large folio. Cambridge, Printed by John Baskerville, 1763

 There is little doubt that this binding was executed for the Irish House of Lords; the scheme of decoration is similar to that on the binding of the Journal of the House for 1776-8, and many of the same stamps are used on both volumes. According to a binding account now destroyed, dated Oct. 10, 1773, Abraham Bradley, who was binder to the Irish House of Lords at this period, received £5. 10/- for supplying "one Bible Royal folio gilt Barbary leather with silk strings and registers." It is practically certain that this book must be the volume in question, and it is of great interest, both for that reason and because it is the last survivor of the magnificent series of bindings produced during the 18th Century for the Irish Houses of Parliament, the remainder of which were burnt at the Public Record Office in Dublin in 1916.

Newcastle, 1797-1820

* * Mr. Bruton in his Notes loosely inserted, says: "I believe this to be the finest set of Bewick's Quadrupeds, Birds and Fables extant." On the title of the Quadrupeds, in Jane Bewick's handwriting, is "Presented by T. Bewick to his daughter, Jane Bewick." Vol. I of The Birds is the Early Issue with the Sea Eagle before the inscription on the rock on which the bird stands, and with two branches on the stump which appears by the Magpie, whilst the cut on p. 285, vol. I, is "before the bar," and the last leaf advertises the third edition of the Quadrupeds. The Supplement, in 2 parts, is also on Imperial paper, and is bound up with each vol. of The Birds; in addition to the Supplement in vol. II are the Addenda and the Additamenta, both on imperial paper and uncut—in this state very rare. Loosely inserted in vol. II of The Birds is a small paper copy of the Addenda.

- 378 ARMS OF THE NOBILITY OF ENGLAND, MANUSCRIPT on paper, 236 numbered pp., containing a very neatly written catalogue of peers and notables from the earliest times to the year 1616, with biographical notes, often of some length; opposite each entry the appropriate arms are well and clearly drawn in colours and fully emblazoned, russia gilt after 1616

* * * A MOST INTERESTING HERALDIC MANUSCRIPT, IN BEAUTIFUL CONDITION. In some of his earlier history the writer is a little careless as to facts (he dates the Norman Conquest 1163), but his biographies summarize a remarkable mass of genealogical information in an accessible form. The heraldry is as a rule painstaking, though in assigning elaborate quartered coats to (e.g.) "Brutus the sonne of Silvius Posthumus, coming out of Italie with the Troians, found out this Island, A° of the world 2855," and to "Hengist a Saxon Duke of the Angles," the writer gives rein to the fertile imagination of a 17th century herald. Julius Caesar is respectfully credited with a more simple and dignified coat, "or a double-headed eagle displayed sable." The last creation noted is one of 1616 and the MS. was no doubt written between that date and the end of the reign, which is not mentioned.

* * The following are the subjects represented :—

1. The story of Tereus (in several scenes).
2. Dives and Lazarus.
3. Wise Peronilla.
4. Codrus King of Athens sacrificing his life in single combat to save his people.
5. The Roman Emperor triumphing in a four-wheeled car drawn by a pair of white horses (an interesting miniature, as representations of wheeled vehicles at this date are of considerable rarity).
6. A King making three persons swear on a book (? Lycurgus, Bk. vii).
7. Socrates writing at his desk, his wife about to empty a jug of water over his head.
8. Story of Ulysses and Telegonus.
9. Uncertain. ? Apollinus giving the cargo of his ship to the town of Tarsis (Bk. viii).

The manuscript from which these miniatures were taken is now in the Morgan Library in New York. It formerly belonged to Peter Le Neve, Norroy, the Norfolk antiquarian, from whom it passed to Mr. Martin ("Honest Tom Martin of Palgrave"), who married his widow. At Martin's death it was bought with other of Le Neve's property (including the Paston letters) by Thomas Worth, the apothecary, who cut out the nine miniatures now offered and sold them to Sir John Fenn, editor of the Paston letters and great-uncle of the present owner. The manuscript, complete with the 99 remaining miniatures, was then sold to Mr. Fountaine of Narford, and eventually appeared as lot 378 in the Fountaine sale at these rooms in 1902.

The lection commemorating the Franciscan martyrs Berardus ("Bernardus") and his companions (16 January, canonized 1481) is inserted at the foot of the page; Bonaventura (canonized 1482) is omitted; and the lections for Bernardino (canonized 1450) are put at the end, instead of in their proper place (20 May), and his Translation (28 May, 1472) is omitted. The date may therefore be taken to be 1450-1472, and probably soon after the earlier date.

The prominence given to Anthony of Padua, Justina, and Prosdocius suggests Padua as the place of origin: and this is supported by the style of script and decoration, and also by the spelling Ambroxius, Blaxius.

Every page in this manuscript has a row of capital J's, alternately red and blue, in front of each column of text. This type of ornament indicates a Parisian atelier of the early 14th century, and is found in the famous Bible written by Robert de Billyng, and dated 1327 (see H.  AN IMPORTANT COLLECTION.

395 PROZZI (Esther Lynch) formerly Mrs. Thrale, friend of Dr. Johnson, A SUPERB COLLECTION of Twenty-nine A. L. s. mainly written to Revd. Dr. Whalley of Bath, between 1792-1816. This remarkable series gives a vivid picture of the outstanding personages and events of these eventful years. A number of references are made to Napoleon, and of Sicily being rescued from his tyrannic grasp:

She rejoices that the Toulon Fleet is out and that Nelson is at their heels. Of Sir Walter Scott she asks, "Is it true that the author of Marmion has received from the Scotch booksellers a thousand guineas for a thousand lines?" Mrs. Siddons's brilliant acting is frequently mentioned. Refers to Wellington's brilliant campaign in the Peninsular, and wonders when the French will cease thinking that the English can only fight at sea.

Amongst other names mentioned are Dr. Johnson, Goldsmith, Hannah More, Lord Keith, Sir Ralph Abercrombie, and many others. Many of the celebrities mentioned are illustrated with a finely engraved portrait. The whole arranged in a royal 4to volume, morocco gilt, by Riviere

- 396 PIOZZI (Esther Lynch) Twenty-five A. L. and a Poem, addressed to her by Wm. Mudford (author of a Critical Enquiry into the Moral Writings of Dr. Johnson), Count Manucci, T. Montagu, Jesse Foot, G. Robson, John Gillon, Dr. R. Dealtry, Rev. John Roberts, Sir Lucas Pepys, Robert Merry :

Mudford speaks of the "veneration for the memory of Johnson which you are known to possess." Asks for particulars of "Dr. Johnson's first introduction to yourself." Mentions his own book on the Moral Writings of Dr. Johnson.

Manucci refers to "The worthiest Englishman, the good Dr. Johnson, I remember with the sweetest commotion—the tender farewell he gave in embracing me for the last time at Streatham. Mr. Boswell to whom I am indebted to for so many politeness at Edimburg follows immediately his friend in my remembrance ... The news of Garrick's death had reached my ears some time ago."

Delap's letter is addressed to her when Mrs. Thrale, "I am glad Dr. Johnson continues with you, it will be for the advantage of the dead as well as the living; of Mr. Pope, as well as Mr. Thrale, Mrs., Miss Thrale and Miss Burney—animæ quales neque candidiores, Terra tulit."

"We have here some excellent democratic papers but they do not trouble themselves enough about the 'calotte' (the Roman Church), and the 'calotte' is humanity's most mortal enemy. With the 'calotte' no entente of nations is possible. The 'calotte' is the decisive destructor of Reason and Science. 'Liberty for all' shout the modern Torquemadas. 'Liberty for all'? Liberty for sharks, wolves, thieves, assassins and priests who are decidedly the worst. No holy liberty except for honest people ... to whatever race they belong. Man invented God my dear Taxil ... and not only is God a human invention ... but he was invented by the worst part of primitive society ... that is to say, God was invented by base deceivers and idlers who wanted to live luxuriously without working at the expense of the good and simple labourers." etc.

The letter to Barni, entirely autograph, states:

"The confederation of all the free democracies which you proclaimed yesterday will proceed slowly, but will proceed. The organisation of universal and lasting association of the friends of liberty sitting permanently at Geneva, will be a splendid achievement for International Congress for Peace. Let us finish our democratic mission to the world by proclaiming 'The Universal religion of God,' substituting for the priests Arbues and Torquemada ... the priesthood of Liebnitz, of Galileo ... of Kepler ... of Arago ... of Newton ... of Quinet ... of Rousseau, &c. We will have thus cleared the path which is to conduct us to the fraternisation of the nations, and lastingly cement the compact of Universal Peace."

653 CONRAD (Joseph) A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, Pent Farm, Kent, 28 Jany. [1903], saying that Mr. J. B. Pinker has complete charge of his literary work

654 CURZON OF KEDLESTON (Marquis) A Series of Forty-seven A. L. s. 1894-1915, mostly dealing with the publication of his books and his discussions with various authors; with a Copy of "Lord Curzon in India, 1898-1905" (48)

GISSING (GEORGE) AUTHOR OF "THE PRIVATE PAPERS OF HENRY RYECROFT."

A VERY FINE SERIES OF A. L. s. CONCERNING HIS LITERARY WORK, ADDRESSED TO MARTIN COLLES.

656 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, 76 Burton Rd., Brixton, Sept. 27, 1893 :

I will not delay the return of Barrie's story till I happen to be near Portugal St. It is certainly a very delicate bit of work, done with a wonderfully light hand ...

657 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Brixton, Nov. 7, 1893 :

... I am very glad indeed to hear that the National has taken "The Day of Silence"—a favourite of mine. By the bye, I suppose proofs will be forthcoming? On that point I am very particular 658 A. L. s. 1½ pp. 8vo, Brixton, Feb. 1, 1894 :

... I have undertaken to write a 13 week Serial for the "Illustrated London News," to be published probably, in the last quarter of the year. ...

My new novel "Miss Lord of Camberwell," goes steadily on and I hope to finish it by the end of March ... The book isn't bad.

[This novel was apparently published under the title of "In the Year of Jubilee."]

- 659 A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, Brixton, Feb. 4, 1894 :

... I have promised my friend A. H. Bullen that he shall have this book, &, what is more, our personal relations preclude any thoughts of injustice on his side or of discontent on mine.

I suppose the practice of sending presentation copies of periodicals is fallen into disuse? In the good old days an author appearing in a magazine received a copy as a matter of course—Competition, alas!

- 660 A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo, 23 East Ascent, St. Leonards-on-Sea, Feb. 10th, 1894 :

"... You must not think that I let my books go on terms unfair to myself or to authors in general." Goes on to praise Messrs. Lawrence and Bullen, saying that of what comes to them from sales he is entitled to no meagre proportion.

- 661 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, St. Leonards on Sea, March 8, 1894 :

... Did To-Day pay for that story of mine it had? I don't mean that there is any hurry in the matter.

A. L. s. Ap. 4, 1894, concerning a proof that he had neglected to return (2)

- 662 A. L. s. 1½ pp. 8vo, Brixton, Ap. 17, 1894 :

... It seems to me a desirable thing to keep one's books together, that rule can only apply so long as the relations between publisher and author are mutually profitable. I shall wait, therefore, and see what luck we have with the Novel which is to be published in the Autumn, etc.

- 663 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, 84 Old Church Rd., Clevedon, July 17, 1894 :

... I think I could promise a story of 7,000 words for some three weeks hence. About the price, you will know better than I...

- 664 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Clevedon, July 22, 1894 :

... I am very glad you have been able to dispose of "His Mother's Keeper."

- 665 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Eversley, Worple Rd., Epsom, Sept. 28, 1894 :

... I shall be glad to let you have the two stories ... They shall be in your hands—calamity apart—in about a fortnight.

A. L. s. Sept. 12, 1894, saying "Eversley" is now his permanent address (2)

- 666 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Epsom, Oct. 1, 1894 :

I am sending you a story of a little more than two thousand words, entitled "Simple Simon." It is in the lighter vein. ...

A. L. s. ½ p. 8vo, "Herewith another story from the same social plane," etc. (2)

- 667 A. L. s. 1½ pp. 8vo, Dec. 13, 1894 (address cut away from top corner) :

I have an idea which strikes me as rather a good one, It is to write a series of little stories all concerned with the lives of people in lodgings: the common title might be "At a Week's Notice." Do you think you could procure me a commission for this series?

- 668 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Epsom, Feb. 6, 1895 :

... "Eve's Ransom" will be issued by L. & B. early in April, at 6/-. I have a suspicion—from comments that reach me—that this story will make it easier for you to place my next in some serial.

- 669 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Epsom, March 8, 1895 :

Herewith I send "A Freak of Nature." If it will not do for the publication of Harmsworth of which you spoke, possibly someone else will have it ...

- 670 A. L. s. 2½ pp. 8vo, Epsom, May 22, 1895 : "Private and Confidential" :

... The story I told you of some time ago, called "The Spendthrift," I had to lay aside, could not satisfy myself. This new one is named "The Enchantress," unless the title has been used. Goes on to give an outline of the story.

 A VERY FINE LETTER.

- 671 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Epsom, June 30, 1895 :

As I never have heard of any mortal profiting to the extent of tuppence ha'penny by my American rights. I think we might accept whatever Jerome feels disposed to give for them.

- 672 A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo, Yarmouth, Aug. 5, 1895 :

... I am very bad at writing with a view to any special form of publication, as you know, and I have resolved never to send away chapters before the whole is completed. A mere piece of prudence, this, for I destroy far more than I publish, and can't trust myself about any bit of composition till I have written Finis.

- 673 A. L. s. 1½ pp. 8vo, Epsom, Aug. 12, 1895 :

... What I ought to do just now. No; what I do need to do on every ground, is a good solid novel. And it is just because I am making the way clear for that, that I must now go on with a thing—title "The Enchantress"—with which I feel radically dissatisfied.

- 674 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Epsom, Dec. 8, 1895 :

... It will amuse you to hear that the National Press Association recently wrote to me requesting a story of 4,000 words—the entire rights for 10 guineas

- 675 A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, Epsom, Dec. 14, 1895 :

... As far as I can recollect you have had from me, this year, only three stories in addition to the "Nobodies," The titles were : "Their Pretty Way," "A Despot on Tour." and — I forget the other...

- 676 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Epsom, Dec. 17, 1895 :

... I have written no series at all for you, except Jerome's. For "Catling"; and I do not even know the man's name ... No, No. You must be confusing my work with that of somebody else ...

- 677 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Epsom, March 9, 1896 :

Herewith I send the 2,000 word story (title "Joseph") which I promised some time ago ...

- 678 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Epsom, June 12, 1896, concerning the translation of his books into German

- 679 A. L. s. 4 pp. 8vo, Epsom, Oct. 9, 1896 :

... I suppose the Idler has not yet paid for the story "Simple Simon." ... It is very satisfactory to me that the translation of "Eve's Ransom" is to appear in the Revue de Paris. ... Do you know of any Editor of a periodical of the best class who will entertain the thought of publishing a long novel by me? Be there such a man, I am very willing that you should let him see the MS. of my story when it is complete ...

- 680 A. L. s. 1½ pp. 8vo, Epsom, Feb. 7, 1897 :

I hope to put an 80,000 word story in your hands at Easter. But please do not let anyone hear of this ... experience teaches me that any talk about my work before it is finished merely worries and hinders me.

- 681 A. L. s. 2½ pp. 8vo, West End Villas, Budleigh Salterton, Devon, May 1, 1897 :

I am far from having returned, and, alas, far from having written my story. Things go badly with me. I was born to bring your maledictions upon my head ... the story will undoubtedly be written, if I live long enough ...

- 682 A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, Budleigh Salterton, May 7, 1897 :

It will be kind of you if you will procure a copy of the cheap edn. of "New Grub Street," for M. Art. I think Smith, Elder publish a 2/6 edn. in red cloth ... of course, M. Art ought to have "The Whirlpool"; but I don't see my way to send any more presentation copies.

- 683 A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, Epsom, June 24, 1897 :

... I have written a story called "The Town Traveller," a comedy of the lower middle class, some 80,000 words ...

with a copy of the Novel in Methuen's "Novelist" Series

- 684 A. L. s. 1½ pp. 8vo, Epsom, June 27, 1897 :

Tomorrow I send you by registered post the first half (pp.1-40) of "The Town Traveller" ... When it comes to disposing of the book rights, I have but one thing to say; and that is, that I have rather the publisher were not Hutchinson ...

- 685 A. L. s. 2½ pp. 8vo, Epsom, Jany. 29, 1897 :

... Though one cannot expect a sale of books in France, French appreciation certainly reacts on the sale in England... I send you copies of "In the Year of Jubilee," and "Odd Women," which I should like M. Art to receive as soon as possible ... Is it still proposed to publish "Eve's Ransom" in the Revue de Paris? ... One must not lose any chance (I least of all men) of an extended public.

- 686 A. L. s. 1½ pp. 8vo, Epsom, June 30, 1897 :

... One gathering, and one only, shall I attend this summer that is the Omar dinner at Marlow on July 10th, to which I feel bound to go—else why am I a member?

- 687 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Epsom, July 15, 1897 :

To-day I send you the second half of "The Town Traveller," having done all I can do to it at present ... I think it rather good.

- 688 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, July 22, 1897 :

... I will just say that, if the choice arises, I should personally prefer a Mag. of good standing with lower terms. Date of publication is indifferent to me ...

- 689 A. L. s. 1½ pp. 8vo, Epsom, Sept. 3, 1797 :

... By the bye, you are aware that I am writing a little book on Dickens for the "Victorian Era Series" ... Now of this book I have retained the American copyright. In your opinion, is it worth anything ...

- 690 A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo, Epsom, Sept. 7, 1797 :

... Now, as to Dickens. The rights in America are mine, and if you really could dispose of them, I should be very glad ... We know how interesting Dickens is to the Americans, and it is my idea that a little book like this might possibly have a decent sale ...

- 691 A. L. s. 2½ pp. 8vo, Epsom, Sept. 9, 1897 :

The little book [Charles Dickens, a Critical Essay, 1898] is not to exceed 70,000 words. It will consist of some 10 Chapters ... The idea is to depict Dickens as a man of the early Victorian time—to estimate his work as an artist, as a philanthropist, as a democrat ... be throughout very favourable to the man, though discreetly critical of the novelist ...

- 692 A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo, Poste Restante, Napoli, Italy, Nov. 6, 1897 :

I send you herewith the MS. of my "Charles Dickens." ... I shall be so uneasy in mind till this Dickens business is finished that I cannot think about any other work. ...

By the bye, I shall be glad to have the M.S. of "The Town Traveller" someday. ...

- 693 A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, Via del Boschetto, Rome, Dec. 26, 1897 :

... I have thought very carefully over the matter of "The Town Traveller," and the result of my thinking is this. If you can place it serially for 1899, I shall be willing to wait ... The little story has brought a very large price, etc.

- 694 A. L. s. 1½ pp. 8vo, Rome, Jan. 28, 1898 :

I wrote "The Town Traveller" expressly for serial use. If it cannot find admission to the Magazines, then I will either withdraw it altogether, or have a considerably more important advance than this of Methuen's. I do not care much either way. It is very annoying about the "Dickens." But why cannot Dodds do what every other American house seems to do, more or less—i.e., have a fictitious publication on February 15? I thought this had become the rule.

- 695 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Rome, Feb. 12, 1898 :

... I am greatly obliged to you for having done so well. As you say, a total advance of £350 (England and U.S.) is not at all a bad beginning.

Owing to extreme carelessness "The Whirlpool" was simply given away in America. ... etc.

- 696 A. L. s. 1½ pp. 8vo, Rome, March 9, 1898 :

By the bye, don't put faith in the infamous twaddle about me which has appeared in the "American Bookbuyer." I never so disgraced myself as to talk in that way ...

H. G. Wells, who has just come to Rome, has brought me Henley's kind notice in The Outlook [Charles Dickens].

- 697 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Rome, March 25, 1898 :

... The Dickens notices seem very good—as advertisements. Surely they will sell this book for a month or two.

- 698 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, 24 Horsham Rd., Dorking, May 7, 1898 :

... Three short stories for you will be the first work I do ...

- 699 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Willesley, Broadway, Worcestershire, May 11, 1898 :

I am returning corrected typescript of "The Town Traveller." But it has taxed my eyes severely. ...

- 700 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Willersley, Broadway, June 3, 1898 :

Herewith I send you three stories :

The Elixir,
At Nightfall,
The Peace-Bringer.

If you can dispose of these for good terms, I shall be glad. If you can dispose of them speedily I shall be gladder.

With another A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, June 10, 1898 (2)

- 701 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Broadway, June 17, 1898 :

The specimen page ... contains ... 300 words. Now, including bibliographical facts, I do not think my introductory pages should exceed 10 ...

- 702 A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo, 9 Wentworth Terrace, Wakefield, June 23, 1898 :

... With regard to the American edition of "The Town Traveller." Whether or not they publish in August, I shall of course expect them to pay the £100 then. Their thievish copy-right law cuts both ways ...

- 703 A. L. s. 1½ pp. 8vo, Wakefield, July 2, 1898 :

I am glad to hear ... about the Dickens introductions. I shall not fall short of due length.

- 704 A. L. s. 1¼ pp. 8vo, Wakefield, Sept. 5, 1898 :

... Doubtless you will receive the American cheque for "The Town Traveller" in a few days. ...

With A. L. s. concerning a French translation (2)

- 705 A. L. s. 1¼ pp. 8vo, 7 Clifton Terrace, Dorking, Oct. 21, 1898 :

... Messrs. Stoke's behaviour is altogether irregular and I hope you will take an opportunity of letting them know that in the strongest terms. In future, I shall know how to word American Agreements ...

- 706 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Dorking, Oct. 25, 1898 :

...The new book will be a long time yet. The Dickens prefaces have held me back ...

- 707 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Dorking, Nov. 9, 1898 :

Many thanks for the suggestion of the weekly article. But I must not undertake it. Regularity of supply is the one thing impossible to me, and I want, if possible to keep quite out of journalism until my broken-down old age. ...

- 708 A. L. s. 1½ pp. 8vo, Wakefield, Feb. 15, 1899 :

I have sent only the first (Pickwick) preface ... I should be glad to know whether you have sold any more of the 3 stories I sent you last summer ...

- 709 A. L. s. 2½ pp. 8vo, Dorking, Feb. 28, 1899 :

I did not need this catalogue of rejections to assure me of the trouble it has cost you to dispose my short stories. I see that you speak of "The Town Traveller" as offered to M. Art.

But you sold it to him last October for £10 ... If this is not the case, I have lost several other opportunities, as the demand for my work in Paris is considerable just now ...

- 710 A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, 13 Rue de Siam, Passy, Paris, Oct. 22, 1899 :

... I am obliged to you for cheque in payment of Pickwick Preface ... I see no announcement yet of the publication of Methuen's Dickens. Have they paid, for some reason, in advance.

- 711 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Paris, Dec. 26, 1899 :

Thanks for the Nickleby cheque. ... Some time ago, you mentioned having sold a story of mine "At Nightfall" in America for 65 dollars. I suppose they have not paid yet?

With another A. L. s. referring to "At Nightfall" (2)

- 712 A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, Paris, Feb. 1, 1901, concerning a cheap edition of "The Town Traveller"

- 713 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, c/o H. G. Wells, Esq., Spade House, Sandgate, June, 8, 1901 :

I shall be glad to receive the payments ... for Preface to Old Curiosity Shop, published some weeks ago.

- 714 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, East Anglian Sanatorium, Neyland, Suffolk, July 11, 1901 :

I don't feel at all combative just now, and should say—why trust to Methuen's decency ... his last news to me about the Rochester Editions was that it didn't go at all well.

- 715 A. L. s. 1½ pp. 8vo, c/o Messrs. Chapman & Hall, July 31, 1901 :

I certainly understood that I was writing those Prefaces for the Rochester edition of Dickens ... Methuen's suggestion of future payment as an "act of grace" is just a little offensive.

- 716 A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, Paris, Sept. 25, 1901, referring to his Prefaces to "Chuzzlewit," "Dombey," "Copperfield" and "Boz" that Methuens had not yet taken

- 717 A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, Paris, Oct. 12, 1901, thanking him for enclosing cheque for Preface to Dickens' Christmas Books, goes on to refer to the remaining four Prefaces; with another A. L. s. saying he is sending the Prefaces and is glad that Colles feels able to demand payment for them (2)

- 718 A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, Paris, Oct. 30, 1901, an interesting letter concerning his Prefaces to the Rochester Edition of Dickens
- 719 A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, Paris, Nov. 10, 1901, giving a list of the "Rochester" Dickens Prefaces which he has written; with a further long A. L. s. concerning the Prefaces (2)
- 720 GISSING (George) Six Auto. Postcards, signed 1897/8, concerning his Dickens' book; and various other Letters and Financial statements a parcel
- 721 HUDSON (W. H.) A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo, 40 S. Luke's Rd., W. Nov. 27 [1904] :
... I have no stories to dispose of; or rather only one which I wrote long ago and sent you with another (which was lost...) but this was returned on account of its inconvenient length—about 17,000 words. I never attempted to do anything with it afterwards, and I do not suppose any journal would look at a story of this length ... I am constantly being asked for Nature Articles now and if I ever write again it will be stuff of that kind.
- 722 HUDSON (W. H.) "Ralph Herne," a story published serially in "Youth," 1888, the printed magazine pages containing numerous Auto. corrections and additions; with list of contents and an alternative title, prepared for publication in new form
- 723 JAMES (Henry) A. L. s. 4 pp. 8vo, Rome, 1899, concerning a short story; with others of Charles Garvice, Mark Twain, etc. (11)
- 724 JEROME (J. K.) Auto. MS. of a short humorous story, 10 pp. 4to
- 725 MASON (A. E. W.) Auto. MSS. of a short story "Hatteras," 60 pp. folio
- 726 MASON (A. E. W.) Auto. MSS. "An Inconvenience of Habit," a short story, 9 pp. folio

MEREDITH (GEORGE) A VERY FINE SERIES OF A. L. s. ADDRESSED TO HIS LITERARY AGENT, MR. MARTIN COLLES, MANY CONTAINING IMPORTANT REFERENCES TO HIS BOOKS.

- 728 A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, Box Hill, Dorking, April 12th, 1892 :

I beg you to thank the Editor for their proposal to me. I read with edification of the early struggles of others, but have neither time nor inclination to trouble the world with mine. I will write to you of my novel when it is more advanced.

- 729 A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo, Dec. 20, 1892 :

Can I induce you to come one afternoon and dine with me? You may then have an outline and taste of the Novel. But I can offer few things for your amusement other than that, except pretty country. ...

With Two other A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Dec. 29, 1892, and June 5, 1893, concerning a date for the visit of Colles (3)

- 730 A. L. s. 3½ pp. Box Hill, Dorking, Jany. 31st, 1893, to Martin Colles :

You shall have some chapters of The Amazing Marriage next week; ...

Would Scribner's claim of serial rights include Australia? and do you think he would incline to purchase the American Copy-right? I would sell him the English also—unless you think an English publisher would make a better offer for a readable work of mine ... As for me, when the South-West blows I think it perfect weather, rain or shine.

- 731 A. L. s. 3½ pp. 8vo, Box Hill, Feby. 20, 1893 :

Chapman has written. He makes the offer of 6d. on each 3/6 volume, what do you think of it. Your opinion of one who could without a notification to a dreamy author of the expiry of his lease of the copyright, go on printing and publishing 4 volumes for more than a year, and now makes offer to pay at the rate above-mentioned, need not be asked. ... By May, June and September next 5 further vols. fall in. Next year, The Shaving of Shagpat. In 1896 "One of our Conquerors."

I think of issuing my stories in a volume.

- 732 A. L. s. 3½ pp. 8vo, Box Hill, Feby. 25, 1893 :

... The chapters of The Am[azing] M[arriage] are ready—but I should like to have a more literate typist, who does not misspell common words. However the MS. is easier. ...

- 733 A. L. s. 2½ pp. 8vo, Box Hill, March, 15, 1893, concerning the keenness of his publishers

- 734 A. L. s. 4 pp. 8vo, Box Hill, April 24, 1893 :

... If I get on as at present Lord Orm[ont] and his Am[inta] will be finished early in August ... I think I ought to give Robertts Bros. of Boston the refusal of publication of Am. Edition of Lord Ormont. Scribners I think offer 15 per cent. Royalty?—And perhaps the Sun or other paper of New York might bring it out simultaneously.

- 735 A. L. s. 4 pp. 8vo, Box Hill, April 15th, 1893 :

"As to 'Shagpat' this is the case. I sold to Edward Chapman, then head of the firm, the original first Edition of it: only the Edition for £80." He goes on to comment, very forcibly, concerning certain claims of the publishers.

- 736 A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo, Box Hill, May 22, 1893 :
... I don't think that £100 was paid for Shagpat and Farina;
but that the sums were £50 and 15 ...
- 737 A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo, Box Hill, June 2, 1893 :
I send, registered two Chapters Lord Ormont. Many ready to follow ... I will send "The House on the Beach." The other
"Gen: Ople and Lady Camper," I must get—I know not yet where. I think you have "The Tale of Chloe."
- 738 A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo, Box Hill, July 3, 1893 :
I send you MS. from Chapter 6 to Chapter 16 inclusive ...
Dealing with you is a privilege, as to the Syndicate I should wish to have the names of members and a table of the Rules.
- 739 A. L. s. 4 pp. 8vo, Box Hill, July 20, 1893. An interesting concerning the publication of Lord Ormont :
... If they have illustrations, they would please and do themselves good by asking Bernard Partridge. Only he could present Aminta. ...
- 740 A. L. s. 4 pp. 8vo, Box Hill, August 15, 1893 :
... What would be given for a Poem of about 400 lines rather dull, full of morality and merit. Not at all a story—no crime, weighty for the present day. I find it three-parts written, and could finish ... the Illust. L. News is at me for verse ...
A great favour would be to tell me where I can get hardnibbed quills. All through the last Novel I have been bedevilled with soft ones.
- 741 A. L. s. 2½ pp. 8vo, Box Hill, August 22, 1893 :
... Sir A. Borthwick of the Morning Post used to supply me with a hard-nibbed quill—duck's I think—that lasted, front and back, through a volume ...
- 742 A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo, August 30th, 1893 :
... The completion of the Novel has not fatigued me in any way. When I have done a piece of prose, I find relaxation in the metrical. About the middle of Sept. I shall be on the Amazing M[arriage].
- 743 Two A. L. s. each 1 p. 8vo, Box Hill, Sept. 1893, concerning financial matters :
- 744 A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, Box Hill, Oct. 12, 1893 :
... Diana corrected and sent Henrietta Street—Where is the type copy of the Poem? ...
Please look at it when you have composure; I have a fear that it is too didactic for the present readers though it says things that should be thought of ...

- 745 A. L. s. 4 pp. 8vo, Box Hill, Oct. 21, 1893 :

"The Poem returned to you must be recast. It has been done unintelligently and carelessly—the speakers confused, although I marked my breaks with distinctness." Goes on to refer to the profit made by the publisher from "The Tragic Comedians." ...

- 746 A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, Box Hill, Oct. 25, 1893 :

I sent the Poem this morning ... Looking at "Diana," I find I cannot spare time to do more than cut down. We will defer any changes until the next printing. Then, if they prove to be virtual changes, we will attempt the copyright.

- 747 A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, Box Hill, Dec. 1, 1893 :

... Of the many things hateful in our profession, that of grinning before the public at the head of a discourse I loath only next to interviewing ...

"The Century" appears to be debating minutely over the Poem.

- 748 A. L. s. 3½ pp. 8vo, Box Hill, n. d., saying the success the publishers have had with "The Tragic Comedians" should render them civil

- 749 Three A. L. s. 4 pp. 8vo, Dec. 1893—Nov. 1904, concerning Colles's service as literary agent (3)

- 750 MEREDITH (George) Agreement, signed, with the Pall Mall Magazine, to write "Lord Ormont and his Aminta" for publication in serial form, 3 pp. folio, 29 May, 1893

- 751 NOYES (Alfred) Auto. Song, signed, "The Little Red Ring," a song of the Mermaid Tavern, 3 stanzas each of 8 lines, and a 3-line chorus on 2 pp. 4to

- 752 SELOUS (F. C.) A Series of Twenty-four A. L. s. 1899-1904, concerning his literary work, addressed to Martin Colles (24)

- 753 SHARPE (Alfred) "Cape to Cairo" and other Routes, Auto. MS. signed, 13 pp. folio

- 754 WELLS (H. G.) The Research Magnificent, The Life of William Porphyry Benham, published 1915, Typewritten Copy of a portion of the Novel, 272 pp. folio, containing a large number of Auto. additions and corrections
