** AN EXCEEDINGLY FINE EXAMPLE OF FRENCH WORK OF THE PERIOD IN SUPERB CONDITION THROUGHOUT. NO FIFTEENTH CENTURY MANUSCRIPT COULD POSSIBLY BE IN A FINER STATE OF PRESERVATION.

Apart from the borders round the miniatures and the Calendar the margins are left undecorated. The miniature borders are very finely painted and fall into two main groups, the first (eleven in number) consisting of an architectural Renaissance frame painted in gold and brown with figures of angels, saints, patriarchs, men in armour and grotesques worked into the decoration; the second (ten in number) decorated with flowers painted in natural colours, fruit and acanthus leaf decoration, one or two grotesque monsters being generally introduced; these borders are often painted within compartments of geometrical design on grounds alternately blue and white: three other borders fall into neither group (1) A beautiful jewelled border round the miniature of the Resurrection of the Dead (folio 180 verso [see ILLUSTRATION]). (2) An unusual and exquisitely designed border round the miniature of S. Sebastian (folio 192 verso) painted in blue monochrome introducing grotesque figures on horseback heightened with gold. (3) A lozenge diaper of flowers round the miniature of S. Martin (folio 196).

The twenty-four beautifully finished miniatures, in addition to the subjects usual for the Gospel Sequences, the Hours of the Virgin, etc., include one of Death holding three arrows seated on an open tomb (folio 124), and six very fine miniatures at end of S. Bernard, S. Michael, SS. Peter and Paul, S. Sebastian, S. Christopher and S. Martin.

In the miniature of the Pieta (folio 20 verso) the portrait is introduced of the man for whom the manuscript was written. He is represented in armour, kneeling, AND FROM THE ARMS ON HIS COAT SEEMS TO HAVE BEEN A MEMBER OF THE LA SUZE FAMILY. His patron saint, S. Christopher, which gives us his Christian name, is seen standing behind him. An initial O on folio 180 verso (Resurrection of the Dead) also contains the same arms.

- 32 HORAE B. V. M. CUM CALENDARIO AD USUM BITURICENSEM [BOURGES], MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM, 111 leaves (besides five leaves ruled, but not written on, and two inserted leaves, one with title and the other with a miniature of St. John), NINE EXTREMELY FINE FULL-PAGE MINIATURES, thirteen small miniatures in the text and twenty-four in the Calendar, illuminated borders in the fore-margin of every page, larger initials in red and gold on grounds of blue and white, other initials in colours on gold grounds, paragraph endings in blue and white on gold grounds, Calendar in gold, red and blue, the miniatures to St. John's Gospel and to the Offices of Prime, Tierce, Vespers and Compline removed, taking away the text on verso and in some cases the conjoined leaf, the miniatures of St. Luke and of the Annunciation cut out and guarded in, the borders cut from four leaves, apart from these defects IN FINE CONDITION, 16th Century vellum gilt, g. e. (191 mm. by 129 mm.). c. 1500

** THESE BEAUTIFUL MINIATURES ARE THE WORK OF AN ARTIST OF THE FIRST ORDER AND ARE REMARKABLE FOR BOLDNESS OF DESIGN AND DELICACY OF COLOURING. Most noteworthy perhaps is the illustration prefixed to the Psalms, which represents the unusual subject of the Anointing of David by Samuel; but the miniatures depicting the first three evangelists are almost equally original in design and masterly in execution. The remaining subjects are The Annunciation, Visitation, Adoration of the Magi, Presentation, and Job and his friends. The smaller miniatures, most of which occupy the spaces left for initials at the beginning of each section, shew the same characteristics and tend to confirm the impression given by the full-page illustrations that the figure of the Virgin throughout is drawn from a single living model. The subjects illustrating the Calendar are the usual ones, the occupations of the months on the recto of each page, and the signs of the Zodiac on the verso; these measure about 63 mm. by 27 mm., and occupy a central position in the borders. The borders themselves contain naturalistic representations of fruit and flowers on a gold ground, in some cases occupying the whole border, in others disposed in geometric compartments interspersed with conventional foliage in blue and gold; into each border is introduced the figure of an ape, a cock, a dragon or other beast, bird or monster.

TURES OF SCENES OF COUNTRY LIFE EXTENDING THE LENGTH OF THE PAGE, TWO EXCEEDINGLY FINE LARGE MINIATURES PAINTED ROUND TWO PAGES (folios
16 and 143), A BORDER CONTAINING EIGHT VERY FINE
SMALL MINIATURES OF THE APPEARANCES OF CHRIST

g. e. in an old red morocco pull-off case

(178 mm. by 132 mm.). FLEMISH. c. 1500

** AN EXQUISITELY DECORATED MANUSCRIPT
AND A PERFECT EXAMPLE OF FLEMISH ILLU-MINATION OF THE PERIOD IN MAGNIFICENT CONDITION.

The twenty-four miniatures decorating the calendar (each about 105 mm. by 32 mm.) are charmingly executed scenes of country life and pursuits. There are two for each month, as follows, in one of which appears the appropriate sign of the Zodiac. January: (1) A man in pattens coming out of his house into the snow; a snow landscape background. (2) Wood-cutting in the snow.
—February: (3) and (4) Vine-pruning, two miniatures.
—March: (5) Gardening outside a castle. (6) Pruning.

April: (7) Driving sheep from the sheep-pen to pasture. (8) Milking.—May: (9) Horsemen riding, decked with may, in the distance a boat, decorated with boughs of may paddling down a stream with passengers under an awning (for a companion picture of this famous subject see a reproduction from the Heures de Hennessy in Durrien's La Miniature Flamande, 1921, Plate LXXXIX). (10) Cutting may.—June: (11) and (12) Sheep-shearing, two miniatures.—July: (13) and (14) Hay-making, two miniatures.—August: (15) and (16) Harvesting, two miniatures.—September: (17) Sowing. (18) Beating down acorns for pigs.—October: (19) Wine-making. (20) Killing a bullock in a court-yard.—November: (21) and (22) Threshing, two miniatures.—December: (23) Pig-killing, a snow-storm scene. (24) Pig-roasting.

In all these calendar miniatures an exceptionally high level of excellence is maintained, and most of them are painted with beautiful landscape backgrounds (Plate C).

The border miniature round the first page of the Gospel Sequences is a very finely executed night-scene, depicting the Agony in the Garden, the Betrayal (the soldiers falling backward to the ground) and the cutting off of the ear of Malchus (Plate A). The border miniature round the first page of the Seven Penitential Psalms depicts the fight between David and Goliath in a green hilly landscape, the camp of the Israelites in the valley below. The beautifully painted border with eight miniatures of Christ's appearances after the Crucifixion surrounds the first page of the Hours of the Holy Cross (Plate B). The six small miniatures depict scenes in the Passion of Christ (Plate D).

THE TWENTY-SEVEN EXQUISITELY FINISHED BORDERS ARE ALL OF THE VERY HIGHEST EXCELLENCE, especially the characteristic Flemish borders of flowers, strawberries, birds, butterflies and other insects painted with the most minute naturalism on a pale gold or grey ground (one on a green ground). THESE BORDERS BEAR A STRIKING RESEMBLANCE TO THE FLOWER BORDERS OF

THE FAMOUS GRIMANI BREVIARY AT VENICE, and also to the borders of a magnificent Flemish Book of Hours among the manuscripts in the Huth Bequest to the British Museum, Add. MS. 38126 (Cp. Catalogue of the Huth Bequest, Plate 14), which belongs to the remarkable group of MSS. of which the Grimani Breviary is the best-known representative.

Fifteen of the twenty-seven borders are of the flower type already mentioned, often introducing birds and butterflies. In the lower border of one (folio 109) is a drollery of a monkey encaging a snail. Of the other twelve, two are composed of jewelled ornaments decorated with pearls within compartments in an architectural frame; one has the motto FORS VOVS (which occurs again in several of the borders) outlined in gold dots and filled in with pearls on a green ground; one is a flower diaper in ogee compartments on a gold ground; three are decorated with acanthus leaf branches in dull gold and flowers on a coloured ground; two are of architectural design in brown and gold with the motto FORS VOVS and a decorative initial M, both single and interlaced (Plate E); one is separated by crossed rods with acanthus leaf foliage into triangular compartments of vari-coloured grounds with flower-sprays and decorative initial M repeated; one has similar decoration on grounds of grey, red and black in diagonal parallel compartments; and one is of architectural design in gold decorated with scrolls, flowers and the initial M.

The manuscript contains a remarkable series of initials of very fine foliate design generally painted in a light shade of pink, purple, or gold on a coloured ground, and each containing a single flower (Plate B). This unusual and beautiful treatment resembles very closely that of a similar set of initials found in the Grimani Breviary. Some of the larger initials are of similar foliate design, but without the flower, also painted on coloured grounds.

The contents of the manuscript are as follows: folios 1-12. Calendar; ff. 13-15, Salve sancta facies, etc.; ff. 16-

LOT 35—continued.

29, Gospel Sequences; ff. 30-32, Stabat mater; ff. 33-40, Hours of the Cross; ff. 41-47, Hours of the Holy Spirit; ff. 48-61, Mass of the B.V.M.; ff. 62-132, Hours of the Virgin; ff. 133-142, Hours of the Virgin for Advent; ff. 143-167, Seven Penitential Psalms, Litany, and Prayers; ff. 168-218, Office of the Dead; ff. 219-223, Obsecro te; ff. 224-226, O Intemerata; ff. 227-231, Athanasian Creed.
