Illustrated Catalogues (Twenty Plates), Price 7s. 6d.

Printed by J. Davy & Sons, Ltd., 8-9, Frith-Street, Soho-square, London, England.

CONDITIONS OF SALE.

- I. The highest bidder to be the buyer; and if any dispute arise between bidders, the lot so disputed shall be immediately put up again, provided the auctioneer cannot decide the said dispute.
- II. No person to advance less than 1s.; above five pounds 2s. 6d.; and so on in proportion.
- III. All lots are sold subject to the right to impose a reserve; and subject to the right to bid by or on behalf of the seller.
- IV. The purchasers to give in their names and places of abode, and to pay down 10s. in the pound, if required, in part payment of the purchase-money, in default of which the lot or lots purchased will be immediately put up again and re-sold.
- V. The lots to be taken away, at the buyer's expense, immediately after the conclusion of the sale; in default of which Messrs. SOTHEBY & Co. will not hold themselves responsible if lost, stolen, damaged or otherwise destroyed, but they will be left at the sole risk of the purchaser. If, at the expiration of ONE WEEK after the conclusion of the sale, the books or other property are not cleared or paid for, they will then be catalogued for immediate sale, and the expenses, the same as if re-sold, will be added to the amount at which the books were bought. Messrs. SOTHEBY & Co. will have the option of re-selling the lots uncleared, either by public or private sale, without any notice being given to the defaulter.
- VI. All the books are presumed to be perfect, unless otherwise expressed; but if, upon collating, any should prove defective, the purchaser will be at liberty to take or reject them, provided they are received back within FOURTEEN DAYS after the conclusion of the sale, when the purchase-money will be returned.
- VII. The sale of any book or books is not to be set aside on account of any worm-holes, stained or short leaves of text or plates, want of list of plates or blank leaves, or on account of the publication of any subsequent volume, supplement, appendix, or plates. All the manuscripts, autographs, all magazines and reviews, all books in lots, and all tracts in lots or volumes, will be sold with all faults, imperfections and errors of description. The sale of any illustrated book, lot of prints or drawings, is not to be set aside on account of any error in the enumeration of the numbers stated, or error of description.
- VIII. No Imperfect Book will be taken back, unless a note accompanies each book, stating its imperfections, with the number of lot and date of the sale at which the same was purchased.
- IX. To prevent inaccuracy in the delivery, and inconvenience in the settlement of the purchases, no lot can on any account be removed during the time of sale.
- X. Upon failure of complying with the above conditions, the money required and deposited in part of payment shall be forfeited; and if any loss is sustained in the re-selling of such lots as are not cleared or paid for, all charges on such re-sale shall be made good by the defaulters at this sale.

Messrs. SOTHEBY & CO. are prepared to execute bids, and in addition to advise intending purchasers as far as possible, if requested by them to do so, without making any charge for either service. Lots will be procured as cheaply as is permitted by other bids or reserves, if any.

- 197 DESCARTES (René) Philosopher and Mathematician, b. 1596, d. 1650,
A. L. s. 1 p. 4to, announcing that he has sent his correspondent his "Réveries Métaphysiques" to criticize, and gives directions as to how they are to be read :

I should be very impudent to give this advice if I did so with the idea of instructing you upon what you would easily grasp yourself when reading the work, but I do so only to prevent you from wasting the time and trouble which you would have to give. I assure you that you will be obliged to me for begging you not to commence the perusal of these Reveries until you are willing to spend two continuous hours thereupon without interruption.

- 207 AMERICA. BUTLER (Major P.), of Charlestown, S. C., British Officer, Senator, Member of the Federal Constitutional Convention, A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, 21 Jan., 1807, relative to holders of shares in the Salvadore Rands:

Hitherto I have made myself responsible for the necessary expenditures in Carolina—One hundred and twenty suits of ejectment cannot be brought without much writing and sacrifice of time, and some money to the Clerks of the Court for the Writs; add to that, a journey of 240 miles going and returning, taken by Mr. Symkins on our acct. without payment—If $250 create a difficulty what will $7500 create.

- 207A AMERICA. BRADSTREET (Simon) Governor of Massachusetts, 1679, husband of the poetess Anne Bradstreet, Auto. Note s. 1 p., 1666, "Simon Bradstreet, me Suis addidit Anno Doi. 1666," very rare

Simon Bradstreet married the American poetess—Anne Bradstreet, née Dudley—who landed at Salem from England on 12th June, 1630. Among her descendants were Oliver Wendell Holmes, Dana, and Dr. Channing. Simon became governor of Massachusetts in 1679 and died in 1697, aged 94.

208 AMERICA. SMITH (James), of Salem, Mass., Doc. s. 1 p. large folio, 30th Aug., 1705, the assignment from J. Smith to Charles Chambers of Charlestown of a house and land on Wapping Street in Charlestown for the sum of "Forty-two pounds current silver money of New England," signed also by Samuel Lynde, Samuel Phipps, Giles Dyer and Edward Weaver

209 AMERICA. MOORE (William) President and Governor of Pennsylvania, Commander-in-Chief of the Republican Army, an important Series of Three A. L. s. 6 pp. folio and 4to, Richmond and Point no Point, May 18th, 1789, and Nov. 21st, 1791, to his daughter Elizabeth de Marbois and son-in-law M. de Marbois; together with Three A. L. s. of Sarah Moore, daughter of William, Philadelphia, 1788 to 1792, announcing the death of her mother (née Sarah Lloyd); A. L. s. of Thomas Moore, all addressed to Elizabeth; Three Passports of Elizabeth de Marbois (in which she is described as "anglaise"), and Eighteen other Documents relative to the preliminaries of the marriage of François de Barbe-Marbois with William Moore's daughter Elizabeth, her sojourn in America, etc. to prove her title to her mother's inheritance, etc.

The letters of the President of Pennsylvania written from America to his daughter in France immediately after the War of Independence are of great interest. In the first, dated 18th May, 1789, Moore writes:

I have compromis'd my affairs in England in a very good manner, they will take one half of their debts in loan office certificates, and the remainder I can easily settle. In the year 1773 and preceding that time I was worth 80,000 Dollars in real and personal Estates, during the War I lost 25,000 Dollars specie in the depreciation of continental money, I likewise lost by the plunder of the British Troops at this place (Richmond) the greatest part of my household furniture on the old York Road to the amount of 15,000 Dollars. I do not regret all these losses, so that we are clear of that accursed country called Great Britain. I hope we shall always keep so, tho' the Tories in United States of America with Sir Jno. Temple the British Resident at New York, have endeavoured to bring us under the British Government. We have now a federal Government with General Washington at their head, they go on well, & I am under no doubt but our National Debts will be punctually and honorably discharg'd in 3 years time. It was 42 millions of Dollars at the Peace and Congress have sold off back Lands to the amount of 8 Millions of Dollars ... Kentucky had not one white man there the beginning of our Revolution, & it now contains above 100,000 people, etc., etc.

The other two letters of President Moore also contain references to the American Revolution:

I propose to leave you and your children what I have left from the British Marauders.

You observe there has been a Revolution in France, tho' not attended with that Bloodshed as was in ours ... I have an attachment to France, for the services they did this country in our revolution ... We go on here very well at present, tho' the funding System is not liked by the greatest part of the People. I would advise you not to place any money in it or the National Bank, they are Projects that I think will fail, only kept up by a few designing knaves, till they can sell out to the Europeans, English and Dutch, who are the only purchasers here. It is better for you to keep your money in France under your eyes ... The Lots (Land) near this City (Point no Point) are daily advancing in price on account of Congress settling here, I much question if they will remove, notwithstanding President Washington has much at heart the new Federal town which is to be built in Virginia ... The Lot, about 10 acres, was worth 4000 Dollars before the Revolution, it won't fetch a quarter that amount now ... I would have you encourage Manufactures in France, this country takes 3 Million sterling from England and Holland annually. The greatest part of the people here would rather take them from France, etc.

François Barbe-Marbois was the French Consul-General and Chargé d'Affaires in the United States (1776 to 1785). He married President Moore's daughter Elizabeth in 1784. One of Barbe-Marbois' principal works is "Complot d'Arnold et de Sir Henri Clinton contre les Etats Unis d'Amerique et contre le général Washington."

- 210 AMERICA. A List of Criminals in Albany Goal (sic), October 13th, 1786, six o'clock p.m., 2 pp. folio; a curious and interesting list, including two murderers, two counterfeiters, several thieves and one, Samuel Jones, "for threatening to take 13 Scalps," etc.

- 211 AMERICA. BRADISH (Luther) Speaker of the House of Representatives and Lieut.-Governor of New York, an extremely interesting Series of Forty-nine A. L. s., July 1st, 1824, to 26th October, 1861, in all 73 pp. folio, 4to and 8vo, to Messrs. Torlonia & Co., of Rome, T. Appleton, Col. Thos. Aspinwall, the Hon. J. Barbour (Secretary of War), John Quincy Adams (President of the U.S.), General T. Lyman, A. Mann, Baring Brothers, S. P. Allen, J. D. Beers, J. Stott, Lewis Cass (Secretary for War), General J. H. Ostram, H. Hull, the Trustees of the Astor Library, the Hon. S. B. Ruggles, S. C. Wead, etc., and throwing much light on Bradish's personal affairs, antiques, horses, money matters, a meeting of the trustees of the New York Observatory, his interest in the County newspaper, etc.; mentions J. Fenimore Cooper and Henry Clay. The following few extracts picked will convey some idea of the contents:

To Mr. Storrain, at Paris.

When I tell you that this will be handed you by Mr. Fenimore Cooper, I need add nothing more to make you well acquainted with him ...

A similar letter to Mr. Brown, calls Cooper "our distinguished countryman" and states "by name and reputation you and Mr. Cooper are already well known to each other"

To J. Stott, 17.12.1831 (concerning the Republican Convention of 1831, at which Clay and Sergeant were nominated):

I came here (Washington) anticipating a great diversity of feeling, and fully expecting to encounter a great variety of issues upon the objects of our meeting. Brought together as we were from the various sections of our widely extended country, representing not merely the different States of this union but their infinitely multiplied and varied interests, feelings and character, I thought it impossible that upon some at least of the objects of our meeting there should not be a corresponding diversity of views. That some would be for Paul and some for Apollo—some for concurring in an existing nomination, others for making an independent one—while others would advise to do nothing at present, leaving to the developments of the future to suggest a future decision upon all the great objects of our meeting. In all this we have been most agreeably disappointed. A more uniform or better spirit never animated a similar body ... The nomination of Henry Clay and John Sergeant seems to have been as much the suggestion of all minds, as it has been grateful to all feelings. This perfect harmony of sentiment we cannot but consider as of most favourable anyway—an earnest of that success which it to attend us. Difficulties and dangers we shall undoubtedly have to encounter and run should we fail, which we hardly permit ourselves to believe possible—it is in a cause in which it is nobler to fail than not to have dared.

To E. Hutchins, sending a rough draft of a memorial to the Senate and Assembly of New York, advocating protection from the ravages of wild animals coming from the forest bordering Franklin County.

To the Hon. S. B. Ruggles. A long letter expressing regret that he cannot accompany an excursion to the Genesee Valley. Mentions Mrs. Ruggles and states: "I suppose, instead of her old favourites, Cimarosa, Paisiello, Mozart, Rossini, Meyerbeer, e tutti gli altri autori, antichi e moderni, di musica, that Euclid, Playfair and La Place have now become habitués of her boudoir," etc.

To the Trustees of the Astor Library, Relative to the proposed celebration by the New York Historical Society of the anniversary of Washington Irving's Birthday, by a public address, requesting them to honour the celebrations with their presence, etc., etc.,

212 VIRGINIA AND THE WAR OF INDEPENDENCE. Military Correspondence of Richard Young, Quartermaster-General of the American Army at Fredericksburg, comprising (1) Four A. L. s. of Richard Young, 6 pp. folio and 4to, dated 20th March, 1781, to 18th January, 1782, to Captain Russel, Major Claiborne and General John Pierce:

Our Distress is such for want of Forage that I know not what to do, etc.

I am sorry to inform you of our situation at this place it is not in our power to do any Business for the public, we have no money nor credit for a single shilling, no forage and very little provision and very frequent application for many things that is Intirely out of my power—upwards of Two Hundred British Sick and wounded at this place who were not able to march with the last Detachment that went to Winchester I fear they must suffer, etc.

2. Four Auto. Certificates, signed, of Richard Young, 4 pp. 8vo, various dates, 1781-2, authorising payments for the hire of waggons and horses, the issue of forage, and to shoe horses

3. Four Documents, signed by Richard Young, comprising the "Account of Articles purchased and the issue and Delivery thereof" for the District of Fredericksburg from the 1st of Dec., 1781, to the last day of Feb., 1782—"The Account of Forage issued"

4. Bills and Receipts for hay, wood, forage purchased by Col. Young for the United States Army

5. Fourteen A. L. s. of Officers of the U.S. Army, 1781-2, to Young, including Col. William Davies, requesting "clothing as it is much wanting for the troops," Col. William Finnie (2), John Haw, D.C.R.C., Col. James Hendricks (3), Miles Hunter, Capt. George Rice, Alexander Spark, relative to provisions for the sick and wounded British prisoners, to the execution of an Act of Assembly for "laying a tax payment . . . which tax is to be discharged by the payment of one bushel of wheat or two bushels of corn, rye or barley . . . or 2 lbs. of tobacco for every man above 16 years of age," etc. "There seems to be so many Executive Appointments and removals that it is hard to determine who is in office," Captain H. Young, etc.

- 213 AMERICA. CLINTON (James) Brigadier-General, commanded at Albany during the War of Independence, A. L. s. 2 pp. folio, Little Britain, 12th May, 1794, to William Cross at Montgomery :

I have not been in Esopus lately, My son George was there at Court I believe I will Not go to New York this Month as I must Attend as supervisor in Kingston the last Tuesday in this month to Canvass the Votes, &c. Therefore If I went to New York I could not have time to stay there Long, though My Business calls me there but not very Urgently.

- 214 AMERICA AND NAVAL AFFAIRS IN THE WAR WITH FRANCE. A HIGHLY INTERESTING SERIES of Three A. L. s. and Twenty-one Doc. s., addressed to Captain Thomas Graves, commander of H.M. Sloop Savage (later Admiral Sir Thomas Graves and Nelson's second-in-command at Copenhagen), together 38 pp. 4to and folio (1779-1781), comprising :

PARKER (Sir Hyde) Vice-Admiral, Six Doc. s. 15 pp. folio, Princess Royal, 4th to 17th September, 1779, Orders re Line of Battle, Rendezvous in case of separation by bad weather, Order of Sailing, Additional Signals, and Monthly Exchange of Signals. At this time Sir Hyde Parker was commander of the Leeward Islands station ; a great many storeships, privateers, sloops of war and three frigates fell into his hands through his intelligent dispositions

DEMPSEY (John) Contemporary Copy of a Letter, 22nd March, 1781, advising him that the Hibernia sailed from the Capes of Chesapeake on the 21st; quotes from an express, stating that nine French ships had arrived in Linhaven Bay ... there is also 3000 men gone to storm Portsmouth, etc.

ARBUTHNOT (M.) Vice-Admiral of the White, Doc. s. 1 p. folio, 26th March, 1781, ordering Graves to proceed with the Savage up the Elizabeth River, placing himself under command of Captain Robinson, commander of H.M.S. Guadaloupe, and to follow that captain's orders and directions. Arbuthnot was appointed to the command of the North American Station in 1778; this document was signed ten days after his engagement with Destouches off Cape Henry, after which the English ships anchored in Lynnhaven Bay; the Savage, however, instead of returning to Rhode Island was told off for duty up the Elizabeth River

ROBINSON (Captain Hugh) Commander of H.M.S. Guadeloupe, Two Doc. s. 2 pp. folio, 27th and 28th March, 1781, giving Graves instructions as to signals, etc.

GRAVES (Thomas) Rear-Admiral of the Red and Commander-in-chief, Doc. s. 3 pp. folio, 22nd September, 1781, orders to fit out H.M.S. La Magicienne, a frigate lately purchased from the French. Admiral Graves sailed in 1780 for North America with a reinforcement of six ships of the line and took part in the action off the mouth of the Chesapeake; on Arbuthnot's resigning, Graves was appointed commander-in-chief HAMOND (A. S.) A. L. s. 1 p. 4to, Halifax, 17th October, 1781, stating his willingness to give every assistance to Captain Scot in fitting out the Magicienne:

I most sincerely wish success may attend your present efforts, which are the most important of any that have happened during the War.

On the blank pages attached to this letter are copies of two letters from Admiral West, one to the Admiralty, the other to Earl Temple, relative to the sentence passed on Admiral Byng and declining a command in consequence thereof. Sir A. S. Hamond distinguished himself in the expedition to the Chesapeake and in his defence of Sandy Hook; he was afterwards made governor of Nova Scotia and commander-in-chief at Halifax; during his earlier years he was in command of the Savage

 From the field of Waterloo.
 addressed to Messrs. Bentley
 Three A. L. s., 1831, etc., to James Cochrane, publisher of the "Metropolitan," mentioning a poem on the Camp at Hastings, etc. ; and an interesting A. L. s. to his sister, written from Liverpool, and describing whom he has met there (5)
- 230 CARLYLE (Thomas) A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Chelsea, 13 April, 1843, to Robert Browning, saying he will call upon Browning on the following Saturday, probably accompanied by his brother, with envelope
- 231 CARLYLE (Thomas) A. L. s. $2\frac{1}{2}$ pp. 8vo, Chelsea, 24 Decr., 1841, to W. C. Macready, a fine letter :
 ... Mr. Macready in Covent Garden puts our Bishops in their Cathedrals to shame. He has faith in what is true, in the Victory of Truth even among the multitude: they none—unless Truth have four thousand five hundred a year in its pocket, the Bishop of London says it has no chance for Victory!
 Right good speed to you; better and better speed, etc.
- 232 CARLYLE (Thomas) A. L. s. 3 pp. 12mo, Chelsea, 12 May, 1865, thanking his correspondent for sending him a treatise on the Gorilla, is off to Scotland to recover from the hideous book just completed
- 233 CARLYLE (Thomas) An early A. L. s. 3 pp. 4to, Mainhill, 8th October, 1820, to Mathew Allen of York, a very humorous letter concerning his forthcoming visit to York
- 234 CARLYLE (Mrs. Jane W.) A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, 5, Cheyne Row (30 April, 1866), to J. E. Aitken, of Islington :
 An amusing letter, saying she would like to get a pigeon and teach it to carry as she is ruining herself in postage stamps. Has been to Richmond and feels as tired as if she had chased the deer.

- 235 CECIL (Robert) first Earl of Salisbury, A. L. s. 1 p. folio (November, 1600), to Sir Thomas Posthumous Hoby :
 Is forced to defer an answer to Hoby's letter, as the Council had not. As reported it is a very foul riot and he would have done wrong not to have censured it.
- 236 DICKENS (Charles) A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo, Devonshire Terrace, 12, Dec., 1848, to Charles Manby :
 I do not regard the Mosaic Arab in question, as an important person; but any breach of faith is most important; and into that, I must enquire narrowly.
 I have already instituted a searching investigation at the Printers where my suspicion mainly lies, notwithstanding that we enforce the greatest caution throughout the establishment. May I ask you (for this is very necessary for me to know) to ascertain from Mr. Webster whether the Mosaic Arab implied to him that he knew the story from having read it, or from having heard about it—and whether he appeared to know what its conclusion was, etc.
- 237 EMERSON (R. W.) A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo, Concord, July 3, 1871, to Mrs. Charles R. Lowell, concerning a letter of introduction to Thos. Carlyle, that he had forgotten to send her, of Carlyle he says :
 I doubt not, if my philosopher has his old perception, you will find him heartily willing to open his genius & wit to your conversation.
- 238 FRENCH REVOLUTION. Conseil Exécutif Provisoire, Doc. s. by G. J. Danton, executed 1794, Gaspard Monge, J. M. Roland, Lebrun, and others, Paris, 2 Sept., 1792, on a passport to William Maxwell, 1 p. folio

L. s. 1 p. 4to.—PITT (Wm.); LIVERPOOL (Lord); CANNING (George); RUSSELL (Lord John), and eight others (15)
- 240 HENLEY (W. E.) A. L. s. (initials) 2 pp. 8vo, Musselburgh, N.B., August 1889, to David Nutt, concerning a certain binder :
 He's a hass. I am told that he binds badly if with taste; but that's not it. Read his address to the Art Congress & you'll see what I mean—and sympathize, etc.
With a light perpendicular line drawn through both pages.
 JEFFREY (Francis, Lord) Editor of the "Edinburgh Review," A. L. s. 5 pp., 1833.—PATMORE (Coventry) A. L. s. 4 pp. 8vo, 1863, concerning his poetry (3)
- 241 HOGG (James) A. L. s., "The Ettrick Shepherd," 2 pp. 4to, Edinburgh, July 28th, 1814, to the Earl of Buchan, concerning the character of the immortal Wallace

- 242 HOLMES (Oliver Wendell) A. L. s. 2½ pp. 8vo, 296, Beacon Street, Boston, Oct. 30, 1885, to Mrs. Pfeiffer, thanking her for her volume of poems, "Flying Leaves." Says he is sending her a book in a few weeks :
It is a somewhat rash experiment and may be hardly dealt with by the critics—if they meddle with it ... I suppose I shall wince if I am flayed alive, but I hardly expect anything quite so bad as that ...
- 243 LANDOR (Walter Savage) A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Seina, Sept. 10, n. y., speaking of The Derby Chronicle, he says :
Never was there a more self-sufficient and impudent blockhead than the printer, and goes on to point out many ludicrous mistakes.

* * * EXCEEDINGLY RARE. Only one other copy with the woodcut frontispiece appears to be known, that in the John Rylands Library. In that copy the frontispiece differs from this, the recto of the first leaf having two half page cuts, the Annunciation above and the Crucifixion below, and the verso of the same leaf having Caxton's device, described by Duff as "C," which was used by W. de Worde for many years. This leaf in the Rylands copy has been laid down and it is impossible to say now whether it actually belongs to the copy or has been taken from another edition. The copy here offered for sale is also in a modern binding, and it is equally impossible to ascertain whether the first leaf is an integral part of the gathering. On the present evidence it cannot be definitely decided which (if either) of the two leaves is the correct first leaf for W. de Worde's 1512 edition. Compare Dibdin's statement on p. 80, vol. II, of his edition of "Typographical Antiquities," that "the recto and reverse of the first leaf of this edition . . . represent a cut similar to that in Capgrave's 'Nova Legenda Anglie,' of the Saints in Heaven." This does not correspond with either this copy or the Rylands copy, and is almost certainly an error. The volume has been carefully examined and fully described, and will be sold not subject to return.

- 337 TABLEAUX DE LA CROIX, engraved throughout from copper-plates with pictures of the Service of the Mass, various litanies and other Prayers, red morocco gilt, enclosed in a morocco case; sold as a binding, not subject to return Paris, F. Mazot, 1651-3

 The title page is engraved with various emblems of the Passion round a centre picture of Christ praying. On the next leaf is the dedication to Charles de l'Aubespine, Marquis de Chateauneuf, and a half-length portrait of the Marquis engraved by G. de Geign. The address to the reader faces an engraving of the Trinity and Saints in Glory. Following this are thirty-five plates of a priest performing the various ceremonies of the Mass, while in the clouds above are scenes from the passion to which each act relates. Opposite these plates are others containing a variety of prayers with figures of the Apostles and Saints, etc.

The complete book is printed from 104 plates, and three engravers, at least, were employed upon it. Jean Collin, to whom the major part of the work is attributed, was a native of Reims. He is known as the engraver of a considerable number of portraits which are dated from 1665 to 1688. The portrait of Charles de l'Aubespine is signed G. de Gein. He was a little-known Flemish engraver, who flourished about 1640-55, and who was for the most part employed in engraving book ornaments for the booksellers. The only work of his mentioned by Bryan in his Dictionary is the present portrait.

Of F. Durant, who signed the page containing the Litanies of the name of Jesus, and probably engraved the remaining plates of the volume, nothing is known. Baron Jas. de Rothschild's copy of "Les Memoires de la Royne Marguerite," 8vo, 1628, bound by Le Gascon, is also in an à la grotesque binding (see his Catalogue, 1893, tome III, page 71, where the binding is illustrated).

* * * Queen Anne's copy, with her signature "Anne Morley" on the title-page. A rare form of the Queen's signature, which came about through a girlish proposal made by the Queen to Lady Churchill, afterwards Duchess of Marlborough, that they should correspond under noms-de-plume. Morley and Freeman were the names upon which Anne's fancy hit, and Lady Churchill, having first choice, took that of Freeman, because of her "frank open temper."

* * * Lope de Vega Carpio's copy, with his rare signature on the title-page. (There was no example in either the Bovet or Morrison collections).

He (Lope de Vega) was a contemporary of both Shakespeare and Fletcher. In the choice of their subjects, and in the conduct of their fables, a resemblance may often be found ... It is indeed in this point of view that the Spanish poet can be compared with the greatest advantage to himself, to the great Founder of our Theatre.—Lord Holland's "Life and Writings of Lope de Vega."

- 359 Horozco y Covarruvias (Sebastian) Emblemas Morales, titles within woodcut borders and woodcuts of emblems, old calf, cracked (small rust-holes in q 4 and ff 2 and cut close in a few places); the white Knights-Heber-Spencer copy, with the crest of the last-named impressed on the sides Segovia, Juan de la Cuesta, 1591

* * The second edition of this translation of Ovid's Metamorphoses. On page 3 is a map of the globe showing America; Nueva Hispania and Terra de Bacalaos are the northern section of the continent; the Straits of Magellan are also seen. On the first page of the Dedication is the contemporary autograph signature of "De piero Solderini," a member of the famous Florentine family who plotted against the Medicis.

- 361 Caldwell (John) A Sermon Preached before the right honorable Earle of Darbie, and diuers others assembled in his honors Chappell at Neparke in Lankashire, the second of Ianuarie. Anno humana Salut. 1577, black letter, blue calf
Imprinted at London by Thomas East: the xiiij. day of March, 1577

* * VERY RARE. No copy is recorded as having occurred for sale. Ferdinando Stanley, fifth Earl of Derby, was the patron and friend of Spenser, who celebrates him, under the name of "Amyntas," in "Colin Clout's come home again." He was for several years patron of a company of actors known as Lord Strange's Company, which had formerly been patronized by the Earl of Leicester. There is a reference to "dronken Holiphernes" (vide "Love's Labour Lost") on D 4 verso.

FOLIO.

- 366 MILLO (ANTONIO) ISVLARIO, MANUSCRIPT ON PAPER, 111 ll. (308 mm. by 207 mm.), neatly written in red and black and illustrated with SEVENTY-THREE PLANS OF ISLANDS or groups of islands in the Mediterranean or Aegean, three of which (Sicily, Crete, and Cyprus) are double-page, 34 other diagrams or figures, including a Mappe-monde in two hemispheres (an America of strange form almost entirely occupying the western, while in the eastern Scotland appears as an island), and three diagrams with volvelles or pointers, the last six pages in a different hand, original Venetian binding of red morocco, corner and centre-pieces stamped in blind, the impressions covered with gilt paper on which are executed arabesques in orange enamel, a small ornament of similar work above and below each centre-piece

* * This interesting compilation does not appear to have been published. It bears a general resemblance to the Isolario of Bordone (1528), that of Camotio (1571) and that of Porcachi (1576), but differs considerably in the nomenclature. The Isolario proper is preceded by a treatise headed "Tvto quello richiede alarte da navicar," which occupies the first 36 leaves (fol. 7 wanting, ff. 2-18 misbound). An index closes the illustrated section and is followed by accounts of islands outside the Mediterranean—Cuba, Hispaniola, Jamaica, the Hebrides, England, etc.

- 367 Letter Book, containing copies of letters sent out by the Privy Council, Warrants, Passports, Safe-Conducts, Licences, Circulars, Orders in Council, etc., the dated documents bearing dates from 1573 to 1586, manuscript on paper, 219 ll. (332 mm. by 222 mm.), neatly written, some marginal captions in another hand, half sheep, uncut

about 1586

* * On the last page (in two places) is the signature of Antony Ashley, Clerk of the Privy Council in the latter part of Elizabeth's reign. This volume was perhaps prepared for his use in drafting documents on his appointment, which took place before 1588. Besides the copies of actual documents, which are of considerable interest and include many (apparently unpublished) relating to Ireland, there are in the earlier part of the book a number of forms, e. g. "Pasporte to carrie dogges over," "To suffer one to depart the Realme with his companie," "Pasporte for a Scottishman," "To take up cartes for the carriage of stuffe." In the latter part of the book the documents go forward in chronological order from 1579-83. On a fly-leaf is an index to the first 11 leaves in a seventeenth century hand, and above the inscription "Given by Dr. Middleton Massey to Mr. I. Chicheley."

- 380 PSALTERIUM, LITANIA ET HORAE. [Psalterium cum hymnis et canticis. Litania cum precibus. Horae de Sancto Spiritu. Commendatio fidelium defunctorum. Horae Beatae Mariae Virginis], MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM, written in a neat and clear gothic hand, long lines, 24 to the full page, 184 ll. calendar on the first six leaves in red and black, within three-quarter bar borders, in red, blue and gold, with a miniature on each page of the occupation of the month, on the opening page of the Psalms a VERY FINE AND BEAUTIFULLY PAINTED HISTORIATED INITIAL B, showing in the upper portion King David playing his harp, and in the lower David cutting off the head of Goliath, NINE OTHER PAGES WITH LARGE AND FINELY EXECUTED HISTORIATED INITIALS IN COLOURS AND BURNISHED GOLD, the page having in each case a beautifully decorative bar-pattern three-quarter border, introducing grotesques (in two cases the face of the Almighty has been rubbed), smaller initials in gold and colours at the beginning of each psalm, each page containing them, with three-quarter bar border, contemporary (or XIVth Century) blind stamped brown calf over beechboards, the outer border formed by the repetition of a square stamp (11 mm.), containing a fleur-de-lis within a lozenge, the four triangles formed by the lozenge within the square filled in with a demi-fleur-de-lys, the interior panel decorated with four vertical rows of stamps, the two outer ones consisting of repeated impressions of a small square stamp (7 mm.), containing a bird perched on a bough with a spray of foliage behind, the two inner ones of a square stamp (9 m.m.), containing a cock, the binding somewhat wormed and the leather defective where the catches and clasps have gone (151 m.m. by 109 mm.) NORTHERN FRANCE, 1276

* * A VERY GOOD DATED EXAMPLE OF FRENCH WRITING AND ILLUMINATION OF THE PERIOD. The grotesque figures and tendril-like lines of ornament belong to a style coming into use, while the stiff outlines of the stems in the border hardly survived the 13th Century. Two XIIIth century "obits" are added to the calendar and at the end of the volume is a note dated 1511, and the name Marie D'Orgemont below. The colophon which supplies the date is unfortunately nearly illegible: "Istud psalterium fuit . . . anno Domini m^o cc^o septuagesimo sexto . . ."

- 384 HENRI III, King of France. [BOOK OF PRAYERS EXECUTED FOR THE KING'S PERSONAL USE.] Prieres dv Roy av Sainet Esprist—Septem Psalmi Poenitentiales—Letanies—Prieres dv Roy a Limitation de celles de David—Pseavme povr le Roy, 74 ll. of paper and two of vellum, THE TEXT FORMED OF LETTERS CUT IN THE BLANK LEAF WITH EXTRAORDINARY DELICACY AND CARE and interleaved with paper coloured red on one side as a background, 23 lines to a full page, SEVEN MINIATURES AND AN ORNAMENTAL TITLE EXQUISITELY CUT IN A SIMILAR MANNER, all coloured and heightened in gold, red velvet, gauffred gilt edges, in a morocco case (125 mm. by 86 mm.) Before 1589

* * * A ROYAL BOOK OF A VERY UNUSUAL CHARACTER IN VERY FINE CONDITION. Inside the cover is the following note by Thomas Grenville, whose bequest of books to the British Museum forms the Grenville Library:

This singular book is, I believe, unique in the character, & precious from it's having been the private prayer-book of Henry the 3d of France.

This is incontestably proved by his thanking God in the 7th leaf for his being chosen "Roy d'une nation étrangère; puis au jour qui t'est solennel m'appeller à la succession paternelle du Royaume de France." Chosen K. of Poland, he succeeded to the crown of France 30th May, probably the Fete Dieu of 1572. In the Litanny also, at the prayer for the King, he says: "Ut mihi famulo tuo," evidently speaking in his own person. Of the illuminated figures, the first is that of Piety, the second appears to be that of St. Louis the religious patron of France; the third is K. David with his harp; the fourth is the Crucifixion; the fifth is probably the Queen of H. 3d. Louyse de Vaudemont; & the sixth Henry the 3d.; the last is that of Hope or Fortitude. This valuable & interesting book was presented in 1830 by G. Marquis of Cholmondeley to Harriet Ldy. Delamere at whose request I have written this note. Thos. Grenville.

The first miniature and the last are cut in vellum. In the border of the last are the cyphers of Louis XIII and Anne of Austria his wife, two interlacing λ's, and two interlacing A's. These two vellum leaves were no doubt added for the later monarchs.

of Magellan, and the expedition is of particular interest because it was one of the early attempts to pass the Straits. The attempt failed, and the vessels remained for some time off the coast of Brazil and the River Plate, capturing various Portuguese ships. The squadron returned to England on Sep. 29, 1587, but the log ends when they had arrived at the Canaries on their homeward voyage.

- 404 Elizabeth (Queen) Injunctions given by the Quenes Maiestie Anno Domini M.D.LIX. The fyrst yeare of the raigne of our Sovereigne Lady Quene Elizabeth, black letter, blue calf

Jugge and Cawood (1559)

* * * The earliest issue; not in the British Museum. A large number of editions were printed. The B. M. catalogue mentions twelve, but there were considerably more. Very few bear the name of the printer, and not a single one has a date. The present edition agrees with No. 977 in the catalogue of Early English Books in the C. U. L. The title is surrounded by a border of four pieces with Jugge's initials in the lower one.

- 405 Elizabeth (Queen) Injunctions giuen by the Queenes Maiestie. Anno Dom. 1559, black letter, title within woodcut border, blue morocco, A FINE COPY, RARE (Deputies of Christopher Barker, 1591)

* * * The title of this edition is in a woodcut border with the Queen's arms at the top, figures of Fides and Humilitas at the sides, the emblems of the four evangelists at the corners, and a tiger's head, the crest of Sir Francis Walsingham, in an oval below. This border belonged to Christopher Barker, the Queen's printer, and was used by him as early as 1579.

- 406 Articles to be enquiryed in the visitation, in the fyrste yeare of the raygne of our moost drad soveraygne Lady, Elizabeth by the grace of God, of Englande, Fraunce and Irelande, Quene, etc., black letter, blue calf Jugge and Cawood, 1559

* * * The rare first issue and the only one with the printed date.

The Articles to be enquiryed in the Visitations formed a companion volume to the Injunctions (see Lot 405), since the former were questions as to how far the various orders enforced by the Injunctions had been carried out. There are a number of variant editions which may all be ascribed to about the same date. Richard Jugge and John Cawood were the Royal printers, and both worked on these books. The British Museum Catalogue ascribes seven variant issues of these Articles to the year 1559, and seven others to later dates. The present issue, the only one with the printed date, 1559, is placed first. The title is surrounded by an architectural border having Cawood's mark on a shield in the lower border. At the commencement of the text is a large woodcut initial F. in the background of which is an illustration of the fable Cephalus and Procris. This bears an engraver's monogram A.S., usually ascribed to Anton Sylvius of Antwerp.—Extract from a note by the late Mr. Gordon Duff, accompanying the book.

- 407 Booke of Certaine Canons (A), concernynge some parte of the discipline of the churche of England. In the yeare of our Lord 1571, title within woodcut border, black letter, blue calf, RARE
John Daye (1571)
 Contains ten special Articles relating to the ministry and offices of the Church, which were agreed upon by Matthew Parker, Archbishop of Canterbury, and other bishops of the same province, and signed at a Synod held at St. Paul's in April, 1571. On the last leaf is printed, though not given in the Index, the "Forme of the sentence of excommunication of those accused of adultery." The Bodleian appears to possess one issue of the Latin and two of the English versions, while the British Museum has two of the Latin and one of the English. The Cambridge University Library has two issues of each.—Extract from a note by the late Mr. Gordon Duff, accompanying the book.

imprint is believed to be represented by a single copy only. The title is followed by three prefaces to "The Miserable," "The Liberall," and "The Profuse," printed in three columns in roman, gothic and italic letter respectively. The tract begins on B 1 and contains many interesting references, e. g. the eating of potatoes and caviare in Rome, card playing in Germany—"Clubs being trump wanne the Sett by fraud and force, the Spades and Diamonds assisting them, so that the Harts onely suffered"—the plague and the great frost—"as tame as a Water-man in a great frost, as a Player in a great plague"—, Paris Gardens and Tobacco. On F 2 is "A Christmas Carroll, To the tune of Poore Tom," and on F 3 and 4 "A Catalogue of all Mr. Iohn Taylors seuerall Bookes, Printed together in one Volume in Folio," ending with four lines of verse.

- 429 Mornay (P. de) Le Mystère d'Iniquité c'est à dire l'Histoire de la Papauté, FIRST EDITION, ruled in red throughout, curious portrait of Pope Paul V, another of the author, contemporary red morocco gilt, fanfare ornaments in the corners and central wreath in the style of Clovis Eve Saumur, T. Portav, 1611

 "Among the books thoroughly studied and largely used by Shakespeare were the writings of Philip de Mornay, the French Huguenot."—New Views of Shakespeare's Sonnets, Blackwood's Magazine, June, 1884.

Preceding the title are four curious drawings on vellum of Pythagoras, Simonides, Heraclitus and Democritus, each occupying a full page. At the end are four similar drawings of Aristotle, Virgil, Homer and Cicero. These eight drawings are all by D'Hardoncourt, the original owner whose signature is on the title.

- 430 Halle (Edward) The Union of the two noble and illustre famelies of Lancastre & Yorke, etc. black letter, title within woodcut border, old red morocco gilt (title and first three preliminary leaves inlaid, without affecting the text)

[Colophon] Imprynted at London by Rychard Grafton, Prynter to the Kynges Maiestye, 1550

 The fourth issue. Prohibited by Act of Parliament in 1555. The collation differs slightly from Lowndes. For the Reign of Henry VI Lowndes calls for 102 folios, this copy has 104, folios 103 and 104 being numbered 101 and 102. Again, Lowndes gives his quotation from "Richard Grafton to the Reader" as "have deuysed for the History of every Kyng a separate table," whereas in the present example the corresponding passage reads: "have deuysed for the history of euery seuerall table."

Daniel, writing on "Othello" (Athenaeum, 14th January, 1871) calls attention to the change of the word "plumped" in a quotation of two lines in Suckling's "Goblins," 1696, and queries whether it be a misprint or a misquotation, or the reading of some copy of "Othello" now lost. Its meaning, he adds, would be "in serried ranks"; in proof, whereof, several illustrations are given from Halle's "Chronicle," a book with which Shakespeare must have been familiar. Shakespeare must have consulted Halle continuously whilst composing "King Henry V." For the proof of this see the New Shakespeare Society's edition of this play ("Transactions of the New Shakespeare Society," series 2, no. 10, 1880.)

- 431 VORAGINE (J. DE) PASSIONAEL, 16th century binding of dark brown calf over wooden boards

Delft, Jacob Jacobszoon van der Meer, 1484

 Not in Hain or Proctor. No copy in the British Museum.

Of the editions printed in the Netherlands Jacob Jacobszoon printed three. Jacobszoon, in partnership with Mauritius Yemantzoen, started the first printing press at Delft in 1477, and the two printers worked together until 1479, issuing about eight books. From 1480 Jacobszoon worked on by himself until about 1488. The present volume contains 242 leaves, printed in double columns, with thirty-seven lines to the column. Besides the signatures, the leaves are numbered at the bottom, a very unusual practice. On the recto of the third leaf is a large half-page woodcut. The book has no other illustrations beyond the printer's device at the end. This probably unique copy has been rubricated throughout.—Extract from a note by the late Mr. Gordon Duff, accompanying the book.

 THE EXCEEDINGLY RARE OFFICIAL ACCOUNT OF THE MASSACRE AT FALLING CREEK 22 MARCH, 1622. THE FOLDING TABLE AT END IS IN VERY FINE CONDITION, it is headed: "The Inconueniences that have happened to some persons which have transported themselves from England to Virginia, without prouisions necessary to sustaine themselues, hath greatly hindred the Progresse of that noble Plantation: For preuention of the like disorders heereafter, that no man suffer ... it is thought requisite to publish this short declaration: wherein is contained a particular of such necessities, as either priuate families or single persons shall have cause to furnish themselues with, for their better support at their first landing in Uirginia; whereby also greater numbers may receiue in part, directions how to provide themselues." It has imprint at foot "Imprinted at London by Felix Kyngston. 1622." The various items necessary for the outfit of the intending colonist are divided into various headings: "Apparrell," "Victuall," "Armes," "Tooles," and "Houshold Implements" and the value of each article is given. The total amounts to "about the summe of" £12. 10, with the passage of each man £6, and "the freight of these prouisions for a man, will bee about halfe a Tun, which is" £1. 10. The "whole charge" is put down at about £20.

This account of the disaster is the basis of the poem by Christopher Brooke, published the same year, which was sold in these rooms on 23 Nov. 1925 (lot 59) for £2700. Brooke makes reference to this in his dedication of the poem to the Virginia Company: "Though I think your Discourse (i.e. this one) late published, of Virginias disaster, be well received of the Times, and as effectual to your designed purposes; yet something more of that Tragicall Subject (though in a different kinde) I tender here to your Noble Patronage," etc. He was largely indebted for his facts to this account.

records only two copies, and in the analytic tables shows this as the only Shakespeare quarto of which there is no copy in private ownership. Miss Bartlett, however, adds a third, the Crichton-Stuart copy, noting that it also is imperfect. The other two are the Bodleian (wants c 1) and Capell (wants A, B 1, D 2, D 3 and K = 11 leaves out of 40) copies. It is usually described as the third edition; a fragment, now in the Folger collection, consisting of sheet c only of an otherwise unknown edition, is responsible for a doubt as to the actual sequence of editions.

SHAKESPEARE (W.) THE SECOND PART OF HENRIE THE FOURTH, CONTINUING TO HIS DEATH, AND CORONATION OF HENRIE THE FIFT. WITH THE HUMOURS OF SIR IOHN FALSTAFFE AND SWAGGERING PISTOLL. As it hath been sundrie times publikely acted by the right honourable, the Lord Chamberlaine his seruants. Written by William Shakespeare, FIRST EDITION, second issue, with sheet E reprinted on six leaves, and containing the first scene of Act III, omitted in the first issue, wants the last five leaves (Miss Bartlett gives the last as blank), title touched at top, head-lines on D 1, F 1, F 4, G 2, H 2, H 3 and I 2 shaved, head-lines on B 2, E 3 verso, E 6 and G 3 recto just touched, original defect in paper causing the loss of several words on A 3, damp-stain in lower margins, slightly obscuring part of the imprint on title

London Printed by V. S. for Andrew Wise, and William Aspley. 1600

 EXCEEDINGLY RARE. No other separate edition of this play was printed before 1700 and including imperfect copies only ten are known of the first issue and only nine of the second. Bound together, old stamped calf (6 1/2 in. by 4 3/4 in.)

This remarkable volume formerly belonged to Sir Thomas Twysden (1602-1683) and was given by him to a seventeenth century Shakespearian student, who spent much pains on the preservation of a book already much dilapidated. He mounted the title, restored the missing letters with a pen, collated the text with earlier and later editions, noted some variants, and transcribed the missing scenes (the last three of Act V) at the end of Part II, apparently from the third (or possibly from the second) folio edition. On the verso of the leaf on which the title is mounted he has written the following note:

"N.B. These two plays are particularly esteemed by me because they were giv'n by (sic, but the word struck through) me by my Dear Friend y^e late Sr. Thomas Twysden of Peckham in Kent, and because y^t. in this edition wch was publish'd by y^e Authour, there are several of Falstaff's Jokes y^t. are omitted in all y^e following Impressions."

The most important of the passages referred to is in Part II, Act I, Scene II, where Falstaff's speech beginning "Yea, I thanke your prety sweet witte for it" instead of ending "Wel, I cannot last euer," as in the folio editions, continues: "but it was alway yet the tricke of our English nation, if they haue a good thing, to make it too common. If yee will needs say I am an olde man, you should giue me rest: I would to God my name were not so terrible to the enemy as it is, I were better to be eaten to death with a rust, than to be scoured to nothing with perpetuall motion."

The subsequent history of the volume is unknown, but it was in the possession of Mary, second Marchioness of Downshire, before passing to its present owner, and appears to have been rebound about 1800.

Lot 461.

JOHN MILTON, 1608-1674.

AUTOGRAPH MANUSCRIPT OF HIS EARLIEST VERSES.

Consisting of 166 stanzas of 8 lines, in heroic couplets, descriptive of the illustrations to Johan Posthii Germershemii Tetrasticha in Ovidii Metamorphoses Lib. XV, Frankfurt-am-Main, 1563. The book is imperfect, lacking 14 ll. in all, namely Nos. 25; 64, 65, 66, 67; 171-178 inclusive; and an un-numbered fol. 184; but only 12 stanzas are missing since, being written on the verso of the preceding plate, stanzas for fols. 25, 64 and 171 are present. Those wanting are for 26; 65, 66, 67, 68; 172-178 inclusive, plates ending at fol. 178. There is also a word or line written beneath each plate giving the point of the stanza; this appears in Mr. Candy's book as the stanza-title. The book has been rebound in half calf, probably about 100 years ago, when some of the final letters of the script were shaved and the inner edges tucked in so far that some initial letters can hardly be read; the volume will be sold as a manuscript, not subject to return.

The "Milton Ovid Script" was discovered by Professor Candy in 1921; printed in "Notes and Queries" 1922-3, and first printed in book form under the title of "Some Newly discovered Stanzas written by John Milton on Engraved Scenes illustrating Ovid's Metamorphoses" (London, Nisbet & Co.) in 1924. For detailed and convincing proof that these verses are an early work by Milton, composed and written about 1623, we must refer readers to that book, a copy of which accompanies the lot. Here we can only summarise his arguments very briefly—too briefly indeed to do them full justice, since their weight depends on the cumulative and corroborative effect of a great number of details.

That the handwriting is Milton's is proved by its striking resemblance to his early hand, as shown in the Trinity College Manuscript (Facsimile published by the Cambridge University Press, 1899), and in the Prolusio and Latin verses in Milton's Commonplace Book (published for the Camden Society, 1876; Facsimile of this in the Public Record Office). The Ovid script is doubtless earlier than either of the others, the Prolusio coming second; how close it is to both the other two may be seen in detail from the Word Cards composed of words taken partly from the Ovid script, partly from the other two, which we reproduce from Professor Candy's book. The general character of the script may be seen from the plates, and its resemblance to the poet's later hand may easily be tested by comparison with the facsimiles published in S. L. Sotheby's "Ramblings in the Illustration of the Autograph of Milton," 1861.

The Ovid script is nearest to the writing of the Prolusio, to which it is also nearest in point of date; and it is remarkable that these two manuscripts differ from the later chiefly in their closer resemblance to the late Elizabethan Secretary hand (reproduced in The Library, June, 1922, pl. 9), which was used chiefly by Scriveners—and Milton was the son of a Scrivener. One curious and unusual feature common to Milton and the writer of the Ovid script is their extensive use of variant forms of the same letter; thus in Milton's stanza on Mel Heliconium (reproduced by Professor Candy, pl. 2) we find two types of d, three of e, three of f, three of p, three of r, and four of s, all in 8 lines; similar variations are found in the Ovid script.

Finally the writer of this manuscript spells like Milton; no doubt the orthography of the early 17th century was unstable but, when full allowance is made for this, it is surely remarkable that, without going beyond the word cards, we find both Milton and the Ovid scribe writing amounst for amongst, bowes for boughs, and does for does, on the very rare occasions when doth is not used; other eccentricities common to both can easily be found.

The verses then were written by Milton; were they also composed by him? That this also is a fact may be proved from innumerable coincidences of word and phrase and style, of which a few only can be noticed here:—

- I. (i) The thing some time she in her minde revoulv'd.
(Ovid, stanza 77).
Or some great matter in his mind revol'd.

- (ii) . . . thinking to wooe the maide
To sport with him, a while within the shade; (Ovid, stanza 15).
To sport with Amaryllis in the shade. (Lycidas, 68).
- (iii) Now they who lived in community
 Begin to draw to base propriety. (Ovid, stanza 4).
 The Law . . . reduc't things to propriety, which were at first in common. [Tetrachordon (1645), p. 32].
 Hail wedded love . . .
 . . . Sole propriety
 In Paradise of all things common else. (P. L. iv, 750-2).

II. The rhythmical resemblance is quite as significant. It is remarkable to find in these early stanzas the variety of rhythm so characteristic of the "inventor of harmonies"; it is achieved too in the same way (a) by sometimes stressing an odd syllable to break the orthodox even sequence, (b) by varying the position of the pause or "break":—it would be easy to multiply parallels, but we will quote two examples only of unusual rhythms:

1. Stress on 5th syllable, pause after 4th,
 And in the shades, *pás*ses the time away (Ovid, stanza 128).
*a*For one restraint, Lórd's of the world besides (P. L. i, 32).
 2. Two odd stresses, 1st and 3rd, pause after 6th,
*b*Vénus gránts his request his statue lives (Ovid, stanza 124).
*b*Úniversally crown'd with highest praises. (Samson, 175).
- a*. This example is cited by Dr. Bridges (Milton's Prosody (1921), p. 41).
b. This parallel was pointed out by Mr. Bayfield in the Times Literary Supplement, Feb. 2, 1922.

III. Both Milton and the Ovid writer are fond of Latinisms:

- (i) Absolute construction
The gods assembled, all of them approue (Ovid, stanza 7).
 Then all thy Saints assembl'd, thou shalt judge (P. L. iii, 330).
- (ii) Latin use of what (Quid?) = why?
 he seeing that
 With angred looke and Temples bound cries what (Ovid, stanza 45).
What sit we then projecting peace and war? (P. L. ii, 329).
- (iii) . . . insnared artificially (Ovid, stanza 49).

The last word is used in its older and more classical meaning—by the skilfulness of an artifex. Milton uses it thus when he describes a wall as being "by the rude multitude unartificially built up" (History, p. 101).

IV. Older English words are numerous in both, e.g.

- (i) to trull (troule) = to roll is used in the Ovid stanza 129, also in Paradise Lost, xi. 616.
- (ii) thril'd (= pierced) is used in Ovid, stanza 89.
thrilling (= piercing) is used in Milton's Ode on the Nativity, 103.

LCT 461—continued.

- V. Both make use of be-verbs. Milton uses—bespeckl'd, bespurted, besmear'd, bespaul.

The scribe uses—besprinkled, besmear'd, begolds (of Midas turning everything he touched to gold), and bepoysineth.

and un-verbs; the following parallel is fairly convincing:

... unwombs th' incestious frute (Ovid, stanza 127).

... unhous'd thy virgin soul. (On the Death of a fair Infant, 21).

- VI. Common to both are what Raleigh called the "packed line," cf. a famous example:

Rocks, caves, lakes, fens, bogs, dens and shades of death.

(P. L. ii, 621).

In the Ovid script we find:

(i) Craft, treason, violence, envie, lust and pride. (Stanza 5).

(ii) Eggs, apples, grapes, olives, chese, nutts to eate. (Stanza 101).

(iii) His sheep, his lambs, his friends, his selfe, an all. (Stanza 86).

It is worth noting here that Milton also dropped the d in his Commonplace Book (182) where he wrote "pure an absolute in his kind." So too he writes eveing and the scribe writes returing, both dropping the n.

- VII. The familiar handling of proper names is another significant link:

In stanza 101 Cyllenius is shortened to Cylen as Milton shortens Lycidas to Lycid;

In stanza 118 Eurydice is rhymed with eyes, as Milton in Arcades alters Arethusa to rhyme with sluse.

- VIII. Both are fond of compound adjectives. Milton uses high-blest, the scribe high-bright. Milton speaks of—"The many-benefice-gaping mouth" of a prelate; the scribe uses the phrase—"Eyes-dropping-teares" to describe the tears dropped from Myrrha's eyes and turning to myrrh.

- IX. Both have a weakness for a play on words. The scribe writes:

... this was his gaines,

Against the stones . . .

(Stanza 62).

and

Troy now distroy'd.

(Stanza 153).

Milton has:

Arm'd thee or charm'd thee . . .

and

Which tempted our attempt.

(Paradise Lost, i, 642).

- X. Both too are fond of emphatic repetitions. The scribe has:

Their teares received by the pregnant earth

With outcast streames, gives this new stream a birth. (Stanza 70).

and

With their salt springs increased ye salter seas.

(Stanza 156).

Milton has :

Most reason is that Reason overcome. (Paradise Lost, vi, 126).
The world ere long a world of tears must weepe. (Ib. xi, 623).

It would be easy to multiply examples, but we must refer our readers again to Professor Candy's book. Only the hypothesis that these verses were written and composed by Milton will account for all these varied resemblances, in writing, spelling, diction, rhythm, and style ; we are confident that any reader who examines the evidence carefully and thoroughly will come to the same conclusion.
