Terms of Subscription, Regulations, &c.

The annual subscription, twenty shillings.—Half yearly, ten shillings and sixpence.—Quarterly, six shillings.—Monthly, two shillings and sixpence.—Catalogues, sixpence.

The subscription to be paid at the time of subscribing, and at the commencement of every subsequent term, and a deposit made when required.

Should a subscriber, through any cause whatever, detain a publication beyond the time subscribed for, the subscription will continue open, and must be paid, until such publication is returned.

If a subscriber lend a book to a non-subscriber, he forfeits his subscription; neither is it allowable to transfer books to other subscribers.

If a book be written in, torn, or damaged, while in the possession of a subscriber, that book, or, if it belongs to a set, the set of books to be paid for at the price affixed in the catalogue.

To prevent disappointment, it is requested that subscribers will send a list of ten or fifteen numbers from the catalogue, of such books as they want; and, in order to facilitate a general accommodation, it is most earnestly intreated, that all NEW PUBLICATIONS may invariably be returned as soon as read.

Subscribers are requested particularly to observe, that they cannot be permitted to retain NEW PUBLICATIONS longer than THREE DAYS, without incurring the forfeiture of one penny a day on each volume.
