Twenty-Sixth Annual Report

of the Committee of Management.

A satisfactory report can be submitted of the past year's work, no serious emergency having arisen in the area served, and the more settled industrial conditions leading to a substantial improvement in the Hospital funds.

The number of patients treated during the year was less than in 1926, being 122 as against 159, a return to the level that obtained several years ago. The reduction of "patients' days" was not quite proportionate, the number being 2403 in comparison with 2559. The number of operations (major and minor) remained constant, and several splendid cures and recoveries were effected, reflecting great credit upon the skill and care of the Medical Officers and Nursing Staff. As the customary statistical and comparative statements are included in the published Report further detailed reference here is unnecessary.

The revenue of the Hospital has recovered in a very pleasing manner from the previous year's low level, which of course was due entirely to trade dislocation. This upset has reacted upon subscriptions to some extent, during last year, but Workmen's Contributions have been restored to a normal level, and it is noteworthy to record that £578-12-6 has been received from this source. Patients' payments show an increase of £37-19-6 at £59-8-6 and Entertainments have produced just slightly less at £50-17-8. The continued and increasing interest shown in the Hospital by the promoters of entertainments and organizers of the Football competitions, and in many other ways is fully appreciated by the Committee. Particularly is this the case with regard to the Ladies who so willingly and successfully undertake the House to House Collection, which added last year £125-11-9 to the Hospital income. The revenue altogether has surpassed the £1,000 level, which is necessary to maintain the Hospital under modern circumstances.

Special expenditure was incurred in several departments in 1926, particularly in furnishing, so that in comparison it has been possible to work at a reduced cost during the past year.

Outlay upon provisions shows only a slight variation, and the average cost per day was in fact somewhat increased at 21.7d. as against 21.2d. The total average cost per day works out at 92.9d. whereas last year it was 98.5d. Apart from the fixture of a modern Kitchen Range in place of the old one that had served from the building of the Hospital, and the painting of the womens' Ward and the Staff Dining Room, no special expenditure was incurred. The total cost of maintenance amounted to £930-6-9 thus admitting of a balance of £85-18-8 being carried to Legacy and Suspense Account. It has to be borne in mind, however, that £425-0-8 was taken from that fund in the previous year.

During the year a Legacy of £1000 was received under the Will of the late Mrs Sarah Wood for the endowment of a bed to be designated "The Robert and Sarah Ismay Wood Bed." This sum has been invested through the Charity Commissioners in the purchase of £1409-4-6 India $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent Stock.

At the last Annual Meeting Mr Frederick Kelly resigned office as Hon. Secretary and Treasurer, and Mr Faulder G. Gaskarth was appointed to succeed him. Mr Kelly who had fostered the interests of the Hospital from its inception with signal ability and devotion was tendered a vote of thanks for his services and asked to accept the office of Vice-President as a token of appreciation, and consented.

The present Matron, Miss Campbell, only entered upon her duties at the end of the year. Complete satisfaction has been uniformly expressed by patients with the care and attention shown by Doctors and Nurses and grateful thanks are also tendered to them by the Committee.
