XV CENT.

* * The full-page miniatures represent: (1) A coat-of-arms, azure, three castles or supported by gryphons and within a border of natural flowers, at bottom a heart bearing the letter T, held in an eagle's claw, and the initials A. M. joined by a rope and anchor, at side a bear fastened to a peg; (2) Two angels playing before the Virgin and child; (3) The Annunciation; (4) David Praying; (5) An angel driving Satan into hell (rubbed); (6) Pentecost; (7) Christ Enthroned; (8) Two angels holding up the Eucharist. These vary somewhat in merit, several towards the end being of superior execution. The pages containing miniatures and large initials are all decorated with full borders (36 in all) of flowers painted in natural colours on a light brown ground, birds, butterflies, snails, hunting subjects, grotesque animals, etc. Unfortunately in many cases in the early portion of the MS. the borders are somewhat shaved. Three of the borders are different in character, showing: (1) An angel bearing a shield azure divided per pale, dexter a mullet of six points with a rose in centre, sinister, three castles, above are two clasped hands surmounted by a coronet; these charges are repeated each time within compartments forming the border round two sides of the page; (2) A decorative architectural border richly illuminated in gold, and introducing the clasped hands; (3) The last border in the book showing several men gathering manna into baskets.
