Printed by J. Davy & Sons, Ltd., 8-9, Frith-street, Soho-square, London, W., England.

CONDITIONS OF SALE.

- I. The highest bidder to be the buyer; and if any dispute arise between bidders, the lot so disputed shall be immediately put up again, provided the auctioneer cannot decide the said dispute.
- II. No person to advance less than 1s.; above five pounds 2s. 6d.; and so on in proportion.
- III. All lots are sold subject to the right of the seller or his agent to bid, or else to impose a reserve.
- IV. The purchasers to give in their names and places of abode, and to pay down 10s. in the pound, if required, in part payment of the purchase-money, in default of which the lot or lots purchased will be immediately put up again and re-sold.
- V. The lots to be taken away, at the buyer's expense, immediately after the conclusion of the sale; in default of which Messrs. SOTHEY & Co. will not hold themselves responsible if lost, stolen, damaged, or otherwise destroyed, but they will be left at the sole risk of the purchaser. If, at the expiration of ONE WEEK after the conclusion of the sale, the books or other property are not cleared or paid for, they will then be catalogued for immediate sale, and the expenses, the same as if re-sold, will be added to the amount at which the books were bought. Messrs. SOTHEY & Co. will have the option of re-selling the lots uncleared, either by public or private sale, without any notice being given to the defaulter.
- VI. All the books are presumed to be perfect, unless otherwise expressed; but if, upon collating, any should prove defective, the purchaser will be at liberty to take or reject them, provided they are received back within FOURTEEN DAYS after the conclusion of the sale, when the purchase-money will be returned.
- VII. The sale of any book or books is not to be set aside on account of any worm-holes, stained or short leaves of text or plates, want of list of plates or blank leaves, or on account of the publication of any subsequent volume, supplement, appendix, or plates. All the manuscripts, autographs, all magazines and reviews, all books in lots, and all tracts in lots or volumes, will be sold with all faults, imperfections and errors of description. The sale of any illustrated book, lot of prints or drawings, is not to be set aside on account of any error in the enumeration of the numbers stated, or error of description.
- VIII. No Imperfect Book will be taken back, unless a note accompanies each book, stating its imperfections, with the number of lot and date of the sale at which the same was purchased.
- IX. To prevent inaccuracy in the delivery, and inconvenience in the settlement of the purchases, no lot can on any account be removed during the time of sale.
- X. Upon failure of complying with the above conditions, the money required and deposited in part of payment shall be forfeited; and if any loss is sustained in the re-selling of such lots as are not cleared or paid for, all charges on such re-sale shall be made good by the defaulters at this sale.

Messrs. SOTHEY & CO. are prepared to execute bids, and in addition to advise intending purchasers as far as possible, if requested by them to do so, without making any charge for either service. Lots will be procured as cheaply as is permitted by other bids or reserves, if any.

of which the others are the general title and a blank. A 1 is the title (beginning Exemplar Libelli supplicis) to the second tract which opens on B 1, and is intended to be folded back beyond the unsigned leaves. Referring to the latter as *, the following would therefore be the correct collation: * 4 (blank), * 1 (general title), A 2-4 (Prolegomena), * 2 and 3 (Relatio super detectione), A 1 (title to the Relatio Memorialis of de Quiros), B-F 2 in fours, F 2 blank. The Huth copy wanted both blanks and the Mostyn copy, which had the blank [] 4 inserted between [] 3 and B 1, wanted A 1 and F 2. *folio. Tiguri (Zurich) Impensis Andreae Cambieri,
Anno Domini, 1606*

 A remarkable volume, showing that this, the first English history, was carefully read and digested by the well-known classical scholar Isaac Casaubon, who though he lived chiefly at Geneva and Paris was invited to England in 1610, and lived there till his death in 1614, when he was buried in Westminster Abbey.

What Casaubon has done is to take the unwieldy volume of nearly 1000 pages, and underline all that interested him, supplying the subject in the margin and occasionally adding a note, as on pp. 125, 339 (about the Wandering Jew). On the title-page and the page preceding he has crowded about a hundred references and their subjects in a kind of conspectus for rapid use—many of which recur as extracts in his manuscript Adversaria, which still exist. The signature in the lower right margin of the title-page appears to be entirely genuine, though in his letters Casaubon never allowed himself to use, as here, the contraction for us in his Christian name Isaacus. He certainly possessed this Zurich edition, for he quotes the page-numbers in his Adversaria, and Paris is made use of in his De Libertate Ecclesiastica and in his anti-Baronian treatises. The book well shows his methods of reading and annotating large works in an unfamiliar field, and of supplying the place of the index he needed: for no scholar at that time, willingly relied on a printed index.

Two other owners have written in the volume, one writing in English in a thick hand (see pp. 11, 224), the other of no importance.

 This copy was no doubt specially printed for presentation to the Emperor. On the title-page are the Imperial arms finely coloured by a contemporary hand, cp. Brunet: "Belle édition en gros caractères. Un exemplaire sur velin, avec armoriés coloriés sur le frontispiece."

On the last leaf at the end of the text is the autograph authentication of the Governor Rudolf, Count of Fultz—"Rudolff Graffen Fultz ich Stathalter," and beneath this the signature of Jacob Franckfurter.

- 176 BREVIARIUM LATINUM CUM CALENDARIO. [GERMAN], MANUSCRIPT ON FINE VELLUM, very neatly and clearly written in gothic characters in red and black, 17 lines to a page, 324 leaves, calendar in red and black, TWO LARGE HISTORIATED INITIALS in gold and colours, containing miniatures of S. John the Baptist and S. Catherine (?), with marginal decoration of flowers, other large initials in gold and colours, a few margins very neatly mended with coloured silks, crushed black morocco, inside gilt border, silk linings (121 mm. by 80 mm.). XV CENT.
- 177 PSALTERIUM LATINUM, CANTICA, LITANIA, CUM CALENDARIO, MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM, written by an ENGLISH SCRIBE in a clear and regular gothic hand, 18 lines to a page, 195 leaves (a few leaves missing), calendar in black and red, TEN LARGE INITIALS IN GOLD AND COLOURS decorated in most cases with foliate ornaments or interlacings, and all (except one) with full borders of bar design with ivy leaf decoration, conventional flowers or leafy sprays (these initials and borders are painted in a good style but are rather rough), numerous smaller initials

in gold and colours, early 18th Century calf, arms of the Latton family stamped in gold on sides

(162 mm. by 96 mm.). ENGLISH, XIII CENT.

-  An interesting English manuscript, which may have belonged to Nicholas Wadham (1532-1609), founder of Wadham College, Oxford. A pedigree written in the 18th Century on the fly-leaves traces the descent of the Latton family, whose arms are on the sides of the book, from Nicholas Wadham's father to William Baynton of Chadlington and of Gray's Inn, "present owner of this MS."

The entries of many of the saints' names in the Calendar and Litany attest the English provenance of the book. The most noteworthy is that of S. Neot (July 31) in red, whose name also occurs in the Litany. The Passion of S. William of Norwich (March 25) is another unusual festival. The English saints invoked in the Litany are: Alban, Oswald, Edmund, Aelphege, William, Martyrs; Dunstan, Cuthbert, Edmund, Neoth, Confessors; Ethelreda, Mildred, Osida (Osyth), Virgins.

QUARTO.

- 178 HORAE B. V. M. CUM CALENDARIO, MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM, WRITTEN BY AN ENGLISH SCRIBE in very clear bold gothic characters, 17 lines to a page, 150 leaves (the first leaf of the calendar and a few other leaves missing), the calendar in red and black, ten pages decorated with a large initial in gold and colours, containing grotesques or foliate decoration, all (except one) with full borders of bar design introducing grotesque heads and leafy ornamental work, (all the initials and borders painted in a good style: some of the borders slightly shaved), numerous other illuminated initials with marginal decoration, in an 18th Century calf binding, elaborately gilt, book-plate of John Skottowe, Esq. (180 mm. by 120 mm.). ENGLISH, XIV CENT.

-  This interesting book of Hours of Sarum use was probably executed in the diocese of Norwich as in the Calendar, under date September 24, is the entry in red "Dedicacio ecclesie norwyc." Noteworthy entries of saints' names in red in the Calendar are SS. Adelm, Edith, Wulfran, David, Cuthbert, Dunstan, Oswald, and the translations of SS. Edmund the Martyr (Apr. 29), Swithin (July 15), Cuthbert (Sept. 4), Edmund the Archbp. (June 9). In black are S. Thomas de Cantelupe, Bp. of Hereford (his name very seldom occurs in MSS.) and S. Botolph. Invoked in the Litany are: Alban, Oswald, Lambert, Edmund, and Edward, Martyrs; Dunstan, Wilfrid, Edmund, and Edward, Confessors; and Ethelreda and Radegundis, Virgins. There are indulgences in English written in red; and at the beginning are three leaves with prayers in French written in the fifteenth Century in a different hand from the rest of the volume.

- 179 HORAE B. V. M. AD USUM SARUM CUM CALENDARIO, MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM, written by an ENGLISH SCRIBE in red and black in a very clear and regular gothic hand, 25 lines to a page, 112 leaves, SIXTEEN FINE FULL-PAGE MINIATURES (for subjects see below), all within line rectangular frames and borders of feather-work spirals, ivy-leaves and flowers, FOURTEEN LARGE INITIALS (several of diaper pattern) very finely painted in colours (chiefly blue, brown and red), on grounds of burnished gold, all with full borders of feathery scrolls, with foliate decoration of burnished gold, numerous other initials in gold and colours, red velvet binding, g. e. in morocco slip case

(217 mm. by 150 mm.) ENGLISH, EARLY XV CENT.

 The sixteen miniatures are painted in a very remarkable style with a free use of body colour. The subjects represented are : (1) The Garden of Gethsemane. (2) The Betrayal. (3) The Coronation of the Virgin. (4) The Flagellation. (5) Christ carrying the cross. (6) The Crucifixion. (7) An Angel supporting the dead Christ risen from the tomb. (8) The Burial of Christ. (9) The Death of the Virgin. (10) The Resurrection of the Dead. (11) Vigils of the Dead. (12) Two Angels carrying souls to heaven in a napkin. (13) S. Jerome. (14) S. John the Baptist. (15) S. Christopher. (16) S. Anna.

Following the Hours of the Virgin are six pages of rhymed Latin verses preceded by a rubric indulgence and beginning : "Salve virgo virginum, stella matutina." Then follow various prayers preceded by rubric indulgences granted by Pope Clement, Pope Boniface "ad supplicacionem Philippi Regis francorum," etc., the Seven Penitential Psalms, Litany, Office for the Dead, Commendaciones animarum, Psalter of S. Jerome and Prayers.

This manuscript may have been executed for use in the diocese of Lincoln, as special importance is given to SS. Edward, Hugh, Alban, Edmund, and others in the calender. The name, Thomas Pentham, occurs as a birth entry on October 24th, with the date 1477. From a later entry of ownership, it came into the possession of the old Yorkshire families of Bellasses and Pullen.

flower and acanthus leaf pattern, numerous smaller initials in gold and colours, modern brown pigskin binding

(190 mm. by 130 mm.). ENGLISH, XV CENT.

-  This manuscript belonged to Thomas Wakefeld (1500-1575), first regius professor of Hebrew at Cambridge. He was born at Pontefract in Yorkshire and was educated at Cambridge. On two vellum fly-leaves are long manuscript notes (either wholly or partly in his hand) recording his two marriages, his children, etc. A typed copy of these notes is inserted. In the Calendar are the following entries:—

16 January. "Hodie nata fuit Alysia Wakefelde filia Thomae Wakefelde Chestertoni."

19 August. "Hodie in nocte intra horas nonam et decimam felicissime in Domino moritur Anna Wakefelde uxor Thomae Wakefelde, mulier castissima et pudicissima. Sepeliturque in aede sacra Chestertoni."

13 November. "Iste die natus erat Thomas Wakefeldus apud Dalehamum, filius Thomae Wakefeldi Chestertoniensis."

- 181 HORAE B. V. M. [? AD USUM SARUM], MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM, very well written by an ENGLISH SCRIBE, 16 lines to a page, 127 leaves (no Calendar), the first page decorated with a LARGE HISTORIATED INITIAL containing a miniature of the Annunciation with a full bar border with foliate decoration in gold and colours, NINE OTHER VERY FINE INITIALS in colours on burnished gold grounds (seven with three-quarter and two with full finely painted borders), numerous other initials in gold and colours, with marginal decoration of flowers and leafy sprays, crushed dark brown morocco, g. e. inside gilt borders

[See ILLUSTRATION.]

- 182 [PRIMER AND SARUM PSALTER]. PRIMER IN LATIN AND ENGLISH, MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM, well written by an English scribe in a regular gothic hand, 27 lines to a page, 107 leaves, Calendar in red and black, the first leaf of the Hours wanting but has two preliminary leaves of Benedictions. THE FOLLOWING PORTIONS OF THE TEXT ARE IN ENGLISH: The prayers accompanying preparation for the Sacrament, the form of confession, the seven deadly sins, the commandments, supplications touching the five senses, the seven works of mercy, the virtues, the Unity of Christ, the cardinal virtues, the Sacraments, the Beatitudes, etc. FOUR PAGES DECORATED WITH LARGE AND FINELY PAINTED INITIALS WITH FULL BORDERS IN COLOURS AND BURNISHED GOLD. The Litany includes the names of Edmund, Edward, George, Swithin, Birin, Erkenwald, Dunstan, Cuthbert, Edith, Sytha, Winifred, and Fredeswid. In the Calendar S. David (1 March),

LOT 182—continued.

S. Chad (2 March), S. Winifred (3 Nov.), and S. John of Beverley (7 May), have been added in a slightly later hand. A note recording the execution of Empson and Dudley in 1510 appears in the Calendar, numerous initials in gold and colours with marginal decoration, WRITTEN c. 1470—PSALTERIUM AD USUM SARUM, MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM BEAUTIFULLY WRITTEN BY AN ENGLISH SCRIBE IN A VERY CLEAR AND BOLD gothic hand, 21 lines to a page, 203 leaves (wants the first leaf), THREE BEAUTIFULLY DESIGNED LARGE INITIALS in colours on a ground of burnished gold, all with very fine three-quarter borders of bar and spray pattern with foliate decoration, line-endings in blue and burnished gold, square musical notation on a 4-line stave in red. The text of the Psalter is followed by the Canticles, the Litany and the Office for the Dead. Numerous smaller initials in gold and colours with marginal decoration, other initials in pen-work (some of them with human heads in profile). A miniature at the beginning of the "Commendaciones animarum" of two angels carrying a soul to heaven in a napkin. WRITTEN c. 1450; bound in 1 vol. in contemporary doeskin over stout wooden boards with book-plate of Thos. Phillips of Ickford in the County of Bucks. Gent.

(255 mm. by 163 mm.). ENGLISH, c. 1450-70

- 183 PSALTERIUM LATINUM CUM CANTICIS, CREDO, LITANIA SANCTORUM [? FOR USE OF EXETER], MANUSCRIPT ON STOUT VELLUM, WRITTEN BY AN ENGLISH SCRIBE in bold gothic characters, long lines, 18 to a page, 172 leaves, six finely designed initials in burnished gold on coloured grounds (the first of these—an initial D—is a very fine initial in good condition: the others are somewhat rubbed or damaged), numerous small initials in red, blue and green, many of the paragraph marks in red or blue are carried into the margin and end in a conventional foliate ornament, in the margin of two or three leaves are curious outline figures drawn in pen-and-ink, wants the first leaf, the next leaf defective, and a piece cut from two other leaves, old calf binding, from the Dunn collection (Lot 1522)

(182 mm. by 125 mm.). ENGLISH, XIII CENT.

 From the mention of SS. Petroce and Sativola in the Litany, this Psalter is attributed to Exeter use.

- 184 PSALTERIUM LATINUM ET CANTICA CUM CALENDARIO, MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM clearly written in bold gothic characters, 19 lines to a page, 141 leaves, the Calendar written in a smaller hand in red and black, six large initials in burnished gold on grounds of red and blue with decoration in white, the opening initial B with a three-quarter border of bar and feather-work design,

the others with marginal decoration of feather-work, other initials in blue with marginal decoration in red, the additional prayers following the Litany end imperfectly, half leather, from the Fountain collection, with crest on back

(240 mm. by 155 mm.). ENGLISH, EARLY XV CENT.

-  This Psalter is probably of Southern English origin. The Calendar is of the regular Sarum type. Several interesting obits and entries have been written in the Calendar between 1497 and 1507; in June "die Sci Botulphi A" dñi 1497" is recorded the Battle of Blackheath, and among the numerous obits may be mentioned that of Robert Ballard (probably the Treasurer of S. Paul's Cathedral), Oct. 1498, and George Crosby, 1507. The same hand has also added several entries in the Calendar, among which are S. John of Beverley, S. Botolph, and the translation of S. Edward the King and Martyr (June 20). The English saints invoked in the Litany are SS. Swithin, Birin, and Edith.

 Luis Cabrera of Cordova, the author, was also a distinguished soldier. He appears to have written two works only—the present and Tratado de Historia, 1611. The present work is rich in detail and is evidently very rare, for Brunet quotes the title in his “Table Methodique” only.

The book is of American interest. There is a chapter (8) entitled: “Enbia el Rey armada para echar unos Franceses per pobla ban en la Florida; i otra a poblar las Filipinas, pag. 418.” Chapter 23 refers to Francis Drake: “La navegacion i robos que hizo Frãcisco Draque en las Indias, pag. 1071.” There is also a chapter upon Mexico.

The Property of a Lady.

- 619 PLAYING CARDS, London, c. 1730. A complete Pack of 52, with Songs set to Music, and with Flute accompaniments, the values of the cards in reserved spaces at the top left corners. On the Knave of Diamonds the song "Jack Shepherd" affords a clue to the date, as the second verse mentions "Shepherd, Faux, Faustus, Wild & Tom Thumb." Jack Shepherd was hanged in 1724 and Jonathan Wilde in 1725. Tom Thumb refers to Fielding's "Tragedy of Tragedies," produced at the Haymarket in 1730. On the Ace of Spades the red Duty mark "VI pence."

 Mr. Barclay Squire of the British Museum suggested that the music might be the early work of Dr. T. A. Arne, but as in 1730 he was only twenty and had not commenced to publish, this seems doubtful.

Only two other packs are known, and both are imperfect, that in the British Museum, and the Schreiber pack in the Phillips' collection.

 This appears to be the most extensive manuscript known entirely in the handwriting of Marat, and the only Romance of his ever published. It is in the form of a correspondence, a favourite mode of French novel-writing at the period. Published by Paul Lacroix in 1848. Monsieur Chevrement describes it fully in his book on Marat. Formerly in the library of M. Aimé Martin, the friend and disciple of Saint Pierre (author of "Paul et Virginie"), whose widow he married.

Inserted at the beginning of the Manuscript is an A. L. s. "Marat, l'ami du peuple," to Captain Regnier, Paris, 13th October, 1790

- 646 LAFAYETTE (General, the Marquis) L. s. 1½ pp. 4to, to M. de Sigogné:

(Translation).

3. Oct. 1780.

"I received the letter with which you honoured me, very late, Monsieur, but I was very pleased to have news of you. As you were not in the list of the Dead and Wounded in the Affair of General Gates, I have every reason to hope that you were not among the number. I shall be very happy to have your confirmation of this, as well as news of all my acquaintances in the Army of the South. I beg you to present a million compliments to them from me, especially to Colonel Arnaud and General Smallwood. Tell him that there is no news here, except the Treason of Arnold, who has fled to New York, and the Judgment of the Adjutant General of the English Army (John André) arrested while acting as a spy. If you are within reach of General Gates, I beg you to mention me to him. I shall always be very glad, Monsieur, to have occasion to assure you of the sincere attachment with which I have the honour to remain your very humble and obedient Servant.

Lafayette."

 This important letter, which appears to be unpublished, was written the day after the execution of André. Lafayette had signed the Judgment of the Court, which condemned him to death. The "Affair of General Gates" was the Battle of Camden (August 16th, 1780), where Gates was completely defeated and the American Army shattered.

[SOLD BY ORDER OF THE EXECUTORS.]

- 659 AMERICAN CIVIL WAR. MOTLEY (J. L.) A REMARKABLE A. L. s. 28 pp. 8vo, Vienna, Sept. 28, 1862, to John Stuart Mill:

... Our Civil War will go on to its preordained termination, whenever and whatever that may be—and the sufferings of the manufacturing population, deeply as they are to be deplored, are only England's portion of the penalty which she incurred by building up a vast industry upon a great crime—a crime which she imagined that she had cleansed her hand of. The penalty which the American Nation is paying for its forty years complicity in slavery and submission to the slaveholder's oligarchy is a far more terrible one—there is hardly a family in the country which is not shedding some of its blood in this great war, born of slavery alone ... Probably no country in the world ever sent a million volunteers to a war within a year. I fancy the phenomenon is unique in history—I wish I could speak as confidently of the military and political sagacity by which the immense resources of men and money placed in Government's hands had been wielded, as I can of the courage and devotion of the people ... As to our attitude towards England, I am sure that it will be as pacific as possible. Nothing could be more stupid than the idea sometimes expressed that there is a party in America desirous of war with England as an extrication from an internal dilemma. But I don't see how it is possible for the hearts of the Americans not to be alienated, for at least this generation, from England ... But the hatred of England towards us (as represented by her governing and commercial classes) has been manifested too ostentatiously and indecently by speech and act to allow of a doubt as to her sentiments, etc.

 A LETTER OF THE GREATEST POSSIBLE INTEREST.

- 360 [CANADA]. BULLER (Charles) Secretary to Lord Durham, Governor General of Canada, 1838, AN A. L. s. OF GREAT INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE, Quebec, Saturday, Oct. 13th, 1838, 24 pp. 4to, addressed to John Stuart Mill "Most Private," dealing with Lord Durham's Proclamation of Oct. 9, 1838, in which he injudiciously appealed from the Government to the Canadians, and his public and private reasons for resigning his governorship. The letter contains a number of references to the Canadians:

... My sympathies for the Canadians are not a bit diminished. Justice to them—the great majority, is still my first principle. But believe this they can do nothing for themselves: they have no habits of self-reliance; their friends must serve them without leaning on them, woe to the man who trusts to their energy or prudence in their own cause. Hence every man who governs here the moment he ceases to rely solely on himself, is either bullied by the British, who have great energy and tact, or throw himself on them. Lord Durham would have done the last. With his character it was inevitable. Rather than he should do so it was better he should resign: and if he failed, fail without fault of his own ... He resigns his Governorship. He says that the mode in which he has been assailed by enemies, and betrayed by the Government shew that he is not the man to carry this Colony by the cordial aid of the Mother Country through a difficult state of things. Colborne will repress the insurrection if there is to be one ...

- 661 [CANADA]. BULLER (Charles) A. L. s. 8 pp. 8vo, Quebec, Oct. 19th, 1838, to John Stuart Mill :

Ld. Durham has taken a resolution which ... I think is very wise. He gives up his journey through the States and goes home at once in order to bring the state of these Provinces before Parliament ... I am to remain behind for a month to get up materials of a Report ...

- 662 CLIVE (Robert, Lord) Governor of Bengal, L. s. 1 p. folio, Fort William, 22 Novr. 1759, to Commodore George Wilson, Captain Barnard Forrester, Captain Brooke Samson and Mr. Alexander Scott, saying Captain Wilson has been directed to consult them upon all operations necessary to be taken against the Dutch ; with nine other signatures of East India Company Officials.

- L. s. 1½ pp. folio, Fort William, 22 Novr. 1759, to Commodore George Wilson :

Learning that the Dutch have landed part of their troops, he is directed "to send an officer on board the Commanding Officer of the Dutch Ship and acquaint them that if they attempt to land a single man more," it will be looked upon as an act of hostility.

also bearing nine other signatures

- L. s. 1 p. folio, Fort William, 24 Nov. 1759, to Commodore Wilson :

If the Dutch refuse to deliver up the vessels they have unjustly stopt and seiz'd belonging to us, with their stores and effects and an action ensues in consequence of our orders, we positively direct you in case any of their ships and vessels fall into your hands, that you do not suffer your people to plunder the effects found on board, etc.

also bearing nine other signatures

- L. s. 1½ pp. 4to, Fort William, 23 Novr., to Capt. George Wilson :

The Dutch ships having landed their men and being now dropping down the river, there is no further occasion for your remaining in your présent station, etc.

also bearing nine other signatures

- L. s. 2 pp. 4to, Fort William, 24 Nov. 1759, to Wilson :

We have ben informed ... that there has been an action between you and the Dutch ships ... if they have submitted, we direct that the English Colours are not on any account hoisted on their ships... to spike their guns if you judge it necessary ... etc.

bearing eight other signatures

- L. s. 2 pp. 4to, Fort William, 15 Nov. 1759, to the Senior Captain of the three Company's Ships :

bearing five other signatures

- L. s. 1 p. folio, Fort William, 21 Nov. 1759, to Commodore Wilson :

Hearing with pleasure that the Company's ships have passed the Dutch ships without being fired upon ...

bearing eight other signatures

L. s. 1 p. 4to, Fort William, 24 Nov. 1759, to Commodore Wilson :

We have received advice of the Dutch ships being in your power. We return you thanks for your good behaviour upon this occasion and desire you will assure your ships companies in our name that we will bestow a gratification upon them, etc.

bearing eight other signatures

L. s. 1 p. 4to, Fort William, 26 Nov. 1759, to Commodore George Wilson :

As we have given directions that hostilities against the Dutch may cease by land we desire that you will stop making any further captures of their vessels or boats.

bearing seven other signatures

This very fine series of nine Letters refer to events when Mir Jaffier, forgetful of the benefits he had received, and chafing under his dependence upon Clive, induced the Dutch to bring troops to their factory at Chinsura, in the hope of subverting, with their aid, the daily increasing power of the English in Bengal (9)

- 663 [DICKENS (Charles)] MILL (John Stuart) A. L. s. 4 pp. 8vo, n. d. to Mrs. Mill :

... That creature Dickens, whose last story, Bleak House, I found accidentally at the London Library ... much the worst of his things, and the only one of them I altogether dislike—has the vulgar impudence in this thing to ridicule rights of women ...

- 664 EMERSON (R. W.) A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo, Concord Mass., 6 May, 1865, to J. S. Mill :

... As we have learned to count you among our foremost friends in England, I confide that you will share our joy in the supression of the rebellion and the approaches of a firm peace.

- 665 GASKELL (Mrs.) Two A. L. s. 1859, to J. S. Mill, expressing regret for having published in her life of Charlotte Brontë, a letter conjectured to have been derogatory to Mrs. Mill, with a copy of Mill's reply (3)

- 666 GREY (Earl) Two A. L. s. 1864-6, concerning his Essay on Parliamentary Government.—MORLEY (Viscount) Two A. L. s. forwarding his book on Burke.—SPENCER (Herbert) A. l. s. seeking his influence with Lord Stanley for an appointment for Mr. Spencer.—MAZZINI (J.) Two A. L. s. 1857 ; and others of John Sterling, J. A. Roebuck (2), Frederic Harrison, Lord Stanley (2), Lord Hobart, Goldwin Smith (5), Lord Salisbury, and others, addressed to John Stuart Mill a parcel

JENNER (Dr. Edward) The Discoverer of Vaccination, A. L. s. 2 pp. 4to, n. d.

I feel much regret at having been prevented, thro' the unfortunate intervention of the hooping cough, from inoculating the Cowpox on your little ones. On Monday I leave Town, but when the children are recovered (and I sincerely hope it may be soon) you may safely entrust them to the care of Mr. Knight, Surgeon, in Clifford's Street, No. 4, a gentleman who has inoculated great numbers and whom I can safely recommend. Will pay his respects after the Cheltenham season.

VACCINATION. HILL (Rowland) A. L. s. 4 pp. 4to, to Wm. Wilberforce, the suppressor of the slave trade, Nov. 24th (n. y.):

... As you were the member who seconded the motion upon the business of vaccination, I beg leave to recommend it to your further notice as being the most beneficial discovery ever made known to the human race. Having vaccinated with my own hands near six than five thousand subjects and promoted the vaccination through the instrumentality of others at least of twice as many more, I cannot be otherwise than perfectly well acquainted of its most beneficial effects and am thoroughly satisfied that if you can make it a parliamentary concern so as to prevent a set of designing Doctors and Apothecarys from poisoning the country with a contagious pestilential disease wherever they can get people to be weak enough to listen to their horrid advice, you will be made the happy instrument of saving more human lives than ever you can do by your indefatigable zeal against the Slave Trade—that horrible traffic in human blood.

- 688 BURNEY (Charles) Musician and Author, A. L. s. 2 pp. Svo, Cheltenham, 4 Sept. (n. y., c. 1805), to his son Charles:
 Mrs. Crewe will have told you my opinion abt. your ode, wch. I like very much & you know it illustrates my political principles yet I do not wish you to print it with your name to it ... I work at the articles of the Cyclopædia already written, but wch. have been transcribed by others, & some so ill that the correction takes more time, and a great deal more patience to make it fit for the compositor than if I had been my own amanuensis—if you read this to F. Phillips her conscience must prick her ... I have got acquainted with Dr. Jenner the Vaccine Physician—a pleasing natural character, without pedantry or charlatannerie," etc., and referring to his musical biographies for Rees's "Encyclopædia," for which Burney received £1000.

- 726 BYRON (Lord) An Album. containing upwards of Forty Letters in all, including letters from BYRON, letters relating to Byron, many addressed to HOBHOUSE, letters from DICKENS, THACKERAY, etc., A FINE COLLECTION

BYRON (Lord) A. L. s. (initials), 1½ pp. 4to, March 26, 1815, to Hobhouse, with regard to his travels abroad :

I am full of wonder and regret at your migatory project, which I yet hope may be interrupted—wishing you nevertheless all possible success and divertiment if you will go... Buonaparte!!!—I marvel what next ... I have written to nobody and am as lazy and stupefied as can be.

BYRON. Invitation to Lady Heathcote's Ball, July 5th, 1813. Written on it in Byron's hand :—

This card I kept as a curiosity—since it was at the ball that Ld. Caroline and I performed ye dagger scene—of indifferent memory.

THOS. MOORE. A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo, 1828, Newstead Abbey, to Hobhouse, about Byron's early life :

Mentioning an early will in favour of Hobhouse, and mentioning Byron's old family servants and "those joyous days when these walls were inhabited by as brilliant a knot of young fellows as ever began life together."

THORVALDSON (A.) A. L. s. 1 p. 4to, to Lord Byron, concerning a bust

HORTENSE (Princess) A. L. s. ½ p. 4to :

Je suis enchantée des ouvrages de Lord Byron, que je lis dans ce moment.

Numerous Letters addressed to Byron by statesmen, etc. of the day, including two from PALMERSTON ; a Letter of introduction of Byron to Vaseley at Foreign Office, signed CASTLEREAGH ; and two amusing gossiping Letters to Byron from Scrope Davies

HOBHOUSE (B.) to Hobhouse (J.), March 10, 1815, Auto. Note :

Lord Cochrane has escaped from prison—Bonaparte has escaped from Elba—I write from the House of Commons, and the intelligence seems to rest on good authority and is believed.

P.S. Both are certainly true.

DICKENS (Charles) A. L. s. 1 p. 4to, 8 Jan. 1861, Office of "All the Year Round," asking permission to publish a note in the Times

THACKERAY (Wm.) Auto. Note s. January 10, 1852 :

In reply to your obliging note I have little hesitation in saying that virtue is the principal happiness below, though certainly not the only one. For example there is claret, smoking in moderation and cheerful conversation such as we have had at Erlestone : all of which are not virtues but nevertheless pleasing.

A. L. s. from SHERIDAN (2) ; LYTTON, offering to assist at election time ; WILBERFORCE, A. L. PIOZZI. D'ORSAY, THOS. CAMPBELL, MONK LEWIS, JEREMY BENTHAM, and several other celebrated men

- 727 BYRON (Lord) A. L. s. 4 pp. 4to, Aug. 4th, 1805, Burgage Manor, Southwell, to his friend, Charles Gordon, a very fine early letter describing the Eton and Harrow match, in which he played, and the ensuing "Rag":

We have played the Eton (sic) & were most confoundedly beat, however it was some comfort to me that I got 11 notches the 1st innings & 7 the 2nd. which was more than any of our side, except Brockman and Ipswich could contrive to hit. Later ... To be sure we were most of us rather drunk, and went together to the Haymarket Theatre where we kicked up a row, as you may suppose when so many Harrovians and Etonians met at one place. I was one of seven in a single Hackney Coach, 4 Eton and 3 Harrow fellows, we all got into the same box, the consequence was that such a devil of a noise arose that none of our neighbours could hear a word of the drama, at which not being highly delighted, they began to quarrel with us and we nearly came to a battle royal, etc.

One small corner of the letter is missing, affecting about 20 words, there is also one small hole which has removed two words, the whole letter with a typed transcript, and with full notes, etc., is enclosed in an album, bound in gilt tooled green morocco

Other Properties.

- 728 COWPER (William) A. L. s. 3 pp. 4to, Dec. 17, 1780, to Mrs. Newton. A characteristically witty letter, believed to be unpublished, containing eight stanzas of poetry, beginning "Between nose and eyes, a strange contest arose," which the author also communicated to Mr. Hill and Mr. Unwin. The letter thanks Mrs. Newton for a gift of skait and shrimps as being peculiarly light and digestible fare:

Man considered as a machine is constructed upon principles the very reverse of those by which a clock is actuated; the latter is indebted to the Weight below for all the constancy and regularity of its movement; whereas the Head of a Poet, instead of being benefited by such an appendage, is sadly hindered in its operations; all his wits, as naturalists observe, being called down into the lower regions, and employed there in the Drudgery of Digestion.

In an album with other A. L. s.: Wm. Wilberforce, Claude Buchanan, John Newton, etc., silhouettes, poetry and drawings

- 729 MASON (W.) Poet and friend of Horace Walpole. A. L. s. 1½ pp. 4to, Aston, 30 Jan. 1776, to James Dodsley, relating to a new edition of his works:

- 742 KIPLING (RUDYARD) SCHOOLBOY LYRICS, FIRST EDITION, with inscription on title, "M. C. Plowden, from Alice Kipling," original brown paper wrappers, RARE
(Printed for private circulation), Lahore. Printed at the "Civil and Military Gazette" Press, 1881
- 743 [KIPLING (R.)] ECHOES. BY TWO WRITERS, FIRST EDITION, original wrappers, back strip missing, RARE
Lahore: The "Civil and Military Gazette" Press, n. d. [1884]
- * * Eight marked with an asterisk are by Miss Kipling, the remainder by Rudyard Kipling; 25 poems have the names of the poets of whom they are parodies written in by the father, J. Lockwood Kipling.
- 744 KIPLING (R.) AUTOGRAPH MS. 1½ pp. folio, "That Lady who Recited (by the Sufferer)," being a most amusing and characteristic skit on an intellectual after-dinner party with music and recitations, UNPUBLISHED; it was originally written for inclusion in the St. James's Gazette, but was refused by Low on the grounds that it might give offence to a lady at whose house he himself had just attended a party of a similar nature. The autograph letter of rejection by Low, Feb. 19, 1890, is included in the lot. It was then presented by the author to Mrs. Plowden: the original envelope addressed to her in his handwriting is also included. The sketch includes fourteen lines of nonsense verse as a sample of the verse recited. (3)
- 755 KIPLING (R.) Autograph MS. 4 pp. 4to, "Plot and Passion," being the programme of a play, with the prologue written for amateurs to perform at Lahore, Dec. 20th, 1883. The Dramatis Personæ and the Prologue written on four sides of a gilt-edged card, with grotesque drawings by Kipling in ink, and floral decorations at the heads of the pages; and five stanzas of poetical prologue: "In the Paris of the Empire, in the days of long ago . . ." UNPUBLISHED; it was presented by the author to Mrs. Plowden on the morning of the performance.

Kinnordy, Kirriemuir, Forfarshire.

- 746 DARWIN (CHARLES) ONE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-SEVEN A. L. s., 1837-1874, TO SIR CHARLES LYEELL; very few are under 4 pp. in length, and many run to 8 or more pp. (a few of the latest letters are partially dictated)

* * * UNQUESTIONABLY THE FINEST SERIES OF DARWIN LETTERS IN EXISTENCE; it is in reality the record of the growth of Darwin's theories communicated in great detail to the man whom Darwin regarded as his master, and of whom he says in these letters "I have long wished, to acknowledge more plainly than by mere references, how much I geologically owe to you," and who was his great scientific friend until his death. The letters show in detail not only the accumulation of facts and theories on such matters as coral islands, the catastrophic theory of geology which Lyell and he succeeded in finally subverting, hybridisation of orchids and other plants, barnacles, volcanic action and continental extension, and numberless smaller aspects of Nature in which they were jointly interested; BUT IT ALSO SHOWS MORE FULLY THAN WOULD OTHERWISE BE POSSIBLE THE GRADUAL GROWTH OF HIS THEORY OF NATURAL SELECTION, which induced Darwin to publish—at Lyell's suggestion—the "Origin of Natural Species," the work which has done more to promote the progress of science than any other book in the last 150 years.

From the beginning of the correspondence there are hints as to his views on natural selection: in May, 1856, in answer to Lyell's suggestions:

I hardly know what to think: to give a fair sketch would be absolutely impossible, for every proposition requires such an array of facts; if I were to do anything it could only refer to the main agency of change, Selection. He mentions his pigeon-breeding experiments and his hybridisation, "so that I have entered on my subject in earnest."

Later: "I am working steadily at my big book; I have found it quite impossible to publish any preliminary essay or sketch." Then Wallace sent him an essay of his own on the same subject which nearly prevented him from publishing the book. "I never saw a more striking coincidence: if Wallace had my MS. sketch written out in 1842 he could not have made a better short abstract! Even his terms stand as heads of my chapters ... So all my originality, whatever it may amount to, will be smashed. Though my book, if it will ever have any value, will not be deteriorated, as all the labour consists in the application of the theory." He mentions that he had already sent sketches of his view to Hooker & Gray. And writes to ask if he should after all publish his book. Lyell persuaded him to persevere: Darwin then had an idea of publishing his abstract—and sends Lyell a proposed title-page, which is in this album.

He then becomes more confident of his views and writes: "In future I cannot doubt about their admittance, and our posterity will marvel as much about the current belief as we do about shells having been thought to be created as we now see them." Lyell magnificently fell in with Darwin's views: "I honour you most sincerely—to have maintained in the position of master, one side of a question for 30 years and then deliberately give it up is a fact to which I much doubt whether the records of science offer a parallel." There are numerous letters on various questions of publication. Then comes his success: "Murray sold whole edition the first day to the trade. He wants new edition INSTANTLY, and this utterly confounds me." "I never even built a castle-in-the-air of such success as it has met with."

AFTER THIS THERE FOLLOWS A SERIES OF LETTERS THE VALUE OF WHICH IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO OVERESTIMATE, NAMELY THE RECORD OF THE CRITICISMS OF HIS THEORY FROM THE GREAT SCIENTISTS OF THE TIME AND HIS DETAILED ANSWERS TO THEIR THEORIES AS SET OUT TO LYTELL, a running fire of criticism and answer that occupied at least the next ten years of his life.

Numerous people wished to translate his work, and he mentions particularly the French, German, and Dutch translations. "Among others, Kingsley sent in a note to me, had capital paragraphs on such notions as mine being not opposed to a high conception of the Deity."

The storm of criticism from every quarter can only be adequately realised from reading this amazing series of letters, probably the most complete and most valuable scientific correspondence in existence.

The last two or three years of the correspondence are occupied with his researches on Drosera, and the expansion of theories put forward in his early work: "A nice mess I made of Glen Roy" he says; but on re-reading his book on Coral Atolls: "I am astonished at my own accuracy; if I were to rewrite now my coral book, there is hardly a sentence I should have to alter." Apart from the scientific, there are other interests in his letters: he tells Lyell of his meetings with various celebrities of the day; he dines with Warterton, "was an amusing strange fellow—party consisted of two catholic priests and two Mulatresses."

A SERIES OF LETTERS OF UNPARALLELED INTEREST; deriving an added value for students from their legibility and the ease with which they can be handled in the album.

In the same Album are other Correspondences addressed to Sir Charles Lyell:—Eleven Letters from Edward Forbes; two from Hugh Miller; four from Alexander von Humboldt (in French); nineteen from Sir John Herschel; eighteen from Dr. Fleming; twenty-nine from Professor Owen, and twenty-one from Professor Huxley; averaging 4 pp. in length, of extraordinary scientific interest, chiefly concerned with geological questions, containing a mass of scientific data.

A FINE SERIES OF LETTERS FROM ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON TO CHARLES BAXTER.

- A. L. s. (initials) 1 p. oblong 8vo, Chez Morel, Monastier, Haute Loire,
Sept. 6, '78 :

I am alone in a hill village, with the Ponts & Chaussées person, a first commis, de la régie, a receveur d'enregistrements, and a percepteur d'impôt. Gloomy rather, full of quarrels, bitter, voluble, quarrelsome, cowardly; not a pleasant lot; but the engineer is very decent.

with envelope

- A. L. s. 1 p. oblong 8vo, Chez Morel, Sept. 8th, '78 :

I find it damned hard to keep up a good countenance in this world now-a-days, harder than anyone knows; and I hope you may never have cause to feel one half as sad as I feel.

with envelope

- A. L. s. 1 p. oblong 8vo, Chez Morel, Sept. 13th, '78, congratulating Baxter on the birth of his son :

Damn it, man. I envy you; it makes me think bitterly of my own little ones. After receipt of this, please address Poste Restante, Alais, Garde; for as soon as I get any money from you, I shall start upon my tour [i.e. Travels with a Donkey], which is to end at Alais.

- A. L. s. 1 p. oblong 8vo, Chez Morel, Sept. 14th, '78, a very fine letter referring to "Travels with a Donkey" :

its cunning. I am busy all day long, writing, sketching, shooting with a revolver, dining with the Ponts et Chaussées people. For the first time for near a year, I feel something like peace; it is like gold, yea much fine ditto; it is like the pomade on Aaron's whiskers.

A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo (Chez Henley), n. d. :

An appeal for more money: "I am still in France, please. Please remember that."

A. L. s. 2 pp. folio, Honolulu, March, 1889, a fine long letter, referring firstly to the settling of his affairs at home after his father's death, and then to his literary work on the South Sea Island tour:

I have found one climate in which I can enjoy life. Even Honolulu is too cold for me; But the south isles were a heaven upon earth to a poor catarrhal party like John's one. We think, as Tahiti is too complete a banishment, to try Madeira. It's only a week from England, good communications; and I suspect in climate and scenery not unlike my own dear islands: in people, alas, there can be no comparison. But friends can go; and I could come in summer; so I should not be quite cut off. Lloyd and I have finished a story, The Wrong Box. If it is not funny, I am sure I don't know what is. I have split writing it. Since I have been here, I have been toiling like a galley slave: three numbers of The Master [of Ballantrae] to rewrite; five chapters of the Wrong Box to write and rewrite; and about five hundred lines of a romantic poem to write, rewrite and rerewrite. Now I have the Master waiting me for its continuation. 2 numbers more; when that's done I shall breathe, this spasm of activity has been chequered with champagne parties.

750 STEVENSON (R. L.) SUPERB AUTOGRAPH MANUSCRIPT

"RECORDS OF A FAMILY OF ENGINEERS," THE COMPLETE MANUSCRIPT FROM WHICH THE BOOK WAS PRINTED, TOGETHER WITH THREE CHAPTERS WHICH HAVE APPARENTLY NEVER BEEN PUBLISHED, AND VERY EXTENSIVE EARLY DRAFTS AND NOTES FOR THE BOOK, CONTAINING MUCH MATTER THAT WAS NEVER PRINTED, 214 pp. written on 208 SHEETS, enclosed in three folders in a folio size cloth case, with full typewritten transcripts of all the drafts, fragments, etc., mostly printed in parallel, for purposes of comparison

Being the record of his own family, the Engineers and Lighthouse-Builders, of which he says in a letter

"After all I am writing this for my own pleasure solely."

The writing of this book was a labour of love, and he spent a great deal of time and careful research in the making of it; as is so well shown by the numbers of different drafts which accompany the completed manuscript. He often mentions it in his letters: "Well, I have left fiction wholly, and gone to my grandfather, and on the whole found peace ... I like biography far better than fiction myself. In biography you have your little handful of facts, little bits of a puzzle, and you sit and think, and fit them together this way and that ... And it's real soothing, and when done gives an idea of finish to the writer that is very peaceful ... There are pages in these books that may seem nothing to the reader; but you remember what they were, you know what they might have been."

Folder 1 contains the Manuscript used in printing the book, consisting of the Introduction and three Chapters (60 pp.), there are half-page deletions and marginal extracts that do not appear in the book; the printers' names are written over in pencil.

Folder 2 contains the complete Manuscript of a proposed Chapter IV, "The Head of the Family, with two earlier Drafts, 8 pp., 2 pp. and 3 pp.; the complete Manuscript of a proposed Chapter V, "Education of an Engineer," 25 pp.; the complete Manuscript of a proposed Chapter VI, "The Grandfather," 13 pp. (these pages bear traces of having been in the printers' hands, but if so it must have been for Stevenson's own use); Notes for the Introduction; outlines of Chapters and chapter-headings, and of a genealogical tree, 10 pp. (nine folio, one 8vo).

Folder 3 contains an early Draft of the Introduction, 3 pp.; an early Draft of Chapter I, 22 pp., with a second Draft written on versos of the last eight sheets; a third Draft of Chapter I, 7 pp.; a fragmentary Draft, 1 p.; early Draft of Chapter II, sections 1 and 2, 16 pp.; six Drafts of the same, 12 pp., with a sheet of memoranda; complete Draft of Section 3 and an ending to Section 2, 4 pp., with eight others, 15 pp.; two early Drafts of

Chapter III (beginning), 2 pp., and the remainder of the Chapter, 2 pp.

All the Manuscript is autograph, and all has numerous deletions, corrections and marginal memoranda.

Also "An Account of the Bell Rock Lighthouse" by Robert Stevenson, presentation copy to Lord Pitmilley, from the Commissioners of the Northern Lighthouses, for whom the book was written. From this book R. L. Stevenson took the account of the building of the Lighthouse, which is printed in the "Records."

CONDITIONS OF SALE.

- I. The highest bidder to be the buyer; and if any dispute arise between bidders, the lot so disputed shall be immediately put up again, provided the auctioneer cannot decide the said dispute.
- II. No person to advance less than 1s.; above five pounds 2s. 6d.; and so on in proportion.
- III. All lots are sold subject to the right of the seller or his agent to bid, or else to impose a reserve.
- IV. The purchasers to give in their names and places of abode, and to pay down 10s. in the pound, if required, in part payment of the purchase-money, in default of which the lot or lots purchased will be immediately put up again and re-sold.
- V. The lots to be taken away, at the buyer's expense, immediately after the conclusion of the sale; in default of which Messrs. SOTHEY & Co. will not hold themselves responsible if lost, stolen, damaged, or otherwise destroyed, but they will be left at the sole risk of the purchaser. If, at the expiration of ONE WEEK after the conclusion of the sale, the books or other property are not cleared or paid for, they will then be catalogued for immediate sale, and the expenses, the same as if re-sold, will be added to the amount at which the books were bought. Messrs. SOTHEY & Co. will have the option of re-selling the lots uncleared, either by public or private sale, without any notice being given to the defaulter.
- VI. All the books are presumed to be perfect, unless otherwise expressed; but if, upon collating, any should prove defective, the purchaser will be at liberty to take or reject them, provided they are received back within FOURTEEN DAYS after the conclusion of the sale, when the purchase-money will be returned.
- VII. The sale of any book or books is not to be set aside on account of any worm-holes, stained or short leaves of text or plates, want of list of plates or blank leaves, or on account of the publication of any subsequent volume, supplement, appendix, or plates. All the manuscripts, autographs, all magazines and reviews, all books in lots, and all tracts in lots or volumes, will be sold with all faults, imperfections and errors of description. The sale of any illustrated book, lot of prints or drawings, is not to be set aside on account of any error in the enumeration of the numbers stated, or error of description.
- VIII. No Imperfect Book will be taken back, unless a note accompanies each book, stating its imperfections, with the number of lot and date of the sale at which the same was purchased.
- IX. To prevent inaccuracy in the delivery, and inconvenience in the settlement of the purchases, no lot can on any account be removed during the time of sale.
- X. Upon failure of complying with the above conditions, the money required and deposited in part of payment shall be forfeited; and if any loss is sustained in the re-selling of such lots as are not cleared or paid for, all charges on such re-sale shall be made good by the defaulters at this sale.

Messrs. SOTHEY & CO. are prepared to execute bids, and in addition to advise intending purchasers as far as possible, if requested by them to do so, without making any charge for either service. Lots will be procured as cheaply as is permitted by other bids or reserves, if any.

of which the others are the general title and a blank. A 1 is the title (beginning Exemplar Libelli supplicis) to the second tract which opens on B 1, and is intended to be folded back beyond the unsigned leaves. Referring to the latter as *, the following would therefore be the correct collation: * 4 (blank), * 1 (general title), A 2-4 (Prolegomena), * 2 and 3 (Relatio super detectione), A 1 (title to the Relatio Memorialis of de Quiros), B-F 2 in fours, F 2 blank. The Huth copy wanted both blanks and the Mostyn copy, which had the blank [] 4 inserted between [] 3 and B 1, wanted A 1 and F 2. In this copy A 1 has not been folded into its place but remains before A 2 and is still attached to A 4.

folio. Tiguri (Zurich) Impensis Andreae Cambieri, Anno Domini, 1606

 A remarkable volume, showing that this, the first English history, was carefully read and digested by the well-known classical scholar Isaac Casaubon, who though he lived chiefly at Geneva and Paris was invited to England in 1610, and lived there till his death in 1614, when he was buried in Westminster Abbey.

What Casaubon has done is to take the unwieldy volume of nearly 1000 pages, and underline all that interested him, supplying the subject in the margin and occasionally adding a note, as on pp. 125, 339 (about the Wandering Jew). On the title-page and the page preceding he has crowded about a hundred references and their subjects in a kind of conspectus for rapid use—many of which recur as extracts in his manuscript Adversaria, which still exist. The signature in the lower right margin of the title-page appears to be entirely genuine; though in his letters Casaubon never allowed himself to use, as here, the contraction for us in his Christian name Isaacus. He certainly possessed this Zurich edition, for he quotes the page-numbers in his Adversaria, and Paris is made use of in his De Libertate Ecclesiastica and in his anti-Baronian treatises. The book well shows his methods of reading and annotating large works in an unfamiliar field, and of supplying the place of the index he needed: for no scholar at that time, willingly relied on a printed index.

Two other owners have written in the volume, one writing in English in a thick hand (see pp. 11, 224), the other of no importance.

 This copy was no doubt specially printed for presentation to the Emperor. On the title-page are the Imperial arms finely coloured by a contemporary hand, cp. Brunet: "Belle édition en gros caractères. Un exemplaire sur velin, avec armoriés coloriés sur le frontispiece."

On the last leaf at the end of the text is the autograph authentication of the Governor Rudolf, Count of Fultz—"Rudolff Graffen Fultz ich Stathalter," and beneath this the signature of Jacob Franckfurter.

in gold and colours, early 18th Century calf, arms of the Latton family stamped in gold on sides

(162 mm. by 96 mm.). ENGLISH, XIII CENT.

-  An interesting English manuscript, which may have belonged to Nicholas Wadham (1532-1609), founder of Wadham College, Oxford. A pedigree written in the 18th Century on the fly-leaves traces the descent of the Latton family, whose arms are on the sides of the book, from Nicholas Wadham's father to William Baynton of Chadlington and of Gray's Inn, "present owner of this MS."

The entries of many of the saints' names in the Calendar and Litany attest the English provenance of the book. The most noteworthy is that of S. Neot (July 31) in red, whose name also occurs in the Litany. The Passion of S. William of Norwich (March 25) is another unusual festival. The English saints invoked in the Litany are: Alban, Oswald, Edmund, Aelphege, William, Martyrs; Dunstan, Cuthbert, Edmund, Neoth, Confessors; Ethelreda, Mildred, Osida (Osyth), Virgins.

- 178 HORAE B. V. M. CUM CALENDARIO, MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM, WRITTEN BY AN ENGLISH SCRIBE in very clear bold gothic characters, 17 lines to a page, 150 leaves (the first leaf of the calendar and a few other leaves missing), the calendar in red and black, ten pages decorated with a large initial in gold and colours, containing grotesques or foliate decoration, all (except one) with full borders of bar design introducing grotesque heads and leafy ornamental work, (all the initials and borders painted in a good style: some of the borders slightly shaved), numerous other illuminated initials with marginal decoration, in an 18th Century calf binding, elaborately gilt, book-plate of John Skottowe, Esq. (180 mm. by 120 mm.). ENGLISH, XIV CENT.

-  This interesting book of Hours of Sarum use was probably executed in the diocese of Norwich as in the Calendar, under date September 24, is the entry in red "Dedicacio ecclesie norwyc." Noteworthy entries of saints' names in red in the Calendar are SS. Adelm, Edith, Wulfran, David, Cuthbert, Dunstan, Oswald, and the translations of SS. Edmund the Martyr (Apr. 29), Swithin (July 15), Cuthbert (Sept. 4), Edmund the Archbp. (June 9). In black are S. Thomas de Cantelupe, Bp. of Hereford (his name very seldom occurs in MSS.) and S. Botolph. Invoked in the Litany are: Alban, Oswald, Lambert, Edmund, and Edward, Martyrs; Dunstan, Wilfrid, Edmund, and Edward, Confessors; and Ethelreda and Radegundis, Virgins. There are indulgences in English written in red; and at the beginning are three leaves with prayers in French written in the fifteenth Century in a different hand from the rest of the volume.

- 179 HORAE B. V. M. AD USUM SARUM CUM CALENDARIO, MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM, written by an ENGLISH SCRIBE in red and black in a very clear and regular gothic hand, 25 lines to a page, 112 leaves, SIXTEEN FINE FULL-PAGE MINIATURES (for subjects see below), all within line rectangular frames and borders of feather-work spirals, ivy-leaves and flowers, FOURTEEN LARGE INITIALS (several of diaper pattern) very finely painted in colours (chiefly blue, brown and red), on grounds of burnished gold, all with full borders of feathery scrolls, with foliate decoration of burnished gold, numerous other initials in gold and colours, red velvet binding, g. e. in morocco slip case

(217 mm. by 150 mm.) ENGLISH, EARLY XV CENT.

 The sixteen miniatures are painted in a very remarkable style with a free use of body colour. The subjects represented are: (1) The Garden of Gethsemane. (2) The Betrayal. (3) The Coronation of the Virgin. (4) The Flagellation. (5) Christ carrying the cross. (6) The Crucifixion. (7) An Angel supporting the dead Christ risen from the tomb. (8) The Burial of Christ. (9) The Death of the Virgin. (10) The Resurrection of the Dead. (11) Vigils of the Dead. (12) Two Angels carrying souls to heaven in a napkin. (13) S. Jerome. (14) S. John the Baptist. (15) S. Christopher. (16) S. Anna.

Following the Hours of the Virgin are six pages of rhymed Latin verses preceded by a rubric indulgence and beginning: "Salve virgo virginum, stella matutina." Then follow various prayers preceded by rubric indulgences granted by Pope Clement, Pope Boniface "ad supplicacionem Philippi Regis francorum," etc., the Seven Penitential Psalms, Litany, Office for the Dead, Commendaciones animarum, Psalter of S. Jerome and Prayers.

This manuscript may have been executed for use in the diocese of Lincoln, as special importance is given to SS. Edward, Hugh, Alban, Edmund, and others in the calender. The name, Thomas Pentham, occurs as a birth entry on October 24th, with the date 1477. From a later entry of ownership, it came into the possession of the old Yorkshire families of Bellasses and Pullen.

(190 mm. by 130 mm.). ENGLISH, XV CENT.

 This manuscript belonged to Thomas Wakefeld (1500-1575), first regius professor of Hebrew at Cambridge. He was born at Pontefract in Yorkshire and was educated at Cambridge. On two vellum fly-leaves are long manuscript notes (either wholly or partly in his hand) recording his two marriages, his children, etc. A typed copy of these notes is inserted. In the Calendar are the following entries:—

16 January. "Hodie nata fuit Alysia Wakefelde filia Thomae Wakefelde Chestertoni."

19 August. "Hodie in nocte intra horas nonam et decimam felicissime in Domino moritur Anna Wakefelde uxor Thomae Wakefelde, mulier castissima et pudicissima. Sepeliturque in aede sacra Chestertoni."

13 November. "Iste die natus erat Thomas Wakefeldus apud Dalehamum, filius Thomae Wakefeldi Chestertoniensis."

- 181 HORAE B. V. M. [? AD USUM SARUM], MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM, very well written by an ENGLISH SCRIBE, 16 lines to a page, 127 leaves (no Calendar), the first page decorated with a large HISTORIATED INITIAL containing a miniature of the Annunciation with a full bar border with foliate decoration in gold and colours, NINE OTHER VERY FINE INITIALS in colours on burnished gold grounds (seven with three-quarter and two with full finely painted borders), numerous other initials in gold and colours, with marginal decoration of flowers and leafy sprays, crushed dark brown morocco, g. e. inside gilt borders (200 mm. by 138 mm.). - 182 [PRIMER AND SARUM PSALTER]. PRIMER IN LATIN AND ENGLISH, MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM, well written by an English scribe in a regular gothic hand, 27 lines to a page, 107 leaves, Calendar in red and black, the first leaf of the Hours wanting but has two preliminary leaves of Benedictions. THE FOLLOWING PORTIONS OF THE TEXT ARE IN ENGLISH: The prayers accompanying preparation for the Sacrament, the form of confession, the seven deadly sins, the commandments, supplications touching the five senses, the seven works of mercy, the virtues, the Unity of Christ, the cardinal virtues, the Sacraments, the Beatitudes, etc. FOUR PAGES DECORATED WITH LARGE AND FINELY PAINTED INITIALS WITH FULL BORDERS IN COLOURS AND BURNISHED GOLD. The Litany includes the names of Edmund, Edward, George, Swithin, Birin, Erkenwald, Dunstan, Cuthbert, Edith, Sytha, Winifred, and Fredeswid. In the Calendar S. David (1 March), 574/1-1

S. Chad (2 March), S. Winifred (3 Nov.), and S. John of Beverley (7 May), have been added in a slightly later hand. A note recording the execution of Empson and Dudley in 1510 appears in the Calendar, numerous initials in gold and colours with marginal decoration, WRITTEN c. 1470—PSALTERIUM AD USUM SARUM, MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM BEAUTIFULLY WRITTEN BY AN ENGLISH SCRIBE IN A VERY CLEAR AND BOLD gothic hand, 21 lines to a page, 203 leaves (wants the first leaf), THREE BEAUTIFULLY DESIGNED LARGE INITIALS in colours on a ground of burnished gold, all with very fine three-quarter borders of bar and spray pattern with foliate decoration, line-endings in blue and burnished gold, square musical notation on a 4-line stave in red. The text of the Psalter is followed by the Canticles, the Litany and the Office for the Dead. Numerous smaller initials in gold and colours with marginal decoration, other initials in pen-work (some of them with human heads in profile). A miniature at the beginning of the "Commendaciones animarum" of two angels carrying a soul to heaven in a napkin. WRITTEN c. 1450; bound in 1 vol. in contemporary doeskin over stout wooden boards with book-plate of Thos. Phillips of Ickford in the County of Bucks. Gent.

- 183 PSALTERIUM LATINUM CUM CANTICIS, CREDO, LITANIA SANCTORUM [? FOR USE OF EXETER], MANUSCRIPT ON STOUT VELLUM, WRITTEN BY AN ENGLISH SCRIBE in bold gothic characters, long lines, 18 to a page, 172 leaves, six finely designed initials in burnished gold on coloured grounds (the first of these—an initial D—is a very fine initial in good condition: the others are somewhat rubbed or damaged), numerous small initials in red, blue and green, many of the paragraph marks in red or blue are carried into the margin and end in a conventional foliate ornament, in the margin of two or three leaves are curious outline figures drawn in pen-and-ink, wants the first leaf, the next leaf defective, and a piece cut from two other leaves, old calf binding, from the Dunn collection (Lot 1522)

(182 mm. by 125 mm.). ENGLISH, XIII CENT.

 From the mention of SS. Petroce and Sativola in the Litany, this Psalter is attributed to Exeter use.

- 184 PSALTERIUM LATINUM ET CANTICA CUM CALENDARIO, MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM clearly written in bold gothic characters, 19 lines to a page, 141 leaves, the Calendar written in a smaller hand in red and black, six large initials in burnished gold on grounds of red and blue with decoration in white, the opening initial B with a three-quarter border of bar and feather-work design,

the others with marginal decoration of feather-work, other initials in blue with marginal decoration in red, the additional prayers following the Litany end imperfectly, half leather, from the Fountain collection, with crest on back

(240 mm. by 155 mm.). ENGLISH, EARLY XV CENT.

 This Psalter is probably of Southern English origin. The Calendar is of the regular Sarum type. Several interesting obits and entries have been written in the Calendar between 1497 and 1507; in June "die Sci Botulphi A^o dni 1497" is recorded the Battle of Blackheath, and among the numerous obits may be mentioned that of Robert Ballard (probably the Treasurer of S. Paul's Cathedral), Oct. 1498, and George Crosby, 1507. The same hand has also added several entries in the Calendar, among which are S. John of Beverley, S. Botolph, and the translation of S. Edward the King and Martyr (June 20). The English saints invoked in the Litany are SS. Swithin, Birin, and Edith.

-  Luis Cabrera of Cordova, the author, was also a distinguished soldier. He appears to have written two works only—the present and Tratado de Historia, 1611. The present work is rich in detail and is evidently very rare, for Brunet quotes the title in his “Table Methodique” only.
- The book is of American interest. There is a chapter (8) entitled: “Enbia el Rey armada para echar unos Franceses per pobla ban en la Florida; i otra a poblar las Filipinas, pag. 418.” Chapter 23 refers to Francis Drake: “La navegacion i robos que hizo Frãcisco Draque en las Indias, pag. 1071.” There is also a chapter upon Mexico.

- 619 PLAYING CARDS, London, c. 1730. A complete Pack of 52, with Songs set to Music, and with Flute accompaniments, the values of the cards in reserved spaces at the top left corners. On the Knave of Diamonds the song "Jack Shepherd" affords a clue to the date, as the second verse mentions "Shepherd, Faux, Faustus, Wild & Tom Thumb." Jack Shepherd was hanged in 1724 and Jonathan Wilde in 1725. Tom Thumb refers to Fielding's "Tragedy of Tragedies," produced at the Haymarket in 1730. On the Ace of Spades the red Duty mark "VI pence."

 Mr. Barclay Squire of the British Museum suggested that the music might be the early work of Dr. T. A. Arne, but as in 1730 he was only twenty and had not commenced to publish, this seems doubtful.

- 645 MARAT (Jean Paul) AUTO. MANUSCRIPT of his Romance: "Les Aventures du jeune Comte Potowski," 442 pp. 4to, blue morocco by Niedrée

 This appears to be the most extensive manuscript known entirely in the handwriting of Marat, and the only Romance of his ever published. It is in the form of a correspondence, a favourite mode of French novel-writing at the period. Published by Paul Lacroix in 1848. Monsieur Chevrement describes it fully in his book on Marat. Formerly in the library of M. Aimé Martin, the friend and disciple of Saint Pierre (author of "Paul et Virginie"), whose widow he married.

Inserted at the beginning of the Manuscript is an A. L. s. "Marat, l'ami du peuple," to Captain Regnier, Paris, 13th October, 1790

3. Oct. 1780.

"I received the letter with which you honoured me, very late, Monsieur, but I was very pleased to have news of you. As you were not in the list of the Dead and Wounded in the Affair of General Gates, I have every reason to hope that you were not among the number. I shall be very happy to have your confirmation of this, as well as news of all my acquaintances in the Army of the South. I beg you to present a million compliments to them from me, especially to Colonel Arnaud and General Smallwood. Tell him that there is no news here, except the Treason of Arnold, who has fled to New York, and the Judgment of the Adjutant General of the English Army (John André) arrested while acting as a spy. If you are within reach of General Gates, I beg you to mention me to him. I shall always be very glad, Monsieur, to have occasion to assure you of the sincere attachment with which I have the honour to remain your very humble and obedient Servant.

Lafayette."

 This important letter, which appears to be unpublished, was written the day after the execution of André. Lafayette had signed the Judgment of the Court, which condemned him to death. The "Affair of General Gates" was the Battle of Camden (August 16th, 1780), where Gates was completely defeated and the American Army shattered.

- 659 AMERICAN CIVIL WAR. MOTLEY (J. L.) A REMARKABLE A. L. S. 28 pp. 8vo, Vienna, Sept. 28, 1862, to John Stuart Mill :

... Our Civil War will go on to its preordained termination, whenever and whatever that may be—and the sufferings of the manufacturing population, deeply as they are to be deplored, are only England's portion of the penalty which she incurred by building up a vast industry upon a great crime—a crime which she imagined that she had cleansed her hand of. The penalty which the American Nation is paying for its forty years complicity in slavery and submission to the slaveholder's oligarchy is a far more terrible one—there is hardly a family in the country which is not shedding some of its blood in this great war, born of slavery alone ... Probably no country in the world ever sent a million volunteers to a war within a year. I fancy the phenomenon is unique in history—I wish I could speak as confidently of the military and political sagacity by which the immense resources of men and money placed in Government's hands had been wielded, as I can of the courage and devotion of the people ... As to our attitude towards England, I am sure that it will be as pacific as possible. Nothing could be more stupid than the idea sometimes expressed that there is a party in America desirous of war with England as an extrication from an internal dilemma. But I don't see how it is possible for the hearts of the Americans not to be alienated, for at least this generation, from England ... But the hatred of England towards us (as represented by her governing and commercial classes) has been manifested too ostentatiously and indecently by speech and act to allow of a doubt as to her sentiments, etc.

 A LETTER OF THE GREATEST POSSIBLE INTEREST.

- 360 [CANADA]. BULLER (Charles) Secretary to Lord Durham, Governor General of Canada, 1838, AN A. L. S. OF GREAT INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE, Quebec, Saturday, Octr. 13th, 1838, 24 pp. 4to, addressed to John Stuart Mill "Most Private," dealing with Lord Durham's Proclamation of Octr. 9, 1838, in which he in-judiciously appealed from the Government to the Canadians, and his public and private reasons for resigning his governorship. The letter contains a number of references to the Canadians :

... My sympathies for the Canadians are not a bit diminished. Justice to them—the great majority, is still my first principle. But believe this they can do nothing for themselves : they have no habits of self-reliance ; their friends must serve them without leaning on them, woe to the man who trusts to their energy or prudence in their own cause. Hence every man who governs here the moment he ceases to rely solely on himself, is either bullied by the British, who have great energy and tact, or throw himself on them. Lord Durham would have done the last. With his character it was inevitable. Rather than he should do so it was better he should resign : and if he failed, fail without fault of his own ... He resigns his Governorship. He says that the mode in which he has been assailed by enemies, and betrayed by the Government shew that he is not the man to carry this Colony by the cordial aid of the Mother Country through a difficult state of things. Colborne will repress the insurrection if there is to be one ...

Capt. Saint

I feel much regret at having been prevented, thro' the unfortunate intervention of the whooping cough, from inoculating the Cowpox on your little ones. On Monday I leave Town, but when the children are recovered (and I sincerely hope it may be soon) you may safely entrust them to the care of Mr. Knight, Surgeon, in Clifford's Street, No. 4, a gentleman who has inoculated great numbers and whom I can safely recommend. Will pay his respects after the Cheltenham season.

... As you were the member who seconded the motion upon the business of vaccination, I beg leave to recommend it to your further notice as being the most beneficial discovery ever made known to the human race. Having vaccinated with my own hands near six than five thousand subjects and promoted the vaccination through the instrumentality of others at least of twice as many more, I cannot be otherwise than perfectly well acquainted of its most beneficial effects and am thoroughly satisfied that if you can make it a parliamentary concern so as to prevent a set of designing Doctors and Apothecarys from poisoning the country with a contagious pestilential disease wherever they can get people to be weak enough to listen to their horrid advice, you will be made the happy instrument of saving more human lives than ever you can do by your indefatigable zeal against the Slave Trade—that horrible traffic in human blood.

I work at the articles of the Cyclopædia already written, but wch. have been transcribed by others, & some so ill that the correction takes more time, and a great deal more patience to make it fit for the compositor than if I had been my own amanuensis—if you read this to F. The Property of a Gentleman.

- 726 BYRON (Lord) An Album. containing upwards of Forty Letters in all, including letters from BYRON, letters relating to Byron, many addressed to HOBHOUSE, letters from DICKENS, THACKERAY, etc., A FINE COLLECTION

BYRON (Lord) A. L. s. (initials), 1½ pp. 4to, March 26, 1815, to Hobhouse, with regard to his travels abroad:

I am full of wonder and regret at your migatory project, which I yet hope may be interrupted—wishing you nevertheless all possible success and divertiment if you will go... Buonaparte!!!—I marvel what next ... I have written to nobody and am as lazy and stupefied as can be.

BYRON. Invitation to Lady Heathcote's Ball, July 5th, 1813. Written on it in Byron's hand:—

This card I kept as a curiosity—since it was at the ball that Ld. Caroline and I performed ye dagger scene—of indifferent memory.

THOS. MOORE. A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo, 1828, Newstead Abbey, to Hobhouse, about Byron's early life:

Mentioning an early will in favour of Hobhouse, and mentioning Byron's old family servants and "those joyous days when these walls were inhabited by as brilliant a knot of young fellows as ever began life together."

HORTENSE (Princess) A. L. s. ½ p. 4to:

Je suis enchantée des ouvrages de Lord Byron, que je lis dans ce moment.

Numerous Letters addressed to Byron by statesmen, etc. of the day, including two from PALMERSTON; a Letter of introduction of Byron to Vaseley at Foreign Office, signed CASTLEREAGH; and two amusing gossiping Letters to Byron from Scrope Davies

HOBHOUSE (B.) to Hobhouse (J.), March 10, 1815, Auto. Note:

Lord Cochrane has escaped from prison—Bonaparte has escaped from Elba—I write from the House of Commons, and the intelligence seems to rest on good authority and is believed.

P.S. Both are certainly true.

DICKENS (Charles) A. L. s. 1 p. 4to, 8 Jan. 1861, Office of "All the Year Round," asking permission to publish a note in the Times

THACKERAY (Wm.) Auto. Note s. January 10, 1852:

In reply to your obliging note I have little hesitation in saying that virtue is the principal happiness below, though certainly not the only one. For example there is claret, smoking in moderation and cheerful conversation such as we have had at Erlestoke: all of which are not virtues but nevertheless pleasing.

- 727 BYRON (Lord) A. L. s. 4 pp. 4to, Aug. 4th, 1805, Burgage Manor, Southwell, to his friend, Charles Gordon, a very fine early letter describing the Eton and Harrow match, in which he played, and the ensuing "Rag":

We have played the Eton (sic) & were most confoundedly beat, however it was some comfort to me that I got 11 notches the 1st innings & 7 the 2nd. which was more than any of our side, except Brockman and Ipswich could contrive to hit. Later ... To be sure we were most of us rather drunk, and went together to the Haymarket Theatre where we kicked up a row, as you may suppose when so many Harrovians and Etonians met at one place. I was one of seven in a single Hackney Coach, 4 Eton and 3 Harrow fellows, we all got into the same box, the consequence was that such a devil of a noise arose that none of our neighbours could hear a word of the drama, at which not being highly delighted, they began to quarrel with us and we nearly came to a battle royal, etc.

One small corner of the letter is missing, affecting about 20 words, there is also one small hole which has removed two words, the whole letter with a typed transcript, and with full notes, etc., is enclosed in an album, bound in gilt tooled green morocco

- 728 COWPER (William) A. L. s. 3 pp. 4to, Dec. 17, 1780, to Mrs. Newton. A characteristically witty letter, believed to be unpublished, containing eight stanzas of poetry, beginning "Between nose and eyes, a strange contest arose," which the author also communicated to Mr. Hill and Mr. Unwin. The letter thanks Mrs. Newton for a gift of skait and shrimps as being peculiarly light and digestible fare:

Man considered as a machine is constructed upon principles the very reverse of those by which a clock is actuated; the latter is indebted to the Weight below for all the constancy and regularity of its movement; whereas the Head of a Poet, instead of being benefited by such an appendage, is sadly hindered in its operations; all his wits, as naturalists observe, being called down into the lower regions, and employed there in the Drudgery of Digestion.

DARWIN (CHARLES) ONE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-SEVEN A. L. s., 1837-1874, TO SIR CHARLES LYEELL; very few are under 4 pp. in length, and many run to 8 or more pp. (a few of the latest letters are partially dictated)

* * UNQUESTIONABLY THE FINEST SERIES OF DARWIN LETTERS IN EXISTENCE; it is in reality the record of the growth of Darwin's theories communicated in great detail to the man whom Darwin regarded as his master, and of whom he says in these letters "I have long wished, to acknowledge more plainly than by mere references, how much I geologically owe to you," and who was his great scientific friend until his death. The letters show in detail not only the accumulation of facts and theories on such matters as coral islands, the catastrophic theory of geology which Lyell and he succeeded in finally subverting, hybridisation of orchids and other plants, barnacles, volcanic action and continental extension, and numberless smaller aspects of Nature in which they were jointly interested; BUT IT ALSO SHOWS MORE FULLY THAN WOULD OTHERWISE BE POSSIBLE THE GRADUAL GROWTH OF HIS THEORY OF NATURAL SELECTION, which induced Darwin to publish—at Lyell's suggestion—the "Origin of Natural Species," the work which has done more to promote the progress of science than any other book in the last 150 years.

From the beginning of the correspondence there are hints as to his views on natural selection: in May, 1856, in answer to Lyell's suggestions:

I hardly know what to think: to give a fair sketch would be absolutely impossible, for every proposition requires such an array of facts; if I were to do anything it could only refer to the main agency of change, Selection. He mentions his pigeon-breeding experiments and his hybridisation, "so that I have entered on my subject in earnest."

Later: "I am working steadily at my big book; I have found it quite impossible to publish any preliminary essay or sketch." Then Wallace sent him an essay of his own on the same subject which nearly prevented him from publishing the book. "I never saw a more striking coincidence: if Wallace had my MS. sketch written out in 1842 he could not have made a better short abstract! Even his terms stand as heads of my chapters ... So all my originality, whatever it may amount to, will be smashed. Though my book, if it will ever have any value, will not be deteriorated, as all the labour consists in the application of the theory." He mentions that he had already sent sketches of his view to Hooker & Gray. And writes to ask if he should after all publish his book. Lyell persuaded him to persevere: Darwin then had an idea of publishing his abstract—and sends Lyell a proposed title-page, which is in this album.

He then becomes more confident of his views and writes: "In future I cannot doubt about their admittance, and our posterity will marvel as much about the current belief as we do about shells having been thought to be created as we now see them." Lyell magnificently fell in with Darwin's views: "I honour you most sincerely—to have maintained in the position of master, one side of a question for 30 years and then deliberately give it up is a fact to which I much doubt whether the records of science offer a parallel." There are numerous letters on various questions of publication. Then comes his success: "Murray sold whole edition the first day to the trade. He wants new edition INSTANTLY, and this utterly confounds me." "I never even built a castle-in-the-air of such success as it has met with."

AFTER THIS THERE FOLLOWS A SERIES OF LETTERS THE VALUE OF WHICH IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO OVERESTIMATE, NAMELY THE RECORD OF THE CRITICISMS OF HIS THEORY FROM THE GREAT SCIENTISTS OF THE TIME AND HIS DETAILED ANSWERS TO THEIR THEORIES AS SET OUT TO LYELL, a running fire of criticism and answer that occupied at least the next ten years of his life.

Numerous people wished to translate his work, and he mentions particularly the French, German, and Dutch translations. "Among others, Kingsley sent in a note to me, had capital paragraphs on such notions as mine being not opposed to a high conception of the Deity."

The storm of criticism from every quarter can only be adequately realised from reading this amazing series of letters, probably the most complete and most valuable scientific correspondence in existence.

The last two or three years of the correspondence are occupied with his researches on Drosera, and the expansion of theories put forward in his early work: "A nice mess I made of Glen Roy" he says; but on re-reading his book on Coral Atolls: "I am astonished at my own accuracy; if I were to rewrite now my coral book, there is hardly a sentence I should have to alter." Apart from the scientific, there are other interests in his letters: he tells Lyell of his meetings with various celebrities of the day; he dines with Warterton, "was an amusing strange fellow—party consisted of two catholic priests and two Mulatresses."

A SERIES OF LETTERS OF UNPARALLELED INTEREST; deriving an added value for students from their legibility and the ease with which they can be handled in the album.

In the same Album are other Correspondences addressed to Sir Charles Lyell:—Eleven Letters from Edward Forbes; two from Hugh Miller; four from Alexander von Humboldt (in French); nineteen from Sir John Herschel; eighteen from Dr. Fleming; twenty-nine from Professor Owen, and twenty-one from Professor Huxley; averaging 4 pp. in length, of extraordinary scientific interest, chiefly concerned with geological questions, containing a mass of scientific data.

LOT 748.

A FINE SERIES OF LETTERS FROM ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON TO CHARLES BAXTER.

A. L. s. (initials) 1 p. oblong 8vo, Chez Morel, Monastier, Haute Loire,
Sept. 6, '78 :

I am alone in a hill village, with the Ponts & Chaussées person, a first commis, de la régie, a receveur d'enregistrements, and a percepteur d'impot.
Gloomy rather, full of quarrels, bitter, voluble, quarrelsome, cowardly;
not a pleasant lot; but the engineer is very decent.

with envelope

A. L. s. 1 p. oblong 8vo, Chez Morel, Sept. 8th, '78 :

I find it damned hard to keep up a good countenance in this world now-a-days, harder than anyone knows; and I hope you may never have cause to feel one half as sad as I feel.

with envelope

A. L. s. 1 p. oblong 8vo, Chez Morel, Sept. 13th, '78, congratulating
Baxter on the birth of his son :

Damn it, man. I envy you; it makes me think bitterly of my own little ones. After receipt of this, please address Poste Restante, Alais, Garde; for as soon as I get any money from you, I shall start upon my tour [i.e. Travels with a Donkey], which is to end at Alais.

A. L. s. 1 p. oblong 8vo, Chez Morel, Sept. 14th, '78, a very fine letter referring to "Travels with a Donkey" :

I shall soon go off on a voyage for which I think I shall buy a donkey, and out of which, if I do not make a book, my own right hand forgets its cunning. I am busy all day long, writing, sketching, shooting with a revolver, dining with the Ponts et Chaussées people. For the first time for near a year, I feel something like peace; it is like gold, yea much fine ditto; it is like the pomade on Aaron's whiskers.

with envelope

A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo (Chez Henley), n. d. :

An appeal for more money: "I am still in France, please. Please remember that."

A. L. s. 2 pp. folio, Honolulu, March, 1889, a fine long letter, referring firstly to the settling of his affairs at home after his father's death, and then to his literary work on the South Sea Island tour:

I have found one climate in which I can enjoy life. Even Honolulu is too cold for me; But the south isles were a heaven upon earth to a poor catarrhal party like John's one. We think, as Tahiti is too complete a banishment, to try Madeira. It's only a week from England, good communications; and I suspect in climate and scenery not unlike my own dear islands: in people, alas, there can be no comparison. But friends can go; and I could come in summer; so I should not be quite cut off. Lloyd and I have finished a story, The Wrong Box. If it is not funny, I am sure I don't know what is. I have split writing it. Since I have been here, I have been toiling like a galley slave: three numbers of The Master [of Ballantrae] to rewrite; five chapters of the Wrong Box to write and rewrite; and about five hundred lines of a romantic poem to write, rewrite and rerevrite. Now I have the Master waiting me for its continuation. 2 numbers more; when that's done I shall breathe, this spasm of activity has been chequered with champagne parties.

750 STEVENSON (R. L.) SUPERB AUTOGRAPH MANUSCRIPT

"RECORDS OF A FAMILY OF ENGINEERS," THE COMPLETE MANUSCRIPT FROM WHICH THE BOOK WAS PRINTED, TOGETHER WITH THREE CHAPTERS WHICH HAVE APPARENTLY NEVER BEEN PUBLISHED, AND VERY EXTENSIVE EARLY DRAFTS AND NOTES FOR THE BOOK, CONTAINING MUCH MATTER THAT WAS NEVER PRINTED, 214 pp. written on 208 SHEETS, enclosed in three folders in a folio size cloth case, with full typewritten transcripts of all the drafts, fragments, etc., mostly printed in parallel, for purposes of comparison

Being the record of his own family, the Engineers and Lighthouse-Builders, of which he says in a letter

"After all I am writing this for my own pleasure solely."

The writing of this book was a labour of love, and he spent a great deal of time and careful research in the making of it; as is so well shown by the numbers of different drafts which accompany the completed manuscript. He often mentions it in his letters: "Well, I have left fiction wholly, and gone to my grandfather, and on the whole found peace ... I like biography far better than fiction myself. In biography you have your little handful of facts, little bits of a puzzle, and you sit and think, and fit them together this way and that ... And it's real soothing, and when done gives an idea of finish to the writer that is very peaceful ... There are pages in these books that may seem nothing to the reader; but you remember what they were, you know what they might have been."

Folder 1 contains the Manuscript used in printing the book, consisting of the Introduction and three Chapters (60 pp.), there are half-page deletions and marginal extracts that do not appear in the book; the printers' names are written over in pencil.

Folder 2 contains the complete Manuscript of a proposed Chapter IV, "The Head of the Family, with two earlier Drafts, 8 pp., 2 pp. and 3 pp.; the complete Manuscript of a proposed Chapter V, "Education of an Engineer," 25 pp.; the complete Manuscript of a proposed Chapter VI, "The Grandfather," 13 pp. (these pages bear traces of having been in the printers' hands, but if so it must have been for Stevenson's own use); Notes for the Introduction; outlines of Chapters and chapter-headings, and of a genealogical tree, 10 pp. (nine folio, one 8vo).

Folder 3 contains an early Draft of the Introduction, 3 pp.; an early Draft of Chapter I, 22 pp., with a second Draft written on versos of the last eight sheets; a third Draft of Chapter I, 7 pp.; a fragmentary Draft, 1 p.; early Draft of Chapter II, sections 1 and 2, 16 pp.; six Drafts of the same, 12 pp., with a sheet of memoranda; complete Draft of Section 3 and an ending to Section 2, 4 pp., with eight others, 15 pp.; two early Drafts of

Chapter III (beginning), 2 pp., and the remainder of the Chapter, 2 pp.

All the Manuscript is autograph, and all has numerous deletions, corrections and marginal memoranda.

Also "An Account of the Bell Rock Lighthouse" by Robert Stevenson, presentation copy to Lord Pitmilley, from the Commissioners of the Northern Lighthouses, for whom the book was written. From this book R. L. Stevenson took the account of the building of the Lighthouse, which is printed in the "Records."

CONDITIONS OF SALE.

- I. The highest bidder to be the buyer; and if any dispute arise between bidders, the lot so disputed shall be immediately put up again, provided the auctioneer cannot decide the said dispute.
- II. No person to advance less than 1s.; above five pounds 2s. 6d.; and so on in proportion.
- III. All lots are sold subject to the right of the seller or his agent to bid, or else to impose a reserve.
- IV. The purchasers to give in their names and places of abode, and to pay down 10s. in the pound, if required, in part payment of the purchase-money, in default of which the lot or lots purchased will be immediately put up again and re-sold.
- V. The lots to be taken away, at the buyer's expense, immediately after the conclusion of the sale; in default of which Messrs. SOTHEY & Co. will not hold themselves responsible if lost, stolen, damaged, or otherwise destroyed, but they will be left at the sole risk of the purchaser. If, at the expiration of ONE WEEK after the conclusion of the sale, the books or other property are not cleared or paid for, they will then be catalogued for immediate sale, and the expenses, the same as if re-sold, will be added to the amount at which the books were bought. Messrs. SOTHEY & Co. will have the option of re-selling the lots uncleared, either by public or private sale, without any notice being given to the defaulter.
- VI. All the books are presumed to be perfect, unless otherwise expressed; but if, upon collating, any should prove defective, the purchaser will be at liberty to take or reject them, provided they are received back within FOURTEEN DAYS after the conclusion of the sale, when the purchase-money will be returned.
- VII. The sale of any book or books is not to be set aside on account of any worm-holes, stained or short leaves of text or plates, want of list of plates or blank leaves, or on account of the publication of any subsequent volume, supplement, appendix, or plates. All the manuscripts, autographs, all magazines and reviews, all books in lots, and all tracts in lots or volumes, will be sold with all faults, imperfections and errors of description. The sale of any illustrated book, lot of prints or drawings, is not to be set aside on account of any error in the enumeration of the numbers stated, or error of description.
- VIII. No Imperfect Book will be taken back, unless a note accompanies each book, stating its imperfections, with the number of lot and date of the sale at which the same was purchased.
- IX. To prevent inaccuracy in the delivery, and inconvenience in the settlement of the purchases, no lot can on any account be removed during the time of sale.
- X. Upon failure of complying with the above conditions, the money required and deposited in part of payment shall be forfeited; and if any loss is sustained in the re-selling of such lots as are not cleared or paid for, all charges on such re-sale shall be made good by the defaulters at this sale.

Messrs. SOTHEY & CO. are prepared to execute bids, and in addition to advise intending purchasers as far as possible, if requested by them to do so, without making any charge for either service. Lots will be procured as cheaply as is permitted by other bids or reserves, if any.

gold line frame, blue silk end-leaves, the edges of the leaves marbled under the gold, by DEROME LE JEUNE, with his first ticket on the fly-leaf

A Paris. Par F. Morel Imprimeur du Roy, 1574

-  An early binding. Derome's first ticket was used between 1760 (when he succeeded his father) and 1773. "A very fine edition renowned for its exactitude and beauty."—De Bure, "Bibliographie Instructive," 1768.

[See ILLUSTRATION.]

- 135 Chapelle et Bachaumont. Œuvres, red morocco, gold fillet on sides, gilt back, g. e. by DEROME LE JEUNE, with his first ticket
La Haie et Paris, 1755

-  This ticket is a variation of that in the preceding lot, showing slight typographical differences.

- 136 Tasso (T.) Jerusalem Delivree, 2 vol. printed on vellum paper after Chasselat by Delvaux, and 20 plates after Lebarbier by Dambrun, Trière, Delvaux, Dupréel, etc. contemporary red morocco, gold border on sides, back tooled in gold au pointillé, g. e. by Chapron (signed)
Paris, 1803

-  A fine copy with all the pure etchings and before letters of the Le Barbier set, protected by the original silk papers with the legends printed thereon.

- 137 Tasso (T.) Aminta favola boschereccia, PRINTED ON VELLUM, publisher's original green parchment binding, enclosed in the original pull-off case, uncut

Parigi, P. Didot il maggiore, 1800

-  This appears to be the only copy known on vellum. It is not recorded by Van Praet or Brunet.

 The drawings are taken from the Le Brun paintings at Versailles; they represent:—

1. Louis XVI protecting the Arts.
2. The King himself governs.
3. Pomp of the neighbouring powers of France.
4. The Rhine.
5. The King takes Maestricht.
6. The King arms on sea and land.
7. Succouring the people during the famine.
8. Fury of duels stopped.
9. Police and safety established in Paris.
10. Embassies from the extremities of the Earth.
11. Junction of the two Seas.
12. The Alliance with the Swiss renewed.
13. Financial order re-established.
14. Navigation restored.
- 15 and 16. Decorations of the angles in La Grande Galerie.
17. Alliance of Germany and Spain with Holland.
18. Figures of Fame spreading the King's Glory.
Together with four engravings (by Borel) of the statuary groups in the park, and parts of the park itself, heightened with Chinese inks by the artist and mounted like the drawings within similar borders.

porary brown calf, blind tooling and gilt lines on sides (re-backed); sold as an association book not subject to return folio. Tiguri (Zurich) Impensis Andreae Cambieri, Anno Domini, 1606

-  A remarkable volume, showing that this, the first English history, was carefully read and digested by the well-known classical scholar Isaac Casaubon, who though he lived chiefly at Geneva and Paris was invited to England in 1610, and lived there till his death in 1614, when he was buried in Westminster Abbey.

What Casaubon has done is to take the unwieldy volume of nearly 1000 pages, and underline all that interested him, supplying the subject in the margin and occasionally adding a note, as on pp. 125, 339 (about the Wandering Jew). On the title-page and the page preceding he has crowded about a hundred references and their subjects in a kind of conspectus for rapid use—many of which recur as extracts in his manuscript Adversaria, which still exist. The signature in the lower right margin of the title-page appears to be entirely genuine, though in his letters Casaubon never allowed himself to use, as here, the contraction for us in his Christian name Isaacus. He certainly possessed this Zurich edition, for he quotes the page-numbers in his Adversaria, and Paris is made use of in his De Libertate Ecclesiastica and in his anti-Baronian treatises. The book well shows his methods of reading and annotating large works in an unfamiliar field, and of supplying the place of the index he needed: for no scholar at that time, willingly relied on a printed index.

Two other owners have written in the volume, one writing in English in a thick hand (see pp. 11, 224), the other of no importance.

in gold and colours, early 18th Century calf, arms of the Latton family stamped in gold on sides

(162 mm. by 96 mm.). ENGLISH, XIII CENT.

-  An interesting English manuscript, which may have belonged to Nicholas Wadham (1532-1609), founder of Wadham College, Oxford. A pedigree written in the 18th Century on the fly-leaves traces the descent of the Latton family, whose arms are on the sides of the book, from Nicholas Wadham's father to William Baynton of Chadlington and of Gray's Inn, "present owner of this MS."

The entries of many of the saints' names in the Calendar and Litany attest the English provenance of the book. The most noteworthy is that of S. Neot (July 31) in red, whose name also occurs in the Litany. The Passion of S. William of Norwich (March 25) is another unusual festival. The English saints invoked in the Litany are: Alban, Oswald, Edmund, Aelphege, William, Martyrs; Dunstan, Cuthbert, Edmund, Neoth, Confessors; Ethelreda, Mildred, Osida (Osyth), Virgins.

- 178 HORAE B. V. M. CUM CALENDARIO, MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM, WRITTEN BY AN ENGLISH SCRIBE in very clear bold gothic characters, 17 lines to a page, 150 leaves (the first leaf of the calendar and a few other leaves missing), the calendar in red and black, ten pages decorated with a large initial in gold and colours, containing grotesques or foliate decoration, all (except one) with full borders of bar design introducing grotesque heads and leafy ornamental work, (all the initials and borders painted in a good style: some of the borders slightly shaved), numerous other illuminated initials with marginal decoration, in an 18th Century calf binding, elaborately gilt, book-plate of John Skottowe, Esq. (180 mm. by 120 mm.). ENGLISH, XIV CENT.

-  This interesting book of Hours of Sarum use was probably executed in the diocese of Norwich as in the Calendar, under date September 24, is the entry in red "Dedicacio ecclesie norwyc." Noteworthy entries of saints' names in red in the Calendar are SS. Adelm, Edith, Wulfran, David, Cuthbert, Dunstan, Oswald, and the translations of SS. Edmund the Martyr (Apr. 29), Swithin (July 15), Cuthbert (Sept. 4), Edmund the Archbp. (June 9). In black are S. Thomas de Cantelupe, Bp. of Hereford (his name very seldom occurs in MSS.) and S. Botolph. Invoked in the Litany are: Alban, Oswald, Lambert, Edmund, and Edward, Martyrs; Dunstan, Wilfrid, Edmund, and Edward, Confessors; and Ethelreda and Radegundis, Virgins. There are indulgences in English written in red; and at the beginning are three leaves with prayers in French written in the fifteenth Century in a different hand from the rest of the volume.

- 179 HORAE B. V. M. AD USUM SARUM CUM CALENDARIO, MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM, written by an ENGLISH SCRIBE in red and black in a very clear and regular gothic hand, 25 lines to a page, 112 leaves, SIXTEEN FINE FULL-PAGE MINIATURES (for subjects see below), all within line rectangular frames and borders of feather-work spirals, ivy-leaves and flowers, FOURTEEN LARGE INITIALS (several of diaper pattern) very finely painted in colours (chiefly blue, brown and red), on grounds of burnished gold, all with full borders of feathery scrolls, with foliate decoration of burnished gold, numerous other initials in gold and colours, red velvet binding, g. e. in morocco slip case
(217 mm. by 150 mm.) ENGLISH, EARLY XV CENT.

 The sixteen miniatures are painted in a very remarkable style with a free use of body colour. The subjects represented are: (1) The Garden of Gethsemane. (2) The Betrayal. (3) The Coronation of the Virgin. (4) The Flagellation. (5) Christ carrying the cross. (6) The Crucifixion. (7) An Angel supporting the dead Christ risen from the tomb. (8) The Burial of Christ. (9) The Death of the Virgin. (10) The Resurrection of the Dead. (11) Vigils of the Dead. (12) Two Angels carrying souls to heaven in a napkin. (13) S. Jerome. (14) S. John the Baptist. (15) S. Christopher. (16) S. Anna.

Following the Hours of the Virgin are six pages of rhymed Latin verses preceded by a rubric indulgence and beginning: "Salve virgo virginum, stella matutina." Then follow various prayers preceded by rubric indulgences granted by Pope Clement, Pope Boniface "ad supplicacionem Philippi Regis francorum," etc., the Seven Penitential Psalms, Litany, Office for the Dead, Commendaciones animarum, Psalter of S. Jerome and Prayers.

This manuscript may have been executed for use in the diocese of Lincoln, as special importance is given to SS. Edward, Hugh, Alban, Edmund, and others in the calender. The name, Thomas Pentham, occurs as a birth entry on October 24th, with the date 1477. From a later entry of ownership, it came into the possession of the old Yorkshire families of Bellasses and Pullen.

flower and acanthus leaf pattern, numerous smaller initials in gold and colours, modern brown pigskin binding
(190 mm. by 130 mm.). ENGLISH, XV CENT.

 This manuscript belonged to Thomas Wakefeld (1500-1575), first regius professor of Hebrew at Cambridge. He was born at Pontefract in Yorkshire and was educated at Cambridge. On two vellum fly-leaves are long manuscript notes (either wholly or partly in his hand) recording his two marriages, his children, etc. A typed copy of these notes is inserted. In the Calendar are the following entries:—

16 January. "Hodie nata fuit Alysia Wakefelde filia Thomae Wakefelde Chestertoni."

13 November. "Iste die natus erat Thomas Wakefeldus apud Dalehamum, filius Thomae Wakefeldi Chestertoniensis."

- 181 HORAE B. V. M. [? AD USUM SARUM], MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM, very well written by an ENGLISH SCRIBE, 16 lines to a page, 127 leaves (no Calendar), the first page decorated with a large HISTORIATED INITIAL containing a miniature of the Annunciation with a full bar border with foliate decoration in gold and colours, NINE OTHER VERY FINE INITIALS in colours on burnished gold grounds (seven with three-quarter and two with full finely painted borders), numerous other initials in gold and colours, with marginal decoration of flowers and leafy sprays, crushed dark brown morocco, g. e. inside gilt borders
(200 mm. by 138 mm.). ENGLISH, EARLY XV CENT.

- * This Psalter is probably of Southern English origin. The Calendar is of the regular Sarum type. Several interesting obits and entries have been written in the Calendar between 1497 and 1507; in June "die Sci Botulphi A° dni 1497" is recorded the Battle of Blackheath, and among the numerous obits may be mentioned that of Robert Ballard (probably the Treasurer of S. Paul's Cathedral), Oct. 1498, and George Crosby, 1507. The same hand has also added several entries in the Calendar, among which are S. John of Beverley, S. Botolph, and the translation of S. Edward the King and Martyr (June 20). The English saints invoked in the Litany are SS. Swithin, Birin, and Edith.

213 Cabrera. Felipe Segundo Rey de Espana, engraved title by Perret with full length portrait of Philip II in armour, calf, with the De Thou arms (III) on side, and the De Thou arms alone in the panels of the back; D.T.C., Pt. I, p. 332 folio. Madrid, L. Sanchez, 1619

 Luis Cabrera of Cordova, the author, was also a distinguished soldier. He appears to have written two works only—the present and Tratado de Historia, 1611. The present work is rich in detail and is evidently very rare, for Brunet quotes the title in his “Table Methodique” only.

The book is of American interest. There is a chapter (8) entitled: “Enbia el Rey armada para echar unos Franceses per pobla ban en la Florida; i otra a poblar las Filipinas, pag. 418.” Chapter 23 refers to Francis Drake: “La navegacion i robos que hizo Frãscisco Draque en las Indias, pag. 1071.” There is also a chapter upon Mexico.

The Property of a Lady.

- 619 PLAYING CARDS, London, c. 1730. A complete Pack of 52, with Songs set to Music, and with Flute accompaniments, the values of the cards in reserved spaces at the top left corners. On the Knave of Diamonds the song "Jack Shepherd" affords a clue to the date, as the second verse mentions "Shepherd, Faux, Faustus, Wild & Tom Thumb." Jack Shepherd was hanged in 1724 and Jonathan Wilde in 1725. Tom Thumb refers to Fielding's "Tragedy of Tragedies," produced at the Haymarket in 1730. On the Ace of Spades the red Duty mark "VI pence."

 Mr. Barclay Squire of the British Museum suggested that the music might be the early work of Dr. T. A. Arne, but as in 1730 he was only twenty and had not commenced to publish, this seems doubtful.

Only two other packs are known, and both are imperfect, that in the British Museum, and the Schreiber pack in the Phillips' collection.

- 645 MARAT (Jean Paul) AUTO. MANUSCRIPT of his Romance: "Les Aventures du jeune Comte Potowski," 442 pp. 4to, blue morocco by Niedrée

 This appears to be the most extensive manuscript known entirely in the handwriting of Marat, and the only Romance of his ever published. It is in the form of a correspondence, a favourite mode of French novel-writing at the period. Published by Paul Lacroix in 1848. Monsieur Chevrement describes it fully in his book on Marat. Formerly in the library of M. Aimé Martin, the friend and disciple of Saint Pierre (author of "Paul et Virginie"), whose widow he married.

Inserted at the beginning of the Manuscript is an A. L. s. "Marat, l'ami du peuple," to Captain Regnier, Paris, 13th October, 1790

3. Oct. 1780.

"I received the letter with which you honoured me, very late, Monsieur, but I was very pleased to have news of you. As you were not in the list of the Dead and Wounded in the Affair of General Gates, I have every reason to hope that you were not among the number. I shall be very happy to have your confirmation of this, as well as news of all my acquaintances in the Army of the South. I beg you to present a million compliments to them from me, especially to Colonel Arnaud and General Smallwood. Tell him that there is no news here, except the Treason of Arnold, who has fled to New York, and the Judgment of the Adjutant General of the English Army (John André) arrested while acting as a spy. If you are within reach of General Gates, I beg you to mention me to him. I shall always be very glad, Monsieur, to have occasion to assure you of the sincere attachment with which I have the honour to remain your very humble and obedient Servant.

Lafayette."

 This important letter, which appears to be unpublished, was written the day after the execution of André. Lafayette had signed the Judgment of the Court, which condemned him to death. The "Affair of General Gates" was the Battle of Camden (August 16th, 1780), where Gates was completely defeated and the American Army shattered.

- 659 AMERICAN CIVIL WAR. MOTLEY (J. L.) A REMARKABLE A. L. s. 28 pp. 8vo, Vienna, Sept. 28, 1862, to John Stuart Mill:

Edwards

... Our Civil War will go on to its preordained termination, whenever and whatever that may be—and the sufferings of the manufacturing population, deeply as they are to be deplored, are only England's portion of the penalty which she incurred by building up a vast industry upon a great crime—a crime which she imagined that she had cleansed her hand of. The penalty which the American Nation is paying for its forty years complicity in slavery and submission to the slaveholder's oligarchy is a far more terrible one—there is hardly a family in the country which is not shedding some of its blood in this great war, born of slavery alone ... Probably no country in the world ever sent a million volunteers to a war within a year. I fancy the phenomenon is unique in history—I wish I could speak as confidently of the military and political sagacity by which the immense resources of men and money placed in Government's hands had been wielded, as I can of the courage and devotion of the people ... As to our attitude towards England, I am sure that it will be as pacific as possible. Nothing could be more stupid than the idea sometimes expressed that there is a party in America desirous of war with England as an extrication from an internal dilemma. But I don't see how it is possible for the hearts of the Americans not to be alienated, for at least this generation, from England ... But the hatred of England towards us (as represented by her governing and commercial classes) has been manifested too ostentatiously and indecently by speech and act to allow of a doubt as to her sentiments, etc.

- 660 [CANADA]. BULLER (Charles) Secretary to Lord Durham, Governor General of Canada, 1838, AN A. L. s. OF GREAT INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE, Quebec, Saturday, Octr. 13th, 1838, 24 pp. 4to, addressed to John Stuart Mill "Most Private," dealing with Lord Durham's Proclamation of Octr. 9, 1838, in which he injudiciously appealed from the Government to the Canadians, and his public and private reasons for resigning his governorship. The letter contains a number of references to the Canadians:

Edwards

... My sympathies for the Canadians are not a bit diminished. Justice to them—the great majority, is still my first principle. But believe this they can do nothing for themselves: they have no habits of self-reliance; their friends must serve them without leaning on them, woe to the man who trusts to their energy or prudence in their own cause. Hence every man who governs here the moment he ceases to rely solely on himself, is either bullied by the British, who have great energy and tact, or throw himself on them. Lord Durham would have done the last. With his character it was inevitable. Rather than he should do so it was better he should resign: and if he failed, fail without fault of his own ... He resigns his Governorship. He says that the mode in which he has been assailed by enemies, and betrayed by the Government shew that he is not the man to carry this Colony by the cordial aid of the Mother Country through a difficult state of things. Colborne will repress the insurrection if there is to be one ...

- 40- 30. 686 JENNER (Dr. Edward) The Discoverer of Vaccination, A. L. s. 2 pp. 4to, n. d.

I feel much regret at having been prevented, thro' the unfortunate intervention of the hooping cough, from inoculating the Cowpox on your little ones. On Monday I leave Town, but when the children are recovered (and I sincerely hope it may be soon) you may safely entrust them to the care of Mr. Knight, Surgeon, in Clifford's Street, No. 4, a gentleman who has inoculated great numbers and whom I can safely recommend. Will pay his respects after the Cheltenham season.

50. 687 VACCINATION. HILL (Rowland) A. L. s. 4 pp. 4to, to Wm. Wilberforce, the suppressor of the slave trade, Nov. 24th (n. y.):

18- As you were the member who seconded the motion upon the business of vaccination, I beg leave to recommend it to your further notice as being the most beneficial discovery ever made known to the human race. Having vaccinated with my own hands near six than five thousand subjects and promoted the vaccination through the instrumentality of others at least of twice as many more, I cannot be otherwise than perfectly well acquainted of its most beneficial effects and am thoroughly satisfied that if you can make it a parliamentary concern so as to prevent a set of designing Doctors and Apothecarys from poisoning the country with a contagious pestilential disease wherever they can get people to be weak enough to listen to their horrid advice, you will be made the happy instrument of saving more human lives than ever you can do by your indefatigable zeal against the Slave Trade—that horrible traffic in human blood.

- 688 BURNLEY (Charles) Musician and Author, A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, Cheltenham, 4 Sept. (n. y., c. 1805), to his son Charles:

Mrs. Crewe will have told you my opinion abt. your ode, wch. I like very much & you know it illustrates my political principles yet I do not wish you to print it with your name to it ... I work at the articles of the Cyclopædia already written, but wch. have been transcribed by others, & some so ill that the correction takes more time, and a great deal more patience to make it fit for the compositor than if I had been my own amanuensis—if you read this to F. Phillips her conscience must prick her ... I have got acquainted with Dr. Jenner the Vaccine Physician—a pleasing natural character, without pedantry or charlatannerie," etc., and referring to his musical biographies for Rees's "Encyclopædia," for which Burney received £1000.

The Property of a Gentleman.

- 726 BYRON (Lord) An Album. containing upwards of Forty Letters in all, including letters from BYRON, letters relating to Byron, many addressed to HOBHOUSE, letters from DICKENS, THACKERAY, etc., A FINE COLLECTION

BYRON (Lord) A. L. s. (initials), 1½ pp. 4to, March 26, 1815, to Hobhouse, with regard to his travels abroad:

I am full of wonder and regret at your migatory project, which I yet hope may be interrupted—wishing you nevertheless all possible success and divertiment if you will go... Buonaparte!!!—I marvel what next ... I have written to nobody and am as lazy and stupefied as can be.

BYRON. Invitation to Lady Heathcote's Ball, July 5th, 1813. Written on it in Byron's hand:—

This card I kept as a curiosity—since it was at the ball that Ld. Caroline and I performed ye dagger scene—of indifferent memory.

THOS. MOORE. A. L. s. 3 pp. 8vo, 1828, Newstead Abbey, to Hobhouse, about Byron's early life:

Mentioning an early will in favour of Hobhouse, and mentioning Byron's old family servants and "those joyous days when these walls were inhabited by as brilliant a knot of young fellows as ever began life together."

HORTENSE (Princess) A. L. s. ½ p. 4to:

Je suis enchantée des ouvrages de Lord Byron, que je lis dans ce moment.

Numerous Letters addressed to Byron by statesmen, etc. of the day, including two from PALMERSTON; a Letter of introduction of Byron to Vaseley at Foreign Office, signed CASTLEREAGH; and two amusing gossiping Letters to Byron from Scrope Davies

HOBHOUSE (B.) to Hobhouse (J.), March 10, 1815, Auto. Note:

Lord Cochrane has escaped from prison—Bonaparte has escaped from Elba—I write from the House of Commons, and the intelligence seems to rest on good authority and is believed.

P.S. Both are certainly true.

DICKENS (Charles) A. L. s. 1 p. 4to, 8 Jan. 1861, Office of "All the Year Round," asking permission to publish a note in the Times

THACKERAY (Wm.) Auto. Note s. January 10, 1852:

In reply to your obliging note I have little hesitation in saying that virtue is the principal happiness below, though certainly not the only one. For example there is claret, smoking in moderation and cheerful conversation such as we have had at Erlestoke: all of which are not virtues but nevertheless pleasing.

A. L. s. from SHERIDAN (2); LYTTON, offering to assist at election time; WILBERFORCE, A. L. PIOZZI. D'ORSAY, THOS. CAMPBELL, MONK LEWIS, JEREMY BENTHAM, and several other celebrated men

- 727 BYRON (Lord) A. L. s. 4 pp. 4to, Aug. 4th, 1805, Burgage Manor, Southwell, to his friend, Charles Gordon, a very fine early letter describing the Eton and Harrow match, in which he played, and the ensuing "Rag":

We have played the Eton (sic) & were most confoundedly beat, however it was some comfort to me that I got 11 notches the 1st innings & 7 the 2nd. which was more than any of our side, except Brockman and Ipswich could contrive to hit. Later ... To be sure we were most of us rather drunk, and went together to the Haymarket Theatre where we kicked up a row, as you may suppose when so many Harrovians and Etonians met at one place. I was one of seven in a single Hackney Coach, 4 Eton and 3 Harrow fellows, we all got into the same box, the consequence was that such a devil of a noise arose that none of our neighbours could hear a word of the drama, at which not being highly delighted, they began to quarrel with us and we nearly came to a battle royal, etc.

One small corner of the letter is missing, affecting about 20 words, there is also one small hole which has removed two words, the whole letter with a typed transcript, and with full notes, etc., is enclosed in an album, bound in gilt tooled green morocco

- 728 COWPER (William) A. L. s. 3 pp. 4to, Dec. 17, 1780, to Mrs. Newton. A characteristically witty letter, believed to be unpublished, containing eight stanzas of poetry, beginning "Between nose and eyes, a strange contest arose," which the author also communicated to Mr. Hill and Mr. Unwin. The letter thanks Mrs. Newton for a gift of skait and shrimps as being peculiarly light and digestible fare:

Man considered as a machine is constructed upon principles the very reverse of those by which a clock is actuated; the latter is indebted to the Weight below for all the constancy and regularity of its movement; whereas the Head of a Poet, instead of being benefited by such an appendage, is sadly hindered in its operations; all his wits, as naturalists observe, being called down into the lower regions, and employed there in the Drudgery of Digestion.

In an album with other A. L. s.: Wm. Wilberforce, Claude Buchanan, John Newton, etc., silhouettes, poetry and drawings

* * * Eight marked with an asterisk are by Miss Kipling, the remainder by Rudyard Kipling; 25 poems have the names of the poets of whom they are parodies written in by the father, J. Lockwood Kipling.

- 744 KIPLING (R.) AUTOGRAPH MS. 1½ pp. folio, "That Lady who Recited (by the Sufferer)," being a most amusing and characteristic skit on an intellectual after-dinner party with music and recitations, UNPUBLISHED; it was originally written for inclusion in the St. James's Gazette, but was refused by Low on the grounds that it might give offence to a lady at whose house he himself had just attended a party of a similar nature. ~~The autograph letter of rejection by Low, Feb. 19, 1890, is included in the lot.~~ It was then presented by the author to Mrs. Plowden: the original envelope addressed to her in his handwriting is also included. The sketch includes fourteen lines of nonsense verse as a sample of the verse recited. (3)

- 755 KIPLING (R.) Autograph MS. 4 pp. 4to, "Plot and Passion," being the programme of a play, with the prologue written for amateurs to perform at Lahore, Dec. 20th, 1883. The Dramatis Personæ and the Prologue written on four sides of a gilt-edged card, with grotesque drawings by Kipling in ink, and floral decorations at the heads of the pages; and five stanzas of poetical prologue: "In the Paris of the Empire, in the days of long ago . . ." UNPUBLISHED; it was presented by the author to Mrs. Plowden on the morning of the performance.

DARWIN (CHARLES) ONE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-SEVEN A. L. s., 1837-1874, TO SIR CHARLES LYELL; very few are under 4 pp. in length, and many run to 8 or more pp. (a few of the latest letters are partially dictated)

* * UNQUESTIONABLY THE FINEST SERIES OF DARWIN LETTERS IN EXISTENCE; it is in reality the record of the growth of Darwin's theories communicated in great detail to the man whom Darwin regarded as his master, and of whom he says in these letters "I have long wished, to acknowledge more plainly than by mere references, how much I geologically owe to you," and who was his great scientific friend until his death. The letters show in detail not only the accumulation of facts and theories on such matters as coral islands, the catastrophic theory of geology which Lyell and he succeeded in finally subverting, hybridisation of orchids and other plants, barnacles, volcanic action and continental extension, and numberless smaller aspects of Nature in which they were jointly interested; BUT IT ALSO SHOWS MORE FULLY THAN WOULD OTHERWISE BE POSSIBLE THE GRADUAL GROWTH OF HIS THEORY OF NATURAL SELECTION, which induced Darwin to publish—at Lyell's suggestion—the "Origin of Natural Species," the work which has done more to promote the progress of science than any other book in the last 150 years.

From the beginning of the correspondence there are hints as to his views on natural selection: in May, 1856, in answer to Lyell's suggestions:

I hardly know what to think: to give a fair sketch would be absolutely impossible, for every proposition requires such an array of facts; if I were to do anything it could only refer to the main agency of change, Selection. He mentions his pigeon-breeding experiments and his hybridisation, "so that I have entered on my subject in earnest."

Later: "I am working steadily at my big book; I have found it quite impossible to publish any preliminary essay or sketch." Then Wallace sent him an essay of his own on the same subject which nearly prevented him from publishing the book. "I never saw a more striking coincidence: if Wallace had my MS. sketch written out in 1842 he could not have made a better short abstract! Even his terms stand as heads of my chapters ... So all my originality, whatever it may amount to, will be smashed. Though my book, if it will ever have any value, will not be deteriorated, as all the labour consists in the application of the theory." He mentions that he had already sent sketches of his view to Hooker & Gray. And writes to ask if he should after all publish his book. Lyell persuaded him to persevere: Darwin then had an idea of publishing his abstract—and sends Lyell a proposed title-page, which is in this album.

He then becomes more confident of his views and writes: "In future I cannot doubt about their admittance, and our posterity will marvel as much about the current belief as we do about shells having been thought to be created as we now see them." Lyell magnificently fell in with Darwin's views: "I honour you most sincerely—to have maintained in the position of master, one side of a question for 30 years and then deliberately give it up is a fact to which I much doubt whether the records of science offer a parallel." There are numerous letters on various questions of publication. Then comes his success: "Murray sold whole edition the first day to the trade. He wants new edition INSTANTLY, and this utterly confounds me." "I never even built a castle-in-the-air of such success as it has met with."

AFTER THIS THERE FOLLOWS A SERIES OF LETTERS THE VALUE OF WHICH IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO OVERESTIMATE, NAMELY THE RECORD OF THE CRITICISMS OF HIS THEORY FROM THE GREAT SCIENTISTS OF THE TIME AND HIS DETAILED ANSWERS TO THEIR THEORIES AS SET OUT TO LYEEL, a running fire of criticism and answer that occupied at least the next ten years of his life.

Numerous people wished to translate his work, and he mentions particularly the French, German, and Dutch translations. "Among others, Kingsley sent in a note to me, had capital paragraphs on such notions as mine being not opposed to a high conception of the Deity."

The storm of criticism from every quarter can only be adequately realised from reading this amazing series of letters, probably the most complete and most valuable scientific correspondence in existence.

The last two or three years of the correspondence are occupied with his researches on Drosera, and the expansion of theories put forward in his early work: "A nice mess I made of Glen Roy" he says; but on re-reading his book on Coral Atolls: "I am astonished at my own accuracy; if I were to rewrite now my coral book, there is hardly a sentence I should have to alter." Apart from the scientific, there are other interests in his letters: he tells Lyell of his meetings with various celebrities of the day; he dines with Warterton, "was an amusing strange fellow—party consisted of two catholic priests and two Mulatresses."

A SERIES OF LETTERS OF UNPARALLELED INTEREST; deriving an added value for students from their legibility and the ease with which they can be handled in the album.

In the same Album are other Correspondences addressed to Sir Charles Lyell:—Eleven Letters from Edward Forbes; two from Hugh Miller; four from Alexander von Humboldt (in French); nineteen from Sir John Herschel; eighteen from Dr. Fleming; twenty-nine from Professor Owen, and twenty-one from Professor Huxley; averaging 4 pp. in length, of extraordinary scientific interest, chiefly concerned with geological questions, containing a mass of scientific data.

I am alone in a hill village, with the Ponts & Chaussées person, a first commis, de la régie, a receveur d'enregistrements, and a percepteur d'impôt. Gloomy rather, full of quarrels, bitter, voluble, quarrelsome, cowardly; not a pleasant lot; but the engineer is very decent.

A. L. s. 2 pp. folio, Honolulu, March, 1889, a fine long letter, referring firstly to the settling of his affairs at home after his father's death, and then to his literary work on the South Sea Island tour :

I have found one climate in which I can enjoy life. Even Honolulu is too cold for me; But the south isles were a heaven upon earth to a poor catarrhal party like John's one. We think, as Tahiti is too complete a banishment, to try Madeira. It's only a week from England, good communications; and I suspect in climate and scenery not unlike my own dear islands: in people, alas, there can be no comparison. But friends can go; and I could come in summer; so I should not be quite cut off. Lloyd and I have finished a story, The Wrong Box. If it is not funny, I am sure I don't know what is. I have split writing it. Since I have been here, I have been toiling like a galley slave: three numbers of The Master [of Ballantrae] to rewrite; five chapters of the Wrong Box to write and rewrite; and about five hundred lines of a romantic poem to write, rewrite and rerevrite. Now I have the Master waiting me for its continuation. 2 numbers more; when that's done I shall breathe, this spasm of activity has been chequered with champagne parties.

last, 1786, was the date of his chief advancement, when this excellent shipbuilder was elevated engineer to the newly formed Board of Naval Architectures. Not only were his fortunes bettered by the appointment, but he was introduced to a new and wider field for the exercise of his abilities, and a new way of life largely a grateful to his active constitution. He seems to have rejoiced in the long journey and to have combined them with the pursuit of 'field sports'. "A tall, stout man coming ashore with his gun over his arm", as he was described to my father - the only description that has come down to me - by a lightsaber old in the service. How did this change come about. In the month of July of the same year, Thomas Smith had been left for the second time a widower. As he was still but thirty three years old, flourishing in his affairs, just newly advanced in the world, and surrounded at the time with a family of children fine in number, it was natural that he should entertain the notion of another wife. Expeditious in business, he was no less so in his choice; and it was not later than June 1787, for my grandfather is described as still in his fifteenth year, that he married the widow of Adam Stevenson.

The peculiar experiment of bringing together his families for once succeeded. Mr Smith's two eldest daughters, Jean and Janet, parent in history, unmarried in Rind's death, were well qualified both to appreciate and to attract the stepmother; and her son, on the other hand, seems to have found immediate favour in the eyes of Mrs Smith. 750 STEVENSON (R. L.) SUPERB AUTOGRAPH MANUSCRIPT

"RECORDS OF A FAMILY OF ENGINEERS," THE COMPLETE MANUSCRIPT FROM WHICH THE BOOK WAS PRINTED, TOGETHER WITH THREE CHAPTERS WHICH HAVE APPARENTLY NEVER BEEN PUBLISHED, AND VERY EXTENSIVE EARLY DRAFTS AND NOTES FOR THE BOOK, CONTAINING MUCH MATTER THAT WAS NEVER PRINTED, 214 PP. written on 208 SHEETS, enclosed in three folders in a folio size cloth case, with full typewritten transcripts of all the drafts, fragments, etc., mostly printed in parallel, for purposes of comparison

Being the record of his own family, the Engineers and Lighthouse-Builders, of which he says in a letter

"After all I am writing this for my own pleasure solely."

The writing of this book was a labour of love, and he spent a great deal of time and careful research in the making of it; as is so well shown by the numbers of different drafts which accompany the completed manuscript. He often mentions it in his letters: "Well, I have left fiction wholly, and gone to my grandfather, and on the whole found peace ... I like biography far better than fiction myself. In biography you have your little handful of facts, little bits of a puzzle, and you sit and think, and fit them together this way and that ... And it's real soothing, and when done gives an idea of finish to the writer that is very peaceful ... There are pages in these books that may seem nothing to the reader; but you remember what they were, you know what they might have been."

Folder 1 contains the Manuscript used in printing the book, consisting of the Introduction and three Chapters (60 pp.), there are half-page deletions and marginal extracts that do not appear in the book; the printers' names are written over in pencil.

Folder 2 contains the complete Manuscript of a proposed Chapter IV, "The Head of the Family, with two earlier Drafts, 8 pp., 2 pp. and 3 pp.; the complete Manuscript of a proposed Chapter V, "Education of an Engineer," 25 pp.; the complete Manuscript of a proposed Chapter VI, "The Grandfather," 13 pp. (these pages bear traces of having been in the printers' hands, but if so it must have been for Stevenson's own use); Notes for the Introduction; outlines of Chapters and chapter-headings, and of a genealogical tree, 10 pp. (nine folio, one 8vo).

Folder 3 contains an early Draft of the Introduction, 3 pp.; an early Draft of Chapter I, 22 pp., with a second Draft written on versos of the last eight sheets; a third Draft of Chapter I, 7 pp.; a fragmentary Draft, 1 p.; early Draft of Chapter II, sections 1 and 2, 16 pp.; six Drafts of the same, 12 pp., with a sheet of memoranda; complete Draft of Section 3 and an ending to Section 2, 4 pp., with eight others, 15 pp.; two early Drafts of

Chapter III (beginning), 2 pp., and the remainder of the Chapter, 2 pp.

All the Manuscript is autograph, and all has numerous deletions, corrections and marginal memoranda.

Also "An Account of the Bell Rock Lighthouse" by Robert Stevenson, presentation copy to Lord Pitmilley, from the Commissioners of the Northern Lighthouses, for whom the book was written. From this book R. L. Stevenson took the account of the building of the Lighthouse, which is printed in the "Records."
