INter Dogmaticos & Empiricos à longo tempore magnum fuit dissidium, an Doctrinâ vel Experienciâ, Medica Scientia sit addiscenda. Qui Dogmaticam Medicinam extollunt, omnibus viribus contendunt, sine morborum cognitione neminem aliquid in medendi scientia præstare posse; hinc sedulò Anatomiam, Physiologiam, & Chemiam, quibus comparamus cognitionem morborum, excolendam esse statuunt. Hi autem ad praxin venientes, viribus medicamentorum carentes, methodum medendi & concinnandi formulas nescientes, ne simplicissimam medicamenti formulam morbo aptam, conscribere valent. Empiricus è contra formularum copia instructus, ex tempore coram ægro concinnam formulam in schedulam conjicit, sed morbi causam non intelligens, se tamen ita gerit, ac si morbi indolem ejusque causam intimè perspectam haberet.

Hac in re imperiti adstantes, & interdum pharmacopœi famulus, judicium ferunt, in quo semper prævalebit Empiricus: hic enim non hæsitavit in præscribenda formula & elegantiorẽ præscripsit quam Dogmaticus, qui non nisi magno labore inconcinnam formulam in schedulam conjicere potuit; Empiricus vero aliquam formulam in memoria tenens, promptè describit. Ut sunt iudices, ita est lata sententia, nam ex promptitudine & concinnitate formulæ, ægri & adstantes peritiam demetiunt, & longa experientia Empiricus reliqua absolvit. Hinc multò major fides Empirico quam Dogmatico habetur.

Tandem omnes ferè imperiti, sola experientia, non vero institutionibus genuinum & expertum fieri posse Medicum, solumque Seniores longa praxi exercitatum, ad curandos morbos valere, existimant, magisque institutiones medicas ad ornatum quam ad usum pertinere, contendunt, & concludunt in solis nosocomiis & coram lectis multorum ægrorum expertos fieri posse Medicos.

Contra vero Dogmatici instant neminem morbo mederi posse, quem latet morbi causa, ad quam non attendunt Empirici solis arcanis nitentes, sed quæ à solis Dogmaticis, principiis medicinæ bene instructis, erui potest & assequi.

Minimo negotio Empiricus hanc delebit sententiam, dicendo morbum illum oriri ab obstructione hujus vel illius visceris, ex applicato frigore, quod obstructionem fecit, seque probata habere medicamina, resolventia, aperientia, quibus valet illam obstructionem curare: hoc quia ab imperitis, neque refutari potest, facile prævalebit Empiricus: pronuntiavit enim morbi causam, & comprobata habet medicamina, quare ad bene medendum nihil deficit, Imo

Imo sæpe audiui Pharmacopœum, quia non solum per propriam praxin, sed & multorum Medicorum experientiam, formulis abundat probatis, præponendum esse Medico Dogmatico, qui in Acamemiis didicit Scientiam Medicam, quum exercitatione practica multi ægri sint periclitandi, ut sibi comprobata acquirat medicamina, quasi medicamentorum virtutes non traderentur in institutionibus.

Rem autem si serio perpendamus, fatendum est utrosque laborare defectu, & ad bene medendum non valere. Dogmaticus enim subtiliter norit eruere morbi causam, atque formare indicationem curativam, hæc enim omnia didicit, & præcipere potest; sed medicamentis destitutus nihil ad curandum conferre potest, imperfectam ergo Medicinam possidet, in qua non solum requiritur cognitio, ut in physicis, sed & etiam curatio. Empiricus cognitione causarum carens & methodo medendi, ex arte non potest præscribere medicamina, quæ ad inventam causam sunt dirigenda, exercet igitur, ut recte præcipit C E L S U S, artem conjecturalem cum summo ægri periculo, etiamsi millena possideret arcana.

Statuendum propterea est ad praxin medicam exercendam requiri utriusque cognitionem, nempe cognitionem theoreticam, qua valemus ex phænomenis eruere latentem causam, & quali modo tolli debeat vel possit, atque cognitionem auxiliorum, quæ longo usu comprobata sunt valere ad hanc vel illam causam tollendam aut emendandam. Sed quoniam cognitio præcedere debet, & majoris est laboris & industriæ hanc sibi comparare cognitionem, quam colligere ex practicis probata medicamina, pluris æstimarem multum in morborum cognitione, quam comparandis viribus medicamentorum, laborare, præsertim quoniam magni laboris est morborum causas eruere, istasque ex cognitione virium medicamentorum deducere non possumus; sed facilius est implere defectum cognitionis virium, in eo, qui causarum cognitionem possidet.

Huic igitur defectui ut succurrerem, longa serie annorum laboravi, multas inde & varias comprobatas formulas Medicinales exscribendas Auditoribus meis dedi, quas deinceps ad evitandos errores & parcendos labores Typis mandavi. Increscens vero sensim formularum numerus cum morborum, & eorum causarum varietate, ad inveniendam formulam aptam, maximam præbuit difficultatem.

Hanc ut adimerem, singulis formulis præposui numerum, cujus citatione ad morbi vel causæ nomen, vel therapeutices titulum, omnes formulas tali virtute præditas, invenire valerem.

In morbis autem, quia non eadem requiritur medicamenti virtus, dum incipiunt, incrementum, persistunt, & variam metamorphosin faciunt; ciunt ; atque omnes ferè morbi ex variis nascuntur causis , inventos istos numeros , ad differentias has & virtutem therapeuticam congesti , viresque compositas quodam ordine disposui.

In hac tamen divisione nimis multi concurrerant formularum numeri , quam ut Tiro Medicus cognitione morborum bene instructus , promptè valeret invenire formam præparationis aptam , vel ad palatum ægri , vel ad partem specialiter adfectam : quare insuper inventas formulas secundum præparationis formam distribuere debui.

Sed vero hæc subtilior divisio & subdivisio nimis magnam præbuit difficultatem & industriam , quam ut scopo inservire potuisset. Longo tamen tempore hunc servavi ordinem , quia melior mihi non occurrebat , aptioremve in aliquo auctore invenire non potui.

Denique agendo detegens sola comparatione Titulorum compositas virtutes æque facile inveniri posse & multò plures , quam sic comparando descripseram , omnem priorem laborem repudiavi , servans duntaxat numerorum seriem arithmeticam , ad quodcunque nomen morbi , therapeutices , partis , humoris , & actionis : adeo ut omnes formulæ totius libri eandem virtutem habentes , ad eundem sibi proprium titulum inveniri potuissent. Has formulas dein in quovis titulo redegei secundum præparationis formam , ut videre est in omnibus titulis , sic quo-

que potui in posterum multò minori labore quæsitam formulam invenire.

Tunc restabat ordo inveniendi commodissimus, ad quem omnes hi tituli essent locandi;
maximè mihi in principio arridebat ordo mor-borum in Systemate servatus: sed quoniam multi etiam morbi continentur in Chirurgia, & in Therapeutica, quorum tituli in Systemate non inveniuntur, multi tituli necessarii erant omittendis

Hinc sola series alphabetica restabat, si om-nes titulos complecti vellem, eam ergo secutus sum, adjiciens loca, ubi in Systemate illa res pertractatur sub nomine tituli per S indicata.

Primo adpectu videbor puram Empiricam Medicinam proferre, ut unusquisque posset ex invento morbi nomine medicamentum aptum invenire, quod Empiricis usitatum est; atque indocti existimabunt, se ad quemcunque mor-bum nunc invenire posse medicamina, & propterea non opus esse tanto labore addiscendi scientiam medicam. Certè si in scientia medica nihil aliud ad bene medendum requireretur, ut Empirici & Idiotæ existimant, hic solus liber ad totam praxin medicam absolvendam sufficeret. At vero in superioribus monui em-piricam medicinam incertam, conjecturalem, & ægris periculosam esse, eam solam haud suffi-
cere ad bene medendum, atque sine cogni-tione causarum & sine methodo medendi totam hanc partem inutilem esse, sed Medicos juniores bene instructos hac in parte maximè cæcutire, & laborare, ut sæpe hos audiverim dicentes, quando ad praxin venio quomodo formabo mihi formulas varias ad usum accommodatas, & ad quascunque causas? mihi videtur impossibile hanc difficultatem superari posse. His igitur ut succurrerem hunc librum formularum amplissimo indice instructum exhibere volui. Et experientia didici bene in scientia medica institutos, magnum auxilium in præscribendis formulis obtinuisse, qui alias non nisi maximo cum labore, aliquam inconcinnam formulam conscribere valebant, imo etiam illos, qui concinnandi regulas bene in memoria tenebant, & vires medicamentorum didicerant.

Hoc jam auxilio Dogmaticus Medicus adjutus in præscribendis formulis non cedit Empirico, sed quia ex comparata scientia novit quænam sit morbi causa, & quali modo omnium optimè debeat & possit tolli, non amplius ut Empiricus exercet artem conjecturalem sed certam & experimentis confirmatam.

Qui ergo in scientia medica bene institutus est, ut valeat ex prægressis causis externis & apparentibus phænomenis eruere morbi causam proximam, simulque didicit medendi methodum in causa illa detecta, & qualia auxilia therapeutica sunt adhibenda, is comparatione facta inter numeros, quos invenit in morbi nomine & simul in morbi causa, & denique in virtute therapeutica, invenit formulam aptam,

fi

¶ in omnibus his in locis eundem numerum detegit.

Denique in morbis compositis , quales fere semper in praxi medica occurrunt , ut in morbis generalibus , aliquam specialem partem vel actionem adgredientibus , perpendere quoque tenebitur , an idem quoque numerus formulæ in tali parte vel actione speciali occurrat.

Sed ut levarem quoque tædiosum illum laborem , ad latus formulæ adjeci primo virtutes therapeuticas , dein quibusnam in morbis medicamentum valet , & denique in quam parte affecta , humore vitiato , vel functione speciali læsas adhiberi solet. Qui ergo secundum titulum morbi detexit formulam , is ex reliquis virtutibus adjectis facile conjicere potest , an virtutes reliquæ indicationi curativæ respondeant. Præcipuas autem virtutes asterisco notavi , ut Tiro Medicus sciat quæ virtutes in tali formula primariæ sint. Hoc quoque feci ad indicandas istas formulas , quarum usus est frequentior ponendo * sub R.

Ex dictis satis constat Empiricum & Idiotam hoc libro cum suo indice uti non posse sine ægri detrimento ; & moneo quoque ut se absteat : in eodem enim morbi titulo detegit omnino contrarias medicamentorum virtutes , ut æque & forsan plus noceret quam proderet si sine prævia cognitione medica his formulis uti vellet. Discat ergo primo ex quibus contrariis sæpe causis generetur morbus , qualis metho-methodus medendi sit adhibenda , tunc tandem decernere valebit, quænam formula sit adhibenda.

Optimo jure rogari potest , cur hæc Medicinæ pars utilissima non tradatur viva voce in Academiis ad ægrorum commodum & laudem medicinæ dogmaticæ. Respondeo me huc usque viva voce hanc partem Studiosis meis tradere non potuisse , quamvis aliquoties methodum concinnandi formulas explicaverim ; quare in bonum publicum has formulas cum Indice generali Typis mandare volui , ut ore simul & calamo prodessem.

Qui tali modo unam alteramve detexit formulam , eaque cum optimo effectû fuit usus , eandem in posterum , si requiritur , facile invenire poterit , quando lineam ducat sub numero in indice ad nomen morbi ; quoties enim in posterum , similis occurrat morbus , ita notatus subductâ lineâ numerus in Indice formularum , indicabit quænam formula antea præscripta fuerit.

Si duæ vel plures formulæ in eodem numero habentur , illa formula in libro formularum aliquo signo notari potest , quo in posterum videre possimus , quænam antea in assignato morbo fuerit usa.

Tandem senior Medicus , præcipue in nosocomiis , quando brevi tempore multæ formulæ variis ægris sunt præscribendæ , suum quoque ex hac methodo experietur commodum : nam sufficiet exhibere numerum alicujus formulæ , quæ

quæ à famulis præparanda est , ut non sit opus totam exscribere formulam.

Hic quando per propriam praxin aliquod medicamentum efficacissimum detexerit , quod in nostro libro formularum non invenitur , istud etiam ad finem libri adscribere potest eodem modo , ut inveniuntur formulæ impressæ , modo novum & auctum numerum adjiciat , & adscriptas virtutes distribuat per Indicem , suum tunc quoque sic dictum arcenum facile iterum descriptum inveniet. Quod quoque agendum est si senior Medicus non satis aptam formulam inveniat in indice , novam tunc concinnare , & distributis virtutibus per indicem , in posterum facile iterum invenire poterit.

Hoc addere volui ne aliquis judicaret omnia medicamina in quavis forma contineri in hoc libro , sed multò plura experientiâ detecta addi posse , & sæpe desiderari , quoniam tot morbi compositi inveniuntur , ut vix possibile sit ad omnes compositos morbos in quavis forma formulam exhibere. Quare hic liber tanquam manuductio haberi potest , quali modo Medicus & etiam Chirurgus tandem sibi comparare possit copiam medicamentorum efficacissimorum.

Ad faciliorem & majorem usum his adjeci Indicem medicamentorum simplicium & officinalium compositorum , ut Tiro Medicus videre possit , quali modo , & in quam dosi sciscitari ex inventis viribus ad latera formula-

& compositi.
