CONDITIONS OF SALE.

- I. The highest bidder to be the buyer; and if any dispute arise between bidders, the lot so disputed shall be immediately put up again, provided the auctioneer cannot decide the said dispute.
- II. No person to advance less than 1s.; above five pounds 2s. 6d.; and so on in proportion.
- III. All lots are sold subject to the right to impose a reserve; and subject to the right to bid by or on behalf of the seller.
- IV. The purchasers to give in their names and places of abode, and to pay down 10s. in the pound, if required, in part payment of the purchase-money, in default of which the lot or lots purchased will be immediately put up again and re-sold.
- V. The lots to be taken away, at the buyer's expense, immediately after the conclusion of the sale; in default of which Messrs. SOTHEY, WILKINSON & HODGE will not hold themselves responsible if lost, stolen, damaged or otherwise destroyed, but they will be left at the sole risk of the purchaser. If, at the expiration of ONE WEEK after the conclusion of the sale, the books or other property are not cleared or paid for, they will then be catalogued for immediate sale, and the expenses, the same as if re-sold, will be added to the amount at which the books were bought. Messrs. SOTHEY, WILKINSON & HODGE will have the option of re-selling the lots uncleared, either by public or private sale, without any notice being given to the defaulter.
- VI. All the books are presumed to be perfect, unless otherwise expressed; but if, upon collating, any should prove defective, the purchaser will be at liberty to take or reject them, provided they are returned within FOURTEEN DAYS after the conclusion of the sale, when the purchase-money will be returned.
- VII. The sale of any book or books is not to be set aside on account of any worm-holes, stained or short leaves of text or plates, want of list of plates or blank leaves, or on account of the publication of any subsequent volume, supplement, appendix, or plates. All the manuscripts, autographs, all magazines and reviews, all books in lots, and all tracts in lots or volumes, will be sold with all faults, imperfections and errors of description. The sale of any illustrated book, lot of prints or drawings, is not to be set aside on account of any error in the enumeration of the numbers stated, or error of description.
- VIII. No Imperfect Book will be taken back, unless a note accompanies each book, stating its imperfections, with the number of lot and date of the sale at which the same was purchased.
- IX. To prevent inaccuracy in the delivery, and inconvenience in the settlement of the purchases, no lot can on any account be removed during the time of sale.
- X. Upon failure of complying with the above conditions, the money required and deposited in part of payment shall be forfeited; and if any loss is sustained in the re-selling of such lots as are not cleared or paid for, all charges on such re-sale shall be made good by the defaulters at this sale.

Gentlemen who cannot attend this Sale may have their Commissions faithfully executed by their humble Servants,

A SERIES OF LETTERS FROM CHARLOTTE BRONTË
TO AMELIA RINGROSE, AFTERWARDS MRS. JOE TAYLOR, SISTER-IN-LAW OF MARY TAYLOR, THE ROSE YORKE OF SHIRLEY.

159 A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo, Haworth, Oct. 24, n. y. :

It was an excellent thought of Ellen [Nussey, the writer's greatest friend] to ask you to write to me, especially as I perceive by the easy flow of your note that it is no task for you to address an entire stranger, etc.

Proceeds to describe and eulogize Miss Nussey's character, and concludes by saying :

You must excuse the brevity of this note, I do not possess your fluent pen in correspondence.

160 A. L. s. 3¼ pp. 8vo, Feb. 26, 1848 :

I assure you I was very glad to get your letter, for I was beginning to busy my head very frequently with conjectures as to what could possibly be the reason of Ellen's long silence—and it relieved me very much to find by your letter that there was nothing particularly wrong, etc.

161 A. L. s. and two A. L. (signatures cut off) 5½ pp. 8vo, one dated Haworth, Nov. 5, 1849

* * Two of the letters mention Joe Taylor, the recipient's future husband—"Take notice—you will see more of Mr. Joe," says the writer, prophetically (3)

162 Two A. L. s. 5½ pp. 8vo, one dated Haworth, March 18, 1850

* * In one interesting letter the writer discusses the possibility of Miss Ringrose marrying :

... You are right in saying I am interested in you ; certainly I am ; I have meditated many an hour on this matter which concerns you ... "Truth, Sincerity and Affection" are indeed requisites not to be dispensed with—whenever and wherever you shall find these united with Sense and Principle and Industry—there you need not fear to marry whether there be riches in addition or not—but till you are quite convinced you have found them, watch and wait, etc. (2)

163 A. L. s. 5 pp. 8vo, March 31, 1850

* * * A most pathetic letter, condoling with Miss Ringrose on her mother's death, and recalling the writer's own bereavements :

Often when I am alone, I try with all my might to look beyond the grave, to follow my dear sisters and my poor brother to that better world where—I trust—they are all now happy, but still, dear Amelia, I cannot help recalling all the details of the weeks of sickness, of the mortal conflict, of the last difficult agony : there are moments when I know not whither to turn or what to do, so sharp, so dark and distressing are these remembrances, so afflicted am I that beings so loved should have had to pass out of Time into Eternity—by a track so rough and painful, etc.

164 Two A. L. s. 5 pp. 8vo, one dated Haworth, April 6, 1850 :

You ought to publish a treatise called the Art of Domestic Letter-writing—of that art you certainly are mistress—for you beat everything for putting one in possession of the actual place, circumstances, persons which you describe, etc.

In the other letter, she again refers to the possibility of her correspondent marrying—Miss Ringrose seems to have been unable to make up her mind and had asked for advice :

. . . advice from me would be mere foolish interference ; the longer I consider the matter the more thoroughly am I convinced that you and J. T. will be best left to manage your own matters, etc. (2)

165 A. L. s. 3½ pp. 8vo, Haworth, April 12, 1851

* * * Declining an invitation :

You kindly ask me to come and see you this summer—but I think it is very doubtful whether I shall, and I will tell you why. I don't like to carry low spirits from home . . . it costs me an effort to keep up and make a show of talking to Joe, etc.—it is a mere empty throwing about of a coin—without any real substantial fund of heartsease to keep it up, and can't afford it. Nobody but myself knows how it tires me . . . If ever I get a feeling of real comfort and genuine cure in my mind again—so that the faculty of spontaneous cheerfulness may return—perhaps I will come and see you, etc.

166 A. L. s. 3½ pp. 8vo, 112, Gloucester-Terrace, Hyde Park, June 7, 1851

* * * A most interesting letter, referring to Thackeray and the other sights of London. The letter also refers to Mrs. Taylor as the original of "Young Mrs. Martin Yorke" in Shirley :

I have been rather more than a week in London—on the whole I am very quiet—for neither mentally nor physically can I do with bustle—The Crystal Palace—you may believe is a famous and wonderful sight—I have been to it twice—and thought more of it the second time than the first—I think it requires a little consideration duly to get the might—magic and mystery of the thing, etc.

What I like best are Mr. Thackeray's lectures—he was to have delivered another this week, but the Duchesses and Marchionesses have petitioned him to put it off on account of Ascot Races—wearisome selfish seraphim that they are. I wonder why they like him so well—they all like him—and in his greatness—he is half their slave. His mother who—(he says) is the original of Helen Pendennis, came to see me the other day—I liked her better than I thought I should, etc.

- 167 A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, Gloucester Square, Hyde Park, June 11 [1851] :
I have seen Rachel—her acting was something apart from any other acting it has come in my way to witness—her soul was in it—and a strange soul she has—I shall not discuss it—it is my hope to see her again—She and Thackeray are the two living things that have a spell for me in this great London—and one of these is sold to the great ladies—and the other—I fear—to Beelzebub.
- 168 Three A. L. s. and an A. L. (signature cut off), $11\frac{3}{4}$ pp. 8vo, written after Charlotte Brontë's marriage
* * * Friendly and intimate letters, sympathizing with Mrs. Taylor on her husband's illness ; referring to her own husband, the writer says :
It is an hourly happiness to me to see how well Arthur and my Father get on together now—there has never been a misunderstanding or wrong word, etc. (4)
- 169 Two Pencil Notes, signed, $1\frac{1}{2}$ pp. 8vo, written during the writer's last illness and therefore among the very last she ever sent :
Let me speak the plain truth—my sufferings are very great—my nights indescribable . . . Medicine I have quite discontinued—If you can send me anything that will do good—do.
In the second note she says :
The medicines produced no perceptible effect on me, but I thank you for them all the same . . . Write when you can. I think of you all very much. (2)
- 170 A Lock of Charlotte Brontë's Hair, given by her to Mrs. Taylor
- 171 Two Bracelets worn by Charlotte Brontë, each with an amethyst in gold setting

- 203 WHISTLER (James A. McNeill) early A. L. s. 1½ pp. 8vo, with pretty coloured vignettes, written on his tenth birthday (July 4, 1842), to his father; given to the present owner by her aunt, Mrs. W. Whistler, who had it from the artist's mother:
 You will remember better than I do when I was born on the 4th July, 1832. Aunt Alicia was with us then in Lowell, and she has come here again to have some fun on my 10 Birthday . . . I have drawn a head of a Russian priest for you, etc.

LETTERS FROM J. A. McN. WHISTLER TO THE LATE
 MR. MARCUS B. HUISH, OF THE FINE ART SOCIETY.

- 204 A. L. s. 1¾ pp. oblong 8vo, The White House, Chelsea Embankment, July 9, 1879:
 The Amsterdam was a commission—from you—two proofs—I printed them specially, etc.
10. 205 A. L. s. 4 full pp. oblong large 8vo, Venice, Oct. 25, 1880, a most eloquent and indignant letter:
 I have, my dear Huish, scarcely the patience sufficient for this letter—Please to remember that since the 3rd of February I have not had a penny from the "Fine Arts Society"—and that, while working for their profit during these ten months, I struggled with all vexing difficulties, rather than ask for the assistance it should have been their duty and their pride to have extended, until the very end—and now that I am ready to bring them a result far exceeding all their expectations—let me say it advisedly—they in return for this delicacy, refuse me the means of leaving this place honorably and decently—and so destroy their own chances at the moment of triumphant success——

307-1-

It is really incredible!—The fool knoweth not his way to the City—and for once I see Solomon's application to the hesitating business man——

What is the real meaning of this Exhibition of yours if it be not the production of your new publication?—I saw and entered warmly into your plan—The Venetian Etchings were to be the centre of the whole thing—and never could there have been a better arrangement for showing them, in all their freshness and novelty, than surrounded as they would have been—You rely upon my co-operation and I would not have failed you—Why, my good Huish, I should have brought 40 etchings as an answer to your appeal—40 etchings far exceeding in quality all that I had hitherto done—Yes—you backed me—and I meant to win for you—but at the last moment you hedge and save . . . the peck of oats that might have gained you the race——

What an amazing concentration of consistency is a "Company"—Not a day to be lost, say you—and here you keep me still scribbling letters—"Gird up your loins—pay your hotel bill—(how devilish lucky I didn't ask for it!)—and bring me a boat load of plates"—and then you scuttle the boat that was to bring them—— with two printed leaflets, one a letter sent to the Committee of the Painter-Etchers Society, May, 1881; the other, Extracts from the Press, relating to the quarrel with them. (3)

- 206 A. L. s. 2¼ pp. oblong 8vo, 13, Tite St., Chelsea, Feb. 22, 1882:

The last suggestion of the Board, hinting at my occupying your printer's time with my own work, is simply too mean and disgraceful for me even to answer— . . .

You have only to send at once for the plates—and rely upon Mr. Goulding or others for 'Nocturnes' and 'Dooways,' 'Beggars' and 'Lagoons'—

I need scarcely say that, once any proof pulled by any one else, I should, under no circumstances, be induced to print from the degraded plate—

- 207 Two A. L. s. 5 pp. 8vo (one in pencil with butterfly signature), and a Letter Card, 2 pp. with butterfly signature, one from the Royal Lion, Lyme Regis, Nov. 10, 1898, all mentioning Mr. Webb, the writer's solicitor:

Let the invitation card be engraved by your man and then give the Plate to the only man in London who can do the Butterfly beautifully . . . He is the man at Mr. Dicker's, Vigo St. (the old silver shop) who has done the Butterfly scores of times on all my silver—and there is just the difference between the esprit with which he does it and any stupid attempt of one who has not the habit . . . what he does is delightful, etc.

- 208 Auto. Draft 1 p. oblong 8vo, for the notice of his Exhibition of Lithographs at the Fine Art Society's gallery:

. . . the revival of lithography has of late greatly occupied some of the most distinguished painters in this country, and Mr. Whistler's exhibition will offer a rare occasion of seeing the work to whose influence this latest movement in the art world is greatly due.

- 209 A. L. s. 3 pp. oblong 8vo, 33, Rue de Tournon, Paris, June 22, 1892

Of one fact I trust you will have no doubt—that is the necessity of at once asking prices for these proofs that shall keep pace with the prices of my own for my works of the present day. . . Sell only two or three proofs at fifteen or sixteen guineas, and begin to ask at once 20 guineas apiece . . . All collectors will be obliged to have these proofs . . . you can dole out, with care, your few proofs at 20, 25 and 30 guineas apiece as time goes on, etc.

- 210 Five A. L. s. 8 pp. oblong 8vo, Savoy Hotel, 1896, on business matters :

I wish you would manage that matter of the cheque with the Directors for me. I should of course be greatly obliged to you—while I also trust that there could be nothing deeply mortifying in my asking—if even prematurely—for money for which I pay twenty-five per cent. to a Board who ought to be dimly conscious of the trouble and care I have taken, in the midst of things, to make their exhibition the success people believe it to have been.

However I couldn't be in better hands than your own.

The Property of Miss Du Cros,

TO WHOM IT WAS GIVEN BY THE LATE ROBERT ROSS.

- 211 WILDE (Oscar) Auto. Poem, Pan, Double Villanelle, 38 lines, 2 pp. folio, signed "Oscar Wilde," torn and slightly defective

The Property of Mrs. Gilchrist Frend.

- 212 ROSSETTI (D. G.) Two A. L. s. 9½ pp. 8vo, Dec. 14, n. y., to Mrs. Gilchrist, widow of Alexander Gilchrist, the biographer of William Blake, both interesting letters on "The Life of Blake" :

. . . my brother . . . delivered your most valuable gift of the new Blake volumes. They form quite an epoch in modern typographical issues, being perfect throughout and with no ostentation, etc.

In the other letter, written before the appearance of the book, he advises on various points in it (2)

- 213 ROSSETTI (D. G.) Three A. L. s. to the same, with one to her husband, and a Postcard to her son, H. H. Gilchrist, in all about 10 pp. 8vo,

all interesting letters, one referring to the writer's picture, "Dante's Dream":

The price at which I originally sold it was 1500 guineas, and I ought not to lower this price. I think you heard that it came into my hands again not through any dissatisfaction of the purchaser, but because he found it too large to hang conveniently and asked me to exchange it for a replica on a smaller scale, etc. (5)

- 214 ROSSETTI (Christina G.) Five A. L. s. about 11½ pp. 8vo, two of them thanking Mrs. Gilchrist for letters of condolence on the deaths of the writer's brother and sister, Dante Gabriel and Maria (5)
- 214* CARLYLE (Thomas) Two A. L. s. (one initials only, in pencil), to the same, 2½ pp. 8vo (2)
- 215 RICHMOND (George) Artist, 1809-96, Two A. L. s. 5½ pp. 8vo, 1886, to H. H. Gilchrist, one referring to William Blake; and two Presentation Engravings to the same, one a pastoral in the manner of Blake, the other illustrating a scene in Macbeth (4)

BOOKS.

OCTAVO.

- 216 Browning (Robert) Christmas Eve and Easter-Day, FIRST EDITION, ink-stain on title, D. G. ROSSETTI'S COPY WITH AUTO. VERSES, 2 pp. in pencil at the end 1850

* * * The verses begin:

Was this well done, thou Robert Browning?
—Me also, payer for the one candle
Burnt at thy shrine—to set me frowning?
Me, swinger of the myrrh and sandal
For thy nose, as for nose of Providence, etc.

D. G. Rossetti was one of Browning's earliest admirers; in 1847 he discovered a copy of Pauline at the British Museum and wrote enthusiastically to its author about it (see Browning sale catalogue, lot 266).

- 217 Rossetti (Christina G.) Sing Song, FIRST EDITION, presentation copy from W. M. Rossetti to Mrs. Gilchrist, with inscription, 1872; The Prince's Progress, FIRST EDITION, presentation copy from the authoress to Mrs. Gilchrist, with an A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo [1886] to H. H. Gilchrist inserted, 1866 (2)

- 242 SPOHR. A. L. s. 3 pp. 4to, with address to F. J. Rochlitz at Leipzig (the founder of the "Allgemeine musikalische Zeitung"), Cassel, May 25, 1826
 * * He writes in high spirits over the triumph at the Düsseldorf Festival of his Oratorio, The Last Judgment, the text of which had been supplied by Rochlitz. He was delighted with the Choral performance, but the Orchestra, drawn from various sources, was inferior to that of Cassel. The applause at both performances—for the Oratorio was repeated for the benefit of the Greeks fighting for their independence—was the most enthusiastic he had witnessed. It would probably be performed again at Cassel for the same purpose.

- 243 SPOHR. Auto. Testimonial to Clara Wieck (Madame Schumann) for her skill in pianoforte playing at the age of 12, signed and dated, 2½ pp. 4to, Cassel, Dec. 16, 1831

* * Clara Schumann made her début in public on Oct. 20, 1828, when 9 years old. Some three years later, Spohr wrote this "recognition or appreciation of her extraordinary talent" at the request of her father.

- 244 WAGNER (Richard) A. L. s. 3 pp. 4to, with address, to Von Ziegesar at Weimar, who had commissioned him to write an Opera for Weimar, Albisbrunn, Nov. 21, 1851

* * A long unpublished letter, with endorsements in Von Ziegesar's hand. He wishes to dissolve a Contract to write an Opera for Weimar :

. . . You will learn from Liszt that it was my honest and earnest desire to write in the near future a Work suitable for performance in Weimar, but that I eventually became conscious that the poetical theme I had selected for the purpose would make quite different and much more extensive demands for its artistic production, so that I now find myself engaged upon a subject, which, even reckoning on the best of health must take me three full years' work . . . (translated).

- 245 WAGNER (R.) A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, to F. von Dingelstedt of the Weimar Theatre, endorsed by Dingelstedt's secretary, Paris, June 23, 1860

* * He accepts the offer of 30 Louis d'or, and refuses the prospective later payments. But he wishes the Grand Duke to be acquainted with the fact that he expects a proof of his recognition at the time of the performance of the Opera (Rienzi), and not on the part of the management of the Theatre, which he knows to be in straitened circumstances.

- 246 WAGNER (R.) A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo, to Franz Abt at Weimar, Paris, July 1, 1861

* * He hears that the management of the Ducal Theatre in Brunswick have been enquiring what fee he asks for the performance rights of "Tannhäuser," and he asks his friend to inform them that his fee is 50 Louis d'or, and that they would further have to pay the publisher separately for the copy of the Score. If they accept he wishes them to send the money at once, as he is thinking of leaving Paris in the middle of the month, and his movements will be uncertain for some time. He takes this opportunity of thanking Abt for his exertions on behalf of his Works, as he assumes that it is entirely due to him, when his Operas have won a place in the affections of all the other Theatres in Germany, that "Tannhauser" at least is to be introduced to the public at Brunswick.

- 247 WAGNER (R.) A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, with envelope, addressed to C. von Sidorowitz, Attaché at the Imperial Russian Embassy in Darmstadt, Biebrich, Oct. 9, 1862 :

I am only just recovering, in a certain measure, my equanimity recently disturbed by the most disagreeable experiences and the most bitter disappointment. I have just read with greater composure, therefore, your very kind letter, and I am bound to recognise that if I were not willing now at least, to send you a few courteous lines of cordial acknowledgment, I should appear to you in a most hateful light. How sorry I am too, to have caused you such pain ! Forgive me that ! And yet, I know that if you had been able to help me, you would not have considered my confidence unwelcome. Now I may greet you as a friend, and I do this from my heart ! As to me, I must now, I regret to say, bid farewell to my Muse for a long time. Fate—and perhaps also the thoughtlessness of many men—will not yet grant me the only thing worth striving for : undisturbed peace for working, and I must just make one more circumstantial attempt to win this most coveted possession. I am shortly to start all kinds of enterprises : I am going to try to get something of mine performed in Vienna, and shall also probably seize the opportunity of giving some grand Concerts with performances of fragments from my newest works . . . (translated).

- 248 WAGNER (R.) A. L. s. 2½ pp. 8vo (in French), to J. F. Champfleury, Lucerne, March 16, 1870

* * He is sending these lines by his friend Schuré. He applauds from the bottom of his heart Champfleury's foundation of a Journal (L'Imagerie Nouvelle) which appears to him to be a step towards one of his favourite hopes—the fusion of the French and German spirits. He has always had the idea that there should be an International Theatre at Paris, giving the great works of different nations in their own language. Amongst the French works which should be produced on such a stage those of Méhul should hold a first place, and he congratulates Champfleury on having thought of his great Artist :

que je compte au nombre de mes précepteurs, et dont la vie et les Compositions sont beaucoup trop peu connues en France.

- 249 WAGNER (R.) A. L. s. 2½ pp. 8vo (in French), Tribtschen près Lucerne, May 18, 1870 :

. . . Je n'ai pas de fortune et je vis de la pension que me fait S.M. le Roi de Bavière ; ayant une longue carrière derrière moi je ne suis pas sans obligations multiples, et si la pension y suffit elle ne les dépasse pas . . .

His Correspondent would do better to address his request to a Bavarian minister, than to an Artist without a fortune :

qui s'est voué à la retraite et vit dans un isolement complet pour terminer un Œuvre (Nibelungen) qui ne lui rapportera jamais rien . . .

- 250 WAGNER (R.) A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, to Hans von Bronsart of the Court Theatre at Hanover, Lucerne, June 20, 1870
- * * * Asking that any balances that have accrued on account of the Meistersinger performances at Hanover, be forwarded as soon as possible as he is leaving for some time at the beginning of July.
- 251 WAGNER (R.) A. L. s. 2½ pp. 8vo, to Carl Voltz, his agent, Tribschen, April 14, 1872
- * * * Relative to the royalties on "The Meistersinger," "Rienzi," "Tannhäuser," "The Flying Dutchman" and "Lohengrin," which Voltz has recently been appointed to watch over. Difficulties arising on account of former arrangements made by Wagner personally with certain Theatres and with Schott, are discussed throughout the letter.
- 252 WAGNER (R.) A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, to Scaria (the "Hagen" of the "Götterdämmerung"), Bayreuth, Dec. 7, 1874
- * * * After stating that Scaria will receive the second Act in a week's time, as the proof sheets are announced, and the third Act shortly, he mentions his intention to come to Vienna at the end of February, as money is required for the foundation works—facing the Zoological Gardens, and he has promised to find the needful.
- ... I intend therefore to treat the Viennese to some parts of the "Götterdämmerung" (naturally only orchestral preludes) I am opposed to giving vocal scenes—monologues—at the utmost; if I could only find a beginning and an end to it, I would consider Hagen's monologue in the first Act; but I don't yet know how to begin or end it. I have great misgivings concerning Frau Materna (Scaria's wife) lest she should allow herself to be worn out by senseless repertoire demands, but indeed she is made of the right stuff (I always remain grateful to you!)—but man is man and a Singer is only a Singer! Were I a Meyerbeer I would take her away from the Theatre at once, to preserve her whole powers for the great cause... (translated).
- 253 WAGNER (R.) A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, to Miss Sara Oppenheimer, Bayreuth, June 20, 1875
- * * * His wife has been talking the matter over with her father, Franz Liszt, in Weimar, and it appears he was mistaken in supposing that his correspondent was prevented from attending the Rehearsals at Bayreuth this year. She would both please and oblige him to the highest degree by joining the other artists.
- 254 WAGNER (R.) A. L. s. 4 pp. 4to, in violet ink, to Jauner, Bayreuth, July, 1878
- * * * He acknowledges the receipt of a seal which Jauner has sent as a present and proceeds to discuss at length the differences which have arisen between them. One of these was his insisting that "Walküre" and "Rheingold" must be performed together. He hopes that Jauner may succeed with "Siegfried" and recommends Seidel as a musical stage director. Referring to the engagement of Glatz he comments that he never met a more stupid fellow, etc.

- 255 WAGNER (R.) A. L. s. 2½ pp. 8vo, to General von Rudolphi, intendant of the Ducal Court Theatre of Brunswick, Bayreuth, Oct. 30, 1879
- * * * Thanking him for his intimation of the success of "Götterdämmerung": Abt had also telegraphed. He wonders how Rudolphi came to undertake the complete production of "The Ring of the Nibelungen," and he is glad that he is satisfied with its success. This proves again that a mental exercise of will-power can overcome all material resistance, and is a precious and encouraging omen for the future of the German stage generally.
- 256 WAGNER (R.) A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo, to Adolph von Cross of Bayreuth, Wagner's trustee for his Wife and Son, Venice, Nov. 27, 1882
- * * * A late letter, relative to the disputes and litigation with Voltz and Batz, and Frau Lucca, concerning the performance rights of his Operas.
- 257 WEBER (Carl Maria Friedrich Ernest, Freiherr von) A. L. s. 2½ pp. 8vo, a fine and early letter, Augsburg, June 30, 1803
- * * * Written in his seventeenth year. He is diffident about his knowledge of people, speaks of his intention to leave Augsburg and go to Vienna, and asks the receiver to provide him a lodging, etc.
- 258 WEBER (C. M.) A. L. s. 3 pp. 4to, with address to F. J. Rochlitz at Leipzig, Prague, Feb. 22, 1813
- * * * A letter to his "dearest friend" acquainting him with his appointment as Kapellmeister and Director of the Royal Bohemian Opera at Prague with a three years' contract. He had hardly set his foot in Prague when he was enthusiastically set upon by the Citizens and hailed as the saviour of their Opera and of the glories of Bohemian music. By his Contract he gets a summer leave of three months, which will enable him to carry out his longed-for journey to Italy. He proposes to make a tour with Liebich through Germany. As to composition he has only finished an Andante and Rondo Ungarese. He has heard of a review of the "Hymne" ("in seiner Ordnung Schafft der Herr") in Rochlitz's paper, but has not seen it. He wishes to know what the latter thinks of Spohr's appointment in Vienna. So far as he knows him, he does not consider him fit for the post. He wants a good subject for an Opera.

Another Property.

450 ALLEYN (Edward) Actor and Contemporary of Shakespeare, Founder of Dulwich College), Doc. s. 2 pp. folio, Sept. 27, 1626, with heading: "Memorandum for this Colledge," and containing his last directions, written a few weeks before his death, with typed copy

* * * The document is in the hand-writing of Matthew Sweetser, the schoolmaster of the Colledge (Alleyn being too ill at the time), but bears Alleyn's autograph signature in two places, as well as that of Sweetser. He states that "most of all the evidences are in a chest at the bed's feete in the yellow chamber, the key whereof is in the till of my deske," and refers to a dispute with Sir Edmond Bowyer regarding the tithes of a piece of woodland called Cokers, and also makes arrangements concerning Casinghurst, "he being not able to pay me my rent." He wishes him still to have the land and makes suggestions for supplying him with seed and cattle until he is able to pay his old debt. On the back of the document is a "Note of such debts as is owing me as nere as I can call to remembrance," the total being over £2000.

Alleyn was born in 1566, and, to use Fuller's expression, was "bred a stage player." When only 26 years of age Thomas Nash wrote of him that "Not Rosius or Aesope those tragedians admyred before Christ was borne could ever performe more in action than Ned Allen." He was attached to the Earl of Worcester's players (1586), Lord Admiral's company (1592), and during the plague to Lord Strange's provincial company. In 1594 he became lessee of the Baiting House, "Paris Garden on the Bankside," and in 1599 he, with Philip Henslowe, built the Fortune Theatre, Golden Lane, Cripplegate, where his own acting was the principal attraction. That Alleyn was the intimate friend of Shakespeare is mentioned in a letter written by George Peele, where he refers to an incident at the Globe "when Ned Alleyn did not scruple to affyrme pleasauntely to thy friende Will that he had stolen his speche about the qualities of an Actor's excellencye in Hamlet hys trajedye, from conversations manyfold whych had passed betweene them . . . Shakespeare did not take this talke in good sorte, but Jo(h)nson put an end to the strife." In 1605 Alleyn purchased the manor of Dulwich, being then a very rich man, and in 1613-6 built and endowed the Colledge. He died in 1626, a few weeks after the above document was written.

 . . . I thoroughly agree with you in thinking that Government is acting a very prudent and humane part in endeavouring to establish our connection with the Colonys upon a contrary principle to fear. But I cannot help thinking that reverence, which implies an idea of superiority in those towards whom it is exerted, is the most certain source of attachment and affection. In this case such a display of force as would convince the Colonys how impossible it would be for them to resist is the means of attaining the end proposed.

The five signatures and their accompanying seals are in admirable preservation. The Document is also signed by Bateman Robson and Christopher Norris (Mrs. Thrale's solicitors).

- 480 LAFAYETTE (General, the Marquis de) An extremely IMPORTANT COLLECTION OF 131 LETTERS AND DOCUMENTS, together with 48 Letters either of Members of his Family or from various correspondents to Lafayette, etc.; there are in all 179 Letters and Documents, bound in brown morocco, folio

* * * Eighty-four of the General's letters are holograph (82 of which are signed); the remaining 47 comprise letters and documents signed by Lafayette. The letters are full of references to the principal events of the time and date from 1783 to 1834, the year of his death. Many of the letters are of great length and importance, one of them covering 9 pages 4to, in Lafayette's minute handwriting. Some were written as early as 1783, soon after his return from his second visit to America. These letters are addressed to Marshal Berthier, La Colombe, Dupont de l'Eure, La Tour, Maubourg (his son-in-law), Delmas, the Princesse de Salm, Philip Hone of New York, and others. Among the documents is one relative to the visit of the Osage American Indians to Paris, who are without the means of returning to America. Lafayette, as a citizen of the United States, has subscribed 100 frances, against which sum he has written his name—"Gnl. Lafayette." Included in the collection is an A. L. s. (2 pages 8vo) from Jean Paul Marat. This is relative to an offensive caricature directed against Lafayette and Bailly.

- 481 DAWSON (Eli) Autograph Manuscript. "A Discourse delivered at Quebec in ŷ Chappel belong^g to ŷ Convent of the Ursulins Sept^r 27. 1759. Occasioned by ŷ Success of our Arms in ŷ Reductⁿ of y^t Capital. At ŷ Request of Brigadier General Monckton, & by Order of Vice-Admiral Saunders, Commander in Chief. By the Rev^d Eli Dawson, Chaplain of His Majesty's Ship Sterling Castle, on board of w^{ch} ŷ Vice-Admiral hoisted his Flag, during the Siege," 41 pp. small 4to

* * The eulogy of Wolfe (who had fallen 14 days previously) occupies pages 30-34. Dawson was Chaplain to Vice-Admiral Sir Charles Saunders, Commander-in-Chief of the Fleet of the St. Lawrence.

- 482 ADAMS (Samuel) Massachusetts Signer of the Declaration of Independence, A. L. 3 pp. folio, Philadelphia, 1775, to Elbridge Gerry, and endorsed by him "Hon. Mr. S. Adams":

. . . I hope our Militia will always be prepared to aid the forces of the Continental in this righteous opposition to tyranny. . . . It is always dangerous to the liberties of the people to have an Army stationed among them, over which they have no control. . . . History affords abundant instances of established Armies making themselves the Masters of those Countries which they were designed to protect. . . . After all, virtue is the surest means of securing the Public liberty. Freedom or slavery will prevail in a Country according as the disposition and manners of the Inhabitants under them fit for one or the other. . . . Yesterday the Colors of the 7th (British) Regiment were presented to the Congress. They were taken at Fort Chamblee. The Garrison surrendered Prisoners of war to Major Brown of the Massachusetts forces. May Heaven grant us further success, etc.

- 483 GEORGE I. Three Drafts, two in English and one in French, of the King's Speech at the opening of his first Parliament, 17 March, 1714/15, 10 pp. folio and 4to

- 484 NELSON (Horatio, Lord) A. L. s. 1 p. 4to, Axminster, 14 Jan., 1801, to Lady Hamilton

- 485 SCOTT (Sir Walter) Two A. L. s. 1½ pp. 4to, Jan.-Feb., 1820, to the Lord Provost of Glasgow; one forwarding a letter from Walter Hogg, which accompanies the lot (3)

- 486 LITERARY, MUSICAL, &c., including W. E. Aytoun, Auto. Verses, "Bright of Cronkeyshaw," satirical verses on Messrs. Brights of Rochdale, proposing to reduce the wages of the weavers, 10 verses; "Beggars My Neighbour," a Dramatic Sketch, 4 pp. folio; Robert Southey, Two A. L. s. to Bernard Barton and Moxon; Charles Reade, Edwin Arnold, Wm. Black, Bernard Barton, Mayne Reid, Tom Moore, G. Verdi, Auber, Berlioz, Meyerbeer, etc.; with a sepia drawing, by A. E. Chalon, aquatints, after David Cox, etc.

- 487 PEEL (Sir Robert) An interesting Series of A. L. s. addressed to him, by Queen Victoria, 1844, Disraeli giving the state of the poll in the Shrewsbury election, 1841, Louis Philippe, George IV, William IV, Spencer Perceval, Auto. Note of Cobbett's handed to O'Connell in the House of Commons, when the latter was speaking on the Irish Coercion Bill, 1833, giving the numbers of casualties in the Manchester Riots, with signed Note by Peel below, 13 in all, framed and glazed; with signed Document of Admiral Viscount Bridport, 1756 (14)
- 488 WELLINGTON (Arthur, Duke of) General and Brigade Orders during a portion of the Netherlands Campaign under the Duke of York, 1795, where the Duke was Colonel of the 33rd, 16 Jany., 1795–April, 1795, in the handwriting of the Duke, 64 pp. 12mo, boards
- 489 WORDSWORTH (William) Four A. L. s. to the Rev. R. P. Graves, and one to Mrs. Hemans, in all 17¼ pp. 1833-50, about getting a Curacy for Mr. Graves' brother; and two others (7)
- 490 DAVY (Sir Humphrey) A. L. s. 1½ pp. 4to (n. y.), to Malthus, sending an invitation
- 491 TROLLOPE (Anthony) Auto. Manuscript of his "North America," consisting of 1220 pp. bound in 2 vol. red morocco 4to
 * * * Written during the author's nine months visit to the United States in 1862.
- 492 THACKERAY (W. M.) A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, Randolph Crescent, Edinburgh, November 24, 1856, to his Cousin, William Ritchie, relative to "The Virginians" and "Lectures on the Four Georges":
 . . . I saw your dear little ones at Paris not very long ago—Charlotte and Jane (how surprised we were to find her back!), will tell you how my Mamma fell ill and my girls were disappointed of their trip to Scotland. My oration (the lectures on "The Four Georges") is a great success, here and I am coining money at present at the rate of about half an Advocate General, say 5 or £600 a month. I get £600 for my next book (The Virginians). Cock a doodle doo! The family is looking up isn't it? I send my best love to Augusta and am yours my dear old W^m. always.
 W. M. T.
- 493 THACKERAY (W. M.) A. L. s. 1½ pp. 8vo, 36, Onslow Square, S. W., Tuesday, 23 October (1856), to Robert Southey's Son-in-law:
 . . . I have always had the greatest regard and admiration for the character of that noble man of letters (Robert Southey), of whom I spoke in the lecture which you have read; and as for Thalaba and Kehama, they were the delight of my youth, and I think I scarcely spoke of them with sufficient respect (Lectures on the Four Georges). I hope some day I may have the pleasure of meeting Southey's daughter and son-in-law . . . allured by the advertisement of a house and a few acres of land to be sold in the village, and round which (if I remember the Auctioneer rightly), fig-trees of prodigious antiquity are planted and still flourishing, and I have long had an ambition to be able to sit under my own . . .

- 494 MURAT (Prince Achille) A series of fourteen A. L. s. and one A. L. also addressed to Comte Thibaudeau, between the years 1822 and 1841; these letters cover about 30 pp. 4to and 8vo, they are relative to European Politics, Joseph Bonaparte ("Oncle Joseph") being the subject of one of the letters
- 495 MURAT (Prince A.) A series of ten A. L. s. and one L. s. addressed to Comte Thibaudeau; these letters were written from Florida (U.S.A.), between the years 1824 and 1830; the letters cover about 90 very closely written 4to pp.; they describe in great detail the different States of the Union, their Government, Institutions (including Slavery), Products, Climate, etc. as viewed by Prince Murat; accompanying the letters to Thibaudeau are two A. L. s. from Murat to Monsieur A. Thomé; these letters, which are also dated from Florida in 1826 and 1829, cover 13 pp. 4to or folio
- * * Achille Murat was the eldest son of Joachim Murat (King of Naples) and Caroline Bonaparte. He married Catherine Dudley, Niece of George Washington. About the year 1816, he was appointed Post-Master at Wascissa (Florida) and died at Jefferson County (Florida) in 1847. Murat's first two letters are signed "J. Posa," probably because Thibaudeau was at that time proscribed as a Regicide (see note which accompanies the letters).
- 496 MENDELSSOHN. The Collection of Sixty-five A. L. s. which Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy wrote to Ignaz Moscheles
- * * The letters cover a period of 21 years. The first is dated 28 November, 1826, when Mendelssohn was but 17 years old, and the last is dated 7 October, 1847, less than a month before his death. There are many important and interesting references in this correspondence to Mendelssohn's compositions, to his contemporaries, to the publication of his works in London, to the conditions of their publication and to their prices. He refers to Bach, Handel, Mozart, Cherubini, Liszt, and many other famous musicians, as well as to Paganini, Jenny Lind, and others. Mendelssohn also describes his "Songs without Words," the overture to "A Midsummer Night's Dream," "Rondeau Brilliant," his oratorio "Paul," his edition of Handel's "Messiah," Handel's Works, etc. Included in the collection are three A. L. s. of Mendelssohn's Father, two A. L. s. of his Mother, and three A. L. s. of his Wife. There is also the composer's original manuscript titlepage for his "Rondeau Brilliant pour le Pianoforte avec accompagnement d'Orchestre composé & dédié à son ami F. Moscheles par Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy." In addition, there are four important A. L. s. of Mendelssohn, addressed to H. F. Chorley, Wolfgang Robert Griepenkerl, Kapellmeister J. K. Lübeck, and Professor Joseph Fischhof. These letters are preserved in the original 4to volume as arranged and mounted by Moscheles, with his manuscript index and notes.
- 497 MARRYAT (Captain) Auto. Manuscript of his "The Settlers in Canada," covering 160 pp. folio, blue morocco
- * * This differs considerably from the published version.

- 498 LAMB (Charles) A. L. s. May, 1824, to B. W. Proctor :
 I have been sadly negligent (but I call'd once in Fra^s St.) in not acknowledging your little book (Effigies Poeticae) which I pronounce capital in its way, and just enough of it. The modern criticisms, I think, are happiest. But where did you fall flat on the error that Sheffield, Duke of B(uckingham) wrote the Rehearsal? He was a blockhead, it was (written by) Villiers. I am going to a tavern dinner. Pray for me. Tell me where you are, and how we may meet.
 * * In 1866, Proctor published "Charles Lamb, a Memoir".
- 499 GARTH (Samuel) Auto. Manuscript of his translation of Ovid's "Metamorphoses," covering 517 pp. 4to, red morocco
 * * The dedication "to Her Royal Highness, the Princess of Wales" is signed by Garth. Written on the fly-leaf, in a contemporary hand, is "Garth's manuscript Ovid, written by himself."
- 500 DIXON (William Hepworth) Auto. Manuscript of his "William Penn," covering over 400 pp. 8vo, inlaid to 4to size and bound in red morocco
 * * First published in 1851 to controvert Lord Macaulay's charges against the Founder of Pennsylvania. This manuscript was given (together with a copy of the First Edition of "William Penn") by Dixon to his Wife (Marian Dixon), on 15 March, 1851.
- 501 CAMPBELL (Thomas) Auto. Manuscript of his "Life of Milton," 44 pp. 4to, dated August, 1819, bound in red morocco
 * * The "Life of Milton" was written by Campbell for his "Specimens of the British Poets."
- 502 BYRONIANA. MUIR (Dr. Henry) of Cephalonia, Auto. Memoranda, signed, of Conversations with Lord Byron during his stay in Cephalonia, 7 pp. 4to, 1823 :
 . . . he told me he would write a 100 cantoes of Don Juan at least, now that they had attacked him . . . He was quite astonished, he said, to hear them talk in the manner they did about the book; he thought he was writing a most moral book, that women did not like it he was not surprised. Today on going out to L. B[Byron], the first thing he said to me was, well Muir, Kennedy was here again yesterday. I'm going to give in; he has had a great deal of trouble with us all. It is of no use, besides, he says we are all to be Christians one day or other, therefore it is just as well that you and I begin now. Yes (at the same time clasping his hands up before his face), I shall begin the 17th canto of Don Juan a changed man.
- 503 CRUIKSHANK (George) Two sheets of Studies, including two for a portrait, inscribed by the artist "John Taylor, 3, St. Michaels Ter., Mansfield Rd., Notingham"
- 504 FITZGERALD (Edward) Poet, A. L. s. 4 pp. 8vo, Woodbridge, 1882
- 505 SWINBURNE (Algernon Charles) Poet, A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo, in French, The Pines, Putney Hill, S. W. (no date), praising a French translation of Shelley, and suggesting that even Coleridge ought not to be impossible for such a translator

The Property of a Gentleman.

- 506 RUSKIN (John) A Series of Forty A. L. s. (two only L. s.) addressed to Professor A. J. Scott, First Principal of Owen's College, Manchester, his wife and daughter; the large majority are to Mrs. Scott, dating from 1855 to 1880; in the first he regrets being unable to lecture in Manchester owing to his being engaged in finishing "Modern Painters," suggests that W. Rossetti might lecture on Italian literature:

I am not sure that he can—still less sure that he would.

In many of the earlier letters there are numerous delightful references to his mother; in 1869 he writes a most entertaining series while journeying in Italy, and speaks of a desire for the simple life:

. . . came here [Verona] in a glorious afternoon—with the Mountains of Titian all purple in the north—but with four Americans in the carriage with me (1st Class), one man and three women, who of all the wretches I ever endured the presence of were the noisiest and most abominable—in the ingrained—essential—total desperateness of degradation of mind. I can't enter into details about them—but I won't endure, for my part, any more the state of things which produces such vermin, &c.

* * An extremely entertaining correspondence.

- 507 MAURICE (The Rev. Frederick Denison) Fourteen A. L. s. to Professor A. J. Scott; with others of Charles Kingsley (3), Dr. Chalmers, Tom Hughes, etc. (25)
- 508 IRVING (Edward) Three A. L. s. 10 pp. 4to and 8vo, 1829, to Professor A. J. Scott, etc. (3)
- 509 MACDONALD (George) A Series of Thirty-four A. L. s. 1851-1872, to Mrs. and Miss Scott, containing interesting references to his literary work
- 510 THACKERAY (William Makepeace) A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, 19, Rue d'Angoulême, Paris, July 5, 1853, to Mrs. Scott:
- . . . I am going to try to find a pleasant quiet place to begin to work in—As for Esmond that is such an old story that I forget the book—a melancholy novel wasn't it? and a dismal imitation of the old style. I suspect who was the Reviewer in the N. British though, and am his and Scott's and yours
- Very sincerely W. M. Thackeray.
- with envelope (2)
- 511 THACKERAY (W. M.) A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, to Professor A. J. Scott, Young St., Tuesday (Aug. 21, 1847):
- I grieve to say I am going to dine at 2 places to-morrow at the Temple, and afterwards in a polite quarter, and can't with the best will in the world propose myself for a 3rd dinner, &c.
- with envelope, mounted (2)

- 512 THACKERAY (W. M.) A. L. s. 1½ pp. 12mo (Sept. 1847), to Miss Ker :

I have broken the confidence of private life, and opened a letter addressed to Miss Thackeray, wh. arrived during the absence from town of that young lady . . . They are in Paris with my mother, and I am alone in this dismal Kensington.

mounted, with envelope ; and A. L. s. of Annie Thackeray (2)

- 513 THACKERAY (W. M.) A. L. s. 2½ pp. 8vo, Onslow Square, June 23, 1856, saying that he did not feel qualified to support Prof. A. J. Scott's application for a Professorship of Metaphysics :

Examiners would laugh at the signature of Jeames Yellowplush . . . and your cause would surely be harmed rather than benefitted . . . I have thought about a letter in acknowledgment of Esmond—If it's a sin not writing on these occasions : Lord help huic peccatori, and on my part I heartily absolve you. I have had a most prosperous odious tour in the U.S. . . . and am casting about what new scheme to be at, for I see the bottom of the stocking, etc.

* * * An interesting letter, in excellent preservation.

- 514 THACKERAY (W. M.) A. L. s. 1½ pp. 8vo, Kensington, Thursday (1847), to Prof Scott, mentioning the North British Review :

. . . Praise in the right place is awfully sweet : and when you touch my humanity you stop my vitals. Indeed the business of grinning seems to me to grow everyday graver and graver . . . See Punch of this day, in wh the Snob intimates this in a benedictory farewell address, etc.

with envelope (2)

- 515 CARLYLE (Thomas) A. L. s. 3½ pp. 8vo, Cummertrees, Scotland (for Chelsea, London), 30 June, 1858, to R. Waldo Emerson, Concord, Boston, by Professor Scott, a delightfully written letter of introduction, in which he speaks in warm terms of Scott as one of the few distinguished thinkers of his time, a man of real intellect, earnestness, originality and depth ; with another A. L. s. of same date : "To all my American Friends," asking for support for Scott in his forthcoming lecture tour in the United States (2)

- 516 CARLYLE (Thomas) A Series of Eighteen A. L. s. 1842-1859, to Professor Scott, writing in the summer of 1842 from Chelsea, he says :

I am grown to be a most sedentary sequestered kind of character, altogether adverse to motion, especially thro' crowded thoroughfares : I often enough do not as much as see London, except from my back-windows, once in the week : but prefer the dim lanes hereabouts, walking owl-like in the twilight only . . . I am writing a kind of "Tract for the Times" of some extent, not in the Pusey vein. Wish me well thro' it.

The Maker of this universe was wise
He plann'd all Souls, all Systems, Worlds and Particles.
The great ground plan he used from end to end,
Was the Revd. Newman's Nine-and-thirty Articles.

With interesting references to Thackeray, Göethe, Chopin, etc. (18)

- 741 THOMSON (HUGH) AN EXTENSIVE COLLECTION OF WORKS ILLUSTRATED BY HUGH THOMSON, 79 vol. mostly FIRST EDITIONS SO ILLUSTRATED, in original bindings 1884-1922

* * * This most interesting collection was exhibited at the first Loan Exhibition of the First Edition Club, London, 1922, and a full bibliographical description of the various volumes will be found in the catalogue issued by the Club, which describes the collection as complete. It should be added that a copy of the "Tales of the Canterbury Pilgrims" is also remarkable as being one of the three copies specially bound in full morocco tooled with the same stamp as used on the original cloth binding; it has an original drawing by Hugh Thomson of the three persons associated in the production of the volume inserted. In Jane Austen's "Pride and Prejudice," 1894, there is loosely inserted an interesting A. L. s. (4 pp.) by the artist, referring to the author. The Book of Drawings, 1891, was privately printed and is one of a hundred on large paper with proofs on India paper, each one signed by the artist; it also has an autograph letter of the artist inserted. A MOST INTERESTING AND COMPREHENSIVE RECORD OF THE WORK OF ONE OF THE MOST CHARMING OF MODERN ENGLISH BOOK ILLUSTRATORS.

QUARTO.

Extraordinary proceedings—The Morning—Nurse and Patient—Shadow—The Ghost's Walk—Caddy's flowers—A new meaning in the Roman—The Mausoleum at Chesney Wold (a variation of the printed plate)—The little old Lady—Tom all alone's.

* * * All the drawings are signed except two, and one of these has the superscription in the Artist's handwriting. A letter accompanies the drawings dated July 1, 1878, which reads as follows: "Dear Sir. The sketches which I have forwarded to you, are those which my father (Hablot K. Browne) made for his etchings to 'Bleak House,' which I received direct from his hands. I am, Dear Sir, yrs. faithfully, W. G. N. Browne."

Other Properties.

743 THACKERAY (W. M.) A VOLUME OF DRAWINGS in his early style, many with inscriptions, some of which are apparently autograph, in an early unformed hand, in all about 90 drawings, the largest about 9 in. by 6½ in. all pasted down on sheets of different coloured papers

* * * The drawings comprise a series of seven depicting the military adventures of Herr von Flaschenase, a gentleman with a very long nose, reminiscent of George de Barnwell: two sketches for Flore et Zephyr; A Students' Duel at Bonn (a very similar drawing, entitled Students' Duel at Godesberg, is reproduced in the Biographical Edition of the Works, Vol. I, p. XX); four Byronic jokes—Hebrew Melodies, The first canter of Childe Harold, The Prisoner of Chillon, and Cane, a mystery (drawings similar to the last two are reproduced Works, ed. cit. Vol VI, p. XIX), a series of five drawings of the Prodigal Son, with a letter relating to them; a number of illustrations to Don Giovanni, and other theatrical drawings; a number of drawings of incidents at the Liskeard election, 1832, when Thackeray canvassed for his friend Charles Buller (of the letter to Edward FitzGerald, Works, ed. cit. Vol. IX, pp. XXII-III). There is also a page of drawings of schoolboys, reminiscent of the Selection from a Boys' School (Works, ed. cit. Vol. IX, p. XXVI), a portrait of Louis Philippe on horseback, anticipations of the Reformed Parliament, and many other characteristic sketches. One or two of the drawings, and many of the inscriptions are apparently by another hand. A very interesting and attractive collection.

- 768 LITTLE GIDDING BINDING. The Whole Law of God as it is Delivered in ye Five Bookes of Moses methodically distributed into Three Greate Classes Morall, Ceremoniall, Politicall . . . Heere in Likewise, is The History of Genesis and Exodus . . . intermingled wth treatises showing how and in what many holy Persons were types of Christ . . . to confirm ye Christian and convince the Jew . . . The whole Booke is sett forth with Pictures expressing the Factes themselves their Types and Figures, etc. 28 in. by 19 in., one of the famous HARMONIES OF LITTLE GIDDING made for Charles II when Prince of Wales, but never actually given to him, with upwards of 1200 engravings, cut out and laid down, pages ruled in red, bound in purple velvet, stamped in gold, with borders, corner-pieces and centre-piece composed of small tools, back similarly stamped at head, foot and centre, back faded and repaired, otherwise IN FINE CONDITION

* * * This noble volume is described by Capt. J. E. Acland-Troyte, in his "Account of the Harmonies contrived by Nicholas Ferrar," communicated to the Society of Antiquaries, 1888, as "exceeding all the others in magnificence—a vast amount of time and trouble must have been expended in its production." It consists of parallel passages of Scripture cut out and pasted down, and lavishly illustrated with engravings. There is also a treatise on The Estate of the Jews, by Dr. Thomas Jackson, Dean of Peterborough. The titles to the various portions of the work are beautifully written, some in stately architectural frames, others within wreaths of engraved flowers. The binding is of peculiar interest, for though in form, arrangement and technique it agrees closely with the very few other genuine Little Gidding bindings known to exist, only one of the more important stamps (a large fleur-de-lys, with dotted lines issuing from the junctions of the large petals) found on it is among those reproduced by Mr. Cyril Davenport in his article on Little Gidding Bindings (Bibliographica, vol. II, pp. 129-149), Mr. Davenport having unfortunately been unable to inspect this volume when preparing his article. The large stamps, which seem to be peculiar to this binding, include a crown and a floral stamp, apparently a double marguerite; a fan-shaped stamp in two sizes is also found on the "Concordance of the Foure Evangelists" in the British Museum (Fletcher, English Bookbindings, pl. 48).

This volume is mentioned, and the title transcribed, by John Ferrar in his Life of Nicholas Ferrar (ed. J. E. B. Mayor, Cambridge, 1855); it was, he says, contrived in his brother's life-time, though not finished till after his death, and was intended for presentation to Charles II, then Prince of Wales (pp. 148-153). Owing to the Civil War, however, it was never given to him, and it came afterwards to the Harleian Library; when this was dispersed, about the middle of the 18th century, it was bought by César de Missy, and at the sale of his library by our predecessors, Baker & Leigh, in March, 1776, it was bought by James Bourdillon, who has written an inscription containing the above particulars at the end of the book. How it passed to the Gaussen family is unknown, but it was found walled-up in a secret cupboard at Brookman's Park in the early part of the 19th century.

John Ferrar gives the following interesting account of Charles I's visit to Little Gidding in 1642 with the Prince of Wales, the Palsgrave [Prince Rupert], the Duke of Lenox and other nobles, when this book was inspected. After viewing the chapel, he says :

The king was pleased to go into the house and demanded where the great book was that he had heard was made for Charles's use. It was soon brought unto him ; and the largeness and weight of it was such, that he that carried it seemed to be well laden. Which the duke observing, said, "Sir, one of your strongest guard will but be able to carry this book." It being laid on the table before the king, it was told him, that though it were then fairly bound up in purple velvet, that the outside was not fully finished, as it should be, for the prince's use and better liking. "Well," said the king, "it is very well done." So he opened the book, the prince standing at the table's end, and the palsgrave and duke on each side of the king. The king read the title page and frontispiece all over very deliberately ; and well viewing the form of it, and how adorned with a stately garnish of pictures, &c. and the curiousness of the writing of it, said, "Charles, here is a book that contains excellent things. This will make you both wise and good." Then he proceeded to turn it over leaf by leaf, and took exact notice of all in it : and it being full of pictures of sundry men's cuts, he could tell the palsgrave, who seemed also to be knowing in that kind, that this and this, and that and that, were of such a man's graving and invention. The prince all the while greatly eyed all things, and seemed much to be pleased with the book. The king having spent some hours in the perusal of it, and demanding many questions, as occasion was, concerning the contrivement of it, having received answers to all he demanded, at length said, "It was only a jewel for a prince : and hoped Charles would make good use of it. And I see and find by what I have myself received formerly from this good house, that they go on daily in the prosecution of these excellent pieces. They are brave employments of their time." The palsgrave said to the prince, "Sir, your father the king is master of the goodliest ship in the world ; and I may now say, you will be master of the gallantest greatest book in the world. For I never saw such paper before, and believe there is no book of this largeness to be seen in Christendom." "The paper and the book in all conditions," said the king, "I believe is not to be matched. Here hath also in this book not wanted, you see, skill, care, nor cost." "It is a most admirable piece," replied the Duke of Richmond. So the king closing the book, said, "Charles, this is yours." He replied, "But, sir, shall I not now have it with me?" Reply was made by one of the family, "If it please your highness, the book is not on the outside so finished as it is intended for you ; but shall be with all expedition done, and you shall have it." "Well," said the king, "you must content yourself for a while."
