

Zimmerman's stimulating fluid, for rheumatism and palsy.

Publication/Creation

London : Printed by T. Burton, No. 31, Little Queen-Street, 1801.

Persistent URL

<https://wellcomecollection.org/works/cfhnwxkt>

License and attribution

This work has been identified as being free of known restrictions under copyright law, including all related and neighbouring rights and is being made available under the Creative Commons, Public Domain Mark.

You can copy, modify, distribute and perform the work, even for commercial purposes, without asking permission.

Wellcome Collection
183 Euston Road
London NW1 2BE UK
T +44 (0)20 7611 8722
E library@wellcomecollection.org
<https://wellcomecollection.org>

EPB 61996/P

ZIMMERMAN'S

Stimulating Fluid,

FOR

RHEUMATISM

AND

PALSY.

---

LONDON:

PRINTED BY T. BURTON, NO. 31,

LITTLE QUEEN-STREET.

1801.

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2018 with funding from Wellcome Library

---

---

ZIMMERMAN'S

Stimulating Fluid, &c.

---

THE universal knowledge which phyfic leads to, through its intimate connection with whatever regards our system,
will sufficiently indicate a reason for the superiority of understanding

derstanding they possess, who have attained celebrity in that profession; we hesitate not to rank, among the most eminent of the present age, the late scientific physician, Zimmerman, of whose abilities, both as a literary and medical character, none, most assuredly, can entertain the smallest doubt.

Among many valuable tracts none deserve more the attention and commendation of MAN-KIND,

KIND, than a treatise written by him, some years since, in which he particularly notices an exceedingly active and powerful remedy, the name of which we literally translate the “STIMULATING FLUID;” he lays it down, that “the grand object in the cure of all paralytic complaints, is the creating an irritation, in order to bring warmth and life to the affected part, as the original cause of this malady.”

“arises from a want of them
“in the parts affected.”—This want we naturally conceive to be occasioned by internal obstructions of the vessels; in Rheumatic affections, through external deficiency of the necessary moisture, by a check of perspiration; to remove which it is out of the power of the materia medica to afford so instantaneous a remedy, as the one so long successfully administered by the learned Doctor.

AS RHEUMATISMS AND PALSIES are local maladies, local remedies must be most conducive to effect their cure; we scarcely have one instance of THEIR being general throughout the system; in the former complaint, the JOINTS are more immediately affected than the other parts, which those who have been, or are, unfortunately afflicted by it can fully attest.

The

The method of treatment and application of the FLUID in both disorders, to use the Doctor's own words, are as follows :-

“ The affected part should “ be well brushed, and after- “ wards suffered to remain for “ a short time in warm water;
 “ when dried, a piece of flannel
 “ should be dipped in the fluid,
 “ and bound round the part,
 “ after having been well rubbed
 “ with it.”

Should

Should the complaint affect the KNEES, great care must be taken that the feet be not placed without a support to the leg and thigh, else the muscles will be over-distended; for, to that cause must be attributed the violent and excruciating pains people experience, after having remained a length of time in any one position.

Such is the efficacy of this incomparable preparation, that several veral persons of the greatest respectability, who have derived no relief from the Bath waters and bathing, have testified their warmest satisfaction at the benefit they have received through its use, although only applied three or four times.

The proprietor of this excellent discovery is well aware of the prejudice entertained against advertised medicines; but he conceives no other method is so likely

likely to render it universally known. He begs leave to add, that it is through the channel of one of Zimmerman's relations, that he has become acquainted with the tedious chymical process, attending its composition; and by him is fully authorized to bring it forward; he therefore submits it to the public notice, confident that its virtues will insure universal patronage.

N. B.

N. B. Nothing can be better calculated to alleviate the aching, and prevent the breaking, of Chilblains.

---

The Stimulating Fluid is sold in bottles, at half a guinea each, (including the duty), by Mr. Tutt, Royal Exchange; Messrs. Jeboult and Co. No. 150, Oxford-street, near Bond-street; Mr. N. Merri-dew, printer, Cross - Cheaping, Coventry; Mr. Meyler, Bath; and by a respectable vender in every city in the united kingdom

Merchants and Captains of Ships will have a liberal allowance for exportation, by applying as above.

