete, beginning at the Caff. end thereof, there is first the faid Smarts Key, fo called of one Smart, sometime owner thereof. The nert is Billinfgate, whereof the whole Ward taketh name, the which (leaving out of the fable thereof, faigning it to be builded by King Beline a Briton, long befoze the incarnation of Chaiff) is at this present a large Watergate, Port or Harbozough for thips and boats, commonly arriving there with fifth, both fresh and falt, Gell fiches, Salt, Dzenges, Dnions, and other fruits, and roots, Wheate, Rie, and Graine of Diners forts for fernice of the City, and the parts of this Realme adiopning. This gate is now moze frequented then of old time, when the Queenes Hith was bled, as being appointed by the lings of this Realme, to be the freciall or only Port for taking by of all fuch kind of Parchandiles brought to this City by frangers and Forrenners.; because the Draw-bridge of timber at don Bridge, was then to be raifed, og brawne bp for paffage of thips with tops thither.

Customes of Billinigate.

Douching the ancient Cultomes of Billinfgate, in the raigne of Edward the third enery great thip landing there, payd for fandage two pence, enery little fhip with Dzelockes a penny, the leffer boate called a Battle a halfe penny. Di two quarters of Come measured, the Bing was to have one farthing, of a Combe of Coone a penny, of every weight going out of the City a halfe pennie, of two quarters of fea roale meafured, afarthing, and of enery Tun of Ale going out of England beyond the feas, by Warchant Arangers; foure pence, of every thousand Derring, a farthing, except the franchises, ec.

Sommer Key. Lion Key.

Pert to this is Sommers Key, which likewife tooke that name of one Sommer divelling there, as did Lion Key of one Lion, owner thereof, and fince of the figne of the Lion.

Buttolph Wharte.

Then is there a faire Mharfe or they, called Buttolphesgate, by that name fo called in the times of William the Con-Parith Church querozand of Edward the Confelloz, as I hane thewed alreas of S. Buttolph. by in the description of the Gates.

Pert is the Parish Church of Saint Buttolphs, a proper Church,

Church, and hath had many fayze Ponuments therein, now befaced and gone: notwithstanding, I find by Testimories abroad, that thefe were buried there, to wit:

This Parith of Saint Buttolph is no great thing, not withflanding diners Strangers are there harboured, as may appeare by a presentment, not many yeeres fince made of Strangers Inhabitants in the Wlard of Billingate in thefe mords:

In Billinfgate Ward were one and fifty housholds of Strangers, whereof thirtie of these House-holders inhabited in the Parish of Saint Buttolph, in the chiefe and principall houses, where they give 20. pound the yeere for a house lately letten for foure Markes. The necrer they dwell to the water fide, the more they give for houses, and within thirty yeeres before, there was not in the whole Ward, about three Netherlanders, at which time, there was within the fayd Parish leuied for the helpe of the poore, seuen and twenty pound by the yeere, but fince they came so plentifully thither, there cannot be gathered about eleven pound, for the Stranger will not contribute to fuch charges as other Citizens do. Thus much for that South live of this Ward.

Boile Alley

On the Porth five is Boffe Alley, focalled of a Boffe af and the Bosse Spring water continually running, which Canveth by Billinsgate against this Alley, and was sometimes made by the Gr ecutous of Richard Whittington. Williams

Here lye intombed the bodies of Sir Robert Hampson, Knight A very faire and Alderman of London; who deceased the 2.day of May, Monument in 1607. in the 70. yeere of his age: And of Dame Katherine the South wall his wife, at whose charge this Monument is creeked. They of the Quire. had issue nine children, whereof four are liuing. The said Dame Katherine deceased &c.

This Lane, on both fives is furnished with many faire s. Margaret houses for Parchants, and hath at the Porth end thereof one Pattens lane. other Lane, called S. Margaret Pattens, because of old time Dattens were there blually made and fold : but of later time this is called Roode lane, of a Roode there placed, in the Church-pard of S. Margaret, whilest the old Church was taken bowne, and againe newly builded; during which time, the Dblations made to this Roode, were imployed towards building of the Church. But in the yere 1538. about the 23. Parish Church of Day in the morning, the said Roode was found to have of S. Margaret bene in the night preceding (by people buknowne) broken Pattens. all to pieces, together with the Tabernacle, wherein it had bene placed. Also on the 27. of the same moneth, in the same Dariff amongst the Basket-makers, a great and ludden fire Fire in Roode happened in the night feafon, which within the space of thee lanc. houres consumed moze then a bozen houses, and nine pers fons were beent to death there. And thus ceased that worke of this Church, being at that time nigh finished to the Steeple.

The Ponuments that I finde in this Parich Church, are these following:

Here lyeth buried Master Reginald West, Batcheler in Diumitie, In the midst of and late Parson of this Parish, who deceased the 2. day of the Chancell, October, Anno Domini 1563. for whose sincere, pure, Communion and godly doctrine, as also his vertuous end, the Lord be Table, a faire prayled for euermore.

Hubbert.

Here lyeth buried the bodie of Richard Gloner, Citizen and Pewterer of London, who was twice Mafter of his Companie, and one of the Common Councell of this Citie: Hauing two wives, Elizabeth, and Mary; and had iffue by his first wife, three sonnes; and by his second, hee had eight sonnes and foure daughters. Hee deceased the 16. day of August, Anno Domini 1615. being aged 59. yeeres.

The Lane, on both fides beyond the same Church, to the mid-way towards Fen-church Rreete, is of Billinfgate Ward.

Then againe, out of Thames streete, by the Well end of Saint Mary-Hill Church, runneth by one other Lane, of old Rope lane, or time called Rope lane, fince called Lucas lane, of one Lucas, owner of some part thereof, and now corruptly called Loue lane, it runneth by by the Cast end of a Parish Church of Parish Church Saint Andrew Hubbert, 02 Saint Andrew in East-Cheape. of S. Andrew This Thurch, and all the whole Lane called Lucas lane, is of this Billinfgate Ward.

Then have pe one other Lane, out of Thames freete, cale led Buttolph lane, because it riseth ouer-against the Paris Church of Saint Buttolph, and runneth op Porth by the Cast end of Saint Georges Church, to the West end of Saint Andrewes Church, and to the South end of Philpot lane.

in Crooked lane.

in Crooked lanc.

On the South fide of this Ward, beginning againe at the Catt, is S. Michaels lane, which lane is almost wholly of this Ward, on both fives downe towards Thames freete, to a Crooked lane. Well 02 Pumpe there. On the Caft five of this lane is Croo-Leaden Porch ked lane afogelaid, by Saint Michaels Church, towards New Fishitreete. Due the most ancient house in this lane, is called the Leaden Porch, and belonged fometime to Sir Iohn Merfton, Unight, the first of Edward the fourth: It is now called Pariff church the Swanne in Crooked lane, poffeffet of ffrangers, and fels of S. Michael ling of Khenift wine. The Parift Church of this S. Michaels, was sometime but a finall and homely thing, fanding by on part of that ground, toberein now fanceth the Parfor nage house: and the ground thereabout was a filthy plot; by reason of the Butchers in East-Cheape, who made the same their Lapstall.

W. de Burgo gaue 2.meffe ages to that Church in Candlewick ftreet, 1317. John Loueken Stock fiftmonger, 4. times Main; builded (in the fame ground) this faire churchof S.Michael, and was there buried in the Quire, bnber a faire tombe, with the Images of him and his wife in Alabaster : the faid Church hath been fince increased with a new Duire, and fide Chappels by Sir W. Walworth, Stockerfiftmonger, Maioz, sometime fernant to the faid John Loueken. Also the Tombe of Loucken was remoned, and a flat fone of gray Parble, gar nithed with plates of Copper layd on him, as it yet remaineth in the bodie of the Church.

Fable of W. Walworth, & Jacke Straw gaproued.

This William Walworth is reported to have fiame lacke Straw : but lacke Straw being afterward taken, was fird ad. indged.

inoged by the faid Maloz, and then executed by the loffe of bis head in Smithfield. True it is, that this William Walworth, being a man wife, learned, and of an incomparable Praise of W. manhood, arreffed Wat Tyler, a prefumptuous Rebell, bpon Walworth, for whom no man durff lay hand, whereby hee belivered the his manhood Ling and Lingdome from most wicked typannie of Tray, in arresting of tors. The Major arrested him on the head with a forme bloth. Wat Tyler. tors. The Paior arreffed him on the head with a found blow: The Maior whereupon Wat Tyler furioully frome the Spain; with his was well ar-Dagger, but hurt him not, by reason he was well armed. The med, and had Paioz haning receined his froke, Dew his Baffliard, and on his head a grieuously wounded Wat in the necke, and withall, gaue him Basenet. a great blow on the head : in the which conflict, an Cfquire H.Knighton. of the Bings house, called Iohn Cauendish, drew his sword, Li. S. Marie and wounded Wat twice or thrice, euen to the beath: and Wat Aborum. fpurring his Bogle, cryed to the Commons to renenge him : the Borfe bare him about 80. foot from the place, and there he fell downe halfe bead : and by and by, they which attended on the Bing, enuironed him about, fo as he was not fone of his Companie: many of them thauft him in, in divers places of his bodie, and dew him into the Wolpitall of Saint Bartholomew, from whence againe the Paioz caufed him to be Djalune into Smithfield, and there to be beheaded. In reward of this feruice (the people being difperfed) the Ling comman: Maior made bed the Paioz to put a Bafenet on his head: and the Paioz Knight, and requesting why he should so doe, the thing answered, he being otherwise remuch bound buto him, would make him Unight. The Paio2 answered, that he was neither worthie, nor able to take such an effate bpon him; fog he was but a Warchant, and had to live by his Parchandise onely. Potwithstanding, the King Order of mamade him to put on his Balenet, and then with a fword in king a Knight, both his hands, he ftrongly froke him on the necke, as the for fervice in manner was then. And the same day he made thee other Cie the field. tizens lanights (for his fake) in the fame place, to wit, John Aldermen Philpot, Nicholas Brember, and Robert Launde, Albermen. Knighted. The Bing gaue to the Paioz 100. pound land by pere, and to each of the other 40, pound land yeerely, to them and their heires for euer.

It hath also beine, and is now growne to a common opint on, that in reward of this feruice bone by the faid William Walworth against the Rebell; that Bing Richard abbed to the Armes of this Citie (which was Argent, a plaine Croffe Oules) a Swozd, oz Dagger, (foz fo they terme it) whereof I have read no fuch Record, but to the contrarie. I finde, that in the fourth peere of Richard the fecono, in a full affem bly made in the opper Chamber of the Guildhall, fummoned by this William Walworth, then Baioz, as well of Albermen, as of the Common Councell in enery Wart, fog certaine af faires concerning the Bing; it was there by common confent broken, and a agreed and ordained, that the old Seale of the Office of the Paiozaltie of the Citie, being bery small, olo, bnapt, and bncomely for the honour of the Citie, thould be broken, and one other new thould be had. Withich the faid Paioz commanden this City were to be made artificially, and honourable for the erercife of the faid Dffice thereafter in place of the other. In which new Seale, belides the Images of Peter and Paul, which of old wit, Argent, a were rudely engrauen, there should be binder the feet of the plaine Croffe faid Images, a Shield of the Armes of the faid Citie perfect ly graven, with two Lions supporting the same, and two the first quar- Dergeants of Armes, in the other part, one, and two Wabers nacles, in which, aboue, fould fand two Angels, betweene whom (about the faid Images of Peter and Paul) thould bee W. Walworth, let the glozious Atrgine. This being done, the old Seale of the Office was belinered to Richard Odiham Chamberlaine, who brake it, and in place thereof, was belinered the new Seale to the faid Paioz, to ble in his Office of Paiozaltie, as occasion hould require. This new Seale fameth to be made before William Walworth was knighted, for he is not there intituled Sir, as afterwards he was: and certaine it is, that the same new Seale then made, is now in ble, and none of there in that Office of the Paiozaltie. Thich may suffice to answere the former Fable, without thewing of any enibence sealed with the old Seale, which was the Crosse, and Sword of Saint Paul, and not the Dagger of William Walworth.

London stone

On the South five of this high Arcete, neere buto the channell, is pitched bpzight agreat fone, called London-Stone. fired in the ground very deepe, fastned with bars of Iron, and otherwise so Arongly set, that if Carts do run against it through negligence, the wheeles be broken, and the Cone it felfe bushaken.

The cause why this stone was there set, the time when, or other memorie thereof is none; but that the same hath long continued there is manifest, namely, fince (og rather before) the Conqueft. Foz in the end of a faire waitten Gofpell booke Lib. Trinitate. giuen to Chaiftes Church in Canterbury, by Ethelftane Bing of the West Saxons, I find noted of lands or rents in London London fione. belonging to the faid Church, whereof one parcell is deferibed, to lie neere bnto London ftone. Df later time we read, that in the yeere of Chaift 1135. the firft of Bing Stephen, a fire which began in the house of one Ailward, neere onto London-Stone, confumed all Caft to Aldgate, in which fire the Pziozie of the holy Trinitie was burnt, and Weft to S. Dewnegate Ward.

Ownegate Ward beginneth at the South end of Walbrooke Ward, ouer-against the Caft corner of Saint Iohns Church bpon Walbrooke, and pescendeth on both the fides to Downegate, on the Thames, and is so called, of that downe-going or bels cending thereunto : and of this Downgate

the Ward taketh name. This Ward turneth into Thames ftreet Meliward, some terme houses on a fide, to the course of Walbrooke, but Caft in Thames ftreet (on both fives) to Ebgate lane, og Old Swan, the land-fide whereof hath many Lanes turning bp, as thall be thewed when I come to them.

Downegate.

But firft to begin with the high freet, called Dowgate: at Conduit vpon the opper end thereof is a faire Conduit of Thames water, castellated, and made in the peere 1568, at charges of the Citizens, and is called the Conduit boon Downgate. The descent of this Aret is such, that in the yeare 1574. on the fourth of September, in the afternoone, there fell a forme of raine, where-through the channels suddenly arose, and ran with such a swift course towards the common shozes, that a Lad of eighteene yeres old, minding to have leapt over the A Lad of 18. channell, nere buto the said Conduit, was taken with the yeeres old Greame, and carried from thence towards the Thames with drowned in fuch a violence, that no man, with staves, or otherwise, could the channell. Cap him, till he came against a Cart-wheele, that stood in the faid Mater-gate, befoze which time he was dzowned, and farke dead.

Dn the Well fide of this fret, is the Tallow-Chandlers Tallow-Chan-Dall, a proper house, which Companie was incorporated in dlers Hall.

the fecond yere of Edward the fourth.

Somewhat lower Candeth the Skinners Ball, a faire Copped Hall, house, which was sometime called Copped Hall, by Down- now Skinners gate, in the Parish of Saint Iohn bon Walbrooke. In the Hall, 19. peere of Edward the fecont, Ralph Cobham postessed it, with five thoppes, &c.

This Companie of Skinners in London, was incorporate by Edward the third, in the first of his raigne : They had two Brotherhoods of Corpus Christi, viz. one at S. Mary Spittle, the other at S. Mary Bethlem, without Bishops-gate. Richard the fecond, in the eighteenth of his raigne, graunted them to make their two Brotherhoods one, by the name of the Fraternitie of Corpus Christi of Skinners. Divers royall pers fons were named to be Founders, and Beetheen of this Fras ternitie, to wit, Kings fire, Dukes nine, Carles two, Loads Six Kings breone. Bings, Edward the third, Richard the second, Henry thren with the the fourth, Henry the fift, Henry the firt, and Edward the Companie in fourth.

This Fraternitie had also once enery peere, on Corpus Christi day, after noone, a Procession, which passed through Their pomthe principall Areetes of the Citie, wherein was borne more on. then one hundred Aorches of Mare (cottly garnished) burming light, and about two hundled Clerkes and Plieffs in Surplectes and Coapes, finging. After the which, were the Shirifes fervants, the Clarkes of the Compters, Chaplains for the Shirifes, the Paiors Sergeants, the Councell of the Citie, the Paioz and Aldermen in Scarlet, and then the Skinners in their best Liveries. Parkes Cerling to the Paioz and Citizens, and boder tooke, that they and their fuccessors should (from time to time) repaire the faid Wate, and beare the third part of the charges in money, and men to defend it, when ned were.

And for this agreement, the faid Paior and Citizens grans ted to the faid Barchants their liberties, which till of late they have entoyed, as namely, amongst other, that they might lav Marchants of bp their Graine, which they brought into this Realme, in the Haunce, of Innes, and fell it in their Barners, by the fpace of fortie daies after they had laid it by; except by the Daioz and Citizens they were expressely forbidden, because of bearth, or other reas fonable occasions. Alfo, they might haue their Albermen, as they had beene accustomed, forefeene alwayes, that he were of the Citie, and presented to the Daior and Albermen of the Citie, fo oft as any thould be chofen, and thould take an oath befoze them, to maintaine Justice in their Courts, and to bes have themselves in their Office according to Law, and as it Rood with the Cultomes of the Citie.

Thus much for their Priviledges: Whereby it appeareth, that they were great Warchants of Come, brought out of the Case parts hither, insomuch, that the occupiers of Dusbandy in this Land were enforced to complaine of them, for bringing in such aboundance, when the Come of this Realme was at an easte price. Church lane. the more.

Then is Church lane, at the West end of Alhallowes Parish Church Church, called Alhallowes the more in Thames streete, for a of Alhallowes difference from Alhallowes the leffe, in the same freet. It is also called Alhallowes ad fænum in the Roperie, because Dav was fold nere thereunto, at Hay Wharfe, and Ropes of old time made and fold in the high ffreet. This is a faire Church, with a large Clopffer on the South five thereof, about their Church-pard, but foulely befaced and ruinated.

The Church also hath had many faire Donuments, but now befaced : There remaineth in the Quire some Plates on Graue-Mones, namely, of William Lichfield, Dottoz of Di ninitie, who veceased the yeere 1447. De was a great Stubent, and compiled many Bookes, both Wozall and Dinine, in Profe and in Merfe, namely one, intituted, The complaint of God vnto finfull man. De made in his time 3083. Dermons, as appeared by his owne hand writing, and were found when he was bead.

Due other Plate there is of Iohn Brickles, Daper, who beceased in the yere 1451. De was a great Benefactoz to that Church, and gaue by his Telfament certaine Tenements, to

At the Cast end of this Church goeth downe a Lane, called Hay Wharfe lane, now lately a great Brew-house, builded Hay Wharfe there by one Pot: Henry Campion, Osquire, a Bere-brewer, lane. bled it; and Abraham his sonne since possessed it.

Iohn Butler, Dapper, one of the Sherists in the yere 1420. dwelled there: He appointed his house to be sold, and the price thereof to be given to the page: it was of Alhallowes Parish the lesse.

Then is there the said Parish Church of Alhallowes, called Parish Church the lesse, and by some, Alhallowes on the Cellers, so it standeth of Alhallowes on baults: it is said to be builded by Sir Iohn Poultney, some, the lesse. times Paio2. The Steple and Duire of this Church standeth on an arched gate, being the entrie to a great house, called Cold Cold Har-Harbrough: the Duire of late being salne downe, is now again brough. at length, in the yere 1594, by the Parishioners new builded.

Touching this Cold Harbrough, I finde, that in the 13. of Edward the second. and the forefaid Robert paid for it the rent of 33. Millings the peere. This Robert Hartford being owner thereof, as also of other lands in Surrey, deceafing without iffue male, left two daughters his coheires, to wit, Idonia, married to Sir Ralph Bigor, and Maude, married to Sir Stephen Cofenton, Unights, betweene whom the faid house and lands were pars ted. After the which, Iohn Bigot, sonne to the said Sir Ralph and Sir Iohn Cosenton, Did fell their moities of Cold Harbrough buto Iohn Poultney, foune of Adam Poultney, the 8. of Edward the third. This Sir Iohn Poultney Dwelling in this house, and being foure times Daioz, the said house tooke the name of Poultneys Inne. Potlvithstanding, this Sir Iohn Poultney, the 21. of Edward the third, by his Charter gaue and confirmed to Humfrey de Bohune. Carle of Hereford and Effex, his whole tenement, called Cold Harbrough, with all the tenements and key adiopning, and appurtenances fomes time pertaining to Robert de Herford, on the way called Haywharfe lane, sc. fog one Role at Diofummer, to him and to his heires, for all feruices, if the same were demanded. This Sir Iohn Poultney beceased 1349. and left iffne, by Margaret his wife, William Poultney, who died without iffue: and Margaret his mother was maried to Sir Nicholas Louel, lanight, ec. Philip S. Cleare gave two meffuages, pertaining to this Cold Harbrough, in the Roperie, towards the inlarging of the Pas rifh Church and Thurch-pard of All-Saints, called the leffe, in the 20. of Richard the fecond.

In the yere 1397, the 21. of Richard the second, Iohn Holland, Carle of Huntington, was lodged there, and Richard the second his brother dined with him: it was then counted a right faire and kately house. But in the next yere following, I sind, that Edmond, Carle of Cambridge, was there lodged: not with Andring, the said house still retained the name of Poultneys Inne, in the raigne of Henry the sixt, the 26. of his raigne. It belonged since to H. Holland, Duke of Excesser, and he was the third, by his Letters Patents graunted and gaue to Iohn Writh, alias Garter, principall King of Armes of English men, and to the rest of the Lings Deraulds and Burfeuants of Armes, all that meffuage with the appurtenances, called Cold Harber, in the Darith of All Saints the little in London. and their fucceffogs fog euer. Dated at Weftminfter the fecond of Parch, Anno regni primo, without fine og fee. Dow the fait Heraulds departed therewith, I have not read, but in the raigne of Henry the eight, the Bithop of Durhams house, neere Charing croffe, being taken into the Bings hand, Cuthbert Tunftal, Bichop of Durham, was lodged in this Cold Harber, fince the which time it hath belonged to the Carles of Shrewfbury, by composition (as is supposed) from the said Cuthbert Tunftall. The laft beceafed Carle tooke it bowne, and in place thereof builded a great number of small tenements now letten out for great rents, to people of all forts.

Then is the Diers Hall, which Company was made a The Diers Hal Brotherhood or Build, in the fourth of Henry the 6., and aps populed to confift of a Bardian of Warden, and a Comminaltie the 12. of Edward the 4. Then bee there divers large Brewhouses, and others, till you come to Ebgate lane, where that Ward endeth in the Cat. Div I am to speake of the other Wards, 12. in number, all lying on the Well abe of the course of Walbrooke : and first, of the Vintrie Ward, fo called of Wintners, and of the Mintrie, a part of the banke of the Riuer of Thames, where the Marchants of Burdeaux craned their wines out of Lighters, and other beffels, and there landed and made fale of them within forty dapes after, butill the 28. of Edward the first, at which time the faid Barchants complained, that they could not fell their Wines, paying poundage, neither hire houses oz cellers to lay them in: and it was redicted by bertue of the Bings wait, directed to the Paioz and Sheriffes of London, Dated at Carlaneroke, og Carlile. Since the which time, many faire and large houses (with baults and cellers for fromage of Mines, and lodging of Burdeaux Parchants)have ben bailoed, in place where befozetime were Cookes houses : foz Firzstephen, in the raigne of Henry the 2. writeth, that boon the Rivers live, betweene the wine in hips, and the wine to be fold in Tauerns, was a common Cookes row, ec. as in a nother place I have let downe: whereby it appeareth, that in thole

This Ward beginneth in the Caff, at the West end of Downegate Ward, at the water-course of Walbrooke, which parteth them, to wit, at Granthams lane on the Thames fide, and at Elbow lane on the land fide : it runneth along in Thames freet Wett, some three houses beyond the Old Swan a Brewhouse, and on the Land five some three houses Welf, beyond Saint lames at Garlicke Hith. In breoth this Ward Aretcheth from the Wintry Porth, to the wall of the West Bate of the Tower Royall : the other Porth part is of Cordwayner Areete Ward. Dut of this Royall Areete by the South gate of Tower Royall, runneth a small Areete, Caft to Saint Iohns von Walbrooke, which Areet is called Hogfthoo bridge, of such a bridge sometime over the brooke there, I bring which is now vaulted ouer. Then from the South gate Well, Knightt. runneth one other freet, called Knight riders freet, by Saint freete. Thomas Apostles Church, on the Porth fide, and Wringwren lane, by the faid Thurch, at the Meft end thereof, & to the Cafe end of the Trinity Church in & faid Knightriders freet, where this Ward endeth on that South lide the ffreete: but on the Porth ave, it runneth no farther then the corner against the new builded Tauerne, and other houses, in a plot of ground where fornetime frood Ormond place. Det have pee one other lane lower volume in Royall Areece, Aretching from ouereas gainft S. Almeshoufes of the Vintners,

Then nept ouer againft Saint Martins Church, is a large boufe builded of fone and timber, with baults for the flowage of wines, and is called the Vintrie. There dwelled John Gifers, Uintener, Baio; of London, and Confible of the Dower, and then was Henry Picard, Mintener, Paioz. In this house Henry Picard featted foure Bings in one bap, as in my Summarie I haue Metwed. Then nert is Vannars lane, fo Vannars lanes called of one Vannar that was owner therof, it is now called Church lane, of the comming bp from Saint Martins Church. Dert is Broad lane, for that the fame is broader for the paffage of Carts from the Mintrie Wiharfe, then be the other lanes. Parish Clarks At the Porthwell corner of this lane is the Parish Clarkes Ball, lately by them purchaled, fince they loft their old Ball Spittle lane or in Bishopsgate streete. The Uintners in London were (of old time) called Par-Marchant Vin- thants Wintners of Gascoyne, and so Fread them in the Records of Edward the 2. the 11. peere, and Edward the third, the ninth peere, they were as well Englishmen, as frangers boine beyond the Seas, but then subjects to the Kings of England, great Burdeaux Parchants of Gascoyne and French wines, divers of them were Paiozs of this City, namely, loh. Staues, containing a perfua-. fion from lofing of time folifhly, in luft, and vice, but to fpend the same in vertue and godlineste, as ye may reade in Geffrey Chawcer his Mozkes, lately printed. The fuccestors of those Aintners and Mine-dzawers, that retayled by the Gallons, Wine-tunners Pottell, Duart, and Pint, were all incorporated by the name of Mine-tunners, in the raigne of Edward the third, and confirmed the 15. of Henry the firt.

Pert is Palmers lane, now called Anchor lane. The plums mers have their Hall there, but are tenants to the Aintners. Then is Worcester house, sometimes belonging to the Carles of Worcester, now divided into many Tenements: The Fruis terers haue their Pall there. Then is the Old Swan, a great Bzew-house. And this is all, on the Thames side, that I can note in this Ward.

Du the Land fide, is the Royall streete, and Pater noster lane, I thinke of old time called Arches : for I read, that Robert de Suffolke gaue to Walter Darford his Tenement, with the purtenance, in the Lane called Les Arches, in the Parish of S. Michael de Pater noster Church, betweene the Wall of the Field called Winchester field, on the Caft, and the same Lane on the West, sc. Poze I read of a Stone house, called Stoda de Winton, iuxta Stodum bridge, which in that Lane was ouer Walbrooke water.

The licence for this foundation was gran, ted by King Henry the fourth, the eleventh of his raigne: and in the twelfth of the fame Kings raigne, the Baioz and Coms monaltie of London granted to Richard VVhitington a bas cant peece of ground, thereon to build his Colledge in the Royall; all which was confirmed by Henry the firt, the third of his raigne, to Iohn Couentrie, Ienkin Carpenter, and VVilliam Grove, Crecutors to Richard VVhitington. This foun-Dation was againe confirmed by Parliament, the tenth of Henry the firt, and was suppressed by the Statute of Edward the firt. The Almes-houses, with the poze men, doe remaine, and are paid by the Percers.

This Richard VV hitington was (in this Church) three Richard Whitimes buried : firth, by his Crecuto25, bnder a faire Monus tington thrice ment : then, in the raigne of Edward the firt, the Parfon of buried. that Church thinking some great riches (as he faid) to be bus ried with him, caused his Ponument to be broken, his body to be spopled of his Leaden theet, and againe the second time to be buried. Potwithstanding, in the raigne of Richard the fecond, it was called the Queenes Wardrope, as appeareth by this that followeth.

King Richard, hauing in Smithfield ouercome and disper- The Lady Prin fed the Rebels, he, his Lords and all his Company, entred the ceffe lodged City of London, with greatioy, and went to the Lady Princes in the Tower his Mother, who was then lodged in the Tower Royall, called the Queenes Wardrope, where shee had remained three dayes and two nights, right fore abashed. But when she saw the King her Sonne, The was greatly reloyced and faid, Ah Son, what great forrow haue I suffered for you this day! The King answered and said; Certainely, Madam, I know it well, but now reioyce, and thanke God, for I have this day recovered mine heritage, and the Realme of England, which I had neerehand loft. This

This Tower (cemeth to have beene (at that time) of good befence, for when the Revels has befet the Tower of London, and got polletton thereof, taking from thence whom they lifted, as in mine Annales I haue Mewed; the Princeffe being forced to five, came to this Tower Royall, where the was lodged, and remained fafe as pe haue heard, and it may be alfo supposed, that the Ling himselfe was at that time lodged there. I read, that in the peere 1386. Lyon Bing of Armor ny, being chafed out of his Realme by the Tartarians, received innumerable gifts of the ling and of his Pobles, the king then lying in the Royal, where he also granted to the said King lodged in the of Armony, a Charter of a thousand pounds by piere buring Tower Royall his life. This for profe may fuffice, that Kings of England haue beene lodged in this Tower, though the same (of later time) hath beene neglected, and turned into fabling for the Kings hogfes, and now letten out to diners men, and dinived Cutlers Hall. into tenements.

King Stephen lodged in the

Then Welt from the faid Thurch on the same live, was one great meduage, somtime called Ipres Inne, of Willia of Ipres a Flemming, the first builder thereof. This William was called out of Flanders, with a number of Flemmings to the aire of It. Stephen, against Maude the Empreste, in the peere 1138. and grew in fauour with the faio king foz his feruice, fo farre, that he builded this house neere onto Tower-Royall, in the Tower Koyoll, which Tower it seemeth the king was then lodged, as in the heart of the City, for his more fafetie.

Robert Carle of Glocester, Brother to the Empresse, beeing taken, was committed to the custodie of this William, to be kept in the Castell of Rochester, till King Stephen was also taken, and then the one was delinered in erchange for the other, and both let free : This William of Ipres gane Edredes Hith, now called the Queenes Hith, to the 102102 and Chanons of the holy Trinity in London: he founded the Abbey of Borley in Kent, ec. In the first of Henry the fecond, the faid William, with all the other Flemmings (fearing the invignation of the new King) departed the land, but it seemeth that the saide William was thortly called backe againe, and restored both to the kings favour, and to his olde possessions here, so that the name and familie continued long after in this Realme, as may appeare by this which followeth.

In the yere 1377, the 51. of Edward the third, the Citizens of London minding to have destroyed John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster, and Henry Percy Marshall, (for causes shewed in my Annales) fought vp and downe, and could not find them, for they were that day to dine with Iohn of Ipres at his Inne, which the Londoners wist not of, but thought the Duke and Marshall had been at the Sauoy, and therefore poasted thither. But one of the Dukes Knights feeing these things, came in great haste to the place where the Duke was, and after that he had knocked, and could not be let in, hee said to Haueland the Porter, If thou loue my Lord and thy life, open the gate: with which words hee gat entry, and with great feare hee tels the Duke, that without the gate were infinite numbers of Armed men, and vnlesse hee tooke great heede, that day would be his last. With which words the Duke leapt so hastily from his Oysters, that hee hurt both his legges against the forme : Wine was offered, but he could not drinke for hafte, and fo fled with his fellow Henry Percy out at a backe gate, and entering vpon the Thames, neuer stayed rowing, vntill they came to a house neere the Mannor of Kennington, where at that time the Prin-Kennington cesse lay, with Richard the yong Prince, before whom hee besides Lammade his complaint, &c.

Duthe other fide, Freade of a Meffuage, called Ringed Hall: King Henry the eight the 32. of his raigne, gaue the fame (with foure tenements adiopning) buto Morgan Philip, alias Wolfe, in the Parith of Saint Thomas Apostles in Lon-

Here lyes the Lady Martin eke, Of Grecia Soyle, and Castlynes race; Both constant, vertuous, wife, and meeke, That shewed her selfe in any place:

And

And God endued her so with grace, That she both liu'd and di'de with praise. Two husbands had she in her dayes, Whose corps are both inclosed here, Together with the foresaid Dame: Her loue to them was aye so deere, Her cost and charge sustain'de the same: These three, their deeds will shew their fame: VVho, as she liu'de in amitie,

So here she sleepes in vnirie. Domina Elizabeth cum Maritis. Credimus quod Redemptor noster viuit, & in nouissimo die videbimus Deum Saluatorem nostrum. Iob.19.

And Thomas Knowles is placed here, Whose bones from Bow were hither born: His godly life did well appeare, In helping those that were forlorne. And vertue did him so adorne, That he beloued was of all: Mercer he was, when death did call,

In prime of yeeres, his life away: VVho dying like a worthie wight, Did hope in Christ, to live for aye. His wife him wailes in wofull plight, And for meere loue, him here she pight, With her second Spouse to sleepe in peace; And she with them, when life shall cease.

New Mary Church, or S. Mary Bow in West Chea-

At the upper end of Hofier lane, toward West Cheape, is the faire Parish Church of Saint Mary Bow. This Church in the raigne of VVilliam the Conquerour, being the first in this Citie builded on Arches of Cone, was therefoze called new Mary Church, of Saint Mary de Arcubus, og le Bow in VVeft Cheaping : As Stratford Bridge being the firft, builded (by Matilda the Ducene, wife to Henry the firft) with Arches of Cone, was called Stratford le Bow, which names to the fair Li. Colchester. Church and Bridge remaine till this day. The Court of the Arches is kept in this Church, and taketh name of the place, not the place of the Court, but of what Antiquitie og continuation that Court hath there continued, I cannot learne.

This

This Church is of Cordwaynerstreete Ward, and for diners accidents happening there, hath beene made more famous, then any other Parith Church of the whole Citie, 02 Suburbs. First we reade, that in the piere 1090, and the third of VVilliam Rufus, by tempest of winde, the roofe of the Church of Daint Mary Bow in Cheape was ouerturned, Roofe of Bow where with some persons were saine, and source of the Raf, Church ouerters of five and twenty foote in length, with fuch violence Tempest. were pitched in the ground of the high ffreete, that scantly 4. foote of them remained aboue ground, which were faine to be cut even with the ground, because they could not bee plucked out, for the Citie of London was then paued, but a mogiff ground.

In the pere 1196. VVilliam Fitz Osbert, a seditious trais Bow Steeple toz, tooke the Steple of Bow, and foztified it with munitions fortified. and biduals; but it was affaulted, and William with his Afalie accuser complices, were taken (though without bloudshed) for hee of his elder was forced by fire and smoke to for sake the Church, and then brother, in the heing by the Judges condemned he swas by the heiles professes being by the Judges condemned, he was by the heles daiwne ed. to the Elmes in Smithfield, and there hanged with nine of his fellowes : where because his fauourers came not to beliner bim, he foglooke Maries Bon (as he tearmed Chaift our Sauiour) and called bpon the Denil, to helpe and beliuer him. Such was the end of this deceiver, a man of an euill life, a fecrete murtherer, a filthy fornicator, a polluter of concubines, and (amongft other his beteftable facts) a falle accufer of his elder brother, who had (in his youth) brought him by in learning, and done many things for his preferment.

In the piere 1271. agreat part of the Steeple of Bow fell Bow Steeple bowne, and flew many people men and women. In the pare felldowne. 1284. the thirtenth of Edw. the firft, Laurence Ducker, Cold. Imith, hauing grienoully wounded one Ralph Crepin in Welt-Cheape, fled into Bowe Church, into the which (in the night time) entred certaine enill perfons, friends buto the faid Ralph, and flew the faid Laurence lying in the Steple, and then hanged him by, placing him to by the window, as if hee hav hanged himselfe, and so was it sound by inquisition. For the which sat, Lawrence Ducket being drawne by the seete, was buried in a vitch without the Citie. But shortly after (by relation of a Boy, who lay with the said Lawrence at the time of his death, and had hid him there sor seare) the truth of the matter was disclosed. For the which cause, Iordan Goodcheape, Ralph Crepin, Gilbert Clarke, and Gessrey Clarke, were attainted, and a certaine woman named Alice, that was chiefe causer of the said mischiefe, was burned, and to the number of Arteene men, were drawne and hanged; besides of thers, that being richer, after long imprisonment, were hanged by the purse.

Bow Church interdiæed.

The Church was interdicted, the voozes and windowes were Kopped by with Thomes: but Lawrence was taken by, and honeftly buried in the Church-pard.

The Parish Church of Saint Mary Bow, by meanes of incrochment, and building of houses, wanting roome in their Church-yard so; buriall of the dead, Iohn Rotham, or Rodham, Citizen and Taylor, by his Testament dated the yeere 1465. gave to the Parson and Church-wardens a certaine Garden in Hosier lane, to be a Church-yard: which so continued neere a hundred yeeres, but now is builded on, and is a private mans house. The old Steeple of this Church was by little and little reedised, and new builded by, at the least so much as was fallen downe; many men giving summes of money to the surtherance thereof: So that at length, to wit, in the yere 1469, it was ordained by a Common Coun-Bow Bell to be cell, that the Bow Bell should be nightly rung at nine of the

Shortly after, Iohn Donne, Bercer, by his Testament day ted 1472. according to the trust of Reginald Longdon, gave to the Parlon and Church-wardens of Saint Mary Bow, two Tenements, with the appurtenances, since made into one, in Hosier lane, then so called, to the maintenance of Bow Bell, the same to be rung as aforesaid, and other things to be observed, as by the Will appeareth.

Iohn Haw, Mercer, ten pound, Doctoz Allen foure pound, Thomas Baldry foure pound, and other gaue other fummes, fo that the said worke of the Steeple was finished in the peere 1512. The Arches or Bowes thereupon, with the Lanthornes fine Bow or Arin number, to wit, one at each corner, and one on the top in ches on Bow the middle bronthe Arches, more also afterward suisce of the middle byon the Arches, were also afterward finished of Stone, brought from Cane in Normandie, beliuered at the Cuf. tomers Key for 4.5. 8.0. & Tun. VVilliam Copland Taylor, the Bings Parchant, and Andrew Fuller, Percer, being Churchwardens 1515. and 1516. It is faid that this Copland gaue the great Well, which made the fift in the ring, to be rung nightly at nine of the clocke. This Well was first rung (as a knell) at the burfall of the same Copland. It appeareth, that the Lanthornes on the toppe of this Steeple, were meant to have been glased, and lightes in them placed nightly in the Winter, wherby travellers to the City might have the better fight thereof, and not to mile of their wayes.

In this Parish also was a Grammar Schoole, by come Grammar mandement of King Henry the 6. which Schoole was (of olde schoole in time) kept in an house for that purpose prepared in & Church Bow Church yard. pard; but that Schoole being decayed, as others about this Vaults under City, the Schoole-house was let out for rent, in the raigne of Bow Church Henry the 8. for 4. Millings the yeare, a Celler for two Mil. lings the yeare, and two Caults buder the Church for fifteen millings both.

TO CONTROL OF THE PARTY OF THE

Cheape Ward.

Cheap Ward.

Ort adiopning is Cheape Ward, taking name of the Parket there kept, called West Cheaping: which Ward, as a riner that hath three heads, and running along to the ottermost of his bounds, issueth out on the sides into little streames: So this Ward heginning on the course of Walden brooke, and is not the meanest of the Wards (if for no other cause.

cause, yet because it is neerest to the heart of the Citie) hath his beginning on the Cast from three places, The high streete of the Poultry, The lower end of Buckles burie, and, and so running along, as farre as but the Porth-east corner of Bow lane on the South side, and from thence, into Bow lane on the Cast side, butil yee come to the Channell overagainst the Cellar dore whose the Church; and then, on the Morth side of Cheape, up to the Standard; stretching it selfe into divers Lanes and Pieces, on the right hand, and on the left hand, as it commeth along.

First, for the high Streete of the Poultrie (which is the mayne Bovie of this Ward:) On the South side thereof, toward the Cast, this Ward beginneth at the corner house, now in the tenure of one Robert Knight, in the way going downe to Saint Mary Wooll-Church, anciently knowne by the Signe of the Lyon: the out-most part of which house, and of this Ward there (the house being divided) is at the crosse-channell over-against (or very nere) the great West doze of Wooll-Church, and so it goeth along on the South side of the Poultrie to the Great Conduit, and so into Bow lane, as is afozefaid.

Secondly, foz Buckles burie, this Ward beginneth there toward the lower end : On the Porth live, at a Channell neere to the end of the house, bearing the Signe of the Chri-Ropher , toward the Caft , now in the tenure of one Iohn Hodges : Dn the South noe, it beginneth at the Caff end of the great new Frame of Building, over-against the faid Christopher; which is the Tenement on the Call five, nert to the Blacke Bull; and fo it goeth into all the Barge. And then Wellward, it goeth on both fives the way, viz. on the Porth live, to the Great Conduit, and fo to Bow lane, as is a foresaid; and on the South fide, to the end of S. Syches lane. Then croffing ouer the Channell , to S. Bennet Shorhogs Thurch, it firetcheth all along through Needlers lane, by 5. Pancrates Church, on the same fide, butill pee come to a 别的? great great Gate, which is in the nooke of a little passage or entrie to the West, and is the backe Gate of a house, standing in Bow lane, sometime the dwelling house of Haster Paruis. Then agains it cretcheth from the Chaine in the middest of Sopers lane (on both sides she Lane) betward toward the Porth, into Cheape on the South side, and so into Bow lane,

Thirdly, for the last place of this Wards beginning: On the Porth live of the high Areet, neere buto the Stocks-Marker, is an Alley, or Lane, called Scalding Alley, not errontoully (as some have published) but truely, as neerelt to the most ancient denomination thereof; which was, Scaldinghouse, alias, Scalding-wike, and Scalding lane, as appeareth by good Records extant, of two hundred peeres continuance. EMithin the Venell, og entrie of this Lane, og Alley, neere bus to the Well, that flandeth in a corner to the West, this Ward beginneth, at the end of the Stone Wall, wherein is the doze leading buto the Parlonage-house and Church of Saint Mildred (of which, moze anon) and it runneth on that five the Channell along to the Call comer of the faid Church, and from thence, on the Mosth five of the Streete, into the Compter, and Cony-hoop lane, and within Cony-hoop lane, into all Skinners Alley, and the Gocers Wall and Garden; and then backe againe into the Old Lewry Lane, on the West fide as farre as Alderman V Velds house, and on the Caff lide as farre as the dead Stone Wall of the great house overagainft it, sometime Alberman Andersons house. Then to returne to the West end of Old Iewry againe, this Ward Aretcheth along on the Posth fide by the Wercers Vall buto Iron-mongers lane, (which all wholly on both fides is in this Ward) and so into Catton Arcete. In Catton Arcete, this Mard entreth, toward the Cafe, at a house anciently knowne by the Signe of the Talbor, on the South fice, now in the tenure of Paffer Packhurft; and ouer-againft it, on the Posth lide, at a deepe Channell, issuing out of a house, and so go eth up to the West on both sides, videlicet, on the South

that

five of the way, beyond the end of Saint Lawrence lane, untill pee come to that middle part of the Church Wall, which is beyond the Church Pozch; and on the Pozth fide, from that corner of the Church Wall, it goeth on the Catt fide of the Channell to the Church-yard; and from thence, on both fides the way, buto the outward Bate leading onto Build-hall Pard, and adiopning to the Tanerne of the their Tunnes. Then againe to come into Cheape, there, on the Porth five, is Saint Lawrence lane, all which is wholly of this Ward, and so is Hony lane, about that; and so it reas cheth Weffward as farre as a challow Channell, close beyond the Standard. And thus fand the bounds of Cheape

Pow, for Antiquities and things worthie of memorie in

Cheape Ward:

First, in the maine Bodie of this Ward, that is, the Poultrie, Kandeth the proper little Church, that beareth the name of Saint Mildred in the Poultrie, the Virgin; S. Mildreds which name was given furely for diffinction, not for fuper, Church. Aition: For so was the custome of the Kingdome (and pet is) in building these things for the Securce of God, that the Founders called them by the name of some Apostle, Saint, Partyz, og Confestoz, as best liked their olune conceit at the present time, to distinguish them from others.

Who this Mildred was; whether thee was that eldest Daughter of Merwaldus, Bing of West-Mercians, as some thinke, or that thee was daughter of Ethelbert, king of Kent, one of the Founders of Paules Church; I finde no Record to specifie, neyther is it much materiall: but it is probable, that the was some holy and deuout Baid, which the people of that age held to bee a Saint afterward in Deauen.

In what peeres this Church was first erected, or who was the first Founder of it, wee finde not: But it appeareth by some ancient Cuivences of the said Thurch, 1) b 4 that from the beginning it had not so much spare ground about it, as to make a Church-yard of; butill in the yeere of our Lo2d God 1420. and the eight of Ling Henry the fift, Thomas Morsted, Csquire, and Chirurgian to the Lings, Henry the fourth, Henry the fift, and Henry the sirt, (and asterward, in Anno Domini 1436. Church taken downe and new built.

After some yeeres expired, the Parson and Parishioners, as it seemeth, seeing the Church to be very old, purposed to take it downe, and to build it new againe: Which they began to doe about the yeere of our Lo2d God, 1456. At what time, Robert Snell and John King were Church-wardens, and continued in the Office till the end of the yeere 1467. Toward the which Building, as it may appeare by their Accompts, John Saxton being Rector of Parson of the said Church, gave thirtie two pounds; and afterward, Richard Bowyer being Parson, gave sire pound and sisteene shillings.

Df later dayes, to wit, Anno Domini 1594. and 35. of Queene Elizabeth, of bleffed memogie, this Church-pard, and all the Buildings thereon, which had beene thus long Church-yard in the free possession of the Pinisters and Parishioners of and Buildings the faid Church, were, through the information of an enill supposed to be minded man, then Tenant in the Chambers, fold for concealed. cealed Land; whereby the faid Tenement, Church-pard, and Clopfters, were like to be loft from the possession of the Church, and the Pinisters of the Church to be chare ged with an yeerely rent of their Parsonage-house for es uer. But the Parson and Parishioners, by a Judiciall proreeding then in her Paicities Court of Erchequer, cleared all the whole Sople from that incombrance: the triall where, of was held by Nisi prius in the Guild-Pall of London, and the Record is kept in Paster Fanthawes Office for the Orchequer.

Richard Shore, Daaper, one of the Sheriffes in the peere 1505. gaue fifteene pounds to the making of a Posch to this Church.

In the great Call window of this Church are the Armes of divers Gentlemen, as Benefactors: and namely, the Armes of Louell and Pury, quartered, and the Armes of Richard Keston, fingle.

All the Rooffing of the Church is garnished with the Armes of one Thomas Ashchill, who had lent a great fumme of money toward the new building of the faybe Church, and was one of the Church-wardens there, in the peere 1474. and lyeth buried there, in the South Chappell: Dis Armes also are to be seene in the same Chappell, in the Mindow to the Caft.

Befides this Thomas Ashehill, are buried in this Church, as by their Monuments appeare, John Saxton, of whom we

West from this Conyhope lane is the alo Iurie, whereof fome postion is of Cheape VVard, as afore is thewes: at the South end of this lane, is the Parith Church of Saint Mary Parish Church Colechurch, named of one Cole that builded it: this Church is builded bpon a bault aboue ground, fo that men are forced to Cole-Church goe to afcend by thereunto by certaine feps. I finde no Monus ments of this Church moze, then that Henry the fourth grans ted licence to VVilliam Marshall and others, to found a 1520therhood of Saint Katherin therein, because Thomas Becket, and S. Concerning other Antiquities there: firft, is Buckles bu- Buckles burie, rie, so called of a Manno; and Tenements pertaining to one of one Buckle. Buckle, who there dwelled, and kept his Courts. This Mans noz is supposed to be the great Stone building, yet in part remaining on the South fide of the frete, which of late time hath beene called the Old Barge, of such a Signe hanged out, neere the gate thereof. This Mannoz, or great Boufe, hath of long time been divided and letten out into many tenements: and it hath been a common speech, that when VValbrooke did Barges towed lye open, Barges were rowed out of the Thames, or towed by vp Walbrooke fo farre: and therefoze the place hath ever fince beene called burie. the Old Barge.

Alfo, on the Porth fide of this ffreet, directly ouer-against the faid Buckles burie, was one ancient and firong Tower of Stone: the which Tower, Bing Edward the third, in the eighteenth of his raigne, by the name of the Kings house, called Cornet floure in London, did appoint to be his Erchange Cornet floure of Money, there to be kept. In the 29. he granted it to Fry- in Buckles budus Guynysane, and Landus Bardoile, Parchants of Luke, Exchange. for twentie pound the yeere. And in the 32, he gave the same Exchequer. Dower to his Colledge, 02 free Chappell of Saint Stephen at Westminster, by the name of Cornet stoure at Buckles burie

This Tower, of late yeeres, was taken downe by one Buckle, a Grocer, meaning, in place thereof, to have fet bp and builded a goodly frame of Timber: but the faid Buckle greedily labouring to pull downe the old Tower, a part there. of fell byon him, which to foze bauifed him, that his life was thereby Mortened: and another, that married his widow, fet by the new prepared France of Timber, and finished the Wlozke.

About the mivdelt of this ffreet is the Standard in Cheape; of lubat antiquitie, the first foundation I have not read. In the peere 1326, the Burgeffes of London caused Walter Stapleton, Biffop of Exceter, Treasurer to Edward the fecond, and other, to be beheaded at the Standard in Cheape (but this was by Pauls Gate.) In the peere 1351. the 26. of Edward the third, two Fishmongers were beheaded at the Standard in Cheap, but I read not of their offence, 1381. Wat Tyler beheaded Richard Lions, and other there. In the peere 1399. Henry the fourth caused the Blanke Charters, made by Richard the fecond, to be burnt there. In the pere 1450. Iohn Dauy had his hand ffrice ken off there, because he had firicken a man befoge the Judges at Westminfter, &c.

Then nert is the great Croffe in VVeft Cheape: Withich Great Croffe Croffe was there erected in the pere 1 290.by Edward the first, in West Cheap bpon occasion thus: Quene Elianor his wife died at Hardeby first builded. (a Towne nere buto the Citie of Lincolne) her bodie was brought from thence to Westminster, and the Ling in memorie of her, caused, in enery place where her body rested by the way, a fately Crosse of Stone to be erected, with the Queenes Image and Armes bpon it; as at Grantham, Woborne, Northhampton, Stony-Stratford, Dunstable, S. Proclamation was made, that whose would bewrap the doers, thould have 40. Crownes, but nothing came to light : the Image of the bieffed Mirgin, at that time was robbed of her Sonne, and her armes broken, by which thee faid him on her knies, her whole be dy alfe was haled with ropes, and left likely to fall: but in the peere 1595. was as gaine fastned & repaired, and in the per nert following, a new mil hapen Sonne, as boine out of time, all nabed, toas laid in her armes, the other Images remaining broke as afore. In the piere 1599, the timber of the Croffe at the top being rotted within the lead, the armes thereof benbing, were feared to have fallen, to the harming of some people, and therefore the whole body of the Crosse was scassolved about, and the top thereof taken bowne, meaning in place thereof to have fet up a Piramis; but some of ber Maieffies honogable Counfellogs directed their letters to Sir Nicholas Mosley, then Das ioz, by her Highness expresse commandement concerning the

5.Lawrence lane.

Bert beyond the Mercers Chappell, and their Wall, is Ironmonger lane, so called of Fronmongers dwelling there, where, of I reade in the raigne of Edward the first, &c. In this Lane Parish Church is the small Parish Church of S. Martin, called Pomary, bpon of S. Martins what occasion I certainely know not. It is supposed, to be of Apples growing, where now houses are lately builded : for my selse haue seine large void places. Ponuments in that Church none to be accounted of.

Farther Wieff, is S. Lawrence lane, fo called of S. Lawrence Church, which Kandeth directly oner-against the Porth end thereof. Antiquities in this Lane I find none other, then that among many faire houses, there is one large. Inne for receit of Trauellers, called Bloffoms Inne, but coaruptly Bosoms Bloffoms Inne Inne, and hath to Signe S. Lawrence the Deacon, in a Bogver of 15 lossomes of Flowers.

Then niere to the Standard in Cheape, is Hony lane, fo cal Hony lane. led, not of swatnesse thereof, being very narrow, & somewhat barke, but rather, of often washing and sweeping, to keepe it cleane. In this Lane is the Small Parish Church, called Al- Parish Church hallowes in Hony lane : There be no Donuments in this of Alhallowes, Thurch worth the noting. I find, that Iohn Norman, Daper, Hony lane. Daio2, 1453. was buried there: Be gaue to the Dapers his Tenements on the Porth five the faid Church, they to allow for the Beame light and Lamp, ritis. iitid yerely, from this Lane to the Standard. And thus much for Cheape Ward, in the bigh fret of Cheape; fog it fretcheth no farther.

Pow, for the Porth Wing of Cheape Ward, haue pe Catte-Arcet. Areet, corruptly called Catteten Areet, which beginneth at the

of S. Lawrence Church, as is afore the web.

Du the Porth five of this freet is the Guild-Hall, wherein The Guildthe Courts for the Citie be kept, namely, 1. The Court of Hall, and Common Councell, 2. The Court of the Logo Baiog and his Courts kepte Betheen the Aldermen, 3. The Court of Hullings, 4. The Court of Daphanes, 5. The two Courts of the Sheriffes, 6. The Court of the Ward-mote, 7. The Court of Wallmote, 8. The Court of Requells, commonly called the Court of Conscience, 9. The Chamberlaines Court for Brentifes, and making them free. This Guild-Hall, faith Robert Fabian, was begun to be builded new in the yere 1411. the twelfth of Henry the fourth, by Thomas Knoles, then Paioz, and his 15200 then the Aldermen: The fame was made, of a little cottage. a large and great house, as now it fandeth; towards the chare ges whereof, the Companies gave large beneuolences. Alfo offences of men were pardoned for fummes of money towards this Worke, extraozdinarie Fixs were railed, Fines, Amerce. ments, and other things imployed, during fenen veres, with a continuation thereof their yeares moze, all to be imployed to this building.

Court kept in the new

I cannot but account it expedient (as in no place better fit ting) to remember the faire and goodly new Conncell Chamber; a worthie Act and Donor, whereby to renowne befernedly the Citie foz euer. The fait new Councell Chamber, with a faire Roome ouer the same, appointed foz a Treasurie, wherein to preferue the Bookes and Records belonging to the Citie; and another Roome also, buderneath the said Chamber, referned for necessarie ble and imployment, began to be builded the first Weeke after Caffer, in the time of the Pato raltie of Sir Thomas Middleton, Unight, and Alberman, An. Dom. 1614. It was fully finithed Moztly after Dichaelmas, 1615. at the latter end of the Paiozaltie of Sir Thomas Hayes, linight, and Aiderman. But the Lozd Paicz, and the Albermen his Bzethzen, kept their firft Court in the fago new Councell Chamber, on the feuenth day of Pouember, Anno Dom. 1615. Sir Iohn Iolles, Enight, and Alberman, being then Lord Paior: By whose order and direction the faid Building was performed, from the first beginning theres of, to the finall finishing of the same; amounting to the charge of one thousand, seuen hundzed, and fortie pounds : then which, no money (in my mind) could be better bestowed, no.

moze to the Cities credit and renowne. Last of all, a stately Posch, entring the great Pall, was erected, the front thereof towards the South, being beautified with Images of Stone, such as is thewed by these Wers fes following, made about some thirtie yeeres fince, by VVilliam Elderton, at that time an Attourney in the She riffes Courts there.

Though most the Images be pulled downe, And none be thought remaine in Towne, I am fure there be in London yet Seuen Images, fuch, and in fuch a place, As few or none, I thinke, will hit: Yet every day they shew their face, And thousands see them enery yere, But few, I thinke, can tell me where: Where Iesu Christ aloft doth stand, Law and Learning on either hand, Discipline in the Deuils necke: And hard by her, are three direct; There Iustice, Fortitude, and Temperance stand: Where find ye the like in all this Land?

Divers Alderman glafed the great Hall, and other Courts, as appeareth by their Armes in each Window. William Hariot, Daper, Maioz, 1481. gaue fortie pound to the making of two Louers in the faid Onilo-Ball, and toward the glas Kitchens by fing thereof. The littchens, and other houses of Office, ad, the Guildtopning to this Guild-Hall, were builded of later time, to Hall. wit, about the peere 1501. by procurement of Sir Iohn Sha. Bololmith, Paioz, (who was the first that kept his Feast there) towards the charges of which Worke, the Paioz had of the Fellowships of the Citie (by their owne agreement) certaine fummes of money; as, of the Percers fortie pound, the Grocers twentie pound, the Dapers thirtie pound, and fo of the other Fellowships through the Citic, as they were of power. Also Midowes, and other well disposed persons, gaue certaine fummes of money : as the Lavie Hill, tenne pound; the Labie Austrie, tenne pound; and so of many other, till the worke was finished. Since the which time, the Mar iors fealts have ben verely kept there, which beforetime had beene kept in the Taplozs Ball, and in the Grocers Bal: Nicholas Alwyn Grocer Patoz, 1499. Decealed 1505. gaue by his Teltament, for a hanging of Tapeffrie to ferue for principall dates in the Guild Hall 73. pound, 6. Millings and eight pence. How this gift was performed I have not heard, for Crecutors of our time having no conscience (Ispeake of my owne knowledge) proue more testaments then they performe.

Chappellor Colledge at Guildhall. Patent.

Pow for the Chappel or College of our Lady Mary Magdalen, and of All Saints by the Guild Hall, called London Colledge: I read, that the same was builded about the yere 1299. and that Peter Fanclore, Adam Frauncis, and Henry Frowike, Citizens, gaue one Deffuage with the appurtenans ces, in the Parish of S. Fostar, to William Brampton, Cultos of the Chauntry, by them founded in the faid Chappell, with foure Chaplens, and on the other house in the Parich of Saint Giles without Cripplegate, in the 27. of Edward the thirb, was given to them.

Dozeouer I find, that Richard the 2.in the 20.0f his reigne, granted to Stephen Spilman, Dercer, licence to giue one mel. luage, 3. thops, and one garden, with the appurtenances, being in the Parith of S. Andrew Hubbard, to the Cuftos and Chaplens of the fair Chappell, and to their fuccellogs, fog their

Thing Henry the 6. in the 8. of his reigne, gave licence to Iohn Barnard, Cuffos, and the Chaplens, to build of new the faid Chappell or Colledge of Guild Hall, and the same Henry the firt in the 27. of his reigne, granted to the Parill Clarkes in London, a Build of S. Nicholas, for two Chap. lens, by them to be kept in the faid Chappell of S. Mary Magdalen, neere buto the Guildhall, and to keep 7. Almes people. Henry Barton, Skinner, Paioz, founded a Chaplen there: Guildhall new Roger Depham, Dercer, and Sir VVilliam Langford, Enight, had also Chaplens there. This Chappell of Colledge had a Cuftos, 7. Chaplens, 3. Clarkes, and foure Quirefters.

Monuments there have beene funday, as appeareth by the Tombs of Parble pet remaining, feuen in number, but all Defaced. The oppermoft in the Quire on the South fide ther, of, aboue the Reneftrie doze, was the tombe of John Welles, Grocer, Maioz, 1451. The likenesse of Welles are graven on the Mombe, on the Reneftry boge, and other places on that fide the Duire. Alfo in the glaffe window ouer this Tombe, and in the Cast window is the likenesse of Welles, with hands elevated out of the same Wielles, holding scrowles, wherein is written Mercy, the writing in the Cast window (being broken) pet remaineth VVelles. I found his Armes also in the South glasse window: all which doe thew, that the John Wels a Caff end and South fide the Duire of this Chappell, and the principall be-Reneary, were by him both builded and glafed. On the nefactor to Porth fide of the Quire, the Tombe of Thomas Knefworth, Guild-hall Fishmourer Major 1505, Inho deceased 1515 Ing referent Colledge. Filhmonger Paioz 1505. Who deceased 1515. was befaced, & within thefe 44. peeres againe renewed by the Fishmongers. Two other Tombes lower there are, the one of a Daper, the other of a Paberdafter, their names not known; Richard Stomine is written in the window by the Baberbacher. Under flat Mones doe lye diners Cultos of the Chappell, Chaplens and Officers to the Chamber.

Amongst others, Iohn Clipstone, Priest, sometime Tustos of the Livrary of the Guild Hall, 1457. Another of Edmond Alison Priest, one of the Custos of the Livrary, 1510. Ec. Sir Iohn Laugley, Bolosmith, Paior, 1576. lyeth buried in the bault, buder the Tombe of Iohn VVelles beforenamed. This Chappell or Colledge, valued to dispend ry. li. 8. s.ir.d. by the yeare, was surrendred amongst other: the Chappell remaineth to the Paior and Comminalty, subservin they have service weekly, as also at the election of the Paior, and at the Paiors Reast, ec.

Adioining to this Chappell on the South fide, was some, Guild hall, time a faire and large Library, furnished with bokes, pertaining to the Guild Hall and Colledge.

These bokes, as it is said, were in the reigne of Edward the 6. sent for by Edward Duke of Somerser, Lord Protector, Antiquities to be noted therein are thefe : Firft, the frete of Lothbery, Lathbery, of Loadbery (for by all thefe names haue I read it) toke the name (as it feemeth) of a Bery, 02 Court of olde time there kept, but by whom, is growne out of memory. This firet is possessed (for the most part) by Founders, that caft Candleffickes, Chafingdiffes, Spice-moztars, and fuch like Copper of Laten works, and do afterward turne them with the fote, and not with the whele, to make them fmoth and bright, with furning and fcratting (as some doe tearme it) making a loathsome noyse to the by passers, that have not been bled to the like; and therefore by them difais neoly catted Lothbury. On the South fide of this freet, as mong Ethe Founders, be fome faire houses, & large, for Parthants, namely, one that (of olde time) was the Jewes Synas gogue, which was befaced by the Citizes of London, after that they had flain 700. Parish Church Synagogue of the Iewes. Cocke of Wa-London Wall.

This Church was sometime a Synagogue of the Jewes, of S. Stephen then a Parith Church, then a Chappell to Saint Olaues in the Icwry, butill the feuenth of Edward the fourth, and was then incorporated a Parith Church.

By the Cast end of this Church, is placed a Cock of Swit ter by S. Ste- Water, taken out of the maine Pipe that goeth into Lothphens Church. berie. Alfo, in London Wall, Directly against the Porth end of Coleman fireet, is a Conduit of Water, made at the charges of Thomas Exmew, Woldsmith, Baio2, 1517.

And let here be the end of this Ward, which hath an Alderman, his Deputie, common Councellogs foure, Conffa bles foure, Scauengers foure, of the Ward-mote Inqueff, thirteene, and a Beadle. It is tared to the Fifteene, fifteene Bassings Hall Ward.

Baffings Hall Ward.

De nert adiopning to Coleman freet Ward, on the Weft ade thereof, is Baffings Hall Ward, a small thing, and consideth of one Street, called Baffings Hall ftreet, of Baffings Hall, the most principal house, where of the Ward taketh name. It beginneth in the South, by the late fpoken Warket house, called the Bay Hall, which is the last of Coleman freet Ward. This Street runneth from thence Porth doinne to London Wall, and some little distance both Cast and West, against the said Pail: And this is the bounds of Bassings Hall Ward.

Masons Hall.

Ponuments on the Cast side thereof, amongst divers faire houses for Warchants, have yee three Palls of Companies; namely, the Masons Wall for the first; but of what antiquitie Weavers Hall. that Companie is, I have not read. The next is the Weavers Hall: which Companie hath beene of great antiquitie in this

Citie,

Citie, as appeareth by a Charter of Henry the fecond, in these words: Rex ownibus ad quos, &c. to be Englished thus:

Henry, King of England, Duke of Normandie, and of Guian, Patent of H.z. Earle of Anion, to the Bishop, Iustices, Sheriffes, Barons, Ministers, and all his true Lieges of London, sendeth greeting: Know ye, that wee haue granted to the Weauers in London, their Guild, with all the Freedomes and Customes that they had in the time of King Henry my Grandfather: fo that none Henry the 1. but they intermit within the Citie of their Craft, but he be of their Guild; neither in Southwarke, or other places pertaining to London, otherwise then it was done in the time of King Henry my Grandfather. Wherefore I will and straightly command, that ouer all lawfully they may treat, and have all aforefaid, as well in peace, free, worshipfull, and wholly, as they had it, freer, better, worshipfullier, and whollier, then in the time of King Henry my Grandfather. So that they yeeld yerely to me two Markes of Gold, at the Feast of Saint Michael. And I forbid, that any man to them doe any vnright, or difease, vpon paine of tenne pound. VVitnesse Thomas of Canterburie, Warwicke fili Gar, Chamberlaine at Winchester.

Also I read, that the same Henry the second, in the 3x.of his raigne, made a Confirmation to the Weauers, that had a Patent. Build of Fraternitie in London; wherein it appeareth, that the said Weauers made Woollen Cloth, and that they had the correction thereof. But amongst other Articles in that Patent, it was decreed, That if any man made Cloth of Spanish Woll, mired with English Woll, the Portgrave or principall Pagistrate of London ought to burne it, &c.

Mozeover, in the years 1197. King Richard the first, at the Matthew Paris instance of Hubert, Archbishop of Canterburie, and Justicier of England, ozvained, That the Woollen Clothes in everie part of this Realme, should be in breadth two yards within the Lists, and as good in the middest as in the sides, sc. King Henry the third granted to the Citizens of London, that they should not be vered, for the Burels, or Cloth-listed, according to the constitution made for breadth of Cloth the ninth of his raigne, sc. Richard the second, in the third of his raigne, Girdlers Hall.

Lower bowne, is the Girdlers Pall: and this is all tous

Bakewell Hall.

Dn the Well fibe, almost at the South end thereof, is Bakewell Hall, cogruptly called Blackwell Hall. Concerning the originall whereof, I have heard viners opinions, which I oner-palle as fables, without colour of truth : for though the fame fæmed a Building of great antiquitie, pet (in mine opis nion) the foundation thereof was firft laid fince the Conqueff of VVilliam, Duke of Normandie : for the fame was builded bpon Maults of Stone, which Stone was brought from Cane in Normandie. The like of that of Pauls Church, builded by Mauritius and his fuccestors, Bishops of London. But that this House hath beine a Temple, or Jewith Spnagogue, (as some have fantaffed) Jailow not, feeing that it had no fuch forme of roundnes, or other likeneffe. Deither had it the forme of a Church, for the affembly of Christians, which are builded Caff and Weff:but contraritife, the fame was builded Porth and South, and in forme of a Poble mans houfe: and therfore the best opinion (in my indgement) is, that it was (of old time) belonging to the Family of the Bastings, which was in this Realmea name of great antiquitie & renowne, and that it bare Bailings Hall. also the name of that Family, and was called therfore Bailings Haugh, 02 Hall. Whereunto 3 am the rather induced, for that Armes of the the Arms of that Family were (of old time) so abundantly plas ced in funday parts of that house, enen in the Stone-worke, but more especially, on the walls of the Wall, which carried a continuali painting of them on enery fide fo close together, as one Ofcutcheon could be placed by another, which I'my felfe haue often feine & noted, befoge the old Building was taken downe. Thefe Arms were a Gerond of twelve points, Gold, Azure. Df the Bassings therefoze, builders of this Doule, cowners of the Bround nere adjoyning, that Ward taketh the name; as Coleman street Ward of Coleman, Faringdon Ward of William & Nicholas Faringdon, men that were principall owners of those places, And How Baffings Hall Ward tooke that name.

And of old time, the most Poble persons that inhabited this Citie, were appointed to be principall Dagiarates there: aswas Godfrey de Magun (oz Magnauilla) Boztgraue, oz Shes riffe, in the raigne of William the Conqueroz, and of William Rufus; Hugh de Buch, in the raigne of Henry the firtt; Auberie de Vere, Carle of Oxford. After him, Gilbert Becket, in the raigne of King Stephen. After that, Godfrey de Magnauilla, the sonne of William, the sonne of Godfrey de Magnauilla, Carles of Effex, were Bortgraues or Sheriffes of London and Middlesex. In the raigne of Henry the second, Peter Fitzwalter: after him, Iohn Fitznigel, &c. So likewife in the raigne of king Iohn, the 16. of his raigne, a time of great troubles, in the pere 1214. Salomon Baffing, and Hugh Salomon Baf-Baffing, Barons of this Realme, as may be supposed, were fing, and other Sheriffes; and that the faid Salomon Bassing was Paioz in of that name. the peere 1216. which was the first of Henry the third. Also Adam Baffing, fonne to Salomon (as it feemeth) was one of the Sheriffes, in the peers 1243, the 28, of Henry the third.

Unto this Adam de Baffing, Bing Henry the thirt, in the 31. of his raigne, gave and confirmed certaine Deffuages in Aldermanburie, and in Milke freet, (places not farre from Baffings Hall) and the advolution of the Church at Baffings

Hall, with fundzie liberties and priniledges.

This man was afterwards Paioz, in the peere 1251, the 26. of Henry the third. Dozeouer, Thomas Baffing was one of the Sheriffes, 1269. Robert Baffing, Sheriffe, 1279. and William Bassing was Sheriffe 1308, &c. Hoz moze of the Baffings in this Citie, I need not note, onely I read of this Familie of Baffings in Cambridge shire, called Bassing at the Bourne, and moze moztly, Bassing Bourne, and gaue Bassing Bourn Armes as is afoze thewed, and was painted about this old Pall. But this Familie is worne out, and hath left the name to the place where they dwelt. Thus much for this Bassings Hall.

Pow how Bakewell Hall tooke that name, is another one, Bakewell Hall Rion: For which I reade, that Thomas Bakewell dwelled given to the

in this house, in the fir and thirtieth of Edward the third, and that in the twentieth of Richard the fecond, the faid laing, for the fumme of fiftie pounds, which the Paioz and Comminal tie had paied into the Danapar, graunted licence, fo much as was in him, to Iohn Frosh, William Parker, and Stephen Spilman, (Citizens and Percers) that they, the fait Pelluage, called Bakewell Hall, and one Garden, with the appurtenans ces, in the Dariff of Saint Michael of Baffings Haugh, and of Saint Lawrence in the lewry of London, and one Deffus age, two Shops, and one Garden, in the faid Parish of Saint Michael, which they held of the King in Burgage, might gine and affigne to the Paioz and Comminaltie foz ener.

Bakewell Hall for Woollen Clothes.

This Bakewell Hall thus effablifhed, hath beene long fince amarket place imployed, as a weekely Darket place for all forts of Colols len Clothes, broad and narrow, brought from all parts of this Realme, there to be fold. In the one and twentieth of Richard the fecond, Richard Whitington, Paioz; and in the two and twentieth, Drew Barringtine being Paioz, it was becreed, that no Forreine or Stranger hould fell any Wools len Cloth, but in the Bakewell Hall, bpon paine of fogfeiture thereof.

This house (of late peeres) growing ruinous, and in dans ger of falling, Richard May, Parchant-Taploz, at his deceale gaue towards the new building of the outward part thereof, three hundred pounds, byon condition, that the same Mould be performed within three yeeres after his decease. Where Bakewell Hall upon, the old Bakewell Hall was taken downe, and in the moneth of Februarie next following, the foundation of a new, frong, and beautifull Stoze-house being laid, the worke thereof was so diligently applied, that within the space of ten moneths after, to the charges of 2500. pounds, the same was finished, in the peere 1588.

Pert beyond this Bouse, are placed divers faire Bouses for Parchants, and others, till ye come to the backe Bate of Build-Hall, which Bate, and part of the Building within the same, is of this Ward. Some small distance beyond this Coopers Hall. Bate, the Coopers have their common Pall.

Then is the Parith Citerch of Saint Michael, called Saint Parith Church Michael at Bassings Hall, a proper Church, lately recoised, or of S. Michael, new builded: whereto Iohn Burton. From the Stadard to the Croffe in Cheape, on the North fide, is of Cripplegate Ward.

Pow on the South five, from over against the West end of S. Laurence Church to the Dumpe, and then by Milke freet South bnto Cheape, which Milke ftreete is wholly (on both the fives) of Cripplegate Ward, as also without the South end of Milkestreet , a part of West Cheape, to wit, from the Standard to the Croffe, is all of Cripplegate Ward. Then downe great Woodfreet, which is wholly of this Ward on both the fives thereof; so is little Woodstreet, which runneth bowne to Cripplegate.

Dut of this Woodstreet bee viners lanes, namely, on the Caft fibe is Lad lane, which runneth Caft to Milkeftreet cozner; downe lower in Woodstreet is Loue lane, which lyeth by the South fide of S. Albons Church in VVoodstreer, and runs neth bowne to the Conduit in Aldermanbury freet. Lower volume in VVoodstreet is Addlestreet, out of the which runs neth Philip lane downe to London Wall. Thefe be the lanes on the Caft five.

Dn the Mest side of VVoodstreet is Huggen lane, by the South five of S. Michaels Church, and goeth thozow to Gutherons lane. Then lower, is Maiden lane, which runneth West to the Posth end of Gutherons lane, and by the faid lane on the Caft five thereof, till againft Kery lane, and backe ag gaine : then the fayd Maiden lane, on the Porth fibe, goeth bu to Staining lane, and by a part thereof on the Call fide, to the fartheft Porth part of Haberdathers Ball, and backe againe to VVoodstreet, and there lower downe is Silverstreet, which is of this Ward, til pe come to the Call end of S. Iohn Speed, my especial kind fried, acquainted me with the draught of a Mappe, done after that true hape and Modell, as at the first (by the forenamed Gentleman) they were intended, and laboured with the then Lord Paior, and Court of Aldermen, that the fame might have been accordingly effected. But how it was preuented , I know not, only I purpofed to have been at fo much charge, as to have had that Dappe (in fome apt and When I hope convenient forme) printed in this Booke : but that I could it shall be feen not attaine thereto; being promised, that at the nert imprest- in a larger on 3 Mall haue it.

Red-croffe, and the Barbican ftreet, moze then halfe therof, for ward Aldersgate street, and so have you all the bounds of Crip-plegate Ward without the walls.

Powfoz Antiquities and Danaments in this Ward, to be noted : I find, firft at the meeting of the corners of the Old Iury, Milkestreet, Lad lane, and Alderman burie, there was(of olo time) a faire Taell with two Buckets, of late peres conuerted to a Dumpe. Dow Alderman burie freet tooke that name, many fables have beene brated, all which 3 overpaffe. as not worthy the counting : but to be thoat, I fap, this freet tooke the name of Aldermans burie (which is to fap, a Court) there kept in their Bery, 02 Court Ball, now called the Guild Hall, which Ball (of old time) Emd on the Caft fide of the fame Arete, not farre from the Well ent of Guild Hall now bled.

Douching the Antiquity of this old Aldermans burie 02 Court, 3 haue not read other, then that Richard Renery, one of the Sheriffes of London, in the firt of Richard the firt, Aldermanbury which was in the peere of Chaift 1189. gaue to the Church of court or Guild S. Mary at Ofney by Oxford, certaine ground and rents in hall, by Alder- Alderman bury of London, as appeareth by the Register of that Church, as is also entred into the Hoistings of the Guild hall in London.

This old Bery Court, or Pall continued, and the Courts of the Paioz and Aldermen were continually holden there, untill the new Bery, Court of Guild hall that now is, was builded and finished, which Hal was first begun to be founded in the piere 1411. and was not fully finished in 20. peeres afe ter. Mary Al-Cloifter is hanged and faffned a fhanke-bone of a man (as is dermanbury. faib) bery great, and larger by the inches and a halfe, then that which hangeth in D. Lawrence Church in the lury , for it Shank bone is in length 28. inches & a halfe of affife, but not fo hard & ffer- of a man 28. ly, like as the other, for the same is light, and somewhat porie inches and a and fpongy. This bone is faid to be found amongt the bones halfe long. of men, remoued from the Charnell house of Pauls, og rather from the Cloiffer of Pauls Church: of both which reports 3 boubt, for that the late Reyne Wolfe, Stationer (who payo for Reyne Wolfe the carriage of those bones fro the Charnel to the More fields) a grave Antitold me of some thousands of Carreloads and moze to be con- cted the great ueped, wherof he wandzed; but never told of any fuch bone in Chronicles, either place to be faund, neither would the same hane bin easily increased, and gotten from him, if he had heard thereof, except he had refer- published by ned the like for himfelfe, being the greatest preferuer of Anti- under the quittes in those parts for his time.

True it is, that this bone (from whence foeuer it came) bes Holenthead. ing of a man, as the forme theweth) must needs be monffrous, and moze then after the proportion of fine thanke bones of any man now living amongst bs. Thy Skill and Practice, that it selfe commends,
Some of the best haue truely found the same,
Not partially employed to wealthy friends,
But even the poorest wretch, the sicke and same Felt of the best. Some differece there might be:
The rich payd somewhat, poore men had it free.

Thy care and cost layd out for common good,
In greater measure then came in againe:
But that heavens blessing with thy bounty stood,
Hardly had stretcht so many to sustaine.
But it is true: The liberall heart God loves,
And from him still all cause of lacke removes.

Thy weekely charity giuen to the poore
In Bread, beside, in money from thy Purse:
Euen in the hardest yeeres dealt at thy doore,
When some repind that euery day did worse;
Makes poore men say: Our good relief is gone,
Let them goe to thy find-faults and haue none.

Poore maymed Souldiers, fore-ficke hearted men,
That under miseries hard Crouch did bow,
Were freely cur'd, me thinks they cry: Lord, when,
Where shall we find our good Physicion now?
I doubt not, but some others will as much:
Yet (in these dayes) we find not many such.

Sleepe then, thou happy Soule, in endlesse rest,
All good mens grones be powred on the graue:
Liue thou in Abrahams bosome with the bless;
Where Faith and Workes due recompence shall have.
My sight growes dimme, sighing my hare makes fore:
Teares blot my paper, I can write no more.

and Edwardus his brother, in the piere of Chaife, 1056. and confirmed by W. the Conqueroz, as appeareth by his Charter, dated 1068. This Colledge claimed great priniledges of fan. Lib. S. Martin. Muary, and other wife, as appeareth in a booke, waitten by a Dotary of that house, about the yeare 1442. the 19. of H. the 6. wherein, amongst other things, is let volvne and declared, that on the first of September, in the pere afozefaid, a Souldi er, paisoner in Newgate, as he was led by an Difficer towards the Guild hall of London, there came out of Panyer Alley 5.06 his fellowihip, and tok him from the Dfficer, brought him in to fanduarp, at the well doze of S. Martins Church, and toke grithe of that place. But the same day, Philip Malpas and Rob. Marshall , then Sheriffes of London, with many other entred the faid Church, and forcibly toke out with them the fayo g. men thither fled ; led them fettred to the Compter, and from thence chained by the neckes to Newgate : of which biolent taking, the Deane and Chapter in large manner complained to the Bing, and required him as their Patron, to defend their printledges, like as his Predecessors had done, ec. All which complaint and fute, the Citizens by their councell, Markam, Berteant at the Lawe, John Carpenter, late Common ledge challen. Clarke of the City, and other, learnedly answered, offering to prone, that the layd place of S. Martin had no luch immunity or liberty as was pretended; namely, Carpenter offered to lofe his line-love, if that Church had moze immunity then the leaft Church in London : notwith Canving , after long debating of this controverse, by the Kings commandement, and affent of his Councell in the Starre Chamber, the Chancelog & Wreat furer sent a Wilzit buto the Sheriffes of London, charging them to bying the layd 5. persons, with the cause of their tae king, and withholding afore the Bing in his Chancery, on the Migill of All-hallowes. Dn which day, the fayd Sheriffes, with the Recorder and Councell of the City, brought and delivered them accordingly, afore the layd Lords, whereas the Chanceloz, after hee had declared the Kings commandement, fent them to S. Martins, there to abide freily, as in a place have

Thus much out of that Booke have I noted concerning the Priviledge of that place, challenged in those daies; since the which time, to wit, in the yeare 1457, the 36, of the said Henry the sirt, an Promance was made by the Bing and his Councell, concerning the said Sanctuarie men in Saint Martins le graund, whereof the Articles are set downe in the Booke of K. within the Chamber of the Guild-Hall, in the lease 299.

This Colledge was surrendzed to king Edward the sixt, the second of his raigne, in the yeare of Christ, 1548. And the same yeare, the Colledge Church being pulled downe, in the Cast part thereof a large Mine-Auerne was builded; and withall, downe to the West, and throughout the whole precinct of that Colledge, many other houses were builded, and highly priced, letten to strangers borne, and other such as there claymed benefit of priviledges, granted to the Canons, serving God day and night (for so be the words in the Charter of W. the Conqueror) which may hardly be wrested to artisticers, buyers and sellers, otherwise then is mentioned in the 21. of S. Matthewes Gospell.

Lower bowne, on the TTek side of S. Martins lane, in the Parith of S. Anne, almost by Aldersgate, is one great house, commonly called Northumberland house: it belonged to Henry Percy. Bing Henry the fourth, in the senenth of his raigne, gave this house, with the tenements thereunto appertaining, to Duéne Iane his wife, and then it was called her Thardrope: it is now a Printing-house.

Doct. Ridley preached beward the 6. Mercy & Charity.

Dafter Doctoz Ridley, then Bithop of London, came and preached before the Bings Paieffie at Weftminfter. In which fore King Ed- Sermon, he made a fruitfull and godly erhoztation to the rich. to be mercifull buto the pooze: And also to mone such as were in authozity, to travaile by some charitable way and meanes, to comfort and relieue them. Whereupon, the Bings Paies Rie (beeing a Prince of such towardnesse and vertue for his peeres, as England befoge neuer brought forth, and being alfo to wel retained and brought by in all goody knowledge, as wel * Edward Sei- by his deare Uncle the late Botectoz, as also by his vertuous mer, Duke of and learned Schoolmafters) was fo carefull of the good gos uernment of the Realme, and chiefly to doe and preferrefuch things as most especially touched the honoz of Almighty God. And buderstanding, that a great number of pooze people did swarme in this Realme, and chiefly in the Citie of London, and that no god oader was taken for them , did fuddenly, and (of himselfe) send to the said Bilhop, as soone as his Sermon ivas ended, willing him not to depart, butill that hee had fpoken with bun. And this that I now write, was the very repost of the lago Bishop Ridley, who (according to the Bings command) gaue his attendance. And so some as the Lings The very re-Paietty was at leifure he called for him, and caufed him to port of Bithop come onto him in a great Ballery at VVestminster, where (to in wee may see his knowledge, and the Bing likewise told him so) there was what fruit folpresent no more persons then they two; and therefore made lowed woon his him to fit downe in one chairs, and heehimselfe in another, Sermon. which (as it feemed) were before the comming of the Bithop there purpofely let, and caused the Bithop (mangre his teeth) to be conered, and then entred communication with him in this manner :

First, giving him hearty thanks for his Sermon and good exhortation: he therein rehearled fuch special things as he had noted, and that fo many, that the Bilhop fand:

Truely, truely (for that commonly was his Dath) I could neuer haue thought that excellency to haue been in his Grace, but that I beheld, and heard it in him.

At the laft, the lings Paielly much commended him foz

his Ochoztation, for the reliefe of the poore.

But my Lord (quoth he) you willed fuch as are in authority, A most vertuto be carefull thereof, and to deuise some good order for their ous and noble reliefe: Wherein, I thinke you meane Me, for I am in higheft faying of King place, and therefore am the first that must make answere vnto shop Ridley. God for my negligence, if I should not be carefull therein, knowing it to bee the expresse Commandement of Almighty God, to have compassion of his poore and needy members, for who we must make an account vnto him. And truly, my Lord, Iam(before all things else) most willing to trauaile that way, and I doubting nothing of your long and approued wisedome and learning, who having fuch good zeale, as wisheth helpe vnto them : but also that you have had some conference with others, what wayes are best to be taken therein, the which I am desirous to understand, and therefore I pray you to say your The mind.

The Bifhop thinking leaft of that matter, and being amazed, to heare the wifedome and earnest zeale of the ling, was (as hee faid himselfe) so affonied, that hee could not well tell what to fay. But, after some pause, fapo, That he thought (at this prefent) for some entrance to bee had, it were good to pratife with the City of London, because the number of the poze The Citizens there are very great, and the Citizens also are many and wife; and he doubted not but that they were also both pitifull & mers mooued to be cifull; as the Paiozand his Bzethzen, and other the Warthis charitable thipful of the layd Citie. And that if it would pleafe the Bings Dateffy to direct his gracious Letters onto the Daio; of London, willing him to call buto him fuch affiffants as hee Mould thinke meete, to consult of this matter, for some order to be taken therein; hee doubted not but good would follow thereon. And hee himselfe promised the Bing to be one him

The Bing (forth-with) not onely granted his letter, but made the Bilhop tarry butill the fame was written, and his Letter fent by hand and Signet fet thereto: And commanded the Biffop, not the Bishop to only to deliner the savoletter himselfe; but also to signific bris to the Paioz, that it was the Kings especiali request, and ere preffe commandement, that the Paior Mould therein trauell; and to foone as hee might conveniently, give him knowledge how farre he had proceeded therein. The Bilhop was to iops ous of the having of this letter, and that now he had an occasio on to tranell in fo good a matter, wherein he was maruailous zealous, that nothing could have moze pleased and belighted him: wherefore, the same night he came to the Lord Paior of London, who was then Sir Richard Dobbs, Bnight, and be linered the Kings letter, and thewed his message with effect.

The readines of the Lord deede.

The L. Maioz not onely toyoully received this letter : but with all speed agreed to let forward the matter, for hee also fas Maior to pre-noured it very much. Times

Times Triumph on the Death of Master Robert Rogers, who deceased Anno 1601. in the manner of a Dialogue, betweene Time, Death, and Rogers.

Death.

A faire Monument close by, in the same Wall,

Sand fairely encountred both, Grane, Soneraigne Time;
Borne of Eternitie, Ages Father:
Prince of all Power; all Powers on Earth are thine,
That doest my Ruines truest Records gather;
Lend thy consent, thy helping hand to mine;
And Death will make Times Soueraignetie as great
As the three Sisters, Ladies of sterne Fate.

Time.

Impartiall Death, Honors respectlesse foe,
Grim, meager Caytise, wherefore doest thou come?
Must Vertues children to the slaughter goe,
In thy bloud-yawning Cell to fill a roome?
Can none but they, quench thy bloudie thirst? Death. No;
Rogers I come for; Time, thou canst not saue him,
This Dart must strike him, and grim Death will have him.

Rogers.

Death, welcome; all by thee (I know) must end;
Nor doe I care for longer life then this:
I thanke thee, thou hast stai'd so long; (kind friend.)
Sweet Time, be patient, pardon mine amisse,
If I have time missent; alas, we all offend.
If, said I? yes, 'tis certaine, sure I have;
For which offence (deare Time) I pardon crave.

Time.

Death, graunt me this (fweet) doe not kill him,
Till I returne but from the Destinies.

Death. I cannot stay a moment. Rog. Oh, will him (Graue Time) to strike me then: I Death despise.

Death. There lye thou dead. Time. Thou canst not spill him:
Time shall erect a Trophee of such same,
That while Time liues, dye shall not Rogers name.

TIMES Epitaph.

Giue me an Adamantine Penne, and Leafe of Brasse,
To caracter his name, whose like ne're was.
A single life he led, louing to all,
The poore mans succour, the reliefe of thrall:
Vertues example, guide to eternall life;
In carriage courteous, all devoid of strife.
Heere lyeth he interred, Rogers his name,
Times onely Sonne, eternized by Fame.
Ougly Detraction, slye, and blacke Oblinion, hence;
Whil'st Rogers dust lyes here, Time will his same commence.

This matter was in the Tower of London referred to Haruius de Stanton, and his fellow Juffices, Itinerantes : but 3 find not the decision or judgement of that controversie.

True it is, that Edward the third, in the 17. of his reigne, gane commanndement for the anithing of that Wall: which was then performed, and to this day it continueth; although now on both the fibes (to wit, within and without) it be hiven with dwelling houses.

Richard Beaumor deceafed in the peere 1127. and his fuce ceffors (in processe of time) performed the Worke begun.

Pauls Steeple.

The Steple of this Church was builded and finished in the peere 1222. The Croffe on the fait Staple felt downe, and a new was fet by in the peere 1314.

The new work Eaft.

The new Morke of Pauls (fo called) at the Caff end, aboue of Pauls in the the Duire, was begun in the peere 1251. Henry Lacy, Carle of Lincolne, Constable of Chefter, and Custos of England, in his time was a great benefactoz to this Worke, and was there buried, in the peere 1310. Alfo Ralph Baldocke, Withop of London, in his life time gaue 200. Parks to the building of the faid new Work, and left much by his Westament towards the finishing thereof: he beceased in the peere 1313. and was buried in the Lady Chappell. Alfo the new Mozhe of Pauls, to wit, the croffe gles, were begun to be new builded in the yeere 1256.

The first of Februarie, in the pere 1444, about two of the Pauls Steeple clocke in the afternoone, the Steple of Pauls was fired by fired by Light- Lightning, in the miont of the Shaft of Spire, both on the West side, and on the South : but by labour of many well bis posed people, the same (to appearance) quenched with Wines ger; so that all men withdrew themselves to their houses, prapfing God. But betwene eight and nine of the clocke in the same night, the fire burst out againe moze feruently then before, and did much hurt to the Lead and Timber, till by the great labour of the Paioz and people that came thither, it was throughly quenched.

Pauls Steeple repaired.

This Stæple was repaired in the yeare 1462, and the Weather-cocke againe erected: Robert Godwin winding it by, the rope brake, and he was bestroped on the Pinacles, and the Cock was fore brufed. But Burchwood (the Bings Plum mer) fet it bp againe. Since the which time, needing repara. Weathercocke tion, it was both taken downe, and fet bp, in the yeere 1553. of Pauls Stee-At which time, it was found to be of Copper, gilt ouer, and the ple. length, from the bill to the taile, being 4. foot, and the breadth oner the wings 3. foot and a halfe, it weighed 40.11. the Croffe, from the Bole, to the Cagle (or Cock) was 15. foot and 6. yns thes of affile; the length thereof, overthwart, was s.foot and 10. puches; and the compate of the Bole, was 9. foot and 1. puch. The inner bodie of this Croffe was Dake, the nert cos ner was Lead, & the bitermost was of Copper, red barnished. The Bole and Cagle, 02 Cock, were of Copper, and gilt alfo. The height of the Steple was 520. foot, whereof the Stone Height of the worke is 260. foot, and the Spire tras likewife 260. foot. Steeple. The length of the whole Church, is 240. The Colledge of Pettic Canons there, was founded by Petty Canons King Richard the second, in honour of Duzene Anne his of Pauls. Wife, and of her Progenitors, in the seuenteenth of his reigne. Their Pall and Lands was then ginen but o them, as appeareth by the Patent, Paster Robert Dokesworth then being Paster thereof. In the seere 1408, the Pettic Canons then building their Colledge, the Paior and Comminaltie graunted them their Water-courses, and other Casements.

There was also one great Cloylfer, on the Posth fide of Great Cloythis Church, inuironing a plot of Bround, of old time called firy of Pauls. Pardon Church-yard; whereof Thomas More, Deane of Pauls, was either the first Builder, or a most especiall Beneviation, and was buried there.

About

Daunce of Pauls.

About this Clouffer, was artificially and richly painted, the Dance of Machabray, 02 Dance of Death, commonly called the Dance of Pauls; the like whereof was painted about &. Inno. cents Cloyffer at Paris in France: the Deters or Doelie of this Dance, were translated out of French into English by John Lidgate, Donke of Bury, the Dicture of Death leading all es States; at the dispence of Ienken Carpenter, in the reigne of Henry the firt. In this Clopfter were buried many perfons, some of worthip, and others of honour : The Monuments of whom, in number and curious workmanship, passed all other that were in that Church.

Librarie of Pauls.

Duer the Caft Quadgant of this Clopfter, was a faire Liv barrie, builded at the cous and charges of Waltar Sherington, Chancellog of the Duchie of Lancafter, in the reigne of Henry the firt: which hath beene well furnished with faire witten bookes, in Hellam; but few of them now do remaine there.

Chappell in Pardon Church-yard.

In the mioft of this Pardon Church-yard, was also a faire Chappell, firft founded by Gilbert Becket, Postgraue, and principall Pagiffrate of this Citie, in the raigne of Bing Stephen, who was there buried. Thomas Moore, Deane of Pauls, befoze named, reedified or new builded this Chappell, and founded three Chaplaines there, in the reigne of Henry the fift.

In the peere 1549, on the tenth of Appill, the faid Chape pell, by commandement of the Duke of Somerfet, was bes gun to be pulled downe, with the whole Cloyffrie, the Dance of Death, the Tombes and Ponuments : so that nothing thereof was left, but the bare Plot of Ground, which is fince converted into a Garden, foz the Pettie Ca nons.

Chappell at .. the North

There was also a Chappell at the Porth doore of Pauls, founded by the same Waltar Sherington, by ticence of Henry dore of Pauls. the art, for two, three, or foure Chaplaines, indowed with for tie pound by the yeere. This Chappell also was pulled downe in the reigne of Edward the firt, and in place thereof a faire house builded.

There was furthermoze, a faire Chappel of the holy Ghot in Pauls Church, on the Pozth Ave, founded in the yeare, 1400. by Roger Holmes, Chanceloz and Pzebendary of Pauls, foz Adam Berie, Alberman and Paioz of London, 1364. Iohn Wingham and others, foz seuen Chaplains, and called Holmes Colledge. Their common Pall was in Pauls Church yard Holmes Colon the South side, nière unto a Carpenters yard. This Colledge. ledge was with others suppressed in the reigne of Edw. the 6. Then under the Duire of Pauls is a large Chappell, first dedicated to the name of Iss, founded, or rather consirmed the 37. of H. the 6. as appeareth by his Patent thereof, dated at pell. Crowdowne to this effect.

Many liege-men, and Christian people, having begun a Fraternity, and Guild, to the honour of the most glorious name of Iesu Christ our Sauiour, in a place called the Crowds of the Cathedrall Church of Pauls in London, web hath continued long time peaceably, till now of late: whereupon they have made request, and we have taken vpon vs the name and charge of the foundation, to the laud of Almighty God, the Father, the Son and the holy Ghost, and especially to the honour of Iesu, in whose honour the Fraternity was begun, &c.

The King ozdained William Say, then Deane of Pauls to be the Rectoz, and Richard Ford (a Remembrancer in the Crehequer) and Henry Bennis (Clarke of his Pring Deale) the Gardians of these Brothers and Sisters; they and their successors to have a common seale, licence to purchase lands or tenements, to the value of 40. li. by the pere, ac.

This foundation was confirmed by Henry the 7. the two and twentieth of his reigne, to Doctoz Collet, then Deane of Pauls, Rectoz there, 4c. And by Henry the eight, the seuen and twentieth of his reigne, to Richard Pace, then Deane of Pauls, &c.

At the West end of this Iesus Chappell, under the Duire of Parish Church Pauls, also was and is a Parish Church of S. Faith, commonly of S. Faith. called S. Faith under Pauls, which served (as still it both) for the Stationers, and others dwelling in Pauls Church-yard, Pater noster row, and the places nere adiopping.

That I left, that I lost.

The beneuolence is giuen euery Friday ordinarily throughout the yeere. Then was there on the Porth five of this Church pard, a Charnel house large Charnell house so, the bones of the dead, and over it a with a Chap-Chappell of an old foundation, such as followeth.

In the yeare, 1282. the 10 of Edw. the 1. it was agreed, that Henry Walleis, Paioz, and the Citizens, for the cause of thops by them builded, without the wall of the Church yard, thould assigne to God, and to the Church of D. Paul, 10. Parks of rent by the yeare for ever, towards the new building of a Chappell of the blessed Tirgin Mary, and also to assigne sine Parkes of yearely rent to a Chaplaine to celebrate there.

Pozeouer, in the pere 1430. the eight of Henry the firt, lie cence was granted to Ienken Carpenter (Crecutoz to Richard Whitington) to establish upon the faid Charnell, a Chaplaine, to have eight Parkes by the pere. Then was also in this Chappell tive Brotherhoods: Robert Barton, Henry Barton, Patoz, and Thomas Mirfin, Paioz, all Skinners, were intom bed with their Images of Alabaffer over them, grated 02 co ped about with Iron, before the fago Chappell, all which was pulled bolune, in the vere 1549. The bones of the bead, cous thed by in a Charnell, buter the Chappel, were convaied from thence into Einsbery field (by report of him who paid for the Reigne Wolfe. carriage) amounting to moze, then rooo. Cart loads, and there laid on a moorish ground, in short space after raised by soplage of the Title byon them, to beare 3. Willes. The Chap. vell and Charnel were converted into dwelling houses, wares houses, and Sheds befoge them, for Stationers in place of the Tombes.

In the Cast part of this Church pard, standeth Pauls Schoole, lately new builded, & endowed in the piere 1512. by Iohn Col. Clochier in yard.

Deere buto this Schole on the Porth five thereof, was (of Pauls Church- old time) a great and high Clochier, 02 bel houle, foure fquare. builded of Cone, and in the fame a most Grong frame of timber, with 4. Bels, the greateft that I have heard, thefe were called IEsvs Mels, and belonged to IEsvs Chappell, but I know not by wholegift. The fame had a great fpire of Timber, co: nered with lead, with the Image of &. Paul on the top; but was pulled downe by Sir Miles Partridge, knight, in the reign of Henry the 8. The common speech then was, that he vio fet 100. pound, bpena caft at dice against it, and so wonne the favo Clochier and Bels of the King : and then causing the Bels to bee broken as they hung, the reft was pulled downe. This man was afterward executed on the Tower Bill, for matters concerning the Duke of Summerler the fift of Edward the firt.

Common Bell of the City.

In place of this Clochiard, of old times the common Bell of the City was bled to berung, for the affembly of the Citisens to their Folke motes, as I have before theweb.

Pulpit-Croffe in Pauls Church-yard.

About the middeft of this Church pard, is a Pulpit-croffe of timber, mounted bpon ffeps of fone, and couered with lead, in which are Sermons preached by learned Diuines enery Suns day in the fore-none. The very antiquity of which Croffe is to me buknowne.

Fread, that in the yeere 1259. Bing Henry the 3. commanded a generall affembly to be made at this Croffe, where he in proper person commanded the Paioz, that on the nert day foliciwing, he should cause to be swozne befoze the Aldermen, euery Stripling of twelve peeres of age, og byward, to be true to the Ling and his heires, Lings of England. Allo, in the piere 1 262. the same Bing caused to be read at Pauls Croffe, a Bull, obtained from Dope Vrban the fourth, as an absolution for him, and for all that were sworne to maintaine the Articles made in Parliament at Oxford. Also, in the peere, 1299. the Deane of Pauls accurfed, at Pauls Croffe, all those which had fearched in the Church of S. Martin in the field, foz an hozd of gold, ec.

This Pulpit-Croffe was by tempest of lightning and thunper defaced. Thomas Kempe, Bilhop of London, new buildes it, in forme as it now franceth.

In the piere 1561. the fourth of June, betwirt the houres of 2. and 4. of the clocke in the after-noone, the great fpire of the Steeple of S. Pauls Church, was fired by lightning, which Pauls fleeple brake forth (as it famed) two or three pards beneath the fote and Church of the Croffe, and from thence it burnt downe ward the fpire newly burnt: to the battlements, Cone-worke and Bells, fo furioully, that within the space of foure houres, the same Steeple, with all the roofes of the Church were consumed, to the great sorrow and perpetuall remembrance of the beholders. After this mis, speedy repairing of Pauls chance, the Queens Daieffy directed her letters to the Daioz, Church. willing him to take order for speedy repairing of the same. And The Queenes the, of her gracious disposition, for the furtherance thereof, oid gift. presently gine and beliver in gold 1000. Barkes, with a war rant for a thousand loads of timber, to bee taken out of her woods, or elfewhere.

The Citizens also gaue firfta great beneuolence, and after that the Fifteenes to bee speedily paid. The Clergy of England, within the Bouince of Canterbury, granten the fortieth part of the value of their benefices , charged with firft fruits, Beneuolence. the thirtieth part of such as were not so charged, but the Clers gie of London Dioces, granted the thirtith part of al that paid First fruits, and the twentieth part of fuch as had papo their fruits.

Sire Citizens of London, and two Petie Canons of Pauls Church, had charge to further and ouer fee the worke, wher in fuch expedition was bled, that within one Poneth next follows ing the burning therof, the Church was covered with boozds and lead, in manner of a falle roofe against the weather, and before the end of the faid yeere, all the fayo fles of the Church were framed out of new timber, couered with lead and fully finished. The same pere also, the great roofs of the West and Caff ends were framed out of great timber in Yorksbire, brought thence to London by fea, and fet bp, and conered with lead, the Porth and South ends were framed of timber, and covered with lead before Aprill, 1566.

Concerning the Steple, diners models were beuifed and made, but little elfe was done, through whose default Gob knoweth: it was faid, that the money appointed for new building of the Steple was collected.

Shall Honour, Fame, and Titles of renowne, In clods of clay be this enclosed still? Rather will I, though wifer wits may frowne, For to enlarge his fame, extend my skill. Right gentle Reader, be it knowne to thee, A famous Knight doth here interred lye, Noble by birth, renownde for policie, Confounding foes which wroght our icopardy. In forreine Countries their intents he knew, Such was his zeale to doe his Country good, When dangers would by enemies enfue, As well as they themselves he vnderstood. Launch forth ye Muses into streames of prayse, Sing and found forth praife-worthy harmony; In England Death cut off his dismall daies, Not wrong'd by death, but by false trechery. Some have noted that in digging the foundation of this Chappell on new worke, namely, of a Chappell on the South five of Pauls Church, there were found moze then an hundged fcalpes of Dren of Bine, in the pere one thousand thee hundged and Scalps of oxen fixteene, which thing (fay they) confirmed greatly the opinion found in dig- of those, which have reported, that (of old time) there had beene ging the foun- a Temple of Iupiter, and that there was vaply facrifice of beaffs.

Dtherfome both wife and learned, haue thought the Bucks head, borne before the Porcellion of Pauls, on Saint Pauls Day, to lignifie the like. But true it is, I haue read an ancient bede to this effect:

Sir William Baud, Anight, the third of Edward the firff,in the pere 1274. on Canolemas day, granted to Haruy de Borham, Deane of Pauls, and to the Chapter there, that in confideration of twenty two Acres of ground of Land, by them granted within their Dannoz of Westley in Effex, to be inclos fed into his Parke of Curingham; he would (fozeuer) bpon the Feaft day of the Connersion of Paul in Minter, gine buto them a good Doe, feafonable and fwete, and bpon the Feat of the Commemozation of Saint Paul in Summer, a good Bucke, and offer the same at the high Altar, the same to bee borne before fpent amongst the Canons restoents : the Doe to be brought the Procession by one man at the houre of Procession, and thosow the Procession, and thosow the Procession, and thosow the Procession, and thoso with the Procession by one man at the hours of Procession, and thoso with the Procession by one man at the hours of Procession, and thoso with the Procession by one man at the hours of Procession by one man at the procession by the cession to the high Altar: and the bringer to have nothing: the Bucke to bee brought by all his meyney in like manner, and they to have payd buto them by the Chambers laine of the Church twelve pence onely, and no moze to be required.

This Graunt he made, and for performance, bound the Lands of him and his heires to be distrained on: and if the Lands should be enicted, that pet he and his heires should accomplish the Gift. Witnesses, Richard Tilberie, William de Wockendon, Richard de Harlowe, Lanights, Peter of Stanford, Thomas of Waldon, and some others.

Sir Walter Baude, sonne to William, confirmed this Gift, in the thirtieth of the said Ling; and the witnesses thereunto, were Nicholas de Wokendon, Richard de Rokeley, Thomas de Mandeuile, Iohn de Rochford, Linights, Richard de Broniford, William de Markes, William de Fulham, and other.

Thus much for the Braunt.

Pow, what I have heard by report, and have partly feene, it followeth:

On the Featt day of the Commemoration of Saint Paul, the Bucke being brought by to the Ceps of the High Altar in Pauls Church, at the houre of Procession, the Deane and Chapter being apparrelled in Coapes and Tleftments, with Garlands of Roses on their heads, they sent the body of the Bucke to baking, and had the head fixed on a Pole, borne bee foze the Crosse in their Procession, untill they issued out of the West dooze; where the Reeper that brought it, bloins ed the death of the Bucke, and then the Pozners that were about the Citie, presently answered him in like manner: For the which paines, they had each man, of the Deane and Thapter, foure pence in money, and their Dinner, and the Reeper that brought it, was allowed, during his above there (for that service) Weate, Winke, and Lodging, at the Deane and Chapters charges, and five Millings in Ponep at his going away, together with a Loafe of Bread, having the Wicture of Saint Paul byon it, &c.

There was belonging to the Church of Saint Paul, foz both the Dayes, two speciali Sutes of Tellments, the one embzodered with Buckes, the other with Does, both given by the said Bauds (as I have heard.) Thus much foz that matter.

Breadstreet Ward.

Breadstreet Ward.

Readftreet Ward beginneth in the high freet of West Cheape, to wit, on the South live, from the Standard to the great Croffe. Then is also a part of Watheling freete of this Ward, to wif, from oner-against the Ked Lion, on the Posth five, by almost to Pauls Bate; for it lacketh but one house of Saint Augustines Church. And on the South fide, from the Red Lion Date to the Old Exchange; and downe the fame Exchange, on the Caft fide, by the West end of Mayden lane, og Dittar lane, to Knight-Riders Arcet, 03, as they call that part thereof, Old Fishfreet. And all the Porth five of the faid Old Fishfireet, to the South end of Breadfireet, and by that, fill in Knight-Riders ftreet, till ouer-againft the Trinitie Church, and. Trinitie Lanc.

Breadftreet.

Then is Breadftreet it felfe, fo called of Bread in old time there fold: for it appeareth by Records, that in the pere 1302. which was the 30. of Edward the first, the Bakers of London were bounden to fell no Bread in their Shops or Houses, but in the Parket; and that they hould have foure Wall-motes in the yeare, at foure fenerall termes, to determine of enozmities belonging to the fair Companie.

This

This Aret, giving the name to the whole Ward, beginneth in West Cheape, almost by the Standard, and runneth bowne South, through or thwart Watheling street, to Knight-Riders Areer aforesaid, where it endeth. This Breadstreet is wholly on both fives of this Ward. Dut of the which Areet, on the Caff fide, is Bafing lane, a piece whereof, to wit, to and ouers against the backe gate of the Red Lion in Watheling freet, is of this Breadstreet Ward.

Then is Friday freet, beginning also in West Cheape, and Friday freet. runneth bowne South through Watheling freet to Knightriders freet, 02 Old Fishfreet. This Friday freet is of Bread-Arcet Ward, on the Cast live, from ouer-against the Portheast comer of S. Matthewes Church, and on the West side, from the South corner of the faid Church, downe as aforefaid.

In this Friday Arcer, on the West side thereof, is a Lane, commonly called Mayden lane, og Distaffe lane, cogruptly fog Diftar lane, which runneth Well into the Old Exchange: and in this Lane is also one other Lane, on the South live thereof, likewise called Distar lane, which runneth bowne to Knight-Riders ffreet, og Old Fishfreet : And so be the bounds of this whole Ward.

Donuments to be noted here: firff, at Breadfreet coaner, the Porth-east end, 1595. of Thomas Tomlinson, causing in the High Street of Cheape a Mault to be vigged, and made, A faire paued there was found, at fifteene foot deepe, a faire Pauement, Way found, like buto that aboue ground; and at the further end, at the 15. foot deepe. Channell, was found a Tree, sawed into fine steppes, which in Cheape in a for fine steppes, which firect. was to steppe ouer some Brooke, running out of the West, towards Walbrooke: and bpon the edge of the faid Brooke, as it feemeth, there were found lying along, the bodies of two great Trees, the ends whereof were then lawed off, and firme Timber, as at the first when they fell; part of the laid Trees remaine yet in the ground budigged. It was all forced ground, butill they went past the Trees afozesaid, which was about seventeene foot deepe, og better; thus much hath the ground of this Citte (in that place) beine rayled from the mayne.

Goldsmithes

Pert to be noted, the most beautifull Frame of faire houses and thops, that be within the Walls of London, or elfewhere in England, commonly called Goldsmithes Row, betwirt row in Cheap. Breadstreet end and the Croffe in Cheape, but is within this Breadstreet Ward; the same was builded by Thomas Wood, Bolosmith, one of the Sheriffes of London, in the pere 1491. It containeth in number tenne faire dwelling houses, and foureteene Mops, all in one Frame, bnifozmely builded foure Stories high, beautified towards the Areet with the Golds Imithes Armes, and the likeneffe of Wood-men, in memozie of his name, riving on montrous Beaffs; all which is caft in Lead, richty painted ouer, and gilt : thefe he gaue to the Bold. fmiths, with Stocks of Boney to be lent to pong men, hauing those Mops, ac. This faid Front was againe new painted and gilt ouer in the peere 1594. Sir Richard Martin being then Daioz, and keping his Paiozaltie in one of them; feruing out the time of Cutbert Buckle, from the 2. of July, till the 28.0f Dotober.

True it is, that at this present the inhabitants thereof are wealthie Daapers, retaplers of Moollen Clothes, both Woodd and Parrow, of all forts, more then in any one Street of this Citie.

Areet.

Df the Old Exchange, I have noted in Faringdon Ward: Knight-Riders Waherefore I paffe bowne to Knight-Riders ftreet, whereof have also spoken in Cordwainer Areet Ward. But in this part of the faid Knight-Riders Arcet, is a Fift-Warket kept, and therefore called Old Fishstreet, for a difference from New Fishftreet,

Fish-Market, called Old Fishftrect,

In this Old Fishfreet, is one Row of small houses, placed along in the middeft of Knight-Riders Arcet, which How is also of Breadstreet Ward. These houses, now postessed by Fishmongers, were at & first but moueable Bozds (02 Stalls) fet out on Parket dayes, to thew their Fift, there to be fold: but procuring licence to fet by Sheds, they grew to Mops, and by little and little, to tall houses, of three or foure Stories in height, and now is called Fishfreet. Walter Turke, Fifman, ger, Maio2, 1349. had two Mops in Old Fishstreet, ouers against Saint Nicholas Church, the one rented b.s.the yeere, the other titt. s.

Respice & prospice finem.

Dut of this Breadstreete, on the same five, is Bafing lane, a Bafing lane part whereof (as is afoze the wed) is of this Ward, but how it called the tooke the name of Basing I have not read: in the 20. yeere of Richard the second, the same was called the Bakehouse, whe ther meant for the Kings Wakehouse, or of Wakers owelling there, and baking Bread to ferue the Parket in Breadftrees, where the Bread was fold, I know not: but fure I am, I have not read of Bafing, 02 of Gerrard the Gyant, to have any thing there to doe.

Dn the South fide of this Lane, is one great house, of old time builded fipen Arched Claults, and with Arched Bates of Hone brought from Cane in Normandy. The same is now a common Darey for receit of tranellers, commonly and corruptly called Gerrards Hall, of a Gyant sayo to have divelled there. In the high rooffed Hall of this house sometime Rood a large Firre Pole, which reached to the roofe therof, and was A Pole of 4d. fayd to be one of the stanes that Gerrard the Grant bled in foote long and the warres to runne withall. There Awde also a Ladder of the bour, fabuled same length, which (as they said) served to ascend to the toppe tobe the iuof the Staffe. Of later peeres this Pall is altred in building, fling ftaffe of and divers roomes are made in it. Potwithstanding, the Gerrard a Gy-Pole is remoued to one corner of the Hall, and the Ladder ant.

Reafon of the Pole could the Pafter of the Postery give mee none, but bade me read the great Chaonicles, for there he heard of it. Which answere fæmed to me insufficient, for be meant the vescription of Wzitaine, for the most part vamme out of Iohn Leyland his Comentaries, (bogrowed of my felfe) and placed befoze Reyn Wolfes Chaonicle, as the labours of anos ther (who was forced to confesse, that he never travelled further, then from London to the Univertity of Oxford) he maiting a Chapter of Diants og monffrous men , hath fet bowne moze matter then troth, as partly (againff my will) 3 am enforced heere to touch. Dut of this Gifors Hall, at the first building thereof, were made diuers arched doozes pet to be feene, which feeme not fufficient for any great Montter, or other then men of common fature to passe thorow. The Pole in the Pall might be bled of old time (as then the custome was in enery Parith) to be fet bp in the Summer a Pap-Pole, befoze the principall house in the Parish or Street, and to stand in the Pall before the Scrine, Every mans decked with Polme and Juy, at the Featt of Chaiffmas, house of old The Ladder served for the decking of the Pap-Pole, and rofe time was decof the Hall. Thus much for Gifors Hall, and for that five of ked with Holly Breadstreet map fuffice.

Pauls Church-pard.

Then is Adle Arcet, over-against the West part of Baynards Adle Arcet, Castle, going by by the West end of Knight-riders Arcet, and to Carterlane. Thus much so Lanes out of Thames Arcet. The one halfe of the West side of Lambard Hill lane being of this Ward, at the Posthwest end thereof, on the South side, and at the West end of Saint Mary Magdalens Church: on the Posth side, beginneth Knight-Riders Arcet to be of this

Ward, and runneth West on both Goes, to the Parish Church of Saint Andrew by the Wardrobe.

Then, at the faid Caft end of S. Mary Magdalens Church. goeth by the Old Exchange, all the Well five whereof, by to the South-east Bate of Pauls Church-pard, and by S. Auftens

Church, is of this Ward.

About the miost of this Old Exchange, on the West side thereof, is Carter lane, which runneth Welt to the Gaff entrie of the Blacke Friers, and the South end of Creed lane; out of Do little lane. the which Carter lane, Descendeth a Lane called Do little lane. and commeth into Knight-Riders ftreet, by the Bozes-bead Mauerne: And moze Weff, is Sermon lane, by an Inne called the Powle-head. Then out of Carter lane, on the Posth five thereof, the South Chapne of Pauls Church-pard, and the Church-pard it felfe on that South fide of Pauls Church, and the Church of Saint Gregorie, the Bichops Palace, and the Deanes lodging, be all of this Ward : and fuch be the bounds thereof. The Danaments in this Mard, be Pariff Churthes, foure: of old time, a Caftle ; Diners Poblemens hous fes; Palls of Companies, twaine: and such others, as thall be theined.

Beaumounts Inne.

In Thames freet, at the South-east end, is an ancient Well fuage, of old time called Beaumonts Inne, as belonging to that Family of Poblemen of this Realme, in the fourth of Edward the third. Edward the fourth, in the fift of his raigne, gaue it to W. Hastings, Lozo Chamberlaine, Balter of his Pints. It is now called Huntington house, as belonging to the Carles of. Huntington.

Pauls Wharffe.

Pert is Pauls Wharffe, a large landing place, with a common Stapze bpon the River of Thames, at the end of a Street called Pauls Wharffe Hill, which runneth downe from Pauls Chayne.

Scroopes Inne Pert is a great Dellmage called Scroopes Inne, sometime bes longing to the Scroopes, in the 31. of Henry the firt.

Then is one other great Belluage, sometime belonging to the Abbey of Fiscampe, beyond the Sea: and by reason of the warres, it comming to the hands of King Edward the third, the fame was ginen to Sir Simon Burley, Unight of the Garfer, and therefore called Burley house in Thames streete, bes Burley house.

fweene Baynards Castle and Pauls Wharffe.

Then haue pou Baynards Castle, whereof this whole Ward Baynards Cataketh the name. This Caffle banketh on the Kiner Thames, file. and was called Baynards Castle, of Baynard, a Pobleman, that came in with William the Conquerour : Df the which Callle, and of Baynard himfelfe, I haue fpoken in another place.

There was also another Tower by Baynards Castle, buil. bed by Ling Edward the fecond. Edward the third, in the fecond of his raigne, gaue it to William, Duke of Hamelake, in the Countie of Yorke, and his heires, for one Rose yeerely to be payed for all service. The same Place (as seemeth to me) was fince called Legates Inne, in the feuenth of Legates Inne, Edward the fourth, where be now divers Wood-Wharffes in place.

Then is there a great Bzew-house, and Puddle Wharffe, Puddle a Water-Bate into the Thames, where Hogles ble to be was Wharffe. tered, and therefoze being filed with their trampling, and made puble, like as also of one Puddle divelling there, it is called Puddle Wharffe.

Then is there a Lane betweene the Blacke Friers and the Thames; called in the 26. of Edward the third, Castle lane.

In this Lane also, is one great Hestuage, of old time belonging to the Prior of Okeborne in Wilshire, and was the Prior of Oke-Dziozs lodging when he repayzed to London. This Dzioz bornes house. being of the French order, was suppressed by Henry the fift. and with other Lands and Tenements pertaining to the faid Priorie, was by Henry the firt given to his Colledge in Cambridge, called now the Kings Colledge.

About this Caffle lane was sometime a Will of Wils, belongs ing to the Templers of the new Temple, as appeareth of Res cord: for Hing Iohn, in the first pære of his raigne, graunted a Amill, or Mils, place in the Fleete, neere unto Baynards Caffle, to make a by Baynards Will, and the whole course of water of the Fleete, to serve the Callie.

said Will.

I reade also, that in the yeere 1274. the second of Edward the first, Rich, Raifon and Atheline his wife did give to Nicho. de Musely, Clarke, tenne Millings of peerely free and quiet Rent, out of all his Tenements, with the houses thereupon built, and their appurtenances, which they had of the demife of the Mafter and Brethren of Enights Templars in England, nert to their Will of Fleet, ouer-against the houses of Lawrence de Brooke, in the Parith of Saint Andrew, nert to Baynards Caftle : which Tenements lyeth betweene the way, leading towards the faid Will on the West part. Also, in the Soke Court or Rights belonging to Robert Fitzwater, and to his heires, in Ward pertai- the Citte of London, in the time of peace, it was veclared in the peere 1303. that the faid Robert, Castillon of London, and Banner-bearer, had a Soke (og Ward) in the Citie, that was by the wall of S. Paul, as men goe bowne the Areet befoze the Brew-house of S. Paul, buto the Thames, and so to the five of the Dill, which is in the water that commeth downe from Fleet Bridge, and goeth by London Walls, betwirt the Friers Deeachers Church, and Ludgate; and so that Ward turned backe by the Poule of the laid Friers, buto the laid com mon Wall of the faid Chanonrie of Saint Paul: that is all of the Parith of Saint Andrew, which is in the Wift of his Anncestozs, by Sentozitie, as moze I haue thewed in the Caffles.

Pow here is to be noted, that the Wall of London, at that time, went fraight South from Ludgate, bowne to the River of Thames: But foz building of the Blacke Friers Church, the faid Wall in that place was by commandement taken bowne, and a new Wall made, ftraight Well from Ludgate to Fleetbridge, and then by the water of Fleete, to the River of Thames, ₹c.

In the yeare 1307, the 35, of Edward the first, in a Par-Tiament at Carlile, Henry Lacy, Carle of Lincolne, complays ned of annoyances bone to the water of the Fleete: whereupon it was graunted, that the faid Will Mould be removed and des Mill by Baynards Caftle destroyed.

This Ward accendeth by by the Cast Wall of the Blacke Friers, to the South-well end of Creede lane, where it endeth on that lide.

Then to begin againe on the Porth five of Thames freete, oner-against Huntington house, by Saint Peters Church and Lane, called Perer hill, and to to Saint Benet Hude (og Hithe) Parith Church ouer-against Pauls Wharffe, is a proper Parist Church, which of S. Priorie of Saint Bartholomew.

On the Caft fide of this Ducke lane, and also of Smithfield, lyeth the late diffolued Paiozie of Saint Bartholomew, founded alfo by Rahere, a pleafant witter Gentleman, and therefore in his time called the Bings Minstrell, about the peere of Chaiff, 1102. Dee founded it in a part of the oft before named Moorith ground, which was therefore a come mon Lay-Rall of all filth, that was to be voided out of the Citie. Dee placed Canons there ; himfelfe became their first Porior, and so continued till his bying bap, and was there buried in a faire Donument, of late renewed by Paioz Bolton.

Amongt other memogable matters touching this Briogie, one is of an Archbishops Misstation, which Marchew Paris hath thus:

Archbishop of Canterburie visiteth Saint Bartholomews Priorie with flripes.

Canons. Sub-Priors felfe almost flaine. The Archthrowne.

Boniface (fapth he) Archbishop of Camerburie, in his Visitation, came to this Priorie; where, being received with Procession in the most solemne wise, hee said, That hee passed not vpon the honour, but came to vifite them; to whom the Canons answered, That they having a learned Bishop, ought not, in contempt of him, to be vifited by any other : Which answere so much offended the Archbishop, that hee forth-Words of the with fell on the Sub-Prior, and smote him on the face, say-Archbishop to ing; Indeede, indeede, doth it become you English Traytors fo to answere mee? Thus raging, with oathes not to be recited, he rent in pieces the rich Cope of the Sub-Prior, and Coperent and trode it under his feete, and thrust him against a Pillar of trodden vnder the Chancell with fuch violence, that hee had almost killed him. But the Ganons feeing their Sub-Prior thus almost slaine, eame and plucked off the Archbishop with such force, that they ouerthrew him backwards; whereby they might fee, bishop armed, that hee was armed, and prepared to fight. The Arch-bishops men seeing their Master downe, being all strangers, and their Masters Countrimen borne at Province, fell vpon the The Canons Canons, beat them, tare them, and trod them under foote. At beaten and length, the Canons getting away as well as they could, ran trod under bloody, miry, rent and torne to the Bishop of London to com. The Canons plaine, who bade them go to the King at Westminster, and tell complayned him thereof: whereupon foure of them went thither, the rest but could not were not able, they were fo fore hurt. But when they came to be heard. Westminster, the King would neither heare nor see them: so they returned without redresse. In the meane season the City was in The whole Cian vprore, and ready to have rung the common Bell, & to have ty in an vprore hewed the Archbishop into small pieces, who was secretly against the crept to Lambhith, where they fought him, and not knowing Archbishop. him by fight, fayd to themselves, Where is this Ruffian, that cruell initer? Hee is no winner of Soules, but an exactor of money, whome neither God, nor any lawfull or free election did bring to this promotion : but the King did valawfully intrude him, being vnlearned, a stranger borne, and hauing a wife, &c. But the Archbishop conueyed himselfe ouer, and went to the King with a great complaint against the Canons, whereas himselfe was guilty. This Paiozy, at the late furrender, the 30. of Henry the 8.

This Church having in the bell Tower 6. bels in a tune, those bels were solve to the Parish of S. Sepulchres, and then the Church being pulled vowne to the Duire, the Duire was by the Kings order annexed, so, the enlarging of the old Parish the Church being sorder annexed, so, the enlarging of the old Parish riff Church thereto adioining, and fo was bled fill the reigne of Queen Mary, who gave the remnant of the Paiozy Church to the Friers Dreachers, or Blacke Fryers, and was bled as their Couentuall Church , bntill the firft of our Souereiane Laon Queene Elizabeth, then those Fryers were put out, and all the favo Church, with the old Parish Church, was wholly as it food, in the last peere of Edward the 6. given by Parlia ment, to remaine for ever a Parish Church to the Inhabitants within the Close, called great S. Bartholomewes. Since the which time, the old Parish Church is pulled downe, except the Steple of rotten Dimber , ready to fall of it felfe. 3 baue oft heard it reported, that a new Reple Mould be builded, with the ftone, lead & timber of the old Parift Church, but no fuch thing was performed. The Parith hane lately repaired the old wooden feeple, to ferue their turne. Dn the Porth fide of this Priory, is the lane truly called Long, which reacheth from Smithfield to Aldersgate ftreet. This lane is now lately buils bed on both the fides with tenements for Brokers, Tiplers, and fuch like: the reft of Smithfield from Long lane end to the bars, is inclosed with Innes, Bzew houses and large tenements; on the West side is Chicken lane, boime to Cowbridge. Then be the pens og folds, fo called of theep there par ted, and penned bp to be fold on the Barket dayes.

Then is Smithfield Bond, which of (old time) in Records time a poole, was called Horse-Poole, for that men watered horses there, and was a great water. In the 6. of H. the 5. a new building was made in the West part of Smithfield, betwirt the fapt Dole & the River of the Wels, of Turnemill-brooke, in a place The Elmes in then called the Elmes, for that there grew many Clime tres, and this had beene the place of execution for Offenders : fince place wherein the which time, the building there hath been fo encreased, that now remaineth not one tree growing.

Amongst these new buildings, is Cowbridge Arect, 02 Cow lane: which turneth toward Oldboorn, in which lane the Dais og of Semperingham had his Inne, og London-lodging.

The rest of that West side of Smithfield hath divers fayze Innes, & other comely buildings, by to Hofier lane, which alfo turneth Long lane.

Chicken lane. Cow-bridge. Pennes in Smith-field. Smithfield Pond fome-

Smithfield a trespassers were executed.

Hofier lane. Cocke-lane. turneth bowne to Oldbourne, till it mete with Cowbridge Areet. From this lane to Cock lane, ouer against Pye-corner.

And thus much for encrochements and inclosure of this luftings in Smithfield, whereby remaineth but a small postion for the old Smithfield. bles, to wit, for markets of horles, and cattel, neither for Bilitary exercises, as Julings, Aurnings, & great Ariumphs, which have been there performed before the Princes and Pobility, both of this Realme and forraigne Countries.

For example to note: In the pere 1357.the 31.of Edward Fabian. the third, great and royall Juffs were there holden in Smithfield, there beeing present the kings of England, France and Scotland, with many other Pobles, and great effates of bi-ners lands.

In the vere 1362, the 36. of Edw. the third, on the first 5. daves of Day, in Smithfield were Juffs holden, the King and Queene being present, with the most part of the Chinalry of England, and of France, and of other Pations, to the which came Spaniards, Cyprians, and Armenians, knightly requelling appe of the Ling of England, against the Pagans that inuaded their confines.

The 48. of Edw. the 3. Dame Alice Perrers 02 Pierce (the Alice Perrers Bings Concubine) as Lady of the Sunne, robe from the rode from the Tower of London, through Cheape, accompanied of many Tower to Lozds and Ladies, every Lady leading a Lozd by his horfe Smithfield, as batole, till they came into West Smithfield, and then began a Lady of the Sunne.

areat Juft, which endured feuen dages after.

Also the 9. of Richard the second, was the like great riving from the Tower to Westminster, and enery Lozd led a Las vies horse bridle, and on the morrow began the Julis in Smithfield, which lafted two bapes: there bare them well, Henry of Darby, the Duke of Lancasters Sonne, the Logo Beaumont, Sir Simon Burley, and Sir Paris Courtney.

In the 14. of Richard the fecond, after Froifard, royall Bulls and Turnements were proclaimed to be done in Smithfield, to begin on Sunday nert after the featt of S. Michael; many Strangers came forth of other countries; namely, Valarian, Carle of S. Paul, that had married Thing Richards fifter, the

Tower Royal

At the day appointed, there issued forth of the Tower, about the third houre of the day, firtie Courfers, apparelled for the Juffs, and byon enery one an Cfquire of honour riding a foft vace: then came forth 60. Lavies of honour mounted byon Dalfraies, riding on the one fide richly apparelled, and enery Lady led a knight with a chaine of gold, those knights being on the Lings partie, had their Armoz and apparell, garnifed with white Parts, and Crownes of golde about the Parts neckes, and so they came riving through the Areetes of London to Smithfield, with a great number of Trumpets, and o ther instruments of musicke befoze them. The King and Ducene, who were longed in the Bishops Palace of London, were come from thence, with many great Cfates, and place o in chambers to fee the Juffs: the Ladies that led the Bnights, were taken down from their Palfrages, and went by to chams bers prepared for them. Then alighted the Equires of Bonoz from their Courfers, and the lanights in god ozder mounted byon them; and after their Delmets were fet on their heads, and being ready in all points, Pooclamation made by the Des ralds, the Justs began, and many commendable courses were runne, to the great pleasure of the beholders: this Inffs continued many dayes with great feating, as ye may read in

In the vere 1393. the 17. of Richard the second, certaine Lords of Scotland came into England to get worthip, by force of Armes, the Carle of Marre challenged the Carle of Notingham, to inst with him, and so they rode together certaine courses, but not the full challenge, for the Carle of Marre was cast both horse and man, and two of his ribbes broken with the fall, so that hee was concaved out of Smithfield, and so towards Scotland, but died by the way at Yorke.

Sir William Darell, Unight, the Kings Banner-bearer of Scotland, challenged Sir Percy Courtney, Unight, the Kings Banner-bearer of England, and when they had run certaine courfes, gane oner without conclusion of bidogie. Then Cookeborne, Ciquire of Scotland, challenged Sir Nicholas Hawberke, Anight, and rode fine courfes, but Cookeborne,

In the peere 1409. the tenth of Henry the fourth, a great play was placed at Skinners Wel, which lafted 8. dapes, where were to fee the fame, the most part of the Pobles and Gentles in England : and forthwith began a ropal fulling in Smithfield, betweene the Carle of Somerfer, and the Seneshall of Henalt, Sir Io. Cornwall, Sir Richard Arundell, and the fonne of Sir Iohn Cheiney, against certaine French men. And the fame peere a battell was fought in Smithfield, betweene two @f. quires, the one called Glaucester Appellant, and the other Arthure Defendant, they fought valiantly, but the king took op the quarrell into his hands and pardoned them both.

In the peere 1430, the 8. of Henry the 6, the 14. of Janua, rp, a battell was bone in Smithfield, within the Liffes, befoze the Bing, betweene two men of Feuersham in Kent, John Vpton, Motary, Appellant, and Iohn Downe, Gentleman, Defendant : Iohn Vpton put bpon Iohn Downe, that hee and his Compiers Mould imagine the Bings death, byon the day of his Cozonation. When these had fought long, the King toke bothe matter, and forgane both the parties.

In the piere 1442. the 20. of Henry the 6. the 30. of Janus arp, a Challenge was done in Smithfield, within the Liffs, before the Bing, there being Sir Philip la Beaufe, of Aragon, unight, the other, an Ciquire of the Lings house, called, John Anfley of Anfley; they came to the field all armed, the Unight with his flood dalone, and the Efquire with his Speare, which Speare he call against the Unight, but the Unight anois ded it with his fword, and cast it to the ground. Then the Cfquire tooke his Are, and finote many blowes on the Bright, and made him let fall his Are, and brake by his uniber three times, and would have fmit him on the face with his dagger, for to have flaine him; but then the Bing cried hold, and fo thep mere departed: the Bing made John Anfley, Bnight, and the Inight of Aragon offered his Barnelle at Windfor.

John Dauy a his master: of him was raifed the byword, If ye ferue me fo. I will call you Dauy.

In the peere 1446. the 24. of Henry the 6. Iohn David ap, falle acculer of peached his Bafter William Cater of treason : and a day being alligned them to fight in Smithfield, the Mafter being well bee loued, was to cherified by his friends, and plyed with wine, that being therewith ouercome, was also buluckily flaine bu his fernant. Butthat falle fernant (foz he falfely accufed his Dafter) lines not long unpunifhed, foz he was after hanged at Teyborne for felonie.

The same peere, Thomas Fitz-Thomas, Prior of Kilmaine. appeached Sir Iames Butler, Carle of Ormond, of treafons: which had a day alligned them to fight in Smithfield, the Lifts were made, and the field prepared : but when it came to the point, the laing commanded they thould not fight, and tok the quarrell into his hands.

In the peere 1467. the feuenth of Edward the fourth , the baffard of Burgoigne, challenged the Lozd Scales, brother to the Queene, to fight with him, both on hogle-backe and on fot: the Bing therfoze caused Lifts to be prepared in Smithfield, the length of 120. Aaplozs pards, and 10. foot, and in bredth 80. pards, and 20. foote, bouble barred, 5. fote between the bars, the timber worke whereof cost 200. Parks, besides the faire and coffly Galleries prepared for the Ladies and other: at the which Martiall enterprise, the King and Pobility were pres fent. The first day they ranne together with Speares, and departed with equall honour.

The next day they turneyed on horfesback, the Lord Scales horse hauing on his Chafron a long Speare pike of fele, and as the two Champions coaped together, the same hogse thrust his pike into the nostrils of the bastards horse, so that for very paine, hee mounted so high that he fell on the one side with his Pafter, and the Lord Scales rove about him with his fword drawne, till the King commanded the Parchall to help by the Bastard, who sayd, I cannot hold by the clouds, for though my horse fayle me, I will not faile an incounter companion : but the King would not luffer them to do any moze that day.

The

The next mogrow, they came into the Liffs on foote, with two Pole. Ares, and fought valiantly, but at the last the point of the Pole-Are of the Lord Scales entred into the fide of the Baffards Belme, and by forcemight have placed him on his knes: But the Bing caft down his warder, and the Parmail Ceuered them. The Baffard required that he might performe his enterprise : but the Bing gaue Judgement, as the Wa-Mard relinguished his challenge, &c. And this may suffice for Juffs in Smithfield.

But pet wee may not part with Smithfield fo: foz, as it Smithfield behath biene a place for such honourable Juffs and Triumphs, ing continualby reason it was a soft ground, and unpaned: so was it a Par-ly subject to ket place for Cattell, Day, Strawe, and other necessary pro, extremity of missions, and likewise (once in the norm) of Bombol of Bombol. uisions, and likewise (once in the yere) at Bartholomew tide, honorable moa generall Faire, commonly called Bartholomew Faire, hath tion made, it blually bene kept in that place. But in regard that it was was paued all continually subtect to the iniquity of weather, and, being a ouer, in An. place of fuch goodly extendure, beferued to be much better respected: it pleased the Kings Paielly, with the aduice of his honozable Lozds of the Councell, to write gratioully to the L. Daioz and the Albermen his Betheren that Smithfield might be fufficiently paued, which would be the only meanes, where by to have it kept in farre cleaner condition. And as no motion (to any good end and intent) can be made to the City, but they as gladly imbrace and willingly purfue it : euen fo, this honozable motion found as acceptable entertaynement, and it was bery speedily proceeded withall. Some voluntarie contribution in the severall Parishes (what each man willingly would gine) was bestoined on the worke; but (indede) hardly deferning any report. Potwithstanding, on the fourth day of February in An. 1614. the City began the intended labour, and before Bartholomew tide then nert enfuing, to the credit and honoz of the City for euer, it was fully finished, and Bar-Bartholomew tholomew Faire there kept, without breakeing any of the pa- Faire kept in ned ground, but the Boothes viscrætly ozdered, to fand fast much better bpon the pauement. New Temple.

Pert, is the New Temple, so called, because the Templers before the building of this house, had their Temple in Oldboorne. This house was founded by the knights Templers, in England, in the raigne of Henry the fecond, and the fame was dedicated to God and our bleffed Lady, by Heraclius, Das triarke of the Church, called the holy Refurrection in Ierufalem, in the pere of Chaift, 1185.

Originall of

These unights Templers tooke their beginning about the the Templers. Pere 1118.in manner following: Certaine Poble-men, horfes men, religiously bent, bound by bow themselues in the hands of the Patriarke of Ierufalem, to ferue Chaift after the manner of Reguler Canons, in chaffity and obedience, and to renounce their owne proper willes for ener : the first of which order were Hugh Paganus, and Geffrey de S. Andromare.

And whereas at the first they had no certaine habitation, Baldwin, King of Ierufalem, graunted buto them a dwelling place in his Palace by the Temple, and the Canons of the same Temple, gaue them the Greete, thereby to build therein their houses of office, and the Patriarke, the King, the for bles, and the Pzelates, gaue bnto them certaine reuenues out of their Lozothips.

Their first profession was for fafegard of the Wilgrimes, Profession of comming to vifite the Sepulchize, and to keepe the high wates against the lying in waite of theues, &c. About ten peres after, they had a rule appointed buto them, and a white Babite, by Honorius the second then Pope; and whereas they had but nine in number, they began to increase greatly. Afterward in Dope Eugenius time, they bare Croffes of red cloth on their bopermolt garments, to be knowne from others : and in theat time, because they had their first mansion hard by the Wemple of our Lozd in Icrusalem, they were called Knights of the Temple.

Pany Poblemen in all parts of Chaiffendome, became Brethren of this order, and builded for themselves Temples in enery City or great Towne in England, but this at London was their chiefe house, which they builded af. ter the forme of the Temple neere to the Sepulchie of our Lozo at Ierusalem. They had also other Temples in Cambridge, Briftow, Canterbury, Douer, Warwicke. This Temple in London was often made a Stozehouse of mens Treafure, I meane fuch as feared the spople thereof in other

mitted buto their truft, could not be velivered, without the licence of him that committed it to Occleffafticall protection; wherebyon the Bing fent his Treasurer and Jufficier of the Erchequer bnto Hubert, to require him to refigne the money inholly into his hands: who answered that he would gladly fubmit himselfe and all his buto the Bings pleasure, and theres upon befired the Unights of the Temple (in his behalfe) to present all the keyes buto the Bing to doe his pleasure with the goods which he had committed buto them. Then the Bing commanded the money to bee faithfully told, and lapd by in his Treasure by Inventory, wherein was found (befides ready money) beffels of Gold, and Silner bnpgaifeable. Larl of and many precious Stones, which would make all men wonver, if they know the worth of them.

This Temple was againe Dedicated 1240. belike also nelve

ly redified then.

Thefe Templers at this time were in fo great glogy, that they entertapned the Pobility , fograine Amballadors, and Mathew Paris, the Bince himfelte bery often, infomuch that Mathew Paris crieth out on them for their prive, who being at the firft fo poze, as they had but one house to ferue two of them, in token whereof they gave in their Seale, two men riding on one hogse) vet sodainly they mared so insolent, that they difdapned other orders, and forted themfelues with Poble-men.

Bing Edward the first, in the peere 1 283. taking with him 30. Dunmow. Robert Waleran and other, came to the Demple, where calling for the keeper of the Treasure-house, as if hee meant to fee his Pothers Jewels, that were laybe by there to be fafely kept, hee entred into the house, breaking the Coffers of cers taine persons, that had likewise brought their mony thither, and bee tooke away from thence to the value of a thouland li.

Thus having declared, by what meanes and at what time the fapo Bozough of Southwarke was made and named, one of the fire and twentie Wards, now belonging to the Citie of London; I intend to proceede to the description of the fenerall particular places of the same Ward, and likewise of such Ponuments of Antiquitie, as are to bee found therein.

This Bozough being in the Countie of Surrey, confiftetb of diners Areets, waves, and winding lanes, all full of builbings inhabited : and first to begin at the West part thereof, ouer-against the Mest Suburbe of the Citie.

On the banke of the Kiner Thames, there is now a contimuall building of Denements, about halfe a mile inlength to the Bridge.

South a continuall Arete called long Southwarke, builded on both fives with viners Lanes and Alleyes by to Saint Georges Church, and beyond it thosow Blackman freete, towards Newtowne (oz Newington) the liberties of which Bozough extend almost to the Barish Church of Newtowne afozesaio, piffant one mile from London bridge, and also Southwest a continuall building, almost to Lambith moze then one mile from the faid Bzioge.

Then from the Bziege along by the Thames Calimard, is Saint Olanes Saint Olaves Arcere, having continuall building on both the Arcere. fides, with Lanes and Alleyes up to Battle bridge, to Horfedowne, and towards Rother hith: alfo some good halfe mile in length from London bridge.

So that I account the whole continual buildings on the banke of the faid River, from the Ward towards the Call, to be mozethen a large mile in length.

Then have ye from the entring towards the faid Horsedowne, one other continuall Areete, called Barmondes eye Arcete, which Aretcheth South, likewise furnished with buildings on both fives, almost halfea mile in length, by to the late diffolued Monasterie of Saint Saujour, called Bermond. fey.

And from thence is one long lane (fo called of the length) turning West to Saint Georges Church afoze named. Dut of the which lane mentioned Long lane, breaketh one other freet towards the South and by Cast, and this is called Kentish Arcere, for that it is the way leading into that Country: and fo have you the bounds of this Bozough.

The Antiquities most notable in this Bozoughare these: An Abbey. firft, foz Eccleffafficall, there was Bermondsey, an Abbey of A Priory. blacke Monkes, Saint Mary Oueries, a Paioap of Canons A Colledge & Regular, Saint Thomas, a Colledge of Pospitall for the Hospitall. pooze, and the Loke, a Lazar house in Kentstreete. Parish Parish Chur-Churches there have ben fire, whereof fine doe remaine, vz. ches. Saint Mary Magdalen, in the Daiogy of Saint Mary Overy: now the same Saint Mary Overy is the Parish Church for ED DE

770 the fait Mary Magdalen, and for Saint Margaret on the Bill, and is called Saint Saujour.

Saint Margaret on the Bill being put downe, is now a Court for Juffice. Saint Thomas in the Polpitall ferueth for a Parith Church, as afore. Saint George, a Parith Church, as befoze it div: So doth Saint Olaue, and Saint Mary Magdalen, by the Abbey of Bermondsey.

There be also these fiue Prisons, or Gaoles.

The Clinke, on the Banke. The Compter, in the late Parish Church of S. Margaret. The Marshalley. The Kings Bench. And the White Lion; all in Long Southwarke.

Houses most notable, be these.

The Biffiop of Winchesters Boufe. The Bithop of Rochesters Douse. The Duke of Suffolkes Doule, 02 Southwarke Place. The Tabard, an Pofferie, 02 Inne. The Abbot of Hyde his House. The Paioz of Lewis his Poule. The Abbot of Saint Augustine his Poule. The Bridge-house. The Abbot of Battaile his Boufe. Battaile-Bridge. The Stewes, on the Banke of Thames. And the Beare-Gardens there.

The Beare-Gardens.

Pow to returne to the West Banke: there were two Beare-Gardens, the Dlo and Dew, Places wherein were kept Beares, Bulls, and other Beafts, to be bayted: As also Bas Cliues, in severall Kenels, nourished to bapt them. These Beares, and other Beafts, are there bayted in plots of ground, scaffolded about, for the Beholders to stand safe.

Pert, on this Banke, was sometime the Bordello, oz Stewes, Liber Manua place so called, of certaine Stew-houses priniledged there, The Stewes for the repaire of incontinent men to the like women; of the on the Bankewhich Priniledge, I have read thus:

In a Parliament holden at Westminster the eighth of Henry the second, it was ordayned by the Commons, and confirmed by the King and Lords, That divers Constitutions for ever should be kept within that Lordship, or Franchise, according to the old Cuftomes, that had beene there vsed time out of minde : Amongst the which, these following were tome; viz.

That no Stew-holder, or his wife, should let or stay any single woman to goe and come freely at all times, when they listed.

No Stew-holder to keepe any woman to boord, but she to boord abroad at her pleasure.

To take no more for the womans Chamber in the Weeke, then foureteene pence.

Not to keepe open his doores vpon the Holy-dayes.

Not to keepe any fingle woman in his house on the Holydayes, but the Bayliffe to fee them voyded out of the Lordthip.

No fingle woman to be kept against her will, that would leave her finne.

No Stew-holder to receive any woman of Religion, or any mans wife.

No fingle woman to take money to lye with any man, except thee lye with him all night, till the morrow.

No man to be drawne or enticed into any Stew-house.

euery Stew-house.

No Stew-holder to keepe any woman, that hath the perillous infirmitie of Burning; nor to sell Bread, Ale, Flesh, Fish, Wood, Coale, or any Victuals, &c.

These and many moze Diders were to be observed, byon great paine and punishment.

Mary Magdalen, and buited to the late visiolued Paiozie Church of Saint Mary Ouery.

A part of this Parish Church of Saint Margaret is now a Court, wherein the Affifes and Sellions bee kept, and the Court of Admiralty is also there kept. One other part of the same Church is now a Prison, called the Compter in Southwarke, &c.

Farther by on that live, almost directly over against Saint Georges Church, was sometime a large and most sumptuous house, builded by Charles Brandon, late Duke of Suffolke, in the raign of Henry the eight, which was called Suffolke house; but comming afterwards into the Kings hands, the same was called Southwarke Place, and a Wint of Coynage was there kept for the King.

To this place came king Edward the firt, in the fecond of his reigne, from Hampton Court, and dined in it. De at that time made Iohn Yorke, one of the Sheriffes of London, lanight, and then rove through the City to Westminster.

Duene Mary gave this house to Nicholas Heth, Archbishop of Yorke, and to his fuccestors for ever, to bee their Inne or lodging for their repaire to London, in recompence of Yorke House, neere to Westminster, which king Henry her Father had taken from Cardinall Woolsey, and from the Sea of Yorke.

Archbishop Heth sold the same house to a Parchant, 02 to Marchants, Parchants, that pulled it downe, sold the Leave, Stone, I-ron, to. and in place thereof builded many small Cottages of great rents, to the encreasing of beggers in that Bozough. The Archbishoppe bought Norwich House of Suffolke Place, neere but o Charing-Crosse, because it was neere but the Court, and lest it to his successors. Pow on the South side, to returne backe agains towards the Bridge. White Lyon a Gaole for Surrey.

Then is the White Lion, a Gaole to called, for that the fame was a common Hostery for the receit of Travellers by that signe. This house was first vsed as a Gaole within this three score years last, since the which time, the Prisoners were once removed thence to an house in Newtowne, where they remained for a short time, and were returned backe against othe aforesaid White Lyon, there to remain, as the appointed Gaole for the County of Surrey.

Kings Beneh.

Pert, is the Gaole of Prison of the Kings Bench, but of what Antiquity the same is, I know not. For Thau read, that the Courts of the Kings Bench, and Chauncery, have oft times times been remoued from London to other places, and fo hath likewise the other Baoles that serne those Courts, as in the veere 1304. Edward the first commanded the Courts of the Kings Bench and the Exchequer, which had remained feuen peeres at Yorke, to be remoued to their old places at London. And in the peere 1387, the 11. of Richard the 2. Robert Trifilian chiefe Juffice, came to the City of Couentrie, and there H. Knighton. fate by the space of a moneth, as Justice of the Kings Benches, and caused to bee indited in that Court, about the number of two thousand persons of that Country, &c.

It femeth therefoze, that for that time, the Prifon or Baole of that Court was not farre off. Also, in the peere 1392. the 16. of the same Richard, the Archbishop of Yorke being Logo Chauncelog, fog god will that he bare to his City, caufed the Kings Bench and Chauncery to bee remoued from London to Yorke, but ere long they were returned to London.

Then is the Marshalfey another Gaole og Paifon, so called, as pertaining to the Parthalles of England. Of what conti Marthalley in nuance kept in Southwarke, I have not learned : but like it is, that the same hath beene remoueable, at the pleasure of the Warchalls. For I finde, that in the peere 1376. the fiftieth of Edward the 3. Henry Percie (being Barmall) kept his paifo. ners in the City of London, where having committed one Iohn Prendargeft, of Norwich, confrarp to the liberties of the City of London, the Citizens, by perswasson of the Loza Fitzwalter, their Standard bearer, toke Armour, and ranne with great rage to the Marshalls Inne, banke by the gates, brought out the prisoner, and convayed him away, minding to bane burnt the Rocks in the middelt of their City; but they fird fought for Dir Henry Percy, to have punished him, as 3 bane noted in my Annales.

Moze, about the Featt of Catter next following, Iohn Duke of Lancaster, having caused al the whole Panie of England to be gathered together at London: It chanced a certaine Eiguire to kill one of the Pariners, which act the other Pariners taking in ill part, they brought their fuite into the Bings Court of the Marshalley, which then as chanced (saith mine Author) was kept in Southwarke : but when they perceined that Court to be fo fauourable to the murderer, and further, that the Kings warrant was also gotten for his pardon; they in great fury ran to the house, wherein the murderer was imprisoned, brake into it, and brought forth the Drisoner with his Gives on his legges, they thauft a knife to his heart. and Aicked him, as if he had beene a Wogge: after this they tied a rope to his Gines, and drew him to the Gallowes, where when they had hanged him, as though they had done a great act, they caused the Trumpets to be sounded before them to their Ships, and there in great Triumph they frent the reft of the day.

Alfo the Rebels of Kent, in the pere 1 381. brake boine Rebels of Rent the houses of the Marshalley, and Kings Bench, in Southwarke, tooke from thence the Daifoners, banke bowne the house of Sir Iohn Immorth, then Barthall of the Marthalfey, and Kings Bench, &c. After this, in the pere 1387. the eleventh of Richard the second, the mogrow after Bartholomew day, the king kept a great Councell in the Cattle of Nottingham, and the Marshalley of the Bing was then kept at Lughborow by the space of fire bayes or more. In the peere 1443. Sir Walter Many, was Barthall of the Marshalley, the two and twentieth of Henry the firt . William Brandon, Elquire, was Parthall in the eighth of Edward the fourth. In the yeare 1504. the Paisoners af the Marshalley then in Southwarke banke out, and many of them being taken were executed, especially such as had beine committed for Felony oz Areason.

Southwarke,

From thence towards London bridge, on the same five, be many faire Innes: for receit of travellers, by thefe fignes the The Tabard in Spurre, Chaiftopher, Bull, Queenes head, Tabard, George, Bart, kings head, ec. Amongst the which, the most ancient is the Tabard, so called of the figne, which as we now terme it, is of a Jacket og fleueleffe coate, whole befoze, open on both fides, with a square coller, winged at the Moulders: a Cately garment, of old time commonly worne of Poblemen and others, both at home and objoad in the warres, but then

(to wit, in the Warres) their Armes embroidered, or other, wife depict bpon them, that every man by his Coat of Armes might bee knowne from others: But now these Wabards are onely worne by the Heralds, and be called their Coates of Armes in Bernice. Foz the Inne of the Tabard, Geffrey Chaucer, Elquire, the most famous Poet of England, in come Geff. Chaucer. mendation thereof writeth thus:

It befell in that feafon, on a day, In Southwarke, at the Tabert, as I lay, Readie to wend on my Pilgrimage To Canterburie, with full deuout courage; That night was comen into the Hosterie Well nine and twentie in a companie, Of fundrie folke, by aduenture yfall, In fellowship, and Pilgrims were they all, That toward Canterburie woulden ride: The Stables and Chambers weren wide. And well we were eased at the best, &c.

Within this Inne was also the Lodging of the Abbot of The Abbot of Hide, (by the Citte of Winchester) a faire Boule for him and Hide his Lodhis Traine, when he came to the Citie to Parliament, ec.

And then Theeues lane, by Saint Thomas Hospitall. The Hospitall of Dospitall of Saint Thomas first founded by Richard, Paioz S. To all to whome this present writing shall come, John, Earle Warren, sendeth greeting. Know ye, that we have altogether remised and quit claimed for vs and our heires for euer, to Nicholas, Abbot of Saint Augustines of Canterbury, and the Couent of the same, and their successors, suite to our Court of Southwarke, which they owe vnto vs, for all that Meffuage and houfes thereon builded, and all their appurtenances, which they haue of our fee in Southwarke, situate vpon the Thames, betweene the Bridge-honse, and Church of Saint Olane. And the faid Meffuage with the buildings thereon builded, and all their appurtenances to the and their successors, we have granted in perpetuall Almes to hold of vs, and our heires for the fame: fauing the feruice due to any other persons, if any fuch bee, then to vs. And for this remit and graunt, the fayd Abbot and Couent have given vato vs five shillings of rent yeerely in Southwarke, and have received vs and our heyres in all Benefices which shall be in their Church for cuer.

This fute of Court one William Graspeis was bound to doe to the faid Garle, for the faid Pelluage: and heretofore to acquit in all things, the Church of Saint Augustine, against the faid Carle.

The Corne fields are not of a hungry sandy mould, but as the fruitfull fields of Asia, yeelding plentifull increase, and filling the Barnes with Corne. There are neere London, on the North side, especiall VVells in the Suburbs, sweete, wholesome and cleare. Amongst which, Holymell, Clarkennell, and Saint Clements well, are most famous, and most frequented, by Schollers and Youths of the City in Summer evenings, when they walke forth to take the ayre.

Thus farre out of Fitz Stephen, for the Suburbs of that time.

The second of Henry the third, the Forrest of Middlesex, and the Warren of Scanes were disaforested fince the which time, the Suburbs about London have beene also mightily increased with buildings: for first, to begin in the Cast, by the Tower of London, is the Pospitall of Saint Katherine, founded by Matilde, the Duén, wife to Bing Scephen, as is afore shewed in Portsoken VV ard.

From this precinct of Saint Katherine to Wapping in the Cast, the vival place of execution so, hanging of Pirats and Sea-Rouers, at the low water marke, there to remains, till three tides had overflowed them, was never a house standing within these sistie veres: but since (the Gallowes being aster removed farther off) a continual streete, or silthy straight passage, with Alleyes of small tenements or Cottages is builded, inhabited by Saylors and victualers, along by the rivuer of Thames, almost to Radclisse, a good mile from the Aoster.

On the Cast side, and by Posth of the Tower, lyeth East-Smithfield, Hogs streete, and Tower hill, and Cast from them both, was the new Abbey called Grace, sounded by Edward the third. Daving said thus much for building, at VVapping, East Smithseld, Bramley, and Shadwell, all on the South side of the high-way to Radcliffe; now one note on the Porth side also, concerning Pyrates: I reade, that in the yeare 1440 in the Lent season, certaine persons, with sire shippes brought from beyond the Seas sish, to victuall the Citie of London; which sish when they had belivered, and were returning homeward, a number of Sea-thémes in a Barge, in the night came byon them, when they were alsepe in their Messels, riving at anker on the Kiver Thames, & slew them, cut their throats, cast them over bord, toke their money, and drowned their ships, so, that no man should elpy or accuse them. Two of these themes were after taken and hanged in chaynes byon a gallowes set byon a raysed Dill, so, & purpose made, in the field beyond East Smithfield, so that they might be seen farre into the Kiver Thames.

And now concerning the inclosures of common grounds about this City, wherof I mind not much to argue; Edw. Hall Edward Hall. fetteth bowne a note of his time, to wit, in the fift og rather 6. of H.the 8.

Before this time (fayth he) the Inhabitants of the Townes about London, as Iseldone, Hoxton, Shores-ditch and others, had so inclosed the common fields with hedges, and ditches, that neither the young men of the City might shoot, nor the ancient persons walke for their pleasures in those fields ; but that either their bowes and arrowes were taken away or broken, or the honest persons arested or indighted, saying : That no Londoner ought to goe out of the City, but in the High-wayes.

This faying so grieued the Londoners, that suddainly this yeere, a great number of the City assembled themselues in a morning, and a Turner in a fooles coare came crying thorow the City, shouels and spades, shouels and spades. So many of the people followed, that it was a wonder to behold; and (with-Hedges pulled in a short space) all the hedges about the City were cast downe, and the ditches filled vp, and enery thing made plaine; fuch was the diligence of those worke-men.

The Kings Councell hearing of this affembly, came to the Gray Fryers, and sent for the Maior and Councell of the Citie, to know the cause; who declared to them the injurie and annoying downe to the Citizens, and to their Liberties, which though they would not feeke diforderly to redreffe, yet the Comminalty and young persons could not be staied thus to remedy the same. When the Kings Councell had heard their anfwere, they diffimuled the matter, and commanded the Maior to see that no other thing were attempted, but that they should forth-with call home the younger fort; who having speedily atchieued their desire, returned home before the Kings Councell, and the Maior departed without more harme: after which time (fayth Hall) those fields were neuer hedged.

But afterward we faw the thing in worfe cafe then ever by meanes of inclosure for Gardens, wherein are builded many faire Dummer houses, and as in other places of the Suburbs. some of them like Diolummer Pageants, with Towers, bearing great Turrets, and Chimney tops, not fo much for ble or profit, as for thewe and pleasure, bewraping the vanity of mens mindes, much bulike to the disposition of the ancient Citizens, who delighted in the building of Pospitals, and Almes houses for the page, and therein both imployed their wits and spent their wealths in preferment of the common commodito of this our City.

But now to come backe againe to Moregate, and from Suburbe withthence West through a narrow passage, called the Posterne, out Cripplebecause it hath at either end a doze to thut in the night season, gate betwirt the More dirch inclosed with Bzick foz Wenter, pards, and the Gardens of the fair Morefield, to Morelane: a part of the Suburbe without Cripplegate, without this Boo fferne called Cripplegate, also lap a part of the said More, es nen to the River of Wels, as in an other place I have thewed, and no houses were there builded, till the latter end of the raigne of William the Conqueroz, and his Sonne William Rufus, about which times, some few houses were there builbed along Caff and Meff, thwart befoze the faio Gate. Dne Alfune builded for the inhabitants a Parish Church which is of Saint Giles, somewhat Weft from the Said Bate, and is Parish Church now on the banke of the Towne vitch, and so was there a of S. Giles.

Areet fince called Forefreet, as fanding befoze the Bate. This Alfune in the raigne of Henry the the firtt, became the fift Pospiteler of Saint Bartholomewes Pospitall in Smithfield, as in another place I haue noted. And this Pariff Church of Saint Giles, being at the first a small thing, food in place where now fandeth the Micarage house, but hath beine fince (at divers times) much enlarged, according as the Pariff bath increased, and was at the length newly builded in place where now it Candeth. But the same new Church being large, frongly builded, and richly furnithed with Danaments. was in the peere 1545. by cafualty of fire fore burnt and confumed: notwithflanding, it was againe (within a thoat space of time) repaired as now it sheweth.

Some little diftance from the Caff end of this Church, fanbeth a faire Conduit castellated in Forestreet. Then had pee a Boffe of Iweete water in the wall of the Church pard, lately made a Dumpe, but already decayed.

Then had yee a fayes Poole of fweet water neare to the Fff 2 Thurch

Church of S. Giles, wherein Anne of Lodbery was boinned,

Grub street.

In the Call end of Foreftreet is More lane : then nert is Grub freet, of late peres inhabited (for the most part) by Wolne pers, fletchers, Bow firing makers, and fuch like, now lite tle occupied; Archery gining place to a number of bowling Allies, and Dicing honfes, which in all places are increased, and too much frequented.

Euerades well Arcete.

This fret fretcheth Porth to Euerades Well freet, which thwarteth it to White Croffe freet : the next from Forefreet Porth is White Croffe freet, likewife extending it felfe by to the Wieft end of Euerades Well freet, and from the end theres of to Ealdestreet.

From the Well end of Forestreet lyeth Red Croffe freet. from the which Croffe, on the right hand Caft lyeth Beech lane, and reacheth to the White Crosse street. From Red Golding lane. Croffe Boath lyeth Golding lane, which fretcheth by to a Croffe in Ealdestreet, which Golding lane (on both the fiocs) is replenished with many Tenements of poore people.

Do the left hand, and Edelf of the Red Croffe lyeth a fret. of old time called Hounds-dirch, and of later time named Barbican, of fuch cause as I have before noted. And thus have you all the Suburbe without Cripplegate, being almost altogether in the Parity of S. Giles, which hath moze then 1800. Poules holders, and about 4000. Communicants.

Then from the farther end of Alderigate Areete, fraight Porth to the Barre, is called Gofwell Arcer, replenished with Imall Tenements, Cottages, and Allies, Barbens, Banque.

There was sometime in this Suburbe without Aldersgare, Hospital withan Dospitall for the poore; but an Alien of Cluny, a French or out Aldersder, and therefore suppressed by Bing Henry the fift, who gate. gaue the house with lands and goods, to the Parish of Saint Buttolph, and a Brother hood of the Trinity was there found bed, which was afterward suppressed by Henry the 8. 02 Ed-

There is (at the fartheff Porth corner of this Suburbe) a Mind-mill, which was sometime by a tempeft of wind ouer: throwne, and in place thereofa Chappell was builded, by D. Katherine (firft wife to Henry the eight) who named it the Mount of Caluery, because it was of Chaifes Pallion, and was The Mount. in the end of Henry the 8. pulled downe, and a Windmill news ly fet by as afoze.

This

Charterhouse. This house he founded byon this occasion: A great Petilence entring this Iland, began first in Dorsetshire, then procided into Devonshire, Somersetshire, Glocester shire, and Oxfordshire, and at length came to London, and over-spred all England, so wasting the people, that scarce the tenth person of all sorts was lest alive, and Thurch-pards were not sufficient to receive the dead, but men were sorced to chuse out certaine sields sor durials: whereupon Ralph Stratford, Bishop of London, in the yeare 1348, bought a piece of ground, called No mans land, which he inclosed with a wall of Bricke, and dedicated sor durials of the dead, builded thercupon a proper Thappell, which is now enlarged, and made a dwelling house: and this durying plot is become a faire Garden, retaining the old name of Pardon Church-yard.

About this time, in the peere 1349, the fayd Sir Walter Manny, inrespect of danger that might befall in this time of so great a plague and insection, purchased 13. Acres and a Kod of ground, adjoining to the said No mans land, and lysing in a place called Spittle Cross, because it belonged to Si Bartholomewes Hospitall, since that called the New Church Haw, and caused it to be consecrated by the said Bishop of London to the ble of burials.

In this plot of ground, there was (in that piece) moze then 50000 persons buried, as I have read in the Charters of Edw. the third.

Also I have seene and read an Inscription fixed on a Cone Crosse, sometime Canding in the same Church-yard, and has

Anno Domini. 1349. Regnante magna pestilentia, consecretum si thoc Coemiterium, in quo & infra septa presentis Monasterij, sepulta suerunt mortuoru corpora, plusquam quinquaginta millia, præter alia multa abhine vsque ad presens, quorum animabus propitietur Deus. Amen.

In consideration of the number of Christian people here buried, the sayd Sir Waker Manny caused first a Chappell to be builded, where (for the space of twenty three yeeres) offer rings were made: and it is to be noted, that above 100000, bo

And the pere 1371. he caused there to be founded an house of Carthufian Monks, which he willed to be called the Salutation, and that one of the Wonks Mould be called Paioz, and he gaue them the lapo place of 13. Acres and a Rod of land, with the Chappell, and houses there builded for their habitation. Dee also gave them the z. Acres of land, lying without the walls on the Morth part, betwirt the lands of the Abbot of Westminster, and the lands of the Paioz of S. Iohn; which 3. Acres being purchafed, inclosed, and dedicated by Ralph Stratford, Bilhop of London, as is afozethewed, remained till our time, by the name of Pardon Church-yard, and ferued for bus Vie of the rping of fuch as desperately ended their lines, og were erecus Fryery Cart. ted for Felonies, who were fetched thither blually in a close cart, bayled over and covered with blacke, having a plaine white croffe thwarting, and at the fozerend a S. Iohns Croffe without, and within a Bell ringing by haking of the Cart, whereby the same might be heard when it passed: and this was called the Fryery Cart, which belonged to S. Iohns, and had the priviledge of Sanduary.

In this Charter-house were the Ponuments of the says Sir Waltar Manny, and Margaret his wife, Marmaduke Lumley, Laurence Bromley, Inight, Sir Edward Hederfer, Inight Sir William Manny, Anight, Dame Iohan Borough, Iohn Dore, Want Water, Anight, Robert Olney, Efquire, Katherine, baughter to Sir William Babington, Bnight, Blanch, Daughter to Hugh Waterton, Katherine, wife to John at Poot, baughter and heire to Richard Lacie, William Rawlin, Sir Iohn Lenthaine, and Dame Margaret his wife, daughter to John .llatiquota odi

I haue truely

Dere now I find fit time, to commend to all fucceding remembrance pofferity, the buely beferned praifes of that truely worthie (and neuer to be foggotten) Bentleman, Bafter Thomas Sutton, the right Phoenix of Charity in our times. This late Diffolued Charter-house by West Smithfield, belonging then to the Right Donogable Thomas Carle of Suffolke, now Lord Treasurer of England, is sufficiently knowne to bee a bery large and godly Banfion, beautified with spacious Gar. bens, Walkes, Dachards and other pleafures, enriched with viners bependencies of Lands and Tenements thereto belonging, and very aptly feated for tubolfome apre, and many other commodities. All which commodiousnelle of fituation, and largenelle of circuit, gaue occasion to this well-minbed fet downe all this, asit was Wentleman, Paffer Sutton, to affect that house, as the onely in writing, by place, whereon to build the foundation of his Religious purs deliuered mee a Gentleman pole. Foz, among other his Chaiftian Determinations , bee of good worth had formerly intended to build an house at Hallingbury Bouchers in Effex, to be an Hospitall for such poze men and Chile Dien, as bee himfelfe (in his life time, og future Bouernogs for the same to bee deputed) Gould thinke fit to bee lodged and relicued there: Alfo, for a Schole-maffer and Affer, to teach Children to reade and write, and instruct them in the Latine and Grate Grammar : with a learned Dinine likewife to preach the Wood of God to them all, and a Paller belide. to gonerne all those people belonging to that house.

To this bleffed end and purpole, hee had procured (by ears neff fuit) power by an Act of Parliament, to build fuch an Bol. pitall in the Towne of Hallingbury Bouchers, and that the ded to tearme same thould be named, The Hospitall of King lames, founded in Hallingbury in the Countie of Lilex, at the humble Betitis on, and at the onely coffs and charges of Thomas Sutton, @fs quire: Appointing also such Honozable, Reuerend and wogthy persons, as by the said Act of Parliament were nominas ted and appointed, to be the first and instant Gouernozs of the Lands, pollellions, Gods and Beuenues of the lapo Dofpital.

But afterward, bpon moze grounded deliberation, and finding this godly house of the Charter-house, to bee much The Chartermoze convenient for the purpose, then that to bee builded at necessarie for Hallingbury could be : he became an earneft fuiter to the Carle an Hospitall, of Suffolke, to purchase that house of him, acquainting his then Halling-Donoz, with the alteration of his mind concerning Halling. bury. bury, and his earnest besire to make the Charter-house his Pospitall. The Carle being honourably enclined to so godly a motion , the matter sustained the lesse vebating betweene them: but the price being concluded on, the bargaine and fale was affured. The fumme difburfed for this purpofe, amounted to 13000. li. which was paid downe in hand, before the enfealing of the Connepance.

Then be became luiter againe to his Bateffie, to performe all that at the Charter-house, which he had formerly intended at Hallingbury : whereto the Bing readily pelded, being gracioully affected to fo charitable a Worke, and granted his Letters Patents to the same effect. When good men dye, the memory remaines
Of their true Vertues, and most Christian waies;
As a due guerdon to their godly paines,
Out of good actions forming as good praise:
For Vertue cherished by their deeds of grace,
Leaues Fame to their Posterity and Race.

Among those good (if goodnes may be sayd

To be among the seede of mortall men)
In vpright ballance of true merit weigh'd,

Needs must we reckon famous Sutton then,
In whom, as in a mirror doth appeare,
That faith with workes did shine in him most cleere.

And let vs not, as is a common vse,

Measure him by a many other more;
In death, to couer their bad lifes abuse,

To launch out then some bounty of their store.

No, Sucton was none such, his Hospitall;

And much more else beside, speakes him to all.

For as God blest him with abundant wealth,
Like to a carefull Steward he imploy'd it,
And ordered all things in his best of health,
As glad to leaue it, as when he enjoyed it.
And being prepared enery houre to dye,
Disposed all his giftes most Christianly.

In Abrahams bosome sleeps he with the blest,
His works, they follow him, his worth survives,
Good Angels guide him to eternall rest,
Where is no date of time, for yeeres or lives.
You that are rich, do you as he hath done,
And so affure the Crown that he hath woon.

De fird builded this house, in the reere 1245. And heere is occasion offered me, for latisfying of some beniers thereof, to proue that this Peter of Sauoy was also Carle of Sauoy. Wherefore, out of a Boke of the Benealogies of al the whole house of Sauoy, compiled by Phillebert Pingonio, Baron of Guzani, remaining in the hands of William Smith, alias, Rouge dragon, officer of Armes, I have gathered this.

Thomas Earle occasion.

Thomas, Earle of Sanoy, had iffue by Beatrix, daughter to of Sauoy, his Aimon, Earle of Genena, 9. Sons, and 3. Daughters : Amadis his first Sonne, succeeded Earle of Sanoy in the yeere 1253. Pe-

Henry Duke H.Knighton, of Lancaster reparzed, or rather new builded it, with the chars ges of 52000. Warkes, which money he had gathered together at the Towne of Bridgerike.

John the French Bing was lodged there, in the pecre, 1257. and also, in the peere 1363, for it was (at that time) the fapreft Dannoz in England.

In the peere, 1381. the Rebels of Kent and Effex burnt H. Knighton. this house, but othe which there was none in the Realme to be compared in beauty and Catelinelle, (faith mine Authoz.) They fet fire on it round about, and made proclamation, that none, on paine to lose his head, Mould connert to his owne Sauoy burnt, ble any thing that there was; but that they thould break fuch blown up with plate and vessell of Gold and Siluer, as was found in that Gunpowder. house, (which was in great plenty) into small picces, and Rebels more throw the same into the River of Thames. The Bishop of Durhams house.

On the South fide of the which Areete, in the liberties of Westminster (beginning at Iuie bridge)first is Durham house, builded by Thomas Hatfield , Wiftop of Durham, who was made Bishop of that Sea, in the pere 1545. and fate Bishop there 36. peres.

Among it matters memogable concerning this house, this is Juffing feaft at one: In the yeare of Chaiff 1340. the 32. of Henry the 8. on Durhamhoule Aday day, agreat and triumphant Juffing was holden at Westminster, which had beene formerly proclaimed in France, Flanders, Scotland and Spaine, for all commers that would undertake the Challengers of England, which were Sir Iohn Dudley, Sir Thomas Seymer, Sir Thomas Poynings, and Sir George Carew, Enights, and Anthony Kingstone, and Richard Cromwell, Cfquires. All which came into the Lifts, that day richly apparelled, and their hogics trapped all in white beluet; there came against them the sayo day 46. Defendants, or Unpertakers, vz. the Carle of Surrey foamoff, Lozd William Howard, Lord Clinton, and Lord Cromwell, sonne and heire to Thomas Cromwell, Carle of Effex, and Chamberlaine of England, with other; and that day, after the Julis were performed, the Challengers rove buto this Durham house, where they kept open household, and feated the King, and Queene, with her Ladies and all the Court.

West-

The fecond day Anthony Kingston, and Richard Cromwell were made Unights there.

The third day of Pay, the layd Challengers did Turney on horsebacke with swords, and against them 49. Defen-Dants: Sir Iohn Dudley and the Carle of Surrey running firft, which at the first course lost their Gauntlets, and that day Sir Richard Cromwell ouerthzew Balter Palmer and his hogfe in the fild, to the great honoz of the Challengers.

The fift of Pay, the Challengers fought on foote at the Warriers, and against them came 50. Defendants, which fought baliantly: but Sir Richard Cromwell ouerthein that dap at the Barriers, Maffer Culpepper in the field; and the 6.

bay the Challengers bake bp their household.

In this time of their house-keeping, they had not only feasted Pensioners. the Bing, Duen, Ladies and all the Court, as is afozethe wed: but also they cheered al the Unights and Burgelles of the common house in the Parliament, and entertained the Maioz of London, with the Albermen and their wines at a binner, &c. The King gave to enery of the fayd Challengers, and their heires for ever, in reward of their valiant activity 100. marks. and a house to divel in of yearely revenue, out of the lands pertaining to the Dospitall of S. Polo to speake somewhat of later time: concerning this Durham house, it was well knowne and observed, for how mas no veres. I know not, that the outward part belonging there. to, and francing Porth from the houses, was but a low role of Stables, old, ruinous, ready to fall, and bery bufightly, in to publike a passage to the Court and to Westminster. Elpon which confideration, or some more especiall respect in the minde of the right honozable, Robert, Carle of Salifbury, Lozo bigh Treasurer of England : it pleased him to take fuch ozder in the matter, that (at his owne cofts and charges) that beformed row of Stabling was quite altered, by the erectio of a bes ry goodly and beautifull building in fread thereof, and in the bery same place. Pert beyond this Durham house, is another great house, The Bishop of sometime belonging to the Bishop of Norwich, and was his Norwich his London lodging, which now pertaineth to the Arch-bishop of house. Yorke, by this occasion: In the year 1529, when Cardinall Wolsey, Archbishop of Yorke, was indited in the Premunire, whereby king H. the 8. was entituled to his gods and possessions: hee also seysed into his hands the sayd Arch-bishops house, commonly called Yorke Place, and changed the name thereof into White Hall: whereby, the Arch-bishops of Yorke being dispossessed, and having no house of repaire about London, D. Mary gave but o Nicholas Heth, then Arch-bishop of Yorke, and to his successors, Sussolke house in Southwarke, lately builded by Charles Brandon, Duke of Sussolke, as I have shewed elsewhere.

This house the sayd Archibishop sold, and bought the asozes sayd house, of old time belonging to the Bishops of Norwich, which (of the last purchase) is now called Yorke house; the L. Chancelozs of L. Képers of the great Seale of England have benlately there lodged.

Then was there an Pospitall of S. Mary Rounciuall, by Hospitall of Charing Crosse (a Cell to the Priory and Couent of Rounciual S. Mary Rounin Nauar, in Pampelone Dioces) where a Fraternity was ciuall founded in the 15. of Edward the 4. but now the same is sup-

Robert de Amesbury.

The next peere was graunted to the King by Parliament, towards the recoverie of his Title in France, fiftie fillings of enery Sacke of Woll, transported oner Seas, for the space of fire yeeres next enfuing : by meanes whereof, the king might dispend dayly, during those peeres, moze then a thous fand Parkes Carling: For by the common opinion, there were moze then an hundzed thousand Backs of Woll peeres ly transported into forraine Lands; so that buring fire yeeres. the faid graunt extended to fifteene hundzed thousand pound Carling.

In the 37. of Edward the third, it was graunted buto him for two yeares, to take fire and twentie Millings eight pence bpon every Sacke of Woll transported : and the same peere. the Staple of Mooil (notwithstanding the Lings Dath, and Staple at Cal- other great Offates) was ozdained to be kept at Callis, and fire lis let to farme and twenty Parchants, the best and wealthiest of all England, to be Farmers there, both of the Tolone and Staple, for the peeres, enery Parchant to have fire men of Armes, and foure Archers, at the kings coff. He ozdained there also two Apalo ogs, one for the Towne, and one for the Staple, and he tooke for mala capta, commonly called Maltorth, twentie hillings, and of the faid Parchants, Bardians of the Towns, fortie pence bpon enery Sacke of Wooll.

In the 44.0f Edward the third, Quinborough, Kingston spe an Hull, and Boston, were made Staples of Mooll: which

matter fo much offended some, that in the 50. of his raigne, in a Barliament at London, it was complained, that the Staple of Wooll was foremoued from Callis, to diners Townes in England, contrarie to the Statute, appointing, that Citizens Record. and Parchants Mould keepe it there, and that the King might baue the Profits and Cullomes, with the exchange of Gold and Siluer that was there made, by all the Parchants in Christendome (effemed to amount to eight thousand pound by veere) the exchange onely: And the Citizens and Pars thants so ordered the matter, that the Ling spent nothing bpon Souldiogs, neyther bpon defence of the Towne against the Cnemies, whereas now he spent eight thousand pound by peere.

In the 51. of Edward the third, when the Staple was fear led at Callis, the Patoz of the Staple did furnish the Captaine of the Towne, bpon any Rode, with an hundged Bill-men, two hundred Archers, of Parchants and their fernants, without any wages.

In the peere 1388, the twelfth of Richard the fecond, in a Manuscript. Parliament at Cambridge, it was ozdained, that the Staple French. of Casolls hould be brought from Middleborough in Holland Wooll-Staples to Callis.

In the fouretenth of his raigne, there was granted fortie Millings byon enery Sacke of Wooll: and in the one and twentieth, was graunted fiftie Millings byon enery Sacke transported by English men, and thee pound by Strangers,

It feemeth, that the Warchants of this Staple be the moft Scaple-Marancient Warchants of this Realme, and that all commodities chants the of the Realme are Staple Parchandizes by Law and Char. most ancientst ter, as Moolls, Leather, Mooll-fells, Lead, Tynne, Cloth.

ŒC.

Thing Henry the firt had fire Wooll-houses within the Star ple at Westminster: those he granted to the Deane and Canons of Saint Stephen at Westminster, and confirmed it the 21. of his raigne. Thus much for the Staple have I thortly noted.

And now to palle to the famous Ponalterie of Westminfler at the very entrance of the Close thereof, is a lane that leadeth toward the West, called Theening lane, for that theenes were led that way to the Garchoule, while the Sancs tnary continued in force.

Foundation of Westmin-2 Christian King not only deede.

This Monasterie was founded and builded by Sebert, Lina of the Caft Saxons, byon the persivation of Ethelbert King of fter by Sebert Kent, who having imbraced Christianity, and being baptized by Melitus, Bilhop of London, immediately (to thew himfelfe in word, but in a Chailtian indeede, built a Church to the honog of God and S. Peter, on the West live of the City of Lond. in a place (which Forte A Ter -on because it was over growne with thomes, and environed with water) the Saxons called Thorney, and now of the ADonafterie and Weff fituation thereof, is called Westminster. Whatfurther I reade, concerning the first foundation of this

Ex Sulcard. The Temple of Apollo ouerthrowne by an Earthquake.

When the Church of God first began to growe in Great Brittaine, at fuch time (faith Sulcardus) as Antonius Pius, was Emperour of Rome, the Temple of Apollo, which was then feated on the West five of the City of London, where now Westminfter fandeth, fell bowne by the violence of an Carthquake. Df the ruines whereof, Lucius who was king of the Britaines, and reigned heere by permission of the Romans) built a small Church to the honoz of Chaill, in the peere of our Lozd 170. which afterward was otterly befaced, when the heat of perfecution (binder Dioclesian) walted Britaine.

King Sebert built a Monastery in the place where the Church flood. by the Danes,

This place afterward (for a long time) tay altogether negs lected, and not regarded, but became all overgrowne with thornes and bulhes : infomuch as the English Saxons named it Thornez og Thorney. Untill, Sebert Bing of the Cat Saxons (02 of Effex and Middlefex) who was the first that fubferibed to the worthip of Chailt, built in that place a Mona. The Monaste- Sterie to Chaist and Saint Peter, in the piere of Chaist 605. whereupon, partly, from the fituation to the West, and partly. and repayred from the Ponafferte oz Winster, it began to take the name of by S. thop of Canterbury (by the fauour of Bing Edgar) repaired it, and graunted, and gaue it to a small company of Ponkes.

Afterward Ling Edward, furnamed the Confessoz, with The Monastethe Tenthes of all his revenewes, built it anew, to be a place by King Ed. for his own Sepulchie, and a Ponasterie for the Bonks of S. the Confesior. Bennets ofder, and endowed it with revenewes flying heere and there) in all places of England, and it is an ancient Fabricke jand very flately. Since which time this Monasterie hath beene (and yet is) very famous, for the confecration and Cozonation of the Bings of England, and the buriall of many of them, and other great Personages, and for the custodie of the Regalia for the Coronation.

But 160. yeeres after, King Henry the third pulled downe A new Church that ancient Fabrick of King Edward, and (with 50. peeres buildedin moft worke) built a Church of a most goodly frame, with a multi, goodly and tude of Parble Billers, fet in comely ogder : whereof he him manner. felfe laped the first stone, and conered the roofe with Lead, in Anno 1220. which Church (afterward) the Abbots did much inlarge to the Westward: And King Henry the seuenth, in the yeare 1502. bestowed 14000. pounds on the Cast fide, King H. the 7. where he built a Chappell of admirable beauty (which Le- his Chappell land calles The Miracle of the World: fog any man that fees the Miracle of it, map well fay, that all elegancy of workemantlip and mat, the world, ter, is couched in it) to be a place of Sepulture for himfelfe, and all his posterity: wherein (at this day) is to bee feene his owne Dombe, most gozgeous and great, made all of folid Bratte.

Afterward, when the Ponkes were expelled by King Hen- The alteration ry the eight, it was eftloones converted to divers governes in the time of ments. Firft, it had a Deane and Prebendaries: Anonafter, the eight. a Biftop, and that onely one, named Thomas Thurlbey, in An- A Biftop of no 1541. departed, and left it to be governed by a Deane.

Within thoat time after. Quene Mary brought in the Monkes againe, with their Abbot, who not long after, being expulsed by Act of Parliament, Duene Elizabeth (of bleffed memozy) converted it buto a Collegiate Church, oz rather a

Church of Westminster, instituted by

A Nurferie for Purferie for the Church, in the peere 1 560. For there the 820 the Collegiate vained (to the glozie of God, and the propagation of true Religion and good Literature) a Deane, twelue Pzebendaries, an opper Maffer, and an Ather for the Schoole, fortie Schole Qu. Elizabeth. lers, tearmed the Duenes of Kings Schollers; who (at their due times) are preferred to both the Uninerfities : befides Pinifters, Singers, and Daganiffs, tenne Quiriffers, and fivelue poore Douldtors, &c.

The first ding to the foundation.

The first Deane then of that Foundation, was Baffer Wil-Deane, accor- liam Bill; who being taken away within two yeeres, had for his successoz, Waster Gabriel Goodman, Doctoz of Diuinitie: who, when he had gouerned this Collegiate Church (with great commendation) the space of fortie yeeres, Died in the peere of our Logo God 1601. And then Patter Lancelot Andrewes, Doctoz alfo in Dininitie, succeeded him: nert, Doctoz Neale; and after him, Doctoz Mountaine.

Sebert was buried in this Church, with his wife Athelgoda; whose bodies, many peres after, to wit, in the raigne of Walfingham. Richard the fecond (faith Walfingham) were translated from the old Church to the new, and there interred.

Edgar, Bing of the West Saxons, repayzed this Monastes rie about the peere of Chaift, 958. Edward the Confessor builded it of new; whereupon T. Clifford waiteth thus:

Without the Walls of London (fayth hee) vpon the River of Thames, there was in times passed a little Monasterie, builded to the honour of God and S. Peter, with a few Benedictine Monkes in it, vnder an Abbot, scruing Christ: very poore they were, and little was given them for their reliefe. Here the King intended (for that it was neere to the famous Citie of London, and the River of Thames, that brought in all kind of Marchandizes from all parts of the world) to make his Sepulchre: He commanded therefore, that of the tenthes of all his Rents, the Worke should be begun, in such fort, as should become the Prince of the Apostles.

At this his commandement, the Mozke was nobly begun, euen from the foundation, and happily proceded, till the fame was finished: The charges bestowed, or to be bestowed, are

Edward, King, greets V Villiam Bishop, and Leosstane and A-lisse Portreeues, and all my Burgesses of London, friendly: and I tell you, that I have this given and granted to Christ and S. Peter, the holy Apostle at V Vestminster, full freedome over all the land that belongeth to that holy place, &c.

De also caused the Parish Church of B. Margaret to be new: Parish Church ly builded, without the Abby Church of Westminster, for the of S. Marga-ease and commodity of the Bonks, because (before that time) ret. the Parish Church stod within the old Abby Church in the the fift of his reigne, began the new work of our Ladies Chaps pell, whereof he layd the first stone in the foundation, and in the yeare 1245, the walls and steeple of the old Church (build ded by Ling Edward) were taken downe, and inlarging the same Church, caused them to be made more comely. For the surtherance whereof, in the yeare 1246, the same Ling (dinising how to extort money from the Citizens of London to Mathew Paris, wards the charges) appointed a Part to be kept at Westmin- A Mart at stee, the same to last sisteene dayes, and in the meane space all Westminster, trade of Parchandise to cease in the Citie, which thing the Citizens were faine to redeeme with 2000, it. of sluer.

The work of this Church, with the houses of Office, was finished to the end of the Quire, in the yeare 1285. the 14. of

Westminster with the Palace burned.

All which labour of 66. yeeres, was in the yeere 1299. Dea faced by a fire, kindled in the leffer Wall of the kings Balace, at Westminster, the same with many other houses adiopning. and with the Queenes Chamber were all confumed, the flame thereof also (being drinen with the wind) fired the Monastery. which was also with the Palace confumed.

Then was the Ponaltery againe repaired by the Abbots of that Church, king Edward the firft and his successors, putting to their belying hands.

Edward the fecond appropriated buto this Church, the Datronages of the Churches of Kelueden and Sabritfworth in Effex, in the Diocelle of London.

Simon Langham Abbot (hauing been a great builder there in the years 1362.) gane 400. li. to the building of the body of the Church : but (amongst others) Abbot Islip was (in his time) a great builder there, as may appeare in the ftone work, and glaffe windowes of the Church. Since whole beceafe, that worke hath Rayed as he left it, bnperfected, the Church and Steeple being all of one height.

New Chappell

Bing Henry the fewenth, about the peere of Chaiff 1502. at Westminst, caused the Chappell of our Lady, builded by Henry the third, with a Tauerne also called the White Rose neere adiopning, to be taken downe: in which plot of ground on the 24. of Jas maary, the first stone of the new Chappell, was laye by the hands of Abbot Iflip, Sir Regnald Bray, knight of the Barter, Doctor Barnes, Dafter of the Rolles, Doctor Wall, Chaplen to the King, Batter Hugh Aldham, Chaplen to the Countelle of Darby and Richmond (the Bings Pother) Sir Edward Stanhop, knight, and divers other : bpon the which Cone was engranen the same day and yeere, &c.

The charges in building this Chappell amounted to the fumme of 14000, pound. The stone for this worke (as I have beene informed) was brought from Huddlestone Quarrie in

The Altar and Sepulture of the same Bing Henry the cenenth, wherein his body resteth in this his new Thappel, was made and finished in the yeere 1519. by one Peter a Painter of Flozence: for the which he received 1000, pound farling, for the whole Auffe and workemanship, at the hands of the lings erecutors, Richard, Bithop of Winchester, Richard, Bithop of London, Thomas, Biffiop of Durham, John, Biffiop of Rochester, Thomas, Duke of Norfolke, Treasurer of England, Charles, Carle of Worcester, the Bings Chamberlaine, John Fineaux, Unight, chiefe Juffice of the Lings Wench, Robert Reade, Enight, chiefe Julice of the Common pleas.

Florence:

This Monasterie being valued to dispend by the yeere Westminster a 3470. pound, ec, was surrendzed to Henry the eight in the Bishops Sea. peere 1539. Benson then Abbet, was made the first Deane: and not long after, it was advanced to a Bishops Sea, in the peere 1541. Thomas Thurleby, being both the first and last 1Bis thop there, who, when he had imponerished the Church, was translated to Norwich, in the peere 1550. the fourth of Edward the firt, and from thence to Ely, in the yeere 1554. the fecond of Duene Mary. Richard Cox, Doctoz in Dininity (late Schole mafter to king Edward the firt) was made Deane of Westminster, whome Queene Mary put out, and made Doctoz Westen Deane, bntill the pere 1556. and then he being remoned from thence on the 21: of Ponember, John Feckenham (late Deane of Pauls) was made Abbot of Westminfter, and tooke poffestion of the same, being installed, and 14. Ponks more received the habite with him that day, of the ozder of S. Benedict : but the faid Iohn Feckenham, with his Monkes, entoped not that place fully three yeeres: for in the piere 1559. in the Poneth of July, they were all put out, and Queene Blizabeth made the faid Ponafferiea Colledge, in-Mituting there a Deane, twelve Pzebends, a Schoolemaffer, and Acher, 40. Schollers called commonly the Q. Schollers, 12. Almes men, and fo it was called the Collegiat Church of Westminster, founded by Ducene Elizabeth, who placed Doc Westminster

The highest estate full lowe;
Which coupleth greatest things with least,
And last with first also.
No man hath bin in world aline,
Nor any may there be;
Which can escape the dint of Death

Which can escape the dint of Death,
Needs hence depart must we.
O Noble and victorious man,
True not water the Grandele.

For all are subject vnto Death,
And all must hence at length.
Most cruell Fate from worldly Stage

For whomall England mourned lowd,
To see his dolefull plight,

Edward is dead, which was adorn'd
With divers graces here:

A King, or fragrant Nardus hight,
A gracious Princely Peere.
In heart the which was Leopardlike,

Right puissant, voide of feare.

Most flow to strife, discreet and wise, And gracious euery where. In Armes, a Gyant fierce and fell, Attempting famous facts: Most prudent, did subdue the proud, By feate of Martiall acts. In Flanders, Fortune gaue to him, By lot, right good successe: In Wales he wanne; the Scottish rout With Armes he did suppresse. This King without his like aliue Did firmely guide his Land: And what good nature could conceive, He had it plight at hand. Hee was in Instice, and in Peace Excelling: Lawes tooke place, Defire to chase all wicked workes, Did hold this Kings good Grace. Heenow doth lye entombed here, Which furthered each good thing : Now, nought he is but dust and bones, Which was a worthy King.

Gallorum mastix iacet hic Henricus in vrna. Domat omnia Virtus. Pulchrum virumque suum sociat tandom Katherina.

O mercifull God, what a Prince was this,
Which his short time in Martiall acts spent
In honour of conquest, that wonder to me it is,
How he might compasse such deeds excellent!
And yet for that his minde nothing detent,
All ghostly counsell for his Soule to prouide,
Out of this world, ere he fatally should slide.

So though I had Tully his eloquence, Or of Seneca the grave morality, Or of Salomon the perfect Sapience, Or the sweet Ditties of Dame Calliope; Yet might I not in Prose or other dittie,

Considering his acts, whereof parcell appeare
The time also was lesse then ten yeere,
That he so shortly brought all things about,
By Divine grace surthered no doubt:
That mighty Lord he holpe his ghostly Knight;
With grace and honor to passe this worlds fight,

And to have reward double and condigne,
And first for Martiall acts by him done,
To be advanc't amongst the Worthies nine,
And for his vertues vs'd by him estsoone, (done:
With many good deedes which hee on earth had
About the Hierarchies, he is (I trust) now stall'd,

The Temporall Government of this City, Somewhat discoursed in briefe manner.

Dis City of London being bnder the go' Patent. Aferis uernment of the Britaines, Romans, and Meneuem. Saxons, the most ancient and famous Florencius City of the whole Realm, was at length Wigor. Maridestroted by the Danes, gleft desolate, anus Scotus. as may appeare by our Pillozies. But Ælfred Bing of the West Saxons, hauing brought this whole Realme (from many parts) into one Ponarchie; honozably repayzed this City, and made it againe habitable, and then committed the cur fody thereof to his Sonne in law Adhered, Carle of Mercia. After whose vecease, the Citie, with all other possessions pertaining to the layd Carle, returned to King Edward, firnamed the Glder, &c. And so remained in the Kings hands, being gouerned buder him by Portgranes (or Portreues) which Portgraues. name is compounded of the 2. Saxon words, Porte and Gerefe 02 Reue. Porte betokeneth a Towne, and Gerefe fignifieth a Bardian, Kuler oz Reeper of the Towne.

These Gouernors of old time (fayth Robert Fabian) with the Lib. 8, Albani, lawes and customes then vsed within this Citie, were registred in a Booke, called, the Doomef-day Book, written in the Saxon Tongue : but of later dayes, when the lawes and customes were changed, and for that also the sayd Booke was of a small hand, fore defaced, and hard to be read or understood; it was leffe fet by, fo that it was imbezeled and loft. Thus farre Fabian.

Rob. Fabian.

Potwith Canding, I have found by fearch of divers old Hegiffers and other Records abroad; namely, in a Boke fome. time appertaining to the Ponastery of S. Albons, of the Posts graves, and other Governozs of this City, as followeth.

First, that in the reigne of King Edward the last, befoze the Run conquest.

conquest, Wolfegare was Portgraue, as may appeare by the

Cirizens of London called Burgefles.

Edward King greeteth Alfward Bishop, and Wolfgar my Portgraue, and all the Burgeffes of London. And afterward, that in another Charter, laing Edward greteth William, Bis hop, and Swetman my Bogtgraue. And after that, in another Charter to the Abbey of Chertfey : To William, Bithop, and Leofstane and Alffy Boztgraues.

In the reigne of William Conqueroz, William, Bithop of London, procured of the faid Conqueroz his Charter of Lie berties, to the same William, Bithop, and Godfrey, Dozts grane, in Saxon tongue, and turned into Englich, thus:

Charter of W.

William, King, greeteth William, Bishop, and Godfrey, Port-Conquerour. grave, and all the Burgesses within London, French and English: And I grant that they be all their law worth, that they were in Edwards daies the King. And I will that each child bee his Fathers heire. And I will not fuffer that any man do you wrong: and God you keepe.

> And then in the reigne of the faid Conquerour, and of William Rufus, Godfrey de Magnauile was Doztgraue, (02 Sheriffe) as may appeare by their Charters, and Richard de Par was Wouoff. Prouoft.

In the reigne of Bring Henry the first, Hugh Buche mas Bostgrane, and Leofitanus, Golofmith, Poonot, buried at Bermondley.

After them, Aubery de Vere was Doztgraue, and Robert I. Leyland. Bar Querel, Douoff. This Aubery de Vere was flaine in the reigne of King Stephen. It is to bee noted alfo, that Taing Henry the first granted to the Citizens of London, the Shirifwicke thereof, and of Middlefex, as in another place is thetwed.

Sheriffes.

Inthe reigne of Bing Stephen, Gilbert Becket was Posts

graue, and Andrew Bucheuer, Boundt .-

After him, Godfrey Magnauile, the Son of William, the Son of Godfrey Magnauile, by the gift of Maud the Empresse, was Dortgrave or Sheriffe of London and Middlefex, for the peres ly farme of their hundred pound, as appeareth by the Charter.

Ju:

In the time of King Henry the fecond, Peter Fitz Walter was Portgrane; after him, Iohn Fitz Nigel was Portgrane; after him, Ernulfus Buchel became Portgraue; and after him, William Fitz Isabel.

Thele Portgraues are also in diners Records called, Vice- Portgraues, comites, Micounties, 02 Sheriffes, as being binder an Carle; fince called for that thep then, as fince, bled that office as the Sheriffes of Sheriffes, and London do till this day. Some Authors do call them Doomef- Iudges of the men, Eldermen, og Judges of the Kings Court.

William Fitz Stephen, noting the effate of this City, and fore Vnder-Bouernment thereof in his time, bnder the reigne of King Sheriffes, Stephen, and of Henry the fecond, hath thefe woods:

This Citic (faith be) euen as Rome, is divided into Wards, it in the law, to hath yeerely Sheriffes in stead of Consuls, it hath the dignity of fit in their Courts. Senators and Aldermen, it hath Vuder-officers, and according Doomef-men, to the quality of Lawes, it hath seuerall Courts, and generall or Judges of Assemblies vpon appointed dayes.

Thus much for the antiquity of Sheriffes, and also of Al, Court. Dermen in severall Wards of this Citie map suffice : and now for the name of Bapliffes, and after that, of Paiors as follow. etb.

In the first pere of King Richard the first, the Citizens of Bailiffes of London obtained to bee governed by two Bailiffes, which Bailiffes are in dinors ancient deds called Sheriffes, accozding to the speech of the Law, which called the Shire Balliug. for that they (like as the Portgraves) bled the same office of Shainewick, for the which the City paid to fee farme, 300. lt. peerely as before, fince the reigne of H. the first, which also is pet paid by the City into the Exchequer butill this day.

They also obtained to have a Maioz, to bee their principall Bouernoz & Lieutenant of the City, as of the Lings Chamber. 1189 The names of the firl Bailiffes og Dfficers, entring into their office at the Featt of S. Michael the Archangell, in the vere of Chaiff 1189. were named Henry Cornhill, and Richard Reynere, Batiffes o; Sheriffes.

Aldermen and Sheriffes of London,

Pere be in this City, according to the number of Wards, 26. Albermen, whereof yeerely, on the Feast day of S. Michael the Archangell, one of them is elected to be Paior, for the years following, to begin on the 28. of Daober; the other Albermen his Brethren are to him Assistants in Councels, Courts, ec.

As the Wards are formerly set downe, according to the order of beginning Eastward: so I thought it sit to set down those Aldermens names, that have the instant government and direction of them, wherein let no exception be taken. Aldermen (not Knighted) are named as their Wards successively sollow, because this observation is only but for order sake.

Moze, there is a Recorder of London, a grave and learned Recorder of Lawyer, skilfull in the Customes of this City, also assistant London. to the Lord Paioz: he taketh place in Councels and in Courts, before any man that hath not been Paioz, and learnedly velicular the sentences of the whole Court.

The Sheriffes of London, (of old time) chosen out of the Sheriffes of Commonalty, Commoners, and oftentimes never came to be London. Aldermen; as many Aldermen were never Sheriffes, and pet advanced to be Paiozs. But of later time (by occasion) the Sheriffes have been made Aldermen, befoze, oz pzesently after their election.

Nicholas Faringdon was neuer Sheriffe, pet soure times Paioz of this Citie, and so of other; which reproueth a by-word, Such a one will be Paioz, before he be Sheriffe, &c.

The Sheriffes of London their Officers.

De Sheriffes of London, in the yeare 1471. were appoint I ted each of them to have 16. Dergeants, enery Dergeant to have his Beoman. And 6. Clarks, to wit, a Secondary, a Clarke of the Papers, and 4. other Clarks, befides the biders Sheriffes Clarks, their Stewards, Wutlers, Posters, and other in houshold manv.

Of the Maiors and Sheriffes Liueries fomewhat.

D follow prefident of former time, the Clarks of Comp panies were to enquire for them of their companies, that would have the Paiozs Livery, their money (as a beneuonga lence their names that gave it, and the Wardens to deliver it to the Paioz by the first of December. For the which, every man had then sent him four e pards of broad Cloth, rowed or striped thwart with a different colour, to make hima Gowne, and these were called Rey Colones, which was then the livery of the Paioz, and also of the Sheriffes; but each differing from others in the colours.

Disolver times I read, that the Officers of this Lity ware Gownes of party colours, as the right side of one colour, and the left side of another: as so, example: I reade in Bokes of Accounts in the Guild-Hall, that in the 19. yeare of Henry the sixt, there was bought for an Officers Gowne two yards of Cloth, coloured Dustard villars (a colour now out of bse) and two yards of Cloth coloured blue, price two chillings the yard in all eight shillings. Pore, paied to John Pope, Draper, so, two Gowne clothes, eight yards of two colours cux ambodeux de Rouge (or red) Medley Brune and Porre (or Purple) colour, price the yard 2. s. These Gownes were so? Piers Rider, and John Bukles, Clarkes of the Chamber.

Moze, Freade, that in the yeare 1516. in the 7. of Henry the 8. it was agreed by a common Councell in the Guild-Hall, that the Sheriffs of London Mould (as they had been accustomed) give yearely Reyed Gownes to the Recorder, Chamberlaine, common Sergeant, and common Clarke, the Sword bearer, Common Onnt, Water Bayly, common Crier, like

then being Paio2, made a request, for that clothes of kay (as he alledged) were easil wrought, his Officers might be permitted (contrary to custome) for that yeere to weare Gownes of one colour, to the which (in a common Councel) one answered and said; Pea, it might be permitted; and no man sayd nay, and so it passed. Thus much for party-coloured, thay Gowns have I read. But sor benevolence to the Paio2, I find that of later time, each man giving 40. s. towards his charges, received 4. yards of broad Cloth to make him a Gowne: for

Sir Thomas White performed it in the first pere of Q. Mary; but fir Thomas Lodge gaue (in feat of 4. pards of broad cloth) 3. yards of Satten to make them Dubblets, and fince that, the 3. pards of Satten is now turned into a filuer Spone, and fo it hath helo.

These Companies (severally at sundry times) purchased the Kings favour, and licence by his Letters Patents, to also ciate themselves in Brotherhoods, with Patter and Mary dens so, their government.

Pany also have procured Torporations with Priniledges, ec. But I reade not of licence by them procured for Liveries to be worne; but at their Bovernors discretion to appoint, as occasion requireth, sometime in triumphant manner, sometime more morning like, and such Liveries have they taken by on them, as well before, as since they were (by licence) also ciated into Brotherhoods or Torporations.

For the first of these Companies that I read of to be a Guild, Brotherhood or Fraternitie in this Citie, they were the Meaners, whose Guild was confirmed by King Henry the fecond.

The nert Fraternity, which was of S. Iohn Baptist, time out of minde, called of Taylozs, and Linnen Armozers of London; I find, that King Edward the first in the 28.0f his reigne, constrmed that Guild, by the name of Taylozs and Linnen Armozers, and gave to the Bzethzen thereof authority, yearely to chuse buto them a Governoz oz Paster, with Mardens, &c.

The other Companies have fince purchased licence of Societies, Brotherhoods, or Corporations, in the reignes of Edward the third, Richard the second, Henry the fourth, Henry the fift, Henry the fift, and Edward the fourth, and some of last 1236 De 20. of Henry the third, the Paioz, Aldermen, Sheriffes and Citizens of London, rode out to met the King and his new wife, Queen Eleanor, daughter to Reymond Beringarius of Aragon, Carle of Prouince and Narbone. The Citizens were clothed in long garments embroidered about with golde and filke of biners colours, their Boales fine. ly trapped, to the number of 360. enery man bearing a golden of filner Cup in his hand, the Kings Trumpets before them founding, te. as pe may reade in my Annales.

1300 The 29. of Edward the first, the land Bing toke to wife Margaret, Biffer to Philip Le Beau, Bing of France, and they were married at Canterbury. The Ducene was connais ed to London, and the Citizens, to the number of 600.rode in one Livery of Redoc and White, with the Tognizances of their Mpfteries embjoydered bpon their fleenes : thepreceis ned her foure miles out of London, and fo connaice her to Westminster.

1415 The 3. of Henry the fift, the layd king arrining at Douer, the Paio; of London, with the Albermen and Craftf. men riving in Red, with Poods Red and White, met with the Thing on the Blacke Hith, comming from Eltham, with his prisoners out of France.

1432 The 10. of Henry the 6. he being crowned in France, returning into England, came to Eltham towards London, and the Pais; of London, Sir Iohn Welles, the Albermen, with the Comminalty, rode to meet him on horse-backe, the Maioz in Crimfon beluet, a great beluet Bat furred, a girdle of gold about his mivole, and a Bawdzike of gold about his necke trapling downe behind him, his 3. Denremen on 3. great Courfers following him, in faire futes of Red, al spangs led with Aluer; then the Albermen in Gowns of Scarlet, with Sanguine Poods, and all the Comminalty of the Titie cloathed in white Gownes and Scarlet Poods, with divers Cognizances embzopbered on their Aceues, &c.

1485 The first of Henry the senenth, the Paioz, Albers men, Sherisses and Comminate, all cloathed in Niolet (as in a mourning colour) met the King at Shordisch, and convaied him to Pauls Church, where he offered his Banners.

Thus much for Lineries of Citizens in ancient times, both in Triumphs and otherwise may suffise; whereby may be observed, that the concrture of mens heads was then Hoods; for neither Cap or Hat is spoken of, except that Sir Iohn Welles, Pais; of London did weare a Hat in time of Triumph, but differing from the Hats lately taken in vie, and now commonly worne.

For Poblemens Lineries: I reade, that Thomas, Carlest Lancaster, in the reigne of Edw. the second, gave at Christmas in Lineries, to such as served him, 159. broad cloathes, allowing to every Garment, surres to surre their Poods.

Moze nærer our time, there pet remaine the counterfaits and pictures of Alderman, and others that lived in the reians of Henry the 6. and Edward the 4. namely, Alderman Darby, who dwelt in Fenchurch Areet, over against the parish Church of S. Dionis, left his picture, as of an Alderman in a Gowne of Scarlet on his backe, a Bood on his head, ac. as is in that boufe (and elfe where) to be feene.

Hold the glasse windowes of the Maiors Court in the Goild-Hall, about the Kaires, the Paior is there pictured, sitting in an habite, party-coloured, and a Pood on his head, his Sward-bearer before him, with an Pator Cap of maintenance, the Common Clark, and other Officers bare headed, their Poods on their shoulders. And therefore Itake it, that the ble of square Bonnets, worne by Podtemen, Gentlemen, Citizens and others, tooke beginning in this Realme, by H. the 7. and in his time: for of further antiquity, I can see no counterfaite, or other proofess vie. H. the 8. (towards his latter reigne) did weare a round flat cap of Grarlet, or of beluet, with a brouch or Jewell, and a feather; viners Gentlemen, Courtiers & other side the like.

The youthfull Citizens also twke them to the new fathion of flat Caps, knit of wollen yarne black; but fo light, that they were forced to the them buder their chinnes, for elle the wind would be mafter ouer them. The ble of thefe flat round caps so far increased (being of lette price then the French Wonet) that in Most time, some young Albermen tooke the wearing of them, Sir Iohn White ware it in his Paiozalty, and was the first that left example to his followers : but now the Spanish Felt, or the like counterfait, is most commonly of all men (both Spirituall and Tempozall) taken to ble, fo that the French Bonet og square Cap, and also the round og flat Cap, haue (for the most part) given place to the Spanish Felt.

But pet in London, amongst the graner foat (I meane the Liveries of Companies) remaineth a memory of the Poods, of old time worne by their predecessors : These Boods were then worne, the Roundelets bpon their heads, the Skirts to hang behind in their neckes to keepe them warme, the Tippit to lpe on their Moulder, or to wind about their neckes; thefe Boods were (of old time) made in colours, according to their Gownes, which were of two colours, as Revand Blue, 02 Red and Purple, Purrey, or as it pleafed their Paffers and Wardens to appoint to the Companies.

13ut now of late time they have bled their Gownes to be all of one colour, and those of the saddett, but their Boods being made the one halfe of the fame cloth their Gownes bee on, the other halfe remaineth Red, as of old time. And fo Jend, as wanting time to travell
