NEW MARMALADE.—The quality is perfection, and we quote at low prices for prompt delivery (see par. 1).

Bow & Bromley Institute, London, E.

November 9th, 1895.

I have submitted to a careful chemical analysis and dietetical examination various samples of Sweets manufactured by Messrs. E. & T. Pink, Staple St., Borough, and found them to be perfectly pure and wholesome.

The analysis proved them to have been manufactured from the purest ingredients, and the colouring and flavouring bodies employed were absolutely harmless,

From the results of my examination I am able to say that these Sweets are palatable and nutritious confectionery, possessing pleasant flavours and showing evidence of careful preparation.

(Signed)
John Goodfellow, Ph.D., F.R.M.S.

Professor of Hygiene and Director of the Laboratory at the Bow and Bromley Institute, London.

Official Analyst to the International Confectioners' Exhibitions, London.

Consulting Chemist to the "Practical Confections and Baker."

What's the trend of trade

as times go now? Towards buying only Blended Tea. We know it, because so many more of the biggest Grocers, who had always mixed their own, have been compelled by cutting competition to come to us for tea, in the year just ended. They had been buying easily on credit from the old-fashioned Houses all their lives. They would never have come, cash-in-hand, to us, if they hadn't been obliged, at last, to search everywhere for better value and better profit, and, so, had found that we alone could give it, but—for 'cash.' Now they say they wish they had but known before—how much capital and time and trouble, anxiety and profit, they save by ordering of us. And whither will many other worried Grocers turn in New Year '96?

Why, undoubtedly towards Brooke, Bonds' Blends. Truth is: the busy Grocer cannot price, and buy, and blend the ever-varying qualities of Indian and Ceylon Originals, without devoting too many years to tasting tea, and without the ruinous necessity of over-buying those originals at too high a price through middlemen. Time was, when profit on the lb. was bigger, and 'garden-marks' and rivals fewer, that he could afford to follow his father's practice and blend his own, but that time has now gone by and won't come back again.

So you, too, can't do better than try the New Year's plan of your shrewdest fellow-traders and compare what we can do for you. It will cost you but a minute and a post-card
