LETTER

FROM THE

Facetious Dr. T R I P E, &c.Right Venerable,

THAT Aggregate Philosopher, Mr. Isaac Bickerstaff, of most memorable Countenance, does, I remember, in several of his Moral Aphorisms, make very honourable Mention of himself, for such of his Essays, as were levelled at the general Benefit of Mankind; and, upon this Head, does fairly give himself the Preference to all the Learned, his Contemporaries, from Dr. S—ft himself, even down to Poet Cr—spe of the Custom-House.

This, with due Respect to his Memory, favours somewhat more of Self-love, than cou'd be well expected from so unbyass'd a Philosopher: For I can see no Reason, nor do I believe he himself cou'd, why the elaborate Productions of those who sweat hard to rescue the laudable Actions of the Town, or Corporation, where they either were born, or of which they were Inhabi- tants, from the Jaws of Oblivion, and transmit them with Decency to Posterity shou'd not deserve, at least, an equal Encomium.

Upon this Consideration I have, with unwearied Application, and no small Expence in Coffee and Tobacco, perused all the Neotegraphical Tracts as well Foreign as Domestick, lately published by those painful and accurate Penmen, the News-writers, as the Vulgar term them, that I might thoroughly inform my self, what Account they gave the World, of the Magnificent Reception, which the Inhabitants of this Ancient and Noble City of Bath, gave to the invaluable Present, which you did them the Honour lately to make them; And see whether they handled so important a Point, with that Nicety of Truth, and Majesty of Stile, that the History of so solemn a Ceremony required. But, to my great Astonishment, and much greater Concern, I found 'em all, (to their Discredit be it spoken) as Silent upon the Matter, as if such a Thing had never been, in rerum Natura; or at least, had happen'd in the dark Days of Popery and Ignorance.

'Tis true, it is hard to condemn so Numerous and so eminent a Body of Learned Men,

Men, in some whereof, 'tis possible, it might be unpremeditated Omission: But in Others, especially those of our own Island, I cannot forbear thinking it was downright Spleen and Envy: And (God forgive me) I have a strong Suspicion, that my very good Friend, the indefatigable and judicious Mr. Abel, whom I look upon to be the President of all the Hebdomadal Writers of this Century, has a great deal to answer on this Head. In Love therefore to the Town of Bath, to which I have the Honour of being Physician in Ordinary: And, out of my most profound Respect, Sir, for your Venerable Person, (whose unparallel'd Bounty, I would gladly see perpetuated to all succeeding Ages) I have diligently consulted Our Publick Records, and with utmost Fidelity transcribed from them the following Copy.

' Sometime about the latter
 ' End of October, Anno 12 Regine Regist. Ann.
 ' Anne. As Mr. Mayor, Mr. Re- 12. Regine
 ' corder, the Facetious Dr. Andrew Anna. Fol.
 ' Tripe, (meaning your most 36.
 ' humble Servant) Mr. Lenitive the Apo' thecary, and several other worthy Citi' zens, were, one Afternoon at the Coffee' house, gravely discoursing of Politicks, and

' were insensibly fallen into a Polemical
 ' Argument, upon this intricate and im' portant Question, Whether, in case the ' Pope of Rome shou'd have a Fancy to alter
 ' his State, and take unto him a Wife, An ' Act of Parliament wou'd be either, a neces- ' sary, or a Sufficient Warrant for his so ' doing? While the Point was discuss'd
 ' with that Solidity of Learning, and Ma' turity of Thought, that cou'd be expe' cted from a Company of such bright Men,
 ' especially upon so ticklish a Subject, who
 ' shou'd come in, but Mr. Isaac Bickerstaff,
 ' Intelligencer General of the Town, by ' whose earnest Looks, and violent Pant' ing for Breath, they soon perceived, that ' he was big with some Occurrence of Mo' ment, of which he wanted to be imme' diately delivered.

But, before I proceed any further in this great Undertaking, I find my self oblig'd, Most Learned Sage, by the Rules of Method, to make a small Digression, in order to give you a cursory Description of the Person, Parts, and Profession of Mr. Isaac Bicker- staff, because I conceive it to be a Preliminary absolutely requisite towards the right Understanding of this great History, and because without such Digression (according to Agreement with my Bookseller) this my Letter would not make so considerable a Figure as to reach the Price of Six Pence, which however, as it is Inter nos, I desire my remain a Secret between me and my Reader.

Mr. Isaac, you must know, Sir, is much about your own Age and Size, and, if I may credit those who pretend to know you, not unlike you in the Face. He is of a Saturnine Complexion, not without some visible Indications of suffering much by the Obstructions in the Hippocondria, from whence heavy and Caliginous Fumes continually ascending to the Region of his Head, do powerfully invade the Territory of his Brain, where, meeting with little Resistance, through the too much Natural Imbecillity of the Part, they make a most sad Havock in the Glandula Pinealis. This renders him anxious all the While he is awake, disturbs him when asleep, and makes him dream of nothing else but Chains, Gallies, Gibbets, Raw-heads and Bloody-bones, by the terrifying Relation of which, he often frightens many of the Children of Her Majesty's good Subjects from their Bread and Butter.

He has uaturally a downcast foreboding Aspect, which, they of the Country hereabouts, abouts, call a Hanging Look, and an unseemly Manner of Staring, with his Mouth wide open, and Under-Lip propending, especially when any ways disturb'd; which is a vehement Diagnosis, that there is a great Relaxation in the Optick-Nerves, by which their Communication with the Pia Mater is become unactive, and the Poignancy of the Intellects render'd Obtuse.

He takes a great Deal of Pains to persuade his Neighbours, that he has a very short Face, and a little flat Nose, like a diminutive Wart, in the middle of his Visage, because he was told once by a Dutch Fortune-Teller, that high hook'd Noses were very ominous, and denoted Cowardice, whereas that other Simmetry was an infallible Indication of Choler predominant, which he hopes, may upon Occasion supply his Natural Want of Courage.

His Eyes are large and prominent, too big of all Conscience, for the Conceited Narrowness of his Phiz, and have been for some Years very Subject to an Infirmary, which We Doctors call the Gutta Serena; and though he has been often told of the wonderful Cures lately perform'd by the Famous Optthalmist Dr. Henrick, all over the Kingdom, he will not be perswaded to make use of him, but calls him Quack, at the same Time, that he knows full well, that the honest Doctor is allow'd by the College to practice, after a most rigorous Examination.
not

His Back, tho' not very broad, is well turn'd, and will bear a great deal : I have seen him my self, more than once, carry a vast Load of Timber. His Legs also are tolerably substantial, and can Stride very wide upon Occasion, but the best Thing about him is a handsome Pair of Heels, which he takes special Pride to shew, not only to his Friends, but even to the very worst of his Enemies.

As to his Parts, he sets up for a Virtuoso, a Philosopher, and what not! And does not only believe it himself, but has perswaded others too, that he has a Monstrous Wit: One Day, he gave Bills about for Folks to come and see it, but unadvisedly demanding Two Pence a Piece, he was hiss'd, and booted at, in a most unbecoming Manner: This made him afterwards be somewhat Cautious, how he ventured abroad with it; And it is observed that, almost ever since, all his Discourses have been gravely dull, without the least larding of Wit.

Notwithstanding this, Men of as profound Parts as himself do really allow that he has not only a Genius naturally adapted to Schemes and Projects, but was actually the First Inventer of Certain surprising Paper---Machines, which, by only looking upon 'em, make People almost as wise as they were before, to the great Wonder and Satisfaction of all the Beholders. It was he also, that first discovered that the Chin of Man was a Musical Instrument, and taught Boys how to play upon it; a Harmony indeed altogether unknown to Antiquity. And I am credibly inform'd, that he has now almost brought to Perfection a System, for fixing the Moveable Feasts, after so wonderful a Manner, that from this present Year One Thousand Seven Hundred and Thirteen, to the Year Seventeen Thousand and Twenty Four, inclusive, Easter Day may always fall on a Sunday; which must needs be, of vast Use towards reconciling the ill natur'd Difference so long maintain'd betwixt the Julian and Gregorian Account.

He has moreover an exquisite Faculty in finding out the Harmony of Monosyllables, by the help of which, he can easily muster, upon Occasion, a Power of pretty

ty Sounding Words, signifying Nothing: This he calls his Art of Lerology, that is, of saying a great Deal to little Purpose, and designs it for a perpetual Fund to pay his Debts with,

It is reported by some, that he has attain'd the Menstruum of Hermes; and can make the basest of Dutch-Coin, pass for true Sterling. Others will have it, that he Dreams with his Eyes open; can dissolve Ice by the help of Fire, and tell Boys by looking in their Faces, if their Noses stand awry; for which he has been reputed a Necromancer. But his Master-Talent lies in picking up, and retailing of Threadbare Stories: And it is to his wonderful Sagacity herein, that we of this Town owe the first Hints of the Death of that worshipful Knight, Sir Roger de Coverly. But there is a dreadful Misfortune attends him, that as he seldom speaks Truth, so he is seldom or never believ'd; and as he not only will invent most unmerciful Relations of Matters here and there transacted, so he has another Property, that for the Heart's Blood of him, he cannot tell a Story, as it told him, but let it be never so often repeated, will be sure to endeavour to adorn it with his own Flourishes, and

the gentle Reader is often disappointed, when he thinks himself sure of knowing Something; which, whether it proceeds from any Lesion, or Defect in the Cerebellum, from a Natural Dulness of Apprehension, or a Deceptio visus of his Memory, will appear one of these Days, when his Brains come, after a decent Execution, to be dissected at Surgeon's Hall.

Altho' some invidious Persons have endeavour'd by oblique Hints, to suggest, that he is no Scholar, it is a most malicious Insinuation; for, to my own Knowledge, he went sometimes to School, when he was a Boy; and I can solemnly affirm, that, besides a curious Dissertation, which he has lately publish'd upon the Liberty and Property of the Three great contending Rivals, WHO, THAT, and WHICH; and the entertaining Dialogues betwixt the Watchman and his Goose: This very individual Mr. Isaac Bickerstaff has actually in the Press, a most Elaborate Treatise, which must needs be of unconceivable Emolument to such of the Inhabitants of this Island, as can neither read, nor write; of which, I am told, the Generality of his Subscribers consist. In this learned Piece, 'tis said, he has demonstrated, almost Mathematic thematically, with what Brightness and Vivacity he can abstract Acts of Parliament, and, that, to the no little Mortification of some Nocturnal Pains-Takers about the Temple, he has made as great a Proficiency in the Law, as ever he did in Physick or Divinity, or any other Art or Science.

His Elocution is not what ought to be least admired: And, bating that he is very apt sometimes to mistake one Thing for another, I know no Man alive will talk more of Matters altogether beyond his Reach: Which I take to proceed from hence, that having had his first Education in a Coffee-house, where such Bright Men, as You and I did usually resort, and heard them frequently discourse of the Interest of England, Ballance, of Europe, Exorbitant Growth of France, Danger of Popery, Prerogative of the Crown, Rights of the People, Power of Parliament, Magna Charta, Religion, Liberty, Property, Commerce, Navigation, and the like, he was so charm'd with the Sound, that without troubling his Head in the least, about the true Meaning of those Terms, he got a reasonable Quantity of 'em by Heart, which he repeats at Random in all Company : And has in a great Measure perswaded himself into a Belief, that his being so often in the Room where these Gentlemen used to talk, is Reason enough for him to understand the Matter as well as they did. Like Bessus the Centurion, of whom a certain Author of great Antiquity, writes, that he fancied himself to be unmeasurably valiant, because he happen'd once to march along with an Army of Fifty Thousand gallant Lacedemonians. Or that other extraordinary Person, I think his name was Rhodomontadoides mention'd somewhere by Strabo, who having but a bare promise once of seeing the Roman Senate in a full House, it so tickl'd his Fancy, that he already believed himself wise enough to prescribe Laws to the whole Empire.

I must not undertake, O wise Man, to inform you exactly, what Religion he is of; for though he'll shake the Parson of the Parish familiarly by the hand; make him a reverend Bow as he passes by, and follow him sometimes to the Church, yet he declares publickly, that he cannot be reconcil'd to the Church-Wardens, for suffering the Pulpit to stand too high, or rather for suffering the Pew to stand by the Pulpit.

Pro-

Profaneness and Immorality are what he cannot justly be tax'd with : For he has a discreet Woman to his Wife, who keeps a very strict Hand over him, and by giving him now and then due and wholesome Correction, makes him live within decent Bounds : For which, tho' he dares not mutter a Syllable within her hearing, for fear of the Strapado, he rails most bitterly at Petticoat Government, behind her back ; and says, it is a burning Shame, that Women shou'd be suffer'd to have so great a Sway, when there are so many Good Men in Germany.

One thing I had like to have forgot, and that is, his most profound Skill in the Rules of Motion, especially that Branch of it, that relates to Dancing, which he defines, An Epitome of all Humane Learning. And I am told by an Intimate of his, that he has now ready for the Press, several curious Essays upon the several Parts of that truly Noble, and Comprehensive Science, wherein he proves by Arguments Physical, Musical and Mathematical, that Dancing is not only the Primum Mobile of all Arts and Sciences ; but that the Motion of the Sun, Moon, and other Celestial Bodies, is but a sort of a Cheshire Round, Round, which they dance to the Musick of the Spheres. And moreover, that the principal Seat of humane Souls, especially those of the fair Sex, is in the Heels, of which he gives this as an experimental Demonstration, that whenever you take a Woman fast hold by them, 'tis ten to one but her Soul is your own; Besides several other new and valuable Discoveries, too many to be inserted here, which I pass Euphoniæ Gratia, to come to his Profession.

This was lately, what, in some Sense, might be term'd Martial; for he was a Serjeant in the Militia, and in a fair way of mounting in time to the Dignity of Provost, but having a natural Aversion to that French familiar Way, of hitting one another most Ungentleman like Blows, too frequent amongst Military Men, he judiciously laid aside his Halberd, and is now saluted by the Name of Doctor.

I cannot omit inserting here, that some have industriously spread a Report, that he formerly had got his living, as his Father had done before him, by Subverting, and New Modelling the Antient Constitution of English Beards in Church and State; And was, what we vulgarly call, a Barber, from the Latin word Barba, which, according according to some Authors of Note and Antiquity, signifies, you know, that portion of hair, that grows upon humane Faces. But I do Bona Fide, look upon this part of the story to be altogether Apocriphal.

As to his present Circumstances, I can vouch for him, that he is above all such Calumnies, and in a fair way of soon having the Whip hand of all the Malignants that oppose him; For he has not only a Prospect of being Beadle of his Parish, if the Church-Wardens will but approve of his Election: But has already a Magisterial Recipe, with which he does not doubt, if you believe his pristed Bills, to cure all such of our Countrymen, as are troubled with the Heart-burn, and Grumblings in the Gizzard, provided, they will but religiously abstain from mentioning the two fatal Words, Nantz, and Bourdeaux, which, with immense labour and study, he has lately discover'd, to be impregnated with an occult Quality highly destructive to the English Commerce.

He extolls to the very Sky his new Method of preparing Steele-Pills, with which he proposes in Time to open all the obstructed Spleens of this Nation. This is also a Narcotick and a Nostrum : But his Arcanum Magnum is, his Emplastrum pro Nucha, which, I am fully satisfied, is a Specifick Catholicon for all Distempers if rightly applyed, and tyed on Secundum Artem under the left Ear. This he has studied ex professo for the present ease, and relief of such of his Friends as are not very well in their Minds ; And I hope they will find the Benefit of it : It is a Noble Preparation of Hemp-seed, which he holds to be that true Seed of the right female Fern, so mightily cryed up by Modern Philosophers.

structed

All these great points thus duly premis'd, it is not improbable, but that in the Frontis-piece of a well bound Book, You may one of these days, meet with this Great Man's Vera Effigies, handsomely cut, and underneath it, his Name Isaacus Bickerstaffius printed at full length, with an Anno Aetatis. &c. and the additional Title of Medicus : Which he may very well do, if what a modern Critick of stupendious Erudition observes in his Annotations upon Horace, be true, that the Words Medicus, and Madicus were antianiently usurp'd by most of the Arabian Writers, to signify the self same thing, tho' of late Days they are quite of a different Acceptation.

Having thus far, most Venerable Sage, trespass'd upon your Patience, and given you succinctly such Items as were absolutely necessary, I think my self oblig'd to acquaint you what Opinion some Persons have conceived of you and of your late Behaviour, and Correspondence with the Inimitable Mr. Bickerstaff.

There are, I can assure you, who with Confidence have reported, That your new Acquaintance has debauch'd your Principles, and since his declaring himself of the Profession, he has given you some bewitching Philter, by which he has gain'd an absolute Ascendant over your Will and Understanding, and instill'd such Notions into you as are altogether Heterodox, Antimonarchical, and unworthy of your Character. It has been spread Abroad, that like Sir Sydrachel of old, he has perswaded you, that the Clouds were enchanted Castles, fill'd with Arms, Ammunition, Magick Spells, and Sorcerers; and that with Squibs and Crack- ers and stink-Pots, you have attempted to Demolish them. I wish I cou'd recount all the Stories told concerning you; how many ridiculous Pamphlets you have wrote; what Pranks you have plaid, what Goods you have dispos'd of, how many Sorts of Strong-Waters you are used to drink in twenty four Hours, and who has been forc'd to pay the Reckoning; what Deliriums you have run into; how you have asserted, that every Man in England is accountable to you, and, as the Representative of the whole British Nation, have drawn up Memorials concerning Her Majesty's Male Administration, and in the Name of all Her Subjects, demanded Justice of Her against Her self. One Thing, Sir, I more particularly remember they said of you, and which is scarcely possible to be believ'd, that you attempted to make an Englishman of Teague. It is strange, says I to some Gentlemen who were talking after this Manner, how one Man may be mistaken in another. I remember this old Man, he was one of my Patients, but little did I think he was such a dangerous Person as you have represented him; he always appear'd to me a good-natur'd, sociable, facetious Gentleman, and indeed I took him for one of those old Wits, who are naturally very costive, such as I have often met with in the Course of my Practice; for besides his being subject to a Fistula and Flux of the Hemorrhoids, the Sphincter of the Anus was broke with the immoderate Use of Suppositories. An Humorist he was indeed, 'tis true, and somewhat too tenacious of his own Opinion; but setting that aside, I don't know I have met with a Man of late Years, which seem'd to be more entertaining and inoffensive Conversation; especially, says I, in the back Room at Button's.

I told them, how you had seen King Harry, the last of that Name, in Hanging-Sleeves; of your first Appearance in the Commonwealth of Learning, about March last; and how at these Years you had consecrated your Studies to the Service of the Ladies: In short, Sir, I conceal'd nothing that would tend to your Advantage, or take off the Calumnies that I was conscious were the inhospitable Endeavours of wicked Men to blacken you; and I now must beg your Leave to proceed regularly, and to knot the Thread of my Story where I broke it off in the Beginning.

Mr. Bickerstaff was scarce seated, when turning himself abruptly to the Company; Gentlemen, says he, This is a wonderful Age we live in, and a great many most surprising things are daily to be met with in it, which escape the Observation of us, that are Learned, and yet are taken Notice of by the illiterate People of low Life. Mr. Sly, the Attorney, is just arrived from London, and has put me in mind of two most remarkable things, which, tho' I have rid that Way above a dozentimes, I never reflected on before. The one is, that, by exact Calculation, he has found the Road from London to Bath, to be every whit as long, as that from Bath to London. The other, that, let the Weather be never so uncertain, the Weathercock, for the most Part, points to that Corner that the Wind blows from.

A third thing he likewise told me, and indeed the most Material of all; but I made such haste to come and acquaint you with it, that I vow and profess, I have quite forgot what it was: And yet, if my Memory does not fail me, it was of the greatest Consequence to this City of Bath, of any perhaps that has happen'd since the Revolution. But alas! Memoria hominis is but a leaky Vessel:
And

And it was the Saying of a very wise Statesman, that it is but bad walking in Slippery Weather: However, it is no small Comfort, to be able to recollect what is not possible to be remember'd. But it is not given to all Folks, I find, to be as wise as some, for this substantial Reason, That the longer we live, the older we grow. In short, Gentlemen, Quod dixi, dixi; I told you my Author, Hicce Oculis audivi. You may ask him, he is of Age, and an Attorney, who wou'd no more tell an Untruth, than anyone of his Profession.

The World, I hope, will allow that I am a Learned Man, and a Wise Man; and will always, I believe, lay that Stress upon my Sayings, as not to put any other Body's whatsoever in Competition with them, without the least Detriment to Characters or Professions. Besides, dato sed non Concesso, that I have forgot it, the most you can make on't, is, that such extraordinary Wits as mine, are generally attended with the Want of Memory, for which however, that of solid Judgment does always make ample Attonement.

And

And now perhaps, sir, when this Letter comes to be printed, it may be expected, that I should make good my Promise in the Title Page, concerning the Reception of your Present, and what Answer the Company return'd to this more than common Rhetorician. Pardon me, O courteous Reader, for already detaining thee so long; it is better for both you and me to be at Rest, after we have travel'd lovingly together for so many tedious Pages. If I have Time and Opportunity, I may once more perhaps, to the Satisfaction of us both, uncase my Spectacles to peruse the Records, which, according to the late Canto, may afford us

Fit Matter for another Song,

I am not, I am sensible, the first Modern who has fell short of his Title Page; diverse and sundry Examples have I before my Eyes, of Poets, Criticks, Commentators, Philosophers, and Politicians, who have play'd the same Game in all Places and in all Ages of the World. Several Precedents, most learned sage, could I deduce out of your own Works, and the Lucubrations of Mr. Bickerstaff, of Matters begun, but never ended, done and undone, to the Surprise

prise of all your Readers ; of Acts of Parliament, prov'd unalterable, by the same Power that made them, in an Advertisement, and dropt, because it was High Treason to assert it upon the Publication of the Crisis.

Thus far, O Wise Man, with much Labour and Diligence have I brought this great Work, to the wished for Conclusion, and by carefully comparing the Coffee-House Oration with the Original, do find, that it is Religiously exact. Come, I therefore to appeal to your own Learned Self, whether the Great Bickerstaff was not too partial, in ascribing such Pre-eminence to those Speculations, which he writ, filed, and polish'd at his own Leisure : Whereas, the Time, which I employ'd in gathering Materials for this valuable Performance, was stolen from the Hours of my Natural Rest ; after having, for the Good of my Country, spent all the live-long Day, as the Poets express themselves, In Triviiis, & Quadriviiis, delivering my salutiferous Instructions to all Comers and Goers, and expos'd to the Rigour of the Seasons, under the wide Canopy of Heaven. But as I have this Comfort, that I underwent this great Fatigue, purely to rescue the City where where I generally reside, from the Imputation of Ingratitude, which otherwise it might be liable to; so I may, without Vanity, say, that I have, Uno Ictu, purchas'd to my self by it the Veneration of the Learned World, my own private Satisfaction, and the Thanks of my Fellow Citizens; whose hearty Acknowledgments likewise, as well as my own, I return you, most Antient Sage, for your desirable Present. And, as I do not question, but you will, for the Publick Good, and your own Credit, be at the Charges of Reprinting this Authentick Monument of your Liberality, so I desire, there may be Copies enough to furnish every Family in England with one. And because other Nations may also reap the Benefit of your Labours, I have not only prevail'd with my Learned Acquaintance, Mr. Griffith Evans ap Rice, Professor of the Cambrian Tongue at Oxford, to translate them into Welch, but have sent also Copies of them into Ireland, to the renowned Antiquary Cormack O Cuillinane, and to old Gillaspick Mackintosh, chief Chronographer of the Highland Clans of Scotland, from whom I have lately receiv'd some curious Memoirs, with which I may perhaps, one of these Days oblige

the Commonwealth of Learning. And as I am well satisfy'd of the Place which I have gain'd in your most wise E- steem, by this my vast Undertaking, so I beg Leave to assure you, that I shall be ready, upon all Occasions, to let the World know of your great Merit, and how much I am,

Learned, Wise, and Venerable Sir,

Your most Humble,

Bath, Nov. 16.

1713.

And most devoted Servant,

A. Tripe, M. D.

POSTSCRIPT.

I Had no sooner finish'd my Letter, most venerable Sage, but reflecting on the Happiness, which we that are Learned, do now enjoy, by living in the same Age with you, I cou'd not but be pleas'd to think, that when Posterity shall peruse your Learned Productions, and enquire who were your Contemporaries, what a handsom mention will be made of my self, upon the Account of my Correspondence with you. This, as it cou'd not but be a most sensible Satisfaction to me, so it naturally led me into the melancholly Thought, of what an irreparable Loss the Publick wou'd sustain by the Death of so valuable a Person; and remembering, that I heard of your being lately afflicted with a continual Dizziness in your Head, and a sudden Dimness in your Sight, I immediately writ to my two worthy Friends, Sir William R——d and Cornelius Tilb-rg, who, as they were formerly the Ornament of the Stage Itinerant, so now they are an Honour to the Profession, and beg'd of them to send me a full Account count of the Causes, Nature, Rise and Progress of your Malady. They acquitted themselves herein with a great Deal of Generosity and Erudition; and from their learned Observations I immediately comprehended, that the chief Origin of those Chronical Distempers proceeded from your immoderate Feeding upon Sallads; not only such as were pick'd and prepar'd by Master-Cooks, as Sidney and Lock; but likewise those that were hastily dish'd up by the Unskilful, Tutchin and Ridpath, &c. which creating too many Crudities in the Stomach, do continually transmit to the Upper Region a strange Chaos of black, heavy, and indigested Vapours, that do not only over power the innate Imbecillity of the Brain, but also obstruct the Passages of the Optick Nerves, from whence those stubborn Affections of your Head and Eyes do naturally follow.

Hereupon I zealously apply'd my self; Night and Day, to consult the most valuable Nostrums of all our Celebrated Oracles; and with Joy and Satisfaction have excerpted from them a Medicine of the greatest Vertue, which in the Name of the Worshipful Mr. Mayor, and the Rest of his Brethren, I have sent you by

the Carrier in Three Gallipots, as a grateful Return for your late Present.

This, by the Natural Antipathy of the Ingredients, will work powerfully upon the Crudities, correct the peccant Hu- ours, and you will soon find the powerful Effects of it. It is a Sudorifick, Dia- retick, Carminative, and a soporifick. It immediately puts all the Humours in a Ferment, separates the Good from the Bad, attracts to it self, by an occult Sympathy, all the Rebellious Particles, dissolves them in a Thrice, and scowers all before it like a Scavenger. Take the Quantity of a Nutmeg horis Medicis.

Outwardly you must apply to the Re- gion of the Heart, a Plaister of the Ru- brum Henrici, and wash your Eyes twice a Day with the Ophthalmick Water I prescrib'd to you, when at Bath.

But in case your Distemper shou'd prove so obstinate; as not to yield to these most sovereign Remedies; your last Refuge must be, a Cataplasm of Hemp, apply'd Cravatwise to your Neck, which, tho' in its Operation it be somewhat violent, yet it is an infallible

(31) infallible One, if rightly used; according to that celebrated Observation of one of our Learned Predecessors.

This with a Firk will do your Work, and and cure you o're and o're; Read, Judge, and Try, and if you Die, never believe me more.

Let your Dyet be regular, and drink good Wines, and of the best Growth: But, by all Means, you must renounce Holland, Geneva and Brunswick Mum: For one corrupts your Lungs, and the other stupa-fies your Intellects.

If you observe exactly the Method of these Prescriptions, as I hope you will, I don't doubt, but that in a little Time, you will be generous enough, to acknowledge, that our Present is a Match for your own; and that whatever Advantage you may have over us in Years and Learning, you have none in the Point of Liberality.

Yours,

Ut supra.

F I N I S,
