in Latin and the remainder in French, the first page of each section being decorated with a head-piece of flowers and a gold capital letter in a square frame filled with flowers, while four of the sections have similar tail-pieces, all being charmingly coloured; there are also 10 FULL-PAGE MINIATURES, one at the beginning of each section of the religious figure or scene appropriate to its contents, and one at the end, of a nun holding a child, with a statue of the Virgin and Child in the background. The manuscript is signed AT THE END N. JARRY, 1640, on the fly-leaf the words "Duke of Marlborough, 1840" are written in the handwriting of the fifth Duke, and his bookplate is in the book, which is bound in red morocco, with rich dentelle borders on the sides, and the ARMS OF MME. ADELAIDE, DAUGHTER OF LOUIS XV, gilt back in compartments (joint broken), blue silk-end papers, g. e. by DEROME

* * * This beautiful little volume is among the earliest known productions of the celebrated French calligrapher Nicolas Jarry, and was written in the year before his masterpiece, the famous Guirlande de Julie. Jarry's manuscripts are as rare as they are beautiful, and, consequently, have long been prized by collectors, both French and foreign. It would be difficult to find a more desirable specimen than this, which, except for the trifling defect in the binding mentioned, is in superb condition, both inside and out.

- 602 LA ROCHEFOUCAULD (DUC DE) MÉMOIRES, MANUSCRIPT on paper, 396 pp. in a contemporary hand; on the page after the title is written in the same hand "Ces Mémoires sont les véritables de M.D.L.R.F. et différents de ceux qui ont été imprimés en Hollande, soit pour la beauté du stile soit pour l'ordre des choses et la vérité de l'histoire Les Imprimés ont été compilés par Cerizay pendant qu'il était son domestique, et partie de ces pièces qui sont assez mal consues ensemble sont de M. de Vineuil, partie de M. de St. Evremond. frequently mentions him in the memoirs; afterwards the manuscript belonged to M. Petitot, who used it for his edition of the memoirs, published in 1826, and it was in the Bourdillon sale, 1830. It contains the whole of the memoirs, beginning in 1626, and is most important on that account as only one other manuscript now known to exist contains the first part.

- 603 LA ROCHEFOUCAULD (DUC DE) MÉMOIRES, MANUSCRIPT on paper, 214 pp. (the last 10 being numbered 118 to 127 and attributed in a marginal note to Bassompierre) in a contemporary hand, with 78 corrections in another hand; two portraits of La Rochefoucauld are bound in at the beginning of the volume, one by Choffard, 1779, after Petitot, the other by St. Aubin, after Monsiau, and loosely inserted in the volume are pencil portraits of the Cardinals de Retz and Mazarin, and 18 engraved portraits of various important people of the period; on the fly-leaf is written "Ces mémoires ont été donnés à M. d'Andilly par M. de la Rochefoucauld lui-même, manuscrit infiniment curieux étant original et le seul," and in another hand "Cette note est de M. de la Rochefoucauld, Marquis de Surgères"; this manuscript belonged to Renouard and contains his bookplate; bound in crimson morocco, gilt ornaments on back, and rich gilt border, g. e. by Bozerian sm. folio. XVII CENT.

* * * A MANUSCRIPT OF GREAT LITERARY INTEREST. Renouard published his 1804 edition of the Memoirs from it, and was quite certain that the corrections were in the Duke's own handwriting, while MM. Gilbert and Gourdault, editors of the standard edition of La Rochefoucauld's works (Hachette, 1868-83), say that they appeared to them to be "sinon, comme à Renouard, avec une entière certitude, du moins avec assez de vraisemblance, de la main de La Rochefoucauld"; on the other hand, we know from Legrais (Legresiana, 1721) that a manuscript of the memoirs was sent to d'Andilly for the style to be corrected by him, and it is quite possible that the corrections are in his hand. His full name was Robert Arnauld d'Andilly, and he was the brother of Antoine Arnauld, the famous Jansenist. Of the seven important contemporary manuscripts of the Memoirs now known to exist, this, like four others, begins in 1649. No manuscript of the Memoirs in the handwriting of the author is known. Both this and the preceding lot are fully described and discussed by MM. Gilbert and Gourdault in the work referred to above.

- 604 KEATS (JOHN) Silver Medal (dated 1810), inscribed: obv. "Prize Medal Rev Wm Thomas's Academy Enfield Awarded to Master J. Keats; rev. Stadium doctrinae arduum et difficile sit nihilominus finis gloriosus erit. Audivit Clarkenem," with silver loop for attaching to a chain; and an engraved Portrait of the Rev. Wm. Thomas, Enfield (2)

* * * An extremely interesting relic of Keats' school life. "Audivit Clarkenem" presumably refers to Keats' teacher, John Clarke, father of Charles Cowden Clarke, who afterwards became the poet's intimate friend. It is usually said that Keats went to John Clarke's school at Enfield, but it is evident that Clarke was only the manager and head master of the "Academy" of which Mr. Thomas was proprietor. Keats was at the school for six years, leaving in this year (1810) at the age of 15. At first he paid more attention to fighting than reading, and it was only in his last two years that he set to work and carried off all the prizes. The medal has been in the possession of the owner's family for three generations.

- 21
- 605 KEATS (JOHN) Silhouette Portrait, looking to left, in black coat, bow tie, and Eton collar; underneath is written: "Master John Keats, aged 15 years."

* * * A very interesting portrait; the shape of the nose and the angle of the chin show a striking resemblance to the charcoal sketch, which is Severn's earliest portrait of the poet (reproduced in Mr. Buxton Forman's edition of Keats' works, vol. III, 1883). It appears to be very much earlier than any of the portraits now known, and is in fact the only one which represents him as a schoolboy. It was purchased from Mrs. Moore, widow of Tom Moore, the poet, when she left Walthamstow in 1879.

- 32 652 THE SPANISH ARMADA. MANUSCRIPT on paper, on 185 pp. large folio, in the handwriting of Leslie Care, Private Secretary to Sir Francis Walsingham, Queen Elizabeth's Foreign Minister; bound in contemporary calf binding, finely tooled

The first subject dealt with is dated 26 January, 1560, and the last, and to many the most interesting, begins:—

PROPOSITIONS.

Suche meanes as are considered to be fittest to put the forces of the Realme in order to withstand any invacon, by Mr. Treasurer S<sup>r</sup> Francis Knollis, S<sup>r</sup> Walter Raleigh, S<sup>r</sup> John Norris, S<sup>r</sup> Richard Greenefeild, S<sup>r</sup> Richard Bingham, S<sup>r</sup> Roger Williams Knights, Ralfe Lane Esq 27 nouember 1587.

Then come most beautifully written minute particulars for defending the whole country.

In 1798 the Public Record Office printed a large octavo of 438 pages, entitled:

Report on the arrangements which were made, for the internal Defence of these Kingdoms, when Spain, by its Armada, projected the Invasion and Conquest of England; and Application of the wise Proceedings of our Ancestors, to the present Crisis of public Safety.

These 438 pages are wholly ignorant of this wonderful council of great men, and their most interesting report.

The Western Antiquary, or Note-book for Devon, Cornwall and Somerset for May, 1888, contained an interesting article by Dr. Brushfield, entitled "The Spanish Invasion of 1588." He had been unable to find any contemporary manuscript; but, however, made an interesting compilation from later versions.

(1) Returning to the beginning of the book, is a negociation, on 26 January, 1560, at Blois, for the restitution of Metz, Tulle and Verdun. Further correspondence on 31 January and 2 February.

No other report of this negociation has been found.

(2) The next folios are giving a Description of Irelande in 1574, and is all evidently for the private guidance of whoever was to manage the country, and saying who to trust, etc. The election of the Onell is to be confirmed by the "casting of a shoue over his hedd."

(3) 1575. The Exchange betweene Marchants. Places of Exchange in various countries (england in lumberd streete). The waye to raise the Exchange in England (among other ways) by exporting low priced commodities; by exporting more English by a full third in value than are imported, etc.

(4) Te haue the Staple keppe in England.

A Treatise, prefixed by a long Letter to the Queen, by John Johnson and christofer Goodwin . . . to bring trade to England, there should be a mart town where the Company of Merchant Adventurers, the drawers of all other merchants after them, may keep marts and staple their cloth as at Antwerp and at other places outside the kingdom . . .

(5) The plott of establishing a free marte at Ipswich demised by John Johnson Stapler and Christopher Godwin merchaunt adventurers.

(6) An Italian Letter Missive about the trade of Hamborrowe donne by Guiciardine.

(7) Breefe discourse of negotiation of Thomas Randolphe with the Kinge and counsell of Scotland beinge sent thether by her Maiestie the 6 of January 1580.

(8) An account of the funeral of Francis duke of Anjou son of Henry the Second—departed this lyf the Xth of June aboute one of the clocke after dinner at his castell of Chasteaubury 1584.

(9) Whether it may staunde with good pollicie for hir Maiestie to ioyne with the Frenshe Kynge in the enterprise of Flaunders.

(10) A consideration of the Queenes Maiesties estate at this present upon these questions followinge (many dangers & difficulties described & discussed, including Queen of Scots). No copy of this important part has been found.

(11) Addressed to the Queene—A discourse about Succession.

(12) Concerning musters and trayninge of Soldiers.

The above is the first paragraph of the last two pages of this fine original manuscript, finished at the opening of King Henry the Seventh's reign. He was crowned 30 October, 1485. Some of the manuscript, but nothing about the Knighthood of the Garter, is in an eighteenth century MS. in the British Museum, which the Society of Antiquaries once printed. Here are a few extracts from this original:—

As ffor Candillmasse day. Item, on Candilmasse day the Chambrelayn or a Baron may bere the Kynges tapere goinge on the Kinges right hand against the suerd goinge in procession, and on Estere day the Kinge muste bere his torche hym selue.

The house of Westminster shall mete the Kinge in Westminster hall . . . also the Barons of the V portes shall take the clothe of estate to bere ouer the Kinge . . . then the quene shall go throughe the quere . . . and the archbischope shall sit in a chaire be fore the highe Auctere and the Kinge in a nother . . . when they singe Veni Creator Spiritus . . . then shall his handes be anoyntid . . . shall put on the mantelle of saint Edward . . . be crounyd.

All contemporary records relating to the Garter are of great interest, especially as the date of the founding has never been agreed.

- 683 Bembo (Pierre) Le Prose (rivedute da Varchi), original vellum Venice, 1525
- * * * From Tasso's library. This most precious copy of the great Italian poet Bembo's works is annotated throughout by Tasso. The present volume was in Tasso's possession whilst he was confined in the Hospital of Saint Anne between the years 1579 and 1586, and literally every leaf is enriched with his manuscript notes and annotations. This relic of the great Italian poet passed from the possession of Professor Rossini (Tasso's biographer) to George Hibbert. This important Tasso manuscript has never been published.

- * * * Unique. It was specially bound and the title specially engraved for presentation to Cardinal Mazarin, Louis XIV's celebrated Minister. Each map has the title set forth in manuscript, most probably in Sanson's autograph, as a special mark of respect to the Cardinal. Bound up at the end is "Table Alphabétique de Toutes les Villes grandes, moyennes, et petites et autres places, qui sont de quelque consideration dans la Carte de l'Italie, Paris, 1648."

- 691 ARMORIAL. IMPORTANT HERALDIC MANUSCRIPT of the 15th Century, containing 468 large coats-of-arms well and decoratively drawn and emblazoned in the proper colours. The MS. was written in France and the paper bears the hand and star watermark. The arms are those of Bishops (18), the two Emperors, the European Monarchs (18), and the chief Nobility and Gentry of Europe. Among the English Nobles are the Duke of Lancaster, the Earl of Warwick, de Montfort, de Bohun, Lord Beaumont, Reginald de Cobham, and John de Mandeville. The arms of the last are most important, and are certainly those of the Great Traveller (d. 1372). The D.N.B. states that the tomb of the man who claimed to be Mandeville was at Liege and was destroyed in 1798, that Ortelius in his Itinerarium (1584 ed. p. 16), gives an account of the tomb and states that the shield on the tomb was bare when he saw it, but that he was told that upon it was once a coat-of-arms—azure, a lion argent, with a crescent on his breast gules with a bordure engrailed or. The D.N.B. states that these were not the arms of any branch of the Mandeville family. The present MS. confirms and amplifies the testimony of Ortelius, and is probably the only record in existence of Mandeville's arms. They are shewn as azure, a lion rampant argent coronetted or with a bordure engrailed or. The crescent was probably for difference. Sir John is described in the MS. as an Englishman. Many of the French and other coats are of the greatest interest. There are a certain number of Italian ones, including those of Galeazzo and Bernabo Visconti, both of whom died in the second half of the 14th century. The present MS. is probably founded on one of the 3rd quarter of the 14th century, as most of the coats we have identified belong to the 14th century, enclosed in folding case SÆC. XV

* * * The engravings are all printed in red, and are brilliant impressions. This fine binding exhibits the full escutcheon on the sides, encircled by the collar of the Golden Fleece, and surmounted by a ducal crown. commanded by Monk. It is headed "His Grace the Duke of Albemarle's Regiment of Foote."

Then there is a second signature of King Charles over: "An Establishment for his Ma<sup>ties</sup> Foote Regiment of Guards Commanded by the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> Thomas Lord Wentworth that came from Dunkirk, to begin from the XVII of Nouember 1662."

This is the second battalion of the Grenadier Guards.

Then the third signature of the King heads 21 rules opening thus: "Our will and Pleasure is that the severall Orders following by Us made by advice of our right trustie and right intirely Beloved Cosin and Councillor George Duke of Albemarle Capitaine Generall of our Armies for the Mustering regulating and payment of our established forces bee duely observed under the paines and penalties therein expre/sed."

The fourth and last signature of King Charles heads:

"An Establishment of his Majesties Garrisons of England."

This occupies 10 pages, giving particulars of 31 places.

At the close of the book are two pages which for money purposes give a summary, and this happens to confirm the completeness of the manuscript, as the summary enumerates everything except the pages of Standing Orders, which, of course, as not being money, are not mentioned.

of his imprisonment. The signatures are undoubtedly genuine, and have been compared with his handwriting in the Church Books of the Meeting House in Bedford. The History of the volumes can be traced back to 1780, when they were purchased by Mr. Wontner of the Minories, and from him they descended to his daughter, Mrs. Parnell. They were subsequently sold at Evans's in Pall Mall to Mr. Upcott, who bought them for a friend. They next passed into the hands of James Bohn, of whom they were bought by William White, the Bedford bookseller, and were purchased from him by public subscription in 1841, passing to the Bedford Literary Institute. There are some MS. notes in the text, probably in the handwriting of Samuel Hancock, whose signature (partly erased) is on the first fly-leaf of vol. I. The friend referred to above, for whom Upcott is said to have purchased it from Evans, may have been W. H. Whitbread, whom Lowndes mentions as possessing the copy.
